Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 1. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1588.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

O. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Subscription, - - - $2 per annum.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers half price.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. JAMES A. GONFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

FAREWELL TO THE OLD YEAR.

BY SARAH DOUDNEY.

Farewell, old year, we walk no more together;
I catch the sweetness of thy latest sigh,
And, crowned with yellow brake and withered heather,
I see thee stand beneath this cloudy sky.

Here in the dim light of a gray December
We part in smiles, and yet we melt in tears;
Watching thy chilly dawn, I well remember
I thought thee saddest-born of all the years.

I knew not then what precious gifts were hidden
Under the mist that veiled thy path from sight;
I knew not then that joy would come unbidden
To make thy closing hours divinely bright.

I only saw the dreary clouds unbroken,
I only felt the plash of icy rain;
And in that winter gloom I found no token
To tell me that the sun would shine again.

O, dear old year! I longed a Father's kindness;
I would not trust him with my load of care;
I stumbled on in weariness and blindness,
And, lo! he blest me with an answered prayer.

Good-bye, kind year, we walk no more together,
But here in quiet happiness we part;
And from thy wreath of faded fern and heather
I take some sprays and wear them on my heart.

—Sunday Magazine.

In Memoriam.

The Rev. N. C. Wasson was born in Green county, Ga., January 14, 1839, and died at his home in Attala county, Miss., November 25, 1886. Bro. Wasson was soundly converted to God when in his fourteenth year, under the ministry of the Rev. J. G. Carlisle, and at once became an active and zealous member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and was noted for his consistent and godly life from the very beginning of his career as a member of the church. In 1859 he was licensed to preach, and was duly elected and ordained deacon and elder according to the usages of the church; and it has rarely been the fortune of the writer to know so good and useful a local preacher. In this statement I think I will be supported by every pastor who has had charge of the circuit in the bounds of which Bro. Wasson lived. He was always ready to labor in concert with the pastor of the circuit, and gave substantial aid in preaching, holding protracted meetings, visiting the sick, and in every way in his power contributing to the progress of the church and to the glory of God.

He was a sound gospel preacher, had the esteem and confidence of all who knew him, and few men could command larger congregations or more appreciative ones than he in those sections of the country where he labored. While he never saw his way clear to become an itinerant minister because of his large family, he always said to his presiding elder, "If you need me and there is any work for me to do as a pastor, I am ready to do it." Consequently he was frequently employed to take charge of works contiguous to his home as a supply, and he always filled them acceptably and successfully. As a business man, he was industrious, frugal, energetic, and hence successful, and his substance, like himself, was all laid upon the altar of consecration. No appeal for material aid to carry forward the work of the church was ever made to him in vain. He gave liberally to all church enterprises, and the poor found in him an ever-abiding and helpful friend. He was a wise counselor, had a warm, sympathetic heart, and was the friend of all. When he died such expressions as, "What will become of the community now Bro. Wasson is gone," etc., were by no means uncommon among his neighbors. And we all feel that the loss sustained by the church and community is well nigh irreparable. As may always be expected in the death of such a man, his end was peace. "For him to live was Christ, and to die was gain." We buried him in the cemetery at his own home church to await the resurrection of the just.

R. P. MITCHELL.

Kosciusko, Miss., Dec. 29, 1886.

A Georgia Letter.

Would I be guilty of commonplace, Mr. Editor, if I began this letter with the declaration that even a short time makes great changes? When I sent the NEW ORLEANS my last line, Dr. Galloway had just entered upon his editorial work, and Bishop Parker had just assumed the responsible duties of the highest office in the church. Now the noble spirit of the latter is rejoicing in the glory "of just men made perfect," while upon the shoulders of the former has fallen his official mantle. The sorrow of those of us who knew Bishop Parker is still fresh; but it makes our hearts glad to know that his successor wears so worthily the honors which have come to him, and gives such brilliant promise of long and large usefulness. During these last few years I have constantly cherished a tender memory of many of your readers to whom I am indebted for much kindness. When each summer comes in its glory my heart longs for the old camp ground by the sea, and I live over again some of the most delightful hours of my life.

The recent session of our North Georgia Conference, at Augusta, was unusually pleasant and profitable. The hospitality was princely, and the social enjoyment all that could be desired. Bishop McTyeire came back to us, after an absence of five years, and presided to the delight of the body with all that skill, tact, firmness, and courtesy which has made him famous as "the master of the chair." In his cabinet work no Bishop could have been more considerate of the preachers and their families. In some delicate matters which drew largely upon his heart, on account of long and tender personal relations, he rose from conscientious fidelity to the church to a grandeur of blended firmness and kindness possible to but few men.

Our now famous evangelist, Sam Jones, was with us for the first time in two years. His wonderful success—the most wonderful in many respects ever achieved by a Methodist preacher on this continent—has not spoiled him in the least. He is the same genial, consecrated, rollicking Sam he was before the eyes of the nation were turned upon him. He and Bishop McTyeire were on the programme for the missionary anniversary; but a pressure of official work prevented the Bishop's attendance. Dr. Haygood says he considers that he lost the opportunity of his life-time by the Bishop's absence; he was filled with a consuming desire to see "that team work together." Bro. Sam, however, made a characteristic address, raised money enough to pay the "Mountain Boys" in full, with some over to swell the foreign fund. He preached in the First Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon, and although the ground was covered with snow and the trees with ice, the large building was packed to its utmost capacity. The reports which came to me were to the effect that the moral atmosphere in the congregation during the sermon ran up to the highest August record.

A very large class of candidates was received on trial, in which was Sam Small. His conversion but a little over a year ago was one of the most remarkable of modern times. In this short period he has made a national reputation as a successful evangelist and an able, brilliant preacher. His whole heart is in the work of soul-saving and the lifting up of humanity. His appointment as Commissioner of Education for Paine Institute gave universal satisfaction. He has visited several Conferences during the last few weeks, and I learn has made a fine impression. The cause he represents ought to stir the hearts of all our people, and am sure he will realize the largest success. It was my privilege, in company with Bishop McTyeire, to visit this institution during my stay in Augusta. The grounds are large and the location all that could be asked. The buildings, though not entirely finished for want of funds, are simple, neat, and admirably adapted to the work in hand. President Walker and his assistants have put their whole hearts in this enterprise, and have already accomplished a great deal of good. The Bishop was greatly pleased with both the present facilities for instruction and the outlook for the future. Paine Institute deserves "a shower of gold," and some day, when the conscience of our church comes to a scriptural quickening, it will realize it. The possibilities for good which this opportunity affords are beyond estimation. The last day can only reveal them.

The missionary collections were in excess of last year, making a grand total of nearly $30,000. We did not agree to doubling our foreign assessment; but next winter the old North Georgia will still hold her place at the front of the line.

Our Conference has lost heavily of its best material during the last eighteen months. We have given Texas a college regent, and a pastor for our church in Houston, a pastor to First Church, St. Louis, a president to the college at Millersburg, Ky., and an editor to Nashville. Bishop McTyeire thought, therefore, that the law of compensation ought to be operative in our direction and sent to us Dr. H. C. Morrison, of the Louisville Conference. How was with his people at First Church in this city two weeks ago, and received just such a welcome as Georgia knows how to give—an ovation. The Preachers' Meeting, by resolution, extended to him a cordial greeting, and all the brethren who are to be co-laborers with him in this center of Methodism took him into their hearts. The work opens up well for all the interests of the church in the Gate City, and throughout the Conference. We are confidently expecting a year of great prosperity. But of many other things and of future plans I can not now write. A Happy New Year to you, Mr. Editor, and to all my friends who may see these lines.

W. W. WADSWORTH.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 1, 1887.

Modern Progress.

THE MODEL CHURCH NEWSPAPER.

1. It must be published cheap, very cheap; the gospel is "without money and price," so should everything be as near like it as possible. Extensive credit is certain, wide circulation.

2. The editor should be a knight errant with armor on, mounted, of course, and with lance at rest, ready to attack anything within his range. His pen should be of steel and sharp enough to keep up a continual hubbub with other churches, or in his own, if he can do no better. The general public like things "lively."

3. The paper should be very liberal in sentiment, ready to admit religious opinions of every variety. If they are the rugged rags of resurrected error, all the better. We live amid the march of mind. Several centuries have elapsed since Paul or Wesley or any of those church fossils lived. The world has turned round a great many times since then. If they were alive now, they would have to modify their opinions, or be lost in the dust made by the car of religious progress. They did not have any gas in Paul's time. Mr. Wesley was born before telegraphs, and streets lit by electricity. Truth ought to be elastic to suit the times. This is emphatically "the advance age."

4. There should be great skill in arranging the different departments. It is true we have departments for missions, revivals, obituaries, church intelligence, etc. All well! But as there are still a good many of the middle aged and old folks that read the papers, who belong to "the peace party," would it not be best to have a "war department" confined to certain columns? These could readily be skipped by non-combatants. It might not be amiss to have an enclosed department for the special benefit of those whose spurs are not yet full grown, but whose mimic efforts at war, especially with old, time-honored opinions, might give variety and spice to a newspaper's columns.

5. Of course there must be also a naval department, where brethren gifted in aquatic contests might have full opportunity to show their skill and courage on water, while the footmen operate on terra firma. It is remarkable how ever new and refreshing are debates on water baptism. The question is forever settled by each new disputant, and yet forever remaining "an open question."

6. A department of "novelties," where new discoveries in religion might be exhibited, with a special shelf for the daily increasing family of most reliable patent medicines for soul as well as body.

7. A department for puffing might be made—like the doctrine of faith—"very full of comfort." Of course it would require great nicety in applying the powder and the rouge. Delicacy of touch would be a necessity; but how very delightful "the weekly admiration society." The editor might puff the preachers and the people, and they might return the delicate attention, and we would be rapidly approaching the millennium in at least a "parlor car."

Puffing don't cost much; and if properly administered, flattery is a pleasant spice and condiment. It even helps a little in the notice of revivals, camp meetings and Conferences. Even Bishops endure it. What a blessed thing that gold can be beat out so thin, and a small amount will cover so large a surface!

8. A special department of fiction might be of immense benefit, and the weekly installment of some "sensational story" (don't call it a novel, or you ruin it) would be a means of edifying and relieve the tedium of a long Sunday afternoon very agreeably.

9. If it were in the range of possibilities to effect it, a "fashion department, with plates," would greatly tend to personal comfort and peace of mind, and would not only aid the merchants, but would greatly enlarge the circulation and effect of the newspaper.

10. That dear old and treasured obituary department had better be placed in some retired position. People like the idea of getting to heaven, but not of passing through the gate of death to reach there.

11. Nothing could be more agreeable than a large, well-conducted marriage news department, with full and gushing descriptions of bridal beauty, rich costumes, splendid decorations, fine presents, grand entertainments. It might turn attention to the "great marriage supper." We close.

KENTUCKY.

P. S.—If these suggestions are not adopted, they are not the first and will not be the last good advice spent in vain. Few benefactors of mankind are usually recognized while living.

—Exchange.

Memphis Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

MEMPHIS DISTRICT.—W. T. Harris, P. E. Memphis, First Church, R. H. Mason; Central Church, R. W. Erwin; Hernando Street, J. M. Spence; Georgia Street and Saffrans Street, W. H. Evans—D. D. Moore, supernumerary; Springdale, J. T. Wiggins; Bartlett, A. C. Smith; Raleigh, J. P. Walker; Bethlehem, A. H. Thomas; Collierville and Germantown, J. M. Maxwell; LaGrange and Moscow, J. E. Treadwell; Williston, J. D. Sullivan; Macon, T. L. Boswell; Grand Junction, T. F. Cason; Salisbury, J. A. Russell; Chambers' Chapel, William F. Hamner; principal Memphis District High School, M. F. Leake.

BROWNSVILLE DISTRICT.—A. R. Wilson, P. E. Brownsville station, W. L. Duckworth; Brownsville circuit, W. A. Freeman; Alamo and Bell, J. W. Knott; Alamo circuit, W. A. Dungan; Denmark, W. D. Jenkins; Stanton and Mason, E. H. Stewart; Braden, T. P. Ramsey; Somerville station, R. B. Swift—R. V. Taylor, supernumerary; Somerville circuit, G. T. Peeples; Daneyville, H. J. Turner; Whiteville, W. F. Barrier; Bolivar mission, D. L. Hines; Bolivar station, B. A. Hayes; Belmont, to be supplied (by J. C. Wilson); president Wesleyan Female College, John Williams; president Somerville Institute, R. F. Chew.

PADUCAH DISTRICT.—W. C. Sellars, P. E. Paducah, Broadway, J. C. Hooks—J. V. Fly, supernumerary; Third Street, H. B. Owen—W. H. Leigh, supernumerary; Paducah circuit, J. Edwards; Hinkleville, J. R. Hardin; Wickliffe, H. I. Stephens; Milburn, S. B. Love; Clinton station, G. T. Sullivan; Clinton circuit, J. H. Witt; Wingo, D. M. Evans; Mayfield, J. M. Scott; Farmington, P. H. Fields; Briensburg, A. N. Sears; Benton, C. D. Davis; Palestine, C. A. Haskell; Birmingham, D. A. Ross.

DYERSBURG DISTRICT.—W. C. Johnson, P. E. Dyersburg station, E. T. Hart; Dyersburg circuit, S. H. Williams; Newbern station, T. F. Sanders; Rutherford, C. J. Mauldin; Kenton, M. M. Taylor; Friendship, B. Medlin; Woodville, T. J. Simmons; Ripley and Durhamville, G. K. Brooks; Henning, J. S. Renshaw; Covington station, E. K. Brassford; Covington circuit, E. E. Hamilton; Mt. Zion, George H. Martin; Randolph, W. W. Adams; Hale's Point mission, to be supplied; Wilsonville, G. W. Evans; Dyersburg High School, A. J. Meaders.

JACKSON DISTRICT.—Warner Moore, P. E. Jackson, First Church, Guilford Jones; East Jackson, B. F. Blackmon; West Jackson, J. J. Lesenberry; Jackson circuit, S. F. Chambers; Spring Creek, A. S. Taylor; Hendersun station, G. W. Wilson; Pinson, J. W. Blackard; Medina, T. L. Adams; Humboldt station, N. P. Ramsey; Trenton station, David Leith; Trenton circuit, W. T. C. Young—O. P. Parker, supernumerary; Bradford, B. F. Peeples; Milan station, E. B. Graham; McLemoresville, E. B. Plummer; president Memphis Conference Female Institute, A. W. Jones; agent, J. A. Fife; principal Jackson District High School, G. W. Wilson.

UNION CITY DISTRICT.—J. H. Evans, P. E. Union City station, J. G. Clark; Union City circuit, S. L. Jewell; Hickman station, R. M. King; Hickman circuit, J. W. Waters; Columbia station, C. D. Hilliard; Tiptonville, W. O. Lanier; Troy, A. J. Wheeler—R. Y. Blackwell, supernumerary; Sharon, F. Bynum; Beech Ridge, R. E. Graves; Martin, R. W. Newsom; Edgar, W. H. Frost—S. Weaver, supernumerary; Fulton and Water Valley, J. T. C. Collins—J. Moss, supernumerary; Fulton circuit, T. J. McGill; Dresden station, A. C. Moore; Salem, Robert L. Norman.

MCKENZIE DISTRICT.—J. H Roberts, P. E. McKenzie station, W. C. Waters; Paris station, W. G. Holley; Paris circuit, J. H. Johnson; Conyerville, R. H. Pigue; Maulevville, J. H. Warmath; Gleason, R. L. West; Huntingdon and Hollow Rock, H. B. Johnston; Trezevant, R. E. Humphrey; Murray, C. C. Bell; New Providence, J. H. Cole—B. B. Risenhoover, supernumerary; Big Sandy, W. J. Naylor; Cottage Grove, C. N. Goulder; Huntingdon, J. R. Bell; Murray and Benton, W. J. Mevoy; agent McTyeire Institute, J. A. Moody.

LEXINGTON DISTRICT.—B. A. Cook, P. E. Lexington and Sallilla, N. R. Marr; Lexington circuit, J. H. Garrett; Sardis, to be supplied; Decaturville, H. D. Overton; Scott's Hill, Thomas N. Wilkes; Sulphur Springs mission, James H. Cason; Camden, Charles A. Coleman—D. M. K. Collins, supernumerary; Sugar Tree, Joel B. Knight; Millin, W. B. Matthews; Adamsville, W. T. Locke Thomas G. Pettigrew; Shiloh, A. J. Anderson; Falcon mission, J. G. Jones; Bethel Springs, Joseph S. Carl.

East Texas Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

MARSHALL DISTRICT.—R. W. Thompson, P. E. Marshall station, James Campbell; Marshall mission, Leon Soufield; Harrison circuit, F. J. Browning; DeBerry circuit, W. H. Ardis; Centennial mission, Silas M. Thompson; Hallville circuit, H. H. Vaughan; Longview station, G. A. LeClere—H. M. Booth, supernumerary; Kilgore circuit, L. M. Fowler; Church Hill circuit, G. W. Langley; Henderson station, T. P. Smith; Henderson circuit, J. C. Calhoun; Troupe and Overton, W. A. Sampey; Axander Institute, Isaac Alexander, president; agent American Bible Society, J. B. Hall.

TYLER DISTRICT.—U. B. Phillips, P. E. Tyler station, H. M. DuBose—M. E. Hocker, supernumerary; Tyler circuit, Albert Tittle; Mineola station, W. H. Crawford; Lindale circuit, C. H. Smith; Canton circuit, J. O. Allen; Edom circuit, D. P. Cullen; Athens station, R. S. Finley; Athens circuit, W. M. Wainright; Malakoff circuit, D. W. Towns; Larissa circuit, T. T. Booth; White House circuit, E. D. Ogburn.

PALESTINE DISTRICT.—John Adams P. E. Palestine station, J. S. Mathis; Palestine circuit, M. Donegan; Kickapoo circuit, J. M. Mills; Grapeland circuit, Thomas Brasher; Crockett and Augusta, B. R. Bolton; Crockett circuit, Lacy Boone; Trinity circuit, A. J. Frink; Mount Vernon circuit, J. M. McCarter; Alto circuit, A. G. Scruggs; Rusk circuit, J. T. Smith; Jacksonville, E. F. Boone; State prison at Rusk, J. C. Woolam, chaplain.

SAN AUGUSTINE DISTRICT.—W. B. Patterson P. E. San Augustine station, C. F. Smith; Melrose circuit, W. W. McAnally—A. D. Parks, supernumerary; Center and Teneha, J. W. Johnson; Shelbyville circuit, John Helpenstel; Carthage circuit, G. R. Hughes; Beckville circuit, J. M. Smith; Pine Hill circuit, J. L. Dawson; Buena Vista circuit, supplied (by H. Twomey); Nacogdoches station, J. T. Browning; Sexton circuit, L. C. Ellis; Linn Flat circuit, H. W. Hawkins; Homphill mission, James McKnight.

BEAUMONT DISTRICT.—R. M. Sproule, P. E. Beaumont station, W. W. Hopper; Orange station, L. A. Burk; Liberty circuit, L. F. Smith; Sporger circuit, to be supplied (by William Sproule); Woodville circuit, J. A. Smith; Jasper station, J. F. Archer; Jasper mission, R. L. Averill; Burkville circuit, M. D. Long; Homer circuit, J. W. Tinnin; Livingston circuit, W. L. Pate; Moscow circuit, T. S. Armstrong; Newton circuit, J. S. Murphy.

TRANSFERRED.—G. C. Hardy, to North Texas Conference, and stationed at Belden circuit; G. D. Wilson, to Northwest Texas Conference, and stationed at Cedar Island circuit; J. P. Rogers, to West Texas Conference, and stationed at Beeville circuit; J. C. Carter, to Northwest Texas Conference, and stationed at Carlton circuit; Joel T. Daves, to Louisiana Conference.

Little Rock Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

LITTLE ROCK DISTRICT.—Horace Jewell, P. E. Little Rock, First Church, W. G. Miller; Fifteenth and Center Church, A. D. Jenkins; Benton station, C. D. McSwain; Benton circuit, E. N. Watson; Collegeville circuit, S. N. Burns; Maumelle circuit, H. Townsend; Liberty and Pleasant Grove, A. Hunter; Lonoke station, A. O. Evans; Ada in circuit, J. A. Biggs; Des Arc and Hickory Plains, Z. T. McCann; Wattensaw circuit, J. R. Sherwood; Hazen circuit, R. R. Moore; Carlisle circuit, L. M. Keith; Galloway circuit, S. H. Parker; A. R. Winfield, editor of Arkansas Methodist.

PINE BLUFF DISTRICT.—T. H. Ware, P. E. Pine Bluff circuit, J. F. Carr; Sheridan circuit, J. Y. Christmas; Toledo circuit, J. W. Berry; New Edinburg circuit, G. W. Matthaus; Lehi circuit, C. M. Keith; Auburn circuit, to be supplied (by R. H. Poynter); DeWitt circuit, N. E. Bragg; Stuttgart circuit, R. W. McKay; White River circuit, C. B. Brinkley; Old River circuit, W. J. Stone; Flat Bayou circuit, W. J. Rogers; Redfield circuit, R. T. Davis.

ARKADELPHIA DISTRICT.—C. C. Godden, P. E. Arkadelphia station, John McLaughlin; Clark circuit, J. A. Baker; Amity circuit, J. A. Bayless; Gordon circuit, J. M. Kline; Mt. Ida circuit, J. C. A. Mar ball; Hot Springs station, H. R. Withers—W. J. Davis, superannuated; Hot Springs circuit, J. S. Nicholson; Hot Springs mission, W. A. Steel; Malvern station, S. C. Stone; Malvern circuit, R. C. Atchley; Social Hill circuit, A. West; Tulip circuit, W. R. Harrison; Murfreesboro circuit, E. Garrett; Princeton circuit, A. Turrentine.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.—J. H Riggen, P. E. Washington circuit, J. R. Sanders; Fulton circuit, J. A. Sag; Hope station, L. B. Hawley; Prescott station, R. M. Traylor; Emmett circuit, D. T. Holmes; Mineral Springs, A. B. Winfield—J. R. Harvey, superannuated; Center Point circuit, J. M. G. Douglass; Richmond and Rocky Comfort, W. C. Adams; Little River mission, J. H. Gulfy; Pevionville circuit, to be supplied (by F. E. English); Lockesburg circuit, J. T. Rasco; Chapel Hill circuit, T. G. Galloway—B. E. Mitchell, supernumeray; Silino circuit, J. R. Calloway; Cove circuit, to be supplied (by J. B. Williams); Dallas circuit, to be supplied (by A. P. Alexander); Silver Springs mission, to be supplied.

CAMDEN DISTRICT.—J. J. Jenkins, P. E. Camden station, J. R. Moore; Camden circuit, J. R. Cason; Ouachita circuit, C. L. Adams; Carolina circuit, H. Armstrong; Buckner circuit, O. H. Keadle; Texarkana circuit, W. W. Mills; Bright Star circuit, R. T. Nabors; Magnolia station, Wade Preston; Stevens circuit, G. W. Logan; Atmia circuit, T. D. Scott—J. Turrentine, supernumerary; Eldorado circuit, John H. Gold; Laplie circuit, W. A. Freeman; Fordyce circuit, H. H. Watson; Beardon mission, J. B. Thomas.

MONTICELLO DISTRICT.—H. D. McKinnon, P. E. Monticello station, R. B. Morrow; Mt. Pleasant circuit, J. M. D. Sturgis; Salina circuit, E. L. Beard; Arkansas City, W. H. Brownlow; Holly Grove circuit, L. W. Pruse; Lake Village and Lake Port, A. P. Fow; Lacey circuit, J. D. Whitesides; Hamburg station, H. W. Brooks; Hamburg circuit, J. W. F. Scott; Bartholomew circuit, R. G. Turner; Palestine circuit, S. A. Hill; Warren circuit, R. P. Wilson.

TRANSFERRED.—A. T. Galloway to Louisiana Conference; J. P. Holmes, to Northwest Texas Conference; A. S. Scott, to the Los Angeles Conference.

China Mission Conference.

The following brief note from Dr. Allen marks progress in the East. A more detailed account of the meeting will be found elsewhere this week in the letter of Rev. Geo. R. Loehr. The improved health of Bishop Wilson is very gratifying. By next mail we hope to have a complete roll of the Conference and the appointments.

SHANGHAI CHINA, Nov. 18, 1886.

MY DEAR DOCTOR: I have only a minute, as the mail is leaving, in which to send you the latest news from the field, to-wit: That the China Mission has been erected into an Annual Conference, under the name of the China Mission Conference. Its organization completed yesterday (seventeenth), at the first session. Bishop Wilson is well, and the Conference proceeding satisfactorily.

Y. J. ALLEN.

—Wesleyan Christian Advocate.

As a matter of economy how does the average daily paper at five cents a copy compare with an Advocate at four and a fraction? For the last month most of the dailies have been unfit for general circulation. The filth out hues to flow through their columns. A religious paper can be read with safety and profit by an entire family. What do you say, parents? Are you unable to furnish the Advocate for your families because you "must have your daily?"

—Western Christian Advocate.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1887.

For the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

A NEW YEAR'S GREETING.

BY MRS. I. CRAIG CARTER.

A happy, happy New Year!
Hark, how the bells do chime!
A happy, happy New Year!
O, what a happy time!

A happy, happy New Year!
Before it is too late
I'll bid a happy New Year
To the "dear old ADVOCATE."

A happy, happy New Year!
To our editor, I say
We'll have a happy new year
Because he's coole to-day.

A happy, happy New Year!
To the editors that went up higher
If they aspired to reach the top,
It was a good "desire."

A happy, happy New Year!
To the foreman; printers, too.
They early rise and sit up late
To give the news to you.

A happy, happy New Year
To the publishers both J. and C.
A happy, happy New Year!
To the boy they call a "D."

A happy, happy New Year!
To ye writers and ye scribe,
Who still the ink and wield the pen
Of Zebulon's great tribe.

A happy, happy New Year!
To our pastors new and old,
We'll pray for them and help them with
Our silver and our gold.

A happy, happy New Year!
To their patient, loving wives.
They deserve a happy New Year
For their grand, heroic lives.

A happy, happy New Year!
To all the girls and boys.
In merit may they make a mark,
As well as make a noise.

A happy, happy New Year!
If there's "heathen at your door,"
Make them a happy New Year
By giving from your store.

A happy, happy New Year!
To our missionary bands,
Who are spreading the glad tidings
In many foreign lands.

A happy, happy New Year!
To our readers in their need,
May they multiply so fast this year
That all who can may read!

A happy, happy New Year!
To the carriers—last, not least.
May we all have a flow of soul,
And every week a feast!

HALLEY, Louisiana.

The Last Words from "Invalid."

The editor, in looking through some old papers in the editor's drawer the other day, discovered the following communication from "Invalid," which he takes pleasure in giving to the readers of the ADVOCATE. She "being dead, yet speaketh."

"THE WORLD WELL LOST."

On the last night of the old year Nature, as with tender, reverent hands, spread a shroud of spotless white over the dying year. The "winding sheet" of the dead monarch served as "coronation ermine" for the queenly New Year. Or, to better illustrate, it seemed that the praying angels, beholding the slumbering world wrapped in sin and misery, had woven draperies from the clouds of heaven, or shook from their "snowy wings" the soft white plumage which had fallen as a "mantle of charity" over the erring, sin-stained earth. It seemed ruthless desecration to crush under foot the stainless snow-flowers to leave sinful footprints on nature's spotless carpet; but our rude sleigh dashed swiftly over the broad white plains, and to my enfeebled frame it was most refreshing after weeks of illness. On my return from my first and last sleigh ride, I sought a brief rest, hoping to recover strength for the duties of the New Year; but alas! I grew worse—every day riveting the chains of affliction; the days growing into weeks, the weeks lengthening into months, until the third day of the present New Year brings the sixth anniversary of my "captivity."

Yes, six years ago I was forced to yield to "a mightier One," whose strength was greater than my strength—of will or body, whose wisdom was greater than my feebleness of mind, whose eye could see all that was before me, and whose hand was merciful, even in afflicting, whose words of command were those of a loving Father who brought his restless, unhappy child to obedience with the rod of affliction. "Be still and know that I am God!" As the days passed wearily by, bringing no relief, how far away seemed the promised land of rest! In the morning I would sigh, "Would God it were even!" and at even I would say, "Would God it were morning!" Oh, for rest from pain—from mental and physical anguish! How I longed to break the fetters that bound me, to burst my prison doors, to bask in God's golden sunshine, to be as free as the birds whose songs but mocked me! How bright and beautiful the wide, wide world beneath the soft blue skies! But glad voices and "sweet memories past" called but in vain! Yes, everywhere without—was bright with sunshine, vocal with music, while within all was cheerless gloom, weariness and unrest.

To me the world was lost. Ah, what had I not lost! Ambition, like a fonder, cherished exile, drooped as if smitten by "the north wind's breath." Hope, like a radiant star, went down in a night of despair—o'erclouded forever. Affliction's rod seemed one of cruelty, for I could not then realize that "he only wounds to heal." The cup pressed to unwilling, quivering lips was one of bitterness and anguish; the cross, beneath which I sank weary and fainting, seemed greater than I could bear; the thorns, given for "youth's joy and crown," wreathed an aching brow, while my rebellious heart cried out in its anguish, in its desolate pain and woe "My God, why hast thou forsaken me! Is thy mercy clean gone forever?"

Ah, how like Israel I murmured; sighing for the past, because the waters of affliction were bitter, and the wilderness of sin brought forth no goodly fruits, no cooling waters, no palmy shade, nor dewy fragrance. The days seemed to grow longer, the nights darker. The seasons came and went, the world moved on without me, until I felt that it was with me, as with the dead, if not really dead—I seemed buried and forgotten.

Like David, "In my distress I cried, and the Lord heard me and delivered me out of all my troubles." "Nearer, my God, to thee," was my heart's constant thirsting cry. Realizing the need of an ever-present Savior, I cast "all my care upon him," and when I had "learned of him" the perfect lessons of patience, reposed in him perfect trust, "looking unto him" with eyes of unclouded faith, pleading for "grace sufficient;" then came perfect love, joy and peace! Lo! the day had dawned, the "thick shadows" fled, a new song was given me in the night of sorrow. "My cup runneth over," was a joyous cry, for it was sweetened with God's wondrous love. My "prison" indeed "proved a palace," and often I realized that this humble "bethel" was "as the door of heaven." Often in the midst of the fiercest flames in "affliction's furnace" I thought of a greater sufferer—the faithful martyr—whose death-bed was one of glowing coals—while enveloped in the cruel flames, was heard to exclaim: "Am I on a bed of roses?" When racked with pain, hurling with fever, and without any earthly comfort or relief, such fortitude has been given, such sweet spiritual "refreshing from the presence of the Lord," such holy calm, such peace has been mine, that I have burst forth into rapturous song—

"Must I be carried to the skies
On flowery beds of ease,
While others fought to win the prize,
And sailed thro' bloody seas?"

Truly "God is love!" Behold how he loved us, giving his only Son to die that we might live! The cross has overshadowed, not crushed me, and even now it is wreathed with peace. Beneath its shadow I have found "joys unspeakable"—a rest which may be called "the soul's repose"—not a sluggish slumber of a slothful soul, but a peaceful, trustful rest.

"In the cross, in the cross,
Be my glory ever,
Till my ransomed soul shall find
Rest beyond the river."

When the voices of earth call to me, and star-eyed Pleasure, with its golden wand, beckons me to follow, I heed not the voice which has lost its music, and say of Pleasure's days—"I have no pleasure in them." Tidings of thrilling interest to those who know not "the way of righteousness" fall on ears that heed not its "uncertain sounds," for "none of these things move me." I hunger no more and thirst not for "the meats that perish," for the waters that quench not the thirst of the soul. "Dead to the world"—aye, even forgotten; just so my life be "hidden with Christ in God." Mine are the "sure mercies;" my hidden treasures, "the secret of the Lord." Though the friends of my youth, who in my sunshine lived, fled when winter came, their places are not vacant and desolate, for the hearts of strangers have been strangely warmed and drawn out in sympathy for one in the bonds of affliction. They are not of the world; but, "bearing in their bodies the marks of the Lord Jesus," they "go about doing good," ministering to the sighing "prisoners of the Lord." Such are God's pure, white-plumed messengers, coming as did the ravens to feed the weary, hungry prophet. Some of such have found me—God's pensioner—and have held with gentle hand "the cup of cold water" to thirsty, fevered lips.

Yes, for six years of hopeless, helpless and painful affliction I have led a life of trust as God's pensioner, and he has verified his precious promise: "I will not leave you comfortless." Hidden in the cleft of "the Rock that is higher than I," earth's tempests may sweep over me; but I know that my God is not in them. Hearing "the still, small voice" above the loudest crash and roar, I can sing in joy and gladness, in calm and trustful spirit, praising "the Rock of my salvation"—

"Rocks and storms I'll fear no more,
Till on that eternal shore,
Drop the anchor, furl the sail,
I am safe within the veil."

Crown me not egotist, for in reviewing the past six years (the brightest and best of the coinage in life's treasury), if I seem to boast, I am but "glorying in my infirmities," and more in "the cross of Christ." This is but a feeble expression of thanks to the Lord for "all his benefits toward me," for many have been his "benefits" showered upon my resting-place from "the tree of forgiveness," by the power of love and mercy. So the six years of my invalid life have been spent under his watchful, pitying eye—under his wing—where "I am safe from all danger." Looking not on things temporal with covetous eyes, but on my "hope of glory," I count "the world well lost."

INVALID.

The Missionaries and Rum.

MR. EDITOR: The St. Louis Christian Advocate, of December 22, upon the authority of the New York Times, says: "Every ship that carries a missionary to Africa, carries enough poisoned rum and gin to offset in evil the good effects of the labors of a thousand missionaries." This brings to our mind an incident which occurred a few years since. A vessel which took out two missionaries to the western coast of Africa, at the same time carried forty thousand gallons of rum to sell to those superstitious and easily gulled people. Now this suggests the question, How much rum will it take to paralyze the good influence exerted by each missionary? In order to a solution of this problem, we will state that a saloonist of DeSoto parish was reported as saying during an election for local option, that he could make more votes for license with ten gallons of whisky than all the preachers in the parish could make for local option. Admit this to be true, and no one doubts it where the freedmen are in the majority. Suppose there are fifty preachers in the parish, and we will thus state the problem for solution. If ten gallons of whisky will paralyze the good influence of fifty preachers in a civilized community, what number of missionaries among a heathen people would have their influence paralyzed by forty thousand gallons of poisoned rum?

In reference to another feature of the subject, we have the following from the Rev. J. C. Simmons, of California: He says, judging from the past, three years hence there will be one hundred thousand acres of wine-bearing vineyards, averaging about four hundred gallons of wine per acre, making forty million gallons of wine. Furthermore he says, men who make it almost invariably become drunkards and go swiftly to destruction. In neighborhoods where it is extensively manufactured drunkenness abounds, especially among the young. This testimony, against the theory that wine making is an antidote against drunkenness, has been given by an observing man, an eye-witness for thirty-five years.

As we are writing upon a topic which effects the vital interests of universal humanity, permit me to give a shocking incident which occurred in this community a few days since. We quote from the DeSoto Democrat: "Reese Poag was shot and killed by Mr. B. B. Dicklusou. The sole and only cause of this distressing calamity can be summed up in one simple word—'whisky.' Reese Poag, a splendid young man, lies a bloody grave to-day, in order that a few men may grow rich by dispensing deadly poison to their fellow-mortals." The only apology we have for writing those things is the hope that we may stir up the good temperance men and women to a greater degree of activity.

J. F.

MANSFIELD, La., Dec. 27, 1886.

Our Work in New Orleans.

MR. EDITOR: I was pleased and impressed with this sentence in one of your editorials, a few weeks past: "The best man for the most needy place." We are doubtless not making the advance in New Orleans that we might reasonably expect. The question of giving the gospel to the multitudes of semi-heathen in our cities is now occupying my mind, and my concern for the spiritual welfare of this great city is almost consuming me. Let me suggest, in the fear of God, what seems to me a reasonable and feasible plan of work to begin with. There are ten separate charges, I believe, in New Orleans (including the German charges). Let ten men be sent to these charges who are able and willing to preach three times each week in addition to the work now done. Send an active, enterprising missionary to the city, whose work shall be to seek out places for preaching in every destitute part of the city, arrange the appointments for preaching, and, serving as the pastor of the work, let him open as soon as possible thirty new preaching-places in dwellings, halls or rented rooms. Let the pastors each preach at the places nearest them—say on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. Let the missionary preach at each of these places at least once each quarter on the Sabbath, and as often as possible on the evenings of the week. Let him establish a Sabbath-school at each place as soon as possible, and a class meeting. We will thus be preaching at forty different places each week instead of ten, and no man is worthy the name of a preacher who is unwilling to do the work, and let no man be sent to the city who is unable to do it.

Fifty-five gospel sermons each week instead of twenty, regularly and more in time of revival, will, under God's blessing, give a mighty impetus to the work. This plan will bring into active use a vast amount of idle talent in the way of Sunday-school superintendents and teachers and class leaders. It will develop a sympathy among the workers that does not now exist, and most assuredly, as the Lord has chosen the "foolishness of preaching" the means, and made the "gospel the power of God unto salvation" to all that believe, we will have great success. There are multiplied thousands here who never hear a pure, kind word, or know what it is to hear the gospel preached, I truly believe. O, for a million to build churches and schools for God through Methodism in New Orleans.

H. F. WHITE.

A Good Book for Everybody.

MR. EDITOR: I am glad to see in the last ADVOCATE notice of a book, entitled "The Work of the Holy Spirit in Man." I have been seeking for such a book, and rejoice to learn that one has been published, and I, too, join in request with "P. G. W." that "J. W. M." will state through the ADVOCATE where it can be purchased, and the price. A book on that subject, written in a style to meet the popular need, would supply a great desideratum. The average church member—to say nothing about the outsider—has very imperfect ideas of the Holy Spirit. How many even so much as actually and really believe that "there be any Holy Ghost"?—much less realize the great blessing of his presence and office. I have long thought that one, if not the greatest, difficulty in the way of the unregenerated has been the lack of a proper understanding of the reality, presence and office of the Holy Spirit. People generally look upon the Father and the Son as away off yonder—too far away to take notice of their sins and prayers; whereas Christ left word with the world before he left the earth for heaven that he would send the Holy Spirit to stay here in his stead—"the Comforter to help our infirmities"—and he declared that we would be gaining by the arrangement. And now the world needs a plain and concise book to call attention to that fact and instruct the popular mind about the great boon we have in the real, live, omnipresent and blessed Holy Spirit. Let us have it by all means.

I saw in the ADVOCATE, two or three years ago, a notice (by Bro. Ware, of Pass Christian) of a little book, entitled "The Christian's Secret of a Happy Life." I got it, and have derived more spiritual good from it than all other books I ever read, excepting the Bible. I devoutly wish it also was in every house in the land, and read carefully and prayerfully by every human being in all the world. It is worth far more than its weight in gold, and it costs only fifty to seventy-five cents, according to style of binding, etc. That book can be had at the Willard Tract Repository, 239 Fourth avenue, New York City, or 921 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Let everybody get both books and read them carefully and prayerfully; and if the first-mentioned one be as good as the last, they will prove a great blessing.

D. W. FOSTER.

PLEASANCE, La., Dec. 19, 1886.

"Threatenings."

MR. EDITOR: Of late there have appeared in the columns of the ADVOCATE many pieces under the above heading—of threats being made, and of threats being carried into effect, etc. One brother makes a good threat, and calls on his brethren everywhere to threaten likewise. I see no objection to his throat since it is a good one. He proposes that the preachers of the three patronizing Conferences—Louisiana, Mississippi and North Mississippi—of which the ADVOCATE is the general organ, threaten the editor with 2,000 new subscribers.

Now, brethren, how do you expect to heed this call? How do you intend to get about getting up your number of subscribers? If all hands will work, it will be easily done. In the three Conferences there are nearly 300 traveling preachers. I suppose in the three Conferences there are 250 circuits, and the circuits will average four preaching-places each. Will each preacher try "his best" to send one new subscriber to the ADVOCATE from each preaching-place? This appears reasonable, and all know it is right. This would make the 1,000 asked for—to say nothing of the stations.

A station, Mr. Editor, is generally looked upon as a "better place" than a circuit; and now, according to public opinion, they must send more subscribers to the ADVOCATE than the circuit. Now for a plan by which to do this work: When the preacher in charge holds his Church Conference as the Discipline directs, and inquires concerning the circulation and reading of our religious literature, let him appoint a lady agent to canvass for the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, as an answer to the fifth inquiry in the Church Conference. Let all the brethren try this, and the 1,000 new names will come.

LOUISIANA METHODIST.

Fund for Superannuates.

MR. EDITOR: Permit me to make a proposition to the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, through your valuable paper, and that is, that every member shall pay one dollar to the support of superannuated ministers of our church. Let each Conference invest the same as a permanent fund, and pay the interest annually to such ministers. As there are nearly one million of members and only about three hundred superannuates, the interest would afford them some little support. I know there are many necessary calls, but none more imperative, and not one that ought to be more willingly obeyed. You are, I hope, so remote from that epoch at which you would be personally benefited, that I shall entertain the ardent wish that you will advocate with all your ability this just debt and request your brother editors to do the same.

Yours fraternally,

A LAYMAN.

BLADON SPRINGS, Alabama.

Alexander the Great.

MR. EDITOR: It is not my intention to write a historical sketch of the man whose name heads this article. If any one wishes to know all that is worth knowing about Alexander the Great, they can find it either in Plutarch's Lives or Rollins' Ancient History. My object is to contradict a falsehood which I have read and heard reiterated hundreds of times, and sometimes from Methodist pulpits. It is that "Alexander the Great conquered the whole world, and then sat down and wept bitterly because there was not another world for him to conquer." Where or when this falsehood started I do not know. If all the authentic history now extant about the great warrior and conqueror is to be credited, he did no such thing. He did subjugate by force of arms and capitulation more nations, perhaps, than any other monarch ever did; but he lacked a great deal of conquering the whole world as it was then known. He conquered the greater part of Western Asia, including Egypt in Africa; but he never went further east in Asia than the Ganges river. All the nations east of that river, including the contiguous islands, he never touched. He did not conquer Arabia in Southwestern Asia, nor Carthage, one of the most warlike governments then on earth, in Northern Africa. He never ventured on Rome or on any of the powerful nations in Western Europe who were the predecessors of the present Germanic, Spanish, French, Anglo-Saxon and other races of men. Indeed, he would have found it far more difficult to conquer those hardy, warlike nations of Western Europe than to overrun the voluptuous and enervated Persians and their more than half savage neighbors.

As to his weeping at his disappointments I recollect but two instances. After a fruitless effort to overtake Bessus he returned into Parthia, and while resting his army for a few days, he was suddenly informed that his long-tried and much-trusted Macedonian soldiers had determined to abandon him and return home, whereupon he wept and "complained, that in the midst of so glorious a career he was stopped on a sudden, and forced to return into his own country, rather like one who had been overcome, than as a conqueror." The other time he wept was when Anaxarchus, the philosopher, assured him that there was an infinite number of worlds. He "wept to think that it would be impossible for him to conquer them all, as he had not yet conquered one." The ambition of Alexander was boundless. He not only coveted to be the conqueror of the whole world, but to be deified and acknowledged as a god with Bacchus and Jupiter. He was indeed an extraordinary man, and his early manhood was very promising; but while he conquered so many nations, one man he failed to conquer, and that was himself. He died under thirty-three years of age, and the latter years of his life was full of debauchery and drunkenness, and he died at the sick end of a terrible spree. Now, if our preachers want to say anything about Alexander the Great in their sermons, I hope hereafter they will only say what they know to be true.

J. O. JONES.

HAZLEHURST, Mississippi.

A Question in Exegesis.

We find ourselves in a mist and somewhat divided on the Sunday-school lesson of the nineteenth instant—Revelation xxii, 8-21, inclusive. Will you help us?

The narrative is unbroken. If there is a change in the person, we can not see it. In the eighth it is an "angel" "shewed me these things;" in the ninth it is "thy fellow-servant" "which keep the sayings," etc.; in the thirteenth, "I am Alpha and Omega;" in the sixteenth, "I Jesus." The person seems identical, and Emanuel was "sent" a "messenger" from heaven, clothed with humanity, "under the law," etc; hence meets all the relations. The difficulty in this exegesis is found in the ninth verse: "See thou do it not." (You will mark that in our version there is an ellipsis to meet the requirements of the Greek idiom. Is there controversy about the translation?) This, you will mark, is the ultima pars, the very last, of written Revelation to man, and the tenth verse implies a fuller revelation than hitherto. Then is it violence to interpret this as a prophecy, and to fix the scene of the fullness of this "vision" away off in that cycle contemplated in I Corinthians xv, 27 and 28, when the union of the Logos with humanity shall have finished its work, and the second Adam shall have taken his place in the restored Eden as the head of the church?

Is there any other way of reconciling the teachings of the lesson?

J. V. B.

TERRY, Mississippi.

Turkeys and Quails.

"There went forth a wind from the Lord and brought quails from the sea." Seven turkeys and a good number of "quails" have come to the Edwards parsonage. Other gifts have come. "I. W.," Florence Ione, and Ellis Bowman have been made happy with toys. By many acts of delicate attention, and the most cordial reception given me on my return, I am constrained to do my best the coming year. May God bless the kind people of Edwards!

I. W. COOPER.

Buena Vista Circuit, North Mississippi Conference.

MR. EDITOR: At the last session of the North Mississippi Conference we were appointed to the Buena Vista circuit. We at once obeyed orders and proceeded to our new field of labor. Everything conspired to make our move, from our former charge to this place, as pleasant as it is possible for a move to be made. We met friends on every hand, and received from them many acts of genuine kindness, for which we are grateful.

On our arrival here we met a very cordial welcome and kind reception. The brethren greeted us and bade us make ourselves at home. The parsonage we found without furniture, and the preacher was in the same condition. We only had to mention our wants to have them supplied. We were soon turned loose in a furniture store and authorized to furnish the parsonage according to our taste and necessities. I need not say to you that the parsonage is now neatly and elegantly furnished with new furniture. Let praise be given to him whom praise is due. Through the instrumentality of Dr. John T. Murdock, a noble Presbyterian, a man of liberal soul, at whose hands many kindnesses have been received, the necessaries of the preacher's home have thus been supplied. Our brethren and the good sisters have made us feel welcome, and we are now ready to go to work to do them faithful service.

Buena Vista is a pleasant and growing little town. A college has been built here within the last few months, which has at this time about two hundred pupils. Education is commanding the attention of the people, and they are alive to every progressive movement. The morals of the people are good. Whisky, the dread monster, is not allowed to be sold here. Strange to say, Methodism is without a house of worship here, but is kindly accommodated by the Presbyterians. It is fortunate to have good neighbors, and they are highly appreciated; but we hope to be able to report a new Methodist Church in this place in the near future.

You will help us build if we will only let you; and we are determined to ask and urge the people to subscribe for the ADVOCATE, and in that way have you help us in all material church prosperity.

HESLEP H. TUCKER.

BUENA VISTA, Miss., Dec. 22, 1886.

Storm at Carrollton.

Husband, baby boy and myself left Greenwood for Carrollton on the morning of December 21, and when we arrived at the parsonage there were visible signs of a hard wind. Husband not being well, I knew he was not able to stand much of a storm, and, being of a timid nature myself, I was fearful some damage would be done. But it is said—

"Behind a frowning Providence,
He hides a smiling face."

There were smiling faces peeping out above the storm, and that made us feel comfortable. It was so severe that it blew flour, meat, sugar, coffee, a well-cooked and delightful dinner, and many other nice things into the dining-room and kitchen. It is certainly the longest storm I ever felt, for it is still blowing. A wagon load of corn, some potatoes, meat, and other things were blown into their places yesterday.

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good." However, it did not take us long to take in the situation, as we had been "stormed," "pounded" and "canned" at Greenwood the year past, and had become accustomed to such ill treatment. It's a pity our appetites are so dull. Words can not express our gratitude to the kind people of Greenwood and Carrollton, who never cease to bestow favors upon the preacher and his family. We have no idea of transferring.

OMIL LEWIS.

CARROLLTON, Miss., Dec 23, 1886.

"An Inquiry" Answered.

In the ADVOCATE, of December 16, "P. G. W." inquires in regard to a book noticed by me in the ADVOCATE. "The Work of the Holy Spirit in Man," by G. Tophel (not "Lophel"), is an Edinburgh print, translated from the French by Rev. Thos. J. Despres. I purchased my copy through Phillips and Hunt, 805 Broadway, N. Y. The price, I think, is one dollar.

J. W. M.

To the Members of the Mississippi Conference Brotherhood.

Bro. Joseph Nicholson is dead. Assessment No. 6 is now due, and must be paid in sixty days. Send to the treasurer, Rev. I. W. Cooper, Edwards, Miss.

B. F. JONES, Ass't Sec'y.

WOODVILLE, Mississippi.

How solid and immovable looks the ice that stretches in winter from shore to shore of the bays and inlets of the Arctic ocean; but that ice has a motion and current as truly as the waters of our southern seas and rivers. Two vessels of the Grinnell Expedition penetrated far northward, until they were firmly enclosed in the ice; and while thus bound fast they were drifted backward, 1,500 miles, by a slow and often imperceptible movement of a mass which seemed as stationary as it was frigid. So, want of zeal in the Christian life, a cold and frozen formality, has its unnoticed and unanspected drift, away from God, away from pious constancy, away from spiritual power with men. Be sure, oh brother, that the ice of your wintry backsliding has borne and will and must bear you backward. Cry out for the Sun!

The New Year's Responsibilities.

By the mercy of God we have been permitted to cross the line which separates the old connexional year from the new. It has not come about by chance, and it is not due to our own wisdom or strength; it is the appointment of him in whom we live and move and have our being. In the calling of the ministorial muster-roll at Conference there was an unusual number of solemn pauses to make inquiry for those who were not present to answer to their names. The returns of membe ship also showed that many a death-summons had reached the rank and filo of our church in the twelve months. As we fall in afresh for the advance into the new year our feelings are chastened as we think of those who were with us at the beginning of the old year, but now are not, and of retaining our places solely by the grace of him in whose hand is the breath of every living thing. We are now standing upon the margin of a new field of time, and it should be a matter of earnest care with us that we take possession of it in our Master's name, and cultivate it for his glory. At each year's close we institute a more searching inquiry than any other church, as to the results that have followed our labor, and it is only fitting that at the year's opening we should take pains to ascertain how the best and largest results may be secured. If in anticipation of the close of this year we ask "What shall the harvest be?" we may answer in the words of Scripture—"Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." We must not exclude or undervalue God's blessing. In one sense all success comes from God, and is the free gift of his grace. But from another point of view we see that the Divine will often takes effect through the fulfillment of conditions which fall within the sphere of human agency, and thus our action becomes the measure of God's work, and our inaction a barrier to its progress. The Scripture figure of sowing and reaping is full of instruction on this point. God created the earth, and he still makes it to bring forth and bud, giving seed to the sower and bread to the eater. But if the husbandman do not plough his field and sow his seed and tend his growing crops, he shall beg in harvest time, and have nothing. In spiritual husbandry the Divine and the human may combine in other proportions and in other modes than those in which they are met in material husbandry, but both are as requisite under the economy of grace as they are in the course of nature. It becomes us then to remind ourselves again that fresh obligations devolve upon us in the new year. God will give his blessing if we put ourselves in a position to receive it. Whatever is uncertain about the future one thing is sure—God will keep his word. The only room for uncertainty is in connexion with ourselves. What are we going to do? Before we promise as to what we will do, it would be well to examine ourselves and ascertain what we are. In our character—our moral and spiritual condition—there is a truer indication of our future action than in any profession of our lips. If our hearts are divided it is folly to anticipate consistent and earnest devotion to God's service. But when the heart is fully surrendered to God, and sanctified by his Spirit, the whole energies of the man's nature unite in obedience to the will of him who is loved supremely. This is the perfection of character upheld in our Methodist theology—a perfection of love; and where it is experienced it will be followed by what should be a universal Methodist practice—unreserved, untiring devotion of all our powers to doing God's will. The public services in connexion with the Conference were seasons of much good to those who were privileged to be present at them. We trust the blessing obtained then will be followed by even more abundant blessing throughout the year. God is as accessible in the remotest circuit as he was found to be recently in Dublin. We are never at a distance from the altar on which we offer ourselves as living sacrifices to him; and we are never far away from the throne on which he sits, who asks, "What will thou that I should do unto thee?"—Irish Christian Advocate.

A Kentucky Opinion.

Mr. A. P. Baker writes from Friendship, Ky.: "I was so low down when I commenced, I was not able to use it regularly. I believe it would have cured me if I could have had a fair chance. It has done me good. The neighbors notice the improvement; some of them say 'I look so much better,' and others say 'I never expected you to look as well as you do.' I have been sick so long. It has cured my wife. She is fifty odd years old, and her general health is better than it has been since she was grown. It also could see everybody that is afflicted, she would recommend your Home Treatment. She thinks it will cure all diseases.'

Letters from patients in nearly every State and Territory appear in the January Health and Life, which, with the brochure of nearly 200 pages, can be had, free, by any applicant for it, by mail or in person, from Drs. STARKEY & PALEN, 1520 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa

The Legislation of the Year.

A very interesting summary of legislation in the United States for the year 1885-1886 was given by Mr. William Allen Butler in his address as president before the annual meeting of the American Bar Association at Saratoga last August. The address, which is now published in a pamphlet, reviews the legislation of Congress and of sixteen States.

Connecticut has prohibited the employment of children under 13 in factories, and the playing of games in pool or billiard rooms by minors under 16, or their loitering in or about such rooms. Both Massachusetts and New Hampshire prohibited by fine—$ 5 in the first state and $20 in the second—the selling of cigarettes or tobacco in any form to minors under 16; and in Massachusetts the penalty is also imposed on any person, except the parents or guardian, who gives the prohibited articles to such minor. New Hampshire has prohibited, under penalty of fine and imprisonment, the employment of any minor to sell or give away books, magazines, or newspapers devoted to the publication or illustration of stories of bloodshed, lust or crime. New Jersey forbids, under heavy penalties, the employment of children under 12 for singing, playing on musical instruments, or any other like calling to be followed in theatres and highways. Maryland has enacted a cigarette statute similar to that of Massachusetts, Ohio provides against the adulteration of candy; and Maryland includes cakes also. Michigan forbids factory employment as to children under 14 unless they have attended school for at least four months of the year preceding their employment. It also requires the provision of seats for female employes when not necessarily engaged in active duties. "The Child Labor Bill" in New York protects children from being overworked, and Massachusetts increases the penalties for seduction and enticement, and raises the age of consent from 14 to 18.

Massachusetts makes the procurement of a fraudulent divorce a crime punishable by fine or imprisonment, and requires a libellant who has moved into the State for the purpose of procuring a divorce to have a residence of five years. New Jersey fixes the term at three years, Maryland at two years. New York permits women to vote at school meetings, and they are made eligible to serve as overseers of the poor in Massachusetts. Connecticut requires registration of the intent to marry, and Maryland a marriage license or the publication of banns. South Carolina has adopted the rule prevailing in some other States, entitling a husband to the same share of a deceased wife's estate that a widow gets out of the estate of her husband. Mississippi makes husbands and wives competent witnesses against each other in all controversies between them. There has now been in Mississippi complete removal of the common law disabilities of married women.

Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Ohio, and Virginia prohibit the sale of morphine or any of its salts, unless in scarlet wrapping, with prescribed label, and New Jersey and Michigan have also made pharmacy and the practice of medicine the subject of special statutes, and in Georgia the regulations extend to dentists. Legislation with regard to explosives is also general. Mississippi protects travelers who do not smoke by providing that the payment of first-class fares shall entitle them to first-class passage, which is defined to be in "any suitable car in which smoking is not allowed." Michigan requires full and equal accommodations, facilities, and privileges for all citizens alike, of every race and color in public conveyances, inns, restaurants, barber shops, and places of accommodation or amusement.

Kentucky punishes professional gamblers by fine or imprisonment, makes the offenders infamous, and disqualifies them from voting or holding office. Georgia and Mississippi have passed local option laws. Ohio has levied a direct tax on the proceeds of sales of liquor. Rhode Island passed a sweeping prohibitive law, which went into effect on the first of last July. Connecticut and Iowa require that instruction as to the effects of alcholic liquors on the human system shall be given in the public schools, and Congress passed a law of the same purport with respect to the District of Columbia, the Territories, and the military and naval schools. After January 1, 1888, applicants as teachers in the public schools must pass an examination as to the subject.

Massachusetts has provided for the weekly payment of wages by corporations. Rhode Island requires employers to give employes notice of intention to discharge them, like that which they exact of the employed in respect to an intention to give up work, as a condition in either case of forfeiture of wages. New Hampshire forbids by a very stringent law, the intermeddling by strikers with other laborers, and also the speaking of offensive or derisive words addressed to any person passing along the street, with a view to preventing his pursuing his lawful business.—Evangelist, N. Y.

A Deep Mystery.

Wherever you are located you should write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free, full information about work that you can do and live at home, making thereby from $5 to $25 and upwards daily. Some have made over $50 in a day. All is new. Hallett & Co. will start you. Capital not needed. Either sex. All ages. No class of working people have ever made money so fast heretofore. Comfortable fortunes await every worker. All this seems a deep mystery to you, reader, but send along your address and it will be cleared up and proved. Better not delay; now is the time.

The Incarnation.

The incarnation suggests the worth of the human soul. We are at times inclined to underrate the value of human nature. Ascetic and monk tortured and crucified the body. The "total" element of "depravity" is not limited, as it should be, to the human will, but is extended to "all the faculties and parts of soul and body." Against such extreme views of the debasement of human nature the present century has worked a mighty revolution. The pendulum has necessarily swung to the opposite extreme, and man has been painted as that embodiment of innocence and virtue which only Eden for a short time exhibited. What man is a sinner we find no evidence. Man is indeed so great a sinner that only the Christ can possess le him to repentance. The incarnation proves the homousness and strength of human sinfulness. But, provin the badness of man, it also proves his goodness. The incarnation proves that man is worth saving. If man did not possess worth in himself, a God would not have become man to effect his rescue. "I am not convinced of what you say," replied a man with whom a minister had been speaking; "I am not sure that I can not answer every one of your arguments; but one thing I confess I do not understand, it puzzles me and makes me feel a power in what you say. It is why you should care enough or make all this trouble and to honor us as you cared for my soul." No theory of the incarnation can be set up to explain its mysteries. Every argument in its behalf only seems to darken. But the simple fact of the incarnation proves, and to us proves completely, the worth of the human soul, the germ of human character, the world of man. Babyhood is holier because Christ was a baby. Motherhood is made more sweeter, hallowed Mary was from the Son of God. Life is richer because the God-man lived. Labor has lost its curse and meanness because the Divine hand touched the plane. Specially has become pure worthy scenes at the wedding he wrought his first miracle. Citizenship has become nearer because he both loved and was loved. The lowest life suggests the depth of shame to which any life may sink. The highest life suggests the height of holiness to which any life may climb. Christ points out to each man the worth lying in his soul.

The incarnation is also a prophecy of what man may become. The perfect life of Christ is a type of the final perfection of humanity. In every attempt to live a perfect life appear two difficulties. The one is the difficulty of turning theory into practice. Theories abound, but they are not translated into conduct. They float above the hard every-day life as the hazy clouds of August float above the landscape. The other difficulty is the opposite of this; it is the difficulty of basing practice on sound theory. It consists in fastening the eye upon the work in hand, and forgetting the principle underlying and supporting it. When hurry the principle in the city of trivial circumstances. These two difficulties stand on either side of any attempt to live a perfect life; the danger of holding the principle so sacred that it has no relation to common life, and the danger of crushing the principle beneath the load of frivolous details. But in the incarnation the principle and the deed are welded. The principle does not float in dreamland far above the deed, nor does the deed smother the power of the principle. Christ was at once the prince of theorists and of practice. Like the sun in the sky, he stood at an immense remove from man, yet he was so close to man that the light of his life pierced the deepest darkness, and its warmth warmed the iciest heart. Christ's life is thus a prophecy of what your life may become. Though human and tempted, it was perfect. It suggests the methods by which one may realize the perfect life. True theory must be wedded to righteous conduct. Thus one may attain to the perfect character. Thus should one press forward towards the mark for the prize of his high calling—the character of Jesus Christ, the God-man.—Rev. Chas. F. Thwing.

HEROIC LIVES AT HOME.—The heroisms of private life, the slow, unchronicled martyrdoms of the heart, who shall remember? Greater than any knightly dragon slayer of old is the man who overcomes an unholy passion—sets his foot upon it, and stands serene and strong in virtue. Grander than Zenobia is the woman who struggles with a love that would wrong another or degrade her own soul, and conquers.

The young man, ardent and tender, who turns from the dear love of women and buries deep in his heart the sweet instinct of paternity, to devote himself to the care and support of aged parents or an unfortunate sister, and whose life is a long sacrifice in manly cheerfulness and majestic spirit, is a hero of the purest type—the type Charles Lamb. I have known but two such.

The young woman who resolutely stays with father and mother in the old home, while brothers and sisters go forth to happy homes of their own; who cheerfully lays on the altar of filial duty that costliest of human sacrifices, the joy of loving and being loved—she is a heroine. I have known many such.

The husband who goes home from every-day routine and the perplexing cares of business with a cheerful smile and a loving word to his invalid wife; who brings not against her the grievous sin of a long sickness, and reproaches her not for the cost and discomfort thereof; who sees in her languid eyes something dearer than girlish laughter—in the sad face and faded cheeks the blossom into smiles and even blushes at his coming, something lovelier than the old-time spring roses—he is a hero. I think I know one such.

The wife who bears her part in the burden of life even though it be the larger part bravely and cheerfully, never dreaming that she is a heroine, much less a martyr; who bears with the faults of her husband, not altogether composed, with loving patience and a large charity, and with noble decision hiding them from the world—who makes no confidants and asks no confidence; who refrains from brooding over shortcomings in sympathy and sentiment, and from seeking perilous "affinities;" who does not build high tragedy sorrows on the inevitable or feel an earthquake in every family jar; who sees her husband united with herself indissolubly and eternally in their children—she the wife in very truth, in the loward as in the outward, is a heroine, though rather an unfashionable type. Grace Greenwood.

The pastor who can educate a church to work, as well as to give and live, leaves something to his pastors' successor. It is a question whether the preacher should conduct all social meetings, even during revivals. Almost every church has laymen who can lead prayer-meetings, conduct altar services and become leaders in a general sense. It would be a boundless blessing to some laymen if they could be induced to go before the people, conduct social meetings and show "the way to the Lamb," just as they now expect to see their pastors do exclusively. Such an advance throughout the church would more than double the power of Methodism. As a rule the laymen who shrink most from such leadership are the very men whom the church needs most. The ever-forward man or woman is not necessarily the most valuable. Thorough church organization may yet come to mean a congregation so built up and instructed and officered that it will suffer to the minimum during the necessary absence, or the removal of its regular pastor. This creation is possible only to the very flower of pastors.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of sedentary habit are subject to Headache, Dyspepsia, Melancholy, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which unfit the sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system regulated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction, the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect heart's ease that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest. Proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not act its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when Tutt's Pills set it right, the whole system becomes invigorated, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility cease. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that tendency which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

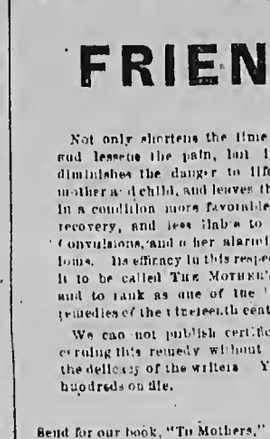
Winter is coming, and we should take especial care of our children.

These sudden changes are conducive of colds.

Colds are but the forerunners of Consumption.

Locock's Cough Elixir is the most valuable remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis that is known to the medical profession.

For sale by all Druggists.



INFORMATION

MANY PERSONS at this season suffer from either Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, Bad Blood, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Constipation & Kidney Troubles.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES RHEUMATISM, Bad Blood and Kidney Troubles, by cleansing the blood of all its impurities, strengthening all parts of the body.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES SICK-HEADACHE, Neuralgia, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, by toning the nerves and strengthening the muscles.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion and Constipation, by aiding the assimilating of the Food through the proper action of the stomach; it creates a healthy appetite.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES NERVOUSNESS, Depression of spirits and Weakness, by enlivening and toning the system.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES OVERWORKED and Delicate Women, Puny and Sickly Children. It is delightful and nutritious as a general Tonic.

Volina Almanac and Diary for 1887. A handsome, complete and useful Book, telling how to CURE DISEASES at HOME in a pleasant, natural way. Mailed on receipt of a 2c. postage stamp. Address

VOLINA DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Not only shortens the time of labor and lessens the pain, but it greatly diminishes the danger to life of both mother and child, and leaves the mother in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery, and less liable to Flooding, Convulsions, and other alarming symptoms. Its efficacy in this respect entitles it to be called THE MOTHER'S FRIEND, and to rank as one of the life saving remedies of the nineteenth century.

We can not publish certificates concerning this remedy without wounding the delicacy of the writers. Yet we have hundreds on file.

Send for our book, "To Mothers," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

GREAT LABOR SAVING

SOAPINA!

Has been discovered which will wash in the hardest kind of water as well as ordinary soap in soft water. It is a One article for washing woolen goods, clothing of Machinists, Printers, etc.

J. H. KELLER, NEW ORLEANS.

GOODWYN'S

☞NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Dealers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is POSITIVELY PURE, EXCELLENT and HEALTHFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. Its acid is the BEST GRAPE CREAM TARTAR. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE, by Doctors Wm. G. Austin, C. J. Bickham, J. J. Lyons, Jos. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. OUR CHEMISTS SAY IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

MRS. P. M. GOODWYN,

224 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

—TAKE THE—

MISSISSIPPI & TENNESSEE RAILROAD.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE

Quicker in Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

Splendid Equipment!

Magnificent Coaches!

Pullman Buffet Sleepers!

Trains Always on Time!

See that your Tickets read over the Mississippi & Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, JAMES A. NANGSTON,
Gen. Pass. and T'kt Ag't. Gen. Trav. Pass. Ag't.
MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific COMPANY.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM.)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN

New Orleans,
Houston,
Galveston,
San Antonio,
El Paso,
Old and New Mexico,
Arizona, and
California Points.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH

Pullman Palace Sleepers

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—AND—

SAN FRANCISCO,

Piercing the most beautiful part of

SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, Gen'l Manager. J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traffic Manager.

General Offices:
Cor Magazine and Natchez Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad.

The Great Through Line for Passengers and Freight to All Points

☞ NORTH EAST AND WEST. ☜

The ONLY LINE running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS THROUGH from NEW ORLEANS to CINCINNATI, ST. LOUIS, MEMPHIS and CHICAGO WITHOUT CHANGE of trucks.

ONLY ONE CHANGE to NEW YORK and EASTERN CITIES.

The ONLY DIRECT ROUTE to ST. LOUIS, CHICAGO and ALL POINTS NORTH and WEST. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, ELEGANT COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS, and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY

—AND—

RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—
DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Canal Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 3, 8:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Passenger Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
C. M. SHEAFE, Superintendent.

THE GREAT

Kennesaw and Shenandoah Valley Route.

(East Tenn., Va. and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs N. C., or Staunton, Va.

Baggage Checked to Destination.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:45 A. M. and 8:25 P. M.

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general Information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Sou'n Agent,
Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans
B. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent,
Knoxville, Tenn.

The Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to

NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN and CENTRAL TEXAS, and

All points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves 7:30 A. M. Arrives 7:10 P. M. Has through sleepers to all big stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.

Sunset and California Express leaves 4:00 P. M. Arrives 10:30 A. M.

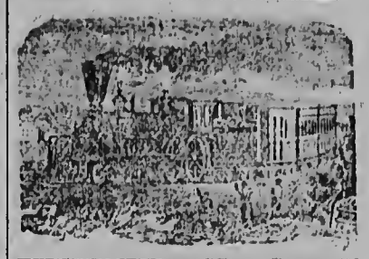
This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.

Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $110 00.

The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.

For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager



Queen and Crescent Line.

New Orleans and Northeastern RAILROAD.

THE SHORT LINE

FOR FREIGHT AND PASSENGERS

TO ALL POINTS

North and East and in the Northwest.

Low Rates and Quick Time on Freight Traffic.

THE MODEL, MODERN THOROUGHFARE.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Mann Boudoir Buffet and Sleeping Cars.

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—TO—

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA and CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10:40 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7:35 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots,
Press street and Levee.
Freight and Ticket Office,
34 and 36 St. Charles street, N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.
H. COLLBRAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agt. Queen & Crescent Line, Cincinnati, Ohio.
JOHN M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent
A. F. BARNETT, Contracting Pass'r Agent

MISCELLANEOUS.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

All the PATTERNS you wish to use during the year for nothing (a saving of from $2.00 to $4.00), by subscribing for

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine

With Twelve Orders for Cut Paper Patterns of your own selection and of any size.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.25 (THREE TWENTY-FIVE).

DEMOREST'S THE BEST

Of all the Magazines.

CONTAINING STORIES, POEMS, AND OTHER LITERARY ATTRACTIONS, COMBINING ARTISTIC, SCIENTIFIC, AND HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Illustrated with Original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each Magazine contains a coupon order entitling the holder to the selection of any pattern illustrated in the fashion department in that number, and many of the sizes manufactured; making patterns during the year of the value of over three dollars.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The Largest in Form, the Largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Family Magazine issued. 1887 will be the Twenty-third year of its publication. It is continually improved and so extensively as to place it at the head of Family Periodicals. It contains 72 pages, large quarto, 8 x 11½ inches, elegantly printed and fully illustrated. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York,

AND BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT COMBINED WITH THE

Christian Advocate at $3.25 Per Year

112

Established 1857.

NEW CARDS, 40 Samples and AGENTS

Outfit for 2c. stamp. CARD WORKS, Northford, Conn.

The GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

PERK'S Patent Reflectors, for Gas or Oil, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Stores Show Windows, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. PERK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for

PLATFORM ECHOES

or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART,

By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, brim full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and good. Full of slaughter and sure to sell at sight to all. To it is added The Life and Death of Mr. Gough, by Rev. LYMAN ABBOTT. 1000 Agents Wanted, Men and Women. $100 to $200 a month made. Correspondence and Territory as we give Extra Terms and Free Outfits. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

RUPTURE

Have you heard of the astounding reduction for Dr. J. A. SHERMAN'S Famous Home Treatment, the only known guarantee comfort and cure without operation or hindrance from labor? No steel or iron bands. Perfect retention night and day, no chafing, suited to all ages. NOW $10 only. Send for circular of measurements, instructions and proofs. Get cured at home and be happy, office 591 Broadway, New York.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS, a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address, DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO.
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells,
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue and Price.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

Corresponding Editors:

T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. T. SAWYER.
REV. W. L. C. BENNICUTT.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1887.

Notice.

The contract of the Publishing Committee with Carver and Jamieson, for the publication of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, having expired this day, the committee have contracted with H. Jamieson, Jr., of the old firm, to continue the publication of the paper.

O. W. CARTER, Chair'n Com.

JANUARY 6, 1887.

Referring to the above notice, the undersigned begs to return hearty thanks to all the advertising and subscribing patrons of the "dear old ADVOCATE." The good-will and cheer of all our friends during the past four years is especially grateful to us. The ADVOCATE has, so far as we know, never been in a better position. The new year opens most auspiciously.

We must be allowed to say, in severing our connection with the paper, that we shall cherish its history during the last four years with tenderest emotions.

The new publisher we commend most heartily to all the friends of the ADVOCATE—upright, diligent and intelligent, we heartily commend the selection of the Publishing Committee.

In parting, we do not hesitate to say, as in our judgment, that the present editor, Dr. C. W. Carter, has hardly been equaled and never excelled by any of his predecessors.

THOS. J. CARVER.

The interests of the ADVOCATE has been intrusted to me by the Publishing Committee, and accepted, and I sincerely hope their expectations will be fully realized. Every effort will be made to bring the paper up to the highest point of mechanical excellence possible. To this end we look forward to the continued support of our tried friends of the past four years and the full co-operation of the friends yet untried. If an effort for supremacy is made, the members of the patronizing Conferences may look for a surprise with the close of 1887.

H. JAMIESON, JR.

A Happy New Year.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the New Orleans Young Men's Christian Association gave a reception to their friends on New Year's Day at the association parlors, 15 Camp street. The spread was such as ladies only can prepare, and the many guests had a most enjoyable time. The association, with its Ladies' Auxiliary, is one of the popular institutions of the city, whose influence is felt for good in many quarters. With Mr. Sherrard, the genial secretary of the association, and Mrs. Morgan, the head of the Ladies' Auxiliary, the promise for the year is most encouraging, and we expect to hear good reports from the various departments of work during this year of our Lord 1887.

The activity, ingenuity, enterprise and energy of the devil seem to be unabated, though he is being continually foiled and defeated. His delight—if he can have any delight—is to work on the soil where the good seed of the gospel has been sown. When the seeds fall, "then cometh the devil and catcheth away that which was sown." If Christian people were as enterprising in their work as the devil is in his, and as ready to "catch away" the seeds of evil as he is to "catch away" the seeds of good, what a different state of things the church would present to the world! In enterprise and activity the devil affords us a good example, and it would be an advance movement if some Christians would follow in his steps in these matters. Here is a case where we may learn "valuable lessons even from an enemy." What a shame it is that the devil should show a greater zeal and more persistence in following up his work than the ordinary Christian does!

The New Year.

"New time, new favors and new joys
Do a new song require."

The entrance upon the new year may suggest to us all different thoughts, according as our circumstances and temperaments differ. It seems, however, that all may start the new year with this great fact, which is so often lost sight of. God has sent no one into this world upon an aimless mission. We all have something special to do—something which no one else can do as well as we. There is a life-work for every sane person. Every individual has a special endowment to qualify him or her for the doing of that work. We can never attain to a true conception of our work unless we have a clear conception of life and its meaning and value. The estimates we place upon life very largely determine the character of our work. If in our thoughts we detach this life from the future life, our work will be marred, for the value of life is manifested and its meaning declared only at the point of connection between the present life and that which is to come. We are to be workers for both this life and the future life. These are scriptural teachings, and the responsibility they lay upon us is well nigh appalling. In accordance with the fact that we have to do with a present state of existence and a future state, our Lord has given the injunction, "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven." In the same line of exhortation Paul says, "Set your affections on things above." The true work of life has direct reference to the life we are to enter hereafter. The value of life is in the fact that it is the introduction to the eternal life. This thought expands the littleness of life into an immeasurable greatness, and stretches its shortness into an indefinite length, and settles its transitoriness into an enduring permanence. The preparatory state to an immortal existence must, in the nature of things, be of immense importance.

Now, whatever may have been our success in our life-work heretofore, we are at this season entering upon a new stage of that work. If we have been diligent to improve the opportunities of the past, that very experience has fitted us for better work this year, and thereby augmented our responsibilities for faithful performance of the same. But, with the better qualifications which a true experience always gives, we all need, upon entering this new stage of our work, to get nearer to him who is the source of our inspiration and our faithful helper. It is an old saying, to be specially recalled now, that "he who is nearest to Christ is nearest to the fire." In our work for the Master, that fire is to us what the steam is to the engine. It is our motive power. "He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire." "Ye shall be endued with power from on high." The power came in the form of fire. They had gotten very close to Christ—and the fire beamed forth and work was done that was never done before.

For a faithful year's work in the vineyard of the Lord we need to begin aright. We must put ourselves in accord with God and his plans. God's great plan is to evangelize the world. Let us all put ourselves right here. God has given simply the great object to be attained by this warfare. To his church he has left the arrangement of the details of the campaign. The church is the habitation of God, and the Holy Spirit works through the church. A great many of us need straightening up here. We are not in sympathetic accord with the plans of the church for the conversion of the world. And our want of harmony with these plans has resulted in retarding the progress of the Lord's cause in that particular part of the vineyard in which we have labored. At this point we need to make confession and "bring forth fruits meet for repentance." It is a very sad spectacle to see one person or a few persons assuming to be wiser than the church in whom God's Spirit dwells and works. We will show our wisdom by putting ourselves in line with the whole of the church work.

When this is done God can reach us by his Spirit, and then our prayers for help will be heard and answered, and we shall be endued with power, and the work of the year will go forward with a rapidity startling to our boldest faith. There is no limit to our possibilities if we will simply surrender ourselves to the Divine Spirit, and then stand out of his way. As curious as it may sound, we are too frequently in the way of the Spirit's working. If we yield ourselves implicitly to him to work in us and by us, we shall not only do a faithful year's work, but we will not be obliged to rely upon an old threadbare experience for comfort of soul. The year will be full of fresh experiences and delightful enjoyments, which will be an ample compensation for all the toils and sufferings that may come. Keeping ourselves in line with God and his church in all the great and all the small enterprises for the elevation and salvation of our race, and supplying the holy fire kindled in our hearts by the Spirit with the "beaten oil of the sanctuary" continually, we will be able to let our light shine to show others the way to Christ. And after all that can be said, the true work of every Christian is to save souls from death.

Usually this is a time when many resolutions are "resolved." Suppose we all agree to just one single, simple thing. There are a great many Christian people who read the ADVOCATE. Let all these agree to put forth special effort to lead at least one soul to Christ during this year! Is it not worth working for? "He that converteth a sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death and shall hide a multitude of sins."

The Remembered Name.

One of the prophecies in regard to our Lord has reference to his name. "I will make thy name to be remembered in all generations, therefore shall the people praise thee forever and ever." Christ has been called by more than a hundred different names. A curious thing about these names is, that each one has a special meaning and points to some special trait of character or designates some special work. In these names, descriptive of the character and work of Christ, God is preparing the world for the full development of that work. Another thing about these names is this. A being who has so many names, each having a special meaning and revealing special traits of character, is in contact with humanity at some point all along the ages, and gives to each age a special hope. By these names Christ has been remembered from the beginning. By keeping these names before the people, the Messiah was kept always in view. It is interesting to see how this was done. Before the flood, the name is "the Seed of the woman." Jacob spoke of the Christ as "Shiloh." Job called him "My Redeemer." Isaiah discoursed of him as "the Prince of Peace." Jeremiah described him as the "Lord, our Righteousness." Ezekiel pointed to him as the "Plant of Renown." Haggai said he was the "Desire of all nations." Zacharish referred to him as "God's Fellow." Malachi disclosed him as the "Sun of Righteousness." In the long stretch of history that reaches from the fall of man to the prophet Malachi the wonderful name was kept before the world by presenting a changed application to suit every change of society and every phase in the development of human history. In those long years it was a name of fascinating power. The character of the Messiah was gradually unfolded along the roll of history, and these names shed glimpses of light upon it, until the Jewish mind was filled with Messianic glories.

The special, pre-eminent and world-wide name of the Messiah was reserved for New Testament disclosure. When he came to earth in human form a "new name" was given to him. "Thou shalt call his name Jesus," said the angel to Joseph. As there was a special meaning to all the foregoing names, there is also a special meaning to this. "For he shall save his people from their sin." This name being prefixed to the older, general title, he is now known to the world as "Jesus Christ." Translated into plain English, this means "the anointed Savior," and is descriptive of his person and work, and of his qualification for that work. "Jesus Christ," then, means a Savior qualified to save sinners from their sins. This is the name that is to be "remembered in all generations." It is to be forgotten by no generation. It is a name sweeter than every other name; more precious to human hearts than all names; full of consolation to the suffering, and the only hope of sinners.

Jesus! the name that charms our fears,
That bids our sorrows cease,
'Tis music in the sinner's ears,
'Tis life and health and peace.

This name is to be remembered. It is being learned the world over. The press is speaking it out in all languages. The electric wire flashes it in every direction. Sea breezes waft it from continent to island. Literally, everything is conspiring to the fulfillment of the prophecy: "I will make thy name to be remembered in all generations."

In 1813 Protestantism in France did not count 150 pastors, and had not a single establishment of charity, education, or evangelization. That church now has 600 pastors, 37 homes for orphans, 42 retreats for the aged, 2 convalescent reformatories for prisoners, besides asylums for the blind, deaf and dumb.

Briefs.

The Supreme Court of Ohio has pronounced the Daw Liquor Law of that State to be constitutional, and affirmed the validity of the law prohibiting the sale of liquor within two miles of any agricultural fair-ground during the fair. So the "strong arm of the law" is hedging up this wicked traffic.

Measurements have shown the thickness of the human hair to vary from the two hundred and fiftieth to the six hundredth part of an inch. The silkworm's thread is one five thousandth of an inch thick, and the spider's web only one thirty thousandth. Blonds hair is the finest and red the coarsest. Taking four heads of hair of equal weight, a patient German physiologist found the red one to contain about 90,000 hairs; the black, 103,000; the brown, 109,000; and the blonde, 140,000.

A project is on foot for tunnelling the Rocky Mountains under Gray's Peak, which is 14,440 feet above the sea level. It is proposed to bore from east to west direct for 25 000 feet at 4,440 feet below the peak, and communication will thus be opened between the valleys of the Atlantic and Pacific side. Part of the work has been done already, and in the way of heavy engineering but little more will be required. In these days obstacles seem to be only in the way of church movement, and yet the church has the resources of heaven in her reach.

This extract from President Cleveland's message to Congress ought to command the attention of our law makers, as it has won the approval of the reading public: "When more of the people's substance is exacted through the form of taxation than is necessary to meet the just obligations of the government and the expense of its economical administration, such exaction becomes ruthless extortion and a violation of the fundamental principles of a free government." Why pile up the people's money in the treasury, and then have everybody fretting about what to do with it?

Here is an item of interesting information culled from the New York Christian Advocate's Philadelphia correspondence:

From the annual message of the Mayor of Philadelphia, which was presented to Councils on Thursday last, we learn that the city has an area of 129 square miles, with 900 miles of paved streets, 200 miles of sewers, 850 miles of water-pipes, 823 miles of gas-pipes; a river front on the Delaware river of 20 miles, and on the Schuylkill river of 16 miles, with 6 miles of wharfage on the Delaware and 4 miles on the Schuylkill; the largest municipal buildings of any city in the world, and the grandest in architectural beauty; the largest and finest park of any city in the American Union, embracing in all 2,816 acres, and ten squares in the midst of the city, averaging 5 acres each; 265 000 homes, valued at $575,000 000. It is the largest manufacturing city in the world, with but one exception, producing an annual value of fabrics amounting to $481,226,309 from 12,050 establishments, employing 151 000 men, 68,000 women, 28,296 youths over fourteen years of age. These approximations of material wealth are encircled with grander interests of schools, colleges, hospitals, churches, benevolent and semi-benevolent societies, in whose buildings, apparatus, and working methods are invested millions on millions of dollars.

Notes.

A BUSINESS INTEREST.—This term is frequently applied to liquor selling. Webster's definition of interest as applied to business is, "advantage, personal or general." Some avocations can not be classed among the "business interests" of a community. They are of no advantage to the general public. Pursuits whose tendency is to injure a community are not to be considered as belonging to its interests. Injury and interest are incompatible. Those things that injure are not to be classed among the advantages. Nor ought they to be classed among respectable things. What is continually working to the injury of a community will hardly be thought respectable when seen in its true light. The saloon is not only not a respectable business interest, but is an injury, positive and powerful, to every other true business. The notion that the saloon is opposed only to morals is as arrant a falsehood as the devil ever started. It is the great obstacle in the way of every true business interest. Every kind of business struggles for mere existence while the saloon flourishes. The money that goes into the saloon goes out of the real business channels, and prosperity withers. The surprise is, that business men have not seen this long ago and risen up in their indignation and commanded the saloon man to shut up his shop. That which robs legitimate business of the very basis of thrift ought to arouse every real business man to a determination to get rid of the monster at once and forever. How strange that sensible people will look upon legislation, that is intended to prohibit the saloon, as being in the nature of "sumptuary laws," when the object of that legislation is to get rid of that which, in its nature and tendency, has proved itself to be the most oppressive custom under which a people ever groaned. The saloon fosters the drink habit, and the habit prohibits bread and meat and clothing and furniture in thousands of homes. It lays a prohibition not only upon the comforts and conveniences of life, but upon its very necessities. In doing this it shuts up the commerce and lessens the trade in these very things. Why the business men of the country can not see this can only be accounted for, from the scriptural fact, that the "devil has blinded the eyes of the wise." There never was, there never can be a more grinding "sumptuary law" than the law that licenses and turns loose the saloons.

THE EUROPEAN WAR.—No one can read the dispatches that come day after day across the sea without realizing grave apprehensions that the peace of Europe is quite likely to be broken up by one of the most dreadful wars that ever stained the earth with human blood. Europe is to-day little less than a vast military encampment. Military preparations are going on everywhere. New and improved arms are being put into the hands of the soldiers. New and large appropriations of money are being voted to the various war departments, and every available workshop for the manufacture of war material is being run to its utmost capacity. The great statesmen of Europe seem to be holding their breath and her great soldiers are drilling their armies and studying their maps. One false step in policy, one unguarded word of diplomacy, one rash act of rulership, and 10,000,000 soldiers will begin the work of death. There is no prophet that can foretell the dire result. How long, oh, Prince of Peace, how long?

At it again.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean reports that Bishop Bowman, in opening the East Pennsylvania Methodist Conference at Reading, delivered an emphatic address on temperance, denouncing the use of tobacco as well as whisky. The Conference passed resolutions forbidding members to chew or smoke.—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

A good friend of mine with whom I roomed a year ago, and who almost stifled me with smoke, and regarded me as fanatical because I protested, met me last week, saying: "I have quit tobacco and coffee into the bargain. Won't you join me?" That brother has turned out a better converted man than I intended; but I never complain at a good job. I can't help it sometimes. When I remarked that I was desirous of retiring from the prints, he replied: "No, no! Keep at it."

Something inspires me to return to the subject. The use of coffee is not now open to the discussion. Still I shall not say that my friend is fanatical. It is a "matter to be considered of." Another friend remarked to me as we were passing down the street, "The Habana is not so conspicuous as some years ago." It is becoming noticeable that smokers are thinning out among the preachers. One preacher was upon the floor reporting his work. He paused now and then "to roll back the rapid tide" of juice exuding from the corners of his mouth. I wished he could have left the tobacco out, as it improved neither his appearance nor elocution. Upon the cars I sat near a truly republican couple. The husband and wife were both chewing. The corners of the wife's mouth showed the same beautiful streaks as decorated the husband's. Every now and then the husband squirted his mouthful behind the stove or into the coal box. The wife elevated the window and gave here to the winds. The baby enjoyed it. He pokeil his fun-making digits into the mother's mouth and then into his own. Then how delightfully he sputtered! Give him a chance and he can outspit his worthy ancestors.

"It is a luxury, and I see no reason why I should quit it." Our Discipline has something to say as to needless self-indulgence. The luxury defense is not good Discipline; but it is poorer reasoning. Wine, beer and toddy are luxuries. "I quit it a whole year, and wanted it worse the last day than on the first." I will not doubt the statement. But you quit a whole year despite your persistent appetite. Now, stay quit another year. Your suppressed premise, which is that an appetite that holds twelve months amounts to a reason for yielding, will not do. Paul felt within him the movements of carnal appetite, but he kept his body under. If it is a luxury, let your wife have it. If she don't like it, tell her she is a fanatic; and if she don't quit her fanaticism, you will secede from her and die in the last ditch before you give up your "lost chaws." T. A. S. A.

Items.

—Four hundred congregations, representing nearly every denomination, are enlisted for the union revival movement in Philadelphia.

—Two hundred ministers of Glascow, Scotland, of different denominations, have united in an effort to reach the non-church-going classes.

—It is stated that of the 600,000 young men in Illinois, only about 50,000 hold membership in the churches; which is a sad comment on the church work done in that State during the past decade.

—When the North Carolina Conference was set off from the Virginia Conference in 1837, there were in the two Conferences 115 preachers and 30,000 white members; now there are 220 preachers and 146 000 members. Of that 115 preachers only two are on the effective list: Rev. Robert Burton, of North Carolina Conference, and Rev. John E. Edwards, of Virginia Conference.

—In a charge in Central Ohio Conference one Advocate is taken to every six members. Mississippi and Louisiana pastors will make a note that this shows our paper can be circulated more largely than it is by the use of a little more persistence.

—There is said to be a certain Signor Camini in Paris who speaks and writes fluently ninety-six languages and dialects. Suppose he should get them mixed, would'nt he have a taste of Babel experience?

—Mr. Spurgeon says: "If the Salvation Army were wiped out of London, 5,000 policemen extra could not fill its place in the repression of crime and disorder."

—It is said that there are 100,000 Jews who are Christians, though there are only 250 missionaries to the Jews in the world.

—During the excitement in the Stock Exchange in New York, December 15, 1,195 000 shares were sold and bought, and these shares represented $119 500 000, and that was only shares that were counted. It is thought that 190,000 shares were sold of which there was no record made.

—On the same day in the same place money went up from 6 per cent. to 180 per cent., in addition to the legal rate. In all that tremendous business only one firm went to the wall. That speaks well for the financial condition of New York.

—According to Mr. P. B. Kent, a civil engineer of some note, who has been in China for several years, China will adopt the European railroad system on the accession of the young prince to the throne.

—The Suez Canal Company and the Egyptian government have agreed to the widening of the Suez Canal. From Port Said to the Bitter Lakes the width will be forty-four meters, and from that point to Suez sixty-five meters.

—The Independent characterizes the conviction of ex-Alderman McQuade, "the magnificent local event of last week," and proceeds to say, "New York breathes freer now that one more alderman has been convicted."

—A Louisville Conference preacher said that whenever he preached there was always one mourner. We think we know one preacher of that sort down here.

—In the North Carolina Conference there has been a clear gain of 7,000 members to the Methodist Church during the past year.

THE EFFECT.—The Sunday law, although the police were enjoined from enforcing it by the court, was more generally observed by shopkeepers than we thought it would be. A few saloons were kept open in defiance of the law. These saloons are daily showing more of their character as obstructions to peace and good order. We are quite gratified at the beginnings of the efforts of the Sunday law. Let all the people throughout the State abide by the law, and we will see much good during the year.

Contributions for missions by the churches in this country are said to run about this way per member: Reformed Presbyterians, $1 65; Congregationalists, $1 53; Presbyterians, North, $1 07; United Presbyterians, 87 cents; Friends' Society, 60 cents; Northern Baptists 54 cents; Presbyterians, South, 53 cents; Protestant Episcopalians, 49 cents; Methodists, North, about 47 cents; Methodists, South, about 20 cents.

The Independent says that "Secretary Manning, in his Treasury Report, makes an error in grammar, which is so common that it deserves to be noticed." The error occurs in this sentence: "These United States in their commerce with foreign nations." In the next column the grammatical Independent has this sentence: "Lord Salisbury's government have settled their parliamentary program."

Personals.

—Mrs. Proctor, Barry Cornwall's widow, witnessed the royal jubilee of George III., in 1809, and if she lives a year longer, she will witness that of Queen Victoria.

—A millionaire member of Parliament was a reporter on a little paper in Pennsylvania twenty years ago. Now, let all the editors and reporters on little papers look up.

—What a happy sovereign Queen Victoria ought to be, ruling a nation "upon which the sun never sets," and singing lullabies to her thirtieth grandchild!

—Rev. J. W. Wolling, of the South Carolina Conference, has been appointed missionary to Brazil by Bishop Granbery.

—Rev. W. C. Dunlap, of North Georgia Conference, has been appointed missionary to the colored people within the bounds of that Conference, in the interest of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in America.

—Rev. W. C. Conley, a superannuate of the North Georgia Conference, died December 10. "He was a good man, and wore himself out in the service of his Master."

—Rev. W. M. Ballard, of the West Texas Conference, died of typhoid-pneumonia on his way home from the Conference session at Quero.

—Col. J. L. Kennard, one of the oldest and most respected citizens, and a member of our church in Port Gibson, Miss., died December 26.

—The postoffice address of Rev. James A. Godfrey is Waynesboro, Miss.

—The Rev. Dr. Abbey now resides at Toume, Miss., where correspondents will address him in future.

—John G. Whittier, the Quaker poet, celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday at Oak Knoll, Danvers, Mass., December 17.

—Rev. W. W. Royal, the returned missionary from China, has taken an appointment in the Virginia Conference. It is not known whether he will return to China.

—There are twenty-six preachers on the superannuate list of the Virginia Conference.

—Dr. Edward Brooks, one of the foremost educators of Pennsylvania, has been invited to take charge of the Florida Chautauqua at De Funiak Springs, next February.

—The oldest class of Princeton College dates 1820, and there are three surviving members, and they are ministers of the gospel.

—Rev. J. J. Higbd, assistant editor of the Western Christian Advocate, died in Cincinnati a few weeks ago.

—Rev. Sam Jones is booked for a lecture for Dr. King's church, 44th street, New York, about the middle of January.

—The Austin Conference, of the M. E Church, paid for missions the past year 92 cents per member!

—The Protestants have 300 churches in Italy, and the converts from Romanism are estimated to be 10,000.

Piles—Blind, Bleeding and Itching

Positively cured by Darbys Prophylactic Fluid. Bathe with a little of the Fluid added to the water. A single application will allay the itching, soothe all inflammation, deodorize all offensiveness and staunch the bleeding. Tetter and Scald Head are quickly cured by Darbys Prophylactic Fluid

Books and Periodicals.

BOOKS.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL AS AN INSTITUTION. By George Lansing Taylor, D. D. Wilbur B. Keicham, 71 Bible House, New York. Price, thirty cents.

This is an able and most suggestive paper on one of the most important subjects now engaging the mind of the church. The defects of the Sunday-school system are clearly pointed out. Its comparative failure is shown in three points that are well taken. What is needed to be done is then strongly brought forth, and then the benefits of a readjustment of the system are stated. Dr. Taylor's "booklet," as he calls his essay, is valuable because it will stir people to thinking on this all-important subject.

DEPARTURE FROM THE FAITH OF OUR FATHERS. By Leo Rosser, D. D., of the Virginia Conference. Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn. Price, ten cents.

This is a review of Dr. Haygood's sermon on "Growth in Grace," wherein the author gives the Doctor some heavy knocks, and also a review of Rev. J. H. Baxtus' tract on "Sanctification," in which the blows are repealed with added force.

—The Royal Singer. This is a new book by that veteran composer, L. O. Emerson. It is a collection of new quartets, duets, hymn-tunes, anthems, etc., with a complete course in elementary instruction, designed for singing-schools, musical institutes, conventions, etc. The price is sixty cents; sent by mail to any address. Published by Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

—Confessions of an Inquiring Spirit. Cassell's National Library No. 48. Cassell & Co., 739 Broadway, New York.

—We have received a second copy of Sir Percival, by J. H. Shorthouse. This comes from George Wharton & Bro., of this city. It is published by Macmillan & Co., New York. Price, $1.

PERIODICALS.

—The Forum, January. We look for this monthly with considerable interest, because we have learned that we should get a full supply of thoughtful articles from its pages. The present number is equal to any that have gone before. Such names as Higginson, Angell, Dana, Buckley, etc., are a guarantee for something worth reading. Forum Publishing Company, 97 Fifth avenue, New York. Price, $5 a year.

—The Pulpit Treasury, for January. This popular monthly keeps steadily on its way, furnishing some good things for preachers and Sunday-school and mission workers. The sermons printed are generally of a high order, and the different departments are well edited. E. B. Treat, 771 Broadway. Price, $2 50 a year. Clergymen, $2.

—American Art, for December, though late, is a fine number. There is much in this monthly to interest and instruct in art matters. The illustrations are exquisite, and the reading matter in good taste. American Art Magazine Company, 110 Tremont street, Boston. $2 50 per year.

—American Agriculturist, for January, begins a new year in fine style. Every farmer will find this monthly a very useful magazine. 757 Broadway, New York. Price, $1 50 per year.

—St. Nicholas, for January, makes us wish to be a child again, that we might receive every month such a beauty. The writers are those who have already won the attention of young readers, and will hold it through the coming year. Century Company, New York. $3 a year.

—Eclectic Magazine, for January, contains 140 pages, the pick of foreign literature. The reader gets the cream without the trouble of skimming. E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond street, New York. $5 per year.

—Popular Science Monthly, for January, is full, containing articles on many subjects of interest. D. Appleton & Co., 5 Bond street, New York. $5 a year.

It is believed that the success of Scribner's Magazine is unique in the history of magazines. The first (January) number was published on December 15, the first edition being 100,000 copies. It was exhausted on the day of publication. On Saturday, December 18, a second edition of 25 000 copies appeared, which was at once consumed, and an additional 15,000 was put to press—14000 copies having been already sold. The demand was so great that it was impossible to keep the dealers supplied. On the day of publication, 2,000 copies were sold upon the news stands of the elevated railroads; at the news stand of one of the New York hotels, nearly 500 copies were disposed of on the first afternoon of its appearance, and several of the dealers all the series leading from New York sold 800 copies on the first day.

White River Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

JONESBORO DISTRICT.—S. L. Cochran P. E. Jonesboro station, M. M. Smith; Parsonbill station, W. J. Ready; Gainsville circuit, W. W. Ambrose; Boydsville circuit, H. M. Grenade; St. Francis mission, Prestus B. Wallis; W. Memphis, B. Harris; Buffalo Island, A. J. Johnson; Harrisburg circuit, W. R. Foster; Vandale circuit, R. G. Brittan; Tyronza mission, William A. Manley; Marion circuit, James E. Denigan; Osceola circuit, G. W. Smith; Chickasawba circuit, J. H. Rutledge; L'Anguille mission, J. M. Hively; Jonesboro circuit, J. R. Edwards; Paragould circuit, J. S. Watson.

HELENA DISTRICT.—Frank Keller P. E. Helena station, F. A. Jeffett; Lagrange circuit, F. C. Sterling; Marianna station; R. S. Dixon; Forest City station, M. B. Campbell; Forest City circuit, T. A. Cribb; Taylor's Creek circuit, A. C. Smith; Wheatley circuit, J. C. Rutter; Spring Creek circuit, S. W. Anderson; DeView circuit, M. C. Morris; Clarendon and Brinkley station, C. H. Ford; Howell circuit, T. Whitaker; Cypress Ridge circuit, R. W. Manley; Holly Grove circuit, N. E. Skinner; Surrounded Hill circuit, W. J. Vick.

NEWPORT DISTRICT.—George M. Hill P. E. Newport station, E. A. Garrison; Jacksonport station, John Moore; Purkepenon circuit, S. H. Evans; Oil Trough circuit, S. W. Register; Walnut Ridge circuit, F. E. Taylor; Portia circuit, W. E. Rutledge; O Kean mission, J. G. Miller; Corning mission, Few Ball; Shiloh circuit, Thomas Vincent; Lorado circuit, M. Martz; Pocahontas circuit, J. I. Maynard; Siloam circuit, E. M. Davis; Walnut Hill circuit, W. E. L. Arnold; Powhatan and Imbolen station, T. Rallings; Smithville circuit, T. B. Williamson; Calamine circuit, J. F. Armstrong.

SEARCY DISTRICT.—J. M. Talkington, P. E Searcy station, E. M. Pipkin; Searcy circuit, H. F. Harvey; El Paso circuit, R. P. Harwood; Bradford mission, W. A. Peck; Beebe and West Point, Z. T. Bennett; Argenta mission, W. F. Wright; Leabonna Chapel, W. A. Pendergrast; Jacksonville station, J. F. Pike; Union and Revels station, E. M. Baker; Auvergne station, G. A. Donnelly; Augusta station, A. M. R. Benson; Weldon circuit, C. H. Carey; Mineral circuit, H. M. Cryer.

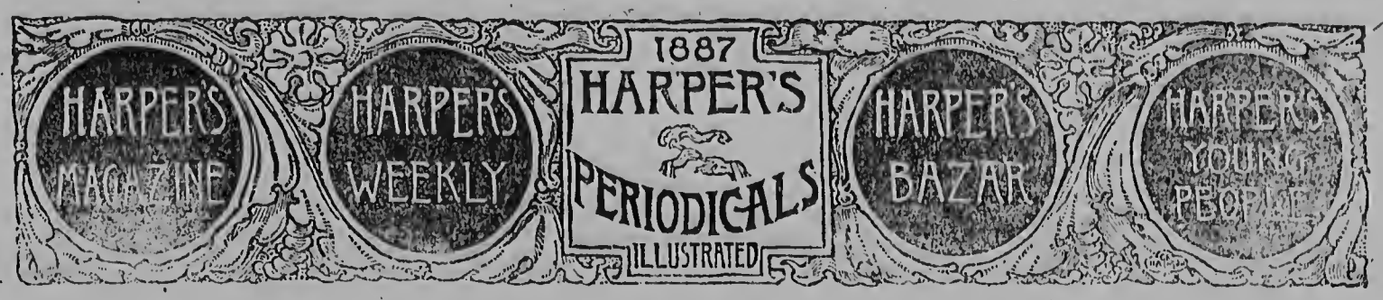
BATESVILLE DISTRICT.—H. T. Gregory, P. E. Batesville station, N. B. Fizer; Evening Shade and L'Crosse station, J. F. Troy; Barren Fork circuit, A. P. Saffell; Ash Flat circuit, W. S. Southworth; Mammoth Springs circuit, R. D. Moon; State Line mission, R. H. Grissett; Salem circuit, J. S. Brooke; Newberg circuit, D. W. Reid; Melbourne circuit, I. A. Vernon; Viola circuit, R. O. Bland; Bethesda circuit, J. J. Alexander; Jamestown circuit, F. R. Noe; Mountain View circuit, Lewis Kelly.

"Consumption Can Be Cured."

Dr. J. S. Combs, Owensville, Ohio, says: "I have given Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites to four patients with better results than seemed possible with any remedy. All were hereditary cases of lung disease, and advanced to that stage when coughs, pain in the chest, irregular breathing, frequent pulse, fever and Emaciation. All these cases have increased in weight from 16 to 28 lbs., and are not now needing any medicine."

NOTICE.—All communications on business must be addressed to the publisher, Hugh Jamieson, Jr., 112 Camp street. Contributions for the columns of the ADVOCATE should be addressed to the editor, Rev. C. W. Carter, 112 Camp street.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SUBSCRIBE.



THE BEST PERIODICALS FOR FAMILY READING.

Perhaps the most popular and unqualifiedly successful group or series of periodicals for family reading ever published in America, or for that matter in the world, are the four issued by Harper & Brothers. Each in its way is a model periodical.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

Departments by.
G. W. Curtis, W. D. Howells, C. D. Warner.

SUBSCRIPTION PER YEAR, $4.00.

The SEVENTY-FOURTH VOLUME, commenced with the Number for December, 1886.

One of the most striking features of HARPER'S MAGAZINE for 1887 will be a new novel by KATHLEEN O'MEARA, to begin in the January Number, entitled "Narka," a story of Russian life, which, apart from its political and social significance, will be a love-story of exceptional dramatic strength and interest. A new novel by W. D. HOWELLS, entitled "April Hopes," will begin in February and run through the year. Upon the conclusion of Mr. BLACKMORE'S "Spring Haven," will appear a humorous novelette, entitled "Tom the Fool," by BLANCHE WILLIS HOWARD.

Important illustrated papers, similar to those which have appeared during the past year on the great navies of the world, will continue to be a special feature. Among other attractions will be a series of Southern Papers, contributed in part by CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER, and in part by REBECCA HARDING DAVIS illustrated by WILLIAM HAMILTON GIBSON; important papers of Oriental interest superbly illustrated; a continuation of the "Great American Industries" series, illustrations, special art contributions by E. A. ABBEY and ALFRED PARSONS; a further discussion of the Railroad Problem; "Social Studies," by D. BLAKELY T. ETE; important Church Papers; short stories by the best writers, etc.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S MAGAZINE, for three years back, cloth, $3.00 each; half-calf, $5.25 each. Index of Vols. I. to LXX.; cloth, $1.00; half-calf, $2.25.—By mail, postage free.

HARPER'S WEEKLY.

A Journal of Civilization and a Picture History of our Own Times.

SUBSCRIPTION PER YEAR, $4.00.

The THIRTY-FIRST VOLUME will begin with the Number dated January 1, 1887, issued on December 29, 1886.

HARPER'S WEEKLY justifies its title as "A Journal of Civilization" by reflecting, with steadily increasing fulness and accuracy, the progress of civilization, and by exemplifying as well as by recording the continuous advance of American literature and American art.

It presents, in faithful and graphic pictures, the noteworthy events of the day, portraits of men of the time, reproductions of the works of celebrated artists, cartoons by eminent pictorial satirists, and humorous illustrations of the ludicrous aspects of social and political life.

Besides the pictures, HARPER'S WEEKLY is full of good reading. It always contains instalments of one, occasionally of two, of the best novels of the day, with fine illustrations. Its short stories are bright and entertaining. Poems, sketches, and papers on important topics of current interest by the most popular writers, and a column of personal paragraphs, make it interesting to everybody.

As a family journal, the care that has been successfully exercised in the past to make HARPER'S WEEKLY a safe, as well as a welcome, visitor to every household will not be relaxed in the future. The ultimate influence of the subjects treated in its text and in its illustrations is not less considered than their immediate interest.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S WEEKLY, for three years back, cloth, $7.00 each.—By mail, postage free.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

An Illustrated Journal of Fashion, Instruction, and Domestic Economy.

SUBSCRIPTION PER YEAR, $4.00.

The TWENTIETH VOLUME will begin with the Number dated January 1, 1887, issued on December 17, 1886.

HARPER'S BAZAR is the best family journal in the world. Its literary features are of the highest merit, comprising serial stories, poems, essays, etc., from the most distinguished writers of Europe and America. Its brilliant illustrations reproduce, from the original electrotypes, simultaneously with their appearance abroad, the gems of the London picture-galleries, the Paris Salon, and the great English pictorial journals; and its humorous cuts have won it the name of the American Punch. Its fashion plates, of the latest Paris and New York styles, accompanied with well-fitting patterns and clear descriptions, enable ladies to save many times the cost of subscription by making their own dresses or superintending their manufacture at home. Its articles on housekeeping and cookery are eminently practical and useful, and promote economy in the household. Much attention is paid to decorative art, and many exquisite embroidery designs are given from the best sources. Its papers on social etiquette are of the highest interest; and no topic is neglected that could be of value to the family circle. Its editorials are marked by good sense, and not a line is ever admitted to its columns that could offend the most fastidious taste. Many novelties are in preparation for the new volume.

Bound Volumes of HARPER'S BAZAR, for three years back, cloth, $7.00 each.—By mail, postage free.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

A Sixteen-page Illustrated Weekly for Boys and Girls.

SUBSCRIPTION PER YEAR, $2.00.

The EIGHTH VOLUME commenced with the Number issued November 2, 1886.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE has been called "the model of what a periodical for young readers ought to be," and the justice of this commendation is amply sustained by the large circulation it has attained both at home and in Great Britain. This success has been reached by methods that must recommend themselves to the judgment of parents no less than to the tastes of children; namely, by earnest and well sustained efforts to provide the best and most attractive reading for young people at a low price.

Every line is subjected to rigid editorial scrutiny, in order that the paper shall contain nothing harmful, and that it shall be an effective agency for the mental, moral, and physical education of its readers. Its stories have all the dramatic interest that juvenile fiction can possess, without anything pernicious. Its articles on scientific subjects, travel, and the facts of life, are by writers whose names insure accuracy and value. Its historical stories, biographical tales, etc., present attractively the most inspiring incidents in history, and in the early lives of notable men and women; in every number appear stirring poems, amusing rhymes, ingenious puzzles; papers on athletic sports, games and pastimes have their place, while beautiful pictures lavishly illustrate its pages. It contains the best literary and artistic work anywhere to be purchased.

Bound volumes of HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE, for four years back, 4to, ornamental cloth, $3.50 each.—By mail, postage free.

POSTAGE FREE TO ALL SUBSCRIBERS IN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA.

Remittances should be made by Post-office Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss. When no time is specified, subscriptions will begin with the current number.

☞ HARPER'S CATALOGUE, comprising the titles of between three and four thousand volumes, will be sent by mail on receipt of Ten Cents.

PUBLISHED BY HARPER & BROTHERS, FRANKLIN SQUARE, NEW YORK.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

CARVER & JAMIESON,
Publishers.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. B. Thomson, 64 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

A correspondent asks how to serve a dinner. If it is a good dinner and you are hungry, just eat it. That's the way we would serve a dinner.

No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail. 25c.

"Dream of eggs, sign of money," says the dream book. Perhaps that is the origin of the term "shell out."

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

Best thing to do when you go shopping with ladies—take notes.

P. WERLEIN.—The great Southern music emporium, 135 Canal street, is to the front with new attractions in the music line; the very latest compositions by well known authors received, and will be mailed to any address on receipt of price. The full stock of musical instruments is being received, and surpass anything ever offered to the people of the South. Pianos and organs of superb tone and beautiful finish, at prices lower than ever known and terms unsurpassed by any music house in the United States. Write to Werlein before purchasing elsewhere. 135 Canal street.

He (after surveying the company): "Mixed lot? Hardly a gentleman in the room." She (innocently): "Not one—that I can see."

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

Press the ADVOCATE circulation now.

Ask your neighbors to subscribe for the ADVOCATE.

Send the ADVOCATE to your friend for the next year and you will not regret it.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain; cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle

FITS: All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Pond's Extract, for Pain, Inflammation and Hemorrhage. Try this best remedy in the world. Ask some friend about the Extract. Unanimous verdict.

FIRE INSURANCE.

MECHANIC'S & TRADER'S
Insurance Company.
14 CARONDELET STREET,
New Orleans, La.

Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks.

AT LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary. LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Cl'k. J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Cl'k. (Late Sec., Union Ins. Co.)
R. O. SHORTRIDGE, Collector. F. AUZOUT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Sim. Boyd,	Simon E. Marx,
J. A. Breseman,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. D. Britton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carver,	Wm. A. Phelps,
P. J. Cockburn,	Ben O. L. Rayne,
H. T. Colsam,	O. W. Sentell,
O. Elmer,	A. N. Silbernagel.
J. M. Frankenbush,	W. B. Thompson,
Walter C. Flower,	P. A. Villermin,
P. G. Gilbert,	Jos. Vignes,
Chas. Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
I. L. Lyons,	T. B. Waterman,
Laureul Lacassagne,	Frederick Wing,
T. L. Macon,	W. Y. West,
Rob't Maxwell,	W. G. Wheeler,
Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders'
INSURANCE COMPANY,
49 CARONDELET STREET,

Paid Up Capital.....$1,000,000

ED. A. PALFREY, President,
JOHN PHELPS, Vice President,
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

Issues Policies Covering Fire, River and Marine Risks at the Lowest Tariff Rates.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Noble,	John Chaffe,
Richard Milliken,	Sam'l Friedlander,
R. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lyttleton,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	B. F. Eshleman,
Dhas. Chaffe,	L. O. Jurey,
Wm. Harlwell,	G. J. Leeds,
A. T. Janin,	A. M. Bickham,
Henry Abrahams,	Louis Bush,
A. Brittin,	G. W. Sentell,
Wm. Cuningham,	John I. Adams,
R. T. Buckner,	Wm. A. Gwyn.
	Chas. F. Black

CRESCENT INSURANCE COMPANY

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849—Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1880.

CASH CAPITAL. $400,000

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. H. LYMAN, ...President.
CHAS. H. DOLSEN, ...Vice President.
CHAS. E. RICE, ...Secretary

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, and Arkansas.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OFFICE: COR. CARONDELET AND GRAVIER STS.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS,
J. F. SCHRODER, Chairman.
NEWTON BUCKNER, A. DELVAILLE,
RUDOLPHE WOLSIE.

Assets in the United States.....$6,148,783 36
Surplus over all Liabilities.....2,795,129 13

HENRY V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Secretary.

SOME THING

Why not start a business of your own? We make every reader of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE the greatest offer and most responsible House can make you. Hitherto Photography was considered a art requiring years of study and practice, and very costly apparatus. Under the late reduction of Gelatine Dry Plates are one have ing common sense and a small capital to buy an outfit will be able to make the finest Photographs without the aid of a teacher, either to make recovery men by Ex amendment. Boys, Young Men and Ladies can not engage in a more genteel or profitable business than Photography. Hundreds will employ you to photo Houses, Landscapes, Residences, Family Groups, Farm Stock, Churches, Factories, etc. You start out in the morning with a good stock of Dry Plates and Camera in hand, all which is but a few pounds, open such a residence, and the novelty of how you are going together with full equipment appear unexpectedly at the very door, so more exciting novelty; the whole family come to pose the picture to have a good sample made. Sizes or some favorite picture, and it is so "cute" to see it right at home; no fixing up to do. Each negative is worth from $1 to $10 or more. The Empire Camera is without doubt the most beautiful and handy scientific piece of mechanism ever offered to the public in the shape of a Camera. It is made of Mahogany and is highly polished, with nickel trimmings, strong that go to making up a fine piece of and light combining all the neat parts opposite. It makes portraits indoors or out; also landscapes; 5 x 8 Portraits, Cabinets and Cards. The Empire Equipment complete consists of one 5x8 Camera, one Double Dry Plate Holder, one Lense (extra good), one Tripod, one handsomely varnished wooden Carrying Case one complete Chemical Outfit, and one complete Printing Outfit; 31 different articles, all boxed for $30. $10 with order, and balance, $20, C. O. D. If you will send this advertisement and $30 in full before March 1st, 1887, we will place in box one Negative Box, worth $2 50, FREE. Do not be deceived by Cheap Photo Equipments. You better pay a few dollars more and obtain something that you are not ashamed to answer before people. 80-page book, "How to Make Photos" and 5x8 Portrait made by Empire Camera, 24 cents (Game free). We could give hundreds of references, if necessary, but only have space for a few. Write and enclose stamp; they will tell you what they think of the Empire Equipment: W. E. Considine, Akron, Plymouth Co., Iowa; J. H. Bell, Steel, Belmont Co., Ohio; E. H. Smith, Flint, Michigan; Elmer E. Farr, Bynum, Harford Co., Md. Our $25 Magic Lantern till March 1st 1887, only $12, $1 cash and C. O. D. $3; if you send $12 with order, will put 12 Slides in box free. Catalogue and References for stamp. Address EMPIRE COPYING CO., 351 CANAL ST., N. Y.

NEW

FOR YOU.

P. S.—Recollect our offer in former issue this paper Beaded "Holiday Present," or a Life-Size Portrait framed worth $5 1 for $2 75, not good after February 1st, 1887. After that date will cost you $4.

The Great Church LIGHT.

FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

LOUISIANA STEAM
Sash,
Blind and Door
FACTORY.
299, 301, 303, 305, 307 Gravier Street,
NEW ORLEANS
ROBERTS & CO.
Proprietors

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Ceiling, Newels Balusters, etc., always on hand, or made to order.
Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty

BRANCH OFFICE:
No. 52 CARONDELET STREET.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

Ammoniated Raw Bone Superphosphate
PURE GROUND BONE.

250 Pounds to the Acre Will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded at the World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar, Cabbage and Grazier Fertilizers.
Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Stern's Fertilising and Chemical M'f'g Co.,
14 Union St., New Orleans.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.
JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.
GAS FIXTURES,
PLUMBERS,
Steam and Gas Fitters,
—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—
HOME COMFORT RANGE,
TELEPHONE No. 305.
No. 110 CAMP STREET,
NEW ORLEANS

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION.

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886 with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Board of Board and tuition without music one hundred and twenty-five dollars; with music, two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in similar proportion. If the entire fees for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Rooms engaged or a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board in the house, fuel, and tuition in both literary and music departments free of charge.

Special vocal training is not included in the regular lessons for music, but will be charged as an additional course in music.

In making engagements for the year, a club of four young ladies who wish to pay all in advance will receive board, tuition and other course in music for $170 25, a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue price; or by paying one half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRACE, Pres.
S. J. DAVIS, Vice-Pres.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Cankers

Are so corrosive in their nature, and their cause so deep seated in the system, that a powerful alterative is needed to eradicate them. For this purpose, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most effective medicine that can be procured. No other remedy can compare with it as a cure for all diseases originating in vitiated blood. "I suffered greatly, for months, from two running

Ulcers

Besides the ulcers I also had a glandular swelling on my neck, which was gathering, and seemed about to break. I consulted skillful physicians, and took various remedies, but failed to find relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this remedy completely cured me, and I am now in perfect health. —Mrs. Jane L. Hopkins, Cambridgeport, Mass.

For what appeared to be a Cancer on my lip, I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla with excellent success. I believe the disease to be perfectly cured.—Amherst Whitmore, Brunswick, Maine.

About three years ago, I was troubled with Canker Humors in my mouth, throat, and stomach. Food of any kind caused the most extreme suffering. After trying a number of remedies, without receiving any benefit, I was finally taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I can now eat any kind of food, and am vigorous, active, and entirely free from all humors.—J. W. Compton, Bloomington, Ill.

Cured by

Until within a few months I have suffered terribly, all my life, with what my physician called Red Canker. At times my mouth, tongue, and throat have been nearly raw with these canker sores, and my effort to swallow food caused the most intense pain. I was emaciated, weak, and pale, and always more or less under the doctor's care. Physicians failed to help me, and none of the many remedies I tried gave me any relief until I commenced taking

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Sarsaparilla. This medicine has restored me to health, and has eradicated every trace of Canker from my system.—Mrs. David Carey, North Salem, Mass.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Eruptions

Of the skin, whether in the form of Erysipelas, Pimples, or Boils, indicate that the blood has become vitiated, and the system diseased, and that prompt treatment is indispensable. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purges the blood of all impurities, and speedily restores health and strength to the system. "For nearly three years I was covered with Scrofulous some of which were very offensive, exhausting, and painful. I had no appetite, was emaciated, and so reduced in strength as to be unable to attend to my business. I tried many remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no relief. With little hope of recovery, I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, under its healing influence, soon began to improve. After using less than half a dozen bottles of this preparation, I was restored to perfect health.—Leonard Brackett, West Haven, Conn.

Sores

For forty years I have been troubled with a humor in the blood, appearing in painful eruptions on my skin, and causing Erysipelas at times. I have been a great sufferer. I have tried all kinds of remedies for my complaint, but found no relief until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By ten bottles of this medicine I am completely cured, and my skin is now as smooth and fair as ever.—Mary C. Amesbury, Rockport, Me.

Taking

I have been taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for an impurity of the blood, which manifested itself in troublesome Boils and Eruptions, and can truly say I have never found any medicine so prompt and certain in curative effects. It has done me great good.—F. P. Coggeshall, Bookseller, 41 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass.

For the radical cure of Pimples, Boils, Carbuncles, and all diseases originating in vitiated blood, I know of no remedy that can compare with Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

As a promoter of health, giving appetite and renewing wasted energy, this medicine has no equal.—G. H. Davies, Court st., Pawtucketville, Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

31 CAMP STREET.

Cash Capital $300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1886 ..... 405,941 50

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President.
H. GALLY, Vice-President.
SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

Finance Committee:

John T. Moore, Jr., M. Schwabacher, J. H. Mangs, T. J. Woodward, F. G. Ernst.

NEW STORE! NEW GOODS!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our

New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youth's Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits, $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks. Lowest Prices and Best Goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S,
20 and 22 Camp Street.

Alabama Coal and Coke Company,

54 Carondelet Street,

Representing in New Orleans the largest mining company in Alabama, and offering the best grades of Coal such as the famous MONTEVALLO, the best grate coal in the United States; the HELENA, thought by many to equal Montevallo; the ALABAMA SPLINT, Alabama's best combination coal, a hard lump coal good for grates or for steam; the celebrated Pratt and Warrior Coals, best steam Coals now used in the United States.

All of the above Coals burn to ashes, leave no cinders, and are more lasting than Pittsburg coal. No odor arises from burning them.

We have unusual facilities for furnishing coal in Car Load Lots to points reached by any of the railroads centering in New Orleans, and can promptly load vessels at low prices here or at the ports of Mobile and Pensacola.

A. C. DANNER, President, H. E. ANDERSON, Secretary and Treasurer.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, NEW ORLEANS.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 Pieces $10	American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 136 pieces..... $12 00
Decorated Dinner Sets, from ..... 12 to $35	Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape..... 2 50
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape 3	Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape 3 50

Handsomely Jardinel Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slops Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set
Glass Water Sets, all colors consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set
Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 Cents to $2 per dozen.
Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 60 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

T. J. CARVER. B. O. L. RAYNE.

T. J. CARVER & CO.,

Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants,

44 Perdido Street.

The patronage of our friends and the public respectfully solicited.

FURNITURE.

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street.

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1837. It knows nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered to a needy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is the popular favorite of overcoming the disease. Many have tried it, and still given no other remedy. Worms, wholesome lot, are the destroyers of children. It never fails. It is the quickest, surest and most reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed. Yours &c., J. W. HEARD, M. D. Macon, Ga. THOS. H. HANDY, M. D. CAMBRIDGE, Md.

Messrs. J. E. Schwartz & Co.—Gentlemen: I have used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best remedy which I have ever used. Yours &c., J. W. HEARD, M. D. Macon, Ga. THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., Successors to B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

Our Young People.

THE BATTLE OF LIFE.

Go forth in the battle of life, my boy,
Go, while it is called to-day;
For the years go out, and the years come in,
Regardless of those who may lose or win—
Of those who may work or play.

And the troops march steadily on, my boy,
To the army gone before;
You may hear the sound of their falling feet
Going down to the river where the two worlds meet;
They go to return no more.

There is room for you in the ranks, my boy,
And duty, too, assigned;
Step into the front with cheerful grace—
Be quick, or another will take your place,
And you may be left behind.

There is work to be done by the way, my boy,
That you never can tread again;
Work for the lofties, lowliest men—
Work for the plough, adze, spindle and pen;
Work for the hand and the brain.

The serpent will follow your steps, my boy,
To lay for your feet a snare;
And pleasure sits in her fairy bowers,
With garlands of poppies and lotus flowers
Enwreathing her golden hair.

Temptations will wait by the way, my boy;
Temptations without and within;
And spirits of evil, in robes as fair
As the holiest angels in heaven wear,
Will lure you to deadly sin.

Then put on the armor of God, my boy,
In the beautiful days of youth;
Put on the helmet, breast-plate and shield,
And the sword that the feeblest hand may wield
In the cause of right and truth.

And go to the battle of life, my boy,
With the peace of the gospel shod,
And before high heaven do the best you can
For the great reward, for the good of man,
For the kingdom and crown of God.

MR. EDITOR: I feel so thankful for Christmas. If we had no Christmas, we would have no Savior. I often sing and talk about Christ being born in Bethlehem, and the shepherds and the wise men. I wonder if they were the same. I am so glad when Christmas is near. We have so many nice presents. In 1881 I had twenty-five presents on our Christmas tree at home. I was the only child, so had a "Benjamin's mess;" so my mamma said, and I was so glad. I feel sorry for the poor little girls and boys that have no home and no friends to give them presents. I liked Bishop Galloway's letter so much. I know his little boy was proud to get that letter. We hope to have a Christmas tree for our Sam Small Sunday-school. Miss Clara Crary is my Sunday-school teacher. I am in the intermediate class. Mr. Enoch Talley is our superintendent, and he is such a good old man. He gets happy and shouts sometimes in Sunday-school. Bro. Shelby, our pastor, came Sunday to bid us good-bye, and said that he would give us a farewell wave when he passed on the train. We are all sorry to see him go away, for we love him so much. Wishing you and all the "cousins" a "Merry Christmas," and a "Happy New Year," I will say, "Good-bye."

IDA C. SADLER.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl thirteen years old. Please give me a space in your excellent paper for a few words. I must first tell you of our Sunday-school, which went into winter-quarters last Sunday, and oh! I am so sorry. I received an appreciated prize—a beautiful little Bible from my dear teacher, Miss Ticia Doyle. Another year will soon close and Conference will come, which will make many changes with our preachers. I do hope our dear preachers—Bros. Blocker and Johns—will be sent back, for we love them so much. We have such a lovely little church at Doyline. Our earnest workers, the ladies, gave a concert last week to furnish the church. I will ask the cousins a question: Where in the Bible are the words: "His head and his hair were white like wool, as white as snow;" and to whom does it allude. I wish you a "Merry Christmas." Your friend,

DODIE PINCKARD.

DOYLINE, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not seen any letters from around here, I thought I would write a letter. I am a little girl eleven years old. I must tell you about our Shiloh Camp Meeting: It was a splendid meeting. I joined the church. We children wish to return our heartfelt thanks to Bro. Colwell for the sermon he delivered to us on Monday at three o'clock P. M., and also to the other ministers. We enjoyed listening to all of them. My father is steward in the Shiloh Church and takes the dear ADVOCATE. I will ask a question: How and by whom was Jesus betrayed? As this is my first attempt to write to the ADVOCATE, I will not write too long. If this letter is published, I will write again. With many good wishes to you and the dear ADVOCATE, I am,

Your little friend.

ORA L. KNIGHT.

CHALMAN, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl ten years of age. I have five brothers and four sisters; two of them married. One of them has a baby. We think him very smart; he will be a year old Christmas night. We are anxious to know who will be our preacher next year. I will answer Emma N. Patton's question. It was Joshua that commanded the sun and moon to stand still. I will also answer Addie Stanley's question. John was on the island of Patmos. I will close by asking a question: Which is the middle chapter and the least in the Bible? If this letter does not reach the dreadful waste-basket, I will write again.

Your little friend,

BETTIE CARRUTH.

SUMMIT, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: As I see that the little people have nearly quit writing to you, I thought I would write a letter to the dear old ADVOCATE. I am an orphan girl; father died when I was small. I have two brothers; one older and one younger than I am. I have never been to school much. I went three months last spring. I studied spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, geography and dictionary. My grandfather takes your valuable paper, and I love to read it very much. Preston M. Floyd, Enoch was the first preacher translated into heaven. J. Carrie Floyd, Elizabeth was the mother of John the Baptist. I will close by asking a question: Why did Moses fly from his rod when it became a serpent on Mount Horeb? Wishing the ADVOCATE and its editor abundant success, I am,

Your little friend,

LYDIA C. TALBERT.

BARR'S BRIDGE, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl eleven years old. I have two sisters; one older and one younger than myself. I have never been to school much. I went about three months and a half, and learned to read and write a little. I like to go very well. Mr. Britt was our teacher; we all liked him very much. J. Carrie Floyd, "cucumber" is found in Numbers xi, 5, and also in Isa. 1, 8. I will ask the little cousins a question: Where is the largest verse in the New Testament? We have no Sunday-school at present. We have had preaching once a month at the Camp Ground, by Mr. Swann. Wishing the ADVOCATE great success, I am,

Your little friend,

OLIVE A. BLOCKER.

BARR'S BRIDGE, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little boy nine years old. I will answer the question in your nice paper by Cora Slocum. The question is, "What kind of a death did Peter die?" The answer is he was crucified with his head down—at his own request. He did not feel worthy to be crucified like Jesus. Now I will ask the cousins where is the longest verse in the Bible to be found? I am a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and am trying to be a Christian. Rev. C. T. Munholland is our pastor. I am a regular attendant at Sabbath-school. Mrs. McLemore is my teacher. I love her very much.

Your little friend,

NELSON R. BEAZLEY.

RAYVILLE, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I have not written to your valuable paper but once. We moved to Aberdeen on the eleventh of this month. We are very well pleased with the people here. We children will not start to school until after Christmas. Papa has not decided which school to send us to. My Sunday-school teacher is Mrs. Terrell. I like her very well. Papa preached here yesterday. The parsonage we live in is a very nice one; about forty feet from the church. Hoping this will not reach the waste-basket, I remain,

Your friend,

MELVILLE DYE.

ABERDEEN, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl nine years old. We live in the country and have a great many horses and cows. I have two pets—a colt and a cat. I can go up to my colt and pat him. I study spelling, reading, writing, geography. I have three brothers and two sisters. We have all been baptized in the Methodist Church. Grandma takes the ADVOCATE. She lives with Sissie and Uncle Bangues. I love to read the children's letters. This is my first letter to a paper. I will close.

Your little friend,

MAUD M'ALPINE.

WHITE HALL, Texas.

MR. EDITOR: I have never written to the ADVOCATE, so I will write one letter. I go to Sunday and day-school. My Sunday-school teacher is Miss Martha Crawford. I like her for a teacher. My day-school teacher is Miss Alice C. Sadler. She is so good to me. When it rains I stay all night at her home. I am writing this letter at her house now. I study spelling, arithmetic, reading and writing. I have a little baby brother a year old and he is not named. Can some of the cousins send him a pretty name?

ALICE PORTER.

HALLOO, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: As I see so many nice little letters in your paper, it has encouraged me in making an attempt. We have a nice Sunday-school. Mrs. W. H. Hunley is my teacher; Mr. Hunley is our pastor. We have services once a month. I will answer Addie Stanley's question: John was on a lonely island called Patmos, where he wrote the Revelation. I will ask a question: Where did Jesus die? Wishing the ADVOCATE every success, a "Merry Christmas" and a "Happy New Year." Your friend,

DONALD WATKINS.

LEC, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: Seeing so many letters from little boys and girls, I thought I would write. I think old stamps, relics, curiosities, and such is the meaning of "philately." Am I correct? It showed a little on December 4, which gives sign that winter is approaching. I am thirteen years old, and take a great interest in the dear old ADVOCATE, which we take. Well, I must close for fear I will tire you. I am,

Your little friend,

THOS. R. RAINES.

HICKORY, Mississippi.

DEEDS BEFORE DOCTRINES.—This may seem to some like a heretical inversion, but this can not be helped, for so it stands in the Divine record. Luke, in the commencement of his second book, taking a retrospect of his earlier work, calls it a record of all the things which Jesus "began to do and teach." This is both theological and philosophical. Jesus began the salvation of the world by doing, and this marks the place of doing in the Christian life. It is example before precept—doing before teaching. It is Christ's order. It is the Evangelist's as well—let it be ours also. Life before any treatise on it, conduct before ethics, deeds before history. Doing is the foundation on which the superstructure is raised. The teaching is designed to explain, followed with the motives to act, and the action itself. It is what he did that saves us, and his teaching only shows the need of it and how it was done. Go to work and the doctrines will glow from the faces of your saving deeds. "If any man will do his will he shall know of the doctrine."—Presbyterian.

The Interior remarks: "When Robert Hall aimed at a thing he always hit it—if there was enough of it to be hit. When he said that a lax theology is the parent of a lax morality, he hit that nail squarely on the head and drove it in to stay. Public and private morality are down at the heel in these days because the theology taught from our pulpits is very largely diluted with milk and water. They were better fifty years ago because evil doers were kindly informed that, if they escaped punishment in this world, there was a hell in the next for this world's incorrigible—a fact not too frequently alluded to in these days."

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT VEGETABLE PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises. It is cooling, cleansing and Healing.

Catarrh, It is most efficacious for this disease. Cold in the Head, &c. "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, should be applied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plaster is invaluable in these diseases, Lumbago, Pains in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching. It is the greatest known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples. Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints, to the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used as is well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by the sure.

Sold everywhere, Prices, 50c., $1, $1.75.

Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

YALE & BOWLING,

WHOLESALE

DRY GOODS AND NOTIONS

17, 19 & 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets, NEW ORLEANS

Premiums Awarded

—TO THE—

SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY

—BY THE—

N., C., and S. A. EXPOSITION.

FIRST MEDAL

For the Best Sewing Machines for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles 15c per dozen; two dozen, 25c. All other styles from 15c to 25c. Oil, 5c a bottle. Singer Shuttles, 75c each. Postage Extra Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co,
185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
S. E. RUNDLE, Agent.

H. D. McCOWN,

—DEALER IN—

Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing,

HATS, SHIRTS,

—AND—

FURNISHING GOODS,

COR. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS.
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

MILLINERY.

F. R. HARDON,

50 CHARTRES ST., Bet. Canal and Customhouse Sts.
NEW ORLEANS.

Has now in Complete Stock of Ladies' and Children's Bonnets and Hats of the late styles and most reasonable prices.

Cleaning, Dying and Curling of Feathers a specialty.

Crepe renovated to look like new.

Country orders solicited and filled with the greatest care.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

DYSPEPSIA.

Up to a few weeks ago I considered myself the champion Dyspeptic of America. During the years that I have been afflicted, I have tried almost everything claimed to be a specific for Dyspepsia in the hope of finding something that would afford permanent relief. I had about made up my mind to abandon all medicines when I noticed an endorsement of SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR by a prominent Georgian, a jurist whom I know, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bottles, and am satisfied that I have struck the right thing at last. I felt its beneficial effects almost immediately. Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special instructions are required as to what one is all or shall not eat. This fact alone ought to recommend it to all troubled with Dyspepsia.

J. N. HOLMES,
Vineland, N. J.

CONSTIPATION

To Secure a Regular Habit of Body without changing the Diet or Disorganizing the System, take

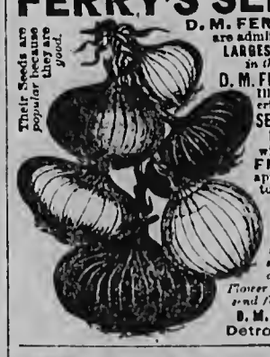
SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

ONLY GENUINE MANUFACTURED BY

J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE

FERRY'S SEEDS



Their Seeds are popular because they are good.

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it. Address D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

FITS STOPPED FREE

Marvelous success. Insane Persons Restored by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER

For all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure Cure for Nervous Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.

MUSIC BOOKS

MODERN CLASSICS, A superb collection of Piano Music, by the best modern composers. Price, postage paid, $1.00 in boards; $1.50 in cloth.

URBACH'S PIANO, celebrated school for the Piano. Translated by Theodore Presser. Many valuable additions to the original work. Price, postage paid, $2.00 in boards; $3.00 in cloth.

DOERNER'S TECHNICS, By Armin W. Doerner. A most valuable collection of exercises, such as are necessary for every student of the Piano. Endorsed by the most noted instructors in the United States. Price, postage paid, $1.50, in fine cloth.

FAITH TRIUMPHANT, By H. Butterworth & Geo. F. Root. A new and beautiful Scripture Cantata, by these most successful writers. This new work is superior to any they have heretofore produced. 75 cts. by mail, postpaid; $7.50 a dozen, by express, not prepaid.

CROWN OF SONG, By M. L. Metcalf, with special contributions by Geo. F. Root. A new book for the use of Singing Schools, Conventions and Musical Institutes. Good elementary department and a great quantity of fresh and good music. Price same as for "Faith Triumphant."

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O., And 19 East 16th St., New York City.

For Sale by Book and Music Dealers.

THE IMPROVED ACME WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only FIVE lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 REWARD per its INVENTOR. Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To prove it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges.

Send for circulars. Agents wanted.

ACME, Pat. April 12, '81.

C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

N.B.—Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 14 Games, 12 tricks in magic, 4 Album verses. All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 10, Ohio.

OPIUM Cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent Free. DR. J. E. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 72 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expenses, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1011 Main St., Richmond, Va.

FACE, HANDS, FEET, and all Cuticle Imperfections, Defects in Facial Development, Superfluous Hair, Birth Marks, Moles, Warts, Moth, Freckles, Red Nose, Acne, Black Heads, Scars, Pitting and their Treatment. Dr. John H. Woodbury, 37 S. Pearl St., Albany, N.Y. Each book 25 cents in stamps, or coin, for book

Are You CONSUMPTIVE.

Have you Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Indigestion? Use PARKER'S TONIC without delay. It has cured many of the worst cases and is the best remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs, and diseases arising from impure blood and exhaustion. Often saves life when everything else fails. Gives new life and strength to the aged and infirm. $1.00 Druggists.

HINDERCORNS.

The safest, surest and best cure for Corns, Bunions, &c. Stops all pain. Ensures comfort to the feet. Never fails to cure. 15 cents at Druggists. Hiscox & Co., N. Y.

WE WANT YOU! a live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every county. Salary $75 per month and expenses, or a large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfits and particulars Free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

WATERER—CHRISTMAS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Henry Christmas, December 22, 1886 by the Rev. D. C. Foust, Mr. H. Y. Waterer, of Yazoo county, to Miss M. E. Christmas, of Holmes county, Miss.

JONES—HOLLOMAN.—At Mt. Olivet Methodist Church, December 26, 1886, by Rev. S. J. Cotton, Dr. Lewis C. Jones to Miss Roberta A. Holloman, both of Phœnix, Miss.

GIBSON—PRESLEY.—In Many, La., December 15, 1886, by Rev. R. M. Blocker, Peter J. Gibson, Esq., to Miss Belle Presley, daughter of Hon. E. F. Presley.

BISHOP—ALLEN.—On December 22, 1886, by Rev. John Pipes, Mr. Ebbert Bishop to Miss Martha E. Allen, both of DeSoto parish, La.

JACKSON—SPEARMAN.—At the residence of the bride's mother, in Grand Cane, La., December 26, by Rev. J. Pipes, Mr. John Jackson to Miss Mary J. Spearman.

HARRIS—EDWARDS.—At the residence of the bride's grandmother, in Warren county, Miss., December 8, 1886, by Rev. W. L. C. Hunnicutt, Mr. Mathew J. Harris and Miss Fannie K. Edwards.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

PURVIS—Death is said to "love a shining mark," and in the death of Miss SALLIE F. PURVIS, the adage is verified. She was the daughter of Henry A. Purvis and Eveline Aldridge, and niece of the sainted Rev. John W. Purvis, who was one of the pioneers that planted Methodism in the congenial soil of Yazoo county. She died December 6, 1886. She was nurtured, reared and trained in the very bosom of the church; was converted and united with God's people in her early girlhood; was a true, faithful member, loved the ordinances of her church, and, of course, she died right. Thanks be to our God! Methodists do die well.

Her family have passed through sore trials. The father died while the children were young, leaving the mother with three boys and four girls. The brothers lived to manhood—noble, promising young men—and fell one after the other. One sister also died, and on Miss Sallie devolved the management of the family affairs, and nobly did she meet every demand and well did she discharge every duty, striving first to secure the comfort of her mother and sisters, seeming to lose sight of self. Her home was, and is, a favorite abiding place of the preachers and their families. Miss Sallie had been a great sufferer for three years, but bore her afflictions with Christian fortitude. She was intellectual and cultivated, graduated with first honors, and was chosen valedictorian of her class at Union Female College, Oxford, Miss. She many times told the writer, within the past year, that she was ready for the Master's summons, only regretted leaving her loved ones behind. Dear friends, farewell; but not forever. We will meet again on the sunlit plains of eternal bliss. J. H. H.

KEOWN SAMUEL KEOWN died in Smith county, near Sylvarena, October 12, 1886. Bro. Keown was born March 29, 1812, in Abbeville district, S. C.; came to this State in 1839, and was married in 1849.

He was a true man, a faithful Christian, a devoted father and a good husband; was wise in counsel, trusty in peril. Duty and fidelity were his watchwords. As a Christian he was true; his integrity was never questioned, his religion never doubted. All men looked upon him as a good man. His religious opinions were never paraded. Still he was ready to give a reason for the hope within him with meekness and fear. Religion manifested itself at home and abroad, in the work-shop or on the farm. Slow to speak, when an occasion offered, he spoke the truth in love. His light was clear and always burning, and we are sure his steps were ordered by the Lord. He was conscious of his justification by faith and consequent peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. And he was numbered with those of whom the great Shepherd said, "I know them, and they follow me, and I give unto them eternal life." He has finished his course; he kept the faith. The battle fought, the victory won, he has entered the Master's joy. His body sleeps in the grave; his spirit is in the spirit land with kindred spirits and the blessed Savior. The loved ones who preceded him to the spirit land have met and welcomed him to the home of the soul.

The writer was with Bro. Keown two weeks before his death, and spent a night with him, and we had a happy and glorious time together, as the Lord did so bless us with the Spirit of his love, and we parted with vows to meet in Heaven.

J. H. EVANS, P. C.

MAYO—MRS. ANNIE MAYO, nee Lake, was born in Grenada, Miss., December 5, 1862, and died at her home in Clarendon, Ark., October 11, 1886. Another Christian spirit has gone to its reward. She was the youngest child of Bro. and Sister Lake. She had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, from childhood. No preacher whose good fortune it has been to be her pastor can soon forget the kind face, gentle spirit and encouraging words of Annie Lake, as she was so familiarly known and called. A little more than three months before her death the writer united her in holy matrimony to Mr. Mayo, of Clarendon, Ark. Perhaps no couple ever realized more fully the important step they were taking, or began married life with brighter prospects. But soon the young and devoted husband was called to bring the one he had chosen as his life companion a lifeless corpse over the same road traveled by them a few days before when hopeful and happy bride and groom. She was not afraid to go. When her spirit was so near its future home, she addressed each of her father's family now living; then turning her thoughts to heaven, and a sister gone before, she exclaimed: "And there is Maggie!" Will it not be so with all who reach the abode of the pure and good, that they shall find their loved ones? The Lord bless the bereaved parents, sisters, brother and husband.

E. B. RAMSEY.

DAUGHERTY—MRS. LYDIA DAUGHERTY, whose maiden name was Seaman, was born in Berkley county, Va., March 31 1817; moved to Sullivan county, Mo., in 1843, where she was married to Capt. Robert W. Daugherty, of Harper's Ferry, Va., April 13, 1847. Of this marriage there was six children, five of whom survive their parents.

Sister Daugherty removed with her family to Bossier parish, La., in 1872, where she resided until the time of her death, which was August 3, 1886. She professed Christianity in 1851, since which time she has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

She was a pure type of truest womanhood. She had an intelligent appreciation of the relationships of this life. She met the duties and obligations growing out of such relationships and addressed herself to them with true Christian heroism. She loved her home circle with an ardent, pure devotion, and in return was loved by them with a love stronger than death. The church of her choice was loved by her and she was found an earnest and sympathetic advocate and worker for the cause of her Master; and doubtless ere this she has heard the sweet, welcome words of his voice, saying: "Well done;" and entering through the gates into the city, finds her Lord, who fills her occupy the beautiful mansions with the blessed loved ones that have crossed over the river before her. She stood the test of trial through her checkered pathway as gold tried in the fire. May the Lord bless the bereaved ones!

Her former pastor.

R. A. DAVIS.

WEEL—ANGELINE WEEL, wife of George Weel, and daughter of W. B. and Sibley Clark, was born June 2, 1858, and died October 27, 1886. The deceased was a woman who acted well her part in the various positions occupied by her in life. As a wife and mother, she was faithful and devoted. She was attentive to the interests of her household and took great pleasure in doing all she could to add to the comfort and happiness of Her family; nor was she unmindful of others. She was ready to do something to sweeten and beautify the lives of those around her. She was not unmindful of matters pertaining to the life to come. She sought and obtained peace with God, through our blessed Lord, and connected herself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in which she remained until her death. The morn and evening of her life were devoted to the service of God, and ere this she has received her crown in the home of the redeemed. She has left a kind husband and two children and a large number of relatives with sad hearts. The statements she made on her dying bed in regard to the fatal hour convinces us that she is not dead but sleepeth. May we emulate her virtues, follow her example as she followed Christ, and meet her in heaven.

S. D. G FF.

GRAYSON MRS. MARY GRAYSON was born in Jackson county, Ga., on September 22, 1812, and died August 18 1886. Her maiden name was Erbanks. She was married to John O. Grayson on November 15, and on the day of marriage both she and her husband joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and she has lived a consistent member until death.

She was in the highest sense a true wife, a faithful and an affectionate mother, as well as a devoted, earnest, whole-hearted Christian. It was her delight to greet her pastor at her home, and the greeting was so cordial from herself and family that the pastor and ministers of her church at once felt that here was home. In the family circle she was the centre and moving spirit, and it was her pleasure to administer to others. She resided two or three miles from her church during the last two or three years of her life, and could not attend regularly; but was there when duties of her household would permit, and when there she enjoyed the worship of her Master. Her last illness was something over a week, but when the summons came she was ready and passed away strong of faith to her blessed Redeemer. She leaves a husband and five children and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

R. A. DAVIS

FERGUSON—ALBERT J. FERGUSON was born in Copiah county, Miss., January 6 1841, and died of typhoid fever at his residence in Beauregard, Miss., August 16, 1886.

Bro. Ferguson was reared under the influence and training of a pious mother. He joined the church and professed conversion under the ministry of W. W. Hopper, in 1882. Soon after his conversion he was elected a member of the Board of Stewards, in which capacity he served the church with acceptability till his death. In his last illness he was resigned and peaceful. He seemed to have a premonition that his end was near. He set his house in order, was ready, and calmly met the summons when it came. His sufferings were severe, but he bore them with patience and Christian resignation. In his death the community has lost a good citizen; the church, a faithful member, and his family an affectionate husband and father. But our loss is his gain; hence we bow with humble submission to the will of our heavenly Father, and pray that his grace may comfort the afflicted ones in this sad bereavement.

B. F. JONES.

RAWLS—On October 29, 1886, another sweet bud was plucked, the infant son of Luther and M. C. Rawls, born February 2, 1881, to bloom into an immortal flower. The King of kings hath sent for our children to confer a kingdom on them. They are gone from a dark vale of sin and sorrow to the home of joy and honor; our infants are needed to make up the heavenly concert to the angelic symphony. Who will sing like unto them of the manger and the swaddling clothes, and of the Lord of all? We must have infant chorus in heaven.

WM. HOOVER.

BOYKIN—Died near Alto, Richland parish, La., ALLIE MAY BOYKIN, daughter of G. W. and G. L. Boykin. She was born May 31, 1867, and died October 4, 1886. She was converted to God, and joined the church in 1881, being faithful until the summons came that called her home. Her disease was dropsy, and when wading through deep waters her father asked her of the future. Though her tongue was paralyzed, she pointed up, smiling, meaning: "All is well; he is with me."

C. T. MUNHOLLAND

SHORT—ROSA ESTELLE, infant daughter of H. G. and M. E. Short, was born April 22, and died September 8, 1886. The heart may be crushed with anguish, but oh! weep not for the little one; she is only gone before. Think, dear friends, that high up in heaven, she is awaiting your glorious entrance there.

GEO. H. GALLOWAY, P. C.

SIMS JOHN M. SIMS, son of Millage and Margret Sims, was born in Rankin county, Miss., April 30, 1836. He was born of Christian parents, who were members of the Methodist Church, whose training was honored of God, as their son was brought into the church at ten years of age.

Persons who knew him through life always speak of him as one of the best men they have ever known. He was strict in all business transactions; his motto was: "Owe no man anything." He was a devoted husband, an affectionate father, and made all around him feel pleasant. His means were always ready when there was a call for charity, and to the demands of the church he responded liberally and cheerfully. He was sick about two weeks, during which time his sufferings were very great. He bore them without a murmur. On being asked some question with regard to some enterprise, he replied: "When I have been with Fannie a few days, I will tell you." He was not alarmed at the approach of death; but faced the monster with all the fortitude of a Christian. He was perfectly resigned to the will of God; and that God which he had loved and served stooped down and whispered in that trying hour: "I have loved thee with an everlasting love, and that love was stronger than death," and drove away all its fears. He fell asleep at his home at Silver Creek, Laurence county, Miss.

D. F. GUICE, Pastor.

DAVIS—MISS PHILOMA DAVIS, who died at Mount Andrew, on the fourth instant, aged nineteen years, was the oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Davis, of Summerfield, Ala. Miss Davis was loved and admired by all who knew her. She was amiable at all times, and she was always anxious to make those around her happy. She was greeted in every throng with heart-felt joy, and she had a pleasant smile and an agreeable remark for every one she met. She was gifted in a high degree, and her many talents made her noticeable at all times. She had stored her mind with so much useful and attractive information her conversation was always delightful to people of culture. Her death has left a void that naught can fill, and her many friends grieve after her most deeply. Heaven has been made brighter to us who loved her, by her presence therein, and we must try to meet her in her happy home. Farewell, beloved girl; we shall look forward to meeting you in the home of purity you have so early sought.

A. H. CHANDLER.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Did you ever estimate the amount of money you have spent for quinine and other so-called cures for Malaria that have not cured you? You can stop the outlay very soon by using Shallenberger's Antidote. It will save you money and suffering to believe what we tell you and try it. If your Druggist don't have it, send One Dollar to Dr. Shallenberger, Rochester, Penna., and get it by return mail.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—"Civil Service Gazette."

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

DR. GRANVILLE COLE, Ph. D.

Fellow of the Royal Chemical Society of London; Fellow of the Royal Institute of Chemistry, &c., &c., (and son of the celebrated English Chemist, Sir Henry Cole,) writes as follows:

Phillieach Gardens, London, S. W.

To the Liebig Company,

GENTLEMEN:—Malaria was rapidly undermining my health. There was languor, lassitude, want of appetite, and gradual loss of strength. Also irritation of the kidneys. Your justly renowned Cocoa Beef Tonic speedily cured me.

GRANVILLE COLE,
Ph. D., F. R. C. S., F. R. I. C., &c.

FROM THE

Hon. HENRY ARTHUR HERBERT,

Ex-Member British Parliament; Owner of the celebrated Lakes of Killarney, &c., &c.

Muckross Abbey, Killarney, Ireland.

From personal experience and from the reports of others, I can conscientiously say that Liebig Co.'s Cocoa Beef Tonic fully deserves all of the praise which it is receiving.

HERBERT, of Muckross.

Equally warm commendations from Prince Nicholas Taherbatov, of St. Petersburg, Russia; Baron Falkenberg of the Royal British Rifles; Captain the Honorable Alistair G. Hay, 3d battalion Black Watch, Royal Highlanders; Captain R. Elliott Palmer 4th Battalion Sumner Royal Fusiliers, and thousands equally eminent.

CAUTION.—The Liebig Company (chemists to the Royal Family) respectfully cautions the public against the horde of imitations that have sprung up of late. The Liebig Company was the first to prepare Cora Beef Tonic and Coca Wine. The imitations that have sprung up are seeking sale on the strength of our reputation. Be sure to demand ours. Take no other. Please also remember that we prepare no cheap goods. Our inflexible rule is—honest goods at honest prices.

N. Y. DEPOT,
38 Murray Street.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp which cured his only child of CONSUMPTION. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that CONSUMPTION can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this recipe free, only asking two 2-cent stamps to pay expenses. This herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1,031 RACE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, naming this paper.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

USE WINCHESTER'S HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME AND SODA. For Consumption, Weak Lungs, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and General Debility it is an acknowledged Specific Remedy. TRY IT.

Price, $1 and $2 per bottle. Prepared only by WINCHESTER & Co., Chemists, 162 William street, New York.

Sold by druggists.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Physician's Favorite!

A predigested, non-irritating, easily assimilated food indicated in all weak and inflamed conditions of the digestive organs, either in infants or adults

☞ It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

The Most Nourishing, Most Palatable, Most Economical, of all Prepared Foods.

150 MEALS for an Infant for $1.00.

EASILY PREPARED. At Druggists, 25c., 50c., $1

☞ A valuable pamphlet on "The Nutrition of Infants and Invalids," sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

An Agreeable Aperient.

ROGERS'

DRY

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA.

This Well-Known Preparation is

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

—FOR—

Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, and all Complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fever.

It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists,
281 Bleecker St., New York,

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

ROPE AND TWINES, AMMUNITION, PAPER, TINWARE,

Wooden and Willow-Ware,

Axle Grease,	Handles and Axes,
Base Ball Goods,	Keys—all Kinds,
Blank Books etc.,	Lamps and Lanterns,
Bungs and Plugs,	Oars and Oakum,
Coffee and Grain Mills,	Oyster Tongs,
Cotton and Wool cards,	Saws and Hatchets,
Cutlery and Files,	Sugar-house Lamps,
Demijohns and Bottles,	Scales and Locks,
Furnaces,	Soaps and Sponges,
Fishing Tackle,	Tumblers and Goblets,
Faucets—full line,	Whips and Lashes,

Stone Jars, Jugs and Cooking Crocks.

Full Line of Fireworks.

J. C. MORRIS,

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas St.

Sole Agency South for the Celebrated HICKOK CALCIUM BURNERS.

WALL PAPER

In all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty

WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS,

UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.

FRAMING NEATLY DONE.

PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS,

RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS

EDWARD HEATH,

No. 75 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

A. Brousseau's Son

23 and 25 Carondelet Street.

MOQUETTES,
BRUSSELS,
INGRAINS,
LACE CURTAINS,
WINDOW SHADES,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

Philip Werlein's,

135 Canal Street,

THE GREAT PIANO HOUSE

—OF THE—

SOUTH.

THE PLACE

TO BUY YOUR

PIANOS

—AND—

ORGANS.

Greatest Bargains

Now Offered.

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing GOODS.

Successor in Wholesale to

WHEELER & PIERSON,

56 Canal Street. NEW ORLEANS

AGENTS WANTED FOR A NEW BOOK OF WONDERS.

A sure success! The richest business chance of years! A perfect museum of the wonderful things of earth! A magnificent panorama of surprising scenes in many lands. A book of entrancing descriptions, startling adventures, endless instructions; hundreds of attractive features; 300 illustrations; 700 pages. Easy to sell, as everybody that sees the book wants it. For special terms, address

TEXAS BOOK & BIBLE CO., 904 Elm St., Dallas, Texas.

CATARRH

Nasal Catarrh.

Sometimes the disease only affects the membranes lining the nasal passages, and they may be easily reached and cured by simple means. But when it is located in the "frontal sinus," or in the "posterior nares," or if it has entered the "Eustachian tubes," as all well read physicians will readily attest, nothing can be relied on to effect a permanent cure but the inhalation of properly medicated vapor. In the same manner that we breathe a common air, we can inhale and breathe a medicated air; and it is perfectly simple, any one can see, thus to treat a disease of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. How much better this method, by which remedies are conveyed directly to the seat of the disease, than to resort to the uncertain and too frequently mischievous action of medicines taken into the stomach.

Bronchitis, or Inflammation of the Bronchial Tubes.

This disease is so closely connected with CATARRH that it may be truly described as a branch of that disease, only modified and changed by the nature and organization of the parts affected; CATARRH being confined to the interior of the Nose, while BRONCHITIS affects the small pipes entering the lungs, known as the Bronchial Tubes. Where the disease obtains its worse character, tumors grow up like mushrooms, creating inflammatory adhesion and discharge of offensive matter from the throat, extending through the Eustachian Tube to the ear, which becomes affected. The absorption of the tuberculous matter is very dangerous, and frequently results in PULMONARY CONSUMPTION and death.

My Experience.

Nineteen Years of terrible headache, disgusting nasal discharges, dryness of the throat, acute bronchitis, coughing, soreness of the lungs, raising bloody mucus, and even night-sweats, incapacitating me from my professional duties, and bringing me to the verge of the grave—all were caused by, and the result of, nasal catarrh. After spending hundreds of dollars and obtaining no relief, I compounded my Catarrh Specific and Cold Air Inhaling Balm, and wrought upon myself a wonderful cure. Now I can speak for hours without exhaustion, and can breathe freely in any atmosphere. At the calls of numerous friends, I have given my cure to the public, and have now thousands of patients in all parts of the country, and thousands of happy fellow-beings whose sufferings I have relieved. My cure is certain, thorough and perfect, and is indorsed by every physician who has examined it. If I can relieve my fellow-beings as I have been relieved of this loathsome disease, which makes the possessor at once disgusting to himself and others, I shall be satisfied and feel that I have done my little toward removing the ills of mankind.

THE FOLLOWING FROM OTHER PUBLISHERS HAS GIVEN US VERY CONFIDENCE IN RECOMMENDING MR. CHILDS TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS:

"The publishers and editors of the Journal and Messenger, Cincinnati, have known Rev. T. P. Childs for many years, and feel every confidence in any statements he may make. Our subscribers can feel every confidence in giving their cases into his hands for treatment." "While not supposing that all cases of Catarrh will be cured by the prescription advertised, the publishers of the Illustrated Christian Weekly, New York, after diligent inquiry, have reason to believe that it has, in many cases, proved effectual." "The publishers of the Congregationalist, of Boston, with multitudes of other people, are somewhat suspicious of patent medicines as a rule, and when we received the advertisement of Mr. Childs, we at first declined its insertion; but on making inquiry, we received such satisfactory replies, and one especially from a well-known Congregational pastor not far from Mr. Childs, the proprietor of the medicine, that we withdrew our objections." "The publishers of the St. Louis Christian Advocate, after careful investigation, are satisfied that Rev. T. P. Childs' treatment for the head, throat and lungs is all that it is represented to be."

Do Not Trifle With Disease.

We have the only known certain and reliable method for the cure of Nasal Catarrh, Throat and Lung disease; it is regarded by the best of judges as being the most complete treatment ever devised. Indeed, there does not appear to be anything lacking in its perfect adaptation to these diseases in all their loathsome, painful and dangerous developments. Each case is examined into carefully and critically, and the whole treatment compounded to meet the wants of each individual. To this fact alone much of our success is due, and we think no case is incurable when our questions are properly answered. Fifteen years of constant practice with thousands of patients all over the country, have enabled us to bring the application of our Remedies to the highest point of perfection. Do not trifle, then, with some cheap so-called "Cure" which at best can afford but temporary relief (while the roots of the vile disease are left to strike deeper and deeper), but be in earnest and be thorough, or do nothing. You have been years in contracting the disease; you cannot be rid of it in a day, or with one application of any medicine.

The Experience of Others.

On account of so many patients having been swindled by unprincipled quacks and pretenders, who flood the country with their advertisements, we deem it only fair that every one that wishes should have the opportunity to ascertain whether we are able to accomplish all that we claim; and for this purpose we add a few of the many hundreds of unsolicited certificates that have been sent to us by grateful parents; almost any of whom will doubtless respond to any inquiry by letter, if accompanied by a stamp to pay postage. Having been cured themselves, they will doubtless be willing to let the afflicted know where they may find certain relief. We have hundreds of certificates from all classes—physicians, clergymen, lawyers, judges, merchants, bankers, and business men; but many dislike the notoriety of having their names in print, or, disliking the task of answering letters of inquiry, have requested us not to publish their names; and this injunction is always most sacredly respected. Correspondence of all kinds is strictly confidential.

The following is a copy of a letter written by Rev. R. E. MELVIN, of Camden, Miss., to the Texas Baptist Herald, Austin, Texas, and published in that paper, dated February 19, 1885:

"From Bro. Melvin, Camden, Miss., Jan 30, 1885:

"I was right well pleased to see in the last Herald an editorial notice making favorable mention of Bro. Childs's Catarrh Specific. Others beside him are advertising to cure catarrh; of the merits of the treatment offered by any of them, I say nothing, because I know nothing; but I know that Mr. Childs CURES it, because he cured me. In January, 1874, I was brought so low that I no more expected ever to see the leaves on the tree again, than to see the sunshine at midnight; and Elder M. F. Martin, now of Texas, remembers the fact well. For my present marvelous health I am, under the blessing of God, indebted alone to the remedy offered by Rev. T. P. Childs, of Troy, Ohio, and I hold it a religious duty I owe the afflicted to speak of it on all proper occasions. As to the remedies offered by anybody else, I say nothing; they may be all that is claimed for them, but I repeat that Childs cured me.

"R. E. MELVIN."

We add the following extracts from a recent letter from him to us:

"As to my own case, I am sound as a dollar, and my head is as clear as a bell. I am to every sense of the word a sounder man than when I commenced the treatment in 1874. I am now in my 54th year. For the last five years of vigorous active work in the Gospel ministry, I am, under God, indebted solely to you. Last Summer in Texas, in a period of fifty seven consecutive days, I spent fifty four in actual preaching, and five of those days I preached twice."

T. R. ROBINSON, Malden, Mass.
Mrs. M. S. BENNETT, North Cambridge, Mass.
LEE HOLBROOK, jr., Milford, Mass.
J. H. BULLARD, Springfield, Mass.
HARRY TRUESDELL, Rockdale Mills, Mass.
Miss H. C. FROST, Pittston, Maine.
W. H. SIVER, Friendship, New York.
J. H. MEATH, Port Colborne, Ontario, Canada.
C. E. DANFORTH, 63 Nassau street, New York City.
J. V. SHOEMAKER, 23 East Thirty-second street, New York City.
Rev. A. N. JACKSON, Union Springs, Bullock County, Alabama.
Mrs. T. G. GARRETT, Greenville, Ala.
O. P. WISE, Magnolia, Columbia County, Ark.
Rev. J. B. FISH, Weaverville, Trinity County, Cal.
K. SHELTON, Davisville, Yolo County, Cal.
Mrs. R. L. HARLEY, 912 F street, N. W. Washington District of Columbia.
Z. A. CRAMPTON, Alachua County, Florida.
E. HUNTRATH, M. D., King's Ferry, Nassau County, Florida.
S. H. BRENAN, Walnut Grove, Walton County, Ga.
T. N. HOWARD, Eatonton, Putnam County, Ga.
J. C. GLISSON, Mobley's Pond, Screven County, Ga.
M. D. WOODRUFF, Macon County, Ill.
M. ALSHULER, Marion, Coles County, Ill.
J. P. ROBERTS, Room 9, 69 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill.
JOHN LITTLOCK, La Clarke, Hancock County, Ill.
A. L. SHEPLER, Georgetown, Vermilion County, Ill.
DAVID WINKLAND, Canard, Macoupin County, Ill.
J. J. RHODES, Whitewater, Wayne County, Ind.
J. C. WILLAGO, Oxford, Benton County, Ind.
R. S. PERKINS, Carroll, Carroll County, Ind.
W. Z. JENKINS, Penville, Jay County, Ind.
Mrs. JOAN SULLIVAN, 134 Dominick street, Indianapolis, Ind.
Mrs. A. M. BATTELLINE, Vinita, Cherokee County, Indian Territory.
BENJAMIN F. BOAM, Clinton, Clinton County, Iowa.
CALVIN TEAGARDEN, Guthrieville, Appanoose County, Iowa.
J. Z. BARNETT, Farmington, Van Buren Co., Iowa.
P. T. WESCOTT, Westfield, Linn, Iowa.
W. H. KRAUTH, Red Oak, Montgomery County, Iowa.
JAMES WHITE, Camp 11, Ft. County, Kansas.
Mrs. L. P. JAMES, Crab Orchard, Lincoln County, Ky.
F. PARKS, Wine Cap, Whitley County, Ky.
Z. Z. LEE, Grangeville, St. Helena Parish, Louisiana.
J. F. WHITE, East Machias, Washington Co., Maine.
N. D. GOLDING, Willis, Texas.

Mr. C. K. SMITH, of the H. C. Staver Implement Company, Chicago, writes: "I heartily congratulate you on the success of your treatment. It does a sick man good to know that there is a balm in Gilead."

Mr. J. MARTIN, of Adrian, Mo., writes: "There is a vast difference in my condition to-day from what it was this time last year, thanks to your remedy."

Mr. E. R. WALLACE, President of the Merchants' & Planters' National Bank, Union, S. C., writes under the date of June 24, 1885: "I never knew a medicine to answer its purposes better than your Cold Air Inhaling Balm."

[NOTE.—The Cold Air Inhaling Balm is a portion of our treatment for Bronchial Catarrh, but is very useful to any one, as it will almost immediately break up a fresh cold in the head, and thus prevent seated catarrh.]

Mr. P. H. STEGMAN, of Brandon, Iowa, under date of April 7, 1885, writes: "I have recommended your treatment to quite a number, and they say they will give it a trial. You can refer any one to me, for I am satisfied with your treatment, and will be glad to recommend it to any one suffering with catarrh."

Mr. C. F. [illegible], of Mount Carroll, Ill., writes, March 12, 1885: "Your medicines for catarrh, if used according to directions, with perseverance, are a certain cure for that disgusting disease. I can cheerfully testify to the above."

Mr. H. N. YOUNG, of Chico, Cal., writes under date of January 24, 1885: "After having received your medicines, and finding them effectual in producing a cure in my case, I recommended them, and allowed other parties to have the use of them. In one case it cured an old man, and in the other a married woman."

Rev. F. BUENZ, of Floraville, Ill., writes: "It seems almost marvelous how rapidly my wife has gained, no more difficulty in breathing; very little coughing; and her case was one of very long standing. I shall recommend your Wonderful treatment whenever I find an opportunity."

THOMAS B. HAND, 174 East Fayette street, Baltimore, Md.
Mrs. H. T. MURRAY, 207 Linden Avenue, Baltimore.
Rev. G. W. HYDE, Annapolis, Md.
J. H. BULLARD, Springfield, Mass.
CHAS. E. BAKER, 65 Fremont street, Boston, Mass.
HARRY TRUESDELL, Rockdale Mills, Berkshire County, Mass.
ALONZO BENNETT, Jackson, Miss.
D. T. FRITTS, Niles, Berrien county, Mich.
SISTER CLARA, D. S. E, St. Cloud, Minn.
Rev. J. E. PETTIGREW, Raymond, Miss.
W. H. ALEXANDER, Pachuta, Jasper County, Miss.
J. P. JONES, Batown, Pretty Prairie, Miss.
L. L. CAREY, Anzonne, Calloway County, Mo.
W. P. HARMON, Calhoun, Mo.
J. BARKER, Loyalton, Plumas Co. County, Nevada.
J. A. PEATT, Deer Falls, Hyde Co. County, N. H.
J. J. HOLCOMB, Fair Haven, N. J.
WILLIAM H. KAIN, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
W. L. DAVIS, Mt. Georgia, Pitt County, N. C.
ABNER GRAHAM, Charlotte, N. C.
H. J. JONES, Lima, Ohio.
[illegible] FOOTE, 58 Clair street, Cleveland, O.
Mrs. J. P. HOUGH, Defiance, Ohio.
W. F. EVANS, Minerva, Stark County, Ohio.
C. W. CHASE, Columbus, Ohio.
S. F. BACON, Sr., Eugene, Lane County, Oregon.
J. K. SUPERFLY, Pottsville, Pa.
Rev. H. HEBISH, Hanover, York County, Pa.
J. A. BALTOZER, Morgana, Washington County, Pa.
T. A. WHEELER, 24 Meeting street, Charleston, S. C.
Rev. C. W. HALL, Shelbyville, Tenn.
Mrs. SANDELL, Willis, Montgomery County, Texas.
Mrs. A. D. FORTHAND, Centreville, Texas.
L. GALES, 3 Virginia street, Richmond, Va.
J. W. SANDERS, Rice Mile, Mason County, W. Va.
D. D. DEMAREES, Grand Rapids, Wood Co., Wis.
Rev. [illegible] HARRIS, Batson, Miss.
Rev. C. W. MITCHELL, Athens, Ga.
J. W. WELLS, Cherokee, Cherokee County, Ala.
JOHN COWBERY, Bellefonte, Ark.
Rev. [illegible] COOPER, Lake, La.
A. G. WESTON, St. James, Mo.
Mrs. A. C. BERTLE, Newberne, N. C.
J. H. DENMAN, West Huron, Ohio.
J. B. L. TARRELL, Gibson, Texas.

HOME TREATMENT. Childs' Treatment for Catarrh, and all diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs, can be taken at home with perfect ease and safety, by the patient. We especially desire to treat those who have tried other remedies without success. A full statement of method of home treatment and cost will be sent on application.

Address, REV. T. P. CHILDS, Troy, Ohio.

☞ Mention the New Orleans CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending January 4, 1887.)

COTTON.

Low ordinary	7 @	— —
Ordinary	7¼	— —
Good ordinary	8 5 16	— —
Low middling	8¾	— —
Middling	9 1-16	— —
Good middling	9 7 16	— —
Middling fair	9 15 16	— —
Fair	10¼	— —
Galveston middling	8 15-16	— —
Mobile middling	8 15-16	— —
St. Louis middling	9	— —

SUGAR.

Inferior	2	3
Common	3¼	3¾
Good common	— —	3¾
Fair	3¾	3¾
Good fair	3¾	— —
Fully fair	— —	— —
Prime	4⅛	— —
Strictly Prime	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —
Seconds	3¾	41
Choice yellow	— —	— —
Gray White	4⅛	5
Choice whites	— —	— —
Stan. Gran	5 11-16	— —

MOLASSES.

Syrup—Open Kettle	— —	— —
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	42	43
Choice	— —	45
Fancy	— —	47

RICE.

Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	4½	— —
Prime	3¾	4
Good	3¼	3½
Fair	3	3½
Ordinary	2½	2¾
Common	2½	2¾
No. 2	2¼	2½
Rough	2 00	3 00

FLOUR.

Minnesota bakers	4 62½	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12½
Extra fancy	— —	4 50
Winter wheat patents	— —	5 50
Choice	3 75	3 90
Fancy	4 10	4 25
Extra Fancy	4 37½	4 50

CORN PRODUCTS.

Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 30	2 35
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White	— —	47
Yellow	— —	49
Mixed	48	— —
OATS:
Western	38½	39
Texas rust-proof	50	52½
BRAN:
₩ cwt	5	8
HAY:
Choice	15 00	16 00
Prime	13 00	14 50

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess	13	— —
Prime mess	11 75	12 00
Rumps	10 75	11 00
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	10	10½
Shoulders	6	6½
Sides, long clear	— —	7½
Sides, short rib	— —	7½
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10½	11½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4 90	5 00
Sides, long clear	6⅜	6½
Sides, short rib	6⅜	6½

FISH.

MACKEREL:
Extra No. 1, in bbls.	— —	11 50
Half bbls	6 25	— —
No. 2, in bbls., large	— —	11 00
Half bbls	— —	5 90

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	15½
Fair	— —	14¾
Common	— —	12½
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	33	34
Western Dairy	— —	22
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6½	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12½	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	38	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	10 00	12 00
Louisiana, per crate	— —	— —
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 75	2 00
KROUT:
Western, ₩ bbl	4 50	5 50
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 75	3 00

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
1¾ lb, per yd	7¾	— —
2 lb	8½	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	10	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	1 00	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 50	5 00
Young Chickens	1 50	2 00
Chickens, South'n	2 50	3 00
Young	1 25	1 50
Turkeys, Southern	9 00	10 00
EGGS:
Western	22	23
Southern	— —	25
WOOL:
Lake, per lb	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₩ lb	— —	7½
Dry salted	— —	10½
STAVES:
Oak, kegs	— —	— —
Oak, barrels, 33 in	75 00	— —
Oak, claret, 40 in	100 00	110 00
Oak, hogsh'd, 48 in	180 00	185 00
HOOP POLES:
Hogshead, per 1000	38 00	— —
Barrels	18 00	— —
Half barrels	14 00	75
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, per ton	8 50	— —
Meal	— —	17 75
Pure ground bone	32 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1½	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. RIGGS & BRO., 240 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

DECEMBER 28.

It is officially announced that the meeting of Parliament has been postponed until February.——The Cabinet has agreed that Lord Hartington be asked to join a coalition ministry. The ministers are confident that Hartington will rally his whole powers in support of the government.——Gen. Boulanger, of the French Ministry, has consented to a reduction in the credit asked for the military from $40 000 000 to $10 000 000.——The Bulgarian delegates have arrived in London.——The New York World has organized a mid-winter exploring party to visit the Yellowstone National Park early in January.——President Cleveland suffers from chronic rheumatism, and has kept his bed for several days.——The court-house burners of Winn parish have been sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.——Two steamboats and several barges were destroyed by fire at Cairo this morning. The City of Natchez, of the Anchor Line, was one of the boats.——The funeral services of Gen. Lo su will be held in the Senate Chamber, Friday. Fifteen thousand dollars have been subscribed for the support of his widow.——The United States Local inspectors are investigating the burning of the steamer J. M. White.

DECEMBER 29.

Chamberlain says he will do his best to induce Hartington to accept office.——Lord Iddlesleigh received the Bulgarian deputation unofficially.——Hartington arrived in London this evening, looking robust and healthy.——The Post urges the ministry to provide some means by which Churchill can resume office.——Gladstone's seventy-seventh birthday brought him congratulations from all parts of the world.——The Vienna Press is convinced that Russia is determined to fight. 300,000 troops have been ordered to mass in Kieff. They say Austria has been left in the lurch by Bismarck, who has made peace with Russia.——It is said there will be no war between France and Germany, unless the latter provokes it.——The fund raised for the widow of Gen. Logan has reached $20 000, and is expected to reach $100,000 by the end of this week.——The strike on the Mobile and Ohio road is ended and trains running. The strikers will not be reinstated.——The President's condition is somewhat improved, though he is still lame.——Wittrock has confessed the Express robbery, and $10,000 has been recovered.——The North Louisiana Immigration Society has been organized and domiciled at Houghton, Bossier parish, La.——The steamer Bradish Johnson burned at Mobile, and several lives lost.

DECEMBER 30.

Lord Hartington has declined to become a member of the British Cabinet.——Hon. W. H. Smith, Secretary for War, will take Churchill's place as the leader of the Conservatives in the House of Commons.——Efforts to reconcile Churchill promise better results.——It is affirmed that Germany and Russia have signed an alliance. Diplomats consider Gen. Boulanger's actions as evidence that war is not far off.——Mr. Parnell is able to be at work again, being engaged several hours to-day in the office of the Nationalist party.——The contest for the New York Senatorship is going on hotly between Miller, Morton, and Hiscock.——The President's condition is somewhat improved.——Capt. Hardy, president of the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad Company, is canvassing the coast counties in the interest of his road.——Cluverius, the condemned murderer, is endeavoring to interest the members of the Virginia Legislature in his behalf.

DECEMBER 31.

It is semi-officially announced Right-Hon. Edward Stanhope will succeed Churchill as Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Earl of Carnarvon will take the office of Colonial Secretary. The other offices will remain unchanged. The breach between Salisbury and Churchill is widening. The Liberal-Unionists refuse to enter the Conservative Cabinet.——M. Goblet, Prime Minister of France, says the relations of France with other powers are excellent, and she desires nothing but peace. He does not believe war is imminent.——The Foreign Secretary of Britain gives no expression of views to the Bulgarian deputation.——It is said that Churchill's resignation has induced Austria to seek a closer alliance with Germany.——Gen. Logan was laid to rest with impressive ceremonies in Rock Creek Cemetery temporarily.——There was an earthquake shake felt in Columbia and Charleston to night.

JANUARY 1.

Emperor William to-day celebrated the eightieth anniversary of his entry into the army. It was a gala day in Berlin. The government organs deny that any special Russo-German alliance directed against Austria has been formed.——The British Cabinet is still at sea. Propositions have been made to Mr. Goschen to enter it. Chamberlain has made overtures to Gladstone for a reunion with the Liberal party.——Austria proposes to concentrate troops in Transylvania.——The President received 7,000 or 8,000 callers to-day.——The news from the drouth district of Texas is that 30,000 people in 21 counties are in need of the necessaries of life.——Mayor Hewitt, of New York City, was formally installed yesterday.——The river at Cairo is frozen solid.

JANUARY 2.

The British Cabinet is still unsettled. It is rumored that Mr. Goschen has been advised by Mr. Gladstone not to leave the Liberalists.——Pres. Grevy held his customary reception at the Elysee.——At Berlin a meeting was held protesting against the action of the majority in the Reichstag on the Army Bill. A number of socialists disturbed the meeting, several of whom were arrested.——The President's health continues to improve.——The Logan fund will be invested in four per. cent. registered bonds.——The Sunday Law was very generally regarded. Affidavits will be made against those who disregarded it.

"Prohibition," by Bishop C. B. Galloway.

A neat pamphlet of ninety pages, specially designed for circulation in Mississippi—a text-book for prohibitionists everywhere. Arguments strongly backed by facts and figures. Twenty-five cents per copy; $2 50 per dozen, postage prepaid.

CARVER & JAMIESON,
112 Camp Street, N. O., La.

Another Extraordinary Offer.

After this date we will include in our club arrangement the New York Weekly World, the price of which, including all postage, will be three dollars. This amount will entitle the subscriber to one copy of the "Worlds' History of the United States," post paid.

This history is on a new plan. It is the record of the events of our history in the order in which they happened. There are no moralizings, no opinions put forth, no criticisms offered in regard to anything. It is not a political record merely, but one of all sorts of facts that have contributed to make our history. Discoveries, inventions, financial and literary matters, are all noted. One merit of the work is, that it can not grow old. The date of an event, when once ascertained, is fixed for all time. The book has twenty-four very good illustrations. We regard it as a valuable book for every student.

Old and new subscribers are entitled to the premium. Subscribers who have already paid will receive the History and the Weekly World one year by sending one dollar. Cash to accompany all orders.

CARVER & JAMIESON,
Publishers.

DECEMBER 9, 1886.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Queen and Crescent Route.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTH-EASTERN R. R.

—Shortest and Quickest Line to—

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST, ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTH-EAST.

Time Table in effect December 31st, 1886.

Trains North B'd. Read Down.		Flag Stations marked thus†	Trains South B'd. Read Up.
No. 2.	No. 8.		No. 1.	No. 5.
10 40am	8 00pm	lv. N. Orleans. ar	3 10pm	7 35am
11 43am	9 16pm	....S toell....	2 00pm	6 28nm
11 57am	† 9 21pm	...Pearl River..†	1 47pm	6 14nm
12 12pm	† 9 30pm	....Nicholsann ..	1 32pm	5 57am
12 22pm	† 9 51pm	†....Mitchell....†	1 21pm	† 5 48am
12 39pm	†10 06pm	.... Highland	1 12pm	† 5 37am
1 07pm	10 30pm	.. Poplarville ..	12 34pm	5 00am
1 24pm	†10 51pm	.....Hillsdale.... †	12 17pm	† 4 45am
1 39pm	†11 05pm	.....Pidcom ..... †	12 01pm	† 4 30am
1 49pm	†11 14pm	.....Telownh.... †	11 52am	† 4 21am
2 02pm	11 25pm	.....Purvis	11 38am	4 09am
2 13pm	11 35pm	†... Okahola	11 27nm	† 4 00am
2 25pm	†11 45pm	†....Carrier.... †	11 16am	† 3 48am
2 00pm	11 59pm	...Hattiesburg...	11 00am	3 35nm
3 18pm	†12 14am	†..Estabuchee..†	10 48am	† 3 20am
3 26pm	12 24am	†...Tuscumbola...	10 36am	† 3 10am
3 48pm	12 42nm	.....Ellisville.....	10 17am	2 52am
4 01pm	12 57am	.....Laurel.....	10 03am	2 37am
4 17pm	† 1 15am	†..Sandersville †	9 45am	† 2 21am
4 32pm	1 30am	....Heidelberg	9 29am	2 05am
4 42pm	1 37am	....Vossburg.....	8 22am	1 58am
4 53pm	† 1 48am	†....Barnett....†	8 11nm	† 1 48am
5 00pm	† 1 55am	†....Pachula....†	8 03am	† 1 39am
5 20pm	2 18am	...Enterprise...	8 41am	1 19am
5 38pm	.....	.....Covington.....†	8 21nm	.....
6 05pm	3 00am	.... Meridian	8 00am	12 40am
10 30pm	7 45am	....Tuscaloosa....	3 47am	8 15am
12 40am	10 00am	...Birmingham...	1 40am	5 35pm
3 32am	1 05pm	... Attala.....	10 31pm	2 15pm
7 52am	5 55pm	..Chattanooga...	8 10pm	9 15am
1 28nm	1 45am	.....Somerset.....	12 50pm	2 27am
2 42pm	2 40am	...Junction City..	11 35am	1 55pm
4 15pm	4 00am	....Lexington....	10 22am	11 20am
6 42pm	6 40am	ar Cincinnati lv	7 55am	8 15pm

JOHN O. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup., Meridian.
H. COLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Passr. Agt., Cincinnati, O.
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Geo. Frt. and Passr. Agt., Cincinnati
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent 14 St. Charles St, New Orleans, La.

A. Baldwin, Pres. S. Katz, Vice Pres.

SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT

—OF THE—

New Orleans National Bank,

At the Close of Business Dec. 31, 1886.

RESOURCES.

Bills discounted		$ 1,109 743 14
Demand loans	$570 864 10
Overdrafts	5,819 00
U. S. 4 per cent. Bonds	207,650 00
Premiums on same	68,485 00
$150,000 N. O. Crossman bonds
$32,000 N.O. Consols 6 per ct certificates
$68,000 N. O. 6 per cent. railroad bonds		438,228 90
$125 000 Louisiana Consol
$16 000 Louisiana Consols coupons, No. 55
Currency and checks on other banks	391,474 00
New York sight exchange	277,011 63
Due from banks and bankers	18,311 23	2,263,118 84
5 per cent. fund with Comptroller of the Currency		9,000 00
Banking-house	$98,555 48
Furniture and fixtures	7,500 00	107,055 48
Total		$3,488,012 10

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$200,000 00
Surplus fund	400 000 00
Undivided profits $40,000
Less 5 per cent. dividend payable Jan. 3, 1887	10,000 00	$630,000 00
Dividends uncalled for		998 00
Dividends payable Jan. 3, 1887		10,000 00
Circulation outstanding		199,900 00
Deposits—Individual	$2,594,648 43
Due to banks and bankers	143,565 70	2,867,814 13
Total		$3,488,912 10

I certify the above to be a true and correct statement. WM. PALFREY, Cashier.

Correct—Attest:
JOHN H. HANNA,
SAM'L DELGADO.
WM. T. BENEDICT.

1887.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

AN ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE has been called "the model of what a periodical for young readers ought to be," and the justice of this commendation is amply sustained by the large circulation it has attained both at home and in Great Britain. This success has been reached by methods that must commend themselves to the judgment of parents, no less than to the tastes of children—namely, by an earnest and well sustained effort to provide the best and most attractive reading for young people at a low price. The illustrations are copious and of a conspicuously high standard of excellence.

An epitome of everything that is attractive and desirable in juvenile literature.—Boston Courier.

A weekly feast of good things to the boys and girls in every family which it visits.—Brooklyn Union.

It is wonderful in its wealth of picture, information, and interest.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

TERMS: Postage Prepaid, $1 50 Per Year.

Vol. VIII, commences November 2, 1886.

SINGLE NUMBERS, Five Cents each.

Remittances should be made by Postoffice Money Order or Draft, to avoid chance of loss.

Newspapers are not to copy this advertisement without the express order of HARPER & BROTHERS.

Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York

Quarterly Conferences.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

PENSACOLA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brewton and Pollard, at Brewton	Jan.	1, 2
Evergreen, at Evergreen		8, 9
Georgiana, at Wesley Chapel		15, 16
Monroeville, at Monroeville		22, 23
Monterey, at Liberty		29, 30
Gravalla, at Mt. Union	Feb	2
Milton		6, 8
Pensacola circuit, at Warrington		13
Pensacola station		12, 13
Repulga, at Asbury		19, 20
Powelton, at Powelton		25, 27
Douglassville, at Mt. Carmel	Mar.	5, 6
Stockton, at Stockton		12, 13
Repton, at Hickory Grove		19, 20
Bay Minette at New Hope		26, 27

W. M. MOTLEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

North Wilkinson, at Hopewell	Jan.	1, 2
Amite, at Salem		8, 9
Clinton, La		15, 16
Jackson, La		18, 19
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove		22, 23
Wilson and Centreville, at Wilson		29, 30
Pipkin	Feb.	5, 6
St. Helena, at Pipkin Chapel		12, 13
Amite City, at Amite City		18, 19
Springfield, at Ponchatoula		20, 21
Livingston, at Palmetto...(Wednesday)		23
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel..(Thursday)		24
Percy's Creek		26, 27
Woodville		27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar.	2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara		5, 6

District stewards meet in Wilson, January 29, 1887.

J. A. B. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Gibson	Jan.	1, 2
Rocky Springs		8, 9
Natchez, at Wesley Chapel		15, 16
Natchez, at Jefferson Street		16, 17
Washington		22, 23
Beachland		29, 30
Utica	Feb.	5, 6
Burtonton		7, 8
Vicksburg		12, 13
South Vicksburg		14, 15
Fayette		19, 20
Cane Ridge		26, 27
Anguilla	Mar.	5, 6
Mayersville		12, 16
Nebo		19, 29
Roxie		21, 22

W. L. G. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Waynesboro and State Line	Jan.	2, 3
Winchester, at Winchester		8, 9
Shubuta, at Shubuta		15, 16
Clark, at Andrew Chapel		23, 23
Sandersville, at Sandersville		29, 30
Vossburg, at Vossburg	Feb.	5, 6
Paulding, at Paulding		11, 13
West End, at West End		19, 20
Meridian station		21
Stonewall, at Chenaky		26, 27
Marion, at Marion	Mar.	5, 6
Lauderdale, at Lauderdale		12, 13
DeKalb, at DeKalb		19, 20
Binnsville, at Scooba		26, 27
Enterprise	Apr.	2, 3
Adamsville		9, 10

The district stewards will meet in Meridian, Tuesday, February 22, 1887, at eleven A. M.

R. H. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brandon station, at Brandon	31,	Jan. 1
Forest and Morton, at Morton		8, 9
Lake, at Lake		15, 16
Newton, at Hickory		22, 23
Fannin, at Pelahatchie		29, 30
Marvin, at Marvin	Feb.	5, 6
Shiloh, at Clear Creek		12, 13
Westville, at Westville		19, 20
Trenton, at Trenton		26, 27
Raleigh	Mar.	5, 6
Neshoba, at Hester's		12, 13
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove		19, 20
Carthage, at Carthage		26, 27
Hillsboro, at New Providence	Apr.	2, 3

The district stewards will meet at Forest, on Wednesday, January 28. Address me at Forest until further notice.

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Jan.	1, 2
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson		8, 9
Hazlehurst		15, 16
Brookhaven		22, 23
Summit, at Johnston		29, 30
Scotland, at Bethesda	Feb.	5, 6
McComb City, at Magnolia		12, 13
Bowerton, at Rehoboth		19, 20
Terry, at Bethesda		26, 27
Monticello, at Pleasant Grove	Mar.	5, 6
Holmesville, at Holmesville		12, 13
Franklinton, at Mt. Hermon		19, 20
Adams, at Adams		26, 27

The district stewards will meet in Brookhaven, Friday, January 21, 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	Jan.	1, 2
Poplarville, at Poplarville		8, 9
Flint Creek, at Garthwyn's		15, 16
Whitlington, at Colerville		22, 21
Vancleave, at Union		29, 30
American, at Cross Roads	Feb.	5, 6
Bethel, at Bethel		12, 13
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Moriah		19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia		26, 27
Seashore, at Long Beach	Mnr.	5, 6
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs		12, 13
Scranton, at Scranton		19, 20
Moss Point, at Moss Point		26, 27
Covington, at Covington	Apr.	2, 3
Pearlington, at Pearlington		9, 10

T. A. WEST, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Edwards, at Edwards	Jan.	1, 2
Raymond, at Bolton		8, 9
Benton, at Midway		15, 16
Silver Creek, at James'		22, 23
Mt. Olivet, at Shiloh		29, 30
Flora, at Flora	Feb.	5, 6
Spring Ridge, at Spring Ridge		12, 13
Camden, at Soule Chapel		19, 20
Madison, at Madison		26, 27
Yazoo City	Mar.	5, 6
Sharon, at Sharon		12, 13
Jackson		19, 20
Canton		20, 27

District stewards' meeting at Jackson, Tuesday, February 8, eleven A. M., in the lecture-room of our church.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Okolona station	Jan.	1, 2
Verona and Tupelo, at Verona		5
Shannon circuit, at Palmetto		8, 9
Richmond circuit, at Andrew's Chapel		15, 16
Saltillo circuit, at Shiloh		22, 21
Pontotoc circuit, at Pontotoc		29, 30
Buena Vista circuit, at Concord	Feb.	2
Houston and Westey, at Wesley		5, 6
Sparta circuit, at Palestine		12, 13
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer		16
Okalona circuit, at Blackwell's Chapel		19, 20
Prairie circuit, at Lebanon		23
Aberdeen station		28, 27
Caledonia, at Pleasant Grove	Mar.	2
Athena circuit, at Friendship		5, 6
Tremont circuit, at Mt. Pleasant		9
Fulton and Smithville, at Smithville		12, 13

The district stewards will please meet me at Okatoma, Friday, December 31, at one o'clock.

AMOS KENDALL, P. E.

GRENADA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Oxford station	Dec.	25, 26
Water Valley	Jan.	1, 2
Coffeeville circuit		8, 9
Grenada circuit		15, 16
Grenada station		17
Minter's Ily		22, 23
Sunday Shed and McNutt		24
Carrollton circuit		29, 30
Pittsboro circuit	Feb	5, 6
Ailautu circuit		8
Banner circuit		12, 13
Ladi circuit		19, 20
Sarepta circuit		26 27
Tocopola circuit	Mar.	1
Charleston circuit		5, 6
Abbeville		12, 13

The district stewards will please meet in Grenada, on January 17, at 2 o'clock P. M.

C. M. TERRY, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec.	25, 26
Tibbee, at Mayhew	Jan.	1, 2
West Point station		5, 6
Crawford, at Artesia		8, 9
Brooksville, at Brooksville		15, 16
Columbus circuit, at Andrew's Chapel		22, 23
Columbus station		23, 24
Macon station		29, 30
Sinquasiak, at Sinquasiak		30, 31
Starkville circuit, at Providence	Feb.	5, 6
Louisville, at Louisville		12, 13
Tampico, at Cedar Bluff		19, 20
Chester, at Ackerman		26, 27
Platsburg, at Kitbough Chapel	Mar.	5, 6
Sturges, at Sturges		12, 13
Hebron, at Cookesville		19, 20
Walthall, at North Union		26, 27
Salem, at Ridgeway	Apr.	2, 3
LaGrange, at Ebenezer		9, 10

The district stewards will please meet me in West Point, on Thursday, January 6, 1887.

R. G. PORTER, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Baldwyn, at Baldwyn	Jan.	1, 2
Booneville and Rienzi, at Booneville		8, 9
Corinth station		15, 16
Corinth circuit, at Box's Chapel		16
Inka circuit, at New Salem		20
Harmony circuit, at Harmony		21
Inka station		22, 21
Kossuth circuit, at Kossuth		29, 30
Marietta, at Hodge's Chapel	Feb.	5, 6
Blackland, at Plazah		12, 13
Pleasant Ridge, at Friendship		19, 20
Ripley and New Albany, at Ripley		20, 27
Ripley circuit, at New Hope	Mar.	2
Jonesboro', at Jonesboro'		5, 6
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon		12, 13

District stewards will please meet me at Corinth, January 15, at eleven A. M.

J. H. STONE, P. E.

WINGNA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Richland, at Pickens	Dec.	18, 19
Kosciusko station		25, 26
West, at West		31
Vaiden, at Vaiden	Jan.	1, 2
Ebenezer, at Centre Grove
Durant and Lexington, at Durant		8, 9
Carrollton and Greenwood, at Carrollton		13
Winona		15, 16
Black Hawk, at Black Hawk		21
Sidon, at Jordan's Chapel		22, 23
Winona circuit, at Salem		29, 30
Newport, at Bethel	Feb.	5, 6
Sallis, at Springdale		12, 13
McCool, at Bethel		19, 20
Ethel, at Liberty Chapel		23
Newtonville, at White Hall		26, 27
Zilpha, at Wesley Chapel	Mar.	5, 6
Belzona, at Belzona		12, 13

The district stewards will please meet at Durant, January 8, 1887. A full meeting desired.

R. P. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Batesville and Wesley	Dec.	18, 19
Sardis		15, 16
Como and Prednnis	Jan.	1, 2
Cockrum circuit		8, 9
Hernando and Cold Water		15, 16
Horn Lake circuit		22, 23
Lewisburg circuit		29, 30
Senatobia circuit	Feb.	5
Senatobia station		8, 7
Chulahoma circuit		12, 13
Mount Vernon circuit		19, 20
Pleasant Grove circuit		26, 27
Mastodon circuit	Mar.	5
Eureka circuit		5, 6
Panola circuit		13

The district stewards for the Sardis district, North Mississippi Conference, will please meet me at Senatobia, Miss., January 14, 1887.

S. M. THAMES, P. & S.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale	Dec.	19
Jonestown		26
Australia	Jan.	2
Cleveland		9
Fasonia		16
Lulon		23
Arcola		30
Concordia	Feb.	6
Mound Bayou		13
Bolivar		20
Friar's Point		27
Greenville	Mar.	6

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, March 5, 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. W. HONELL, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Holly Springs station	Dec.	25, 26
Byhalia and Victoria, at Byhalia	Jan.	1, 2
Holly Springs circuit, at Waterford		8, 8
Marshall, at Institute Church		15, 16
Early Grove, at Hudsonville		22, 23
Olive Branch, at Center Hill		29, 30
Snow Creek, at Ayers'	Feb.	5, 6
Pine Mountain, at Soule Chapel		12, 13
Ashland, at Ashland		19, 20
Hickory Flat, at Ebenezer		26, 27
Emory, at Emory	Mnr.	5, 6
Cornersville, at Bethlehem		12, 13
Shelby Creek, at Bethel		19, 20

District stewards' meeting at Holly Springs, Tuesday, January 4, 1887, at twelve o'clock.

JNO. BANCROFT, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., New York

This New Year

Finds us (as forty or more new years past have found us) still in the front and at the front of the music publishing business. We offer some

Choice Music Books, among which are to be found the following, which teachers, amateurs and others will do well to examine:

SONG CLASSICS—By Rubenstein, Gounod, Lassen, Jensen, Grieg and others. Price $1 00. A gold-mine collection of classic vocal music. A large book, sheet music size, beautifully printed and bound, and contains about 50 carefully selected songs, suitable for all kinds of voices. Many of the songs are favorites on the programs of the best concerts. The music is not difficult.

Young People's Illustrated History of Music.—By J. C. MACY. Price $1 00. Containing short biographies of famous musicians, and a pleasant and interesting history of music from the earliest days to the present time. All persons, young or old, will enjoy the book. Portraits accompany the sketches.

Young People's Classics for the Piano, $1. Very popular collection of the best music in easy arrangements.

Piano Classics is a great favorite with good players. Price $1.

The Royal Singer—By L. O. EMERSON. Sixty cents. New singing School and Choir Book.

Send for our Catalogue of Music Books.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & Co., 867 Broadway, New York.

CUSHING'S MANUAL

OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE,

Revised by HON. EDMUND L. CUSHING.

The standard authority in all the United States. An indispensable Handbook for every member of a deliberative body. Price 75c. For sale by booksellers. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Address the Publishers.

THOMPSON, BROWN & CO., Boston, Mass.

$65 A MONTH & BOARD for 3 live Young Men or Ladies in each county. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia.

KNABE

PIANOFORTES.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

WILLIAM KNABE & CO.

Nos. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore. No.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 2. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 13, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1589.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Subscription, - - - $2 per annum.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers half price.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorised Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. WERLEIN,
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KERNER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

THE LOVE OF GOD.

BY SAXE HOLM.

Like a cradle rocking, rocking,
Silent, peaceful, to and fro,
Like a mother's sweet looks dropping
On the little face below,
Hangs the green earth, swinging, turning,
Jarless, noiseless, safe and slow,
Falls the light of God's face bending
Down and watching us below.

And as feeble babes that suffer,
Toss and cry, and will not rest,
Ask the ones the tender mother
Holds the closest, loves the best;
So when we are weak and wretched,
By our sins weighed down, distressed,
Then it is that God's great patience
Holds us closest, loves us best.

O great heart of God! whose loving
Can not hindered be or crossed;
Will not weary, will not even
In our death itself be lost—
Love divinal of such great loving,
Only mothers know the cost—
Cost of love, which all love passing,
Gave a Son to save the lost.

In Memoriam.

REV. WM. SPILLMAN, M. D.

At Mathewsville, Miss., December 11, 1886, Dr. Wm. Spillman, of the Mississippi Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died from injuries received by a fall down a flight of steps. He passed away from us in the eighty-first year of his age. I know but little of his early life. He practiced medicine in Columbus, Miss., for twenty-five years. He entered the Alabama Conference in 1859; was a traveling preacher over twenty-five years. He was quite old when he was placed on the superannuated list. Rev. Geo. Shaeffer was the presiding elder that presented his recommendation for admittance to the Conference. The recommendation was not heartily supported by the presiding elder, for he feared that he could not be more useful in the traveling connection than he was at home as a physician.

Dr. Spillman was, perhaps, more skilled as a theologian than attractive as a preacher. He seemed clearly to comprehend those nice distinctions where there are slight differences in obscure points in theology. His enquiring mind sought information in various fields; he paid much attention to botany, was skilled in conchology; knew, perhaps, more about shells than any man in the State. Many of the fresh-water shells described in the publications of the Academy of National Sciences, Philadelphia, have "Spillmani," as a part of their names, in honor of their discoverer. He was a member of the Academy of National Sciences, and after the death of Bishop Paine, one of the only two members left in this State. He was a geologist—and, of course, must needs know something of paleontology. One of the most wonderful things exhibited at the great Cotton Centennial and World's Fair in New Orleans was the petrified bones of that great whale-like monster—the Zueglidon Cetorides. The animal must have been at least one hundred feet long. This skeleton was put there by Dr. Spillman. It was a recent discovery of his in this State.

He had a strong, clear, unvarying faith in God; he saw nothing amid the rocks that tended to controvert the teachings of God's holy word. He had that purity of heart that enabled him to see God everywhere. He traced his handwriting on the pebbly shore or shining strand; he saw the touch of his finger amid granite bowlders as well as on the beauteous flowers that decked the rugged mountain sides. My associations with him were intimate and pleasant. We have walked together up and down the muddy shores of the rivers and branches, seeking the remains of the pre-historic life. We have gone together, lamp in hand, down into the earth, and for hours moved through the weird windings of the cave. But now he has gone to far higher scenes. With increased powers he is in wider fields. He may now move up and down that pure river of water of life, clear as crystal, proceeding out of the throne of God and the Lamb, and its banks teeming with everlasting life. He is in that city that needeth not the light of sun nor moon, for the glory of God doth lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.

Dr. Spillman once led a pic-nic party into a large, deep, dry chamber in a cave that he discovered and first explored. They were let down by a windlass through a sort of natural shaft for, perhaps, sixty feet to the entrance of the chamber; then ninety feet more from its ceiling to its floor. This chamber was nearly one hundred feet in circumference. The stalactites from its ceiling were nearly transparent, looking like icicles of glass. The floor was covered with bright stalagmites. In the center was an elevated table-like rock some three feet high, four feet broad and eight feet long. On this the snowy linen was spread, and the repast laid. A box of candles was opened, and a hundred stalagmites served as candlesticks. The little party stood around the table. Dr. Spillman said: "Sing 'Praise God from whom all blessings flow.'" And as the notes of Old Hundred reverberated from wall to wall, and floor to ceiling, and adown the corridors that entered into that blazing, buried crystal palace, his soul, he said, was never so stirred with song before, nor would be again, until he heard the new song that the hundred and forty and four thousand that were redeemed from earth sang, and none others could learn. And the glittering splendors before his eyes were such as he never saw before, nor would again, until he should see the King on the throne of his glory, surrounded by the redeemed in white robes, wearing their golden crowns. This, the most brilliant natural scene in his passage through this dreary world, is as nothing compared to the splendors by which he is now surrounded. As he was ever faithful to his duty in the present life, he is now wearing the crown of glory in eternal life, enjoying the rich reward purchased by redeeming blood.

T. S. WEST.

How It Is Done.

MR. EDITOR: As I have worked out in my own experience Bro. Hunnicutt's problem of how a Methodist itinerant supports a family on $150 or $500, and makes both ends meet, I herewith send the solution.

In the first place he does not do it on $150 (though it is possible to do it on $500), for he is not an Elijah, nor does the Lord send ravens to feed him. The average salary on Seashore district is about $340. The heroic itinerant supplements his meager salary by laboring with his own hands when he should be engaged in preparing for the pulpit or attending to his pastoral work. The wife also bears her part; besides doing the cooking, sewing and house work for the family, she either teaches from five to six hours a day, or sits at the machine making calico dresses for seventy-five cents apiece. And many a preacher's wife patiently turns, washes and returns her only Sunday-go-to-meeting outfit, in order that husband may go to Conference dressed as a minister of the gospel instead of as a farm laborer. But on his return from Conference this nice suit is carefully brushed and put away, and only taken out on Saturday nights preparatory to pulpit service on Sunday.

Upon looking over the minutes of the Mississippi Conference for 1886, I find of the charges and circuits on the Jackson district, paying less than $500, three have parsonages, only one of which is valued as high as $250. On Brandon district of eleven appointments, paying less than $500, with a parsonage. Four of these parsonages are valued at less than $260. On Seashore district there are five such appointments, with three such parsonages.

Now, Mr. Editor, do you not see that the first thing a preacher has to do at such a parsonage is to mount a ladder and climb to the roof with his arms full of shingles and his pockets full of nails and hammer in hand; for, though we be Methodists, we do not believe in too much sprinkling. The fence is down and must be put up, and other things set to rights; so when the preacher goes back to Conference that $100 parsonage is increased in value $50 or $60, and his purse lightened of that amount. But then his crop or garden truck and wife's salary have enabled him to make both ends meet, and to rest one week and bleach his hands for Conference.

Now, Bro. Hunnicutt, don't you make the people believe that a Methodist itinerant can support a family and make both ends meet on a salary of $150. If you do, his stewards will be saying, "We have had several hard freezes this year, land will produce well and good crops will be made, so as Bro. B. got through last year on $150, we will assess the church for his support $100 this year."

A PREACHER'S WIFE.

JANUARY 1, 1887.

About Prohibition.

MR. EDITOR: It occurs to my mind that the war against the use of tobacco at this time is premature, especially that part of it which encourages a prohibition of it by church law. I suppose that no sane mind doubts the extravagance and intemperance connected with the use of tobacco; and when so used becomes an evil, and is a proper subject for pulpit correction. But the propriety of a law totally forbidding its use I very much question.

In all important reforms the greater evils are disposed of first, and when one evil is taken in hand the ringing in of lesser evils only prolongs the day of its suppression. The great evil, and one, too, forbidden in the word of God, is the use of ardent spirits. Let us throw all of our energies against this that the day of deliverance may speedily come. I do not believe any man living can take the Bible and prove the use of tobacco to be a sin. I know you can talk of the impropriety, indecency, etc., of the tobacco habit; but, after all, these are not Bible reasons straight out. Paul says (I Corinthians viii, 13): "Wherefore if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend." These things are matters to be regulated by one's own conscience and the finer feelings of Christian propriety, and not by law—the law of coercion. Some people seize a thing like this that they may go sweeping down the pages of history as the father of some greater reform. But I would rather be an unknown worker against the evil that turns men crazy and sends them to hell than father forty questions not of morality, but of mere decency or taste.

Let the East Pennsylvania Conference prohibit smoking and chewing if they wish, which I suppose they will; but I hope here, in the Sunny South, the war will still be waged against known sins, and that our preachers will not lose time on so nothing that is undefined and indefinable in the sphere of morals.

I do not write, Mr. Editor, for the sake of appearing in print. I fear, sir, a check of the army's tread which is to dethrone a king who breaks the hearts of mothers and sends their sons reeling into the grave. Neither do I write to awaken a newspaper discussion. If I felt myself competent, the building of a church, lifting debt on a parsonage, encouraging Christians, and warning sinners—all would forbid. You see my hands are full, more than full.

Yours in Christ,

D. M. CODDELL.

WIER, Miss., Jan. 7, 1887.

Some Important Questions.

BY OKO. S. MOTT, D. D.

Three questions of an economic and social character are now confronting the nation—the labor question, the liquor question, and the Sabbath. Each of these bears a vital relation to the welfare of the individual, and to the prosperity of society. And they are interrelated. Labor and liquor, when unrestrained by law, array themselves against the Sabbath. The Sabbath is all the time the poor man's friend. It shields labor from exactions. One day in seven it removes the temptation to drunkenness. It is for that one day a prohibitory enactment. And so as labor and liquor become live questions of the hour, the Sabbath must necessarily take its place by their side. And the more deeply these vexing questions are pondered, the more clearly will it be seen that the Sabbath can not be ignored. The minds of workingmen must soon be turned to consider what shall Sunday be to us; and what are our rights therein. And then one of their axioms will be that every man has an inalienable right to the rest of one day in seven, and to the opportunity to worship God. Mr. Powderly has already arrayed himself against the liquor saloon. He will not permit any vender of liquor to become a member of the Knights of Labor. I believe he will soon recognize the importance of Sunday, and will see that their work is incomplete until labor has a Sabbath.

Labor has many injudicious friends, and none of them advocate more suicidal measures than do those who seek to have museums and places of amusement opened on the Sabbath. And it is a most significant fact that laboring men do not ask this privilege. In England, where this question has been agitated, workingmen have pronounced against the opening. A Congress of British Trades Unions was held in 1885, at which a resolution was passed declaring: "In the opinion of the Congress, it is undesirable to augment Sunday labor by opening the national museums and galleries." In the same country, in 1882, there was a vote among workingmen's societies upon this measure, and 45,482 members voted in favor of the Sunday opening, while 501 705 members were represented against it. Increasingly in this country will the toilers begin to understand that the Sunday question is most pertinent to them, that the much sneered at Puritanical Sabbath was a greater blessing to them than they ever supposed. And I believe that after the questions of wages and hours, and the privileges of trades unions are settled, speedily workmen will turn their attention to the amount of labor that shall be required of them on Sunday. Indeed already this feature of their rights is showing itself.

In Philadelphia there is an Association of Carriage Drivers. Recently a committee of them came to the secretary of the Philadelphia Sabbath Association and stated their grievance in words like these: "We are employed during the six regular working days of the week. Often also we are compelled to drive late at night. In addition Sunday is often our busiest day. Carriages are in demand for funerals and for pleasure riding, so that we have no time to be with our families. We love our wives and children, but we scarcely have time to see them. What can your association do to relieve us, for this burden has become intolerable?" The secretary advised them to call upon Archbishop Ryan, of the Roman Catholic Church. They did so; he assured them that he would do all in his power to discontinue funerals on Sunday.

The laborer needs the Sabbath for himself as well as for his family. And the employer loses to the extent that his men misspend that day. At the meeting in Ocean Grove, Hon. George J. Ferry, a large manufacturer of New Jersey, remarked that he was in favor of the half Saturday holiday, while paying the men for the whole day, so as to give them an opportunity for recreation without infringing upon the Sabbath. He had found that it took the men all day on Monday to get over the carousals and fatigue of Sunday. He believed it would be a gain to the manufacturer to pay six days' wages for five and a half days' work, if thereby the men would rest on Sunday, for then they would more than make up that half day by better work on Monday and Tuesday.

The men on the railroads, both street and steam, will soon wake up to demand the day for themselves, and the directors will understand the positive loss incurred by requiring seven days' work in a week. It has appeared in print in a reliable manner, that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has been trying an experiment for four months in this very direction. At eight o'clock Saturday evening every freight train (except those carrying perishable material) stops and moves not again until Sunday at midnight. The result has been so satisfactory, that the Board proposes to make this a rule of the road. For it has been found that the men come to their work on Monday with more vigor, also that more freight is moved during the six days than formerly in seven, and that fewer accidents have occurred. Would that this example might be followed by all railroads in our land!

And now as a practical question let us all inquire whether we can not lessen the amount of work we require of others on the Sabbath? In our departure from the old New England strictness, and on account of the gradual increasing of modern conveniences, and supposed necessities, have we not become unmindful of the claims of others upon us to give them their share of Sunday? Even Christians have been thoughtless on this matter. Take one little luxury—ice-cream at Sunday dinner. Have we ever considered how many must be deprived of a part of the day that we may have that desert? And those who thus serve, desire the day for themselves, and those who are served can just as well have ice-cream six days in the week. A large part of the increasing violation of the Sabbath rest lies upon the very class who have been educated in better ways. They are requiring services of confectioners, coachmen and servants which could be dispensed with or greatly reduced. Their requirements make it difficult for a conscientious person to serve them and keep the Sabbath. Sometimes they threaten to remove their patronage unless they get what they want on Sunday. A correct Sabbath sentiment is greatly needed. Shall the saloon and self-indulgence, or the sanctuary rule the Sabbath? The man is now living (or was recently) who was mainly instrumental in securing the first running of the street car on the Sabbath. His motive was to accommodate those who, living in the suburbs of Boston, desired to attend church in that city. In other words, it was to accommodate church members. He did not suspect the dimensions which this measure would assume. He sees it now, and it is the unavailing regret of his last days. He mourns in bitterness what he has done. It is better to be strict than lax in the observance of the Lord's day.—Christian at Work.

Current Coins.

(Western Christian Advocate.)

The master books are cosmopolitan. So far from being confined in their adaptations and influence to the particular localities where they were produced, they have the freedom of the world, through which their light, as from another sun, becomes diffused. Often are they, like the greatest men, very simple in their style and mode of putting truth, affording access to the plainest people. Among books they are what Socrates, Franklin, or, to use the supreme name, Jesus Christ, was among men—familiar, well known on the street and in the market-place. Beware lest "the very familiarity which their mighty fame has bred in us" blind our eyes and make us indifferent to the kingly qualities they possess. The imperial book is oftener found, in plain garb and well worn, in the cottage than in the palace. The true prophet often comes in home-spun or with a leathern girdle, rather than in silk and purple.

(Zion's Herald.)

Old sins are usually the first tempters of "babes in Christ." Simon the sorcerer was covetous of gain and vain of the praises which his jugglery won from the public. After embracing the faith, he saw in Peter's power to impart the gift of the Holy Ghost a means of making much money and winning the admiration of the people. Then his old vile passions revived, and he sought to buy the coveted endowment, thus putting himself in imminent peril of damnation. The record of his crime is a beacon to every new convert, warning him to be specially watchful of the sins which gave character to his former life. The reigning sins of the man unrenewed are apt to become the easily-besetting sins of the man in Christ. See to it, therefore, O new convert, that thy regeneration reaches not only to the mortification of thy old sins, but also to their utter extermination.

(Pulpit Treasury.)

No church can truly prosper that does not aim to make advances upon the world both at home and abroad. This is the main object of its existence, and when it ceases to keep this in view it becomes stagnant, breeds internal strife and external obloquy. But how to be most effectively aggressive must be gained by experience and by varied readjustments of the methods pursued. One church will be most successful in working on a certain line of effort, and another will accomplish more while pursuing a line running in a different direction. But each should study its own agency and its own field, and adapt its methods to its means and to the character of its sphere. In this way its means will be economized, its experience will be valuable and the results will be most satisfactory. There should be, however, a determination to be aggressive in some way; for in this only, lies safety, success and the plaudit of the Master.

(Christian at Work.)

We are not at all sure that the mere study of science leads to reverence, much less to piety, unless these qualities are already implanted in the soul. But when they are so planted there is no doubt of the effect of such studies whatever, as Prof. A. A. Hodge testifies in the following incident: "When a boy in Princeton College, it was my inestimable privilege to be the pupil assistant of Prof. Joseph Henry, the illustrious Christian scientist, in his original experiments. When for the first time electric signals were sent from point to point, the earth itself being used for the return current, Prof. Henry put me at one end of the circuit, while he stood directing the experiments at the other. I can well remember the wonderful care with which he arranged all his principal experiments; when he approached the solution the experiment was repeated and repeated over and over again, and all its variable conditions altered and recombined in every form. Then often, when the feeling moment came, that good man and wise philosopher would raise his hand in adoring reverence, and call upon me to uncover my head and worship in silence, 'Because,' he said, 'God is here. I am about to ask God a question.'"

(Pittsburg Christian Advocate.)

It is a great error to suppose that we are doing the Lord's work only when we are engaged in devotional exercises, or laboring for the conversion of sinners, or for the edification of Christians. That which a man does heartily, as unto the Lord, is the Lord's work. The farmer, when he is carefully and wisely cultivating the soil, is doing the Lord's work. Plowing is as truly a religious act as praying. The merchant, when he makes an honest exchange, is doing the Lord's work. Dealing justly is as truly a religious act as warning sinners to flee from the wrath to come.

A man is doing God's work when he is doing that which pleases God. A man is doing the Lord's work when he is faithful to his employer—does a fair day's work; when he takes proper care of his health; when he governs his temper; when he is careful to speak the exact truth; when he is courteous to strangers, and lends a helping hand to the needy; when he has a word of encouragement for the despairing; when he sets an example of industry and honesty; when he returns good for evil; when he leads such an upright, benevolent, God-honoring life, that men take knowledge of him that he has been with Jesus.

(Congregationalist.)

The cases of two or three men in a country parish were incidentally mentioned the other day—men of position and character, who in their boyhood regularly attended church and the Sabbath-school, but who have not for many years been inside of a sanctuary. Of course they have done wrong, but is it no one else in fault? When they began to discontinue church-going, did anyone endeavor to get them on the right track again? And now, does minister, or, better yet, some lay member of the church, their neighbor, their business acquaintance, make judicious effort to influence them to come to the house of God on the Sabbath days? They know they ought to go, would perhaps like to do so, but they have got into the habit of not going, and it is awkward to change it, without some special reason. See that they are provided with a special reason! It is sadly surprising sometimes to know how, as though by common consent, everybody neglected such families. A kindly invitation is a great power. "Compel them to come in!"

OBEDIENCE.—It is not a good sign of the times that obedience has become an offensive word. There have always been rebellious spirits that resist authority and refuse to accept responsibilities not of their own choosing. But that the people of no very remote period considered obedience one of the chief virtues we all know. There is no one of the Commandments that a generation or two ago seemed to so commend itself to the general judgment of intelligent minds as that which imposed honor to parents. But even this appears to have lost its hold upon the conscience, and children take occasion to make it appear that they are not under the domination of such old-fashioned notions. But have we gained anything by these new liberties on which men pride themselves as if they were the most valuable of all possessions? How are we to maintain the family and civil relations if personal independence is to be accounted the first virtue? The influence of these ideas are felt in the religious world, and even those who profess faith in Christ have lost the old-time deference for authority. We shall yet have to retrace our steps, and learn that obedience, such as the highest interest of society and the service of Christ demand, is an ennobling quality which lifts men into the highest experiences of true freedom.—Central Christian Advocate.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 13, 1887.

For the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

SILENT SONGS.

BY SUSIE WILLIAM KILBOURN.

The heart, with pastures filled and fertile deep
Is like the stream whose quiet, even flow
Can not reveal the wondrous wealth below.
But still its lowly silent way must keep;
While broods that from their little hidden deep
That dancing, laughing, gleaming sparkle so
That pause wherever the daisies grow below,
Their need of loving praise and simple cheap

Unsought, rare treasures in the cool spill the
The hoarded wealth of joyous love and faith
And, as they flow beneath the changing sky
These great streams chant their wordless low refrain
Unheard, or heard by Him to whom belongs
An ear attuned to catch these silent songs.

CLINTON, Louisiana.

Mississippi Conference Reports.

TEMPERANCE.

The subject of temperance is very rapidly assuming the far better form of prohibition. The churches—all the churches—are taking the lead, and the people, in almost solid masses, are most marvelously waking up to this subject in all parts of the country. Such changes in public sentiment were scarcely ever before known. Under the local option law enacted by the last Legislature of Mississippi the most favorable results have followed—results not anticipated or scarcely hoped for by the most hopeful. Prohibition is now legally and, we presume, solidly planted in about one-third of the State, and practically, in several different ways, it is about as well planted in about one half of the other two-thirds. People are seeing the favorable effects of prohibition and are fast rallying to its support.

Resolved, That it is the duty of every pastor of this Conference to preach in favor of prohibition in the ensuing year, and otherwise, by all means within his reach, to make this doctrine popular; and that it is also the duty of all other preachers, by all suitable means, by preaching and precept, to give encouragement to popular prohibition.

Resolved, That we regard the use of social wines or other intoxicants in families or among visitors, the signing of whisky petitions, renting property for whisky purposes, or otherwise giving assent to whisky in any shape, as contrary to Scripture precept, injurious to the church, and damaging to personal Christianity.

Resolved, That, in a country like this, where unfermented wine may be readily procured, there is no necessity for the use of intoxicating liquor in the celebration of the Lord's Supper. And that such use, or any other, of intoxicating liquor, ought to be forever discontinued.

Resolved, That we have the highest appreciation of the labors in this behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and attribute much of the increase of temperance within our Conference to those labors.

In behalf of the committee,

R. ARUEY.

STATE OF THE CHURCH.

Your committee submit the following as their report:

The general interests of our church are steadily advancing in all our borders. Our people are manifesting a commendable zeal in the building and improvement of church edifices and parsonages, and increasing interest in the support of the institutions of the church. There have been many gracious revivals in our bounds during the past year. Many souls have been converted and added to the church. The net increase of our membership, according to statistics reported, is 2,494. There has also been an increase of 28 Sunday-schools, 225 officers and teachers, and 1,809 scholars, while the baptisms are 863 in excess of what they were last year. Still we feel constrained to say that, as a church, we are not doing all we ought to do in the great work whereunto we are called. Our people, in many places, need to be instructed, exhorted and trained in the duty of worshiping God with their substance. Our church literature should be more generally circulated among our members. Our ministers should be more thoroughly consecrated, and more diligent in their pastoral oversight of the flocks committed to their care. We believe a glorious future awaits us if we will but be faithful to our trusts. The field is white unto the harvest, and the great Head of the church is with us. Let us press forward in the work of the Lord with ever-increasing zeal.

Respectfully submitted.

W. B. LEWIS, Chairman.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE.

To the Mississippi Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South—

DEAR BRETHREN: During the past summer Dr. H. F. Johnson, president of Whitworth Female College, was called to a higher life. His labor of love was brought, as we thought, to an abrupt termination; and while the monumental evidence of his benevolence, heroism and self-sacrifice remains in the costly, well equipped buildings that ornament the college grounds, the spirit which controlled and directed the enterprise, and the lordly will that grappled with and overcame difficulties apparently insurmountable, are beyond the mandate of your presiding officer. Dr. Johnson illustrated, in a commanding degree, the highest adaptation to the special work intrusted to his untrammelled control. To a well-cultured mind he added the courage, persistence, devotion and prudence requisite in one who undertakes the high calling of educator. He was without a peer, generous, just; and his works remain to bless the generations who are to follow him. The death of such a man, in such a place, was peculiarly distressing. It looked as if the grand institution, which had grown under his management to be the best female college of the Southwest, must be surrendered. The trustees were called together to consider the matter, consultations were had, efforts were made to secure a successor of Dr. Johnson, without effect, and we had almost given up in despair when Prof. L. T. Fitzhugh, of the University, consented to take charge of the college, under a contract for ten years offered him by the Board of Trustees, and has been in office as president ever since the beginning of the present session. Our comforting assurance of the past has again blessed us. Verily, "God takes away his workmen, but carries on his work." President Fitzhugh is the right man in the right place. The church has loyally rallied to his support, the patrons of the college have exhibited the highest satisfaction, the reputation of the school is extending daily, the students are devoted to him and his associates, and we are strengthened in the conviction that the growth of the institution will, in the near future, be unprecedented. We do not think your college could be in better hands, or more faithfully administered, and, therefore, respectfully request that our action be approved.

We found that the Brown House and lots on which it stands belong to Mrs. Johnson, as devisee of her late husband; that the school furniture, heating apparatus in the institute, pianos and other articles of property also belong to her, and that the paraphernalia of the boarding department and the heating apparatus in the Margaret Hall belong to Mrs. Kidd. Unless all these things become the property of the church, there is always a possibility of friction in the conduct of affairs. We think the Conference ought to have an agent in the field for the purpose of securing the funds necessary to place the church in full possession of the institution and all its appurtenances. We found also that, in his efforts to complete the purpose of his life, Dr. Johnson came under certain scholarship obligations to a few of his patrons, and these must be provided for. He enthusiastically dedicated his accumulations as a centenary gift to the church, insomuch that the insurance on his life has, in large part, gone to pay debts contracted for the building of the institute. The church can not disregard its obligation to him and his noble widow. Mrs. Johnson has met our highest expectations in her self-sacrificing devotion to the college. Fixed in her purpose to leave nothing undone to accomplish, to the full, her late husband's mission, she offered to donate to us the Brown House and grounds. We can not honorably accept this uncompensated gift. The trustees have provided, in their arrangement with Prof. Fitzhugh, for the purchase of the Brown House and school furniture in the institute, should the patronage of the school warrant; but this source of income is not always certain, and the money for the payment ought to be raised by the church during the coming Conference year. Certainly there are enough Methodists in the Mississippi Conference to justify us in the hope that this can be accomplished. This done, it is not doubtful that an annuity can be provided for Mrs. Johnson out of the income of the college, and we confidently look forward to this sacred consummation.

We think the name of the college should be changed. The name of the original founder should be retained and that of Dr. Johnson added. We respectfully request that we have authority to apply to the next Legislature to change our corporate name to that of "The Johnson-Whitworth College." In our deliberation as to a proper person for a canvassing agent, it has occurred to us that the Rev. W. B. Murrah would undertake the task for us. With his appointment or selection for that duty, the approval of our action heretofore taken, and the continued and continuing support of our brethren, we have no doubt as to the future success of the college. President Fitzhugh will be in attendance on the Conference, and can and will cheerfully acquaint you with the present condition of the college and its future prospects. We bespeak for him your considerate attention, and beg that, as in the past, the Mississippi Conference will give forth no uncertain and hesitating utterances when the interests of female education are involved. Let us take courage, and, invoking the blessings of the Master on our labors of love, go on to still higher and nobler achievements. Gathering lessons of hope, of confidence and of inspiration from the history of our lamented brother and leader, let us not hesitate to project enterprises of moment because of our limited and disheartening environments. We can not doubt that an era of unusual development is upon us. Let us mount the crest of the incoming tide and reach the harbor of an assured and triumphant result. Give us educated, Christian womanhood, and a higher type of manhood in the succeeding generation inevitably results.

W. L. NUGENT,
For the Board of Trustees.

"God giveth grace to the humble." He pours it out plentifully on humble hearts. His sweet dews and showers slide off the mountains, and fall on the low valley of humble hearts, and make them pleasant and fertile.—Leighton.

Miss Dora Rankin.

(Memoir read by Mrs. T. B. Hoboman.)

Since the days when Miriam joined in the triumphal song of Israel, and Deborah led the hosts to successful battle, there have not been wanting noble women to dare and do for the cause of God. Especially since the coming of him who was "made of a woman," do we find consecrated womanhood drawn out more and more in the work of building up the waste places of the earth and sending the gospel of light and liberty to those who "sit in darkness and in the region of the shadow of death." In compliance with the request of the women of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the General Conference of 1878 granted them the privilege of organizing the "Woman's Board of Missions." The second missionary sent to a foreign field by this Board was our lamented Miss Dora Rankin. Resigning her engagement with the Indian Mission, in company with Rev. C. F. Reid and wife, of the Kentucky Conference, she landed at Shanghai, China, October, 1879. Being assigned by the superintendent of the mission to Nantsiang, she went immediately to join her sister in the work at that place. For three months she applied herself exclusively to the study of the Chinese language, which henceforth she was to use in teaching the love of Christ to dying men. On the opening of Pleasant College, in March, 1880, she took charge of the English department, filling the complex position of servant, teacher and mother. In her own language we give her daily experience in this department:

Our greatest difficulty lay in not knowing just how to deal with Chinese children. Think of a child of seven crying for four consecutive hours with her voice raised to high C, and all just because the cook did not give her the first bowl of rice! At this time my room adjourned their sleeping-room, and my nights were anything but quiet and restful. I was aroused at all hours by some one crying, sometimes from fear and sometimes from the exasperating pleasure of having me come into the room, and then the guilty one feigned sleep and left me to feel myself the victim of a practical joke. At daylight they began to stir, and I had to be present to "comb heads," dress those who were too small to dress themselves and keep the most combative dispositioned from coming to blows. Their toilets completed, breakfast was to be gotten through with. The trying ordeal of keeping order and inhaling the sweet odors from the visands while they were eating at last being over, we had prayers and opened school (the Chinese teacher in charge), and were at liberty to go to our breakfast and for the first time since early morn breathe the pure air, and prepare for the day's duties truly not yet begun.

But this field was too restricted for her enterprising spirit. The perishing thousands around her wrapped in the hopeless night of ignorance and superstition stirred her womanly heart to pity and aroused a more earnest endeavor, which found expression in new and broader plans for their salvation. In January, 1881, she opened a girl's day-school. Since this time she has devoted herself to the superintendency of day-schools entirely. In the spring of 1885, the failing health of her sister, Miss Lochie, necessitated a return to America. During the six months of her absence, Miss Dora was left in charge of all the work, often demanding of her sixteen hours' daily labor. It is no wonder that she writes, "I feel the burden of care and anxiety almost too heavy to be borne." The damp, hot climate told fearfully upon her system and prostrated her annually with a lingering fever. Yet she chose to suffer all this for Christ. Exhausted by six years' labor, in the spring of 1886 she made a visit to her parental home in America, in the town of Milan, Tenn. Refreshed by six months of rest and recuperation among loved ones, she was again ready and anxious to return to her beloved work. How she won the hearts of the Chinese children is best told in the words of her sister:

How I wish you could have seen the pupils this morning! It is a red-letter day with them, and ordinary study is next to impossible. When I told them two weeks ago that the Bishop was in Japan, they rose up with every feature electrified, and without a word of comment on the real news said, "Then our teacher will be here next week." It was touching to see their disappointment when told the Bishop had come without Dora. They begged to have her photograph hung in the school-room, but I would not consent, and this morning they are almost wild over letters from her. While I write every head is bent over his desk, while constant demands are made on me for English ejaculatory terms with which they are not familiar. I am glad, very glad to be able to say to Dora when she returns, "I have retained all thou committedst to my care," and although I have not added many in numbers, I think she will be pleased with their advancement in every study, secular and religious. Every one is on the qui vive, and I can not show my face without a shower of questions as to when Dora will return.

What more impressive comment could we have on the life and labors of this devoted woman? Leaving us only a few weeks since, in the full vigor of her beautiful, joyous young womanhood, scarcely had she reached her foreign home when we were startled by the brief, sad telegram from the grief-stricken sister in China to the aged, widowed mother in America—"Dora died to-day." The shadow of a great sorrow lies upon the beautiful home in Tennessee, and the Woman's Board of Mission stand appalled at the irreparable loss. How wonderful are the providences of God, and his ways past finding out! The last Advocate of Missions, which was received by to-day's mail, brings the intelligence of her safe arrival in Nantziang, and her sister, Miss Lochie, says of her, "The next day Dora took up her work as though she had been absent only a day, and only the intense delight of her pupils made me realize the fact of her long absence." Thus do we see the willing spirit with which our beloved sister went to her field of labor. She would gird up her strength for renewed vigor in this, her loved employ; but her work was done, and God called to her, "It is enough; come up higher."

Sisters, shall we allow the work so well planned by this noble woman to be forsaken? Rather shall we not, in the name of the Master, who has promised to be with us always, work to its complete realization?

Resolutions on the death of Miss Dora Rankin by Crystal Springs Woman's Missionary Society:

Whereas, In the wisdom of God, we have had called from our work in the foreign field to her reward in the Master's kingdom our beloved sister, Miss Dora Rankin; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of Crystal Springs, feel deeply the great loss which the work has sustained.

Resolved, That we express our earnest sympathy with the lonely sister in the distant heathen land, and with her bereaved loved ones in her native land.

Resolved, That we highly appreciate the spirit of this noble woman in her plans and work for the extension of the Master's kingdom.

Resolved, That we recognize the work to be of God and, though discouragement may befall, we will use the greater zeal to spread the gospel of Christ among the nations of the earth.

MRS. ANNA MIDDLETON,
MRS. EMMA SIBLEY,
MRS. M. J. HOLLOMAN.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss., Jan. 2, 1887.

This Beautiful World of Ours.

Reader, did you ever stop to think what a grand old world is this in which we live? Suppose we had never known anything about this world and its attractions, and was suddenly placed here, what surprise, what wonder, what amazement would possess us! Did the bleak, frozen regions of the arctic zone change to meet our first view, we would see wonderful beauty there; and had we been sent from heaven above, our first exclamation would be: "Oh, these mountains of ice and snow remind me of heaven; so pure, so white, so spotless! How like the great white throne of God!" But were we placed in the temperate zone, with its beautiful flowers, its sweet-songed birds, its balmy atmosphere, our first exclamation would be, as before: "Oh, this reminds me of heaven! These flowers, so pure, so beautiful! The music of the birds, so perfect!" And when we entered God's first and most holy tabernacle, the majestic forest, I imagine we could read God's name everywhere. Ah! could we only half appreciate the good things we have here, we would certainly be much happier. It is said by some that a part of Florida and California comes nearer possessing all the requisites for man's happiness than any part of the whole world. And yet there, as well as all over the whole earth, we find sorrow and suffering. Here is poverty, with all its suffering; and again we find sickness, with a life of suffering. Many are oppressed. Even the man who seems to have everything necessary for comfort in life seems at times to be cast down and filled with sorrow. The human race—man of sorrow? Yes, indeed! Happiness is not to be found in worldly things. Suppose we could banish everything from this world except the things that bring happiness, what would be left? Truly the question must remain unanswered.

"I asked of men and things of nature all around,
If in earthly things happiness might be found;
The answer came, and 'twas a simple no:
'Nothing will give you happiness here below.'
But, ah! another voice whispered me—
'There is happiness yet that you may see,
'Tis found in the name of the crucified One,
'Tis found in trusting the blessed Son.'"

Yes, dear reader, he will show us the beauties of this grand old earth, and help us to look over the afflictions of this life. Ah! we can not take away the troublesome things of this life, but we can add to its happiness and, at the same time, prepare ourselves for a world that is all beauty and grandeur, without any sorrow.

CHAS. KINGSLEY.

BENTON, La., Dec. 18, 1886.

A Storm at West Station.

Christmas Eve, Friday night, at seven o'clock. This preacher and wife sitting by a good wood fire, near the lamp, quietly reading. A click of the gate. We listen. A lantern light flashes on the window; footsteps and voices heard; lanterns in different directions converging toward the parsonage. We are in the eye of a tempest; group after group of men, women and children, young men and maidens, rush in upon us with baskets and bundles. I take in the situation at once, and see that this preacher is destined to a pretty heavy pounding. Hams, sausage, sugar, coffee, rice calico, cheese, etc., are dumped into the parsonage. We, the inmates, soon adjusted ourselves to the situation, as we saw the good things of this world piled up around us. The end is not yet. A stray bundle strikes us when we least expect it. With a more cheerful, merry, innocent group we seldom meet. At nine o'clock we gather in the largest room and return thanks to our heavenly Father for his goodness to us. This is my fourth year at West; but, Peter-like, I am sometimes tempted to want to build a tent and stay here.

G. W. BROWN.

WEST STATION, Mississippi.

Mississippi Conference Brotherhood.

MR. EDITOR: I have before me the constitution and by-laws of the Methodist Life Insurance Association they have in Kentucky. I think it to be a good thing. At the same time I like the plan of our Mississippi Conference Brotherhood better, except in some things. They take in the wife; I like that. I do not know but when a preacher loses his wife but he is in as bad condition as the wife who loses her preacher. Anyway, I have no doubt but ours can be made a grand success, full of blessings, if it is properly managed. I see one trouble, however, and that is, the want of time during our Conferences to ventilate the different interests required. Then it is difficult to get some of our members to feel an interest they ought to feel. At our last Conference our constitution was so changed or amended as to allow any layman, congregation or pastoral charge to become an honorary member by paying their mortuary fee. Some think this will defeat our purpose. I can't see why it should. I think rather, if anything will defeat it, it will be inability on the part of the preachers to pay the amount required. Two preachers told me, at our last Conference, they could not possibly get the money and had to forfeit. Already two payments are required since Conference, though but a few weeks; so if the laymen desire to come to our relief, they ought to be granted that privilege to do so. I still believe I am right to raise the amount to one thousand dollars, and when a preacher is forced to take a retired relation, pay him the amount and let him go and provide for his family. It does seem to me it would do as well as to wait until he is dead, and then pay it to his family. If all the members would take the interest in it they ought to take—and I hope they will—and bring the matter before the people, so that they will understand it, we will make it a glorious success.

Look at the nature of the present claimants. As to Dr. Spillman I know but little, only he was a grand old man. But for our brother, Joseph Nicholson, we do know, and his dear, faithful old wife who followed the fortunes of her husband for forty years through heat and cold, wet and dry, flood and storm—two of the most sweet-spirited, devoted Christian servants of the church. They went where duty called, and now he is gone up to his reward and she is left alone without child or relation to look to. But when the Brotherhood pays their assessment, what blessings crown their heads! So unite, brothers, to duty, mercy and love; regard it a glorious privilege thus to do.

But what I want is for the laymen to come to the help of the preachers in this matter; so that the tax on the preachers may be lessened and they may not be forced to forfeit. Our Brotherhood ought to have more time to deliberate in their meetings, and get up a more vital interest, so it may not be said we started to build, but was not able; and again: I knew it would be so, and that was the reason I would not join, and not because I am selfish, no, no; but knew it would fail. We have thirty thousand members in our Conference. Then to say three deaths as an average annually in the Conference, allowing five hundred dollars for each preacher that dies, would be fifteen hundred dollars. That would be just five cents a head to the membership. Is that too much to ask for? Can any begrudge to pay that much? If so, I propose there will be a collection raised for the benefit of him or her that thinks it is, and let that collection be taken by the preachers' wives at that.

I hope to hear from some laymen on this subject.

A. B. NICHOLSON.

A Great and Imminent Danger.

The most potent danger that threatens the free institutions of this country is the vast and constantly increasing numbers of human beings that crowd our large cities. "Our large cities are becoming the sinks of the very slums and most dangerous elements of the old world depravities." Nihilist, atheist, communist, the lawless, godless, ignorant, depraved of all lands congregate in our large cities. They come not for liberty, but for license. Impatient of the restraints of law, and opposed to all that is good, such a putrid mass of corruption is a perpetual menace to both Church and State. When to this importation of vice and ignorance we add our own native growth, which, under the potent influence of the rum power, is no inconsiderable factor, we are confronted with a danger that is simply appalling.

We must, in estimating the magnitude of this danger, take into account the fact so well established by the history of the great cities of antiquity, namely: Cities—great cities—are centres of power and influence. From these centres radiate influences that permeate the rural districts. We can diagnose the moral condition of the whole country by feeling the moral pulse of its chief cities. The cities of New York, Brooklyn, Chicago, Boston, Cincinnati are crowded by thousands and, in the aggregate, millions that are just as much in need of the gospel as the Chinese. In these dens of infamy there are developing pestiferous influences that may ere long poison the whole body politic. And we need not and must not close our eyes to these alarming facts simply because our Southern cities are, in a measure, free from the godless importations that are annually flooding the Northern and Western cities. If we look into the moral and religious state of New Orleans, Atlanta, Charleston, Savannah and Louisville, we will find cause of alarm at our own doors. And besides, capital is looking to the coal fields and iron mines of our Sunny South; and in the wake of capital comes laborers, mechanics and manufactures crowding into our rapidly growing cities until they will contain, as do our sister cities of the North, vast hordes of the discontented, unmanageable and godless multitudes. When all our great cities, North and South, East and West, shall be inundated with the refuse and scum of Europe and Asia, it, perhaps, will be too late to avert the impending danger.

Something should be done to evangelize and save the denizens of our cities. It is said that there are in one portion of New York City, comprising 550,000 inhabitants, church accommodations for 60,000 only, leaving nearly half a million of souls for whom Christ died in sight of the gilded spires of costly churches almost without any evangelizing agency. A like state of things exists in Brooklyn, Boston, Chicago and Cincinnati. And in our Southern cities, though comparatively exempt from the influence of foreigners, there is not accommodation in our churches for half the population. It is certain the old plan of opening our church doors on Sunday morning, and thus tacitly inviting this class of people, will not avail. This has been tried, and failed. If the people will not come to our churches to hear the gospel, we must carry it to them. Carry it to their houses and homes, preach it on the street corners, sing it, talk it, pray it anywhere, everywhere we can get a hearing. We must adopt the methods of the Salvation Army, which I verily believe is a move in the right direction.

The church has lost its hold upon the masses of our city population because it has not shown sympathy for them. This class has been repelled rather than attracted to the house of God. The display of wealth and pride in the building and furnishing of city churches, and in the costumes and apparel of the occupants of the pews, tend to drive the poor from the church. You may say it is a foolish and unreasonable prejudice upon their part, and so it may be; but it is sufficient, at any rate, to keep them away, and it devolves upon the church the responsibility of devising other methods. I do not pretend to know what methods are best to reach the class from which I apprehend danger if not leavened by the gospel; but I do know that the plan of building costly churches and inviting them in has not succeeded, and, therefore, should be abandoned. The problem most urgently in need of solution at this moment is, How can the church of Christ reach and evangelize our city populations? That done, the country is saved, and the permanency of our free institutions assured.

H. G. W. ELLIS.

CARTHAGE, Miss., Dec. 31, 1886.

Sunday Closing and the Roman Catholics.

The following clip from the Morning Star, of this city, shows the attitude of the Roman Catholic Church toward the Sunday law:

THE LORD'S DAY.

We never could understand how Catholics could be opposed to the passage of a Sunday law; yet, it is a sad fact, nevertheless, that there are many members of the church who still cherish the belief that a law for the better observance of Sunday is an encroachment upon the rights of American citizenship. The fact that such a law may be found in the statute book of every State of the Union, and that our fellow-Catholics everywhere give their warmest support to the enactment, and the further fact that the Bishops and priests all over the country have always been scandalized at the way the Lord's day is desecrated here, seemed to have very little effect in inducing our liberal-minded Catholics to favor the passage of a similar law for this State. We ought charitably to suppose that this element of our Catholic population were ignorant of the clear, explicit and unqualified manner in which the chief pastors of the church, those to whom is confided the right and the authority to teach correct doctrine, had denounced Sunday desecration and sanctioned the enactment of Sunday laws. For their instruction and guidance hereafter, and to prove that no Catholic can conscientiously do aught to violate the Legislature act which will soon take effect in this State, we will transcribe, in extenso, that portion of the pastoral letter issued by the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore, having reference to the better observance of Sunday. Our Lord said, addressing the first Bishops of the church: "He that heareth you, heareth me; he that despiseth you, despiseth me." When the successors of the apostles say in their pastoral, addressed to every one of us—"We earnestly appeal, therefore, to all Catholics without distinction not only to take no part in any movement tending toward a relaxation of the observance of Sunday, but to use their influence and power as citizens to resist in the opposite direction"—who shall dare to despise and set at naught this solemn injunction of our religious superiors? Who shall act up his own feeble human voice against the authoritative decree of the Lord's anointed?

T. A. B.

The pastor of the Hennepin Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in Minneapolis, Minn., Rev. J. L. Pitner, has issued a circular letter to his people on the subject of missions, in which, after appealing to all to give, he says: "Do not hesitate to give pennies, if they bound the possibilities of your purse; even a penny may become a talent for God's favor, and a little, given for love of Christ, grows wondrously when it falls from willing hands into his treasury." This is a sentence worth preserving. Thousands of our members whose "possibilities are bounded by pennies" do not give the pennies. Mr. Pitner's appeal is a striking paraphrase of "She hath done what she could."—Western Christian Advocate.

Money and the Kingdom.

The book from which the following extract is made we commend to all our readers, and especially to our young ministers:

It is common to urge benevolence by appealing to the hope of larger returns, which are assured by many promises of the word. Such motives were needed in the childhood of the race; but with all our light they should not be needed now. Did not Christ place giving on a higher plane? He said "It is more blessed to give than to receive," not because of the return, but because giving is more God-like. Men urge benevolence as an investment. It is true that the steward whom God finds faithful he is very apt to honor with a larger trust; but this should not be the motive of giving. We should "do good and lend, hoping for nothing again." It is true that honesty is the best policy; but if this be the motive of honest dealing, there is no real giving. In the region of right and wrong we may not ask what is politic; we stand under the scepter of the absolute Ought, which does not reason or advise or plead, but simply says, Thou shalt. Whether or not we have learned that not only that which we give is truly and forever ours, the duty to give remains the same. The fact that God requires the entire consecration of all our substance ought alone to be sufficient to move us; but there are other considerations.

The spiritual life and power of the churches demand the acceptance of the doctrine touching possessions. We talk about our "crosses." There is no such expression in the Bible. The word does not occur there in the plural. It has been belittled; it has come to mean trial, disagreeable duty, anything which crosses our inclination; but its meaning in the Scriptures is never so meager as that. There it always means crucifixion. Like the word "gallows" in modern speech, it means death. To take one's cross means in the Bible to start for the place of execution. "If any man will come after me, let him take up his cross and follow me." Follow him where? To Golgotha. He in whose experience there is no Calvary, where he himself has been crucified with Christ, knows little of Christian discipleship. Christ demands actual self-abnegation; but where the Christian name is honored, and its profession confers obvious advantages, self-deception is common and Christian experience is apt to be shallow. As quaint old Rutherford said: "Men get Christ for the half of nothing—such maketh loose work." Too many church members know little or nothing of self-surrender; hence the lack of spiritual life and power. At such times the church suffers for the want of some decisive test, the application of which will show men to themselves, and separate, with a good degree of accuracy, those who have been crucified with Christ from those who know not what it is to "take up the cross."

In a commercial age, and especially in a luxurious civilization, the form of worldliness to which the church is most likely to be tempted is the love of money. As the means of almost every possible self-gratification it becomes the representative of self; hence the true principle of Christian giving, the actual surrender of all substance to God, is exactly the test for the application of which the church is suffering to-day. If this test were applied now to every church member as Christ applied it to the young ruler (and the need is the same, for the human heart is the same, and heaven and the conditions of entrance are the same), would not the record in many a case be, "And he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions"?

What right has any one, who has light on this subject, to believe he has given himself to God if he has not given his possessions? If he has kept back the less, what reason is there to think he has given the greater? As Jeremy Taylor says: "He never loved God who will quit anything of his religion to save his money."

Is not much that the Master said concerning possessions a dead letter in the church of to-day? "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth." Is not that exactly what many in the church are doing, and many more striving with eager energy to do? "The deceitfulness of riches." How many are afraid of being deceived by them? How many refuse to run the risk? "How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of heaven." How many are unwilling to become rich or richer? Multitudes now complain that they have so little who, on the great day of accounts, will mourn that they had so much. The word declares covetousness to be idolatry; but how many church members were ever disciplined for this idol try? There is, however, a sign of the millennium down in Maine, where, about a year ago, a church disciplined five members because they would give nothing.

The spiritual life and power of the church can vitalize and save the world only when there is a spirit of consecration sufficiently deep and inclusive to accept the true principle of Christian giving.—Our Country: Its Possible Future and Its Present Crisis.

"This Grace also."

There is something suggestive in the grouping of sins and graces by the apostle. When he makes up a list of sins to be shunned as utterly out of the question with the Christian, he puts together the following: "Fornication and all uncleanness, and covetousness (which is idolatry). Let it not be once named among you as becometh saints; neither filthiness nor foolish talking, nor jesting," etc. On the other hand, when he groups some graces he does it thus: "Therefore as ye abound in everything, in faith, and utterance, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love to us, see that ye abound in this grace also." Now notice that covetousness or the love of money, either the greed after its possession or the parsimonious withholding of it from use, is classed with the worst sins, and specially pointed out as a sin not "once to be named among you as becometh saints"; he classes the generous giving of money for Christ with the highest graces, one to be "abounded in," and which he says is a "test of sincerity"; "to prove the sincerity of your love," and concludes by that mighty argument and motive word: "For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye, through his poverty, might be rich."

Now what are the facts as to these two passions—viz., "covetousness" and "liberality?" Is it not so that covetousness is not only "named" or made visible among us, but it is not seriously rebuked, and so far as we have ever known, has never been made a matter of discipline? A man would fall under the ban of the church's discipline? who was an idolator, or a fornicator, or a liar, or a thief, much more if he were an habitual thief; but is it not true that covetousness, "which we are not to allow even once to be named among us as becometh saints," is an habitual and conspicuous characteristic of many church members? Covetousness is not only a sin positive in itself, but it is a sin that cuts the throat of one of the chiefest graces—namely, beneficence. A covetous man can not be a liberal giver—he can not by any possible means abound in the grace of giving.

But let us look at this grace in relation to character. As we abound in other graces, we are specially exhorted to abound in this grace also, as though the apostle considered it not only essential to the sincerity of our love, but to the symmetrical development of our whole character. Indeed, the absence of an abundant liberality is a spiritual deformity. We have seen men in our lives with one short arm, either a birth deformity or one occasioned by disease or accident. We have in our mind one gentleman who, in every respect is a fine specimen of physical humanity, except that he has a little puny right arm. It hangs only about a foot from his shoulder, and is weak and shriveled. The little hand that is found in place at the end of it is scarcely larger than a baby's, and is of almost no use to him. It is a source of intense mortification to him. People always look at it as something terribly sad. The whole symmetry of the man is gone; he is a deformity. But we know a score of professing Christians who seem, to the outward eye, to abound in other graces, especially "in speech," "and faith" (that is, orthodoxy), whose benevolence is repressed by a hand, wee, shriveled, and paralyzed. They are spiritual deformities. Nay, more, as God estimates them, they are idolaters masquerading in the profession of Christianity. It is a serious matter, and one which should attract the attention of the church.

We have often known Christians to say in tones of distress: "I am greatly troubled because I find I have so little faith, so little love; the joys of salvation are dried up in me. I do not love to read my Bible; and I find prayer a difficult and distasteful exercise. I fear I am not a Christian, for if I were why should I be so destitute of these graces, and of a disposition to worship God. What can I do to increase faith and love; how can I learn to read my Bible with delight, and how come into the enjoyment of prayer?" These are common complaints, and every pastor has had frequent experience with such cases. It may be that some of our readers have been troubled in this way themselves. But in all our observation we have never yet known any Christian to come to his pastor distressed because he did not love to give of his substance to the Lord. We have never yet heard anyone say in tones of distress and anxiety: "I have so little disposition to give to the Lord and his cause. I do not love to do it; and when I do I have to force myself; for I have no delight in so doing. I fear I can not be a Christian, and be devoid of this grace. What can I do to increase the love of giving? How can I learn not only to give, but to abound in giving, and at the same time take delight in doing it?" We wonder how many of our readers have known of such a case. And yet why not? If the absence of faith and love and prayer, and a spirit of worship, should cause anxiety and distress of mind why should not the absence of the abounding of this grace also cause distress of mind, and create a doubt as to the sincerity of one's profession of discipleship? Whoean answer?

This is a very grave and serious matter, and it becomes every Christian to look to it lest he be deceiving himself. God is not mocked. A covetous man shall no more enter into heaven than a liar, a drunkard, or an idolator, or adulterer. A man can no more be a Christian who has not liberality than he can without faith, or love, or prayer. And note that we are exhorted to abound in it. If faith is worth having, it is worth having abundantly; so of the gift of testimony or the exercise of love. And surely there is as much need for this grace as there is for faith and prayer. The first grace developed in the early church was this of abundant beneficence, for all the disciples came with one accord and laid all their possessions down at the apostles' feet, to be used for the poor. We do not believe that this was an authoritative example, but a manifestation of that grace for our learning. We do not believe that God struck down Ananias and Sapphira, or caused the execution of Achan, as an authoritative example of how he would deal with every covetous professor in all ages; but certainly they are striking and significant examples, and we do well to study them.—Independent.

The Christian World speaks thus forcibly of the doctrine of apostolic succession: "The common sense and the conscience of enlightened Christendom revolt against the monstrous doctrine that the qualifications for the Christian ministry amount to little more than powers of legerdemain, and that they have been solely transmitted through a line of men, many of whom have been the cruelest and basest of mankind. It is impossible to conceive any intelligent and devout man, whose whole nature has not been warped from childhood by ecclesiasticism, accepting this reasoning. Are we to deny the right of the enlightened Lutheran and Calvinistic clergy of the Continent, of the pastors of our own free churches, of the great body of American divines, to call themselves Christian ministers, and admit the claim to the title when made by the most ignorant and bigoted Irish or Spanish priests? Clearness, learning, piety, heroic labors among the heathen both at home and abroad, are to go for nothing when compared with the priestly figment of apostolical succession!"

Mr. Moody, in his Tremont Temple address to business men, recently, made the remarkable statement that the most aggressive church in Christendom at the present time is the Church of England—in its methods of reaching the masses, "the most radical church on the face of the earth." One of these methods he mentioned was for Christian ladies to visit systematically the homes of the poor, on the Sabbath, for the special purpose of helping the women of those homes. They can not go to church, let the gospel be carried to them. "Such women visitors could accomplish more than all the ministers on this platform. What does an old bachelor know about training children?" This suggestion seems so thoroughly practicable and promising that we shall be surprised if it does not commend itself to Christian ladies as something which they can do for the social and spiritual blessing of homes all around them.

The Pool and the Brook.

See that little streamlet flowin down from the hill-side in its healthy activity. It pauses near a stagnant pool; and the pool hails it, "Whither, Master Streamlet?" "To the river, to bear this cup of water God has given me." And the old pool smiles with self-complacency, and says: You poor foolish thing. You had better hold on to all your water. We have had a backward spring, and we're going to have a hot summer to pay for it; and when the hot sun comes up you will dry up off the face of the earth. You had better hold on to your water, and not be running off that way." "Well, if I am to die so soon, I will use this blessing while I live." And on goes the streamlet rejoicing in its course.

By-and-by the hot sun did come up How about the little streamlet? When the sun began pouring down upon the earth, the trees along the line of the streamlet interlaced their boughs over its bosom, and would not let the sun touch it; and the cattle drank of the stream, and the birds sipped its tide and sang its praise, and it gladdened the eye of man all along its flashing course as on it went.

But how about the old pool? It held on to all it had; and would not let a drop get away. By-and-by the hot sun shone upon it, and it began to breed miasma and disease; and the winds caught up the miasma and scattered it, and the people had the chills and fever, and by-and-by the very frogs cast their venom upon it, and the cattle mired at it banks and would not drink, and the birds flew away in disgust. And God in mercy smote it with a hotter breath and dried it up off the face of the earth.

But the streamlet ran on and on to the river, and bore its cup of water to the ocean, and the ocean sent up its incense to the sun, and the sun turned it into a cloud, and the winds like white steeds were harnessed to the cloud and drove it back over the mountain side. And when the cloud was right over the little streamlet's mouth, God dipped a cup in the cloud and poured the water right back into the little streamlet's mouth, and said: As thou hast freely given, now freely receive. And so God kept it alive, and it still sings on its way:

Men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever.

And there it is, an everlasting demonstration of the truth that if you give all you have, you shall receive all that God has for you.—Sam Jones.

ABANDONED!

A Picture of the Desert that Finds Its Application in Many Homes.

One of the most vivid pictures produced in recent years was that drawn for a London illustrated journal representing General Gordon seated in a sandy waste of Africa clutching his country's flag and his Bible in one hand and a trusty weapon in the other, while round about him, closely environing him on every side, perched a flock of lean and hungry vultures. Traced in the sand at his feet was the name "Khartoum," and under the masterly artistic conception, which events subsequently tragically verified, was the single word—"Abandoned!" The picture derived much of its force from the fact that the face of the solitary man, on which despair and hopelessness were written, was that of a hero whom all the world honored. In every town and city throughout this broad land are heroes who become martyrs to medical science just as was Gordon a martyr to military art. They have been "abandoned" by their physicians and given up to death in the tenderest language that their genial practitioner can command. For years the sufferers have taken medicines of all kinds that did not cure. They have continued to grow worse, until Death was knocking at the door of the house. Drs. STARKEY & PALEN, No 1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Penna., no longer need to recommend their Compound Oxygen treatment for the cure of lung and other chronic diseases. It is already prescribed by hundreds of reputable and progressive physicians of the old and new schools. It has entered many thousand homes in the neat and convenient form of the Home Treatment. In Health and Life, a quarterly published by them, they record in each number cases of patients who have been abandoned by other physicians. The number for October, 1886, had thirty such reports. This paper and a valuable pamphlet showing its manifold virtues in healing the sick by the natural and rational process of building up the shattered body will be sent free by mail or handed to those applying in person at their office.

Depend upon it, the interest of classes too often contrasted are identical, and it is only ignorance which prevents their uniting for each other's advantage. To dispel that ignorance, to show how man can help man not withstanding the complicated state of civilized society, ought to be the aim of every philanthropic person, but it is more peculiarly the duty of those who, under the blessing of Divine providence, enjoy station, wealth and education.—Prince Albert.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of costive habit are subject to Headache, Defective Memory, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which inflict the sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect heart's ease that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not act its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, sore throat, stiff neck, pains in the chest and back are cured by Abrams Arnica Liniment.

This Liniment is a powerful stimulant and thorough in its action.

For sprains or contusions it has no equal.

Its action is quick and effective.

Be sure to get Abrams' Arnica Liniment

For sale by all Druggists.

INFORMATION

MANY PERSONS at this season suffer from either Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, Bad Blood, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Constipation & Kidney Troubles.

VOLINA CORDIAL

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES RHEUMATISM, Bad Blood and Kidney Troubles, by cleansing the blood of all its impurities, strengthening all parts of the body.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES SICK-HEADACHE, Neuralgia, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, by toning the nerves and strengthening the muscles.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion and Constipation, by aiding the assimilating of the Food through the proper action of the stomach; it creates a healthy appetite.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES NERVOUSNESS, Depression of spirits and Weakness, by enlivening and toning the system.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES OVERWORKED and Delicate Women, Puny and Sickly Children. It is delightful and nutritious as a general Tonic.

Volina Almanac and Diary for 1887. A handsome, complete and useful BOOK, telling how to CURE DISEASES at HOME in a pleasant, natural way. Mailed on receipt of a 2c. postage stamp. Address

VOLINA DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

Send the ADVOCATE to your friend for the next year and you will not regret it.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR!

Most happily meets the demand of the age for woman's peculiar afflictions. It is a remedy for WOMAN ONLY and for one SPECIAL CLASS of her diseases. It is a Specific for certain diseased conditions of the womb, and so controls the Menstrual organs as to regulate all derangements and irregularities of her Monthly Sickness. The proprietors claim for this remedy no other medical property. It is strictly a Vegetable Compound, the studied prescription of a learned physician whose specialty was FEMALE DISEASES, and whose fame became enviable because of his success in the treatment and cure of female complaints. Suffering woman, it will relieve you of nearly all complaints peculiar to your sex.

For sale by druggists. Write for book, "Message to Woman," mailed free

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Ask your neighbors to subscribe for the ADVOCATE.

Queen and Crescent Route.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTH-EASTERN R. R

—Shortest and Quickest Line to—

BIRMINGHAM CINCINNATI, EAST,

ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTH-EAST.

Time Table in effect December 31st, 1886.

Trains North B'd. Read Down		Stations marked thus †	Trains South B'd. Read Up.
No. 2.	No. 6.		No 1.	No 5.
10 40am	8 05pm	lv. New Orleans ar	3 10pm	7 30am
11 41am	9 10pm	" Slidell "	2 00pm	6 22am
11 57am	† 8 23pm	Pearl River †	1 47pm	6 14am
12 12pm	† 9 9pm	Nicholson " †	1 32pm	5 57am
11 27pm	† 9 51pm	Mitchell " †	† 1 21pm	† 5 46am
12 50pm	† 10 08pm	Highland " †	1 12pm	† 5 37am
1 07pm	10 30pm	Pontchartville "	12 51pm	5 00am
1 24pm	† 10 51pm	Hildebrand " †	12 15pm	† 4 45am
1 38pm	11 05pm	Pinebom "	12 01pm	† 4 30am
1 49pm	† 11 14pm	Talowah " †	11 52am	† 4 21am
2 02pm	11 25pm	Purvis "	11 38am	4 08am
2 13pm	11 35pm	Oak Hola "	11 27am	† 4 00am
2 26pm	† 11 45pm	Carter " †	11 16am	† 3 48am
2 39pm	11 59pm	Hattiesburg "	11 00am	3 35am
3 16pm	† 12 11am	Estabuchee " †	10 46am	† 3 20am
3 25pm	12 24am	Toscanola "	10 36am	† 3 10am
3 48pm	12 42am	Ellisville "	10 17am	2 52am
4 01pm	12 57am	Laurel "	10 03am	2 37am
4 17pm	† 1 15am	Sandersville " †	9 48am	† 2 23am
4 33pm	1 30am	Heidelberg "	9 29am	2 08am
4 42pm	1 37am	Vossburg "	9 22am	† 1 59pm
4 54pm	† 1 48am	Barnwell " †	9 11am	† 1 48am
5 09pm	1 58am	Parkman " †	9 03am	† 1 39am
5 20pm	2 15am	Enterprise "	8 43am	1 19am
5 38pm		Corinne " †	8 27am
5 00pm	3 00am	Meridian "	8 00am	12 40am
10 30pm	7 45am	Tuscaloosa "	3 47am	8 16am
12 40am	10 00am	Birmingham "	1 40am	5 35pm
3 32am	1 05pm	Attala "	10 31pm	2 15pm
7 30am	5 55pm	Chattanooga "	8 30pm	12 15am
1 28pm	1 10am	Somerset "	12 50pm	2 27pm
2 42pm	2 40pm	Junction City "	11 35am	12 55pm
4 15pm	4 00am	Lexington "	10 22am	11 20am
5 42pm	6 40am	ar Cincinnati lv	7, 55am	8 10pm

JOHN C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati

R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup., Meridian.

H. COLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Passr. Agt., Cincinnati, O.

B. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Passr. Agt., Cincinnati

JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent 34 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

—TAKE THE—

MISSISSIPPI & TENNESSEE RAILROAD.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE

Quicker in Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

Splendid Equipment!

Magnificent Coaches!

Pullman Buffet Sleepers!

Trains Always on Time!

See that your Tickets read over the Mississippi & Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and T'k't Ag't. JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass. Ag't.

MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific COMPANY.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM.)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN

New Orleans, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, and California Points.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH

Pullman Palace Sleepers

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—AND—

SAN FRANCISCO,

Piercing the most beautiful part of

SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

A. C. HUTCHINSON, Gen'l Manager. J. G. SCHRIVER, Traffic Manager.

General Offices: Cor Magazine and Natchez Streets, NEW ORLEANS.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad.

The Great Through Line for Passengers and Freight to All Points

NORTH EAST AND WEST.

The ONLY LINE running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS THROUGH from NEW ORLEANS to CINCINNATI, ST. LOUIS, MEMPHIS and CHICAGO WITHOUT CHANGE of trucks.

ONLY ONE CHANGE to NEW YORK and EASTERN CITIES.

The ONLY DIRECT ROUTE to ST. LOUIS, CHICAGO and ALL POINTS NORTH and WEST. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, ELEGANT COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS, and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY —AND— RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1886—

DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Calliope Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 8:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 3, 4:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.

WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Passenger Agt.

A. H. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agt., Chicago.

J. W. COLEMAN, Ast. Gen. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.

O. M. SHEAFE, Superintendent.

THE GREAT Kennesaw and Shenandoah Valley Route.

(East Tenn., Va. and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs N. C., or Staunton, Va.

Baggage Checked to Destination.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:45 A. M. and 8:25 P. M

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Sou'n Agent, Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans

B. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Knoxville, Tenn

The Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to

NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN and CENTRAL TEXAS, and

All points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves 7:30 A. M. Arrives 7:15 P. M

This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.

Texas and California Express leaves 4:00 P. M. Arrives 10:30 A. M.

This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.

Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $140 00.

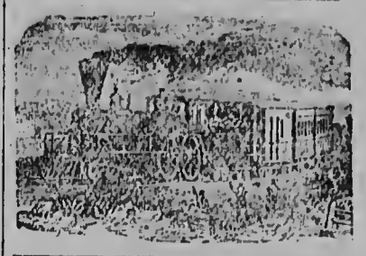
The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.

For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.

B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent;

W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.



Queen and Crescent Line.

New Orleans and Northeastern RAILROAD.

THE SHORT LINE

FOR FREIGHT AND PASSENGERS

TO ALL POINTS

North and East and in the Northwest.

Low Rates and Quick Time on Freight Traffic.

THE MODEL, MODERN THOROUGHFARE.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Magnificent Buffet and Sleeping Cars.

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—TO—

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA and CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10:40 A. M.

No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.

No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.

No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7:35 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press Street and Levee. Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St. Charles street, N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.

H. COLBRAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agent, Queen and Crescent Line, Cincinnati, Ohio.

JOHN M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent

A. P. BARNETT, Contracting Frt. Agent

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE LITTLE

WONDER LAMP.

A DIAMOND REFLECTOR LAMP, Gives the Light of Thirty Candles at the cost of one. The "LITTLE WONDER" is a small Metal Safe Nickel Plated Lamp that will not break if it falls. It will stand upon a large Room or Store and can be safely left for any length of time without flame increasing. The light is thrown off by the Reflector, the Lamp remaining safe and cool to handle at all times. Ask your dealer for it. Manufactured and for sale only by the MANHATTAN BRASS CO., 1st Ave. and 28th St., New York. Illustrated catalogue sent free to any one.

Established 1857.

The GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

BRINK'S Patent Reflectors, for Gas or Oil, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. BRINK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for PLATFORM ECHOES

or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART,

By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, brim full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and good. Full of laughter and tears. 7 full steel engravings. Try it is added the Life and Death of Mr. Gough, by Rev. J. EVMAN ABBOTT. 1100 Agents Wanted.—Men and Women. $100 to $200 a month made. Outfit free. No Assistance as we give Extra Terms and Pay Freight. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

RUPTURE

Have you heard of the astounding reduction for DR. J. A. SILKMAN'S Famous Home Treatment, the only known guarantee to comfort and cure without operation or hindrance from labor? No steel or iron bands. Perfect retention night and day, no chafing, suited to all ages. Now $10 only. Send for circular of measurements, instructions and proofs. Get cured at home and be happy, office 204 Broadway, New York.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS, a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my Infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you.

Address, DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

McShane Bell Foundry

Finest Grade of Bells,

CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c. Send for Price and Catalogue. Address H. McSHANE & CO., Baltimore, Md.

Mention this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

NEW Sample Book of 15 artistic cards, 11 Games, 12 tricks in magic, 436 Album verses. All for 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 15, Ohio.

$25 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 240 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

A BIG OFFER. To introduce them, we will Give Away 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 23 Rey St., N. Y.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE

FERRY'S SEEDS

Their Seeds are popular because they are good.

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it at once. Address

D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

FITS STOPPED FREE

Marvelous success. Insane Persons Restored. Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nerve Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send name, P. O. and express address of afflicted to Dr. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

Corresponding Editors:

T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. T. SAWYER.
REV. W. L. C. BURNSIDE.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 13, 1887.

Louisiana Conference Notes.

Ruston, the place where the Conference was held, is a bright new town on the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Texas railroad, thirty miles west of Monroe. Three years ago the place was a wooded wilderness. When the railroad was being built the company made a station here and called it Ruston, after the name of a Mr. Russ who resided near the place. The keen-eyed merchants of Vienna, Vernon, Trenton, and other places, saw that it was a center of what promised to be a good and growing trade, and they came here and located. A row of substantial brick stores fronts the railroad from the north. Two fine-looking hotels front it from the south. The streets are regularly laid out from north to south, and from east to west, and adorned by many handsome residences. There are two beautiful churches, Baptist and Methodist, and a large and flourishing school under the presidency of Rev. W. C. Friley, the Baptist minister. One of our best country exchanges—the Caligraph—is here edited and published by Mr. Pearce. Ruston is the parish-seat of Lincoln parish, and is not only the newest, but one of the prettiest and most thriving towns in North Louisiana, and the best of all is, that it is a prohibition town, that question having been settled at the polls during the past fall. It is superfluous to write of the hospitality of the place and the warm-hearted welcome which the citizens extended to the members of the Conference, and visitors who came to be lookers-on. The welcome was as beautiful as the snow that wrapped the town in its mantle of purity, and the hospitality, tested by the wants of a Conference of Methodist preachers, was proved to be many-sided and of exhaustless resources.

A deliberative body in session makes a fine display of the peculiarities of human nature; and if the body is of much size, all the phases of that nature are brought to view at some point or in some manner during its sittings. The strain upon the mental and moral qualities is sometimes so severe as almost to break down the amenities of deliberative intercourse. At times it is indeed swept completely away. But this is a very rare occurrence in a body of Christian ministers. Human nature is here with all its strong characteristics; but it is sanctified by Divine grace and brought under subjection to the spirit of love. Brethren differ widely and reason acutely against each other; but the object sought is the "truth in love," and the amenities of Christian brotherhood are rarely forgotten. In the spirit of love which pervades the body, differences of opinion adjust themselves and differing arguments harmonize in the manifestation of the truth upon its proper basis.

The severe weather, which began January 2, culminated in a heavy snow-storm, January 4, and by the time of opening the Conference the earth was wrapped in about four inches of pure white coldness. Everything seemingly bad has its compensations, and there was a good demand for wraps and overshoes. Notwithstanding the unpropitious aspect of things out of doors, when the Bishop opened the Conference there was a large attendance of members of the body and quite a number of visitors. In tramping through the snow, the sentence which was read years ago kept coming into memory: "The character of woman is like the snow; the fairest thing on earth, when fair; the foulest, when foul and mingled with the mire!" What more beautiful than pure snow? What is uglier than fouled snow? What is fairer than a pure womanhood? What is fouler than a womanhood sunk in shame?

Bishop Duncan is proving himself to be a "master of assemblies." His patience sometimes rises to the sublimity of "his perfect work." The facility with which he takes in a situation and the promptness with which he renders his decisions would indicate to a stranger that he has been all his life presiding over deliberative bodies. His urbanity towards those from whom he differs and against whom he decides questions show that he has much of that love that "thinketh not evil."

Editorial Correspondence.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

For speed and comfort and easiness in traveling I commend the readers of the ADVOCATE to the Illinois Central railroad. It has the reputation of being one of the best roads, not only on the American continent, but in the world, and, as far as I am able to judge in such matters, the reputation is legitimately earned. The run to Jackson, Miss., and the lay-over in a luxurious sleeper until morning at that place, gives time for as much repose of body as is healthful. From that point to Ruston, the seat of the Louisiana Conference, the trip is made on the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Texas railroad. From Jackson to Ruston is 154 miles, and we were ten hours making the trip; so that a journey which ought to be made in 15 hours takes 23 hours. I think this ought to be mended in some way. The world is in too much of a hurry not to complain of such detention. At about one o'clock, Tuesday, we struck a heavy snow-storm, which continued long after we arrived in Ruston.

Wednesday morning came bright and beautiful as the sun and snow could make it, and Bishop Duncan called the Conference to order at 9:30 A. M. The Bishop read and commented on II Corinthians vi. His comments were practical and judicious, and elicited hearty responses from the brethren. At the roll-call a large number of preachers and laymen answered to their names. The following committees were appointed:

Church Publications—B. Carradine, J. W. Medlock, J. M. Beard, Hugh Jamieson.

Temperance—J. T. Sawyer, J. D. Jackson, A. C. Mitchell.

Bible Cause—T. K. Faunt LeRoy, R. S. Trippett, Samuel Whited.

Conference Relations—C. W. Carter, J. M. Johnston, T. S. Randle, R. A. Davis, J. J. Billingsley, A. E. Clay.

Memoirs—Jno. A. Miller, T. B. White, J. A. Parker.

District Conference Records—N. S. Corneli, J. F. Wynn, B. F. White, S. H. Werlein.

The names of the presiding elders were called, and their characters passed. The presiding elders reported gracious revivals in very many places on their districts. The year has developed the finances of the church in some places, while in other places there has been a sad decline on account of floods and drouths. The report of the publisher of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE was read and referred to the Committee on Publications.

The following brethren were admitted on trial, viz.: Robert P. Howell, Samuel S. Holliday, William H. Hill, Harry W. May, Frank N. Parker, Jefferson D. Jackson, George H. Mandeville, Charles E. McLean. Continued on trial: Fitzgerald S. Parker, James I. Hoffpauir, Joshua S. Saunders, Henry S. Johns, Robert Harry. Wilson Moore was elected to deacon's orders. D. C. Barr, A. T. Galloway, H. W. Wels were continued in the class of the third year. J. W. Davis, S. J. Davies, J. M. Davies, Conrad Knudsen were continued in the class of the fourth year. S. H. Whatley, R. S. Collier, J. P. Porter, Wm. Wimberly, J. P. McFarland and T. W. Scott were elected to elder's orders. A. T. Galloway and J. T. Daves were received by transfer. W. P. Kimball was readmitted. A. C. Coney and H. W. Wels were transferred. C. F. Silvers was reported as withdrawn.

The German Mission Conference having been divided by the last General Conference, the Louisiana District of that Conference, with its pastors and churches, was united to our Conference.

A communication from the secretary of missions was read and referred to the Board of Missions. A communication from the Publishing House was read and referred to Committee on Publications. W. W. Nicholson was discontinued at his own request. J. M. Joiner and James M. Griggs were elected to deacon's orders, being local preachers.

President Adams, of Centenary College, was introduced to the Conference, and made some remarks which disclosed to the body the gratifying fact that the college is in good condition and doing good work for the church and country in educating the young men sent there. The faculty, having been reorganized, have done earnest and faithful work during the present session, and the outlook for the progress and prosperity of the college is better than for years. The security for the morals of the young men is the best that can be given. The young men have an association for Christian work of forty members, which has it regular meetings for prayer and social intercourse, and a gracious influence upon the students and upon the town is the result.

The reports of the preachers on financial matters reveal a sad state of affairs. Very few preachers report having been paid in full. The collections have also fallen below the line of last year. The floods and drouths have the credit of causing this decline; but why they should affect church finances more disastrously than other finances does not appear in the reports. One brother let in a stream of light upon the financial question, when he stated that his members had paid thirty-four dollars apiece. This is an illustration of the old adage, "Where there's a will, there's a way." The fact that the collections taken by the preachers compare favorably with their salary receipts is evidence that if the church stewards were as diligent and persistent in their efforts to raise the preacher's salary as the preacher is to raise the Conference collection, there would be a manifest improvement in financial matters.

W. R. Whatley was located on motion of his presiding elder. The Bishop's talks from the chair as the business progressed were full of practical hints for the future use of the preachers, and must, if followed up, result in good to the church. He seems to be a man who has seen every phase of the itinerant work, and appreciates every difficulty, and his loving counsels went down into the hearts of his hearers.

The report of the Committee on Conference Relations was adopted, which report placed A. G. Miller and A. M. Wallis on the supernumerary list, and E. W. Yancy, John Pipes, P. H. Dieffenwierth, George M. Liverman, J. H. Stone, Jesse Fulton, George Jackson and J. W. Davis on the list of superannuates.

The report of the Board of Finance revealed very little difference between the collections for last year and this year; but the fact that there is a larger number of claimants this year makes the appropriation to each claimant less than last year. This is much to be regretted, for when the full allowance is paid, these worthy claimants get a mere pittance. The man or woman who will solve this perplexing problem of the support of our widows and orphans and superannuates will be held in everlasting remembrance by the church of the future. The Board apportioned $4,000 for the coming year, as the amount necessary to meet the claims of these church wards to the bare necessaries of life. The brethren should commence early in the year to collect this fund and keep it up until the full amount has been realized. If every preacher and every church official will work earnestly all through the year, there is no doubt about the $4,000 being reported to the Board of Finance at the next session of the Conference.

The following preachers were admitted into full connection after a plain, practical exhortation by the Bishop, and answering for themselves the usual disciplinary questions, viz.: Horace D. Kimball, Henry J. Boltz and Wilson Moore.

Dr. Kelley, the treasurer of the Board of Missions, was introduced to the Conference, and his address carried the brethren completely away. He made some of the strongest points about missionary matters we have ever heard. Having traveled largely over the field, he was prepared to give the results of a wise and close observation of our various missionary operations. His observations about our work in the great West produced a great relief upon the minds of some of our brethren. The address was one of the best that has yet been delivered before the Louisiana Conference. The Conference resolved to take the foreign mission collection by the first of May. It was also resolved to raise through the Sunday-school ten cents for every member of the Sunday-school, exclusive of assessments. This is a good move. To get the children interested in mission work is to begin their training in the right direction, and Solomon's word for it, that a child trained up in the way he should go will not depart from it when he is old.

L. D. Palmer represented the Publishing House as in good condition, and our papers and periodicals issued therefrom as circulating more widely than ever. The House is selling about $400 per day. The Review is gaining in subscribers every day, and the prospect for its permanent establishment is now hardly to be questioned.

The Church Extension Anniversary was held Saturday night. The report of the secretary showed that there had been but little forward movement on this line of church enterprise. One thousand dollars had been distributed to help 13 churches in the bounds of the Conference. The Woman's Department of Church Extension has been well organized, and will no doubt do good work in this branch of the service as they are accustomed to do in other branches. Dr. Kelley made a capital speech in explanation of the meaning and methods of church extension. If anybody came away without a thorough understanding of the whole subject, the fault was not in the speaker. Dr. Walker followed in a felicitous speech, showing particularly the need of parsonages in every work, and taking a collection which amounted in cash and subscriptions to the amount of $72. The house was packed from chancel to door with an audience pleased and edified and entertained.

The statistics of the Conference are as follows: Local preachers, 86; members, 15 775. This is a gain of 1 303. Adults baptized, 739; infants baptized, 831; number of churches, 224—valued at $380,740; number of parsonages, 53—valued at $44,996; value of other church property, $55,827; money raised for churches and parsonages, $20,480. Assessed for presiding elders, $6 296; paid of this amount, $4 547. Assessed for pastors, $52,070; paid of this amount, $38,136. Bishops' fund, $693; collected for widows and orphans and superannuated preachers, $2 326; number of Sunday-schools, 201; officers and teachers, 1,220; scholars, 9,290; money expended for Sunday-schools, $2,645; contributed for missions by Sunday-schools, $515. This a very gratifying result, showing a large increase in Sunday-school work over last year. The churches have contributed for foreign missions, $4 843 90, and for domestic missions, $1,057 77. There was collected for church extension the sum of $748 45, and for education, $450 75, and for Bible cause, $32.

A slow rain during the larger part of Saturday night rendered the prospects of Sabbath observance rather gloomy; but in the early morning the wind veered to the north, and in a short time the rain ceased, and, though the day was cold and cloudy, the services at the churches were well attended. The love-feast at the Methodist Church was conducted by Bro. L. A. Reed. The house was filled, and the exercises were edifying and encouraging to all present. "The communion of saints" was felt to be a very delightful fact of experience as well as an article of the creed. Bishop Duncan preached to an immense audience at the Methodist Church. His theme was "Ministerial Support." The preachers and the laity were instructed, exhorted and warned in most faithful, yet loving words. So sound and sensible and reasonable were the points made and the arguments presented that one brother remarked that the result would be felt for good all through the Louisiana Conference. The sermon was of an hour's length, after which the following persons were ordained deacons: J. M. Joiner and J. M. Griggs, local preachers, and Wilson Moore, traveling preacher.

I had the privilege of preaching at eleven o'clock in the Baptist Church, where a goodly number listened patiently to the old story of Christ and his salvation. At three P. M., in the Methodist Church, Dr. Walker, of New Orleans, preached on that awful subject of the "Judgment." Six elders were ordained by the Bishop—Four traveling preachers, viz.: S. H. Whatley, R. S. Collier, J. P. Porter, Wm. Wimberly; local preachers: J. P. McFarland, T. W. Scott.

The missionary anniversary was held on Sunday night. The treasurer's report showed that only about two-thirds of the assessment for foreign missions had been collected. The falling behind is to be attributed in part to the disasters that have befallen the crops and in part to that curious Christianity which has the anti-missionary spirit. I would like very much to give my readers Dr. Kelley's address; but the thing is an impossibility. A speech was never more enjoyed by an audience. There never was a speech that brought the facts and needs of our mission work so close to the hearts of an audience. There has never been made before the Louisiana Conference a speech that had more promise of future good in it. Then the method of taking the collection was a positive means of grace, because it placed the matter of giving directly upon the consciences and made each giver feel his individual responsibility to Christ. The collection amounted to $300.

The Board of Stewards of Crystal Springs station have anticipated the meeting of the district stewards, in making calculations for an increased assessment for Conference collections, and at the same time did not forget to increase the allowance for preacher in charge for 1887.

Notwithstanding the absence of the preachers attending Conference, nearly all of our pulpits were filled in the city last Sunday.

Louisiana Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT.

J. T. Sawyer, P. E.
Carondelet Street, B. Carradine.
Felicity Street, S. H. Werlein.
St. Charles Avenue, C. F. Evans.
Moreau Street, H. D. Kimball.
Louisiana Avenue, J. B. Walker.
Algiers and Gretna, C. E. McLean.
Baton Rouge, T. K. Faunt LeRoy.
Gross Tete and False River, Lewis A. Reed.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, W. M. Wimberly.
Carrollton Avenue and Parker Chapel, Fitzgerald S. Parker.
Dryades and Craps Street, J. B. A. Ahrens and F. G. Hocutt.
Soraparu and Batheville, J. J. Blanz.
St. Tammany, to be supplied (by S. Mathias).
C. W. Carter, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

SHREVEPORT DISTRICT.

J. B. Cassity, P. E.
Shreveport, J. H. Scruggs.
Mooringsport, Joshua S. Sanders.
Caddo circuit, R. J. Harp.
Mansfield, J. M. Beard.
Grand Cane, A. T. Galloway.
Many and Sabine, H. J. Boltz and S. S. Holliday.
Woodville and Ebenezer, S. J. Davies.
Anacoco and Bellwood, J. M. Davies.
Pleasant Hill, John M. Johnson.
Natchitoches, R. S. Isbell.
Coushatta, R. A. Davis.
Red River, R. S. Trippett.
South Bossier, R. M. Blocker, Henry S. Johns.
North Bossier, E. B. Foust.
East Point, G. A. Mandeville.
Mansfield Female College, F. M. Grace, president; S. J. Davies, professor.

ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT.

B. F. Alexander, P. E.
Alexandria, B. F. White.
Centreville, supplied (by J. J. Masters).
Columbia, N. S. Cornell.
Evergreen, S. H. Whatley.
Ada, J. Hoffpauir.
Spring Creek, S. H. Cooper.
Sugartown, J. M. Monroe.
Trinity, Wilson Moore.
Melville, Jeptha Landrum.
Winfield and Montgomery, J. F. Wynn—A. M. Wallis, supernumerary.
Bayou Bouff, Fred. White.
Hickory Flat, to be supplied.

OPELOUSAS DISTRICT.

S. S. Keener, P. E.
Opelousas, J. D. Jackson.
Washington, J. P. Porter.
Rayne and Plaquemine, H. O. White.
Abbeville, R. Harry.
New Iberia, J. W. Medlock.
Lafayette and India Bayou, M. C. Manley.
Lafourche, to be supplied.
Morgan City and Pattersonville, F. N. Parker.
Franklin, A. E. Clay.
Lake Charles, J. T. Daves.
Sulphur Mine and Grand Chenier, A. P. Howell.
Lake Charles German mission, C. K. Knudsen.
Northwest Calcasieu, to be supplied (by C. Carradine).

DELHI DISTRICT.

J. D. Harper, P. E.
Monroe and Delhi, Wm. Hart.
Bastrop, J. J. Billingsley.
Lind Grove, J. M. Brown.
Floyd, C. T. Munholland.
Lake Providence, T. J. Upton.
Oak Ridge, Thomas Randle.
West Monroe, T. H. McClendon.
Richland, J. F. Patterson.
Winnsboro, F. D. Van Valkenburgh.
Harrisonburg, W. P. Kimble.
Waterproof and Tensas, R. S. Collier.
Madison, to be supplied.

HOMER DISTRICT.

Robert Randle, P. E.
Homer, T. B. White.
Haynesville, C. R. Godfroy.
Minden, C. Keener.
Brushwood, R. Parvin.
Ringgold, Harry W. May.
Sparta and Saline, P. Burkett.
Arcadia, John A. Miller.
Tullp, J. L. P. Sheppard.
Summerfield, D. C. Barr.
Ruston, J. A. Parker.
Douglas, to be supplied (by J. L. Williams).
Vernon, J. L. Wright.
Indian Village, J. A. Connell.
Downeville, E. B. Galloway.
Farmerville, Wm. H. Hill.

Transferred.—A. C. Couey, to Montana Conference; J. F. Scurlock, to North Georgia Conference; H. W. Wels and P. H. Hensch, to German Mission Conference.

The Louisiana Conference has some veteran soldiers, who have done much valiant service and won many hotly contested battles. They have bogged through the swamps and toiled over the hills and sweated in the prairies, singing and praying and preaching for the glory of God in the salvation of souls. The Louisiana part of our Lord's heritage has, from the first, been the theater for the display of genuine heroism. The influence of the example of Nolley and his co-laborers is still lingering among us as an incentive to do and dare and die for the furtherance of the kingdom of righteousness. Among the veterans are J. B. Walker, who began his ministry when this writer was three years old; John Pipes, than whom no man stands higher in the esteem of his brethren; P. H. Dieffenwierth, who is passing his declining years in the balmy Florida; Reynolds S. Trippett, who has the perpetual youth of "merrie old England," and Lewis A. Reed, who stands as straight and is as zealous for the Master as when he began his career.

Louisiana Conference Personals.

—Of the seventy-four preachers in the Louisiana Conference, thirty-five have been received by the disciplinary form in the last fifteen years, and hence a large part of the body is composed of young men. Some of these are already men of mark and rising up into prominence in the church. In this respect, the Louisiana Conference stands on high vantage-ground for future operations. Strong, young men in the ministry are specially needed at this time, and will be more needed in the future; young men, strong in body, strong in mind, strong in will-power, strong in faith, strong in all the virtues that enter into the composition of the character of a successful gospel minister. Our Lord said: "Pray ye the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into his harvest." The laborer to be successful must needs have many strong points of character.

—With two exceptions, the presiding elders of this body are men in the prime of life, four of them being young men, neither of whom has been over fifteen years in the ministry. They have lead the Louisiana brigade of the Lord's army with much skill, and under their leadership many victories have been won and many positions of strategic value have been occupied.

In the midst of life and usefulness, the beloved wife of our Bro. John Thomson has been called to a higher sphere of love and labor. The husband and little ones in their sad bereavment have the sympathy of their friends. May God bless them in their sorrow!

A STRAW.—Bishop Duncan observed that where the Woman's Missionary Societies do their work earnestly and the church papers are circulated widely, there the church grows in intelligence and power, and the preachers are more liberally supported and all the enterprises of our Zion move forward with accelerated velocity. That is a good combination—the women and the church papers. Let the preachers work faithfully to effect this partnership, and the whole machinery will move with ease and the cause of God will go forward more rapidly then ever before. Why not work to make this year the most prosperous of all the years that have passed?

The life of Rev. George C. Haddock is being written by his son, Frank C. Haddock. Funk & Wagnalls, New York, will publish the work.

A SUGGESTION.—A superannuated preacher, in a communication to the Conference, makes this very suggestive remark: "The fact is, I always had to work up to the extent of my ability in order to retain the grace received in conversion." Right in this connection we may see, if we will, the reason of backsliding. It is the failure to work up to the grace given in conversion. The man or woman who does that can not backslide, and that is the only preventive against falling away. Dear friend, make a note of this suggestive remark of the aged preacher and "work up to the extent of your ability," and you will not only retain the "grace given in conversion," but you will "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ."

Judge Ruman recognizes the constitutionality of the Sunday law of Louisiana.

Books and Periodicals.

PERIODICALS.

—Mind in Nature, January, has a table of varied contents about mind and matter, two of the most mysterious subjects. Published by Cosmic Publishing Company, 171 W. Washington street, Chicago. Price, $1 per year.

—Babyhood. Now is the time for parents to begin with this very useful monthly. It will afford them much valuable information. Babyhood Publishing Company, 5 Beekman street, New York. $1 50 a year.

—The Studio—a journal of the fine arts. From the number of art journals published in this country, it seems that we are fast becoming an art-loving people. The Studio comes in for a share of patronage, and seems to be worthy of it. Studio Publishing Company, 3 East 14th street, New York. Price, twenty cents a number.

—The Century, New Year's number, is simply superb. It is the avant courier of the succeeding numbers, and we look for grand things during the year.

—The New Princeton Review has a list of contributors for the January number which will command attention. Among them appear the names of A. A. Hodge, D. D., Charles Dudley Warner, George Parsons Lathrop, Henry Calderwood.

BOOKS.

SCHOOL-ROOM GAMES AND EXERCISES. By Elizabeth G. Bainbridge. Published by Interstate Publishing Company, 30 Franklin St., Boston. Price, 75 cents.

This is a valuable manual prepared by a teacher of experience, and if used in schools will not only rest the pupils, but will serve to brighten their faculties and strengthen them for difficult mental work.

—As You Like It, Shakespeare. Cassell's National Library. Price, ten cents.

Is It Worth Keeping?

BY REV. WOLCOTT CALKINS, D. D.

I came across a curious scrap of history one day last summer, when I was searching for something else, in a library at Paris. It was the record of a trial in the south of France, in 1794 or 1795, for breaking the law of the Republic enforcing rest from work on the tenth day. A blacksmith was fined by the court for continuing his work on the day of rest. The revolution which had suppressed church, Sabbath, and all the rest of the superstitions, had attempted to provide and enforce a substitute for the Christian Sabbath. And no doubt if our fellow-citizens, many of them with the best intentions, who are taking part with socialists and anarchists in demanding a repeal of our Sabbath laws, shall succeed in their purpose, they will soon seek some substitute. It will be hard to find, and still harder to enforce. It may be hard to keep a good thing. It is a great deal harder to get it back, or to get its equivalent, when once it is thrown away. Is the American Sabbath worth keeping? This is the real question before us.

The Huguenots, at the moment of their greatest power in France, were reproached by court and people for their strict regard for the Sabbath. This was a matter in which Calvin was far more severe than Luther. I have witnessed with great delight a return to the spirit of the Huguenots, among the Protestants of France, in doctrine, in zeal and in worship. But I observed scarcely a trace of the old scruples against Sabbath desecration. Sunday is election day, anniversary of schools and colleges, and prize day for everything, from horse races to universities. I have failed to see any scruples among Protestants against these or any other labors and pleasures which are in themselves useful and innocent. The fact is, it will not take us 200 years, nor 50 years, to wear out our own scruples and turn the American Sunday into a European holiday. Is it worth keeping?

There is a society in Switzerland to promote the sanctification of the Lord's day. It is extending its influence into France and Germany. Christians are deploring the almost universal neglect and desecration of the day. They are always appealing to England and the United States as a demonstration of all they claim for the blessings of a restful and holy Sabbath. But it is sometimes amusing to receive invitations from editors and pastors, who are most earnest in this work, to festivities and concerts and public entertainments on the Lord's day! The fact is, they have lost, for generations, the very scruples which with us surround the day with hallowed associations. Is it worth keeping?

There has been a great improvement in Sabbath observance in Germany since my university days, twenty-five years ago. Churches are crowded. Business is much less prosecuted. "This store closed on Sunday," is a very common placard. The Sunday closing establishments are popular and successful.

I attended a Conference of Lutheran Churches in Bielefeld, Westphalia, on October 18. After reports from the churches, and provision for local missionary work, the whole time was given to the discussion of legal enforcement of Sunday observance. An exhaustive paper was read by a distinguished jurist, on Sunday laws ancient and modern. A very accurate sketch was given of American law, from the common to the revised statutes of many of our States. The author claimed that legislation for the protection of workingmen, and for the enforcement of quiet on the Lord's day, was legitimate, useful, and absolutely necessary. A resolution calling upon the Imperial Parliament to enact and enforce such laws, was thoroughly discussed and unanimously adopted.

Pending the discussion, I was called upon to give some account of the observance of Sunday laws in America. I was questioned by many members of the Conference, and was grieved not to be able to give a better account of ourselves in this country. I could say, however, with perfect sincerity, that the resolution before them embraced the spirit of American legislation. And I was hardly prepared to learn, as soon as I returned to Boston, that Massachusetts is seriously proposing to throw away what Germany is just now earnestly seeking to gain. Is it worth keeping? —Congregationalist.

"Consumption Can Be Cured."

Dr. J. S. COMBS, Owensville, Ohio, says: "I have given Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites to four patients with better results than seemed possible with any remedy. All were hereditary cases of Lung disease, and advanced to that stage when coughs, pain in the chest, frequent breathing, frequent pulse, fever and Emaciation. All these cases have increased in weight from 16 to 28 lbs., and are not now needing any medicine."

It is the man who lives for himself that fails. To make self the principal object is to beggar and deform the soul, and defraud it of the best things that God has provided for it. Christ himself taught this law of God's dealings with men so plainly there is no room for delcate over it, either as a fact or as a right principle. And then he gave us such an illustration of it in his own life that it should awaken an earnest desire to follow in his footsteps. The Christ-like man is always looking away from himself, hoping that he may make himself useful to others. This rule is of broader application than most persons think. There is probably less room for its observation in religious associations than elsewhere, for religious fellowship is built upon this principle. But in the world and the customs of society self takes the first place, and the right to do so is defended. It is our duty, therefore, to make the world see that Christians are not living unto themselves, but to Christ and our fellow-men.—Central Christian Advocate.

A Plea for the Sabbath.

Nearly all the diseases—those of the soul as well as of the human body—have their crises, or points from which they begin to disappear, and the health of the patient begins to improve, or to get worse and kill rapidly. As matters have seemed to be about at their worst, we have, for some time, been hoping that this Sabbath-breaking disease of our social system would soon show a crisis indicating that it had run its course and that hereafter the improvement of the afflicted patient might be confidently expected. While it may not be decisive—in fact may not, in the minds of many, be specially promising, we think we find a reason for a fairly active hope in this direction in a timely article in the October number of the Church Review, and from the pen of Rev. John Johnson, on Pierre Joseph Proudhon's Plea for the Celebration, or observance, of Sunday. This article should, in some way, be published as a tract and freely circulated among members of trades unions, and laboring men of all classes—including Socialists who are not too far gone to listen to reason. Proudhon himself was a Socialist. His motto was, "Properly is robbery"—a motto which has since been the rallying cry of socialism. From Socialists, therefore, he should have a candid hearing when he again presents, through Mr. Johnson, one of the strongest arguments recently offered for the observance of the Sabbath, and while he reasons with impassionate eloquence for the restoration of the Sabbath to the position it once held, and still deserves, as a social and moral conservator—meaning the Christian and not the Jewish Sabbath, for he justifies the change made by apostolic usage. M. Proudhon urges the hallowing of the seventh day on civil, domestic, moral and hygienic grounds, and argues forcibly from the standpoint of each. Speaking from the lower—the civil—he urges the observance of the Sabbath because the command for that observance proceeds from a mind far above that of the people and more comprehensive of their real wants; that such observance implies an instruction in religion, in healthy politics, and in moral laws—an instruction which tends to elicit and cement the affections of the people and to foster and educe a spirit conservative of law and positively necessary to the stability and prosperity of a nation. Arguing, secondly, from the domestic standpoint, M. Proudhon declares the institution of the Sabbath is necessary to the preservation of the family with all its members, whether those members be servants, domestics, guests or dependents of other kinds. He argues that the public day of weekly rest, properly observed, will do more to prevent than all things possible can do to cure those prejudices and ill-feelings which are so often found in our western society. Of course this argument for the preservation of the family by the proper observance of the Sabbath is nothing new, but it could be drawn, and has been drawn, with great force by one who, before 40 or forty years ago, could easily learn what we at home have also learned so recently—that the disregard of the Sabbath and the loosening of family ties always go hand in hand. Coming to the consideration of the question of Sabbath observance from a moral view point, M. Proudhon seems to draw a distinction between religion and morals, and to urge the observance of the Sabbath as a question of morals. The rest of collectedness and self-possession, and not of laziness and frivolity, is, he urges, favorable to morals and makes the day one of tender memories, earnest dedication and lofty aspirations which may lead to an earnest and pure religious sentiment; and which certainly are not acquired in noisy assemblies or in idle loitering. The arguments from the hygienic standpoint are forcible. In the hands of a competent man they could not well be otherwise. Rest is necessary, but it is comparatively, if not entirely, useless without periodicity, unvarying and regular—six days for work and one for rest, that and neither five nor seven, nor ten, to one of rest—because, under the great doctrine of crises, it is incontestably shown that, by any deviation from this arrangement, the man is killed by inertia or fatigue. So strong are the convictions of this French deist and Socialist upon this point that, rather than believe that Moses made the scriptural apportionment by chance, he would believe in a special revelation. We repeat the hope with which we began—that it may be found practicable to circulate this work of M. Proudhon's, both in French and in English, among our American wage-earners.—Interior.

A Word about Calendars.

There are Calendars and Calendars, big and little, good, bad, and indifferent, useful and ornamental, high-priced, low-priced, and no price at all. But for a substantial, practical Calendar, especially suitable for business offices, etc., with figures that can be read across a large room; and that will hang on the wall in Good Shape from January to December, few will mind paying 25 cents. This just about covers cost and postage for the one issued by N. W. AYER & SON, Newspaper Advertising Agents, Times Building, Philadelphia.

Christian religion begins not at the highest, as other religions do, but at the lowest. * * * Runs straight to the manger, and embraces this infant, the Virgin's little Babe, in thine arms, and behold him as he was born, nursed, grew up, was conversant among men; teaching, dying, rising again, ascending up above all the heavens, and having power over all things. This sight and contemplation will keep thee in the right way, that thou mayest follow whither Christ hath gone.—Luther.

The postoffice address of Rev. Dr. R. Abbey is Tchimo, Hancock county, Miss.

The Sabbath.

Let us look over the ground for the observance of the Sabbath, and examine the charge that those who uphold it are narrow-minded bigots. It was instituted in Eden, and the Lord God set man the example by sanctifying this day and resting from his labors. This early division of time was observed by the nations, and the Assyrian tumuli give evidence that the Sabbath was rigorously enforced, as deciphered tablets guarded its sanctity by most rigorous prohibitions. The Jews, aside from their sacred books, kept the tradition and affirmed that it was carefully observed from the foundation of the world. The fourth command of the Decalogue is for the observance of the Sabbath, and is explicit both as to the reason why the command was given, but also how it shall be observed. A study of Israelitish history will show that it not only restricted Sabbath labor, but also Sabbath travel, and was considered as a covenant between God and man, and as a condition of national prosperity, and it was therefore most rigorously enforced. This law was reaffirmed by Christ, who fulfilled the law in this regard, although he did not fail to work necessary miracles on that day, and rebuked the Pharisees for fettering its freedom. The transfer of observing the first day of the week instead of the seventh was inaugurated by the early Christians. To them there were the holiest memories clustering around the Lord's day, the day on which he rose from the dead; for next to the facts of his life and sacrificial death, they classed in importance his resurrection. They went everywhere preaching Jesus and the resurrection. Indeed, it was their cardinal doctrine as St. Paul sets forth in his letter to the Corinthians, "For if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins." The apostles observed the first day of the week; all the fathers testify to the change of the day, and Constantine by an edict made its observance the law of the Roman empire. That it was held to be a day of rest, of freedom from care; that it was sanctified in the thoughts of the people by the religious ceremonies of the early church; that they were rigorous in observing the day admits no denial. And now shall we surrender one of the foundations of our faith and practice? Shall we yield to the senseless clamor of the ungodly, who desire that it be only a secular holiday, and be spent chiefly in the pursuit of pleasure? God forbid! It is manifest that the nations which now observe the Sabbath are the most prosperous. It can be demonstrated that the mind demands its teachings and holy aspirations for the best thinking and most healthy movement, as physical and moral rest brighten the mental faculties, and as an educational influence on the people is of the utmost value. It is necessary to the State, since it enforces the reign of law, and the ready obedience it teaches to Divine law will express itself in loyalty to the State. The habit of obedience to Divine sanctions more readily disposes the mind to obey those laws which human wisdom has created for the safety of the body politic. There can be no social progress without it, as its teachings are all harmonizing and the broadest philanthropy is manifest chiefly by those who most faithfully obey it.—Episcopal Methodist.

LIFE'S FRICTION.—Life is full of friction, and he who is most disposed to assert himself is the man who will feel the friction most unpleasantly; but that is just because he needs it most. Just as friction tends to wear down the irregularities of surface, and to reduce all that unduly asserts itself, even so the long friction of life is designed to modify our idiosyncrasies, and to check our selfishness, and to discipline our self-will, so that we may be the better fitted to play our part as mirrors of Christ. Have you ever thanked God for the trials and worries, and disappointments and cares of life, because they are designed to bear so important a part in effecting our sanctification? What would become of us if we could have everything just as we might wish? Should we not become like spoiled children, a nuisance to ourselves, from our peevish willfulness, and to everyone with whom we might have to do? Yes, thank God for the long friction of life; but oh, let us see to it that we gain by it, and do not lose. I notice that some people seem injured by this very discipline, which is designed to benefit us; and, alas! not only worthily people. We are not surprised at that; but even true Christians seem sometimes only driven farther from God by the very things that should bring us nearer to him. The long worry and the many cares of life should make us feel how needful it is to lean hard on him who alone can calm the stormy waves of life's rough sea, and make all things alike work together for our good; but how common a thing it is to meet with backsliding and unstable souls who will tell you that they have had so much trouble and care, and so many difficulties in life, that they have lost the hold they once had on God, and no longer walk with him, as they once did; and when this is so, the friction of life does harm instead of good.—Rev. W. H. Aitken.

Religion may be said to commence when a soul ceases to keep back any secret from God. To live always bare to the soul's core in his sight is the condition of healthful religion. To speak out in his ear what can not be spoken in another's—those incommunicable things which only each man's own spirit knows, and which can only be told even to God in such inarticulate groans as need a Divine interpreter; this is that manner of praying which is a necessity in the religious life, and which can only be reached in secret. The reason for this necessity runs down into that mysterious personality which makes every human being, at the last resort, a solitude impervious to his fellow, accessible only to his God.—J. Oswald Dykes, D. D.

Labor and the Sabbath.

It is for no pious reasons that the laboring classes in continental Europe have been making such widespread efforts during the last few years to resist the demands of capital for Sunday labor. Slowly, but surely the wage-earning classes across the sea are coming to learn that encroachments on the rest day of the race result in their having seven days' work to do for six days' pay. Capital, however, seems too stupid to see that as the bow which is kept tightly strung when it is not in use loses its spring and power; so the man or the beast not having the rest which God Almighty intended each should have, suffers loss of power to earn wages.

Statistics show that manufacturers receive a greater profit from the labor of employes who rest on the Sabbath. All opposition to Sabbath observance tends to increase toil without increasing its profits. No man wishing to drive a horse for a hard day's drive would take one which had been driven almost or quite up to the limit of his power on the preceding day, if he could possibly get one that was fresh. So no wage earner who is crowded from early morning to late at night with work and the labor of going to and from work can be really fit to earn his wages any day in the week if his nerves are strained by working seven days. This kind of thing is therefore both an outrage on the wage-earning class and a poor investment for the wage-paying class. Carefully observed experiments made by the British government on gangs of men engaged on public works, demonstrated that men working seven days in the week, month in and month out, did less in both quantity and in quality than the same men did when working only six days. It is therefore an outrage on stockholders in corporations which employ men, as well as an outrage on the men, to work them on Sundays. Consequently, religion out of the question, the churches and the preachers in urging that no work be done on Sunday are friends of both capital and labor. Sunday work, however, don't come on a nation all at once. First one industry, like railways, for example, begins; then another, which is directly or indirectly related to railroads, follows suit. Thus the rest-day, first on one corner, then on another, is cut, till the quiet, old-fashioned Sunday, so good for body and brain, as well as for morals, is swept away.

Neither labor nor capital can afford to let this robbery of both the rich man and the poor man and their families go on any longer. It is time to call a halt. A halt, too, which is not used for sprees or rioting. These do as much or more harm than hard work. The red-flag meetings of bomb-throwing communists, and meetings of a certain kind of labor organizers (who may have joined the Knights of Labor to get 11 of 24 days of labor), which make the real laboring men more cost than profit, are held on Sunday usually. We want the old-fashioned Sunday back again, and we want church people to help us get it back, by observing it better themselves.—Northwestern Christian Advocate.

ZEAL AND ADAPTATION.—There are many things to be considered when planning for an efficient Christian work. Knowledge with zeal are not the only qualifications required in the agency employed. There must be a wise adaptation of the means to the end desired. As in the natural world so in the spiritual. For the production of a good crop every intelligent farmer has many things to consider, and he has to put forth action in accordance with all the information gained by reading, observation and experience; and if he fail to meet the requirements of seed, soil, season and climate, he must expect a failure in his crop, corresponding to his own failure in observing the necessary requisites. So in spiritual husbandry. The peculiarities of the people, mentally, socially and religiously, must be considered, their habits and environments studied, the most suitable times and seasons to make religious approaches toward them observed and the means best adapted to disarm their prejudices and enlist their regards. Many well-meant efforts have doubtless failed to produce the end sought, because adaptation in some of its varied aspects was not carefully considered; hence the zeal expended was in a great measure wasted, or was only productive of meagre results.—Pulpit Treasury.

A Sabbath-Keeping Nation.

Our nation has been pre-eminently a Sabbath-keeping nation. If we have lost much of the Puritanic spirit in religion, we have not given up the idea that the Sabbath was made for man, and that its observance is not only good for the individual, but highly beneficial to society and, consequently, to the nation. Nothing is better settled than that a periodical rest-day is a physical necessity. The French Revolutionists, who sought to destroy utterly all Christian institutions, believed they would accomplish much in this direction by obliterating the Sabbath. They were too wise, however, not to see that some substitute must be provided, so they ordained that every tenth day should be a rest-day. This was an acknowledgment that the Sabbath was founded on a principle which long experience had proved to be a sound principle. There is no question on this point among the American people. The number of those who would abolish the Sabbath as a rest-day is very small indeed. The Sabbath is really a national institution in this respect, all our governing authorities, national, State, and municipal, and all our courts of record refraining from transacting business on that day.

But to individuals the Sabbath should be something more than a rest-day. The law requires the cessation of labor, not only that physical benefits may result, but in order that individuals may worship God undisturbed by the noise and distractions of industry and commerce. Our churches open wide their doors, and the throngs enter and pay their allegiance to the King of kings. It is in such occupation that the individual sanctifies the day, strengthens his own moral and religious character, and lifts himself for the highest duties of citizenship. The Sabbath is, therefore, a day of moral education and recuperation, and it will be a sad day for our nation, when, if ever, it ceases to be in this sense a Sabbath-keeping nation.

We ask no laws from Congress or State Legislatures to command religious devotion. We ask nothing more than compulsory cessation of business, and restraint of immorality from the State. The church will do the rest. The church will sanctify the day. The church will provide such instruction as men need to make them moral and religious beings; and men so educated are the best, the staunchest, and the most intelligent citizens, and such citizens are the only source and safeguard of national prosperity.

Let us, then, maintain the Sabbath; not simply by enforcing the laws which compel cessation of labor, but by using the day for physical rest and for the cultivation of our moral and spiritual natures. Thus shall we truly observe and hallow it. Thus shall we honor our citizenship in this great republic, and strengthen the nation's hands for the work that is before it.—Independent.

Loyalty to the Law of God.

Extravagant notions of Christian liberty and the lustful tendencies of Paganism combined at an early day to develop a poisonous antinomianism in the church. Through all the centuries this no-lawism has been a source of untold evil. Men must go into evil who, having such a law as the Decalogue, ignore it, and attempt to become a law unto themselves. Two currents of influence have united to produce a type of no-lawism in our time which not only prevents us from gaining high ground spiritually, but also undermines the foundation of Christian and national character. The specific influences referred to are: the reaction which has followed the excessive legalism of the Puritan movement, and the European influences which have brought to our shores a type of thought which is the fruitage of centuries of antinomian training. These currents acting upon a people yet in the reckless boyhood of formative, national life, if allowed to go on unchecked, must eventuate disastrously. Respect for wholesome authority is the only basis for true manhood, or noble character, or enduring government. This is as true in theology as in business or morals; and if our theology be lawless, the average character of the people will fall into great license and indifference. Popular "cant" is quick to denounce Old Testament legislation as obsolete and Jewish, and to glorify the liberty which the world enjoys under the gospel. Even in theological matters the Decalogue is often treated as the people about Melrose, England, used to treat the ruined abbey, taking from it what suited the occasion until neither palace nor hovel was built in the neighborhood without containing some relic from the abbey; but the legalist structure grew more and more ruinous under the process until the government was forced to protect what remained. The church, the pulpit, the religious press of this time, need to speak out against the popular tendency to ruin the law of God, so far as disobedience can ruin it, and to defend it as the only perfect temple of justice and mercy. The remedy most needed for these later years of the nineteenth century is not so much a restatement of creeds as an enthroning of the law of God in men's hearts and lives. Men talk loudly of the Decalogue, "written and engraven on stones," as among the things of the past, forgetting that Paul taught not the abolition of the law, but a more vital enforcement of it by writing it upon the tables of the heart. The gospel seeks to change the administration of the law from an outward restraint to an inward control, whereby the soul will choose to obey from love, rather than be forced to obey through compulsion or fear. But in all this there is no annulling of the law, no abrogation of its demands. It is the same law under a different form of administration. The gospel has neither force nor place if the law be not binding. Christ magnified the law by obedience, and died to vindicate it.—Exchange.

Another Extraordinary Offer.

After this date we will include in our club arrangement the New York Weekly World; the price of which, including all postage, will be three dollars. This amount will entitle the subscriber to one copy of the "World's History of the United States," post paid.

This history is on a new plan. It is the record of the events of our history in the order in which they happened. There are no moralizings, no opinions put forth, no criticisms offered in regard to anything. It is not a political record merely, but one of all sorts of facts that have contributed to make our history. Discoveries, inventions, financial and literary matters, are all noted. One merit of the work is, that it can not grow old. The date of an event, when once ascertained, is fixed for all time. The book has twenty-four very good illustrations. We regard it as a valuable book for every student.

Old and new subscribers are entitled to the premium. Subscribers who have already paid will receive the History and the Weekly World one year by sending one dollar. Cash to accompany all orders.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

DECEMBER 9, 1886.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears it will be by accident.

In ordering from those who advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. R. Thomson, 64 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

"I said he was a liar, it is true; and I am sorry for it." So the confession was written, but in print it appeared: "I said he was a liar. It is true, and I am sorry for it."

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is agreeable to use. It is not a liquid or a snuff. 50c

A little child once asked his mother the question: "Mother, what part of heaven do people go in who are good, but not agreeable?"

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery (to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

The definition of an English curate as given by Sidney Smith is as follows: "A curate is the poorest and most respectable man in the parish."

P. WERLEIN.—The great Southern music emporium, 135 Canal street, is to the front with new attractions in the music line; the very latest compositions by well-known authors received, and will be mailed to any address on receipt of price. The full stock of musical instruments is being received, and surpass anything ever offered to the people of the South. Pianos and organs of superb tone and beautiful finish, at prices lower than ever known and terms unsurpassed by any music house in the United States. Write to Werlein before purchasing elsewhere. 135 Canal street.

Mamma: "Frankie, are you eating those green apples again?" Frankie: "No, mamma. I'm eating some others."

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

A debt of gratitude is too often compromised at about fifty cents on the dollar.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

The hot biscuit is the grub that makes the butterfly.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances, to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle.

FITS: All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Fond's Extract. Large sums of money are saved by the afflicted in their relief from Piles. The Extract is a certain cure for Blind or Bleeding Piles.

FIRE INSURANCE.

MECHANIC'S & TRADER'S
Insurance Company.
61 CARONDELET STREET,
New Orleans, La.

Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks,
AT LOWEST TARIFF RATES

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary. LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GRIMLEY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Cl'k. J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Cl'k. (Late Sec., Union Ins. Co.)
R. C. SHORTRIDGE, Collector. F. AUZOUT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Sam. Boyd, J. A. Brasselman, J. D. Britton, T. J. Carver, P. J. Cockburn, H. T. Cottam, O. Eloser, J. M. Frankenbush, Walter C. Flower, F. G. Gilbert, Chas. Holloway, L. L. Lyons, Laurent Lacassagne, T. L. Macon, Robt. Maxwell, Simon R. Marx, Emile J. O'Brien, F. J. Odendahl, Wm. A. Phelps, Ben O. L. Rayne, C. W. Seribner, A. Nelsenheimer, W. B. Thompson, P. A. Villeraln, Jos. Vignes, J. M. Walsh, T. S. Waterman, Frederick Wing, W. Y. West, W. G. Wheeler, Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders'
INSURANCE COMPANY.
42 CARONDELET STREET.

Paid Up Capital ..... $1,000,000.

ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN PHELPS, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

Issues Policies Covering Fire, River and Marine Risks at the Lowest Tariff Rates.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Moble, Richard Milliken, R. M. Walmsley, T. Lytt. Lyon, Wm. J. Behan, Chas. Claiborne, Wm. Hartwell, A. T. Jacks, Henry Abrahams, A. Britton, Wm. Cunningham, R. T. Buckner, John Chaffe, Sam'l Friedlander, A. H. May, Samuel H. Boyd, R. F. Robertson, L. C. Jones, C. J. Bech, A. M. Hickman, Louis Roth, G. W. Pownell, John I. Adams, Wm. A. Gwyn.

Thos. F. Walker.

CRESCENT INSURANCE COMPANY

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1869—Re-organized as a Stock Company in 1885.

CASH CAPITAL, - - - - - - $400,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1869.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Risks.

W. R. LYMAN.....President.
CHAS. B. DOLHEN, ...Vice President.
CHAS. H. RICE.....Secretary.

New and Accurate Cyclopedia of Useful Information. Indispensable to Every Household. Sold by Subscription Only. Agents Wanted Everywhere. Address, Chicago Publishing Co., 150 Nassau St., New York.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OFFICE: COR. CARONDELET AND GRAVIER STS.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.
J. F. POMEROY, Chairman.
NEWTON BUCKNER, A. DELVAILLE,
RUDOLPHE WOESTE.

Assets in the United States $6,468,783 99
Surplus over all Liabilities 2,796,120 18

HENRY V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Secretary.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Guard Your Little Ones.

Croup is the result of a cold, attacks suddenly, is always dangerous, and should receive prompt treatment. It is an inflammation of the windpipe, which contracts, making breathing difficult and painful. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has saved the lives of many children afflicted with this disease. "My children have taken Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, for Croup. It gives immediate relief, which is invariably followed by cure. I feel as if I could not do without it, especially in winter, when attacks of this dangerous disease are frequent.—Mrs. J. Gregg, 150 First st., Lowell, Mass.

Be Prepared for an Emergency.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been the means of saving my life, and also that of my little son. As he is troubled with Croup, I dare not be without the remedy constantly in the house.—Mrs. Charles B. Landon, Guilford, Conn.

My children are all liable to Croup. Having lost my first little daughter by this disease, I was in constant fear until I found, to my great relief, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral would cure it.—Anna Wade Wentworth, Northampton, Mass.

I have always found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a perfect cure for Croup. I have known it to relieve the worst cases, in a very short time, and advise all families to keep it on hand for use in sudden emergencies, for coughs, Croups, etc.—S. H. Latimer, M. D., Mt. Vernon, Ga.

Colds, Croup,

For children afflicted with Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, or Croup, I do not know of any remedy which will give more speedy and effectual relief than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have found it, also, invaluable in cases of Whooping Cough.—Anna Lovejoy, 1251 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

My little grandson has been, for the last three years, subject to violent attacks of Croup. At times, we have despaired of his life. For the last ten months, whenever symptoms of Croup have appeared, we have given Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and it has acted like a charm, affording almost immediate relief.—Enoch Edmunds, Cape Island, N. J.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, as a medicine for myself and children, with unfailing effect. It has rendered such excellent service in my family, that I intend to have it always at hand. It is the most effective remedy for Colds and Coughs I have ever tried, either for myself or my family.—Chas. V. Christensen, 143 Front st., New York City, N. Y.

I found Ayer's Cherry Pectoral a most valuable remedy for Bronchitis, and in a case of cold settled upon the lungs, from which I suffered greatly. The cure which this medicine effected in my case, was, most wonderful. I am also satisfied that it saved the lives of my children, who were sick with Lung Fever.—S. L. True, Palisade, Nebraska.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for myself and family, and am certain it is the best remedy for Colds and Coughs ever prepared. No family should be without it.—Elam T. Hess, Saltordville, Pa.

I cannot say too much in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have used it in my family many years, and always with perfect satisfaction.—Mrs. Robert F. McKeen, New Gretna, N. J.

Whooping Cough,

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of the greatest benefit to my three children. They were suffering from Whooping Cough, and were very sick. A friend, knowing their critical condition, advised me to give them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I purchased this medicine immediately, commenced giving it according to directions, and, in a few days, noticed a marked change for the better. From that time my children continued to improve, until they were finally cured.—Joseph Juneau, East st., East Holyoke, Mass.

The peculiar anodyne properties contained in Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, render it a superior remedy to allay the severity of the paroxysms of Whooping Cough. I have used it with remarkable and uniform success in that disorder.—Solon S. Blood, M. D., Fabyan's, N. H.

To those needing medicine for throat or lung troubles, I would recommend Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have strong confidence in this medicine. It is all it is represented to be.—Charles Dame, Pastor of the Congregational Church, Andover, Me.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

31 CAMP STREET.

Cash Capital.....$300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1886.....405,241 80

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President.
H. GALLY, Vice-President.
SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

Finance Committee:
John T. Moore, Jr., M. Schwabacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, F. G. Ernst.

NEW STORE! NEW GOODS!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our

New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youth's Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits, $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks. Lowest Prices and Best Goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S,
20 and 22 Camp Street.

Alabama Coal and Coke Company,

54 Carondelet Street,

Representing in New Orleans the largest mining companies in Alabama, and offering the best grades of Coal such as the famous MONTEVALLO, the best grate coal in the United States; the HELENA, thought by many to equal Montevallo; the ALABAMA SPLINT, Alabama's best combination coal, a hard lump coal good for grates or for steam; the celebrated Pratt and Warrior Coals, best Steam Coals now used in the United States.

All of the above Coals burn to ashes, leave no cinders, and are more lasting than Pittsburg coal. No odor arises from burning them.

We have unequal facilities for furnishing coal in Car Load Lots to points reached by any of the railroads centering in New Orleans, and can promptly load vessels at low prices here or at the ports of Mobile and Pensacola.

A. C. DANNER, President. H. E. ANDERSON, Secretary and Treasurer.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, NEW ORLEANS.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 Pieces.....$10
Decorated Dinner Sets, from.....$12 to $35
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape.....5
American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 138 pieces.....$12 00
Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape.....2 50
Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape.....3 50

Handsomely Japanned Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slops Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set
Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set
Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 Cents to $2 per dozen.
Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 80 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

T. J. CARVER. B. O. L. RAYNE.

T. J. CARVER & CO.,

Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants,

44 Perdido Street.

The patronage of our friends and the public respectfully solicited.

FURNITURE.

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street,

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the sovereign remedy. Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than for overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country, but their short lease of life is greatly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and symptoms of this frequently the result of these hidden rappers and robbers. When they are restless and feverish, sometimes starving and eating ravenously, again refusing wholesome diet, tossing restlessly in sleep, moaning, and grinding the teeth, they may be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely unsuspected, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from causes entirely beyond the control of parents, especially mothers who may not be reluctantly with their children. Cannot be too often repeated that if the symptoms of worms, for so surely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the most delicate infant by the use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge. Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it as the most prompt, certain, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its unfailing success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a cathartic, in supposing the cause of the illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged, and immediate relief afforded. Great caution must be used by every purchaser to be informed right in one sense, and for examine every bottle before the loss of it. The simple name of Fahnestock is not sufficient. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. Fahnestock, and be satisfied with nothing else.

New Flagstaff, Howard Co., Md.
Messrs. J. E. Schwartz & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.
Gentlemen—I have used to one of that most excellent remedy, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, and found it to have the desired effect. I think your vermifuge can not safely be dispensed with in any family.
Yours, &c., J. W. HUBBARD, M. D.

Cambridge, Md.
Having used the original "B. A. Fahnestock's" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is safe, reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed.
THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., SUCCESSORS TO B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

Our Young People.

INFLUENCE.

BY HON. J. H. HAWLEY.

The little stone, at random thrown,
Falls in the stream, is seen no more;
The waves it makes, go, landward borne,
And reach the distant shore.

A word once said, an act once done,
Are past recall, are past control;
But they may live when we are gone,
To mar or make the soul.

For, sure, in life the smallest act
Becomes what none of us can see,
For good or bad, a telling fact
In heaven's registry.

The world—its course we can not see,
But, spoken, lives and grows until,
Beyond our guessing, it shall be
A force for good or ill.

North Mississippi Conference Sunday-School Thanksgiving, 1887.

"Whene'er I take my walks abroad,
How many poor I see!
What shall I render to my God
For all his gifts to me?"

DEAR LITTLE FRIENDS: A happy New Year to you all! How important the responsibility when, through the medium of the press, one converses around a thousand firesides, scattering thoughts which may echo at the judgment! O, that each echo may be a bright one!

Our first conversation will be about thanksgiving quilts—a very practical, interesting subject for little folks, and older ones, too. "Visitors should not make their visits too long;" so be attentive while I briefly give you a description of these quilts, and tell you the plan for making one within every circuit and station of the North Mississippi Conference that has a Sunday-school. Economy, simplicity and comfortable durability are to be their leading characteristics. It is intended that each piece for these quilts be exactly ten inches square, made of worsted goods, in crazy style, lightly wadded with cotton and worked with zephyr. One hundred such pieces put together, and lined with good opera flannel, will form a neat quilt.

The first piece for these quilts was commenced November 25, 1886, and it is hoped they will all be finished before next Thanksgiving Day. On that day each quilt is to be sold at some place of worship in the pastoral charge in which it was made, which may be deemed the most suitable place to obtain the largest amount for it by the collection process. On that day every person in the charge is solicited to either send or carry some grateful offering to the place where the quilt may be sold—even though it be only a few cents—to go into the collection. When the quilt has been thus disposed of, it is to be presented to the pastor as a simple, grateful thanksgiving from the Sunday-schools of his charge; and the amount collected is to be paid over to him, to be carried by him to the Annual Conference as a Sunday-school thanksgiving, to go to the cause of home and foreign missions.

Now, dear little friends, let us go to work in earnest; but we must be systematic. Let us ask the good preachers to help us a very little. A sample is to be mailed to each of them soon, with the request that he give it to some energetic, experienced lady of his charge, and appoint her to superintend the work. When a few pieces have been made, she can send them around until every Sunday-school in that charge is supplied with a sample, so that all may go to work.

If the good editor will publish a Thanksgiving number of the ADVOCATE, containing the Thanksgiving Roll, how many of you are going to have your names there, following the names of your pastors? Each one who will aid in making a quilt, or pay five cents towards buying the opera flannel lining, etc., will be entitled to a place on the Thanksgiving Roll, provided their quilt is reported finished in time. The five-cent donation is to be paid to the lady or ladies, whom the preacher may appoint to superintend the work, to purchase lining.

A very wise man gave this advice: "Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise." Of the 14,675 Sunday-school scholars of the North Mississippi Conference may there be no sluggard. By economy, industry, a good will and thankful heart most of the girls can do as much as is required. The little ones can get others to help them along; and where is the boy that can not give five cents?

Now, who will be the first of the little people, and who will be the next, and the next, etc., to enter into this good work by sending their names on, and by sending letters to the editor for publication, telling what they know about thanksgiving and thanks-living? Every one desiring his or her name to be placed on the Thanksgiving Roll must send it, with the name of the preacher in charge, by the first of July; and any charge that does not report its quilt finished by the first of October will forfeit its place on the roll.

The names and reports must be sent to Cousin Cato, Pontotoc, Pontotoc county, Miss. Let every one get father, brother or friend to subscribe for the ADVOCATE, so as to keep up with the work and get a copy of the Thanksgiving Roll. Beautiful is the heart and the hand that gives!

COUSIN CATO.

PONTOTOC, Mississippi.

Sooner, far sooner, would God sweep away this material framework, with all its laws, into utter annihilation, than he would disappoint the authorized confidence of the most inconsiderable of his creatures.—President Hopkins.

MR. EDITOR: This is my first attempt to write to the ADVOCATE. My grandpa takes the ADVOCATE, and I like to read the cousins' letters. I live with my grandpa. My papa and mamma are both dead. I have one sister and brother dead; also I have one brother living. My brother is going to school, but I am not. His teacher's name is Mr. A. L. Summers. My grandpa is a Methodist preacher. Our pastor's name is Bro. R. S. Gale, and we all like him very much, and we heartily wish the good Bishop will send him back to preach for us another year. Next Thursday will be my birthday. I will be fourteen years of age. I joined the Methodist Church last August at a protracted meeting at Coinmbia. Bro. Selby was here, and we all like him very much. I will answer Annie L. Barton's question. It was Achan that stole the golden wedge. It is found in Joshua vii, 21. Now, I will ask a question: Who was Achan's father? I will close for fear of that dreadful waste-basket. I remain,

Your little friend,

BEAULAH D. SULLIVAN.

COLUMBIA, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: It is encouraging to write to the paper, and also to read the young people's column. It is very cold here; plenty of ice, and it has been snowing this morning. The crops made very good in this county, considering the season. Most of the people in this county get logs for a living; but I think that is poor business. There is not much interest taken in education; only in some parts of it. It is not very thickly settled where I live. My father is sending me to school now. My teacher is Miss Pet Hopper. I like her very much for a teacher. I study history, geography, grammar, Latin, arithmetic, dictionary and music. Our preacher, Rev. A. P. Cox, has preached his last sermon to us for this year and is now getting ready for Conference. We hope he may be sent back another year. My father is a delegate from this circuit. With many good wishes to the ADVOCATE, I remain,

SARDEN R. WALKER.

HE-NO, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: School has closed until the first Monday in January. I am studying spelling, reading, arithmetic, geography, grammer and writing. I have no pets except a dog. I have three sisters and one brother. I have a little sister—Gurt—five months old, and think she is the sweetest little thing that ever lived. We are so glad that Bro. Johnson has been sent back this year. We had Aunt Agurte and Uncle Willie Sample with us Christmas Day, and all the little cousins, and we had a nice time. There were seventeen children, but there was a vacant chair, as our Grandma Williams was absent from home. I will close by wishing the little cousins a happy New Year. I remain, Your little friend,

BERTIE C. PELPS.

BLUFF CREEK, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not written to your paper in some time, I thought I would write again. I like to read the cousins' letters. I joined the church three years ago, and I have been living a Christian ever since. I go to school now, and it will be out next February. Our teacher is Miss M. W. Hopper. She is from Waynesboro. I like her very much. I liked Bishop Galloway's letter in the ADVOCATE so much that I thought I would write. I would like to see the Indians and be with them. You need not look for a long letter this time. I will close by asking a question: Where is "black horse" found in the Bible? I remain,

Your true friend,

ANDRON D. WALKER.

HE-NO, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: Bro. Jones is our pastor, and to-day is his last day with us before Conference. It has been snowing all day; so we could not have preaching. We all love him very much, and hope the Conference will send him back to Wesson next year. We have a good Sunday-school. Mr. Monroe Smith is my teacher, and my papa is our superintendent. I read Dr. Galloway's letter from Indian Territory. I would just like to see the Indians and their ponies, for I study history and geography, and have learned some of their queer ways. I will close by asking a question: What king shut up the temple of Gou?

Your little friend,

EDDIE REMBERT.

WESSON, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl nearly nine years old. I have two brothers and two sisters. We will soon move on a new place about two miles from here. Papa is building the house. My brother, Gardner, and sister, Lorreh, and myself went on a wagon yesterday, and we had a merry time playing and cutting cane, while Mr. Lanton and papa were busy working. We carried our dinner with us. I will answer Cora Slocum's question: Peter was crucified with his head down, as tradition says. I found it in my catechism. Your little friend,

MARY L. CURRIE.

EAST CARROLL, Louisiana.

A Family Blessing.

Simmons Liver Regulator—the favorite home remedy—is entirely vegetable, and is the purest and best family medicine that is compounded. No error to be feared in administering, no injury from exposure after taking, no loss of time. It is the best preventive medicine, and safe to take, no matter what the sickness may prove to be, and in any ordinary disease will effect a speedy cure.

LIVING FOR CHRIST.—Example is better than profession, and more impressive than precept. A consistent, holy, heavenly life is more eloquent than words. You can no always be speaking for Christ, but, by the grace of God, you can always be living for him. It was from the conduct, the bold fidelity of Peter and John, that the rulers "took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus." And when one, about to unite with the church, was asked, "Under whose preaching she was converted," her reply was, "Under nobody's preaching; it was under Aunt Mary's living." Lord Peterborough, after having been for some time with the excellent Fenelon, referring to his holy example, said, "I shall become a Christian in spite of myself." And said one now an eminent minister of the Gospel, "I could put away appeal, and reply plausibly to argument, but I never could get over the Christian life of my father; it gave me no rest until I gave myself to the Savior." Justin Martin tells us "that he was led from philosophy to religion by the godly lives of the early Christians." And when the native converts of Madagascar, on presenting themselves for baptism, were asked, "What first led you to think of becoming Christians? Was it some sermon or address, or the reading of God's word?" the answer usually was, "It was the changed conduct of those who had become Christians." And if you so let your light shine that others may see your good works, they will be led to acknowledge, and love and serve, and glorify your Father who is in heaven.—The Quiver.

How to Save Money.

Wherever you live, you should write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and learn about work that you can do while living at your own home at a profit of at least from $5 to $25 and upwards daily. Some have made over $50 in a day. All is new. Either sex. All ages. Hallett & Co. will start you. Capital not needed. All particulars free. Send along your address at once and all of the above will be proved to you. Nothing like it ever known to workingmen.

Some people are afraid of anything like joy in religion. They have none themselves, and they do not love to see it in others. Their religion is something like the stars, very high and very clear, but very cold. When they see tears of anxiety, or tears of joy, they cry out, "Enthusiasm! Enthusiasm!" "I sat down under his shadow with great delight." Is this enthusiasm? "May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing." If it be really in sitting under the shadow of Christ, let there be no bounds to our joy. Oh! If God would but open our eyes and give us simple child-like faith to look to Jesus, to sit under his shadow, then would songs of joy arise from all our dwellings.—McCheyne.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT
VEGETABLE
PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises. It is cooling, cleansing and Healing.

Catarrh, It is most dreadful disease. Cold in the Head, &c. "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, should be applied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plaster is invaluable in these diseases, Lumbago, Pains in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching. It is the greatest known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples. Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints. In the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used, as is well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract Has been imitated. The genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

Sold everywhere. Prices, 50c., $1, $1.75.

Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

MILLINERY.

F. R. HARDON,

29 CHARTRES ST., Bet. Canal and Customhouse Sts.,

NEW ORLEANS.

Has now a Complete Stock of Ladies' and Children's Bonnets and Hats of the latest styles and most reasonable prices.

Cleaning, Dying and Curling of Feathers a specialty.

Crepe renovated to look like new.

Country orders solicited and filled with the greatest care.

H. D. McCOWN,

—DEALER IN—

Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing, HATS, SHIRTS,

—AND—

FURNISHING GOODS,

COR. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

YALE & ROWLING,

WHOLESALE

DRY GOODS AND NOTIONS

17, 19 & 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets,

NEW ORLEANS

MISCELLANEOUS.

COLGATE'S CASHMERE BOUQUET Toilet Soap

Established over 80 years. The largest and oldest manufacturers of Toilet Soaps in America. Our Toilet Soaps of all kinds are acknowledged to be the most reliable, being absolutely pure, of high uniform standard, and exquisite delicacy of perfume. THE BEST for chapped hands and delicate skins. Sold everywhere.

COLGATE & CO., NEW YORK.

FROM

CAPTAIN THE HONORABLE

ALISTAIR HAY,

3rd Battalion Black Watch,

Royal Highlanders.

(SECOND SON OF THE EARL OF KINNOULL)

DUPPLIN CASTLE, PERTH, SCOTLAND

TO THE LIEBIG COMPANY:

"I was in a condition of great debility consequent upon a broken down stomach, dyspepsia and malaria complicated with kidney irritation, when my medical attendant directed me to take your incomparable Coca Beef Tonic. The effect was simply marvelous. The power of digestion was quickly restored, the kidney irritation vanished, and rapid restoration to health followed.

"Other preparations of Coca had been tried with only the slightest effect."

Invaluable in Debility, Dyspepsia, Bilious and Liver Affections, Malaria, Nervous Affections, Nervous and Sick Headache, Sleeplessness, Weak Lungs, Asthma and Female Sufferings and Infirmities. Beware of Imitations under imitative names.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR.

N. Y. DEPOT, 38 Murray Street.

Press the ADVOCATE circulation now.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.

MUSIC BOOKS

MODERN CLASSICS. A superb collection of Piano Music, by the best modern composers. Price, postage paid, $1.50 in boards; $1.50 in cloth.

URBACH'S PIANO. The best edition of the Piano. Translated by Theodore Presser. Many valuable additions to the original work. Price, postage paid, $2.00 in boards; $3.00 in cloth.

DOERNER'S TECHNICS. By Armin W. Doerner. A most valuable collection of exercises, such as are necessary for every student of the Piano. Endorsed by the most noted instructors in the United States. Price, postage paid, $1.50, in limp cloth.

FAITH TRIUMPHANT. By H. Butterworth & Geo. F. Root. A new and beautiful Scripture Cantata, by these most successful writers. This new work is superior to any they have heretofore produced. 75 cts. by mail, postpaid; $7.50 in dozen, by express, not prepaid.

CROWN OF SONG. By M. L. McPhail, with Geo. F. Root. A new book for the use of Singing Schools, Conventions and Musical Institutes. Has elementary department and a great quantity of fresh and good music. Price same as for "Faith Triumphant."

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O., And 19 East 16th St., New York City.

For Sale by Book and Music Dealers.

ESTERBROOK'S STEEL PENS

Leading Nos.: 048, 14, 130, 135, 333, 161.

For Sale by all Stationers.

THE ESTERBROOK STEEL PEN CO., Works: Camden, N. J. 26 John St., New York.

THE IMPROVED ACME WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only FIVE lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $14,000 Dewitt Co. for its Superiority. Washing made light and easy. The clothes leave that purity and whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required, no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3; and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges.

Send for circulars. Agents wanted.

C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont. N.B.—Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y. thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.

CATARRH

Also good for Cold in the Head, Headache, Hay Fever, &c. 50 cents.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expense, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. H. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

OPIUM AND WHISKY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. DR. J. C. HOFFMAN, Lebanon, Ohio.

FACE, HANDS, FEET, and all their imperfections, including Facial Development, Superfluous Hair, Birth Marks, Moles, Warts, Moth, Freckles, Red Nose, Acne, Black Heads, Scars, Pitting of the Skin, and their treatment. Dr. John H. Woodbury, 37 N. Pearl St., Albany, N.Y. Est'd 1870. Send for Book, free.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

the popular favorite for dressing the hair. Restoring color when gray, and preventing baldness. It cleanses the scalp, stops the hair falling, and is sure to please. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

WE WANT YOU! A live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every county. Salary $75 per month and expenses, or large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfit and particulars free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

CHILDS—SLOANE.—At the residence of the bride's mother, in Lake Charles, La., December 29, 1886, by Rev. A. T. Galloway, Mr. John Childs, of St. Landry, Parish, to Miss Julia Sloane.

VANDERLINDEN—CAYARD.—At the Methodist Church, in Lafayette, La., January 1, 1887, by Rev. A. T. Galloway, Mr. Jules J. Vanderlinden, of the Southern Pacific railway, to Miss Anna E. Cayard, of Lafayette, La.

GRAHAM—MILLER.—At the residence of the bride's father, Rev. Irvin Miller, at Walnut Grove Miss., December 26, 1886, by Rev. W. W. Cammack, Prof. W. W. Graham to Miss Addie Miller.

NELTSCHEY—NORTON.—Near Morton, Miss., December 28, 1886, by Rev. C. McDonald, Mr. C. A. Neltschey and Miss M. C. Norton.

SLOCOM—CARPENTER.—December 23, 1886, by Rev. A. G. Miller, Mr. Randall Slocom to Miss Minnie Carpenter, all of Jackson, La.

MARTIN—FERGUSON.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Jesse Jones, near Terry, Miss., December 16, 1886, by Rev. T. B. Huntman, Mr. Ben F. Martin to Mrs. Nannie Ferguson, all of Hinds county, Miss.

WENTWORTH—SCOTT.—At the Methodist Church, in Meadville, December 26, 1886, by Rev. V. D. Stipper, Mr. E. H. Wentworth and Miss Lula A. Scott.

STEVENS—FREEMAN.—At the residence of the bride's father, December 26, 1886, by Rev. V. D. Stipper, Mr. O. R. Stevens, of El Is county, Texas, and Miss Dora A. Freeman, of Franklin county, Miss.

MARTIN—FEDRICK.—At the Methodist parsonage, Mechanicsburg, Miss., December 30, 1886, by Rev. S. J. Cotton, Mr. E. S. Martin to Miss Josie W. Fedrick, both of Mechanicsburg, Miss.

TEDDLIE—McCAIN.—At the residence of the bride's father, J. M. McCain, Esq., in Winn parish, La., December 23, 1886, by Rev. R. A. Davis, Mr. A. G. Teddlie to Miss Nena A. McCain.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

HYER.—On December 6, 1886, at Victoria, Texas, MRS. AMANDA W. HYER, the beloved one whose death we record, was suddenly caught away from the affectionate activities of a most useful life—consecrated to love, home and duty—and borne away on swift and silent wing to the land of the Immortals. At midnight the Bridegroom came, and with lamps trimmed and burning she went forth to meet him. Mrs. Hyer was born and reared in Bayou Sara, and there wedded to T. W. Hyer, a man of refined cultivation and exalted Christian character, who was cashier of the bank at Woodville. They came from there to reside in New Orleans, and were among the most prized and active members of Felicity Church in its early history. During the dark war period Mr. Hyer's business was destroyed, and when New Orleans was occupied by the Federals he, broken down in health, sought refuge with his family again in Woodville, where he very soon after died, leaving his wife an exile from home with seven children—one a tender babe in arms. This gentle, shrinking, delicate creature, aroused by the need of her little ones, came forth from the seclusion of her sunny home, which was her Eden, and she, "the angel of the house," bravely undertook their support, nobly fulfilling the offices of both parents. Prof. T. W. Dyer, of this city, is her eldest son.

Mrs. Dyer was one of the meek and trusting souls who, leaning on the Beloved's bosom, was kept pure in sin and refining, fresh, sensitive and inspired to the very last. Through all the changing years of struggle and trial, not without hard and bitter experiences, the delicate bloom and fragrance of her nature was unprofaned, no defacements of worldliness marred its guileless beauty. It is therefore not difficult to conceive of this lovely "being, breathing thoughtful breath," filled with the sweetness and nobleness which is born of Christian culture, refined and chastened by sorrow, ever abiding near her Lord, undergoing quick and easy transformation into angelhood. She was graceful, womanly and good, an appreciative and tender friend, a devoted and self-sacrificing mother, a simple-hearted and happy Christian; and her life was a blessed benediction. "Green be the turf above thee, friend of my better days." I give thee joy that thou hast entered upon a higher life with its nobler expansion, where no vicissitudes can disturb thy eternal calm!

A. E. HEARD.

HAMBLETT.—Died at Perry's Bridge, La., October 31, 1886, MRS. AUGUSTA ETHELBERT, consort of Dr. J. T. Hamblett, and daughter of George W. and Mary F. Robertson. She was the neice of Dr. A. R. Winfield, of Little Rock Conference. She was born near Oxford, Miss., October 15, 1853, and was married December 10, 1875.

After lingering for some years in Mississippi, she was removed to this section in quest of a more genial clime for one who seemed predisposed to that fatal malady, consumption. But the threatening disease developed, baffling the skill of the medical profession and yielded not to the salubrious rays of the Sunny South. I visited her many times within a few months of her death, and on one occasion she opened her mind freely on the subject of religion, saying that she had never united with the church because she had not experienced a change of heart, but that she had recently felt a satisfactory change, and was then prepared to unite with the church and intended so to do at an early period; and although she failed to join the church militant, we can fairly infer the failure originated in physical weakness, and take comfort in believing that she has joined the church triumphant. And although reticent, even to her nearest friends, as to her approaching dissolution, we are satisfied that she was fully aware of its near approach from the incidental allusions to it to those who attended her in the last weeks of her illness. Her short stay in this community had won many friends, among whom her animating presence was as sunshine. Woman adi, she is missed in the home circle and in the social circle. But we sorrow not as those who have no hope, for they that sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. Let us comfort one another with these words.

MARCUS O. MANLY.

Arkansas Methodist will please copy.

HILL.—Departed this life on November 4, 1886, at his residence in Bastrop county, Texas, THOMAS HILL, in the seventieth year of his age. He was born in Oglethorpe county, Ga. He was the son of James A. and Amelia W. Hill. When four years old his father died. His uncle, John S. McGehee, became his guardian, and brought him to Panola county, Miss. After he grew to manhood he was married, to Miss Jane A. Stratton in 1846, and lived in DeSoto county until 1851, when he moved to Bastrop county, where he spent the remainder of his life. He was a successful farmer in the Colorado Valley; was the father of nine children, eight of whom are still living. At the time of his death he had twenty-one living grandchildren.

Mr. Hill entertained friendship for religious people, and was pleased to have ministers of the gospel enjoy his hospitality. He did not make the subject of religion a personal matter until a few weeks prior to his death. During his last sickness he became very much concerned about the welfare of his soul, earnestly desiring the prayers of God's people. For the forty years of his married life he had the prayers and pious example of his devoted wife, who from early girlhood was a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. From the time he was taken sick Mr. Hill was impressed that he must die soon. He felt the necessity of giving his heart to God at once and prepare for the change which awaited him. God in mercy pardoned his sins, and he became perfectly resigned to the will of his Maker. He gave good counsel to his children, and spoke of meeting his Christian friends in heaven. His last act was pointing his finger heavenward. He calmly fell asleep in Jesus. DANIEL MORSE.

WALLACE.—MRS. LEONORA WALLACE, aged near ninety years, after a residence in the city of Meridian, almost coextensive with its existence, passed from earth to her heavenly Father's home, November 5, 1886.

"Aunt Nora," as she was familiarly and affectionately called by many of our people, was a timid, modest Christian, never too sanguine, but ever trustful. She verily "worked out her salvation with fear and trembling." All who knew her doubt not that she was a pure Christian and died in sight of heaven. She was born, we know not whon, in North Carolina. Her maiden name was Sparrow. She was married in early life to a Capt. Haskell, a sea captain, who, in the midst of the sea, being shipwrecked, found a watery grave. And it is supposed that in her young widowhood she was married to Thomas Blunt Wallace, who died near thirty-three years ago, leaving her a widow with one son. This only son, son on whom this fond mother's heart doted; whose name was Henry, died in the city of Natchez, of yellow fever, in 18—. Our sister was a resident of the above named city at that time, but soon removed to Meridian and became an inmate of the hospitable Christian home of Mrs. Hannah Petty, the worthy and sainted mother of Mrs. Jennie Kirkland, formerly Miss Jennie Petty, of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of Mississippi Conference. The writer first met "Aunt Nora" in December, 1880. Since that time I have been intimately acquainted with this dear old saint. I was called to her bedside and offered the last prayer she ever heard. I have no doubt she is "forever with the Lord." Though there was no flood of salt tears near to mourn as core fears were shed at her funeral. She rests in the Lord.

R. D. NORSWORTHY.

WHITE.—MRS. M. J. WHITE, daughter of Mrs. H. B. Hardy, and wife of F. M. White, departed this life, November 2, 1886 aged thirty-two.

It was the writer's privilege to be with her through her illness. Yet notwithstanding all her bodily suffering, no one ever heard a murmur from her lips. She told us she was happy; that she was going to her father and all the loved ones gone before; that she saw them waiting for her at the beautiful gate. She was always cheerful and happy; her face radiant with smiles of happiness. As long as the feeble voice could be heard she would sing those beautiful hymns: "What a friend we have in Jesus," "I am going home to die no more." The last song she tried to sing was, "How happy every child of grace." And at last when too weak to sing any longer, she asked those who stood around her to sing.

Bro. Jones, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church here, visited her only a few hours before she breathed her last, and as he came to her bedside, she clasped his hand, saying: "Bro. Jones, religion is a fortune and heaven is a home. Glory! glory! I'm going home to die no more." And, surrounded by weeping friends, she died in full triumphs of a living faith. She was an affectionate wife, a loving daughter and sister, a zealous Christian and a true friend. She leaves a husband, a loving mother and sisters and a devoted brother and many friends to mourn her loss. But our loss is her gain. Not our will, but God's be done. Farewell, dear Janie; you can not come back to us, but, like David of old, we can go to you. S. H. PILGRIM.

WEBB.—MRS. ROHANNA WEBB was born in the State of South Carolina, August, 1812, and died at her residence, in the town of Columbia, Miss., September 27, 1886. She was first married to James Atkinson, in New Orleans, March 25, 1830, in which estate she lived happily until May, 1839 when on a business trip to New Orleans, he was taken suddenly sick and died. Her eldest child was called to rest at nine years of age, leaving nine to toil and care for. She remained a widow six years; then again was married to Walter Webb, in Columbia, Miss., 1855. He died in 1883, leaving her one child to care for and nurse her during her declining and last days. She was patient during a protracted spell of seventeen weeks' sickness. She was perfectly resigned to death; died calm and peacefully. Many loved ones, children and grandchildren, are left to mourn, most of whom are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. God's ways are not our ways. She has gone; but in the morning when the trump sounds, she shall meet us all.

A FRIEND.

MALONE.—EDDIE LAFARA MALONE, son of W. M. and E. L. Malone, of Provencal, Natchitoches parish, La., was born January 19, 1880 and died of congestion, October 12, 1886.

Little Eddie was their firstborn. He was dedicated to the Lord in holy baptism by Rev. T. H. Mecklendon. Sweet little Eddie was a very smart and precious treasure. His parents were trying to train him for heaven, and but little did they think that he was so soon to go. Yes, he has gone home to live with his blessed Savior and all the good that have gone to heaven and the holy angels. May God sustain the parents in this, their sad affliction! R. M. R.

JENNINGS.—Died November 26, at 3:30 P. M., MR. SIDNEY J. JENNINGS, son of Mr. J. M. and Mrs. M. E. Jennings, aged twenty-four years, seven months and twenty-three days. He became a member of the church in 1880, and opened prayer meetings the second night after becoming a member, and has been a praying member in public on put up to his death. He filled a member of McGee's Chapel. His last words that could be understood were, "I must go; peace, peace, heaven, heaven," and called to his mother to take off her bonnet. It seemed as though he wanted to take one more good look at her before he left her. His remains were moved to McGee's Chapel on the morning of the twenty-seventh instant, where his funeral was preached by Rev. W. J. O'Bryan. He leaves a dear father, mother, two sisters and three brothers and other relatives and friends to mourn his loss. T. W. Y.

BARNETT.—It has pleased the All-wise Creator to remove from our midst our beloved brother, WILLIAM H. BARNETT, after allowing him to live to the good old age of ninety-three years. Bro. Barnett was a faithful member, ever ready with his wise counsel in Quarterly Conference to support, to aid and assist in the spread of the gospel, to feed the poor and clothe the naked. While we humbly bow to the dispensation of Providence, we feel the loss of our brother greatly; but know that our loss is his gain.

Resolved, By this Quarterly Conference, that we humbly bow to the Divine will and that we will ever cherish the memory of our brother in our hearts.

Resolved, That this preamble and resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Quarterly Conference and a copy be given the bereaved family.

JARRED WATTS, for Com.

DAWSON.—MRS. THOMAS DAWSON (nee Allen) died at her own home, in East Feliciana parish, La., November 30, 1886, leaving her husband and a large family of children, with other relatives, to mourn her departure.

For some twenty years she had been a member of the Baptist Church, but for years she had not heard a gospel sermon, and she wished to hear one more sermon before she died, and then once more witness on earth her faith in Christ by partaking of the emblems of his body and blood. So, in accordance with her request, a sermon was preached in her room the day she died, and after the sermon the Lord's Supper was administered to her and others of like faith in Christ—Methodists and Baptists—who knelt around her dying-bed. The disease was consumption, and she had long been looking for her dissolution, and through Christ she felt ready to go. A. G. MILLER.

PEEBLES.—MARY ALICE, child of Isaac L. and M. A. Peebles, was born September 4, 1885, and died December 2, 1886, making her nearly fifteen months old.

Yes, our "little Mamie," as almost every one called her, has passed from earth to heaven. We miss thy bright smile and welcome "chick" with which you always greeted papa, little one, seeming to say, "Take me to see your horse, papa." Our little pet could only say a few words, but to us they were the sweetest on earth. Our hearts are almost broken at the thought of parting even a while from her, but we feel that it is the Lord's will; therefore, willingly submit. We buried her at Newton, knowing that she would be among a host of kind friends to await the resurrection. MAMMA.

PAYNE.—NELLIE LEONA PAYNE was born September 20, 1868, and died November 15, 1886, aged eighteen years, one month and twenty-five days.

Much of life's sorrow was sown in this brief time, yet borne with cheerful patience. The loss of her mother in early childhood subjected her to the care and counsel of others, who, by the guidance of the Holy Ghost, directed her early to the "orphan's friend," in whom she trusted and found tranquility during the last struggles of life. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, several years before her death; and when asked in regard to her salvation, said that she knew that she "loved Jesus and that Jesus loved her." She was not left long to mourn for mother. She leaves one sister and an aged father to wait. May all the friends joyfully meet, is the prayer of her PASTOR.

CAMMACK.—OLLIE LUCRETIA, daughter of James M. and Mary Cammack, was born February 17, 1885, and died December 4, 1886, near Crystal Springs, Miss. Ollie was a bright, cheerful babe, making home happy by her merry prattle. The hearts of the stricken parents are cheered by the words of him who says, "Of such is the kingdom of God." T. B. H.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There is no reason why any man, woman or child living in a Malarious region should suffer in health more than those who live in the mountains. The poison is only active during the summer and fall months, and it would have no power to harm if a dose of Shallenberger's Antidote were taken once a week, as a preventive. If you have neglected to do this, and are sick, take it and be cured.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wher ver there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaf by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—"Civil Service Gazette."

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

AGENTS WANTED FOR A NEW BOOK OF WONDERS.

A rare success! the richest business chance of years! A perfect museum of the wonderful things of earth! A magnificent panorama of surprising scenes in many lands. A book of entrancing descriptions, startling adventures, endless instructions; hundreds of attractive features; 500 illustrations; 700 pages. Easy to sell, as everybody that sees the book wants it. For special terms, address

TEXAS BOOK & BIBLE CO., 904 Elm St., Dallas, Texas.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

BILIOUSNESS

Is an affection of the Liver, and can be thoroughly cured by that Grand Regulator of the Liver and Biliary Organs,

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

I was afflicted for several years with disordered liver, which resulted in a severe attack of jaundice. I had no good medical attendance as our section affords, who failed utterly to restore me to the enjoyment of my former good health. I then tried the favorite prescription of one of the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but to no purpose; whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health.

A. H. SHIRLEY, Richmond, Ky.

HEADACHE

Proceeds from a Torpid Liver and Impurities of the Stomach. It can be invariably cured by taking

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR.

Let all who suffer remember that

SICK AND NERVOUS HEADACHES

Can be prevented by taking a dose as soon as their symptoms indicate the coming of an attack.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidently made a preparation of Indian Hemp which cured his only child of CONSUMPTION. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that CONSUMPTION can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this recipe free, only asking two 2-cent stamps to pay expenses. This Herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1,031 RACE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, naming this paper.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

USE WINCHESTER'S HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME AND SODA. For Consumption, Weak Lungs, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and General Debility it is an acknowledged Specific Remedy. TRY IT.

Price, $1 and $2 per bottle. Prepared only by WINCHESTER & Co., Chemists, 162 William street, New York.

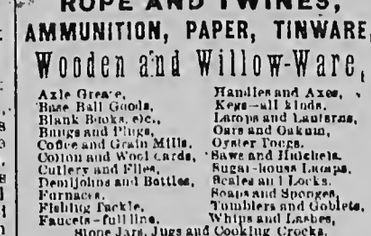
Sold by druggists.



The Physician's Favorite!

A prolonged, yet revitalizing, easily assimilated food indicated in all weak and inflamed conditions of the digestive organs, either in infants or adults.

☞ It has been the positive means of saving many lives having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

The Most Nourishing, Most Palatable, Most Economical, of all Prepared Foods.

150 MEALS for an Infant for $1.00.

EASILY PREPARED. At Druggists, 25c., 50c., $1

☞ A valuable pamphlet on "The Nutrition of Infants and Invalids," sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

PAZ-A-REN

CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, DEAFNESS, CURED AT HOME.

NEW PAMPHLET, FREE. Address, DR. M. W. CASE, 809 NORTH BROAD STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

DR. CASE'S CARBOLATE OF TAR INHALANT.

SEND FOR NEW PAMPHLET. NAME THIS PAPER.

SALUDA, MIDDLESEX Co., Va., August 29, 1882.

DR. M. W. CASE: I began the use of your remedy for Catarrh and Bronchitis in September, 1879. I tried it faithfully, and it completely cured me. My throat was constantly inflamed. My nasal organs were horribly diseased. Boils covered the inside of my nose from the entrance to the palate. My ears were also affected. I used to bleed from the throat and nose whenever I preached. Now I can preach three times a day and not suffer at all. I am perfectly well. Your friend, (REV.) D. G. O. BUTTS.

ROPE AND TWINES, AMMUNITION, PAPER, TINWARE, Wooden and Willow-Ware,

Axle Grease,	Handles and Axes,
Base Ball Goods,	Kegs—all kinds,
Blank Books, etc.,	Lamps and Lanterns,
Bungs and Plugs,	Oars and Oakum,
Coffee and Grain Mills,	Oyster Tongs,
Cotton and Wool Cards,	Saws and Huckels,
Cutlery and Files,	Sugar-house Lamps,
Demijohns and Bottles,	Scales and Locks,
Furnaces,	Soaps and Sponges,
Fishing Tackle,	Tumblers and Goblets,
Faucets—full line,	Whips and Lashes,
Stone Jars, Jugs and Cooking Crocks.

Full Line of Fireworks.

J. C. MORRIS,

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas St.

Sole Agency South for the Celebrated BISHOP CALCIUM BURNERS.

WALL PAPER

In all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES, WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS, UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.

FRAMING NEATLY DONE.

PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS, RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS

EDWARD HEATH,

No. 75 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

A. Brousseau's Son

23 and 25 Carrier Street.

MOQUETTES,

BRUSSELS,

INGRAINS,

LACE CURTAINS,

WINDOW SHADES,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BURPEE'S FARM ANNUAL FOR 1887

It is a Handsome Book of 128 pages, with hundreds of Illustrations, 3 Colored Plates, and tells all about THE BEST GARDEN, FARM & FLOWER SEEDS, BULBS, PLANTS, Thoroughbred Stock and Fancy Poultry. It describes RARE NOVELTIES in Vegetables and Flowers of real value, which cannot be obtained elsewhere.

Will be sent FREE to all who write for it. Send address on a postal for the MOST COMPLETE catalogue published, to

W. ATLEE BURPEE & CO., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Philip Werlein's,

135 Canal Street,

THE GREAT PIANO HOUSE

—OF THE—

SOUTH.

THE PLACE

TO BUY YOUR

PIANOS

—AND—

ORGANS.

Greatest Bargains

Now Offered.

Premiums Awarded

—TO THE—

SINGER

MANUFACTURING COMPANY

—BY THE—

N. O. and S. A. EXPOSITION.

FIRST MEDAL

For the Best Sewing Machines for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles 15c per dozen; two dozen, 25c. All other styles from 10c to 25c. Oil, 5c a bottle. Singer Scissors 25c each. Postage Extra. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co,

185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

S. C. BUNDLE, Agent.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

All the PATTERNS you wish to use during the year for nothing (a saving of from $3.00 to $5.00) by subscribing for

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine

With Twelve Orders for Cut Paper Patterns of your own selection and of any size.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.25 (THREE TWENTY-FIVE).

DEMOREST'S THE BEST

Of all the Magazines.

CONTAINING STORIES, POEMS, AND OTHER LITERARY ATTRACTIONS, COMBINING ARTISTIC, SCIENTIFIC, AND HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Illustrated with Original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each Magazine contains a coupon order entitling the holder to the selection of any pattern illustrated in the fashion department in that number, and in any of the sizes manufactured, making patterns during the year of the value of over three dollars.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The Largest in Form, the Largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Family Magazine issued. 1887 will be the Twenty-third year of its publication. It is continually improved and so extensively as to place it at the head of Family Periodicals. It contains 72 pages, large quarto, 8¾ x 11½ inches elegantly printed and fully illustrated. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York,

AND BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT COMBINED WITH THE

Christian Advocate at $3.25 Per Year

—IN—

GOODWYN'S

NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Dealers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is POSITIVELY PURE, EXCELLENT and HEALTHFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. Indeed it is the Best Grape Cream Tartar. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE, by Drs. Wm. M. Austin, C. J. Bickham, J. J. Lyons, Jos. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. Our CHEMISTS SAY IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

MRS. P. M. GOODWYN,

224 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement

—1887—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash in full to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price.	Our price.
Southern Cultivator	$ 3 50	$ 2 75
American Agriculturist	3 00	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos.	14 00	13 00
" " 6 "	7 00	6 50
Weekly "	3 00	2 50
" Times-Democrat	3 50	2 75
Harper's Magazine	4 00	4 75
" Weekly	4 00	4 75
" Bazar	4 00	4 75
" Young People	1 00	3 00
Demorest's Magazine	4 00	3 25

Semi cash in full with all orders.

No attention paid to orders without cash.

Cayer & Jamieson.

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing

GOODS,

Successor to Wholesale to

WHEELER & PIERSON,

86 Canal Street, NEW ORLEANS

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING

ROSES

For 18 Years our Great Specialty has been growing and distributing ROSES. We have all the Latest Novelties and finest standard sorts in different grades and prices to suit all. We send STRONG, VIGOROUS PLANTS safely by mail or express to all points.

3 TO 12 PLANTS $1. $3 to $25 per hundred.

Our New Guide, 96 pp., describes nearly 300 finest varieties of Roses, the best Hardy Shrubs, & Climbing Vines, and New and Rare Flower Seeds, and tells how to grow them—FREE. Address THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co. Pa.

GREAT LABOR SAVING

SOAPINA!

Has been discovered which will wash in the hardest kind of water as well as ordinary soap in soft water. It is the article for washing woolen goods, clothing of Machinists, Printers, etc.

J. H. KELLER,

NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

Ammoniated Raw Bone Superphosphate

PURE GROUND BONE.

220 Pounds to the Acre Will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at Atlanta Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar Cane and Grain Fertilizers.

Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Stern's Fertilizing and Chemical M'f'g Co., 11 Union St., New Orleans.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.

JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.

GAS FIXTURES,

PLUMBERS,

Steam and Gas Fitters,

—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—

HOME COMFORT RANGE,

TELEPHONE No. 365.

No. 110 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION.

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886, with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Rates of board and tuition without music, one hundred and seventy-five dollars. Music, two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in equal proportions at the end of each quarter. If the entire bills for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted from. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Four pupils engaging a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the ordinary rate and tuition in Daily Literary and music classes free of charge.

Special rates to ministers' daughters. Board in the regular classes for pupils not will be charged as an additional price in music.

In music, engage one or for the year, a club of four young ladies who wish to learn all in advance will receive board, tuition and use of organ in music for $176.25 a discount of twenty five per cent. from the catalogue price, or by paying one half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRACE, Pres.

E. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending January 11, 1887.)

COTTON.

Low ordinary	7 @	— —
Ordinary	7¾	— —
Good ordinary	8 5-16	— —
Low middling	8¾	— —
Middling	9 1-16	— —
Good middling	9 7-16	— —
Middling fair	9 15 16	— —
Fair	10¼	— —
Galveston middling	9	— —
Mobile middling	9	— —
St. Louis middling	9	— —

SUGAR.

Inferior	2½	3¼
Common	3¼	3¾
Good common	— —	3¾
Fair	3¾	3¾
Good fair	3¾	— —
Fully fair	3¾	4
Prime	4¼	4 3 16
Strictly Prime	4¼	— —
Choice	4¾	4 7-16
Seconds	3¾	4¾
Choice yellow	4¼	4 5-16
Gray White	— —	— —
Choice white	5¼	5¾
Stan. gran.	5 11-16	5¾

MOLASSES.

Syrup—Open Kettle	30	39
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	42	43
Choice	— —	45
Fancy	— —	47

RICE.

Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	4¼	— —
Prime	3¾	4
Good	3¾	3¾
Fair	3	3½
Ordinary	2¾	2¾
Common	2½	2½
No. 2	2½	2½
Rough	2 00	3 00

FLOUR.

Minnesota bakers	4 62½	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12½
Extra fancy	— —	4 50
Winter wheat patents	— —	5 75
Choice	3 75	3 90
Fancy	4 15	4 30
Extra Fancy	4 50	4 55

CORN PRODUCTS.

Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 30	2 35
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White	46	47
Yellow	48	49
Mixed	48	— —
OATS:
Western	39	40
Texas rust-proof	12½	53½
BRAN:
₩ cwt	5	5
HAY:
Choice	15 00	16 00
Prime	13 00	14 50

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess	12½	13
Prime mess	11 75	12 00
Rumps	10 25	11 50
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	10	10½
Shoulders	6	— —
Sides, long clear	— —	7¼
Sides, short rib	— —	7¼
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10½	11½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5 00	5 75
Sides, long clear	6¼	6¼
Sides, short rib	6¼	6¼

FISH.

MACKEREL:
Extra No. 1, in bbls.	— —	11 50
Half bbls	6 25	— —
No. 2, in bbls., large	— —	11 00
Half bbls	— —	5 90

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	16
Fair	— —	15½
Common	— —	13½
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	34	35
Western Dairy	23	25
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6½	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	50
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12½	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	30	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	10 00	12 00
Louisiana, per head	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 75	2 00
KROUT:
Western, ₩ bbl	— —	5 50
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 75	3 00

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
1¾ lb, per yd	7¾	— —
2 lb	8¾	— —
BALING TWINE:
₩ lb	10	— —
TIES:
₩ bundle	1 00	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 50	5 00
Young Chickens	2 00	2 50
Chickens, South'n	3 50	3 50
Young	1 25	1 50
Turkeys, Southern	10 00	12 00
EGGS:
Western	22	23
Southern	— —	25
WOOL:
Lake, per lb	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₩ lb	— —	7½
Dry salted	— —	10½
STAVES:
Oak, kegs	— —	— —
Oak, barrels, 23 in	75 00	— —
Oak, claret, 43 in	100 00	110 00
Oak, hogsh'd, 48 in	130 00	135 00
HOOP POLES:
Hogshead, per 1000	88 00	— —
Barrels	18 00	— —
Half barrels	14 00	75
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, per ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	32 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₩ lb	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1¼	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. RIGGS & BRO., 247 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

JANUARY 4.

Two serious railroad accidents occurred to-day. Near Springfield, Mass., a broken wheel derailed a passanger train running at a speed of thirty-five miles an hour. The cars caught afire, two persons were burned to death, a number injured and the mail destroyed. Near Tiffin, Ohio, the fast train on the B. and O. road, running at the rate of sixty miles an hour, collided with a freight train. The telescoped cars burned and twenty-two lives were lost.——The Northern part of the States of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi were treated to a fall of four or five inches of snow.——Charleston, S. C., had another earthquake shock, though without damage.——The impeachment trial of Judge Henry L. Lazare, of the Civil District Court, New Orleans, commenced.

JANUARY 5.

Secretary L. Q. C. Lamar was married to Mrs. Holt, at Macon, Ga.——Fifty-six men were sentenced at Dublin for resisting the collection of rent.——William Thompson, United States Consul at Southampton, died of bronchitis.——Thirty-seven persons were killed by the explosion in the Mons coal pit, near Brussels.——A negro at Edgefield, S. C., was shot in the forehead by a ball from a 32-calibre Smith & Wesson pistol. The ball flattened against the skull, and the man is at work.——In the estimate of the number of drouth sufferers in Texas by counties, the Fort Worth Gazette puts the number of destitute families as follows: Callahan county, 50; Parker, 100; Taylor, 200; Palo Pinto, 250; Coleman, 150; Jack, 300; Stephens, 350, Runnells, 200; Jones, 225; Shackelford, 150, Haskell, 30; Young, 150; Brown, 400; Eastland, 500; Comanche, 500; Nolan, 50; Fisher, 100; Erath, 150; Martin, 10; Hardeman, 150.

JANUARY 6.

An epidemic of typhoid fever is raging at Clermont, France.——William Black, the novelist, has obtained £100 libel damages against the Bow Bells.——Five thousand railroad coal handlers are on a strike in Delaware.——Prof. Joseph Tosso, the composer of the "Arkansas Traveler," eighty-four years of age, died to-day.——The bill to pension the widow of Gen. Logan—$2000 a year—passed the Senate.——The President sent in Mr. Manning's name to the Senate, for confirmation, as Minister to Mexico.——Silk manufacturers goods have been advanced 10 per cent. in price by a New York trade meeting.

JANUARY 7.

Lord Salisbury has informed the Queen that he hopes the Cabinet will be completed by Tuesday.——The Vatican has made arrangements with the Prince of Monaco, by which in the event of an outbreak of war involving Italy, the Pope, with his ministers and the prefects of the congregations, will remove their residence to the principality of Monaco, and there transact all papal business until peace shall have been restored, and some kind of an European agreement is made. A special clause of the convention with the prince pledges the abolition of the gambling tables.——New Orleans harbor gets $115,000 of the appropriation.

JANUARY 8.

A terrible snow storm has prevailed throughout the midland counties of England.——France proposes in September to reduce the sugar bounties and increase the sugar duties 20 per cent.——Representative Hiscock, of New York, has introduced a bill to reduce the revenue taxation on raw sugar, etc.——The ship Elizabeth, bound from Hamburg to Baltimore, stranded off the Virginia coast; twenty lives were lost, including five of the Life Saving Corps. The weather was bitterly cold and a blinding snow-storm prevails.——Two old men, cousins and misers, were found starved or frozen to death in a Philadelphia dilapidated frame house. Over $100,000 have so far been found concealed in the house.

JANUARY 9.

The bronze tomb for the remains of the late King Victor Emanuel was unveiled, to-day being the ninth anniversary of his death.——An avalanche in the Canton of Grisons has destroyed thirty chalets.——Fewer liquor establishments were open than last Sunday in New Orleans, the majority preferring to wait Judge Roman's decision to-morrow.——The barbers of Wilkeskesbarro, Pa., have formed an organization to compel the closing of all barber shops on Sundays.——An addition to the Fink Asylum, a solid two-story brick building, containing thirty-three rooms was dedicated to-day.

JANUARY 10.

The Alcazar Palace at Toledo, Spain, was burned yesterday. The library was completely destroyed.——The Parisian newspapers endorse Foreign Minister Flourens's reply to the Bulgarian deputation, advising Bulgaris to come to terms with Russia and Turkey.——Prince Alexander has said that he will not return to Bulgaria, even if a powerful party recall him.——The composition of the new British Cabinet was announced this evening. Lord Salisbury, Secretary of Foreign Affairs; Hon. W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Treasury; T. F. Robords, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Hon. Edward Stanhope, Secretary of War; Sir Henry Holland, Colonial Secretary. No other changes.——John Roach died in New York at 8 o'clock A. M.——Judge Roman's decision fully sustained the constitutionality of the "Sunday Law" and the power of the Criminal Court to enforce it.

Notice.

All of the brethren who subscribed to me for the Review, and whose postoffice has been changed, will please send their name with present and former postoffice to L. D. Palmer, Nashville, Tenn.

J. M. MORSE.

The February number of Scribner's Magazine, of which 125,000 have been ordered as a first edition, will contain a most interesting article, by Mr. John C. Ropes, upon the "Likenesses of Julius Cæsar," with 18 portraits, one of which, engraved by Mr. W. B. Closson, will be the frontispiece of the number. A new story is begun in the same number, by Mr. F. J. Stimson (J. S. of Dale), entitled, "The Residuary Legatee." The second instalment of ex-Minister Washburne's "Reminiscences of the Siege and Commune of Paris" is of the greatest interest, describing as it does the most interesting phases of the Siege.

American Bible Society.

The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House on Thursday, January 6, 1887, the Hon. Enoch L. Fancher, LL. D., president, in the chair.

Grants of books were made to the value of about $9 300, including consignments to the society's agents in Brazil, Mexico, Japan, and Russia, and a grant to Ojibwa Indians in Michigan. Funds were also granted to the amount of $332 33 to the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church for work in Sweden and Finland.

Letters were presented to the Board from Rev. H. P. Hamilton, giving a general view of the condition of Mexico in its relation to Bible distribution; from a colporteur in Colombia, narrating his experience in the field; from Rev. C. E. Randall of Jamaica, returning thanks for a donation of Bibles; from Mr. McKim in Cuba, Mr. Miller in Bolivia, Dr. Trumbull in Chili, and Mr. Brown in Brazil; from Dr. Gulick with a full account of his recent visit to Siam and his arrangement for a more systematic distribution to and among the Laos people; from Mr. Loomis of Japan; from Mr. Prince with notes of progress in Siberia; and from Rev. J. M. Erikson about the work of his mission in Sweden and Finland.

The receipts in December from all sources were $19 901 57; of which amount $23 835 93 were for books sold and on purchase account.

Issues from the Bible House during the month of December, 114 067 volumes; issues since April 1, 1886, 77 1271 volumes.

COVETOUSNESS.—Its effect on the individual is to encourage selfishness; to narrow his range of thought; to dwarf his moral nature; to dull all delicate sensibilities and harden his heart; to cut him off from a thousand sources of happiness; to burden him with anxiety and harass him with fears; to make his life a perpetual toil and a perpetual anxiety, with the ceaseless torment of an insatiate thirst. And it inflicts evil on society by the bad example by which it encourages men to regard money as the chief good, and to make the golden calf the object of worship; and also by depriving society of the benefits which it has a right to expect from its members. For even though the covetous man might be willing to spend some of his money for his own enjoyment, he is withholding means which would contribute to the happiness of others. He does not think of others, except as they may be made tributary to his own selfish ends. And so this evil spirit extends its baleful influence, and encourages men to think that money is the chief good. And out of this false idea arise many of the pernicious notions by which social life is distracted, and the rich and the poor are arrayed against each other; the poor looking up to the rich with envy and hatred, and counting it a burden that they must work for a living, while the rich have an abundance, and can "take their ease, eat, drink, and be merry;" and the rich looking down on the workers, as if they were an inferior class of beings, and not their brothers of the human race, immortal like themselves.

Out of this false view of life, this making it consist primarily in the abundance of things which one possesses, comes much of the distrust of workingmen and employers toward each other, much of the dissatisfaction of the laborers. Of this dissatisfaction designing and wicked men take advantage, and excite the thoughtless ones—discontented they hardly know why, desiring they know not what—to deeds of lawlessness and violence which react upon themselves.

Right views of life, embedded in the soul, and practically governing men in their own pursuits, and in their intercourse with others, would prevent these evils; would impel employers to respect the rights of their workmen, to pay them that which is just, and to manifest a generous interest in them, a kindly sympathy with them, instead of simply aiming to get the fullest amount of work for the smallest pay; would make workingmen content with their lot, and with the facilities within the reach of all, both of making a happy home on frugal means, and of improving their condition, of rising by industry and fidelity and temperance and righteousness to a higher prosperity and larger living; would prevent their entrenching on the rights of others; and would prevent also the necessity of resorting to the strong arm of government to maintain the rights of property, of individuals, the peace of society, to uphold law and to put down rioting and violence by superior force and at the sacrifice of life.—Rev. Dr. J. Few Smith.

THE CHRISTIAN USE OF MONEY.—We are persuaded that the present difficulties that threaten the peace and order of society will never be removed till a higher standard of ethics shall prevail. They are the direct result of selfishness, encouraged by the prevalent selfish theory of morals. These are personal sins and social wrongs that civil governments may not by law or force correct. It is not according to the will of God, as made known by natural or revealed religion, that a few should control vast fortunes, using them to gratify selfish personal desires, while multitudes suffer not only for want of knowledge, but of bread, and struggle through a brief existence, realizing in no proper sense the true object of life. Nothing is right that is not in accordance with the Divine will; hence no man can have the right, though he has the power, to do wrong. Because a gifted man has power to accumulate property, he has no right to arrogantly say, "This is mine and I will spend it as I please." The wealth of the world is designed for the public welfare; and it is the duty of those who have it in charge to consider themselves as only agents, bound to use it as to serve the greatest good. He who has wealth and does not intend to act thus, is false to his trust, and is the enemy of society.

In the Christian use of money will be found the great remedy for social wrongs. The right use of money will require much tact, wisdom and skill. Multitudes on multitudes of the poor have low, selfish, sensual aims; and indiscriminate giving to them would only encourage indolence and vice. They need education and culture, and higher ideas of life. All these the right use of money now worse than wasted would secure.—Selenco.

We have spared no expense to make "Wide Awake" one of the best monthlies published in the country for the young folks. The editions for 1887 will surpass all previous efforts. If you have little ones in the home circle, subscribe for "Wide Awake." Price, $2 40 per year.

D. LOTHROP & CO.,
Boston, Mass.

Quarterly Conferences.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Whistler	Jan.	1, 2
Franklin Street Church		0
Washington and Vernon, at Sims' Chapel		15, 16
Pleasant Valley and Creola, at Pleas. Val'y		22, 23
Bladon and St. Stephens, at New Hope		29, 30
Toney, at Jones' Chapel	Feb.	0, 0
St. Francis Street Church		13
Citronelle, at Citronelle		19, 20
Baldwin mission, at Sibley's Chapel		26, 27
Ellington and Grand Bay, at Allen's	Mar.	0, 0
St. Paul's		13
Grove Hill, at Grove Hill		19, 20
Suggsville, at Suggsville		26, 27

District stewards will meet at Franklin Street, Mobile, Monday morning, January 24, at half past nine A. M.

A. J. LAMAR, P. E.

PENSACOLA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brewton and Pollard, at Brewton	Jan.	1, 2
Evergreen, at Evergreen		8, 9
Georgiana, at Wesley Chapel		15, 16
Monroeville, at Monroeville		22, 23
Montery, at Liberty		29, 30
Marcella, at Mt. Union	Feb.	2
Milton		5, 6
Pensacola circuit, at Warrington		12
Pensacola station		19, 13
Sepulga, at Asbury		19, 20
Pewelton, at Pewelton		26, 27
Douglasville, at Mt. Carmel	Mar.	5, 6
Stockton, at Stockton		12, 13
Repton, at Hickory Grove		19, 20
Bay Minette at New Hope		26, 27

W. M. MOTLEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

North Wilkinson, at Hopewell	Jan.	1, 2
Amite, at Salem		8, 9
Clinton, La		15, 16
Jackson, La		18, 19
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove		22, 23
Wilson and Centreville, at Wilson		29, 30
Pipkin	Feb.	0, 0
St. Helena, at Pipkin Chapel		12, 13
Amite City, at Amite City		18, 19
Springfield, at Ponchatoula		20, 21
Livingston, at Palmetto...(Wednesday)		23
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel..(Thursday)		24
Percy's Creek		26, 27
Woodville		27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar.	2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara		0, 0

District stewards meet in Wilson, January 29, 1887.

J. A. B. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Gibson	Jan.	1, 2
Rocky Springs		8, 9
Natchez, at Wesley Chapel		15, 16
Natchez, at Jefferson Street		16, 17
Washington		22, 23
Buckland		29, 30
Ulico	Feb.	5, 6
Burtonton		7
Vicksburg		12, 13
South Vicksburg		14 15
Fayette		19, 20
Cane Ridge		26, 27
Anguilla	Mar.	5, 0
Mayersville		12, 13
Nebo		19, 20
Rozie		21, 22

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Waynesboro and State Line	Jan.	2, 3
Winchester, at Winchester		8, 9
Shubuta, at Shubuta		10, 16
Clark, at Andrew Chapel		22, 23
Sandersville, at Sandersville		29, 30
Vossburg, at Vossburg	Feb.	5, 6
Paulding, at Paulding		12, 13
West End, at West End		19, 20
Meridian station		21
Stonewall, at Chensky		26, 27
Marion, at Marion	Mar.	5, 6
Lauderdale, at Lauderdale		12, 13
DeKalb, at DeKalb		19, 20
Binnsville, at Scooba		26, 27
Enterprise	Apr.	2, 3
Admansville		9, 16

The district stewards will meet in Meridian, Tuesday, February 22, 1887, at eleven A. M.

R. D. MORSWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brandon station, at Brandon	31,	Jan. 1
Forest and Morton, at Morton		8, 9
Lake, at Lake		15, 16
Newton, at Hickory		22, 23
Pannin, at Pelahatchie		29, 30
Marvin, at Marvin	Feb.	0, 6
Shiloh, at Clear Creek		12, 13
Westville, at Westville		19, 20
Trenton, at Trenton		26, 27
Raleigh	Mar.	5, 0
Neshoba, at Heeter's		12, 13
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove		19, 20
Carthage, at Carthage		26, 27
Hillsboro, at New Providence	Apr.	2, 3

The district stewards will meet at Forest, on Wednesday, January 26. Address me at Forest until further notice.

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Jan.	1, 2
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson		8, 9
Harlehurst		15, 16
Brookhaven		22, 23
Summit, at Johnston		29, 30
Scotland, at Bethesda	Feb.	5, 6
McComb City, at Magnolia		12, 13
Bogerton, at Rehobeth		19, 20
Terry, at Bethesda		26, 27
Monticello, at Pleasant Grove	Mar.	0, 0
Providence, at Bahala Chapel		12, 13
Franklinton, at Tylertown		19, 20
Adams, at Adams		26, 27
Holmesville, at Holmesville	Apr.	2, 3

The district stewards will meet in Brookhaven, Friday, January 21, 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	Jan.	1, 2
Poplarville, at Poplarville		8, 9
Pilot Creek, at Gurinway's		10, 16
Whittington, at Coleville		22, 23
Vancleave, at Union		29, 30
Americus, at Cross Roads	Feb.	5, 0
Bethel, at Bethel		12, 13
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Moriah		19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia		26, 27
Seashore, at Long Beach	Mar.	5, 6
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs		12, 13
Scranton, at Scranton		19, 20
Moss Point, at Moss Point		26, 27
Covington, at Covington	Apr.	2, 3
Pearlington, at Pearlington		9, 10

T. B. WEST, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Edwards, at Edwards	Jan.	1, 2
Raymond, at Bolton		8, 9
Beeton, at Midway		15, 16
Silver Creek, at James'		22, 23
Mt. Olivet, at Shiloh		29, 30
Flora, at Flora	Feb.	0, 0
Spring Ridge, at Spring Ridge		12, 13
Camden, at Foule Chapel		19, 20
Madison, at Madison		26, 27
Yazoo City	Mar.	5, 0
Sharon, at Sharon		12, 13
Jackson		19, 20
Canton		26, 27

District stewards' meeting at Jackson, Tuesday, February 8, eleven A. M., in the lecture-room of our church.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Oxford station	Dec.	25, 26
Water Valley	Jan.	1, 2
Coffeeville circuit		8, 9
Grenada circuit		15, 16
Grenada station		17
Minter City		12, 13
Sunny Side and McNutt		24
Carrollton circuit		29, 30
Pittsboro circuit	Feb	0, 6
Atlanta circuit		8
Banner circuit		12, 13
Lodi circuit		19, 20
Sarepta circuit		26, 27
Tocopola circuit	Mar.
Charleston circuit		0, 6
Abbeville		12, 13

The district stewards will please meet in Grenada on January 17, at 2 o'clock P. M.

C. M. TERRY, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec.	25, 26
Tibbee, at Mayhew	Jan.	1, 2
West Point station		5, 0
Crawford, at Artesia		8, 9
Brooksville, at Brooksville		10, 16
Columbus circuit, at Andrew's Chapel		22, 23
Columbus station		23, 24
Macon station		29, 30
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak		30, 31
Starkville circuit, at Providence	Feb.	5, 6
Louisville, at Louisville		12, 13
Tampico, at Cedar Bluff		19, 20
Chester, at Ackerman		26, 27
Plattsburg, at Killough Chapel	Mar.	0, 0
Sturges, at Sturges		12, 13
Hebron, at Cookesville		19, 20
Walthall, at North Union		10, 27
Salem, at Ridgeway	Apr.	2, 3
LaGrange, at Ebenezer		9, 10

E. G. PORTER, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Okolona station	Jan.	1, 2
Verona and Tupelo, at Verona		0
Shannon circuit, at Palmetto		8, 9
Richmond circuit, at Andrew's Chapel		15, 16
Saltillo circuit, at Shiloh		22, 23
Pontotoc circuit, at Pontotoc		29, 30
Buena Vista circuit, at Concord	Feb.	5
Houston and Wesley, at Wesley		5, 0
Sparta circuit, at Pine Inc		12, 13
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer		19
Okolona circuit, at Blackwell's Chapel		19, 20
Prairie circuit, at Lebanon		23
Aberdeen station		26, 27
Caledonia, at Pleasant Grove	Mar.	2
Athens circuit, at Friendship		5, 0
Tremont circuit, at Mt. Pleasant		9
Fulton and Smithville, at Smithville		12, 13

AMOS KENDALL, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Baldwyn at Baldwyn	Jan.	1, 9
Booneville and Rienzi, at Booneville		8, 9
Corinth station		10, 16
Corinth circuit, at Box's Chapel		18
Iuka circuit, at New Salem		20
Hormony circuit, at Harmony		21
Iuka station		22, 23
Kossuth circuit, at Kossuth		29, 30
Marietta, at Hodge's Chapel	Feb.	5, 6
Blackland, at Pisgah		12, 13
Pleasant Ridge, at Friendship		19, 20
Ripley and New Albany, at Ripley		26, 27
Ripley circuit, at New Hope	Mar.	2
Jonesboro', at Jonesboro'		5, 0
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon		12, 13

District stewards will please meet me at Corinth, January 15, at eleven A. M.

J. H. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Richland, at Pickens	Dec.	18, 19
Kosciusko station		25, 26
West, at West		31
Vaiden, at Vaiden	Jan.	1, 2
Ebenezer, at Centre Grove		7
Durant and Lexington, at Durant		8, 9
Carrollton and Greenwood, at Carrollton		13
Winona		15, 16
Black Hawk, at Black Hawk		21
Sidon, at Jordan's Chapel		21, 23
Winona circuit, at Salem		29, 30
Newport, at Bethel	Feb.	5, 6
Stella, at Springdale		12, 13
McCool, at Bethel		19, 29
Ethel, at Liberty Chapel		23
Newtonville, at White Hall		26, 27
Zilpha, at Wesley Chapel	Mar.	5, 8
Belzona, at Belzona		12, 13

G. P. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Batesville and Wesley	Dec.	18, 19
Sardis		25, 0
Como and Fredonia	Jan.	1, 2
Cockrum circuit		8, 9
Hernando and Cold Water		15, 16
Horn Lake circuit		22, 23
Lewisburg circuit		29, 30
Senatobia circuit	Feb.	5
Senatobia station		0, 7
Chulahoma circuit		12, 13
Mount Vernon circuit		19, 20
Pleasant Grove circuit		26, 27
Mastodon circuit	Mar.	5
Eureka circuit		5, 0
Panola circuit		8

The district stewards for the Sardis district North Mississippi Conference, will please meet me at Senatobia, Miss., January 14, 1887.

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale	Dec.	19
Jonestown		20
Australia	Jan.	2
Cleveland		9
Pascola		16
Lulon		23
Arcola		30
Concordia	Feb.	0
Mound Bayou		13
Bolivar		20
Friar's Point		27
Greenville	Mar.	6

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, March 0, 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Holly Springs station	Dec.	25, 26
Byhalia and Victoria, at Byhalia	Jan.	1, 2
Holly Springs circuit, at Waterford		8, 9
Marshall, at Jeffillie Church		15, 16
Berry Grove, at Hudsonville		22, 23
Olive Branch, at Center Hill		29, 30
Snow Creek, at Ayers'	Feb.	5, 6
Pine Mountain, at Soule Chapel		12, 13
Ashland, at Ashland		19, 20
Hickory Flat, at Ebenezer		20, 27
Emory, at Emory	Mar.	5, 6
Cornersville, at Bethlehem		12, 13
Shelby Creek, at Bethel		19, 20

JNO. DARCHOTT, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York

A. Baldwin, Pres. S. Katz, Vice Pres.

SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT

—OF THE—

New Orleans National Bank,

At the Close of Business Dec. 31, 1886.

RESOURCES.

Bills discounted		$ 1,109 743 14
Demand loans	$658 884 10
Overdrafts	5,819 00
U. S. 4 per cent. Bonds	207,650 00
Premiums on same	26,685 00
$100 000 N. O. Crescent bonds
$32,000 N. O. Consols 6 per ct certificates
$68 000 N. O. 6 per cent. railroad bonds	433,228 00
$125 000 Louisiana Consol
$16 828 Louisiana Consols coupons, No. 5
Currency and checks on other banks	691,474 00
New York sight exchange	277,911 62
Due from banks and bankers	13,311 29—	2,263,113 04
5 per cent. fund with Comptroller of the Currency		9,000 00
Banking-house	$39,555 48
Furniture and fixtures	7,500 00	107,055 48
Total		$3,488,012 10

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock	$200 000 00
Surplus fund	4,6 0 0 10
Undivided profits $40,000
Less 5 per cent. dividend payable Jan. 3, 1887	10 000 00—	$630,000 00
Dividends uncalled for		900 00
Dividends payable Jan. 3, 1887		10 000 00
Circulation outstanding		150,000 00
Deposits—Individual	$1,574,004 40
Due to banks and bankers	143,295 70—	2,067,844 10
Total		$3,488,912 10

I certify the above to be a true and correct statement. WM. PALFREY, Cashier.

Correct—Attest:

JOHN H. HANNA,
SAM'L DELGADO,
WM. T. BENEDICT,

MISCELLANEOUS.

TIRED OUT!

At this season nearly every one needs to use some sort of tonic. IRON enters into almost every physician's prescription for those who need building up.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Trade Mark. QUALITY P PURITY NOT QUANTITY. On Every Bottle.

For Weakness, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, etc., it HAS NO EQUAL, and is the only iron medicine that is not injurious. It Enriches the Blood, Invigorates the System, Restores Appetite, Aids Digestion

It does not blacken or injure the teeth, cause headache or produce constipation—other iron medicines do. DR. G. H. BINGLEY, a leading physician of Springfield, Ohio, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters is a thoroughly good medicine. I use it in my practice, and find its action exceeds all other iron preparations. In weakness, or a low condition of the system, Brown's Iron Bitters is usually a positive necessity. It is all that is claimed for it."

DR. W. N. WATERS, 1210 Thirty-second Street, Georgetown, D. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is the tonic of the age. Nothing better. It creates appetite, gives strength and improves digestion."

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

PROOF POSITIVE

That Our Prices Are The Lowest.

A critical examination will show such to be a fact.

A Marvelous Assortment of Fancy Knick-Knacks For the Holliday Season.

Pretty and Cheap Collection of Plush Frames, Albums, Towel Racks Fancy Boxes, Shaving Sets, Whisk-Broom Holders, Perfumery, Etc.

We have 100 different styles of Dolls from 10 cts. up.

Elegant Selection of Rolled Gold Plate Jewelry.

An impossible task to enumerate the Variety of Fancy Goods we are now displ

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 3. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1590.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Subscription, - - - $2 per annum.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers half price.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. W. L. O. BUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

THE PARTING SHIP.

On crimson couch, the sun once more
At evening's gate lay dying;
Above the sad sea's sullen roar
The grieving winds were sighing;
A barque shot from the lonely shore
With all her broad sails flying.

And they that sailed upon that ship
No more they wept or smiled;
No tearful eye, no trembling lip,
No supplications wild.

No sorrowing for the lessening lands,
No dread of coming ill;
They stood with folded, cold white hands
And hearts forever still.

On that illimitable sea
The ghostly vessel sped;
Out-bearing to eternity
The world's unnumbered dead.

But on the shore—so dark, so fair—
From which they swiftly parted,
Were piercing cries and acute despair
Of mortals broken-hearted

And arms bereft in anguish raised,
Imploring to the skies;
And silent souls that only gazed
With steadfast, hopeless eyes.

But when the great celestial pyre
For each dead day is lighted,
Then, looming on the wall of fire,
That breathless ship is sighted.

While with the dead that die each day
She holds her course alone,
Far through the closing shadows gray
Out to the dark unknown.

The yesterday upon the shore
To-day will come to-morrow
Here and hereafter—evermore—
And so, farewell to sorrow.

Her giant shadow falls, and gray
The twilight comes, appalling;
Her cloudy sails shake out the spray,
And then—the dew is falling:
The cordage creaks, and straight we say,
Hark!—how the winds are calling!

—The Critic.

The Secret of Success.

Very often when we hear of the success of anyone in their undertakings, we want to know the secret of their success. Joshua was a man who had trials and discouragements all the time; yet he was a successful man, and the secret lay in the one word—"courage." He believed in God; nothing wavering through a long life of one hundred and ten years, a part of it spent in the darkness of Egypt, forty years in the wilderness, and as long in the promised land. He never lost courage or faith in God, and because he possessed it, God could use him. He took him at his word, and went forward.

Now, what we need in our missionary work, as in all other enterprises of the church, is courage. If we grow discouraged and go around with long faces, our hearts cast down, and our harps hung on the willows, God can not use us. He can not speak through us, for we lack courage. If you look through the Bible carefully, you will find that God used no man in building up his kingdom who was not a man of faith and courage. When his Spirit rests upon a man, he has courage and is fit for the Master's use. How bold Peter was after Pentecost! And that is how the Spirit of God rests on men and women. Where you find a minister discouraged you will find a dead church. I do not know whether the people in the pews catch it from him, or he from them; but it is contagious. Where you find the pastor full of courage, his members become infused with the same spirit, and the work of the Lord prospers in his hands. And wherever you find a discouraged worker in God's vineyard, they are without that power that will render them useful.

It is said John Wesley frequently used the expression, "All at it, and always." Now, if we will all reconsecrate ourselves at the beginning of another year, and go forward with faith and courage, we will have some harvest sheaves to lay down at our Master's feet at the close of the year 1887. If we will cry, "Here I am, Lord: use me, use me!" he will give us courage, and give us victory, and ere long the song of the harvesters will cause much joy. O, that we could all feel that it is a luxury to help build up God's kingdom. Let us pray for courage, and start out this year to work for the Lord. Do not let it be said, the church sits with folded hands while perishing souls are reaching out for help from lands where only a few courageous and faithful ones are struggling to shed some ray of God's blessed light on their benighted minds. One of our brave young workers has been taken home to rest in the sunlight of God's love. We must have another, brave and true, to take up the work of her hands and carry it on. Let us work with renewed vigor, and do our part in sending the gospel into every land.

S. G. W.

BROOKHAVEN, Mississippi.

Common-Sense Remarks about Commonplace Things.

MR. EDITOR: As usual, there is pointed freshness in Dr. Adams' remarks in the ADVOCATE of January 6, and I, too, beg leave to say, with his "converted" friend: "No, no! Keep at it." As I am up in the sixties, and have had an extensive experience in the practice of medicine, I suppose it will be allowable, and not out of place, for me to make some remarks upon the same subjects. As everybody knows, tobacco is neither cleanly, nor necessary, nor healthy. It is hardly worth while to stop here to more than call attention again to the fact that it not only inconveniences the non-users of it sometimes to a very great extent—for instance, the smoke often gives headache and nausea even to those not accustomed to inhaling it; and it certainly must be very trying to the patience of ladies to have their floors or hearths soiled with the ambier, or have their skirts soiled with it in the cars or public places, even in churches. But every intelligent and conscientious individual will be bound to admit, if he will stop and reflect dispassionately, that to waste thus (in tobacco) money and means, which could and ought to be appropriated to so much better uses, is wrong. Then is it not a sin? Answer that question to your God, ye tobacco-worms! Tell the Lord (if you think so) you made your own tobacco, or the money to buy it, and you have the right to smoke it and puff the fumes into other people's faces, or besmear the floors in public places—even in churches, where people ought to kneel before Almighty God in worship, and tell the Lord, if you can conscientiously, if you do spend $75 or $150 every year thus, instead of devoting it to the relief of the poor and needy at home, and sending the gospel of salvation to perishing heathens, that's your right and your business, and you don't want him to let "fanatics" trouble you about that indulgence in that luxury. Tell the Lord, if you can, you join in, might and main, in the crusade against those who indulge in the whisky luxury, because that is not "your way of sinning." Tell the Lord, if you will, "your way" is not altogether as bad as the "whisky drinker's way"; so please don't disturb your conscience about the matter, for you have nearly succeeded in smothering it down, or keeping it down, and you will succeed if you can just "be let alone"! Now, don't you let anybody get mad; for recollect that, that will be evidence that he can not sustain his cause.

Dr. Adams says his friend "turned out a better converted man than he intended"; for he not only "quit tobacco," but "coffee into the bargain." Now that raises a question, which I wish to treat of here and draw from extensive experience, which ought to be worth something. To begin with my own personal experience away back yonder. I used to drink coffee, and I love it yet; but long years ago I was compelled to quit the use of it entirely, because it made me so dyspeptic and nervous—it was literally killing me. And so it is killing thousands of others to-day, and impairing the health and strength (and, therefore, the usefulness) of thousands who have no idea of what is the matter. I have treated successfully a great deal of dyspepsia, and I find that in most of the cases coffee is a great, if not the main, factor; and I stop it, and proceed to cure the bad effects it had produced, and then the patients "go on their way rejoicing." So generally—almost universally—I find it necessary to stop coffee; that now often patients come to me, and say, "Well, doctor, I would have been here long ago to see you; but I knew you would stop my coffee, which I was so reluctant to give up that I have put it off from time to time; but, if I must, I will give it up"; and then I soon cure their dyspepsia, and restore their health and strength and usefulness and happiness.

Now coffee costs a good deal of money, you know. I know it causes a great deal of bad health and suffering, and thus impairs a great deal of usefulness. Then is that not wrong? I have stated facts established beyond doubt, and I expect, of course, to be pronounced ultra fanatical by some. But I have done what I feel to have been my duty.

D. W. FOSTER.

PLAQUEMINE, Louisiana.

A Retrospect.

The recent session of the Mississippi Conference calls up vividly the days of "auld lang syne" of my early youth and ministry. Port Gibson was the county-site of my native county, and thither as a boy it was my delight to repair upon great occasions to witness a hanging or a circus or theater or a scrub-race or a militia muster or a fisticuff fight, and all such displays of fallen humanity in its lowest type of manifestation and development. It was here in after years, the first of my itinerant ministry in 1839, that I was sent as the assistant or junior preacher under the preacher in charge—a Mr. Cheney—who, like a good many others from a more Northern clime coming South, did not possess that congeniality and adaptation to the Southern work that rendered him acceptable to the people; and Port Gibson and Grand Gulf circuit being in those days a rather hard road to travel, Mr. Cheney, as a Northern bird of passage, took wing and returned to a more congenial clime, leaving the timid and shrinking young itinerant in charge of a work testing the capabilities of such men as that flaming young minister, Elijah Steele, the eloquent E. R. Porter, and the apostle of Texas Methodism, Dr. R. Alexander.

Those who knew me then and now need not the assurance from their excessively timid brother that it was a terrible ordeal for him to pass through the first year of his ministry, especially in Port Gibson, where the Methodist Church was under the ban of an uneducated ministry (so called), thereby laboring under this peculiar embarrassment which our preachers in those days had to encounter in a community that rallied with special interest around a trained theological graduate of Princeton. But somehow or other, with all the embarrassments of the position, the first year was passed through by the help of God—and as Bro. Steele said in the same charge by way of parenthesis—"and the good sisters" and a few good brethren—Ingram, Beatty, et al.

A few years later, in early married life, this charge was again filled for two consecutive years greatly to the astonishment of the writer when his services for the second year were in requisition. Thus you see it was with peculiar interest that I, away off in Texas, have looked to the session of my mother Conference, where my life labors have been chiefly spent, and on my native heath, where the earliest labors of my ministry with inexpressible anxiety have been expended. Thank God for his sustaining grace, without which no minister could bear the mighty burden of this great work. I will, in another article, give some reminiscences in connection with this charge now in the front rank of appointments of the Mississippi Conference.

H. M. BOOTH.

To the Methodists of Mississippi.

THE PAINE LOAN FUND.

By resolutions of the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences the Methodists of the State have determined to raise the sum of ten thousand dollars for the cause of church extension, to be known as "The Paine Loan Fund." This is to be a memorial of Bishop Robert Paine, who for over thirty years was a resident of Mississippi, and whose sacred dust sleeps in her generous bosom. The worthy object to be conserved and the honored name to be thus embalmed, are enough to command the largest liberality of every loyal Methodist in the State. This fund will be employed in loans, amply secured, to aid in the erection of churches throughout our borders. When any amount is refunded it will be at once re-invested, and thus, like an exhaustless stream of blessing, continue to gladden the city of God for all the years to come.

In no way could the church pay more fitting tribute to the memory of Robert Paine, who for sixty-five years was a faithful itinerant preacher, and for thirty-six years a chief pastor of spotless fidelity and eminent ability. In ecclesiastical statesmanship he ranks among the greatest in the annals of the church. He was chairman of the Committee of Nine in the General Conference of 1844 that drafted the "Plan of Separation," which authorized the ecclesiastical independence of the Southern Conferences—the most memorable paper in the history of Methodism on this side the sea.

By the noble life he lived and the grand history he has made, in which Methodism in Mississippi has peculiar pride and has generously shared, let us be incited to contribute this fund, and thus build to his memory a monument more enduring than metal or stone, and which will multiply many times the sixty-five years of great service he gave to the church. And thus the genius of Robert Paine will not only remain impressed upon the legislation and jurisprudence of American Methodism, and upon the pages of its history, but will be interwrought into hundreds of churches built by money given in his name, and its pulpit ministrations inspired by the story of his toils and the heritage of his fragrant spirit. Let each give some amount, whether large or small, and thereby claim the privilege of aiding in erecting an imperishable monument to an immortal name that was not born to die.

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

(Remit to Rev. David Morton, D. D., Secretary, Louisville Ky.)

Our Work in Japan.

MR. EDITOR: You know we are here laboring for the Master, telling these interesting people of salvation through Jesus. God is with us and blessing us in our work, and our hearts are filled with thankfulness and praise for the evidence we see on the part of many of a deep interest in the story of the cross. I shall not be able to write you a long letter by this mail, but simply tell you in a few words of the wonderful work of grace going on in Hiroshima. In the latter part of October, Dr. Duke and I went down to that city, and for three or four days we were laboring night and day, visiting many persons in their homes and telling them, through an interpreter, the story of the cross. Our hearts were cheered by what we saw, and five persons gave us their names as probationers. On the ninth of this month Dr. Walter Lambuth went down, and we have received cheering news from him. The interest was so great and the work to be done increasing, so that on the thirteenth he telegraphed for one of us to go down and help him. Dr. Duke left us at once, and now they are both laboring night and day, telling anxious inquirers of the way of salvation. We have now at that place ten persons on probation, and additions every day. This is cheering and inspiring to our hearts, and we give God all the glory. Help us all you can. Pray for us and for this work.

Your brother in Christ,

J. W. LAMBUTH.

KOBE, JAPAN, Dec. 17, 1886.

Current Coins.

(The Standard, Chicago.)

Dr. Washington Gladden, in his recent work on "Applied Christianity," deals with the problem of "Christianity and Wealth," and suggests a plan for the settlement of existing difficulties between capital and labor. It is certainly novel, and to some may seem revolutionary, but it is well argued and facts are presented which undoubtedly have a persuasive bearing on the subject. He says: "It is not a difficult problem. The solution of it is quite within the power of the Christian employer. All he has to do is to admit his laborers to an industrial partnership with himself by giving them a fixed share in the profits of production, to be divided among them, in proportion to their earnings, at the end of the year." This is not the ordinary co-operative scheme, since the capitalist retains his larger rights; neither is it a method of socialistic distribution, being voluntary. It is rather an application, in business affairs, of what very closely resembles the "golden rule."

(St. Louis Christian Advocate.)

There are too many wrong workers in the church; so many Christian workers who are not working for Christ in a Christly way, whose work is not after the line of spiritual advance, which brings no grace to their own souls, no glory to Christ. They are active, industrious, devoted and thorough-going. They work with the choir, buy new organs, run old societies, get up entertainments which cost much worry, create many broils and jealousies, bring a little money and much of the world into the church. Good folks they are, but they seemed never to have learned the first lesson of acceptable work for Christ, heart loyalty and spiritual anointing. Their work has never been inspired by their faith, never baptized by their tears and prayers, never taken as a holy offering to Christ's altar. They seem to be working in the dark, not even touching the fringes of the holy place.

(Christian at Work.)

Walking with God! What a strengthening, comforting, beautiful thought! God by our side, helping us, guiding us, leading us safely whether the way be smooth or rough. We can not, perhaps, be like the mountains, grand, stately, magnificent, seen from afar and admired by the multitude, but we can be like the grassy dell, beautiful with sunshine and refreshment, fragrant with sweet flowers and jubilant with the songs of birds. The helpfulness in the family circle, if given in a gentle, unobtrusive way, is a training which rapidly uplifts lives. Those are sweet lives which seek to remove obstructing thorns from another's rough path, and there is never a thorn removed from the path without a rose being scattered on one's own. Mild forbearance in regard to other people's faults is a necessity to every sweet life—the suppression of unkind words another necessity.

(The Interior.)

"Return, return, O Shunamite," called the shepherd, looking from the mountain-side where his flocks were feeding, and she, going away with unwilling steps, looked back with longing heart. "Are they not all ministering spirits," saith the writer to the Hebrews, "sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?" That ministering spirit sent forth of God to minister for you—if the sweet angel be gone from you. She looks back longingly to her charge, and her silver wings will, ere long, flash light into your eyes and joy into your heart. God cares enough about you to send his angel to lead you through the dark. When it is light, remember the darkness cometh. When it is dark the morning is on its way. Were there no night, how could we have a morning?

Letter from Bishop Wilson.

My Dear Bishop McTyeire: I have now completed my visitation and inspection of our mission in China, have organized the Conference, given the preachers their appointments, and sent them off in good spirits and full of hope. In general terms, I say without hesitation, that our work is in as good condition as is possible, considering the number of men—and I ought to add, women—engaged.

I have visited every station occupied by our workmen except Kading. A broken bridge obstructed the canal, so that our boat was unable to make that point. My visit included much of the country with towns and villages not occupied. That you may form some idea of the territory, I inclose copies of maps of the two districts which I have had made, showing the location of circuits. The names of the walled cities are given. The black dots are representative of unwalled towns and villages. These are inferior to the walled cities only in a political sense. Many of them have larger population than most of the walled cities, in some instances reckoning from 200,000 to 275,000. Within the territory of these two districts there are more than ten millions of people; and outside of the immediate neighborhood of Shanghai and Suchow there is not a mission station or missionary besides those of our church. In Suchow, with a population of 300,000, there is a Presbyterian mission; that is the only one away from Shanghai in all our region.

Our work is well located in Shanghai and Suchow, and the arrangement of the women's work has been effected with skillful management so as to make it contribute to the general good, and at the same time command the influence and support of the mission at large. The boarding and day-schools are carried on in the vicinity of the churches and chapels, the children are brought together from all the schools into the church or chapel for morning and evening prayers, and are organized into a Sunday-school on Sunday, and parents and children are distinctly taught that the schools are part of missionary operations. The effect of this arrangement and of the admirably work done by our women is to open the way into the families from which the children come for our church, and to bring the parents to hear the preaching. The ladies are doing excellent work—work that I might say is indispensable. They are doing a great deal of it—too much for their strength. There ought to be at least six ladies engaged in the work that Miss Haygood and Miss Muse have in hand now. The condition of affairs is good, full of hope. If a few men like-minded with those here could be sent out we might expect visible, tangible results in a very few years.

Great changes are taking place in the empire, and our situation is eminently favorable for seizing the advantages and realizing the results of the new movements. Our people may safely trust the men we have here.

I do not write this to be published. I thought it safer to send some statement home in case anything should happen to me. * * * I have done everything that can be done at this inauguration of our Conference work in China, and have prepared myself for it by careful inspection of other missions in Japan, in North China, and here. I believe it to be wise and a good investment for one of us to come out every year until the work is fairly on its way and the Conference established, then every other year will be enough.

Very truly yours,

A. W. WILSON.

SHANGHAI, CHINA, Nov. 28, 1886.

P. S.—I send copy of appointments. This I add, that at request of Woman's Board I appointed Dr. Allen superintendent of woman's work, and it is much to the satisfaction of the ladies in the mission.

A. W. W.

Nov. 29. Before mailing this, let me ask that if you can find any good men for China, you will send them out. The need is very great. The Board ordered that the premiums on drafts be appropriated to re-enforcements. That will leave about $3 000 available for the purpose, which will support three single men or two married men, also paying their way here. They ought to be here as soon as possible. It requires so much time to learn the language. If you can send any, order them to report to Reid, at Shanghai, and Anderson, at Suchow.

A. W. WILSON.

—Nashville Advocate.

Miss Dora Rankin.

The Woman's Missionary Society of Jackson, Miss., offered the following resolutions on the death of Miss Dora Rankin:

Resolved, That we give expression to our feeling of deep bereavement.

Resolved, That her example of faithfulness unto the end shall incite us to holier living and more earnest work for the conversion of the heathen.

Resolved, That we tender loving sympathy to the bereaved, aged mother who bade her daughter "Go—rescue the perishing."

Resolved, That her dear sister, now left alone in China, we especially commend to the "God of all comfort," praying that she may be comforted "by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our noble young missionary, and that they be published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

MRS. C. G. ANDREWS,
Pres. W. M. Society.

MRS. MATTIE V. BROWN, Sec'y.

JACKSON, MISS., Jan. 4, 1887.

After all, there is but one way to make this mighty thing called Methodism effective, and that is for all who are concerned therewith to be "wholly given to God and his work." Pastors and laymen "wholly given to God and his work" will not elect to the office of a Bishop a man whom they can not trust; and having so elected him, they will leave him free to discharge the responsibilities of his high office in the fear of God.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1887.

AFTON WATER.

BY ROBT. BURNS.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes;
Flow gently, I'll sing thee a song in thy praise:
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring stream—
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

Thou stock dove whose echo resounds through the glen,
Ye wild whistling blackbirds in yon thorny den,
Thou green crested lapwing thy screaming forbear,
I charge you, disturb not my slumbering fair.

How lofty, sweet Afton, thy neighboring hills,
Far marked with the course of thy clear winding rills,
There daily I wander as noon rises high,
My flocks, and my Mary's sweet cot in my eye.

How pleasant thy banks and green valleys below,
Where wild in the woods the primroses blow;
There oft, as mild evening weeps over the lea,
The sweet scented birk shades my Mary and me.

Thy crystal stream, Afton, how lovely it glides,
And winds by the cot where my Mary resides;
How wanton thy waters her snowy feet lave,
As gathering sweet flowers she stems thy clear wave.

Flow gently, sweet Afton, among thy green braes,
Flow gently, sweet river, the theme of my lays;
My Mary's asleep by thy murmuring stream,
Flow gently, sweet Afton, disturb not her dream.

Louisiana Conference.

TEMPERANCE REPORT.

Your committee have to report as follows:

Demanding the earnest consideration of every patriot and Christian, and more discussed than any other, is the all-important, vital question of temperance and prohibition. Wonderful has been the advance of the temperance cause during the last decade; but the wonder is greater that intelligent and Christian men and women should have been so slow to determining to destroy the liquor traffic that has been slaying its multitudes for lo! these hundreds of years. Now, that the good people of this and other lands are at last aroused, it is found that this foe, protected by law has grown to be a very giant, full of fight and hard to kill. The question has passed beyond the handling of the mere theorizer and the professional essayist, and is being sifted to the core by the eminent practical—by the calculating man of figures, the political economist, the busy man of affairs and the wise statesman; aye, in Church as in State, the wide-awake and live men of brains and heart are engaged on the problem of how best and quickest to destroy this bitter, relentless foe of God and man, that would rob heaven of blood-bought souls and fill an awful hell with its victims.

England's Gladstone is on record thus: "We suffer more, year by year and every year, by intemperance than from war, pestilence and famine combined—those three great scourges of the human family." There can be no doubt that he is correct. It is estimated that the great wars of the world for the twenty-five years from 1852 to 1877, in which are included the Franco-German War and the American Civil War, cost a fraction over $2,000,000,000. The cost of intoxicants in the United States for the same length of time was more than $15,000,000,000—or $4,000,000,000 more than all the great wars of the world. During a period in which in the United States 600,000 persons were killed in war, statistics show that 7,500,000 were killed by liquor; thus, for every thousand killed in battle liquor killed twelve and one-half thousand. It is conceded by all that in this country's vast army of men and women annually drop into the grave of the drunkard. Nine hundred millions of dollars per annum is the nation's liquor bill. While the people pay this enormous sum for the liquid fire, their meat and bread bill is not as much by one hundred millions of dollars. The liquor bill is ten times as much as is paid for the public schools, and seventy-five times as much as goes as salary into the hands of that most useful class of workers, the ministers. More astounding still is the fact that this foremost of Christian nations, and hence supposed to be active in the saving of the world of mankind, gives actually 164 times as much for liquor as for both foreign and home missions.

We will add to the direct cost of liquor ($900,000,000), the following estimated indirect cost and loss from drink, as made by Dr. Hargreaves, based on the census of 1880, and published by the National Temperance Society:

1. Loss of productive labor of 580,472 persons (in the liquor trade, ...	$253,230,000
2. Loss of productive labor of 700,000 drunkards	175,000,000
3. Loss of productive labor of 2,112,250 moderate drinkers	221,302,634
4. Loss of 65,000,742 bushels of grain destroyed in breweries and distilleries	35,330,356
5. Loss of time and cost of medical attendance and medicine in sickness caused by drink	119,568,576
6. Loss to employers by time lost by drinking workmen, ...	10,000,000
7. Cost of supporting 82,500 defectives, paupers by drink, asylums etc.	16,779 800
8. Cost of supporting 119 paupers made such by drink, at $200 a year.	5,911,000
9. Loss of labor of 59,111 paupers and vagrants, at $100 per annum	17,733,000
10. Cost of supporting 29,481 prisoners, at $100 a year	3,948,100
11. Loss of labor of 39,481 prisoners at $100 a year	11,841,300
12. Cost of police, power none could express, jurors, witnesses etc.	15,000,000
Total	$914,543,830

Of the $900,000,000 direct national cost of liquor, a writer in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE says:

This is a sum of money too big to think about without becoming dizzy. If expended in bread, it would be enough to supply 2,500,000 people for a whole year! If expended in tuition, according to the usual rates, it would pay for the schooling of 30,000,000 children for a term of ten months! If a man were to count 100 per minute for twelve hours a day, it would require thirty-four years and three months for him to count the dollars spent in maintaining liquor in our country for one year!

Add together the direct and the indirect cost of liquor, and we have the monstrous iniquity summed up in dollars to the tune of $1,814,543,830. Add to this enormous sum that which figures can not estimate—the moral and social ruin in it all, therein, misery and crime growing out of it and the damnation in hell forever of the bodies and souls of the dealers in it and their victims, and we stand aghast at the colossal proportions of the whisky devil as he lives and revels in our own fair land. Of other lands a similar awful recital may be made in connection with their liquor traffic. Oh, is it not "the sum of all villainies," and should not the millions of Christians in this country, presenting a solid prohibition front, wage against it uncompromising war? The liquor traffic is the relentless enemy of the physical, mental and moral man; the cruel destroyer of the peace and happiness of home, embruting and blighting all it touches there; and seeking to ensnare and drag to dishonor, shame and ruin all that is pure and true and holy, it is the avowed and deadly foe of the church of God. All kinds of crime find in it a natural ally and their most persuasive instigator and powerful abettor. In the truthful language used and adopted at a sister Conference:

It fills our poor-houses and asylums, increases our taxes while it cripples our public treasuries. It ensnares our boys and corrupts our young men. It causes wife-beating, causes children to perish with hunger and cruel treatment. It hinders education, perpetuates ignorance, antagonizes Christianity; it fosters obscenity, debauchery, profanity and blasphemy. It causes dishonesty, robberies, embezzlements, burglaries, arson, assaults, murders, and suicides. It blights and blasts every honest business, but furnishes abundant work for the sheriff, the jailer, the hangman and the grave-digger. It ruins man and damns souls. It bribes or intimidates juries, perjures witnesses, corrupts constables, sheriffs and magistrates, and perverts justice. It buys votes, corrupts the ballot-box, enables worthless, base men to get into office and debauches Legislatures. It enslaves political parties, compels them to support its interests, and to execute its villainous schemes. It endeavors to silence the press, and it would gag the pulpit if it could. It sets all law at defiance, promotes insurrection, riot and anarchy. The saloons are the hot beds of hell where the schemes of the anarchists are hatched and matured. It unhesitatingly resorts to slander, libel, perjury, house-burning, the bludgeon, the knife and the pistol to effect its purposes. It has no redeeming feature. It is criminal in the sight of God, infamous among men, and has no right to existence outside of the bottomless pit of hell.

In the face of all that is thus chargeable to the liquor traffic, can it be that the church of God is at liberty to remain uninterested or even lukewarm? Is she not forced into persistent war by reason of the ceaseless activity of this mighty enemy, interfering, as it does, with her operations and rendering nugatory much of her effort for the saving of souls? The ten millions of church members in this Union should be in line of battle, and we thank God and take courage as we feel the tramp of God's coming hosts and hear the shouts of victory ringing out from all the States where the issue has been made. Our own beloved Louisiana, plutoned as she is, and thought by some beyond redemption, catching the healthful spirit of the age, moves her limbs and feels for the light, and seeks, like her sisters, freedom from the liquor curse. There is now on her statute book a Sunday law, closing the saloons throughout her bounds upon the Sabbath, and in about thirteen of her parishes prohibition has won the day by large majorities and prevails in whole or in part. The Southron gives the following description of the happy state of things in one parish, Sabine:

Our parish scrip is worth 100 cents on the dollar, and the taxes this year have been reduced two mills on the dollar. There has been scarcely a law suit instituted in our courts this year. There has been but little or no crime committed and consequently no criminal docket. No disturbances of the public peace, nor drunkenness nor rowdyism. The jail stands empty. Peace, good order, harmony and prosperity prevail throughout every section of the parish. This state of affairs is attributed to one grand cause—the absence of spirituous liquors.

While the temperance vote in the United States has more than doubled in two years, the cause in our own State has made prodigious strides, and there is everything to cheer and nothing to dishearten in the outlook. Other parishes will soon be, like Sabine, rejoicing in their deliverance from the rum fiend's power. Wherever prohibition prevails, success is mainly due to Christian men and Christian women, and the church of God is able everywhere to conquer her foes. Our General Conference gave forth no uncertain sound on this great question, and our Annual Conferences, one after another, have been no less distinct and emphatic in their condemnation of the licensed liquor traffic and their demand upon the membership to work, and pray, and vote for its prohibition. The Louisiana Conference claims her place in the front rank, and her ministers and members have no backward steps to take.

Whereas, The whole liquor license system is thoroughly iniquitous, and hence no Christian can keep a "conscience void of offense towards God and man" and yet vote for license, be it high, low or graded; therefore, be it

Resolved, That as heretofore we do now pledge ourselves to preach, pray, work and vote for the utter overthrow of the liquor traffic and the complete triumph of prohibition.

Resolved, That the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Louisiana has our entire confidence and full sympathy in their noble work for the saving of their brothers from the life and hell of the drunkard, and that they may count on our hearty co-operation and best aid in their behalf whenever they shall ask it at our hands or come among us on their Christ-like mission.

Resolved, That we pray God's blessing upon all honest workers in the cause of temperance and prohibition.

Signed, JOHN T. SAWYER, Chairman.

REPORT ON BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

It seems strange that there is needed an annual call and exhortation to the people on this line; that with urgency we have to direct attention to the marvelous forces and amazing results seen bound up in and flowing from the literature of a people. A nation's literature is a nation's thought and character in print. This fact of itself is full of significance and solemnity. Who would hastily spread forth on the printed page his inmost life and character? And yet we can not write without doing this. The page of book and paper is a strange, yet unfailing tidal mark. It tells unmistakably how high we have risen, or how low we have sunk in spiritual things. Just as no better declaration of the degenerate life in Pompeii exists than the sentences traced on the walls of its exhumed buildings; so we may know what we are by the books and papers that meet the eye on all sides. There are fearful secrets of the ocean left on the beach not less plainly the opinions, the principles, the practices, the whole secret life of a people is thrown up and left stranded and fixed in the sentences of its literature. What need for the books of Judgment to condemn us when the record of forgetfulness of God and duty is spread forth in our general literature.

Another solemn thought is that our mental tastes and inclinations assuredly declare the life within and the state of that life. A healthy man wants broad, a vitiated appetite seeks its gratification in confections and liquid poisons and stupefying drugs, and thus the wasted body goes on its degenerating way. The true heart and godly life craves the solid, the edifying and spiritual. This you know from the depths of a true religious experience. But what is it that the people at large crave—what is the mental appetite of the public? What is it that every man you meet carries in his hand, brings to his home, dives into with the morning light, broods over it before nothing, clings to as the superstitious does to the amulet and the Catholic to his rosary. What is in it? What is dressed up and put forth in such attractive and tempting and excelling forms as to please the public taste? I tell you, my brethren, that thousands of lovely characters are blessing the land whose names and deeds are never mentioned in such columns, nor are they sought: but let a man murder, steal or commit some low crime, and the whole thing is painted to the life, and not one of the foul words or disgusting details on the trial is omitted. Do we blame the newspapers? Not as much as we blame the people who seek such mental food. The papers give just what the people demand, and the vitiated public taste declares the degenerate character. But this style of paper is only one item. It is significant to notice the character of books that are sold in our trains and crowd the news-stands and book stalls.

And the question answered as to what your daughters are reading and what your boy is breeding over might bring a revelation that would surprise and distress. I do not think that heads of families who pore over the details of some society scandal need be astonished that their boys are absorbed in the pages of a yellow-backed literature that enervates and destroys both mind and morals. Here our mental appetites show what we are. What is our hope in this state of things? And what our remedy? My brethren, I see but one, and that is the persistent forcing upon our people a sound, wholesome, elevating literature. And tell me if the church does not do this, who will? Certainly the world itself will not. As far as I can see, God has never poured a blessing on this world but through his church. He has honored her ever in this way, and will continue to do so. Let men sneer as they will about the church; but one thing is certain—that all our spiritual mercies and blessings have come through her. In this particular instance God's eye is on the church. God's expectations is in his church. It is the bride of the Lamb that is to give to men that reading that shall rebuke error, teach the better way, and prepare men by its purifying teachings for the coming of the Lord. Will she do it?

There is a secular paper in Paris that prints seven hundred thousand copies every week and distributes them. Shall the devil and a few men for gain do this, and the church, with God and heaven as its support, not do greater things than these? Listen to Dr. Fitzgerald crying out for fifty thousand subscribers, and the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE asking for seven or ten, with a million of Methodists at their back, truth on their side, and God overhead in plenitude of power, and yet content with these small figures, while one man in Paris or a dozen, working for self and money, get a million. May God bring us to greater victories than these for the religious press!

In my report last year I said that on top of every error we ought to pile good books as high as the pyramids of Egypt, and utterly blot it out of the sight of men. While as for tracts, they ought to come down with the abundance and nourishing power of the manna. Shall we let a poor, converted gypsy outdo us? A man who constantly distributed tracts, doing it in fear and trembling, under a social ban, but still doing it. The history of one left on a farmer's doorstep has been preserved. It was a single seed sown in love and prayer, and sown on a doorstep at that; but a harvest of thousands of souls is the result. Can we not see greater things than this? Is there not a need for tracts? Tracts on all subjects—on doctrines, duties, Christian experience, and every other truth by which the man of God is thoroughly furnished. May the church enter upon this field that is white unto the harvest. The writer knows of two men in New Orleans—one a Seventh Day Baptist, or Adventist, and the other a Swedenborgian—who go about distributing their tracts that are filled with their peculiar heresies and nubelia. And much evil they are doing. May we not be as diligent in the distribution of good publications as evil men are in the service of Satan? God grant it not to be long before we see a religious paper in every household, and books, sweet, pure, healthful, helpful and heavenly, in every hand.

There is a ray of light that to the thoughtful is deeply significant and full of promise, not only of a coming dawn, but a coming day. And that is the published sermons in our great public journals each Monday morning from the prominent pulpits of the land. Time was when the deliberations of such a body as this—when the proceedings of a camp meeting and when a published sermon was a thing unheard of. But these things now are constantly in print. We can not congregate here on the Lord's business but the country is told of it. We can not have a man in our midst, pouring forth thought baptized with the Holy Ghost, but it is given next morning to the world. What is the significance? Just this. It means that your devoted labors by press, pen and tongue are telling on the public mind and heart, that public taste is changing, that the tide is turning, and that the day—the day long desired, and seen afar off—the day of Jesus Christ is coming: when truth shall prevail instead of error, holiness instead of passion and sin, and when God shall not only be in the life of individuals, but in the life of the nations, and not only in the spoken word, but in the printed word, whether it be of tract or book or paper.

The Sunday-school literature published by our House at Nashville is before us. We have but one word to say in reference to it, and that word is one of commendation.

The Nashville Advocate, in our opinion, is constantly approximating the position that should be occupied by the connectional organ of a great church. We feel that the course pursued by the General Conference in regard to it in the appointment of an assistant editor, and the setting aside of a fund for the payment of contributed articles, was one of wisdom as well as necessity, and feel assured that the mightiest results for good will be the consequence.

The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE certainly speaks for itself. As to its editorial matter and selections we feel there can be but one opinion—and that is, that they are first class. How any Methodist Christian family can get along without this paper is a profound mystery to this committee.

Finally, we lift up a pleading voice in behalf of our Standard Hymn Book. Don't be beguiled out of it or away from it in any way. We direct the brethren to two facts: First, that we need never go out from its pages to find a stronger and truer expression of any or all conditions of religious experience; and, secondly, we will never have a book in our hands that God has so signally honored and blessed.

H. CARRADINE, Chairman.

BIBLE CAUSE.

Your Committee on the Bible Cause find themselves somewhat perplexed as to what shall compose the body of this report. No communication has been received by them, and no matter of business has been referred. We deem it superfluous to give either an admonition or an exhortation to a body of preachers upon the right using and the appreciation of the Bible; for to the man of God, the teacher of righteousness, God's word must be the light, the life of his every inspiration, the arsenal from which he draws his ordnance, for it is only the knowledge that comes from a prayerful study and the daily reading of the holy word that can give spring to his bow and a point to his arrow. This painful truth, however, is forced upon the minds of your committee, and to which we would especially draw the attention of this Conference: That within our knowledge, no organized effort is being made for the distribution of the Scriptures within the bounds of this Conference. Who may be responsible for this condition of things your committee is unable to say; but the fact is plainly patent. There is no effort outside of the regular ministry by agent or society to supply the masses with the precious word of truth; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Louisiana Annual Conference, will during the coming year make diligent inquiry, with the view to ascertain what may be the amount of destitution within the bounds of this Conference, and as far as practicable, locate those places in which the Bible is not generally found in the houses of the people, and report the same to the Committee on the Bible Cause at the next Annual Conference.

Resolved, That we, as preachers, impress upon our people, both young and old, the importance of each day reading a portion of the word of truth, and in our preaching stress or emphasize the point, that without the knowledge of the Bible, and a personal application of its truths, there can be no intelligent or acceptable worship of God.

T. K. FAUNT LEROY, Chairman.

CENTENARY COLLEGE.

In the discharge of their duties, the Board of Education have given proper consideration to the report of Rev. T. A. S. Adams, A. M., D. D., president of Centenary College at Jackson, La. While the condition of the college is far inferior to what it should be (in the number of students enrolled), it seems to be slowly, but steadily advancing towards that point of prominent importance which its faculty and its patronizing Conferences demand. Centenary College has made a record, and its officers have shown a heroism of which the Louisiana and Misalssippi Conferences should be proud.

Year after year this Board and this Conference have pleaded for Centenary, while in session, and results show, that although our pleadings have availed somewhat, we have not met with that measure of success which our cause merits. Is it because we talk more for our only college for boys while in our respective sessions, and less when among our people from whom the patronage must come; or is it not rather to be attributed to the fact that we neither converse nor preach among our people on the important subject of Christian education, especially in connection with our own schools? Why should one imagine other institutions of learning better places to educate our young men than Centenary? While they are or may be first-class institutions, they offer no better opportunities for a college course of instruction than Centenary; nor do they throw around the young men in their halls stronger moral influences than we are assured are thrown around the young men at Centenary. Without assuming to answer, we put the question to the preachers and to our people generally: "Are you not sending those under your spiritual, parental or civil guardianship to institutions where the moral faculties are contracted as rapidly as the mental faculties are expanded?" Free tuition is incalculably expensive when the result is a vitiated moral character. That parsimoniousness which would barter moral culture for $50 a year in tuition is desperate meanness, and should be reproved. If this sort of things should suit others, it is unfit for Methodists, and our preachers ought to make it an object of depreciation.

We find the faculty of Centenary composed of the president and six professors—a corps of teachers fully competent to meet the demands of a greatly increased number of students. In view of the fact that Centenary is giving tuition free to all students for the ministry, whether such be the sons of preachers or not, we offer the following:

Resolved, That the proceeds of the collection for educational purposes reported to this session of the Conference, and not otherwise applied, be turned over to the treasurer of Centenary College.

The Board of Education have learned, with some degree of surprise, that no insurance has been secured on the valuable property represented in the buildings of Centenary College. The great value of those buildings, and the inability of the church to replace them if destroyed, most imperatively demand the security afforded by a policy covering, at least, some portion of the value of the property. We, therefore, offer the following resolution on this subject, viz:

Resolved, That the Board of Trustees of Centenary College be requested to provide, if possible, for the insurance of at least twenty-five thousand dollars on the college building at Jackson, La.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Board of Education have had under consideration the report of Rev. R. J. Harp, president of the Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College, which conveys to them the cheering information of the progress of that institution of learning, so useful and so beneficial to our church. From this report, compared to other reports from the same source, it appears that the patronage during the present scholastic year is in advance of either the three preceding years. This evidence of prosperity we readily attribute to the recent and judicious reorganization of the faculty, by which most competent teachers, thoroughly enlisted in the good work before them, have been placed at the heads of the different departments of instruction. It is a source of great gratification to the Board of Education to be able to present to the Conference these renewed evidences of the competency and devotion of President Grace. Still, while this material improvement is shown in the report of the Board of Managers of Mansfield Female College, we deem it advisable to call the attention of the friends of Christian education to the fact that many of our people are still patronizing institutions of learning either irreligious in their discipline or at variance with the greatest economic interests of our church.

We would not be understood as opposed to mental culture under any circumstance, and yet we do emphasize the importance of expanding or drawing out—the minds of the youth of our church, in both sexes, on a line parallel to our doctrines and usages. The religious latitudinarianism which exercises no preference for the circumstances of mental culture is generally unwise, and often criminal. One of the secrets of the power of Methodism—if not, indeed, the main one—is to be found in its devotion to Christian education. Born in a college, it has been running to and fro throughout the world, building up such institutions on a purely Christian basis. It is not altogether in vain that the Methodist Church claims to have projected the first female college of any note on this continent. Nor can other expectation be entertained but that she will steadily traverse her accustomed walks. Both science and observation teach that the mental and moral characteristics follow the posterity more generally from the maternal than from the paternal side. Our schools, with our fireside, constitute our propaganda (societas de propaganda fide), and great will be the results when our people learn this fact. If the faith of our fathers must be preserved and sent down to the generations to follow, our people must be educated in that faith. Entertaining these views, the Board of Education offers for the consideration of the Conference the following:

Resolved, That the attention of the preachers be called to answer 16, paragraph 65, on page 83 of our book of discipline, viz: "To preach upon the subject of Christian education, and to urge upon parents the importance of educating their children, advising them to patronize, as far as practicable, those institutions of learning under the care of our church."

J. A. PARKER, Pres.
R. S. ISBELL, Sec'y.

From Flora, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: The dying year bore upon his shivering wings many "movers." Several were met, passed or joined company with, by the writer. It was a season of pain and reluctant parting, our severing the lovable bonds that had for six short months bound us to Martin circuit. Every charge had drawn about itself a tender attachment, and the final parting from dear, mellow old Cane Ridge—had best not be dwelt upon. Smiles it, we left them there—Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian—with a depth of love that will not soon grow shallow; with memories so bright as to promise perpetual fragrance. We left, praying God's blessing upon them, and warm "God bless you's" spoke from many a mouth to us, and lay in the clasp of every hand.

To Flora, infant of three years' growth, yet in hospitable warmth and business shew already the poor of many thrice her age, we came. Hands are extended in greeting—welcome is seen as well as spoken. Surely though checkered and crossed, perhaps, as all lives are, the Methodist itinerant finds always much to warm his heart, and must be the last to think the world devoid of kindly feeling. With earnest intent we begin the year—intent, with the help of God, to kindle fire upon many an empty altar; to warm anew where coldness and indifference have been allowed to find place. There is much to do. Thank God for health and strength with which we begin the year. To him we look for guidance. One distinct aim I shall have, will be to double or treble the number of subscribers to the ADVOCATE in my charge.

W. H. HUNTLEY.

JANUARY 11, 1887.

A Preacher "Pounded."

MR. EDITOR: Another very pleasant affair has occurred at this parsonage. On last Tuesday night, at a very early hour, the ladies and young people of this community began to come in, and continued to come and go until nine o'clock, and each one brought something useful for the preacher and his family.

Such occasions are very pleasant, and exert a wonderful influence upon the preacher and his family. The coat to no one, it is true, is very great, and yet the aggregate is worth a great deal to the preacher's family. Indeed, there is something more in these acts of kindness than the mere intrinsic worth of the articles received. They have a very happy influence upon the preacher in his work and the family in the parsonage. These things have in them a reflex benefit, and thus the people reap a greater benefit from the services of the preacher than they otherwise would.

Mr. Editor, the lines have fallen to us in pleasant places. The last thing on our former charge and the first thing on our new was a pounding. The people of Hebron, our former charge, are indeed clever, and we expect to hear very soon of Bro. Osta being pounded; but we have found Buena Vista clever also.

H. ESLER.

BUENA VISTA, MISS., Dec. 31, 1886.

The watch in your pocket or that clock on your mantelpiece needs to be wound every day or every eight days. Neglect them over the day, or over the week, and soon the tell-tale hands will remind you, and the confusion in your household or business would loudly call for the re-winding. Do you think your private devotions or family prayer or social and public worship would be more faithfully attended to, if there were some tell-tale hands to show that you were not coming up to time? Because God does not treat you like a machine, and does not remind you in any way that can not be overlooked, will you therefore give more attention to your time-piece than to your altar? Shall your own pleasure and convenience and secular business be of more regard to you than your religious condition, your spiritual happiness or your devotional duties to yourself, to others and to God?—Christian Standard.

Variety and Adaptation.

A silent spectator of the proceedings of the Methodist Conference can not fail to be impressed with the various endowments of its members. The keen debater, the profound theologian, the able financier, the master of happy phrases, and the large-souled enthusiast are there, each contributing his part to the several conversations, each doing in his own way the Master's work. This variety is of Divine appointment, and men are gifted by the diversity of their mental and spiritual endowments for the various kinds of work in which they are called. The need of sanctified wisdom is obvious, in order that the church may carry out the purposes of its great Head and give "to every man his work." Similar wisdom is needed by the worker, that he may lay out to the best advantage the talents with which he is entrusted as the Lord's steward; and we fear that the cause of God suffers much loss through the want of a fair estimate of their own powers—their strength and weakness—on the part of Christian toilers. There are some who may be described by a familiar though rather awkward phrase as good "all-round men." No quality shines out with pre-eminent lustre, but there is a happy blending of gifts and graces which fits them for manifold and great usefulness. There are others of more marked individuality, who are fitted by special endowments for special work. We believe that each man should cultivate with peculiar care the choice plants in the garden of his soul, while not neglecting the meaner duties of spiritual husbandry. In a word, we plead for sanctified individuality in Christian effort.

Let us take, for example, a Methodist minister as a typical Christian worker. His work in a circuit has been to a large extent cut out for him by his predecessors, and he finds in the regular "plan" enough to occupy the greater part of his time. There is a danger lest he should get into a monotonous routine, and go his rounds month after month, preaching so many sermons and visiting so many homes without much definite result. But let him exercise freely his peculiar "charisma" and there is much more likelihood of blessing. If he has the special gift of teaching, let him use it freely in the Bible class, and the intelligent young people will gather round him and become wise unto salvation. If he has the special gift of the evangelist, let him break at times through the routine of circuit work and seek by concentrated and continuous effort in special neighborhoods to gather in the outcasts. If he is a born organizer, let the organization of circuit, the Bands of Hope, the Sunday schools be in such a manner that he shall gather round him a reliable and willing band of workers. We plead all the more earnestly for this sanctified individuality in work because, as regards our ministers at least, the constitution of our church life are unfavorable to it. The training which comes after their college days tends to make them versatile rather than profound. When they have to preach, and visit and preside at Church Courts and manage finances, and fulfill all the pressing though pleasant requirements of Methodist social life, it is not easy to attain to supreme excellence in any department. To aim, again, our itinerancy, while it may prove a blessing in rubbing off sharp angularities, is certainly not helpful to the development of originality. Those who have settled pastorates may work out their plans and strive to realize their ideal of a church through a long series of years. But the Methodist minister must think of those who have gone before and of those who shall follow after, and if he is wise, will avoid too violent a break in the continuity of circuit work. Many a plan of fresh work never gets past the study of the minister, because the time is far spent, and he will soon hear the inexorable "Move on" of our ecclesiastical law.

Man, more than any other creature, has the power of adapting himself to new surroundings and conditions of life. This power is fully tested and generally developed also in the Methodist itinerancy. Many learn to adapt themselves with marvelous facility to the peculiarities and demands of a new circuit. Let this adaptation be mutual. The sturdy theologian who gives the strong meat of sound doctrine is sometimes underrated because he is not a master of apt illustrations or brilliant rhetoric. The man of brilliant parts and fluent tongue is condemned because he ignores the finer distinctions of theology and uses his divine gift of imagination. Each has his place in the divine order. The same eternal truth, the same story of redeeming love, variously presented enlightens the mind, convinces the judgment, teaches the conscience, or touches the heart, and thus adds to the trophies of Divine grace. It is the wisdom of the church gladly and gratefully to acknowledge the special gifts of the minister or other worker for Christ. Many a germ of usefulness has been killed by the chilling frosts of suspicion and criticism. Even those who bask in the sunshine of the Divine smile are not superior to the influence of human distrust or sympathy, and there are some who would surprise themselves and others if only a generous recognition of their worth and fidelity called forth the latent energies of their nature. Nowhere in the great sisterhood of churches are ministers and people bound so closely together by the ties of spiritual and social fellowship as in Methodism. The more we cultivate the spirit of mutual respect and sympathy as well as of mutual tolerance when our opinions and methods of work differ, the better shall we be prepared for doing a great work in our land and age,—while in the special endowment of each worker we gratefully and reverently acknowledge the sovereignty of him who divides "to every man severally as he will."—Irish Advocate.

Is your church lacking in spiritual fervor and power? Then seek a revival. Go to God first of all yourself, in prayer and personal consecration. When God has filled your soul with his love, and given you a burning desire to save souls, go to work in earnest to enlist others in the work. Spiritual fervor and power in yourself will beget the same in others. Action begets action. Faith begets faith. Consecration begets consecration. Life begets life.—Telescope.

A Great Offer.

No matter in what part you live, you had better write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, without delay; they will send you free information about work that you can do and live at home, at a profit of from $5 to $25 and upwards daily. A number have earned over $50 in a day. Both sexes. All ages. You are started in business free. Capital not needed. Every worker who takes hold at once is absolutely sure of a snug little fortune. Now is the time.

"I Write unto You, Young Men."

Of you, Christian young men, it is asked that you cast out of yourselves the false, the selfish and the defiling, and that you be sincere workers for the glory of God and the benefit of men. We ask it in the name of truth, that you may man her bulwarks, and tell her to the generation following. We ask it in the name of Christianity, that you may join her in her brave battle with world and flesh and devil. We ask it in the name of society, that she may not be convulsed by the crimes of the lawless or by the frenzy of the despairing. We ask it in the name of humanity, struggling to deliver herself from a thousand wrongs. We ask it in the name of multitudes, showing your own manhood, who are passing down to darkness wailing as they go, "No man hath cared for my soul!" We ask it in the name of the Redeemer, who has shed for you his own most precious blood, and who waits expectantly to see the travail of his soul.

Wearily have the years passed, I know; wearily to the pale watcher on the hill who has been so long gazing for the daybreak; wearily to the anxious multitudes who have been waiting for his tidings below. Often has the cry gone up through the darkness: "Watcher, what of the night?" and often has the disappointing answer come: "It is night still; here the stars are clear above me, and they shine afar, and yonder the cloud is lower heavily; and the sad night winds blow." But the time shall come, and perhaps sooner than we look for it, when the countenance of that pale watcher shall gather intense expectancy, and when the challenge shall be given with the hopefulness of a near vision, "Watcher, what of the night?" And the answer shall come, "The darkness is not so dense as it was; there are faint streaks on the horizon's range; mist is in the valleys, but there is radiance on the distant hill. It comes nearer—that promise of the ray. The clouds roll rapidly away, and they are fringed with amber and gold. It is, it is the blest sunlight that I feel around me—it is morning!"

And in the light of that morning thousands of earnest eyes flash with renewed brightness, and things that nestle in dust and darkness cower and flee away. Morning for the toil-worn artisan! for the oppressed and anxious, and gaunt famine and poverty are gone, and there is social night no more. Morning for the weak-eyed student! for doubt has fled, and sophistry is silenced, and the clouds of error are lifted from the fair face of truth or are, and there is intellectual light no more. Morning for the lover of man! for wrongs are redressed, centralizations harmonized, problems solved, men in perpetual brotherhood, and there is moral night no more. Morning for the lover of God! for the last infidel voice is hushed, the last cavalry of superstition perpetrated, the last sinner lays his weapons down, and Christ the crucified becomes Christ the Crowned. Morning! hark, how the earth rejoices in it, and its minstrels challenge their risers in the sky, "Sing with us, ye heavens, the darkness is past, the true light shineth!" Hark how the heavens reply, "Thy sun shall no more go down, neither shall thy moon withdraw her light, for the Lord shall be thy everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended!" And the night climbeth upward and upward; for there is a sacred noon beyond. That noon is heaven! "And there shall be no night there!"—C. H. Spurgeon.

That Yellow Complexion

Means biliousness; biliousness means a perverted liver. Some of the bile has gone wrong and entered into the blood instead of going into the bowels, where it was needed to do its legitimate work. For the want of it in the right place you suffer constipation, and because of its presence in the wrong place you suffer jaundice. Nothing will correct that perverted liver and restore it to right habits so effectively or so readily as Compound Oxygen. This is not a drug. It is easy and pleasant to take; simple in its operation, and certain in its results. It has proved a blessing to sufferers from liver troubles and other chronic ailments. If you have symptoms of a disordered liver or of impure blood, or of failing digestion, you will find Compound Oxygen the remedy most sure to restore the diseased organs to healthy action. Drs. STARKEY & PALEN, of 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., publish a work of nearly two hundred pages, entitled Compound Oxygen—its Mode of Action and Results in which many cures are reported. They mail the work free to applicants.

The Religious Paper in the Family.

The following remarks by a country minister are proportionately applicable to city Christian families. The same excellences and defects that are found in one class, prevail in the other. We can testify from long experience in city and country, that the vice, ministerial and lay, most appealed against, and taking heed to the cautions would result in kindly power and progress in temporal and spiritual health.

A continued and lengthened ministerial experience convinces us that the excessive reading of secular papers and mere worldly literature of the story and sensational kind, has a depressing influence on the mind, prevents solid improvement in knowledge. The religious family paper is the balance wheel that checks the machinery move without jarring.

We know that in providing some reading matter for this journal we are sending it to a book-loving and book-buying community. Our readers like books, and therefore we are grateful to commend none which we regard as unprofitable. Yet, quite often we receive an epistle which shows that correct speech and for present men of truth are not valued. But we will not delay longer to call attention to the article to which reference is made.

"For many years the writer has had his attention directed to the influence which the reading of a family has upon its members. He has been a schoolteacher, an editor, that a pastor in charge of different churches. There are the same general facts in different congregations. Ignorance and intelligence are contrasts which appear in pastoral intercourse, and suggest the different work to be done in the different families. I have found by long experience that the reading families require far less attention of the pastor than those that don't read. They are far less complaining and fault-finding, for the good reason that they have something to read about and think about and talk about other than the will go go slip, or whether the minister visits them less than the family over the way.

"I have come to regard the introduction of a religious paper into a family as the best thing I could do for it socially and morally, as well as spiritually. And nowhere does a little scattering of good seed show such large results as when some thoughtful member of the church takes this pains to introduce a good religious paper into a family that has not had one before. The present of a religious paper for a year is the best Christmas or New Year's gift that you can make to a family that is without it. The influence of this kind of reading is soon manifest in the home life by the increased refinement of old and young. And the reading family is sure to be more interested in the work of the church than the non-reading family. There is no material harder to work upon than an ignorant man, who is often obstinate (or, as he is sometimes called, 'big headed') in proportion to his ignorance.

"I know of two farmers in the country who live side by side, who are equally prosperous in worldly things, both out of debt and well to do in the world, and both members of the same church; but that no men are of very different value in society. One reads a Sunday sensational newspaper, which he takes because it is cheap, but his influence is to turn him away from everything of a religious character. It is the dime novel for an older class of boys. The other farmer has long had in his family a religious newspaper.

"The value of each of these farmers to the church is as diverse as their reading. The sensational Sunday paper is not an aid to family religion. There is no family altar in that house, and not one of the family parent or child—is in the Sabbath-school. The other home takes its character from its reading. The family altar is never neglected; the children go with their father and mother to the house of God; they take their places in the Sunday-school; and the pastor, as he sits at the communion-table, has before him the beautiful sight of a whole family united as members of the same church.

"The way these two men support the gospel shows the same influence. One gives three times as much as the other, and in the evangelical contributions to the various Boards of our church ten times as much! Much of this difference is owing to the different papers that are read in their families."

RIGHT ORGANIZATION OF CHRISTIAN GIVING. What the church needs for the work of benevolence that is laid upon her is some reorganization of motive power. Somehow the spiritual force which she has a right to claim does not work up to the level of such consecration as the case demands. The old system is worn out. Publishing and begging agencies whip up a languid and unsteady zeal. Sermons on missions, eloquent appeals to pity, vivid pictures of pagan woes all are drawing to keep the sea of benevolence enlarging part passu with the need it has to irrigate and which is open to its flow. Withering doors and hanging revenues give warning of the danger of guilt failure. Is there not demanded by the times a diviner method of liberating and applying spiritual force than that which is now in vogue? And here is where the deliberative system comes in with its fullest efficiency. The impulsive method compares with the systematic precisely as the stage coach era in locomotion compares with that of steam. In the former the gain comes by superseding the intervention of vegetable and animal chemistry in liberating latent force; and in the latter by dispensing more or less with the mediation of human sympathies. As in the former case the force comes more immediately from nature's great reservoir, so in the latter, the spiritual power comes more directly from the one infinite and only source, the Lord Jesus Christ. The money taxes the slave of feeling, and debt-paying of bounty-giving. The stormer sanctions of conscience come into play, and a steadier, stronger pressure than the impulse of emotion is brought to bear upon the work to be accomplished.

We believe that more immediate relations between the Christian giver and the master of all true charities would vastly quicken the spirit of consecration. Our common plans draw a veil between them. The human destinations that excite the giver's compassion hide the Divine attraction as that should inflame his gratitude. Even our trustful agencies for stimulating the spirit of benevolence may act like sedatives, and stupefy more than they excite. We have not tapped the true stream of power till we have faced about from the object of our charity to the Master who commands it; till we have learned to look upon our offerings to the destitute as payments rather than bestowments. When Christ a gives in the name of disciples they are discharging obligations, making just returns for benefits received. The Lord is their creditor. He keeps the account, makes the appeal supplies the motive, bestows the ability, and holds out his hand for the talents. Stopping the thoughts upon any thing intermediate is redeeming a dear friend with a gloved hand.—Alfred Yeomans, D. D., in the Presbyterian Review.

As the greatest mistake is to never commit one so the greatest misfortune is never to be unhappy.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of sedentary habit are subject to Headache, Defective Memory, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which unfits the sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect heart's ease that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not perform its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There Is One Medicine

Of which all who use it proclaim its virtues, and that medicine is

Brodie's Cordial.

The Mother will commend it for her little ones, and the grown sufferer of any acute attack or Chronic Bowel Disease will laud its qualities.

It is the Only Astringent Medicine which is Never Followed by Constipation.

but leaves the bowels in a healthy and natural condition. It is a specific for

Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint.

KEEP IT ALWAYS IN THE HOUSE.

And take it along when you go away.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans.

INFORMATION

MANY PERSONS at this season suffer from either Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, Bad Blood, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Constipation & Kidney Troubles.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES RHEUMATISM, Bad Blood and Kidney Troubles, by cleansing the blood of all its impurities, strengthening all parts of the body.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES SICK-HEADACHE, Neuralgia, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, by toning the nerves and strengthening the muscles.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion and Constipation, by aiding the assimilation of the food taken and the proper action of the stomach; it creates a healthy appetite.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES NERVOUSNESS, Depression of spirits and Weakness, by rallying and toning the system.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES OVERWORKED and Delicate Women, Pale and Sickly Children. It is delightful and convenient to take. Tonic.

Volina Almanac and Diary for 1887. A handsome and useful Book, full of USEFUL DISEASES of the SKIN in a pleasant, natural way. Mailed on receipt of a 2c. postage stamp. Address

VOLINA DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

Send the ADVOCATE to your friend for the next year and you will not regret it.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

—MAKES—

Child-Birth Easy!

The time has come when the terrible agony of this critical period in woman's life can be avoided. A distinguished physician, who spent 31 years in this branch of practice, left behind a treasuring woman this legacy. THE MOTHER'S FRIEND, and to-day there are thousands of women who, having used this remedy before confinement, rise up and call his name blessed. We can prove all we claim by living witnesses, and any one interested can call, or have their husbands do so, and see the original letters, which we can not publish.

All druggists sell it. For particulars address

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Ask your neighbors to subscribe for the ADVOCATE.

Queen and Crescent Route.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTH-EASTERN R. R.

—Shortest and Quickest Line to—

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST, ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTH-EAST.

Time Table in effect December 31st, 1886.

Trains North B'd. Read Down		Way Stations (marked thus †)	Trains South B'd. Read Up
No. 2.	No. 6.		No. 1.	No. 5
10 00am	5 10pm	Lv New Orleans ar	5 00pm	7 35am
11 45am	6 10pm	... Slidell ...	3 40pm	6 20am
11 57am	† 6 23pm	... Pearl River ...	3 47pm	† 6 14am
12 12pm	† 6 39pm	...Nicholson ...	3 32pm	† 5 57am
12 27pm	† 6 54pm	... Wilkes ...	3 17pm	† 5 46am
12 50pm	7 00pm	... Highwood ...	3 12pm	† 5 37am
1 07pm	7 16pm	... Pequaylie ...	2 56pm	† 5 20am
1 24pm	† 7 30pm	...Hillsdale...	2 42pm	† 4 58am
1 34pm	† 7 40pm	...Pelonia ...	2 32pm	† 4 50am
1 49pm	† 7 54pm	... Lowah ...	2 18pm	† 4 21am
2 02pm	8 07pm	... Purvis ...	2 05pm	† 4 09am
2 18pm	8 25pm	... Okalona ...	1 47pm	† 4 00am
2 36pm	8 45pm	...Candor...	1 29pm	† 3 48am
3 07pm	9 20pm	... Handsboro ...	1 00pm	† 3 30am
3 16pm	9 34pm	...Escatchee...	12 46pm	† 3 20am
3 28pm	9 46pm	...Tuscumbia...	12 34pm	† 3 10am
3 46pm	10 04pm	...Ellisville...	12 16pm	† 2 52am
4 00	10 17pm	... Laurel ...	12 03pm	† 2 37am
4 17pm	† 10 33pm	† Sanderville †	11 45am	† 2 20am
4 33pm	† 10 48pm	...Heidelberg ...	11 29am	† 2 05am
4 42pm	† 10 57pm	...Vossburg ...	11 20am	† 1 56am
4 59pm	† 11 13pm	...Bargell ...	11 03am	† 1 40am
5 04pm	† 11 18pm	... Parkuta ...	10 58am	† 1 35am
5 20pm	11 34pm	... Enterprise ...	10 42am	† 1 19am
5 38pm	.....	... Center ...	10 24am	.....
6 00pm	12 00am	... Meridian ...	10 00am	12 40am
10 30pm	7 40pm	... Tuscaloosa ...	7 30am	8 10am
12 40am	10 00pm	...Birmingham...	5 30am	5 55pm
3 35am	1 05pm	..... Attala	3 30pm	2 15pm
7 50am	5 50pm	...Chattanooga...	6 30pm	9 15am
1 28pm	1 08am	... Somerset ...	12 00pm	2 27am
2 42pm	2 40am	...Junction City ...	11 30am	12 50pm
4 15pm	4 00am	... Lexington ...	10 22am	11 20pm
6 45pm	6 40am	ar Cincinnati lv	7 55am	8 10pm

JOHN C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup't, Meridian.
H. COLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Pass'r. Agt., Cincinnati, O.
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Pass'r. Agt., Cincinnati
JNO. M. KNIGHT Ticket Agent 24 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

—TAKE THE—

MISSISSIPPI & TENNESSEE RAILROAD.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE

Quickest in Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between

Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

Splendid Equipment!
Magnificent Coaches!
Pullman Buffet Sleepers!
Trains Always on Time!

See that your Tickets read over the Mississippi & Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and Ticket Ag't. JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass. Ag't.

MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific COMPANY.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM.)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN

New Orleans, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, and California Points.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH

Pullman Palace Sleepers

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—AND—

SAN FRANCISCO,

Traversing the most beautiful part of

SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, Gen'l Manager. J. O. SCHRIEVER, Traffic Manager.

General Offices:
Cor Magazine and Natchez Streets, NEW ORLEANS.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad.

The Great Through Line for Passengers and Freight to All Points

—OF—

NORTH EAST AND WEST.

The ONLY LINE running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS THROUGH from NEW ORLEANS to CINCINNATI, ST. LOUIS, MEMPHIS and CHICAGO WITHOUT CHANGE of trucks.

ONLY ONE CHANGE to NEW YORK and EASTERN CITIES.

The ONLY DIRECT ROUTE to ST. LOUIS, CHICAGO and ALL POINTS NORTH and WEST. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, ELEGANT COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY

—AND—

RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—
DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Canal Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 3, 8:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Passenger Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Ast. Geo. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
C. M. SHEAFE, Superintendent.

THE GREAT

Kennesaw and Shenandoah Valley Route.

(East Tenn., Va. and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs N. C., or Staunton, Va.

Baggage Checked to Destination.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:45 A. M. and 8:25 P. M.

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Sou'n Agent, Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans

E. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Knoxville, Tenn.

The Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE.

The Direct Line from New Orleans to

NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN and CENTRAL TEXAS, and

All points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves 7:30 A. M. Arrives 7:15 P. M.
This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.
Texas and California Express leaves 4:00 P. M. Arrives 10:30 A. M.
This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.
Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $140.00.
The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.

For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.

Queen and Crescent Line.

New Orleans and Northeastern RAILROAD.

THE SHORT LINE

FOR FREIGHT AND PASSENGERS

TO ALL POINTS

North and East and in the Northwest.

Low Rates and Quick Time on Freight Traffic.

THE MODEL MODERN RAILROAD.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Magnificent Reclining Chair and Sleeping Cars.

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—TO—

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA and CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 5 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 5 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press Street and Levee. Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St. Charles street, N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.
H. COLLBRAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agent, Queen and Crescent Route, Cincinnati, Ohio.
JOHN M. ENGHIEL, Jr., Ass't Agent, A. P. BARNETT, Commercial Agent, Atlanta, Ga.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for

PLATFORM ECHOES

OR LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART.

By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. It is the ripe and gold gift of "Gough and Home." Agents are making from $100 to $200 a month made. Extra terms to beginners. Now is the time. Send 50 cents for Outfit, containing Prospectus, Terms, and Private Instructions, and you will give Gough and Platform a call. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

"PERFECTION"

Interior Class Fount Student Lamp.

[Pat. Nov. 22, '81.]

Combining with our Self-Acting Valve and Non-Heating Burner, the one thing needed to make an ABSOLUTELY PERFECT LAMP.

No running over of the oil nor leaking of the fount.

Ask for Perfection Class Fount STUDENT LAMP.

Manufactured and for sale, at wholesale only, by the Manhattan Brass Co., First Ave. and 24th St., N. Y.

Send for Illustrated explanatory Circulars

RUPTURE

Have you heard of the astounding relief for DR. J. A. SIEBMANN'S Famous Home Treatment, the only known guarantee comfort and cure without operation or hindrance from labor! No steel or iron bands. Perfect retention night and day, no chafing, suited to all ages. Now $10 only. Send for circular of measurements, instructions and proofs. Get cured at home and be happy, office 194 Broadway, New York.

CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS, a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you.

Address, DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

OPIUM and Whisky Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent Free. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells,
CHIMES AND PEALS FOR CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this Paper. Baltimore, Md.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS TO
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1500 TESTIMONIALS
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

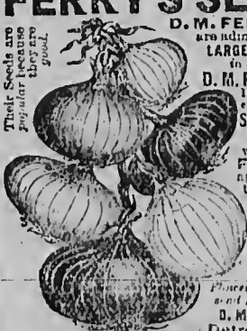
NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 11 Games, 12 Cricks Income, 195 Album verses, All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 15, Ohio.

$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

A BIG OFFER. To first sender in each town, we will Give Away 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 23 Dey St., N. Y.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE

FERRY'S SEEDS



Their Seeds are regular because they are good.

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using garden, field or flower seeds should send for it. Address D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

FITS STOPPED FREE

Marvelous success. Insane Persons Restored by Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nervous Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No Fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send name, P. O. and express address of afflicted to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Sold by Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

Corresponding Editors:

T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. T. HAWTHORN.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1887.

Briefs.

The number of adhesive postage stamps issued during the last fiscal year was over 1 632 000 000 valued at $33 000,000, costing to manufacture less than seven cents a thousand against twenty-seven cents twenty years ago. The number of postal notes sold was about 6 000,000, of a value of about $12 00,000.

The annual report of Secretary McCook, of the United States Senate, shows that the salaries and mileage of Senators for the last fiscal year amounted to $385 637, and the salaries of officers and employees to $334 200. Over $15,000 was expended for newspapers and stationery, $50 000 for miscellaneous items, and $24,000 for special select committees.

In the two Georgia Conferences 324 preachers received appointments. On the superannuated list there are 38, and 10 on the supernumerary list. There are 34 charges left to be supplied by local preachers. The number of members in the two Conferences is 120 199, being a gain of 6 980 during the year. Each pastor has, on an average, the care of 308 souls.

The United States had 365 783 pensioners at the close of the fiscal year, classified as follows: 265 783 army invalids; 80 062 army widows, minor children and dependent relatives; 2,953 navy invalids; 1,878 navy widows, minor children and dependent relatives; 1 530 survivors of the war of 1812, and 13 397 widows of those who served in that war, showing a diminution of survivors during the year of 1,406, and of widows of 3,815.

This record of an Alabama preacher is one that very few Methodist preachers ever make:

Dr. A. H. Mitchell was read out to Summerfield mission, his fifty-seventh appointment. He was born in Georgia in 1807; joined the Georgia Conference in 1831 in the same class with Bishop Pierce. He has been assistant preacher; on stations and circuits; twenty years on districts; twenty years in colleges; transferred three times without consulting him; lived in Alabama forty-three years; does not remember of losing but three appointments during that time from sickness. Dr. Mitchell looks strong, no marks of decay; he moves well, walks erect, upright in body and soul. He made a speech, leaving his case without suggestion or desire with his brethren. He still stands on the effective list and falls back with sweet grace from college, district and station to a mission without complaint or murmur, ready to do his might in the humblest sphere. To grow old is natural, but to grow old with freshness and sweetness of spirit without repinings or reproach is supernatural.—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

The Advocate.

Now, brethren, is the time to make a strong push to increase the circulation of our paper. You have endorsed the paper strongly by resolution in Conference, and now we reasonably expect you to back up that endorsement by vigorous and persistent effort for an enlargement of our dominion. The paper is worthy of this effort. While it does not claim to even approximate the excellence of many others, it does claim the earnest work for its spread of those who vote for resolutions endorsing it. We give this from the Richmond Christian Advocate:

"I will try to do better by the Advocate this year than last. I am getting ready a sermon on 'Give Attention to Reading.'"—Rev. T. M. B. If every preacher in the Conference would give a discourse on that text, and send down the aisles a subscription paper, five thousand new names would come to the old Advocate in thirty days. Each subscriber represents four readers. Think of twenty thousand persons in our bounds beginning 1887 as regular readers of a church journal for the first time. What a stir in these families and the church! Can any preacher use ten minutes to better public advantage. All signs show a movement on that line. Presiding elders, city pastors, preachers on circuits, are sending for lists of subscribers so as to find out the unreading.

A minister who sent us a large list of new subscribers during the year said, I am sure that the extensive revival I had in my charge was due in a great extent to these Advocates.

We find in the Baptist Associations laymen and preachers rising up and "bearing testimony" just that way when the Herald is before them.

In Church Conference, stewards' meeting, in the great congregations at District Conference, let us hear from the brethren. We covet the enthusiasm of the Baptist "deacon" for his church paper.

The Collections.

Some people are always disposed to quarrel with the Methodists because they are so persistent in the practice of taking collections. These wise fault-finders seem to have forgotten the fact that the word and practice are both of biblical origin. In II Chronicles, xxiv, 6, we find King Joash putting the question to Jehoiada, the priest: "Why hast thou not required of the Levites to bring in out of Judah and out of Jerusalem the collection according to the commandment of Moses, the servant of the Lord and of the congregation of Israel, for the tabernacle of witness?" And in the ninth verse of the same chapter we read that "they made a proclamation through Judah and Jerusalem to bring into the Lord the collection that Moses, the servant of God, laid upon Israel in the wilderness." We see two plain facts here: One is, that this practice of taking a collection is as old as Moses and coeval with the organization of the church of Israel. The other is a fact by plain inference rather than by direct statement. Moses, being a law giver inspired of God, this law, or rule, for taking collections must come under that inspiration. But the word and practice are also found in the New Testament. In the sixteen chapter of I Corinthians, Paul uses this expression, "Now concerning the collection for the saints." In several other places he alludes directly to the practice of taking collections. The churches, then, have the example of the church in the wilderness—the church under the administration of the kings of Judah, and the apostolic church. Besides this the direct precept of the inspired law giver and the inspired apostle.

It is a perilous position when one assumes to be wiser than the general consent of the whole church. This is simply for a man to put himself in opposition to the precept of the Divine word and the practice of the church from the beginning until now. No man can do this and be in a safe position. And this is what those of our members are doing, who are in opposition to the taking of collections in the public congregations. One point to be observed about this practice, is its educational tendency and, on that account, its great value. Whatever tends to familiarize people with the operations of grace is of special value. It is a noted fact that the people who favor the practice of taking collections, and who by that experiment manifest their "professed subjection unto the gospel of Christ," as a rule, are the most spiritual Christians and the best church-workers. The germ of every phase of Christian character is planted in the heart in the process of regeneration by the Spirit, but all need cultivation and development in order to the attainment of the "fullness of the stature of Christ." There is no better way to develop benevolence into beneficence than by the use of frequent opportunities for giving. And these are afforded in the Bible practice of taking collections. So we hope the preachers will give their people these frequent opportunities, and thus educate them to a higher standard and a broader measure of giving. A great deal of the giving that is done now is done by a very low standard. Such giving never reaches to the full extent of the joy to be realized in the act, for the motive is not on the right plane. The measure of giving is also too contracted. When the standard is raised and the measure broadened in any individual case, then that individual will realize the full meaning of our Savior's words, when he said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." In the language of the Congregationalist:

We should like to see the spirit of benevolence developed among Christians until the average of their annual contributions should amount to a respectable sum. There are tens of thousands of habitual five-cents givers who ought to be giving quarters every time. There are thousands who give fifty cents who ought to give a dollar apiece. There are hundreds who give ten dollars a year, when they know that they can afford to give twenty-five or fifty. There are scores, at the least, who would not miss as many thousands annually as they now give hundreds, and who, did they miss them, would be all the better for the self-sacrifice involved. Most of our great benevolent societies—the inestimable value of whose work is better understood the more closely it is investigated—either are more or less in debt, or are trembling on the edge of the gulf of indebtedness. The most exasperating feature of the case, to all who are well informed, is that—in spite of the fact that no money ever was expended more economically or fruitfully by any individuals or corporations than are the funds intrusted to these societies—there is more than enough spare money in the pockets of the members of our churches to put all of our societies, and a dozen more, into a not only sound, but powerful, financial condition within a week, should this money be contributed to their work as it ought to be. The coming year will witness, we earnestly hope, not merely many large gifts into the Lord's treasury, but a great and permanent increase of the contributions of the average Christian.

Let the preachers begin in the matter of our church collections early in the year. Give the people proper information in regard to their nature and importance. The giver has a right to know how his money is expended and for what purposes. The assessments upon the churches are larger than ever before, because the church is larger and her necessities greater than ever before. For this reason the giving must be larger, and yet it will not be, can not be too large. The measure of giving necessarily enlarges with the enlarging operations of the church. Let us keep this matter continually before the people. Induce them, if we possibly can, to put the enlarged measure of beneficence into the budget of expenses for the year, and then by diligent faithfulness and earnest work to fill up that enlarged measure. The calls of the church, filled with the desire to aid in the conquest of the world for Christ, must be heeded in this year of grace, if we would see a triumphant advance along the lines of religious work. The text to ring in the ears of the people who attend our ministry is this: "See that ye abound in this grace also." (II Corinthians viii, 7.)

Religion in Our Public Schools.

BY REV. T. W. BROWN.

This live topic is perplexing the minds of many of our best thinkers. It involves to a vast extent the destiny of the republic. Our public school system is thoroughly engrafted on the polity of the nation. It is not considered as tentative. It is not difficult to see the doom of any statesman or party who, for either sectional or sectarian reasons, shall attempt to destroy it. Conscientious opponents hold their tongues and must make the best of it. Connected with ecclesiastical affairs, it involves the profoundest problems for politicians and political scientists. The people themselves are crying for moral and intellectual enlightenment, and in this "the voice of the people is the voice of God." A suspicion is incurred of sinister motives when any system of government or religion "loves darkness better than light." Credulity, born of ignorance and superstition, is the bane alike of true government and true religion. It makes men the dupes alike of demagogueism and priestcraft, of which the world has had more than enough. The freedom and enlightenment of the masses are the chief objects of American institutions.

It must not be forgotten, however, that mere intellectual enlightenment is not true education. The basest immoralities have co-existed with the highest attainments in art and science. The true science of man conspicuously recognizes his moral and religious traits. These features of human nature have asserted themselves so tremendously in the history of the race that no philosophy can afford to ignore them. Gibbon, partly as a sneer at Christianity, says of the mythologies, that "they were considered alike, true by the people, false by the philosophers, and important by the magistrates." He could not rise to the appreciation of the true religion, while obliged to recognize the importance of some religion, though false. It has invariably happened that the dissoluteness and immoralities of the people have proved the downfall of governments; and especially is this the case with republics. Never until a true religion disestablished, yet, in alliance with a true government, shall be maintained, shall there be perpetuity of national existence. True sociology and true happiness are based upon a pure morality, the fruit of a true religion.

It is not proposed to argue here in favor of any religion or any phase of Christianity, but in favor of turning all possible light upon all. In this case the fittest must survive. There must be points upon which all can agree, and which all recognize as essential to the well being of society; not dogmas, rituals, creeds, ceremonies, but practical Christianity that makes men honest, truthful, pure in walk and word, good in their lives, benevolent in their intercourse, victorious in their troubles, patient in their sufferings and triumphant in the very shadow of death. Can we not teach, or have taught, to a greater extent, these things to the children of the land without treading on somebody's toes? A grand work lies before the nation in the elevation of the masses. It is too intensely optimistic to hope the day is not distant when sectarian jealousy shall yield before the urgent demand for a more definite recognition of Christianity in our public schools? Has not the spirit of Christ sufficiently permeated American politics to induce those in power to attend to this matter? The public journals of New York and elsewhere are discussing the extent religion should be taught in the public school, and some able Christian writers are almost ready to relegate this matter to the church or Sunday-school or family entirely. This plainly would be a step backward, and tend to eliminate many text-books already adopted and largely instructive in the principle of the Christian faith. Special opposition to our public school system has been shown by Romanism, and that, too, for the alleged reason of their ungodliness. Whatever we may read between the lines of this specious argumentation, the fact of their ungodliness still remains, and is a fair basis of complaint. The great and almost only trouble arises from reconciling the religionists themselves. Shame! that the friends of Christianity can not or will not unite their recognized powers and bend them in this direction, by setting upon those cardinal principles upon which all agree, and insisting that they shall enter more largely into our public education. Shall not party and creed and sect give way before the appalling demand? This would afford the only means which thousands of our fellow-citizens, especially in the South, will ever have of intelligent religious culture.

America is setting an example of free government based upon the Christian virtues and the intelligence of the people. Priestcraft, demagogueism, hero-worship and tyranny are toppling to their fall before the intelligent rendering of the word of God, connected with the profoundest scholarship and scientific attainment the world has ever known. The competition for public patronage existing between the denominational schools and the high schools with State support has given rise to considerable perplexity and fear among Christian people. Whatever may crystalize from the commotion of elements at work can not be foretold. It is certain, however, that thousands will never see either the church school or the State university, who have daily access to our free public schools. It is pleaded that the Christian public shall have a more watchful eye, especially as the law does not forbid it, to the religious instruction of the children. In the State of Mississippi the people through their chosen trustees are allowed the selection of teachers, and, with a little care here men and women may be had who will have an eye to this matter; and, generally without friction, the religious education of the young may be largely promoted in this way.

Shall we not, as Christians, show the courage of our convictions in this Christian republic, where millions of the peoples' money are being gathered for the education of the children? This delicate and explosive subject is yet to tax and test the statesmanship and polity of America, and it were well to be in time.

A Fearful State of Affairs.

Two of the foremost men of Europe have, in the last few days, said words that have a most ominous sound. It seems to be the knell of liberty in the old world. Those words are, in effect, that the safety of Europe and its millions can only be preserved by the power of military force. Do Bismarck and Von Moltke consider military force the end of the civilization of the nineteenth century? Does the peace of the nations hinge upon equipment for war? Is there nothing but armies to govern mankind? The peace that is maintained by military power is no peace. It is simply the awful stillness that precedes the volcanic eruption—the felt quiet that prevails before the terrible earthquake throes. The utterances of the German Prime Minister and the great captain of her hosts are evidences that the internal fires are burning fiercely below the surface of Europe's civilization and are to be confined only by the power of the military. Are not the same things making themselves felt in our land? How often during the past year have the military been called upon to quench fires that have burst out in unexpected places? In view of such a state of affairs, the responsibilities of the State and Church are continually being augmented.

Mr. Bettison, superintendent of public schools in this city, says that the fifty buildings occupied by the schools are all full but six, and the most of them crowded. New Orleans, with a population of 250,000, expended last year for schools $215,000. Milwaukee, with a population of 140 000, expended $319 000, while San Francisco expended $750,000. New Orleans gave eighty-five cents a head, while other cities gave from $2 to $3 a head.

A Blunder in History.

A correspondent of the Boston Watchman, writing about New Orleans and the establishment of evangelism in the Crescent City, says: "The Baptists were the first Protestant preachers in New Orleans. Dr. W. B. Johnson, of South Carolina, preached there in 1817, and about that time a church was founded." Of the following facts there can be no doubt, as they are on the record. In 1805 Bishop Asbury sent Elisha W. Bowman, as missionary to Louisiana, to begin his work in New Orleans. He came and preached several times in the streets, and left on the seventeenth day of December of the same year. In 1812 New Orleans appeared on the minutes of the Tennessee Conference, with Miles Harper as preacher in charge. In 1813 Wm. Winans was appointed to New Orleans, and $30 was "voted to Bro. Winans to enable him to fill the Orleans station." He preached and taught school for a year on Bienville street, between Chartres and Royal streets. At the close of 1814 the war with England had concentrated upon the city, and martial law closed the little church and school. There is then no record of a Methodist preacher in the city until 1819.

These are the facts in regard to the early operations of the Methodists in this city. The impression of this writer is that the Episcopal Church began operations here quite as early as the Methodists, and probably carried them on with less break in the continuity of their work. These facts go to show that the correspondent who places the "first Protestant preaching" in New Orleans as late as the year 1817, has made a mistake of about twelve years. This may seem a small matter to our readers; but there is a passage of Holy Scripture which reads this way: "Honor to whom honor is due."

"Health and Higher Education."

BY MRS. L. CRARY SADLER.

An article in the ADVOCATE, clipped from the Independent, some time ago, with the above heading, attracted my attention. The trend of thought, tallying so well with my own ideas upon this subject, prompted me to pen a few of the same. What kind of higher education is best for women? Is it brain or muscle that is to be developed? These are questions that "make cowards" of nine-tenths of our great educators. Of course, one might say that in the higher education both are or should be equally developed. But the prescribed courses of the colleges tend to brain development in greater ratio than to the physical. Anyone conversant with this subject can not have failed to perceive that the muscular system has been made subservive to the mental faculties. No amount of sophistry in arguing this question can prove a feather's weight in favor of raising woman to the brain level of man at the expense of her physical development. There is no succedaneum for this all-important point in the multitudinous advantages yet put forth by the advocates of higher education of women. There is nothing deeper, broader or higher in the realm of education for a woman than to know herself and her physical structure, with its requirements and necessities. If there is to be a "survival of the fittest" in this problem when solved, it will be for the benefit of our race by giving to woman the higher education of learning her place, power and capacities, and then in her fulfilling her mission. That there is a loose plank in the platform of this high-sounding higher educational system for women is proven by the agitation of the question and the non-approval of the present outcome by the educators themselves.

If this so-called higher education of girls and women to enable them to compete with man in all mental capacities was a success, it is high time the world was made cognizant of the fact and benefited thereby. While a few have reached the top rung of the ladder and look down with disdain on the many that are only half way up and will never get any higher, the majority are still at the foot scrambling to reach the first round with no definite object in view, and, like the men at Ephesus, "know not wherefore they are come together." Go to any of the colleges and ask the girls promiscuously what their object is in life, and not one in twenty can give any definite idea of what the future will be to them. But it is not their fault. They are sent off to be educated, accomplished, without one fundamental fact to build their character upon, or one iota of knowledge of their physical system or the penalties nature imposes on those who violate her laws through ignorance, or otherwise. If this is the basis of the higher education for women, could any solidity be expected with such a sandy foundation?

Girls and young women are taught to believe that it is base for them to have no higher aspiration than to be wives and mothers. The arts, sciences, professions, and even fashion, presents a view to their untutored minds that throws their real calling and power, as the grandest factor in the happiness of the race and the conversion of the world, in impenetrable shade. No truer truism was ever written or no greater compliment was ever paid by man to woman than the oft-quoted line—"The hand that rocks the cradle, rocks the world." Education and culture will add to this power. It is their right to have it, but it must be the right kind of education. High culture and a knowledge of Greek and Roman mythology, with all the accomplishments thrown in, will never enable them to be (without corresponding development and culture of the physical system) what God intended them to be—e. i., "mothers of men." It would be displaying a weakness in face of much proof of woman's capability to say that she could not compete with man in the mental arena; but the question is, Can she do this with the highest and best results to herself from the standpoint of health, to say nothing of the great fundamental duty she owes the race to act well the part God has given her in the command to "replenish the earth?"

If a majority of women should ever strike for higher education and culture to enable them to cope with the "lords of creation," then this highest of all high things for woman would be relegated to the lowest class of women, and the seventh angel might think it was high time to pour out his vial, and say, "It is done." Culture and education at the expense of muscle is culture and education to death. The culture and education is accomplished, but the woman is not. Here is a wide field and an open door where women may enter and study the science of life, as it affects her physically, instead of the higher education, as it affects her mentally.

THE GREAT BATTLE.—It looks as if the great fight had begun. The refusal of the German Reichstag to accede to the demands of the three most prominent men in Europe at this particular and delicate juncture of affairs, shows a growth of independence among the German people quite unexpected. The opposition to the Emperor and his Prime Minister and great soldier was led to victory by Dr. Windhorst, the chief of the centre, or Ultra-montane, party. The government was bolder in its demands upon the Reichstag than ever before; but the opposition had also developed a larger strength, and the imperious demands were promptly refused. The government used its power to dissolve the Reichstag and order a new election to be held February 21. This takes the fight immediately to the voters of the empire, and the people are thus called upon to settle the difficulty. It is hardly possible to forecast the result of the election. Dr. Windhorst has grown wonderfully in influence in the last few years, and if he carries the elections against the imperial government, he will soon overtop every statesman in Europe. It will be a wonderful victory if he achieves it.

Notes.

The Index, of Boston, the organ of the Free Thinkers, is dead. Everything is doomed that has no Christ in it.

The City of Cleveland distributed 2,600 baskets of provisions to poor families on Christmas Day. That was Christ-like.

Four of the judges on the Supreme bench of the United States have past the threescore-and-ten line. If they wanted, they could retire on $10,000 a year.

The number of business failures in the United States for 1886 amounted to 9,834. The number during 1885 reached the sum of 10,637.

A bill has been introduced in the Texas Legislature, claiming a large part of the Indian Territory and a big slice of Kansas, and suit will be brought in the United States Court for the same. How large does Texas want to be?

The Anniston Land and Iron Company and Woodstock Iron and Steel Company, of Alabama, have been bought by a syndicate for the small sum of $6,000,000 cash.

The Touro Buildings on Canal street, this city, sold the other day for $335,000 cash.

The subscriptions to the Century Magazine have increased 30,000 since it began the publication of the Life of Abraham Lincoln.

Personals.

—This is your personal, reader. If you desire to bestow a gift that will keep you in remembrance for a whole year, subscribe for the ADVOCATE for your friend. You can not bestow a better gift than that.

—George Muller, who was reported dead, is now in China preaching three times a week and twice on Sunday. He expects also to visit Japan. He is in his usual good health.

—The Queen of Roumania, dissatisfied with the way things were going in the Girls High School at Bucharest, has entered upon the vocation of a teacher.

—Ex-Secretary Hamilton Fish and wife celebrated their golden wedding December 15. There were present seven children and sixteen grandchildren and many friends.

—Friends of the late Gen. Hancock have raised sufficient money to purchase a house for Mrs. Hancock in Washington City. That is a good tribute to the General's memory.

—Archdeacon Farrar is said to have told a meeting of English Congregationalists, not long ago, that he was willing to recognize the validity of the orders of all Christian ministers. "The world still moves."

—When Mr. Powderly issued a circular letter prohibiting the collection of money by the Knights of Labor for the relief of the anarchists, a large number of Knights in Chicago protested against his action, and warn him that unless he revokes his order his authority in Chicago will not be recognized. Whether good order or anarchism will prevail is now the question.

—The Methodist preachers of this city were all in their pulpits last Sunday, except Dr. Evans, of St. Charles Avenue, and Bro. McLean, of Algiers. The congregations were larger than usual, and several united with the church in Carondelet and Felicity. The year starts off propitiously, and we expect to be able to chronicle a larger advance in the Methodism of this city during the coming year.

—A movement is on foot in Washington City to raise a fund of $200,000 for the widow of Gen. Logan, and, perhaps, a liberal pension will be granted also.

—Hon. W. W. Corcoran, the banker and philanthropist of Washington City, has entered his ninetieth year.

—We have received a beautiful calendar for the year, from Hood's Sarsaparilla Company, for which we tender thanks to L. B Ford, the representative of the company in this city.

—The postoffice address of Rev. J. A. Bowen, of the North Mississippi Conference, is Bay St. Louis, Miss., until further notice.

—It pains us to record the death of the infant daughter of Rev. E. H. Cary, of the North Mississippi Conference. We know how to sympathize with the bereaved parents, "for we have felt the same." May the balm of Heaven's grace be applied to the sore hearts!

—The Southern Christian Advocate gives us greeting from Columbia, S. C., arrayed in robes new and attractive. We rejoice in the prosperity of the "old Southern," and wish Bro. Kirkland abundant success.

—The next birthday of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is coming on apace, and the readers may expect to see the stately Creole matron putting on "airs" in her suit of "silk and satins new." In the meantime, let everybody help to insure such a result.

—Dr. Haygood called to see us last week, but unfortunately the editor was away from the office. The Doctor is about "the King's business" as usual.

—The short note from Dr. Lambuth brings cheering news from our work in Japan. That is a most promising mission field, and we trust all our people will cultivate the missionary spirit, so as to enter heartily every place the providence of God shall open to us.

—The Youth's Companion is thought to have the largest circulation of any paper in the world. The subscription list has reached the enormous number of 400,000. The other day 4,500 letters tumbled into its office during business hours. It is so good a paper for the young that we wish it were going into every family in the whole world.

—You will find very superior reading matter on the third page of this number. Your special attention is called to "Reorganization of Christian Giving" and "Variety and Adaptation." Of course, you will read, "The Religious Paper in the Family," and "I Write unto You, Young Men."

—Rev. J. H. Scruggs, who was transferred from North Mississippi Conference to Louisiana by Bishop Duncan, is said to be a good preacher and an excellent pastor. He is a son-in-law to Bishop Paine, and has had some of the best appointments in the North Mississippi Conference, and, in the opinion of a good many people, he has received the best appointment in the Louisiana Conference. He is stationed at Shreveport.

—It is said that Stanley goes to Zanzibar, where he will collect and organize an expedition for the relief of Emin Bey, who is shut up at Wadelai on the Nile between hostile forces on the north and on the the south.

—Judge Noah Davis has retired from the bench, and as a memento of his eminent services and character as a jurist his portrait has been placed in the Supreme Court Chamber of New York.

READ THIS.—We have received a contribution of fourteen pages of closely written legal cap paper—written on both sides of the paper—with the cold-blooded request, that if it is too long, "to abbreviate it." We have always admired Paul's good sense as displayed in his request to the Thessolonians for them to pray, that he might be delivered from "unreasonable men." The editor has all the time that passes, but he has no talent for shortening other people's work. If he complied with the request above made, he would in all probability give offense, for his thoughts may not run in the same channel as the writer's whose article he abbreviates. Let our correspondents remember that the way to make the editor's heart sink to the bottom of his boots is to send communications written on both sides of the paper, and which the writer believes ought to be shortened, or divided into chapters. Short articles written on one side of the paper, in plain black ink, is sure to get the editor's attention and is the joy of printers.

Death of Miss Dora Rankin.

My Dear Dr. Fitzgerald: As the mail is leaving almost immediately, I have only time for a line to inform you of the death of Miss Dora Rankin. She died this morning at Trinity House, Shanghai. Her last end was peace. When informed that she was seriously ill, she said, "I know it;" and when made acquainted with the fact that she would not recover, she said, "I am ready and willing to go." She remained conscious to within a half hour of her release, and the last words she uttered were: "God has been so good to me" And he hath given his beloved sleep. Faithful and loving hands and hearts ministered to her during her sufferings, and many friends, both foreign and native, will follow her remains to their last resting-place to-morrow.

Handsome in person, beautiful in character, cheerful in spirit, and fervent in her devotion to her Master's work, she had attracted the attention and won the admiration of all who knew her. She was a grand missionary. Her life was heroic. She fell at her post—successful, triumphant. We are distressed in our grief and loss, but God's grace has been magnified in her death.

Miss Lochie has borne up wonderfully, and in a letter to Bishop Wilson, sent him just before he left, anticipating this sad event, she expressed her determination to stand by her work, even though sorrow upon sorrow overwhelm her. No church is a failure that can show such demonstrations of the power of God in its midst, and no missionary society can come short of the largest success when it can find such representatives in the foreign field as Miss Dora and Miss Lochie Rankin. Q for faith and prayer!

YOUNG J. ALLEN.

SHANGHAI, CHINA, Dec. 10, 1886.

GOOD NEWS.—A postal from Rev. James L. Wright, of Vernon, La., informs us that local option triumphed in Jackson parish, La. The majority was sixty-six. Thus steadily the cause of humanity is gaining ground in Louisiana. With the cause of temperance moving forward in many places, and a beneficent Sunday law closing the saloons one day in seven in every place, Louisiana is coming out of the darkness. The hill-tops are aflame with the light, and if we keep working steadily and persistently, that light will soon begin to unroll and fall along down the sides until the whole State, hills and swamps, will beam in beauty. We are not to wait for our redemption in this matter, but to work for it. Let every temperance worker gird the armor tighter and go forth with firmer tread and braver heart, and this year of our Lord 1887 will witness sublimer victories achieved.

Items.

—The Supreme Court of Massachusetts has just confirmed the decision of the Superior Court that the keeping open of barber shops on the Sabbath day is a criminal offense.

—Of seventeen cities in Massachusetts that held elections on December 6, thirteen voted against license.

—The prohibition vote in the Northeastern and Northwestern States in 1885 aggregated 113,404. In 1886 the aggregate vote was 211,331.

—The Charleston News makes the statement that the lands forfeited to the State this year for taxes and those still unredeemed amount to 954,237 acres, equal to nearly one-twentieth of the whole area of the State!

—Brooklyn has a population of 800,000, and there are more than 500,000 who do not attend religious services.

—The Treasury Department's report gives the population of the country, June 30, as 58,420,000. In 1880 the population was 50,155,783. The increase in six years amounts to eight millions and a quarter. Since the year 1860 the population has increased 27,000,000. "Whereunto will this thing grow?"

—The heaviest foreign mail ever dispatched from New York was that carried by the steamship "Elder" the other day. There were 255 bags of letters and 560 bags of newspapers, pamphlets samples, etc. Of these 815 bags, 671 were made up at the New York post-office. That shows that we are talking somewhat for the old world as well as for ourselves.

—Moody and Sankey's Gospel Songs have reached a sale of over 14,000,000 copies, and the demand is as brisk as ever.

—A great many people think that because their names are on the church roll they belong to the church. Character counts for something even here. Church membership is conditional upon a Christ-like character. This is true whether you believe it or not.

—Temperance work don't seem to be succeeding in Paris. In all the city there are only one hundred and thirty-five signers to the total abstinence pledge to be found.

—Two hundred and seventy-six teachers, nearly all women, from Brooklyn spent two days in "viewing" Washington City lately.

—Now comes the statistician, and says that 403,000 people have come to the United States during the past year, and the cry is, "Still they come."

—The largest check ever passed in this country was that given by W. K. Vanderbilt when he bought the Nickel Plate railroad. The check called for $2,500,000.

—During the past year 8,010 miles of railway track have been built in the United States. This means an expenditure of about $160,000,000. Present indications are that much more will be built during 1887.

Books and Periodicals.

BOOKS.

TWO NIGHTS IN A BAR ROOM, AND WHAT I SAW. By Rev. G. O. Rankin. Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn. Price, twenty-five cents.

This is a most terrible arraignment of the saloon, and only so because it is just. We sincerely hope this pamphlet will be spread broadcast over the land.

NORTH LOUISIANA. By F. H. Tompkins.

This is a valuable compend, giving, as it does, an account of the soil, climate, productions, health, schools, timber and minerals of the northern portion of our State. It contains also a description of the towns and railroads completed and prospective of that region. We are indebted to J. M. Knight, ticket agent of the Northeastern railroad, for a copy of the above book.

—Received from Phillips & Hunt, The Methodist Year Book for 1887. This pamphlet gives a complete table of every interest pertaining to the Methodist Episcopal Church. 805 Broadway. Price, ten cents.

—Through George F. Wharton, we have Catholicity—True and False, by Rev. G. P. Fisher, of Yale University. Price, twenty-five cents.

—From J. W. Burke & Co., Macon, Ga., we have The Good and the Bad: A Thanksgiving Sermon, and The State and Its Prisoners. These sermons are from the pen of Dr. Haygood, of Georgia, and are thoughtful productions upon the subjects treated. The first was preached before the students of Emory College, and will be sent free on application to the author, at Oxford, Ga. The other was preached before the National Prison Association, held in Atlanta last November.

PERIODICALS.

—The Brooklyn Magazine, for January, contains quite a variety of reading matter on various subjects, besides five sermons from Mr. Beecher. It is published at 130 Pearl street, New York, at $2 per annum.

—Vick's Illustrated Magazine is the best of its kind, and all florists will be pleased with the January number. Rochester, N. Y.

—The African Repository, for January, is full of matter about Africa. As Africa is becoming more important as a field for the operations of Christian missions, this monthly can not fail to become more interesting. It is published at Washington City by the American Colonization Society.

—New volume of the Living Age. With the first number in January, Littell's Living Age enters upon its one hundred and seventy-second volume. It is a magazine whose value constantly increases as the field of foreign periodical literature widens, and it has become fairly indispensable to the American reader.

The first weekly number of the new year has the following table of contents: Mobs and Revolutions, Fortnightly Review; A Secret Inheritance, by B. L. Farjeon, English Illustrated Magazine; Mrs. John Taylor of Norwich, Macmillan; A Siege Baby, by the author of "Booties' Baby," etc., English Illustrated Magazine; France as It Is and Was, Government and Society, by a Parisian, National Review; Mohammedanism in Central Africa, Contemporary Review; A Pilgrimage in Selborne, Leisure Hour; together with choice poetry, etc. This, the first number of the new volume, is a good one with which to begin a subscription. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,300 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10 50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

—The Musical Herald is an interesting monthly to all who are "moved by concord of sweet sounds." The reading matter, as well as the music, is first-class. Franklin Square, Boston.

—The Old Testament Student has been often commended by us. It comes again as valuable as ever. Morgan Park, Illinois.

—The Gospel in All Lands devotes its January columns to Europe. This monthly should be read by everybody. Phillips & Hunt, 805 Broadway. $2 a year.

Dr. Edward Beecher celebrated, a short time since, the sixtieth anniversary of his ordination to the pastorate. He is now eighty-two years of age.

If Sufferers from Consumption, Scrofula, Bronchitis, and General Debility will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and permanent benefit. The Medical Profession universally declare it a remedy of the greatest value and very palatable. Read: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in several cases of Scrofula and Debility in Children. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure."—W. A. HULBERT, M. D., Salisbury, Ill.

"Prohibition," by Bishop C. B. Galloway.

A neat pamphlet of ninety pages, specially designed for circulation in Mississippi—a text-book for prohibitionists everywhere. Arguments strongly backed by facts and figures. Twenty-five cents per copy; $2 50 per dozen, postage prepaid.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
112 Camp Street, N. O., La.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. B. Thompson, 64 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

A pious old lady recently sent as wedding presents a pair of fire-irons, a rolling-pin and a motto worked on cardboard reading "Fight On."

No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail. 25c.

Judging from the tightness of the article, it isn't every girl who can laugh in her sleeve nowadays.

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

When a man buys a porous plaster, whether he likes it or not, he generally sticks to his bargain.

P. WERLEIN.—The great Southern music emporium, 135 Canal street, is to the front with new attractions in the music line; the very latest compositions by well-known authors received, and will be mailed to any address on receipt of price. The full stock of musical instruments is being received, and surpass anything ever offered to the people of the South. Pianos and organs of superb tone and beautiful finish, at prices lower than ever known and terms unsurpassed by any music house in the United States. Write to Werlein before purchasing elsewhere. 135 Canal street.

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

A conductor can be polite to the ladies and at the same time knock down the fare.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

If reports be true, it pays to be a paper hanger.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

Press the ADVOCATE circulation now.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle

FITS: All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Pond's Extract. Men and women will suffer from a severe headache, when ten minutes spent bathing the head with the Extract would afford relief.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Diseases Of The Stomach

The Liver, Kidneys, and Bowels, originate in impure blood. When the action of these organs is impaired, the general health becomes endangered, and prompt treatment is indispensable. For the cure of these diseases, and all disorders of the blood, the most effective and economical medicine is Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I have suffered suffering enough, with a disordered liver and to kill a dozen men. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has entirely cured me.—Wm. H. Melvin, 122 Northampton st., Boston, Mass.

Kidneys

I suffered greatly from Kidney Complaint, for two years. After trying many remedies, without relief, I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was cured.—M. H. Dismy, Attleborough, Mass.

For several years I suffered from Dyspepsia and Kidney Complaint, the latter being so severe, at times, that I could scarcely attend to my work. My appetite was poor, and I was much emaciated; but, by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my health has been perfectly restored.—John McLellan, Bridge and Third sts., Lowell, Mass.

A few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla me of Kidney Complaint, from which I had suffered for years. It is the most effectual remedy I ever used.—Philip G. Raymond, Duluth, Minn.

Cured

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Kidney Disease when all other remedies failed. It is the best of remedies for this complaint.—123 Hold, Xenia, Ill.

I was a long time under treatment for Heart Disease, and an affection of the Kidneys but grew worse continually. I finally began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles of this medicine, the difficulties of my heart and kidneys ceased, and I am in better health, every way, than I have been for years.—E. C. Davis, Jamestown, N. Y.

A disordered condition of the Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys, afflicted me for years, and I never found any medicine to relieve me, until I commenced taking and obtained no relief until I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has restored my health.—Mrs. M. V. Hamblett, Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, in my family, for years. As a blood purifier it has no equal. It proves invaluable in diseases of the Stomach and Liver.—J. I. Stoddard, Parkersburg, W. Va.

My wife was long subject to severe Headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. After trying various remedies, without relief, she used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in a short time, was cured.—S. Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass.

I gratefully certify that I have been cured of liver and stomach troubles

By Taking

Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I was sick, for a number of years, with these complaints; suffered from Headache, Dizziness, Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, and Debility, and finally became so weak that I was utterly unfit for business of any kind. Neither of the remedies I tried seemed to relieve me, and I had given up all hope of being well again, when a friend recommended me to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I commenced using this medicine, and, after taking a few bottles, was completely cured. My liver and stomach are now in a healthy condition, performing their functions naturally.—D. M. Ross, Bucksport, Me.

For a number of years I suffered with Dry Salt-Rheum. I tried various mineral springs, but neither these nor physicians did me any good. Upon the recommendation of a friend I commenced taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

and, in a few months, was cured.—Geo. L. Peck, West Meriden, Conn.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

FOUR GRAND OFFERS 4 Grand Offers to every reader of the Christian Advocate. Read every word of this advertisement, as we know at least one of them is exactly what you want. We are sure you have some old family picture of some dear and departed relative or friend you would like, to have enlarged, and colored in a handsome portrait, or Imperials made of it.

OFFER No. 1. If you send us the names of three Ayer fiends, or some one you think would make one life size (or enlarged cabinet finished and sent by mail, prepaid; our regular worth $10, for $2.75, or 1 8x10 and 4 11x14 advertisement must be sent with the order), we will make one 11x14 portrait either in Ink, Crayon, or Water Color, and one extra Water Color, portrait worth $16, for $6.75; this offer before March 1st, 1887, as we positively will not make at these prices after March 1st, 1887, our object in offering at so low a price is to obtain a good agent in your vicinity at once.

OFFER No. 2. If you are a buyer portrait and no Imperials if you send us the three Duplex Panel Photos and any small picture, with $1.75, we will make one 11x14 portrait Duplex Panel Photos by any skylight process, without the aid of a dealer, price $10, before March 1st, 1887, will receive a Negative Pox, worth $2.50 FREE & 80 page book, "How to Make Photos," and $25 Premium made by any Ayer camera, send stamp for 24 cents. Your friend

OFFER No. 3. Any one ordering one of our PHOTO EMPIRE EQUIPMENTS for making Photos by any skylight process, without the aid of a dealer, price $10, before March 1st, 1887, will receive a Negative Pox, worth $2.50 FREE & 80 page book, "How to Make Photos," and $25 Premium made by any Ayer camera, send stamp for 24 cents. Your friend

OFFER No. 4. THE LARGEST AND MAGNIFICENT PHOTO CANVAS No. 2 (equal to 40 cabinets) any other Canvas sold for $25. In order to introduce our Canvas & Cloth in this market, and our prices only $10, and if you order before March 1, 1887, we will place in the hands of each purchaser free of charge, a $25 Premium made by any Ayer camera, send stamp for 24 cents. Your friend

FOR Both in N. Y. or this paper. References: Large Manufacturing Establishments, Catalogue and Circulars free. Agents wanted in every town and county. Outfit and private terms to agents, 10c. (silver) extra. Send for our Catalogue and Circulars, and be convinced that we do as we advertise. Correspondence solicited. Address EMPIRE PHOTO CO., 281 Canal St., N.Y. YOU.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LOUISIANA STEAM

Sash,

Blind and Door

FACTORY.

199, 201, 305, 307, 307 Gravier Street,

NEW ORLEANS

ROBERTS & CO.

Proprietors

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Ceiling, Newels, Balusters, etc., always on hand or made to order.

Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty

BRANCH OFFICE:

NO. 52 CARONDELET STREET.

$65 A MONTH & BOARD for 3 live Young Men or Ladies in each county. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

Ammoniated Raw Bone Superphosphate

PURE GROUND BONE:

800 Pounds to the Acre Will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar, Cabbage and Potato Fertilizers.

Write for 48 page Pamphlet Handbook

Stern's Fertilizing and Chemical M'f'g Co.,
14 Union St., New Orleans.

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION.

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886, with a full corps of teachers, increased and increased facilities for instruction. Board and tuition without music one hundred and seventy-five dollars a year, with music two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in quarterly payments. If the entire bill for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a like deduction of ten per cent.

Four pupils occupying a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the regular rates—one half in cash in advance and balance at the end of session.

Special rates obtained in music and elocution. In the regular lessons in music but will be charged extra additional course in music.

Parents in making engagements for the year, a rich of four young ladies who wish to pay all in advance will receive board, tuition and one course in music for $120 25—a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue prices; or by paying one half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GLAZE, Pres.
E. J. DAVIES, Vice Pres.

FIRE INSURANCE.

MECHANIC'S & TRADER'S

Insurance Company.

14 CARONDELET STREET,
New Orleans, La.

Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks.

AT LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

GEO. D. FROST, Secretary. LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. O. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Cpt. J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Cpt.
R. C. SHORTRIDGE, Collector. (Late Sec., Union Ins. Co.)
F. AUZOUT, Inspector

TRUSTEES:

Sam Pearl,	Simon F. Marx,
J. Z. Bracelean,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. D. Peyton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carret,	Wm. A. Phelps,
P. J. Cockburn,	Rev. O. L. Payne,
H. T. Cozine,	H. W. Beutell,
O. Zinsel,	A. S. Silbernagel,
J. H. Frankenbush,	W. B. Thompson,
Walter D. Flower,	P. A. Villemain,
P. G. Gilbert,	Jos. Vigers,
Chas Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
I. L. Lyons,	T. S. Waterman,
Laurent Lacassagne,	Frederick Wing,
T. L. Wood,	W. Y. Weil,
Robt Maxwell	W. G. Wheeler.

Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders'

INSURANCE COMPANY.

40 CARONDELET STREET.

Paid Up Capital ..... $1,000,000.

ED. A. PALFREY, President,
JOHN PHELPS, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

Issues Policies Covering Fire, River and Marine Risks at the Lowest Tariff Rates.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Noble,	John Chaffe,
Richard Milliken,	Sam'l Friedlander.
R. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lytt, Lyon,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	B. F. Eshleman.
Chas. Chaffe,	L. C. Jurey,
Wm. Hartwell,	C. J. Leeds,
A. T. Janin,	A. M. Buckham.
Henry Abraham,	Louis Bush.
A. Brittin,	G. W. Bentell,
Wm. Cunningham,	John I. Adams.
E. T. Buckner,	Wm. A. Gwyn.

Chas. F. Black

CRESCENT INSURANCE COMPANY

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1845—Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1856.

CASH CAPITAL, - - - - - - $400,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1856.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. E. LYMAN.....President.
CHAS. H. DORAN.....Vice President.
CHAS. E. RILEY.....Secretary.

Has our Agents throughout Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OFFICE: COR. BIENVILLE AND BOURBON STS.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS,

J. F. SHERBURNE, Chairman.
NEWTON BICKNER, A. DELVAILLE,
RUDOLPH WORSTE.

Assets in the United States..... $ 1,078,784 86
Surplus over all liabilities..... 2,708,139 18

HENRY V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Asst. Resident Secretary.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement

—1887—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash to fill to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price	Our price
Southern Cultivator	$3 50	$2 75
American Agriculturist	3 00	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos.	15 00	13 00
" " 6 "	7 00	6 50
Weekly "	3 00	2 50
" Times-Democrat	3 50	2 75
Harper's Magazine	4 00	3 75
" Weekly	4 00	3 75
" Bazar	4 00	3 75
" Young People	4 00	3 00
Demorest's Magazine	4 00	3 25

Send cash in full with all orders.

No attention paid to orders without cash.

Carver & Jamieson.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT
VEGETABLE
PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises.

Catarrh, In its worst forms, yields to the use of Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared for this obnoxious disease. Pond's Extract Ointment should be used with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia.

No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing, painful than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plaster is invaluable in deep-seated pains, lumbago, pains in back or side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, is the most effectual known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples, Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that could be applied.

Female Complaints. In the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used as well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract has been imitated, the genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None others genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation.

It is never sold by bulk or by measure.

Full directions, Pamphlets, &c., sent free. Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

31 CAMP STREET.

Cash Capital.....$300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1886.....408,941 80

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President.
H. GALY, Vice-President.
SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

Finance Committee:
John T. Moore, Jr. M. Schwabacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, F. G. Ernst.

NEW STORE! NEW GOODS!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our

New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youth's Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits, $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks. Lowest Prices and Best Goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S,
20 and 22 Camp Street.

Alabama Coal and Coke Company,

54 Carondelet Street,

Representing in New Orleans the largest mining companies in Alabama, and offering the best grades of Coal, such as the famous MONTEVALLO, the best grate coal in the United States; the HELENA, thought by many to equal Montevallo; the ALABAMA SPLINT, Alabama's best combination coal, a hard lump coal good for grates or for steam; the celebrated Pratt and Warrior Coals, best steam Coals now used in the United States.

All of the above Coals burn to ashes, leave no cinders, and are more lasting than Pittsburg coal. No odor arises from burning them.

We have unusual facilities for furnishing coal in Car Load Lots to points reached by any of the railroads entering in New Orleans, and can promptly load vessels at low prices here or at the ports of Mobile and Pensacola.

A. C. DANNER, President. H. E. ANDERSON, Secretary and Treasurer.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, NEW ORLEANS.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 Pieces	$10	American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 136 pieces	$12 00
Decorated Dinner sets, from	$12 to $35	Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape	2 50
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape	3	Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape	3 50

Handsomely Japanned Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slops Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set. Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set.

Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 Cents to $2 per dozen.
Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 60 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

T. J. CARVER. B. O. L. RAYNE.

T. J. CARVER & CO.,

Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants,

44 Perdido Street.

The patronage of our friends and the public respectfully solicited.

FURNITURE.

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Barone Street.

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Great Church LIGHT.

FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to clergymen and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl street, N. Y.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost unanimously acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the sovereign remedy. Worm Colic, Cholera Infantum, and Teething Disorders, which are generally caused by worms, are soon relieved by the use of this valuable medicine. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and parents are most frequently the result of these hidden ravagers and miners. When they are irritable and feverish, with occasional vomiting, refusing food and eating ravenously, again refusing whole meals, tossing restlessly in sleep, grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from causes similar to those that produce parasites—scale, moths, &c., which infest and destroy animal and vegetable life. Worms are the most formidable enemies of mankind, and surely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the system by the prompt use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and in their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its unfailing success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a mere purgative, not suspecting the cause of the illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged, and the patient relieved. The most cautious will be used by every purchaser to be sure we judge by some person of the genuine every bottle before buying of it. The simple name of FAHNESTOCK is not sufficient. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. FAHNESTOCK, and be satisfied with nothing else.

NEW FRANKLIN, HOWARD CO., MO.
Messrs. J. F. Schwartz & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.
Gentlemen—I have used some of that most excellent remedy, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, and found it to have the desired effect. I think your Vermifuge ran absolutely be dispensed with in my family.
Yours, &c., J. W. HUBBARD, M. D.

CAMBRIDGE, MO.
Having used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is safe, reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed. THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

J. F. SCHWARTZ & CO., SUCCESSORS TO B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

Our Young People.

GOD'S EYES.

"I can not see," said little May,
"How God is everywhere.
You say he's with me here to day,
And with my cousin there.

"At grandpapa's in old York State,
And uncle's o'er the sea;
Knows all about my sick playmate,
Sweet little Annie Lee.

"How can he fill the heaven high?
And earth so wide and great?
And even view with saddened eye
The fallen angels' fate?"

"Why, Sister May," lisped little Jae,
Between two weary sighs,
"You surely can not help but know
The stars are God's own eyes.

"I do not think it strange at all,
That God sees all we do,
When countless eyes, so bright and small,
Look down through heaven's blue.

"Last night, when all was dark and still,
I woke to great alarm;
I trembled, for I feared some ill
Would surely cause me harm.

"I softly opened my window light,
To peep if foes were near;
God's starry, sparkling eyes so bright
Were all that did appear.

"And one the brightest of the train,
Winked at me from on high;
I crept in bed without a pain—
I knew that God was nigh."

— Old and Young.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not written for some time to the ADVOCATE, I again knock for admittance into its wide-known columns, which I read with great interest. I think it is a good thing in you, Mr. Editor, for allowing space in your columns for the children to converse with one another. For the last two years on this work has been the resolute J. A. Leech. The last text that he preached to us was, "Come and follow us, and we will do thee good." He is now at Conference, and if the Conference sends him back, he will be greeted with a warm welcome. Now, I will answer some questions. Jemmie Tirrell, there were two Marys at the crucifixion of Christ. Martha S. Monroe, "Will a man rob God?" may be found in Malachi iii, 8. Clifford A. Donaldson, Paul wrote the Romans. Now, where is the word "wagon" found in the Bible? Mr. Editor, I have read through the Bible this year. Who of the cousins can say that? Let me hear from them, and see who will be first. Hoping the ADVOCATE and its editor grand success, I remain,

Your true friend,
JAS. A. GLOVER.

NEW PROSPECT, Miss. Dpt.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl ten years old. I go to school, and like my teacher very much. Her name is Mrs. McKie. I go to the Methodist Sunday-school. I go every Sunday that it does not rain or I am not sick. Our pastor is Rev. W. B. Lewis, and we all like him. He is so sweet and good. We had a protracted meeting about a month ago, and I think it did a great deal of good. Mr. Nicholson, of Crystal Springs, helped Mr. Lewis. I will answer Whittie Smith's question: Methuselah was Noah's grandfather, and Lamech his father. I will close by asking two or three questions: Where in the Bible can you find the words "ferry-boat" and "pen-knife"? Who said, "I am this day four-score years old?" Your little friend,

MAGGIE TICHETT.

CANTON, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I write, hoping to gain admittance and to join the band of cousins. My age is thirteen. My papa takes the ADVOCATE, and I always like to read the little folks' column, but I never attempted to write to any paper before. I have attended Sabbath-school all the year, and for good lessons have received from my teacher, Mrs. Rebecca Clayton, "The Story of the Bible," which I appreciate very much. I will answer Cora S.'s question: Peter was martyred. I will close by asking a question: Where was Moses found when a baby, and how old was he when he died? Hoping to see my letter in print, I remain,

Your devoted cousin,
KATE L. RISHER.

Vossburg, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: As you were so kind as to publish my first letter, I thought I would write again. I had a nice time hunting. Some of our relatives were out to see us from Alabama. It was quite a treat to them to have the chance to spend a few days in the country, and the weather was so lovely. I did not go to the Christmas tree; but good old Santa Claus did not forget me. I will close by answering Oscar E. Davis' and Emma N. Patton's questions: The four horses of different colors are mentioned in Revelation vi, 2, 8. It was Joshua who made the sun and moon stand still. (Joshua x, 12.) Where in the Bible is "frying-pan" found? I remain, Your little friend,

JOHN P. THORNTON.

HEIDELBERG, Miss.sippi.

MR. EDITOR: As I have never seen a letter from this part of the country, I will try to write one. I have five brothers and one sister. My papa has been taking the dear old ADVOCATE ever since I can recollect, and I am so glad to see it every week. I will try to answer Emma N. Patton's question. It was Joshua that commanded the sun and moon to stand still. For fear of the waste-basket, I will close by asking a question: How old was Noah when he built the ark?

Your little friend,
S. W. GREENING, JR.

MANSFIELD, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I saw in your paper of November 11 that you ask why the little folks had quit writing to the ADVOCATE. I thought I would make another attempt to write and tell you the reason I have not written in so long a time, for I think it is an honor, indeed, of having the privilege to write to your good paper. I am kept busy helping mamma to do her work. My papa runs a steam mill and gin, and it makes us have a busy time cooking for the hands. We do all of our own work except washing. We had no school last fall. I am very sorry for it. We still hold on to our Sabbath-school, but very few attend. We have preaching twice a month—second and fourth Sundays. We had preaching last Sunday by Bro. Johns, "our little preacher," as we all call him; but he does not preach very little sermons. I will ask a question, and close: Which one of Christ's disciples was cast on a lonely island?

MARY S. HODGES.

COTTON VALLEY, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I wrote to you before I was five years old, informing you that my dear mother died and went to heaven the day after I was three years old. Papa found a good old lady, Aunt Brigg, to keep house and take care of us three children; and well did she care for us. My dear papa went to Jefferson and found another good Christian mother for us, Miss Ella Rowell. We all love her, because she is good and kind and loves us so much. Mamma and papa are both members of the Methodist Church. I am a Methodist, and love to go to Sunday-school and church. On December 11 Cousin Tom Davenport Bonner will be one year old and I will be six. Aunt Mary and Uncle Tom Bonner are going to give us a nice birthday dinner. I wish you could be with us, Mr. Editor.

TOM H. CHAMBLING.

TYLER, Texas.

MR. EDITOR: As you published my first letter, I will write again. We are having very cold weather up here, and snow has been falling all day. The weather is not so cold now as it has been. The thermometer has been 10° below zero. We have a pet kitten. He is very playful. We have a pet bird also, and he sings so sweetly. I have a brother five years older than myself. My mamma has been dead nearly four years. My papa works in the Illinois Central railroad office at this place. I will answer Ida Blocker's question. It was Jesus who fasted forty days and nights. I will ask the little cousins a question: Who betrayed Jesus? Now I will close for fear I make my letter too long.

Your little friend,
JOHIE WHITE.

TOLONO, Illinois.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl. My brother takes your paper, and we are all glad to see it come. I like the children's letters. I have been thinking of sending you one since your question came, November 11. I have not written before. I wish you could be at our entertainment this evening. We girls have been collecting to pay for a Methodist Church. Our contribution jugs will be broken. We will have music and nice speeches from several good ministers. I will ask one question, and close. Did Christ command baptism with water after he arose from the dead? Your little friend,

BERRINIHA PHILLIPS.

BETHANY, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little boy thirteen years old. My father takes your paper. I love to read the little children's column. I am going to school now. I study geography, arithmetic, spelling and reading. I live one mile and a quarter from town. It is a very nice place. My father is a railroad man. I hope my letter will not reach the waste-basket. I want to ask the little cousins a question: Who in the olden times was killed by a piece of mill-stone? It is found in the Old Testament. I will close for this time.

Your little friend,
EUGENE SMITH.

BROOKHAVEN, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little Methodist boy seven years old. I live with grandpa. He takes the ADVOCATE. I like to read the nice little letters in it. You wanted to know why the little folks and quit writing, so I thought I would write. I would be very proud to see a letter of mine in your valuable paper. I joined the church last summer. Bro. Guice was our pastor. I liked him very much. We have a good school. Prof. Larkin is our teacher. We have a nice Sunday-school. I like to go very much. The little lessons teach us so much about dear Jesus. Your little friend,

HENRY SIMS.

SILVER CREEK, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl thirteen years old, and never attempted to write to any paper; but as I have read so many letters from the little cousins, I thought I would try to write one. Grandpa takes your valuable paper. I like to read it very much, especially the little folks' column. I have one little brother and no sister. We have a very good Sunday-school. Mr. J. J. Denson is our superintendent. I will close by asking the little cousins a question: The first nine words of what Psalm did our Savior repeat when on the cross? Hoping to see this in print, I will close. Your little friend,

MAGGIE E. SIMS.

SILVER CREEK, Mississippi.

Farm and Home.

WATERING IN WINTER.—It is very desirable to supply animals with water, not too cold during cold weather. Cows drink a large quantity of water, and when the latter is nearly at freezing point, it has to be warmed up in the stomach by animal heat—raised, say, forty to one hundred degrees. Now, animal heat is generated from food, and if an animal drinks much cold water, it must eat more food wherewith to warm it. If practicable, water should be conducted in a pipe, some distance underground, from a spring to the lot. It would thus get within reach of animals at a temperature of about sixty degrees. Such an arrangement would also insure animals against the neglect of servants in supplying water or of supplying it regularly. If one considers the time consumed in drawing water from a well and carrying it to animals, or in leading animals to a watering trough day after day and year after year, how long would the labor and time thus expended run up a bill of costs in excess of that of the piping and other fixtures requisite to convey it warm and fresh to every stall?—Dr. Jones, in Southern Cultivator.

WINTER MANAGEMENT OF SHEEP.—It is best to keep sheep in a yard sheltered by their shed, with a warm southern exposure. Let them have their regular time for exercise as much as for their grain ration or their hay. If snow continues on the ground a long time, so that they have no inducement to take exercise in search of grass, turn them into a corn stubble from which the fodder has been hauled out and picked. They will rove up and down in this and pick a large amount of "chitterlings" from the stalks, no matter how weather-beaten they may be, which they would not eat if given to them in the yard. A sheep is grateful for the privilege of picking up a portion of his living in his own way; dribbling about in all kinds of broken cocks with his slender prehensile lips; and even after they have picked the stalks over twenty times, it will pay to turn them in again simply for the value of the exercise. The great use of the system of weeding is that it allows the master to regulate the time and amount of exercise, and also secures more effectual elimination.—American Agriculturist.

LIVE STOCK IN WINTER.—No animal does as well as it should that is not comfortable. Study the comfort of all kinds of live stock. Regular feeding, wholesome food, pure water and comfortable labs are essential. Horses need fresh air, without draughts, and light. These are less important for neat stock. Sheep require pure air, but light is less important, and darkness favorable for the quiet and rapid fattening of ruminating animals. Warmth is especially important for all kinds of stock which have been fed for slaughter, and which are being held for better market prices. Poultry.—Give winter fowls a chance to "roost" on the manure pile; keep them warm; provide dusting-boxes; if possible, light, clean, well-ventilated quarters and sunshine; open water; sunny sheds; a variety of food; warm food, like boiled potatoes, mashed warm, with meal mixed through it, at noon daily; gravel, crushed bone and oyster shells, or other form of lime, and pure water renewed daily, and eggs will be abundant, even in zero weather.—American Agriculturist.

SHEEP IMPROVE LAND.—Farm and Garden says sheep bring about very marked improvement in pastures which have become so thoroughly run out and overrun by briars and bushes as not to be worth fencing for cattle pasture; by being given over to the sheep for a few years they will be brought into a productive condition. Any pasture run for cattle and horses may profitably have as many sheep added to the stock as there are acres in the pasture,—and the pasture will be benefited thereby. Sheep eat so many different kinds of plants which cattle and horses refuse, that the addition of a few sheep, by keeping down those plants which other stock refuse, really increases the product of grass as for other stock.—Register.

USEFUL WINTER WORK.—An Eastern contemporary offers the timely suggestion that during the winter, when nothing else can be done, a farmer handy with tools may fashion out various kinds of wooden implements, ax-helves, whiffletrees, and the like, to replace breakage during the busy season. The use of tools in this way will accustom the farmer to do various kinds of work which after all is better for mind and body than absolute inactivity. With too many farmers winter is a season of such cotton leisure that it unfits them for active duties even when spring-time is to work.

ANTIDOTE FOR POISON.—It is worth knowing that an antidote for poison, oak, ivy, etc., is to take a handful of quick-lime, dissolve in water, let it stand for an hour, then paint the poisoned part with it. Three or four applications will never fail to cure the most aggravated cases. Poison from bees, hornets, spider bites, etc., is instantly arrested by the application of equal parts of common salt and bicarbonate of soda, well rubbed in on the places bitten or stung.

LET US EAT MORE MUTTON.—As a rule, Americans do not eat anything like the proportion of mutton as compared with other meat, especially pork and beef, that the people of Great Britain or any of the older civilized nations do. This is somewhat surprising; but we trust that in time the relish for good mutton, which is one of the most healthful of meats, will be as general among us as among the people of the old world.—Ex.

Having in our editorial capacity as members of the Pavement Ho Ho Committee been asked to test and prove the effectiveness of many different articles to be used as disinfectants in sick rooms and as preventives of infectious fevers, report that Darby's Prophylactic Fluid has been thoroughly tested during the recent Typhoid epidemic in this place. It proved most effectual in staying the spread of the fever.

F. H. ARMSTRONG, S. M. DAVENPORT,
J. A. OPP, G. M. LANCE,
THOS. KEIR, JAMES LEE, JR.

The church of Christ, which is partly militant and partly triumphant, resembles a city built on both sides of a river; there is but the stream of death between grace and glory.—A. M. Toplady.

MISCELLANEOUS.

OH! MY BACK

Every strain or cold attacks that weak back and nearly prostrates you.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

PHYSICIANS AND DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND IT.

QUALITY P PURITY NOT QUANTITY. On Every Bottle.

Trade Mark

THE BEST TONIC

Strengthens the Muscles, Straightens the Nerves, Enriches the Blood, Gives New Vigor.

Dr. J. L. Myers, Fairfield, Iowa, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters is the best iron medicine I have known in my 30 years' practice. I have found it especially beneficial in nervous or general exhaustion, and in all debilitating ailments that bear so heavily on the system. Use it freely in my own family."

Mr. W. P. Brown, 623 Main St., Covington, Ky., says: "I was completely broken down in health and troubled with pains in my back. Brown's Iron Bitters entirely restored me to health."

Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

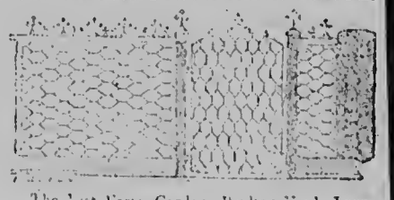
A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When all was hourly expected, all remedies having failed and the doctor gone, a specific was tried, the use of two bottles of which cured him as above stated. Desirous that the benefits of this discovery should be known, I will send (free of charge) a treatstating what it is, and how used, which has cured hundreds of hopeless cases. Sufferers, please address DR. J. STEVENS, 162 Pearl St., New York. Name this paper.

NEW CARDS. 40 Samples and AGENTS Canvassing Outfit for 2c. stamp. CARD WORKS, Northford, Conn.

SEDGWICK STEEL WIRE FENCE



The best Farm, Garden, Poultry Yard, Lawn, Park and Cemetery Fence and Gates. Cheapest and Neatest Iron and Wire Summer Houses, Lawn Furniture, Wire Work, Tree Wire Stretchers, Sidewalks, etc. Catalogue free. Sold by dealers in hardware, or address,

SEDGWICK BROS., RICHMOND, IND.

FREE TO ALL. Our Illustrated Catalogue, containing a complete assortment of the choicest Plants, Seeds, Bulbs, Roots, Small Fruits, Grape Vines, Shrubs and Trees in cultivation, will be mailed FREE to all Applicants. NEW PLANTS, best quality of stock, lowest prices. Satisfaction guaranteed. Address BANZ & BEUNEN, LOUISVILLE, KY.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO.

MUSIC BOOKS

MODERN CLASSICS. A superb collection of Piano Music, by the best modern composers. Price, postage paid, $1.00 in boards; $1.50 in cloth.

URBACH'S PIANO, celebrated school for the Piano. Translated by Theodore Presser. Many valuable additions to the original work. Price, postage paid, $2.00 in boards; $2.50 in cloth.

DOERNER'S TECHNICS, By Armin W. Doerner. A most valuable collection of exercises, such as are necessary for every student of the Piano. Endorsed by the most noted instructors in the United States. Price, postage paid, $1.50, in limp cloth.

FAITH TRIUMPHANT, By H. Butterworth & Geo. F. Root. A new and beautiful Scripture Cantata, by three most successful writers. This new work is superior to any they have heretofore produced. 75 cts. by mail, postpaid; $7.50 a dozen, by express, not prepaid.

CROWN OF SONG, By M. L. McDaid, with Special contributions by Geo. F. Root. A new book for the use of Singing Schools, Conventions and Musical Institutes. Good elementary department and a great quantity of fresh and good music. Price same as for "Faith Triumphant."

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.,
And 19 East 16th St., New York City.
For Sale by Book and Music Dealers.

THE IMPROVED ACME WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only Five lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 Rewards for its Superior Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other method of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges. Send for circulars. Agents wanted.

ACME, Est. April 12, '81. C. W. DENNIS, 213 Vine St., Cincinnati, O.

S. B. Machine will fit a shotgun from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. J. E. JOHNSON & CO., 1111 Main St., Richmond, Va.

FACE, HANDS, FEET, and all their imperfections, such as Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moles, Warts, Moth, Liver Spots, Red Nose, Acne, Black Heads, Scars, Pitting and Blemishes removed, by Dr. John H. Woodbury, 37 N. Pearl St., ALBANY, N.Y. Est'd 1870. Send 10c. for book.

Are You CONSUMPTIVE.

Have you Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Indigestion? Use PARKER'S TONIC without delay. It has cured many of the worst cases and is the best remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs, and diseases arising from impure blood and exhaustion. Often saves life. Cures when everything else fails. Gives new life and strength to the aged and infirm. $1, of Druggists.

HINDERCORNS.

The safest, surest and best cure for Corns, Bunions, &c. Stops all pain. Ensures comfort to the feet. Never fails to cure. Druggists or Druggists, HISCOX & CO., N. Y.

WE WANT YOU! A live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every county. Salary $15 per month and expenses, or a large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfit and particulars Free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

ELLIS—MATHYS.—At the residence of the bride, near Mayersville, Miss., December 29, 1886, by Rev. W. H. Munro, Mr. W. T. Ellis to Miss Leah B. Mathys.

CHAMBLISS—SHARBROUGH.—At the residence of Mrs. Mary Elliott, in Claiborne County, Miss., January 6, 1887, by Rev. F. W. Sharbrough, Mr. Q. W. Chambliss, of Claiborne county, to Miss Lucora Sharbrough.

BERRY—CAWTHON.—At the residence of the bride's father December 30, 1886, by Rev. W. B. King, Mr. I. M. Murry to Miss E. C. Cawthon, all of Rankin county, Miss.

GAGE—McCLENDON.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Brooklaven, Miss., December 29, 1886, by Rev. A. F. Watkins, Mr. C. R. Gage and Miss Sadie McClendon, both of Lincoln county, Miss.

TWISEL—HAMEL.—At the residence of the bride's father, S. A. Hamel, Esq., near Yazoo City, Miss., January 12, 1887, by Rev. S. J. Cotton, Mr. Joseph M. Twiner to Miss Alma Hamel, both of Yazoo county, Miss.

FARMER—STAPLES.—At the residence of Mr. Staples, October 11, 1886, by Rev. J. H. Stone, Mr. W. S. Farmer to Mrs S. A. Staples, all of Lincoln parish, La.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

LOCKHART—Rev. J. B. Lockhart, a local preacher on the Haynesville circuit, Louisiana Annual Conference, was born in Abbeville county, S. C., on October 7, 1851. On December 13, 1886, after an illness of more than three weeks, he passed to his reward, calm and serene as a summer evening, in Haynesville, La. He joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, when quite a young man, and made a profession of religion, which he enjoyed as a positive fact as long as he had his consciousness. He attended school in Lowndesville, S. C., until he was prepared to enter college. He then came to Louisiana and matriculated as a student in Centenary College, Jackson, La., where he, perhaps, completed the studies in the Freshman and Sophomore classes; after which he began to teach school. Having taught six months' school in Mississippi, he came to Haynesville, in August, 1885, and took charge of the Haynesville Academy, as principal, which position he filled with ability and success.

But we do not propose to dwell or refer to his ability and professional career, but to his personal character, that which embalms his memory in our hearts. He had a very affectionate nature, and a heart full of grace, which he said was necessary to the performance of the great work in which he was engaged. A thoroughly converted heart like his always found it more blessed to give than to receive. He loved his pupils, and prayed for them daily, that they might develop into grand Christian manhood and womanhood. He not only believed that God is, but a rewarder of those who diligently seek him. The writer was with him much during his sickness, and talked with him about death and his hope of that rest that remains for the people of God; and he always said that he was ready and perfectly reckoned to the will of the Lord. He lived right, and, of course, died right.

At the fourth Quarterly Conference of the Haynesville circuit a committee of three was appointed to write the above and draft the following resolutions:

Whereas, in the wisdom and providence of God, Rev. J. B. Lockhart, who walked in and out before us with all the Christian dignity of his young manhood for more than fourteen months, has been called "from labor to refreshment;" And, whereas, This afflictive dispensation of God's will with heart rending weight on the affectionate mother of the deceased and his loving sister, who are the only remaining parties of the family this side the shining river: therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we can not comprehend this afflictive providence, we bow in humble submission to the will of a kind heavenly Father who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That we tender our affectionate and heart-felt sympathy to the bereft and widowed mother and only surviving sister, praying that God's grace may sustain them in this, their deep affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of the aforesaid be sent to the family of our beloved brother, and that a copy be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

O. H. GODFREY, for Com.

ABEL—Died at his home, near Phœnix, Miss., G. W. ABEL, after a brief and painful illness, on October 7, 1886, in his twenty-sixth year. He joined the church in his fourteenth year, at Dayton, Tenn. He was converted at the same time and received in the church, and ever since remained a faithful member of the same. Our dear Bro. Abel was married to Mrs. L. J. Jackson, June 23, 1885.

He was a kind and loving husband, a devoted son. He leaves a wife and little baba, father, sisters and a brother and many friends and kindred. He left a testimony that he had gone to heaven, asking his loved ones to meet him there. Yes, his pure and lofty spirit has winged its flight to that mystic land that lies beyond our death. Over his home hangs a veil of sorrow bedewed with tears from stricken hearts, and is too dreary and dark to be lighted by human hands. But oh! stricken hearts, he has not left you comfortless. By that pure love and all the sacred ties that bound you to him here, his spirit woos you to that better land where, joined again in deathless bands, immortal love doth dwell and partings are unknown. K. E. W.

Nashville Advocate please copy.

MARTIN—Mrs. SUSAN DELPHINE MARTIN was born in Wilkinson county, Miss., February 17, 1852, and died, at her father's residence, Tangipahoa parish, January 5, 1887. She was the youngest daughter of Catherine and S. R. Hyde. She joined the Methodist Church in 1883, and was happily converted the following year under the preaching of J. M. Pugh. She was married to John W. Martin, of Pike county, Miss., October 15, 1885.

So passed away a loving wife, a dutiful daughter, a faithful Christian. She is not dead, but sleepeth.

B. F. HART.

Woodville, Miss., papers please copy.

SIBLEY—Mrs. MARY C. SIBLEY, daughter of Michael and Sallie A. Hooter, was born in Yazoo county, Miss. March 22, 1837; joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1854, under the pastorate of Rev. R. T. Jones. She was married, February 4, 1858, by Rev. J. A. James, to Mr. James W. Branin. To these were born four children, three of whom have preceded her to the better land. Being left a widow, she was married the second time, November 15, 1875, to Mr. Asa Sibley. To them were born two children, one of whom has also gone on before to the home above. Sister Sibley died at her home, in great peace, November 25, 1886, and was buried by the writer in the family burial ground at Ogden Church.

It was the writer's privilege to be with her near the end. She said, "If this is death, I have no fear." No; she was ready. She had been ready a long time. Death found no unwilling passenger when he came for her, and, living the life of the righteous, she has been carried by angels to Abraham's bosom. She leaves behind her husband and two children to mourn their loss. She is now "waiting and watching" for them. S. J. COTTON.

PERRY—Mrs. EMILY ELIZABETH PERRY, formerly Miss Emma Munson, died on September 2, 1886, aged forty-five years. She was married in 1863 to Mr. William Perry, and both joined our church the following year. They lived five years at or near the old homestead of Mr. Perry, and then moved to the place on which he now lives, where she died, in West Feliciana.

Sister Perry was a woman of good judgment on matters in the home, on the farm, or in the work for the Master. She was an active, efficient member of our church, on Bayou Sara circuit, at Concord. We were just about organizing a Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and intended having her as president, when, without warning, she sickened and died; and we are called upon to mourn her loss. It is gain to her. She died with the assured hope of eternal happiness. Her life was one of cheerfulness, purity and industry. Though never strong, she obeyed the religious injunction, "Never be unemployed;" and, therefore, her little home was one of comfort, neatness and good taste. The preachers were all welcomed with cordiality under her roof. I knew her from childhood to her death, and honored her as a faithful Christian woman.

H. BRADFORD.

O'PRY—Died at his home, near Roleline, La., September 15, 1886, JOSIAN O'PRY, in the thirty-fifth year of his age. "Jody," as he was called by everybody, was a great sufferer at times from Bright's disease, of which he died; but had the consolation of religion, which he professed many years ago. He connected himself with the Methodist Church, at Rocky Mount, Sabine parish, in 1875, and lived a consistent Christian life up to the time of his death.

He was loved by all his neighbors, and had the respect of all who knew him. He loved the church, and did what he could to promote her interests, holding the position of steward at the time of his death. He and his family attended punctually upon the services of the church, and it was regarded a strange thing to see his seat vacant. On the day of his burial many checks were suffused with tears as the eyes of the congregation were turned to the vacant corner. Being loved and honored in life, many testified to his worth in the hour of death. His seat in church is vacant here, but he has gone to take a higher and an better one of glory. He leaves a wife and four children, a mother, two brothers and two sisters to follow on. May they emulate his noble example in all the relations of life, and in duty meet him in heaven!

R. S. I.

ANDERSON—HENRY S. ANDERSON died at his home in Amite county, Miss., December 30, 1886, aged sixty-two years, eight months and seven days. The deceased first married a Miss Jackson, of Amite county, Miss., who died in a short time; that Miss Mary L. Catlin, also of Amite.

When the sad news went forth that this good man had died, it cast a deep gloom over the whole community. Being endowed with a cheerful temperament, a large mind, and a great heart, he had won a host of friends who could scarcely realize their loss. His health had been declining for several years, but hopes were entertained that when spring came the weak body would gain new vigor, and thus live to continue "scattering seeds of kindness." He was a deacon of the Mount Zion Baptist Church for many years, and attended and donated liberally to all other churches. He leaves his wife, two sons, five daughters and a number of relatives and friends; and, if we can but follow his examples, will meet him "where the sorges cease to roll." MINNIE LEE.

PRICE—Mrs. ZILPHA PRICE, the mother of Rev. Jesse Price, of the Tennessee Conference, departed this life, in full triumphs of faith in Jesus, Friday morning, December 10, 1886, at the residence of her son, in Brownsville, Tenn. She was born in Old Virginia, and moved from Virginia to Rutherford county, Tenn., and from Rutherford to Wilson county, where she remained until coming to live with her son in Brownsville, Tenn. She was about seventy-five years old, and had spent forty-nine of those years in the Master's service and within the pales of the dear old Methodist Church. Her life was one of patience, although her sufferings were much for two or three months. She bore them like the child of God beareth affliction. The church has lost a consistent member, and the family an affectionate mother. Her last words were: "I am gone. I am gone to live with Jesus." She rests in the Robinson's Graveyard, near Macon's, Tenn. Of the afflicted family who mourn his loss, two sons are preaching the gospel. "He giveth his beloved sleep."

C. L. FIELDS, Pastor.

OWENS—Whereas, Our All-wise Father has seen fit to take from us our most esteemed brother, JOHN OWENS, in the prime of his life; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in his death we sustain a great loss, for as a Sunday-school student he was second to none, and his example is most worthy of emulation.

Resolved, That we extend our sympathies to the bereaved brother and sister, trusting that when life's work is ended they will all clasp hands on that bright, circumambient shore.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Crystal Springs Meteor and NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE.

MISS CARRIE STEEL, for Com.

LONG—Died in Knoxville, Tenn., at the residence of Dr. I. Boynton, LOYNTON LONG, infant son of Rev. S. D. and L. Long, aged six months. "The Master came himself, and gently took the little land in his, and gave it room among the angel harpers."

D.

Church Toilets—Are They not Inconsistent with Religion.

The elaborate church toilets in which many ladies indulge has been the subject of much severe public and private comment; yet the evil continues, and will never be eradicated until Christian people and the press unitedly protest against a practice so devoid of taste and of reverence for God's holy sanctuary.

Gorgeousness or splendor of attire is altogether out of harmony with the sanctity of the place and the occasion; and we are amazed that woman professing godliness should flaunt their costly fabrics, fashioned by the cunning hand of the modiste in styles befitting the ball room, before the eyes of their honored pastors, and, while thus arrayed, partake of the holy sacrament.

To us it appears a mockery of sacred things—a sacrilegious act calculated to bring reproach upon the church. Not only this, but it is an insult to their sister members, who only by dint of the most stringent economy are enabled to make themselves presentable, and burn the midnight lamp that they may fashion their own poorly fitting clothing. Many of this class—particularly young girls—are deficient in strength of mind and earnestness of purpose, and are easily affected by envy or preyed upon by discontent; and the ruin wrought upon them by such a display of fine dressing is deplorable in the extreme.

The life of the working-girl is arduous and exhausting, and she has no time for appearing in public but Sunday, and no place but the church or street; yet she will be happy and sweet-tempered in her plain muslins and worsteds if her vanity be not incited by her more fortunate sister's love of display. Many girls spend all their earnings upon self merely from this cause, when a liberal portion would otherwise be contributed toward the purchase of home comforts and the education of the younger members of the family. The influence of the worldly-minded woman of wealth is, indeed, most deadly.

The fair sex naturally have a hankering for beautiful things, and if they can afford to dress richly and handsomely we would not trammel them in their desires, only let them observe the good taste to dress plainly at church and upon the public promenade, that the pernicious influence of their example may not be as poisonous seed sown in the hearts of the respectable middle classes that the world can so poorly afford to have vitiated.

Society calls loudly for elegant costumes; and the brilliant belle can make herself as lovely and irresistible and as gay seemes as wealth and taste suggest. We do not wage war upon fine dressing only when obtruded upon sacred places and occasions, but we do think when it causes a weak sister to offend that the wise and true woman will retrain from such display; and surely simplicity of dress is no where so much to be admired as when the wearer appears as a worshiper of the true and living God.

We are told that the first lady in our land—the wife of our honored President—dress's for church with excellent taste, but absolute plainness, her suit usually a body of a dark grey or black, a small pin at her throat, but nothing else in the way of ornament; a high black hat trimmed tastefully but quietly and black gloves of undressed kid, complete her corrective toilet. Such simple and unobtrusive attire becomes her the true lady, and should commend her to the consideration of every American woman.—Baltimorean.

A GREAT LESSON.—That man has learned a great lesson who has learned to accept himself as he is given to himself. We may build a thousand airy castles in to what we would do if we had the genius of a Milton or a Newton; but nothing will ever come of such airy castle-building. The real question that should interest us is, what work can we best do, without the genius of a Milton or Newton, but with ourself as we are. When we answer that question, we stand at the threshold of the door that leads to the highest success of which we are capable.—Messenger.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Every bottle of Smallenberger's Pills sold in any locality will sell others; indeed the sale of the first bottle is often all the advertising the medicine needs to keep it in steady demand. It is not a purgative, does not sicken the stomach, is perfectly safe in any dose, and cures immediately every form of Malarious disease.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—"Civil Service Gazette."

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

The Physician's Favorite!

A prompt, safe, non-irritating, easily assimilated food, adapted to all weakened and inflamed conditions of the digestive organs, whether in adults or infants.

☞ It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

The Most Nourishing, Most Palatable, Most Economical, of all Prepared Foods.

150 MEALS for an Infant for $1.00.

EASILY PREPARED. At Druggists, 25c., 50c. $1

☞ A valuable pamphlet on "The Nutrition of Infants and Invalids," sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

DYSPEPSIA.

Up to a few weeks ago I considered myself the champion Dyspeptic of America. During the years that I have been afflicted I have tried almost everything claimed to be a specific for Dyspepsia in the hope of finding something that would afford permanent relief. I had about made up my mind to abandon all medicines when I noticed an endorsement of SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR by a prominent Georgian, a jurist whom I knew, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bottles, and am satisfied that I have struck the right thing at last. I felt its beneficial effects almost immediately. Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special instructions are required as to what one shall or shall not eat. This fact alone ought to commend it to all troubled with Dyspepsia.

J. N. H. LMES,
Vineland, N. J.

CONSTIPATION

To Secure a Regular Habit of Body without changing the Diet or Disorganizing the System, take

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

ONLY GENUINE MANUFACTURED BY

J. H. Zeilin & Co., Philadelphia.

FROM

CAPTAIN THE HONORABLE

ALISTAIR HAY,

3rd Battalion Black Watch,

Royal Highlanders.

(SECOND SON OF THE EARL OF KINNOULL.)

DUPPLIN CASTLE, PERTH, SCOTLAND,

TO THE LIEBIG COMPANY:

"I was in a condition of great debility, consequent upon a broken-down stomach, dyspepsia and malaria complicated with kidney irritation, when my medical attendant advised me to take your incomparable Coca Beef Tonic. Its effect was simply marvelous. The power of digestion was quickly restored, the kidney irritation vanished, and rapid restoration to health followed.

"Other preparations of Coca had been tried without the slightest effect."

It cures Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Fever and Ague, Malaria, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Chronic Constipation, Sick Stomach, Sleeplessness, Weak Lungs, Asthma and Female Complaints, and Intermittent Fevers. Beware of Imitations under like or other names.

PRICE

ONE DOLLAR.

N. Y. DEPOT,

38 Murray Street.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

USE WINCHESTER'S HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME AND SODA for Consumption, Weak Lungs, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and General Debility. It is an acknowledged Specific Remedy. TRY IT.

Price, 50 and $1 per bottle. Prepared only by WM. WINCHESTER & Co., Chemists, 162 William street, New York.

Sold by druggists.

ROPE AND TWINES,
AMMUNITION, PAPER, TINWARE,
Wooden and Willow-Ware,

Axle Grease, Base Ball Goods, Blank Books, etc., Bungs and Plugs, Coffee and Grain Mills, Cotton and Wool Cards, Cutlery and Files, Demijohns and Bottles, Furniture, Fishing Tackle, Faucets—full line, Handles and Axes, Kegs—all kinds, Lamps and Lanterns, Oars and Oakum, Oyster Tongs, Saws and Hatchets, Sugar-house Lamps, Scales and Locks, Soap and Sponges, Tomblers and Goblets, Whips and Lashes, Stone Jars, Jugs and Cooking Crocks.

Full Line of Fireworks.

J. C. MORRIS,

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas St.

Sole Agency South for the Celebrated RICKER CALCIUM BURNERS.

WALL PAPER

in all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty. WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES, WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS, UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.

FRAMING NEATLY DONE.

PICTURE AND LOOK MOULDINGS, RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS

EDWARD HEATH,

No. 75 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

A. Brousseau's Son

23 and 25 Charles Street.

MOQUETTES,
BRUSSELS,
INGRAINS,
LACE CURTAINS,
WINDOW SHADES,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Philip Werlein's,

135 Canal Street,

THE GREAT PIANO HOUSE

—OF THE—

SOUTH.

THE PLACE

TO BUY YOUR

PIANOS

—AND—

ORGANS.

Greatest Bargains

Now Offered.

Premiums Awarded

—TO THE—

SINGER

MANUFACTURING COMPANY

—BY THE—

N., C., and S. A. EXPOSITION.

FIRST MEDAL

For the Best Sewing Machines for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles 10c per dozen; two dozen, 25c. All other styles from 15c to 25c. Oil, 5c a bottle. Singer Shuttles 25c each. Package Extra. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

S. E. RUNDLE, Agent.

WONDERFUL

SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

All the PATTERNS you wish to use during the year for nothing (a saving of from $3.00 to $4.00) by subscribing for

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine

With Twelve Orders for Cut Paper Patterns of your own selection and of any size.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.25 (THREE TWENTY-FIVE).

DEMOREST'S THE BEST

Of all the Magazines.

CONTAINS 144 STORIES, POEMS, AND OTHER LITERARY ATTRACTIONS; FURNISHING ARTISTIC, SCIENTIFIC, AND HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Illustrated with Original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each Magazine contains a coupon order entitling the holder to the selection of any pattern illustrated in the fashion department in that number, and in many of the sizes manufactured, making patterns during the year of the value of over three dollars.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The Largest in Form, the Largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Family Magazine issued. 1887 will be the Twenty-third year of its publication. It is continually improved and so extensively as to place it at the head of Family Periodicals. It contains 72 pages, large quarto, 8½x11¼ inches, elegantly printed and fully illustrated. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York,

AND BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT COMBINED WITH THE

Christian Advocate at $3.25 Per Year

142

GOODWYN'S

☞ NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Bakers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is positively pure, excellent and healthful. There is not a particle of alum in it. It is said to be the best Cream Tartar. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a pure and healthful article by Drs. Wm. O. Austin, C. J. Bickham, J. J. Lucas, Jos. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Kept for years in any climate. OUR CHEMICALLY PURE SUBSTANTIALLY Pure.

Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

MRS. P. M. GOODWYN,

224 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

Handled by wholesale Grocers.

AGENTS WANTED FOR A NEW BOOK OF WONDERS.

A most successful Inventor has succeeded in producing a perfect counterfeit of the wonderful Cabinet of curiosities. A magnificent panorama of surprising scenes in many lands. A book of curious facts, startling revelations, exciting adventures, endless instructions; hundreds of attractive features; 300 illustrations; 700 pages. Low in cost, so every body that sees the book wants it. For special terms address

TEXAS BOOK & BIBLE CO., 901 Elm St., Dallas, Texas.

MISCELLANEOUS.

After Forty years' experience in the preparation of more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and Foreign countries, the publishers of the Scientific American continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Their experience is unequaled, and their facilities are unsurpassed.

Drawings and specifications prepared and filed in the Patent Office on short notice. Terms very reasonable. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.00 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. It contains the names of all patentees and title of every invention patented each week. Try it four months for one dollar. Sold by all newsdealers.

If you have an invention to patent write to Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

H. D. McCOWN,

—DEALER IN—

Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing,

HATS, SHIRTS,

—AND—

FURNISHING GOODS,

Cor. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

VALE & BOWLING,

WHOLESALE

DRY GOODS

AND NOTIONS

17, 19 & 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets,

NEW ORLEANS

An Agreeable Aperient.

ROGERS'

DRY

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA.

This Well-Known Preparation is

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

—FOR—

Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, and all Complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fever.

It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists,

281 Bleecker St., New York.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing

GOODS,

Successor in Wholesale to

WHEELER & PIERSON,

56 Canal Street. NEW ORLEANS

GREAT LABOR SAVING

SOAPINA!

Has been all covered which will wash in the hardest kind of water as well as ordinary soap in soft water. It is a fine article for washing woolen goods, clothing of Mechanics, Printers, etc.

J. H. KELLER,

NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

Ammoniated Raw Bone Superphosphate

—OF—

PURE GROUND BONE.

2 to 3 Points to the Acre Will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at Alabama Exposition for best cotton, Sugar Cane and corn fertilizers.

Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Stern's Fertilizing and Chemical M'f'g Co.,

14 Union St., New Orleans.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.

JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.

GAS FIXTURES,

PLUMBERS,

Steam and Gas Fitters,

—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—

HOME COMFORT RANGE,

TELEPHONE No. 983

No. 110 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION.

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886, with all the resources of excellent teachers and increased facilities of the institution. Tuition of board and English without music or ornamental, extraordinary charges; with music, Cox organ, and library, $180 per session—half in advance. Tuition at beginning of session, or in shorter proportion. If the entire sum for the year be paid in advance, 5 per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from the same family will receive a discount of 10 per cent.

Pupils entering at any time together by the year will be allowed a deduction of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the rate of $120 per session in half boarders, and may reside in College free of charge.

Special attention will be given to the regular lessons for music, but will be charged as an additional charge in that line.

In making engagements for the year, a club of four young ladies will be allowed a deduction of $20.25 on the whole bill (twenty-five per cent.) from the catalogue prices; or for paying $70.25 in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. CRANE, Pres.

S. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending January 19, 1887.)

COTTON.
Low ordinary	6 15-16 @	— —
Ordinary	7 7-16	— —
Good ordinary	8¼	— —
Low middling	8 11-16	— —
Middling	9	— —
Good middling	9¼	— —
Middling fair	9⅝	— —
Fair	10 9-16	— —
Galveston middling	9	— —
Mobile middling	9	— —
St. Louis middling	9	— —

SUGAR.
Inferior	2¾	3¼
Common	3¼	3½
Good common	—	2¾
Fair	3⅜	— —
Good fair	3¾	4
Fully fair	—	4¼
Prime	4½	— —
Strictly Prime	—	— —
Choice	4¾	— —
Seconds	4	4¼
Choice yellow	5¼	— —
Gray White	—	— —
Choice whites	5 9-16	5¾
Stan. grad	5 13-16	— —

MOLASSES.
Syrup—Open Kettle	30	30
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	43	43
Choice	—	46
Fancy	—	47

RICE.
Fancy	—	4¼
Choice	4¼	4¼
Prime	3¾	4
Good	3⅝	3¾
Fair	3	3¼
Ordinary	—	2¾
Common	2½	2¾
No. 2	2	2½
Rough	2 15	3 00

FLOUR.
Minnesota bakers	4 62½	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12½
Extra fancy	— —	4 75
Winter wheat patents	— —	5 75
Choice	3 75	3 90
Fancy	4 25	4 35
Extra Fancy	4 40	4 45

CORN PRODUCTS.
Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 25	— —
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White	45	— —
Yellow	— —	45
Mixed	— —	42
OATS:
Western	39	— —
Texas rust-proof	42½	55
BRAN:
₱ cwt	75	80
HAY:
Choice	15 00	16 00
Prime	14 00	14 50

PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess	12½	12½
Prime mess	11 75	12 00
Rumps	10 25	11 50
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	10	10½
Shoulders	6½	6½
Sides, long clear	7½	7½
Sides, short rib	7½	7½
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	10½	11½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	4½	— —
Sides, long clear	6½	— —
Sides, short rib	6½	— —

FISH.
MACKEREL:
Extra No. 1, in bbls.	— —	11 50
Half bbls	6 25	— —
No. 2, in bbls., large	— —	11 00
Half bbls	— —	6 90

GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	16½
Fair	— —	15½
Common	— —	18½
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	33	34
Western Dairy	23	24
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6½	6¾
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12½	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	30	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, per head	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 75	2 10
KROUT:
Western, ₱ bbl.	— —	5 50
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	2 75	3 00

BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
1¾ ℔, per yd	7¾	— —
2 ℔	8¾	— —
BALING TWINE:
₱ ℔	10	— —
TIES:
₱ bundle	1 00	— —

SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 50	3 75
Young Chickens	1 50	2 50
Chickens, South'n	3 50	3 50
Young	2 00	2 50
Turkeys, Southern	3 00	3 00
EGGS:
Western	24	23
Southern	23	24
WOOL:
Lake, per ℔	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	15
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₱ ℔	— —	7½
Dry salted	— —	10½
STAVES:
Oak, kegs	— —	— —
Oak, barrels, 33 in	75 00	— —
Oak, claret, 43 in	100 00	110 00
Oak, hogsh'd, 48 in.	120 00	135 00
HOOP POLES:
Hogshead, per 1000	28 00	— —
Barrels	16 00	— —
Half barrels	14 00	75
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, per ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	32 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₱ ℔	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1½	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. RIGGS & BRO., 147 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

JANUARY 11.

The Army Bill came up before the German Reichstag to day. It provoked quite a lengthy debate in which Bismarck and Von Moltke advocated the government's views. Bismarck stated that he had waited long enough for the Reichstag to pass the bill, and if they did not pass it now, he would dissolve the Reichstag. The Standard, commenting on the speeches of Bismarck and Von Moltke says: "They make the situation look, if possible, darker than ever. Von Moltke's assurance that Germany's desire is for peace is doubtless sincere Bismarck's possibly; but the stringent measures taken in an endeavor to maintain peace only show how precarious is its continuance. The Times thinks it probable that Bismarck will be defeated ——— The French Government has decided to increase this year's extraordinary military credit from 50 000 000 to 86 000,000 francs. ——The Alcazar Palace was a complete loss. It was recently erected at a cost of $1 000,000. ——The French made an attack on a large force entrenched at Thonhoc, China, but were twice repulsed. Four French officers were wounded, 42 wounded and 13 killed, all told.——The report of the Secretary of War is favorable to the construction of the Hennepin Canal ——The Pensacola Commercial says: "The frost and freeze has pretty well settled the orange business at all points north of Palatka." ——The recent cold has been unprecedented in this section of the country.

JANUARY 12.

The Earl of Iddesleigh, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, is dead. He was stricken with fatal illness and fainted while ascending the stairs of Lord Salisbury's office, in Downing street, as he was about to visit his lordship. He was taken into the Prime Minister's room, and almost instantly expired.——The government's supporters despair of the passage of the Army Bill in the Reichstag. Prince Bismarck's speech in the Reichstag meets with lively approval in government circles in Vienna.——The Austrian Cabinet has decided to increase the budget for the War Department by over $5 000 000.——Mayor Hewitt's condition is improving.

JANUARY 13

A political conference between the Gladstonites and Liberal Unionists took place at the residence of Sir William Vernon Harcourt to-day ——Bismarck made another speech in the Reichstag, in which he says Germany intervened in Bulgarian affairs in the interest of the peace of Europe. He said Russia has no right to attack us, and we have no cause to attack Russia. ——There is a Greek revolt in Crete. ——In Illinois, the Republican caucus has nominated Charles B. Farwell for United States Senator in place of Gen. Logan, and the Democratic caucus has nominated W. R. Morrison for the same office ——For the Indiana senatorship the Democrats have nominated David Turple.——Gen. Hawley has been renominated, for United States Senator by the Republicans of Connecticut.——The opinion prevails that the Interstate Commerce Bill will pass. A vote may be reached to-day.——The Breckinridge Bill to abolish, consolidate and curtail certain collection districts and ports of entry has been adopted by the Ways and Means Committee.——The officers of the "J. M. White," indicted in Point Coupee for manslaughter, have given bond in $7,000 apiece.

JANUARY 14.

The Army Bill was defeated in the Reichstag to-day, and the chamber dissolved. An imperial decree was issued fixing February 21 for holding elections for members of the new Reichstag.——The defeat of the government causes great excitement.——Evictions continue in Ireland.——The Queen has transferred the seals of office to the new members of the British Cabinet.——Mr. Gladstone is confined to the house by a severe cold. ——Russia maintains the candidacy of Prince Nicholas for the Bulgarian throne, and negotiations are proceeding on that basis.——The Paris press says the vote on the Army Bill in the German Reichstag shows that the people are tired of the excessive military damands of Prussia.——The Interstate Commerce Bill passed the Senate to-day by a vote of 43 to 15.——Dynamiters are at work in San Francisco, having placed a bomb on a street car track, by which one car was wrecked and several persons injured.——Cluverius, the murderer of Miss Madison, was hanged in Richmond to-day. ——Nalonz is troubled with mad dogs. ——Two thousand workmen in Lorillard's tobacco factory went out on a strike to-day.——A party with $2,000,000 are examining the pine and prairie lands of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company with a view to purchase. The lands are in Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

JANUARY 15.

The general opinion is against the German government's obtaining a majority in the elections for a new Reichstag.——Russia persists in presenting Prince Nicholas for the Bulgarian throne. Her proposition is that he be presented to the people of Bulgaria, who shall be allowed to decide whether they will accept or reject him. ——A meeting of the full Cabinet was held in London to-day.——The anniversary of the capture of Yorktown was celebrated in Paris to day.——Cholera prevails in all towns above Montevideo both in Uruguay and the Argentine Republic.——The constitutionality of the Sunday Law was argued before the Supreme Court in this city to-day.——Congress resumed the consideration of the River and Harbor Bill. Speeches were made by Hepburn, of Iowa, against the Mississippi river improvement, and by Blanchard, of Louisiana, in favor of it. The conclusion may be reached by the middle of the coming week.——A pre-historic stone image from Easter Island is on its way to the Smithsonian Institute.——Secretary Lamar and wife arrived in Washington City to-day.

JANUARY 16.

Mr. Sexton, at a Nationalist meeting in Ireland, said that the present government would soon be overthrown and home rule be granted to Ireland. ——The defeated party in the German Reichstag will propose an address to the Emperor, assuring him of their loyalty and expressing the conviction that Prussia will make any sacrifice to maintain the army at the strength necessary for the safety of the fatherland. ——Gen. Hazen, the chief signal officer of the United States, died in Washington this evening.——Chief Justice Jackson, of Georgia, was buried to-day from the First Methodist Church in Atlanta.——The schooner "Parallel" was wrecked and blown up off the Golden Gate, causing great destruction to property in the vicinity.

JANUARY 17.

Emperor William has been deeply impressed and saddened by the rejection of the Army Bill. All parties have opened the election campaign with energy.——Gen Boulanger has ordered that all employees of the War Office shall have their photographs taken.——The Austrian government continues to hasten preparations for war. Large contracts have been made for provisions and the railway officials consulted in regard to preparations for moving troops.——Gen. Hazen will be buried with military honors to-morrow.——The army and pension bills were passed by the Senate. The bill for the relief of dependent parents and honorably discharged soldiers and sailors was passed by the House.——S. M. Weed, of Plattsburg, is the Democratic candidate for the New York senatorship.——The trades unions of New York are coming out strongly in favor of Dr. McGlynn against Archbishop Corrigan.

Louisiana Conference Apportionments.

FOR CONFERENCE CLAIMANTS.

New Orleans district		$1,133 00
Shreveport	"	635 00
Delhi	"	6 0 00
Homer	"	665 00
Opelousas	"	635 00
Alexandria	"	532 00
Total		$4,000 00

BISHOPS' FUND.

New Orleans district		$ 320 00
Shreveport	"	135 00
Delhi	"	115 00
Homer	"	135 00
Opelousas	"	115 00
Alexandria	"	70 00
Total		$ 890 00

CHURCH EXTENSION FUND.

New Orleans district		$ 503 75
Shreveport	"	313 75
Delhi	"	372 50
Homer	"	343 75
Opelousas	"	283 75
Alexandria	"	2 2 50
Total		$2 100 00

MISSIONS.

		Domestic.	Foreign
New Orleans district		$ 500	$2 000
Shreveport	"	360	1,000
Homer	"	360	1,000
Delhi	"	315	900
Opelousas	"	315	800
Alexandria	"	150	300
Total		$2,000	$6,000

Education Fund, distributed as Bishops' Fund $890.

Mississippi Conference Apportionments.

FOR CONFERENCE CLAIMANTS.

Jackson district		$ 600
Brandon	"	375
Brookhaven	"	550
Woodville	"	410
Seashore	"	415
Meridian	"	550
Vicksburg	"	600
Total		$3,500

BISHOPS' FUND.

Jackson district		$ 195
Brandon	"	105
Brookhaven	"	168
Woodville	"	121
Seashore	"	113
Meridian	"	158
Vicksburg	"	195
Total		$1,055

"Life and Writings of Bishop Parker."

One copy of this superb work will be given for three new subscribers when accompanied by the cash in full.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

JANUARY 20, 1887.

IMPROVEMENTS IN FARMING.—Besides the use of improved farming implements, there are many other points the farmer has to study out to gain successful results. One of the most important is a knowledge of what kind of fertilizers to use to bring about the desired increase. The Stern's Fertilizing and Chemical Co., of this city, have made this a study, and manufacture according to the wants of lands in the Gulf States. In another column will be found their advertisement. Free information mailed on application.

WHAT WOMEN NEED.—Women need to cultivate their own resources more. There are some who early recognize the difference of value between the perishable and imperishable things of this earth. Every valuable possession has its added care and expense. People who were once in moderate circumstances, or poor even, who grew wealthy, look back upon the old life as freer from cares and happier; yet if they were to go back to their early and simple style of living, the world would severely criticise them. Every woman needs to keep up her list of old friends and to make new ones, too; the family and children can not meet all the wants that middle aged people must have for friendship. Not any woman is so busy but that she can find time to write an occasional letter. If the friend to whom she owes a letter would come to see her, she could lay aside work and talk to her and urge her to stay longer. One can stop on the street at the risk of taking pneumonia in winter, to talk to a friend for half an hour, and why can not friends be civil when they do not meet? Pure air every day, which housekeepers need so much, would freshen them up until twice the amount of work could be accomplished that there is, without the daily dragging sensation which one has who stays so closely indoors. There are many mothers and children who do not go out for a week of snowy or stormy weather, and all grow irritable or cross, because they have failed to provide themselves with proper protection against storms—over-shoes, leggings, rain-coats, or umbrellas. The English family entire goes out rain or shine. Health ranks first with them, as it should.—Good Housekeeping.

NOTICE.—All communications on business must be addressed to the N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp street. Contributions for the columns of the ADVOCATE should be addressed to the editor, Rev. C. W. Carter, 112 Camp street.

Another Extraordinary Offer.

After this date we will include in our club arrangement the New York Weekly World, the price of which, including all postage, will be three dollars. This amount will entitle the subscriber to one copy of the "Worlds' History of the United States," post paid.

This history is on a new plan. It is the record of the events of our history in the order in which they happened. There are no moralizings, no opinions put forth, no criticisms offered in regard to anything. It is not a political record merely, but one of all sorts of facts that have contributed to make our history. Discoveries, inventions, financial and literary matters, are all noted. One merit of the work is, that it can not grow old. The date of an event, when once ascertained, is fixed for all time. The book has twenty-four very good illustrations. We regard it as a valuable book for every student.

Old and new subscribers are entitled to the premium. Subscribers who have already paid will receive the History and the Weekly World one year by sending one dollar. Cash to accompany all orders.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

DECEMBER 9, 1886.

To treat men as if they were better than they are, is the surest way to make them better.

Quarterly Conferences.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Mansfield	Jan. 30
Woodside and Ebenezer, at Ebenezer	22, 23
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane	29, 30
Pleasant Hill, at Zodiac	Feb. 5, 6
Natchitoches, at Robeline	12, 13
Anacoco and Bellwood, at Holly Grove	16, —
Many and Sabine, at New Hope	19, 20
Coushatta, at Coushatta	23, —
Fort Polk, at Coushatta Academy	26, 27
Red River, at Camp Bella	Mar. 5, 6
Shreveport, at Shreveport	9
Cadde and Friendship	12, 13
South Bossier, at Bellevue	16
North Bossier, at Concord	19, 20
Mount Lebanon, at Pine Hill	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Shreveport, on Thursday, March 10, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Methodist Church.

J. B. CASSITY, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Abbeville	Jan. 23, 23
Franklin	29, 30
Opelousas	Feb. 5
Washington	8, 7
Patterson ville	12, 13
LaFayette	19, 20
New Iberia	26, 27
Rayne	Mar. 5, 6
Lake Charles	12
Germna Mission	13, 11
Sulphur Mine	20, 21

District stewards will meet in the Opelousas Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon, February 6, 1887. Let there be a full attendance.

S. S. KEENER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Carondelet	Jan. 23
St. Charles Avenue	30
Felicity	Feb. 6
Gros Tete and False River, at Rosedale	12, 13
Germna Charges, at Ursuses Street	20
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at P. q.	26, 27
Algiers and Gretna, at Algiers	Mar. 6
Louisiana Avenue	13
Morgan	20
Carrollton and Parker Chapel, at Carrollton	27
Baton Rouge	Apr. 2, 3

The district stewards will please meet at Carondelet Street Church at seven P. M., Friday, January 28, 1887.

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Whistler	Jan. 1, 2
Franklin Street Church	9
Washington and Vernon, at Sims' Chapel	15, 16
Pleasant Valley and Creola, at Pleasant Valley	22, 23
Bladon and St. Stephens, at New Hope	29, 30
Haney, at Joses' Chapel	Feb. 5, 6
St. Francis Street Church	13
Citronelle, at Citronelle	19, 20
Baldwin mission, at Sibley's Chapel	20, 27
Ellington and Grand Bay, at Allen's	Mar. 5, 6
St. Paul's	13
Grove Hill, at Grove Hill	19, 20
Suggsville, at Suggsville	26, 27

District stewards will meet at Franklin Street, Mobile, Monday morning, January 24, at half-past nine A. M.

A. J. LAMAR, P. E.

PENSACOLA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brewton and Pollard, at Brewton	Jan. 1, 2
Evergreen, at Evergreen	8, 9
Georgiana, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Monroeville, at Monroeville	22, 23
Montery, at Liberty	29, 30
Gravella, at Mt. Union	Feb 2
Milton	5, 6
Pensacola circuit, at Warrington	10
Pensacola station	12, 13
Bagdad, at Asbury	19, 20
Powellton, at Powellton	26, 27
Douglasville, at Mt. Carmel	Mar. 5, 6
Stockton, at Stockton	11, 13
Repton at Hickory Grove	19, 20
Bay Minette at New Hope	26, 27

W. M. MOTLEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

North Wilkinson, at Hopewell	Jan. 1, 2
Amite, at Salem	8, 9
Clinton, La	15, 16
Jackson, La	16, 17
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	22, 23
Wilson and Centreville, at Wilson	29, 30
Pipkin	Feb. 5, 6
St. Helena, at Pipkin Chapel	12, 13
Amite City, at Amite City	18, 19
Springfield, at Ponchatoula	20 21
Livingston, at Palmetto (Wednesday)	23
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel (Thursday)	24
Percy's Creek	26, 27
Woodville	27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar. 5, 6
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	6

District stewards meet in Wilson, January 29, 1887.

J. A. B. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Gibson	Jan. 1, 2
Rocky Springs	8, 9
Natchez, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Natchez, at Jefferson Street	19, 17
Washington	22, 23
Beachland	29, 30
Utica	Feb. 5, 6
Burtonton	7, 8
Vicksburg	12, 13
South Vicksburg	14 15
Fayette	19, 20
Cane Ridge	26, 27
Anguilla	Mar. 5, 6
Mayersville	12, 13
Nebo	19 20
Rexie	21, 22

W. L. C. RUNNIETT, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Wayneboro and State Line	Jan. 2, 3
Winchester, at Winchester	8, 9
Shubuta, at Shubuta	15, 16
Clark, at Andrew Chapel	22, 23
Sandersville, at Sandersville	29, 30
Vossburg, at Vossburg	Feb. 5, 6
Paulding, at Paulding	11, 13
West End, at West End	19, 20
Meridian station	21
Stonewall, at Chensky	26, 27
Marion, at Marion	Mar. 5, 6
Lauderdale, at Lauderdale	12, 13
DeKalb, at DeKalb	19, 20
Bucksville, at Scooba	26, 27
Enterprise	Apr. 2, 3
Adamsville	9, 10

The district stewards will meet in Meridian, Tuesday, February 22, 1887, at eleven A. M.

E. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brandon station, at Brandon	31, Jan. 1
Forest and Morton, at Morton	8, 9
Lake, at Lake	15, 16
Newton, at Hickory	21, 21
Fannin, at Pelahatchie	29, 30
Marvin, at Marvin	Feb. 5, 6
Shiloh, at Clear Creek	12, 13
Westville, at Westville	19, 20
Tranton, at Trenton	26, 27
Raleigh	Mar. 5, 6
Nashoba, at Hester's	12, 13
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	19, 20
Carthage, at Carthage	26, 27
Hillsboro, at New Providence	Apr. 2, 3

The district stewards will meet at Forest, on Wednesday, January 26. Address me at Forest until further notice.

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Jan. 1, 2
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson	8, 9
Hazlehurst	15, 16
Brookhaven	22, 23
Summit, at Johnston	29, 30
Scotland, at Bellefield	Feb. 5, 6
McComb City, at Magnolia	12, 13
Bowerton, at Ebenezer	19, 20
Terry, at Bethesda	26, 27
Monticello, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 5, 6
Providence, at Bethel Chapel	12, 13
Franklinton, at Tylertown	19, 20
Adams, at Adams	26, 27
Holmesville, at Holmesville	Apr. 2, 3

The district stewards will meet in Brookhaven, Friday, January 21, 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	Jan. 1, 2
Poplarville, at Poplarville	8, 9
Flint Creek, at Garrlaway's	15 16
Whittington, at Polkville	22, 23
Vancleave, at Tolon	29, 30
Americus, at Cross Roads	Feb. 5, 6
Bethel, at Bethel	12, 13
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Moriah	19, 20
Gainesville, at Columbia	26, 27
Deasboro, at Long Branch	Mar. 5, 6
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	12, 13
Scranton, at Scranton	19, 20
Moss Point, at Moss Point	26, 27
Covington, at Covington	Apr. 2, 3
Pearlington, at Pearlington	9, 10

The district stewards of Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, will please meet me at (Scott's station) Long Branch, March 5, 1887, at 11 A. M.

T. S. WEST, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Edwards, at Edwards	Jan 1, 2
Raymond, at Bolton	8, 9
Benton, at Midway	15, 16
Silver Creek, at Jones'	22, 23
Mt. Olivet, at Shiloh	29 30
Flora, at Flora	Feb. 5 6
Spring Ridge, at Spring Ridge	12, 13
Camden, at Simle's Chapel	19, 20
Madison, at Madison	26, 27
Yazoo City	Mar. 5, 6
Sharon, at Sharon	12, 13
Jackson	19, 20
Canton	26 27

District stewards' meeting at Jackson, Tuesday, February 6, eleven A. M., in the lecture-room of our church.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Oxford station	Dec. 25, 26
Water Valley	Jan. 1, 2
Coffeeville circuit	8, 9
Grenada circuit	15, 16
Grenada station	17
Minter City	22 23
Sunny Side and McNutt	24
Carrollton circuit	29, 30
Pittsboro circuit	Feb 5, 6
Atlanta circuit	8
Banner circuit	12, 13
Lodi circuit	19, 20
Sarepta circuit	26, 27
Tocopola circuit	Mar. 4
Charleston circuit	5, 6
Abbeville	12, 13

C. H. TERRY, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec. 25, 26
Tibbee, at Mashew	Jan. 1, 2
West Point station	8, 9
Crawford, at Artesia	8, 9
Brooksville, at Brooksville	15, 16
Columbus circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	22, 21
Columbus station	23, 24
Macon station	29, 30
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak	30, 31
Starkville circuit, at Prairie	Feb. 5, 6
Louisville, at Louisville	12, 13
Tamalco, at Cedar Bluff	19 20
Chester, at Ackerman	26, 27
Plantsburg, at Kilough Chapel	Mar. 5, 6
Sturges, at Sturges	12, 13
Hebron, at Cookesville	19, 20
Walthall, at North Union	19, 17
Salem, at Ridgeway	Apr. 2, 3
LaGrange, at Ebenezer	9, 10

S. G. FOSTER, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Okolona station	Jan. 1, 2
Verona and Tupelo, at Verona	8
Shannon circuit, at Palmetto	8, 9
Richmond circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	15, 16
Saltillo circuit, at Shiloh	22, 23
Pontotoc circuit, at Pontotoc	29, 30
Bnsaa Vista circuit, at Concord	Feb. 5
Houston and Wesley, at Wesley	5, 6
Sparta circuit, at Palo Duro	12, 13
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer	19, 20
Okolona circuit, at Blackwell's Chapel	19, 20
Prairie circuit, at Lebanon	28
Aberdeen station	26, 27
Caledonia, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 5
Athens circuit, at Friendship	5, 6
Tremont circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	9
Fulton and Smithville, at Smithville	12 13

AMOS KENDALL, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Baldwyn, at Baldwyn	Jan. 1,
Booneville and Rienzi, at Booneville	8, 9
Corinth station	15, 16
Corinth circuit, at Bora Chapel	18
Iuka circuit, at New Salem	19
Harmony circuit, at Harmony	2,
Iuka station	22, 23
Kossuth circuit, at Kossuth	29, 30
Marietta, at Hodge's Chapel	Feb. 5, 6
Blackland at Pisgah	12, 13
Pleasant Ridge, at Friendship	19 20
Ripley and New Albany, at Ripley	26, 27
Ripley circuit, at New Hope	Mar. 2
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro	5, 6
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon	12, 13

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Richland, at Pickens	Dec. 18, 19
Kosciusko station	20, 20
West, at West	31
Vaiden, at Vaiden	Jan. 1, 2
Ebenezer, at Centre Grove	7
Durant and Lexington, at Durant	8, 9
Carrollton and Greenwood, at Carrollton	13
Winona	15, 16
Black Hawk, at Black Hawk	21
Hidon, at Jordan's Chapel	22, 23
Winona circuit, at Salem	29, 30
Newport, at Bethel	Feb. 5, 6
Scilla, at Springdale	12, 13
Mt. Tool, at Bethel	19, 20
Ethel, at Liberty Chapel	23
Newtonville, at White Hall	26, 27
Zilpha, at Wesley Chapel	Mar. 5, 6
Belzona, at Belzona	12, 13

R. F. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Batesville and Wesley	Dec. 18 19
Sardis	25, 26
Cuna and Fredonia	Jan. 1, 2
Cochrum circuit	8, 9
Hernando and Cold Water	15, 16
Horn Lake circuit	22 23
Lewisburg circuit	29, 30
Senatobia circuit	Feb. 5
Senatobia station	6, 7
Chulahoma circuit	12, 13
Mount Vernon circuit	19, 20
Pleasant Grove circuit	26, 27
Mastodon circuit	Mar. 5
Eureka circuit	5, 6
Panola circuit	8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale	Dec. 18
Jonestown	26
Anguilla	Jan. 2
Cleveland	9
Pecanola	16
Lulon	23
Arcola	30
Centerville	Feb. 6
Mound Bayou	13
Hollivar	20
Pilar's Point	27
Greenville	Mar. 6

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, March 5, 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. W. MONROE, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Holly Springs station	Dec. 25, 26
Byhalia and Victoria, at Byhalia	Jan. 1, 2
Holly Springs circuit, at Waterford	8, 9
Marshall, at Institute Church	15, 16
Kerly Grove, at Hudsonville	22, 23
Olive Branch, at Center Hill	29 30
Snow Creek, at Ayers'	Feb. 5, 6
Pine Mountain, at Soule Chapel	12, 13
Ashland, at Ashland	19, 20
Hickory Flat at Ebenezer	26, 27
Emorr, at Emory	Mar. 5, 6
Cornersville, at Bethlehem	12, 13
Shelby Creek, at Bethel	19, 20

JNO. BARCROFT, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York

PROOF POSITIVE

That Our Prices Are The Lowest.

A critical examination will show such to be a fact.

A Marvelous Assortment of Fancy Knick-Knacks For the Holiday Season.

Pretty and Cheap Collection of Plush Frames, Albums, Towel Racks Fancy Boxes Shaving Sets Whisk-Brooms Reticules, Perfumery, Etc.

We have 100 different styles of Dolls from 10 cts. up.

Elegant Selection of Rolled Gold Plate Jewelry.

An inspection is asked to enumerate the Variety of Fancy Goods we are now displaying;

But will say:

WE'VE MARKED THEM CHEAP.

For Rapid Disposal. Stockings a Specialty. 600 Patterns; No Two Pairs Alike.

We are on the entire sculptured Pearl and Jet Jewelry at a Big Discount, and offer them to Less Than Import Cost.

Such Values as These Are A Rarity.

SACRIFICE IN DRESS GOODS.

Entire Stock of Silks Velvets and Wool.

Piece goods will be closed out at a BIG REDUCTION IN PRICES.

SPECIAL.

Extra Heavy Black Silk 22c. Indeed Great Bargains Throughout. Pearl Handled Scissors, 4 Inch Heavy Steel, 25c. Reduced to 10c.

A Full Size Dress Protector for 10c.

All 50c. Dress Goods Reduced to 25c.

500 Pieces Silk Gold Prints—12½c to 19c—Be a Bargain.

CLOAKS! DOLMANS! NEWMARKETS!!!

REMARKABLE REDUCTIONS MADE.

Newmarkets, $5

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 4. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1591.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

O. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Subscription, - - - $2 per annum.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers half price.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

"IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?"

"Is life worth living?" So the question goes
Sounding along the weary ages. Life—
A hopeless tragedy of cares and woes,
Of useless agony and unending strife.

"Is life worth living?" 'Tis a lie, a cheat,
A farce, whose tears and mirth alike are feigned,
A race-course, where the race is to the fleet,
And filler than death the victory gained.

"Is life worth living?" Empty, sordid, mean,
Though we have cleared all fallacies away,
And faith, religion, virtue, no more screen,
With painted veil, truth from the light of day!

"Is life worth living?" Lo! the very air
Is dark with tears, the ground beneath is red
With brother's blood, in hatred or despair,
By his own hand, or by his neighbor's shed.

Life is worth living? Far beyond the creed
Of coward hearts who cant at life, I know,
It is a precious gift of God, indeed!
Worth living? Yes, Himself hath found it so.

See! thou shalt know it—thou will forsake
Thy selfish ease, and to the depths go down,
And lovingly thy brother's burden take,
Unheeding of the gay world's sneer or frown.

Pause not to muse upon the wreck of truth,
Or smile with cynic smile—join in the fight!
Give freely of thy time and strength and youth,
And what thou need'st, do it with thy might.

Support the weak, lift up the broken heart!
Give help and sympathy, and thou shalt prove
That noble faith can quench each fiery dart
Of doubt—that hate is feebler far than love.

Life is worth living? Therefore, live it well:
Believe in God and man. So life, God-given,
Shall never sound its own sad funeral knell,
But climb to immortality and heaven!

Port Gibson Female College.

BY REV. R. H. MOUNGER.

The quiet and beautiful town of Port Gibson, Miss., is the home of an institution of learning—Port Gibson Female College, one of our best church schools, whose success is so decided, and whose worth is so genuine, that it deserves special recognition and mention. For five years past it has been under the presidency of Rev. T. C. Bradford, who has in this time demonstrated himself to be a wise administrator as well as a most learned and efficient teacher. That he is an accurate and profound scholar both his work in the schoolroom and his utterances in the pulpit show amply. He has associated with him teachers competent and skilled in their various departments.

As the second half term begins on the twenty-sixth instant, some facts in regard to the school deserve to be set forth. The patronage has improved, so that it is in advance of that of the past session. This is specially significant and gratifying, as it is in the face of the great financial depression now existing, which has served to diminish the numbers attending other institutions almost without exception. Another item of interest is that nearly all of President Bradford's graduates are now engaged in teaching at remunerative salaries. In recent examinations before county superintendents of education they received the highest commendation; no one falling below ninety per cent. And, as showing the character of the training given in the school, it may be mentioned here that a graduate of two years ago, on account of distinguished proficiency, was among the few in the State who received a short time since a certificate from the State superintendent. Again, board and tuition are to be had at the remarkably low rate of eighty dollars per session of five months, if paid in advance. Think of what is comprehended in this, and wonder at the small cost, good board, careful attention, a pleasant home, and faithful instruction.

No place is more justly noted for health than Port Gibson. It is believed that no fatal case of sickness has ever originated in the college. The patronage is from various counties in Mississippi and several parishes in Louisiana; and those from malarious regions come to find health as well as the advantages of a school. Port Gibson, furthermore, is unsurpassed in the refinement and culture and moral worth of its people. It is not the smallest consideration, but rather the highest, that religious training is carefully attended to in this college. There is now and there always will be a need for our church schools. Those maintained by the State may be for a time under good religious influences; but this can be only for a time. Opposite sentiments and forces will come to control them, as has happened in State institutions, North and South. But in our own church schools we can see to it that there shall be positive Christian culture, as well as the best mental training. Character is the ultimate aim of education, and if that be neglected, the real work is left untouched. It has been said, with genuine apprehension of this matter, "It will not do for one to be all brain and no heart, for then the intellect will shine above the bosom like an electric light over a grave-yard." The highest aim of education is to promote morality and refinement.

Would you know what observing persons think of the college? A most judicious woman, with four daughters to educate, said to me, "I want Mr. Bradford to remain in charge of the college until my daughters are all educated."

The following clear-cut and high testimony ought to draw many pupils hither:

After years of observation and inquiry as to the management and merits of numerous institutions of learning, it gives me pleasure to say that I have not known a school where time was more economically and industriously employed, or teaching more faithfully and thoroughly done, than in Port Gibson Female College. Parents seeking education for their daughters may entrust them most safely to the care and instruction of Pres. T. C. Bradford and his excellent female assistants.

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.

I have written these things that the public may hear concerning one of the best schools in all the land, and that the school may have the honor it so greatly merits.

PORT GIBSON, Mississippi.

Wasted Opportunities.

There are two men of opposite characters found in every community. The one adds much to society, the church and every good enterprise. The other detracts from society, the church of God, and the good of the community. These two men in their influence, aim and work are the very opposite. The one is a builder up of society, and looks to the best interests of his fellow-men. The other is a disturbing element in all pure society. The one is a saint, and the other is a sinner. The one has held sacred the church, all opportunities, blessings and talents, and the other has wasted the church and all his opportunities, and is, therefore, a sinner. Church membership and social position charge not the character of the man of wasted opportunities, as these are not essential elements entering into real character. It is altogether owing to the motive prompting the action of the man when he connects himself with the church, or labors to hold a respectable position in society, whether there be any virtue in these things or whether they add anything to real character. This man of wasted opportunities is a sinner in the church or out of it. He once enjoyed an opportunity which was in proportion to the magnitude of the blessing he would have enjoyed had he improved it; but, alas! he "wasted it." A wise man will make more opportunities than he finds," and these opportunities will be improved. Opportunities often spring out of occasions which present only the appearance of opportunities; but not so with the man who has always neglected his opportunities. His mind now, it may be, runs back over the past with the rapidity of a ray of light, calling up ten thousand wasted opportunities and occasions of intellectual and soul development, which stand like Alpine heights before him, and he is ashamed and confounded that he ever had such opportunities and wasted them. Memories of opportunities past come trooping up before him as forgotten dreams recalled, and at first they but glimmer before memory's look, but a moment more and reflection presents them as once solid realities, never to be grasped again, but to dazzle before the mind's consciousness to tantalize and torment as wasted opportunities. Memory recalls when his opportunity climaxed in an offer of salvation; when for the first time, and it may be the last time, he was at the altar of prayer. The time, the circumstances, the impression, long since gone and regretted, all dazzle before the mental gaze. The occasion, the sermon, its force and beauty, the earnest expression of the preacher, his manner, the congregation, the singing, the house of worship, its furniture, the dim or brilliant lights, the anxious look of a mother, the earnest word from a heart heaving with intense interest, the sigh and pleadings of a companion, the fervent prayer, and the half determination to become a Christian, render the present extremely misty and dreary. He had an opportunity as great as a soul; but where is it? He "wasted it." Ten thousand opportunities have been presented since, but in vain; and "too late, too late," is beginning to settle down upon the memory to torment and annoy. The man had an opportunity and might have been a Christian; but he "wasted it." If a Christian, he might have been a much better man than he is but for wasted opportunities.

HESLEP.

Uncle Cy.

Our readers will enjoy the raciness of the following article, taken from the Southern Christian Advocate, and emanating from the pen of our senior Bishop and the first editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

The old servants! The sight of them saddened me and made a real, felt link with the past. I crave a place for a record of one phase of our civilization now almost out of sight.

My old freedman, Cyrus, died at his home in Butler county, Ala., November 2. His wife, "Aunt Bess," as we called her, died two days after, and they were buried side by side at Mulberry Baptist Church, of which they had long been principal members. As nearly as I can make it out from the family records, he was over ninety and she was eighty years old. This venerable couple of ex-slaves were "dear unto me," (Luke vii) and, as representing a class of persons and of feelings rapidly passing away, a brief sketch may not be without interest to others.

"Uncle Remus," so charmingly sketched by Chandler Harris, of Georgia, had his counterpart in many a Southern household. My Uncle Remus is dead. He was the home-born slave of my grandfather, in Barnwell, and in his early manhood rafted lumber down Edisto river to Charleston. A pure African by blood, he had the strongly marked prognathous features of his race; was six feet high, with flesh and muscle in proportion. On the marriage of my father in 1820, Cy was given to him and helped him to build the log house to which he took his bride and to clear his first field. Uncle Cy, as the children always called him, taught me to ride a horse, and, later on, to shoot a gun. He shook hickory nuts out of the tall trees and rived trap sticks for me to catch birds; made cute bows and arrows, and in the spring time could peel off bark from saplings and make me the gayest whistles, or plat the most glorious popping whips in the world. He was the best waggoner of his times; could get more out of a team with less worry and take a heavy load over the worst roads with less accident than anybody else. At log-rollings and house-raisings he was head man, and likewise at cradling oats and wheat. He was fabulous in my eyes, for strength and skill. For plowing, hoeing and cotton picking he was no great things—rather disdained them as fit only for women and common niggers. He was a great axeman and could hew to the line. In 1830-31 he worked on a section of the Hamburg and Charleston railroad that ran near our home—that primitive time before crossties and the rails came in, when slits were stretched along the road bed and flat bars of iron nailed down on them.

He chewed tobacco; and choicest favors and propitiations were procured by a quid (literally quid pro quo). I suppose he was the father of thirty or forty children, begotten in his own image, and that all his posterity—children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren—would at this time amount to several hundred.

Uncle Cy became a fair plantation carpenter and blacksmith; could make a plow and stock it, hang doors and gates, and make a wagon that would run. On my father's death Cy became the property of my mother; for, he thoughtfully said in his will, she could not keep up the plantation without him. At the division of her estate he and his wife fell to me. By degrees he graded me up as years went by: it was first Holland; then, Mas Holland; then Master, which title he used to the last, as though he liked it. Here I may record a criticism on that romance of marvelous genius, "Uncle Tom's Cabin!" Such a negro as "Uncle Tom" was never sold out of any family. Money could never buy that soul.

It was a great treat to be permitted to "go to town" with Uncle Cy on the cotton wagon. There was one to whom he bore a tender loyalty, and for whom he had three names—Missus, Your Mudder and Miss Betsy. To her he felt amenable for the lad's safety, and he well knew how to afford him the utmost fun within safety limits. When the bright camp fire was kindled, and the team hitched and fed for the night, Uncle Cy would bring out that frying-pan—his only culinary apparatus—and work up a savory meal. For butchering a beef or mutton there was none like him, and at hog-killing time he enriched me with pig tail's and bladders, in chestnut and witches he was a firm believer, and could beat Vennor prognosticating the weather. I would put him against Carlisle or Barnard for telling the hour of the night by the Seven Stars, Job's Coffin the Three Runners, and other heavenly bodies were shining.

For overseers he had a deep dislike. While obeying his own master, in the letter and spirit of the Epistle to the Ephesians, he was insubordinate to delegated authority; and here came in his most serious troubles. A sad case I remember to have occurred in Alabama about 1840. In a difficulty with the overseer, Uncle Cy rebelled and ran away, taking with him two other negroes. They were gone over a year, and no tidings of them could be got. At last they turned up in South Carolina. It seems they had made their way back to the old Barnwell neighborhood (a distance of over 300 miles), crossing the Chattahoochee, Flint, Ocmulgee, Ockmulgee and Savannah rivers, and, becoming weary of hiding out, they voluntarily surrendered themselves. I was a boy at school at Collinsworth, Ga., when they passed along the road in the ragged and chopfallen plight of runaways being returned home.

Thirty years later Uncle Cy met me at the depot to take me out to my farm, "Butler Choice." Of that runaway episode in his life he had ever been reticent; but as we rode along through the lonely forest, I drew him out on it. "Now tell me; no danger; freedom's come; tell me all about it—how you dodged the patrols and crossed those rivers, and made the trip." And I slipped a plug of tobacco into his hand. Never was a twenty-mile journey better beguiled. He told me all—how they got up a stock of provisions to start on, and how they replenished it by the way; the narrow escapes, the shrewd disguises for passing through or around the towns and villages; lying low by day and traveling by night. Surely Dickens never contrived a story with richer or more various incident. Much comedy, but ever and anon touching on tragedy. Xenophon's famous retreat with the ten thousand Greeks did not excel this in strategy.

Out of what was left when emancipation came I gave him forty acres of land and (not a mule but) a yoke of steers, a cow and calf, and his tools. He soon fixed up a snug home; and what with working at his craft, and a little farming, and such annual stipend as I could send him in money, these last dozen years, he made out to finish his pilgrimage tolerably well. His connubial morals improved, and I believe in his salvation. His last letters to me (dictated) were full of gratitude and hope.

Uncle Cy owed much to his wife—an honest, truthful and virtuous woman. She was the best nurse I ever saw, and ministered with unspeakable fidelity and tenderness to my parents, and brother and sisters on their death-beds. "Aunt Bess" was the first woman I ever heard pray in public. She was a leaven and a light. Some influence and a few honest pennies she gained by practicing that delicate profession which the Egyptians, in Moses' time, turned over to their women. Only once did she fail me. When the Federal armies were getting into Alabama we proposed to put our silver spoons and such things in her keeping. "Now, Master, of course I'll do it if you say so, but I can't be 'sponsible. Dem Yankees is a coming, and I hearn tell how dey carries wid 'em somethin' like a pinter worm," and when it's sot down dey tells it to pint wha any money or silver things is hid, and it pints jest as straight as a gun."

Uncle Cy's family pride was a trait characteristic of the old regime. I have seen him take his wife down by reminding her that he had been in the family longer than she. Once I had arranged with a neighbor, Squire Fowler, to get a swarm of bees. Uncle Cy was hollowing out a gum, and with some hesitation said: "Master, don't you know that some folks can't get into bees? Our family is too industrious for bees. Old master tried to get into bees, and I 'member well how old master before him tried, and dey never could. It's only lazy, poor white folks has any luck raising honey." And he made numerous citations in support of his position. But his flattery was not to balk my experiment. I got into bees. At first, they went in and came out of the little hole at the bottom of the gum briskly. In a few weeks, few and fewer; then, only a straggler or two. We knocked off the top and found a triangular shaped piece of comb, but no honey. So ended my first and last attempt at "getting into bees."

Facewell faithful, loving, dear old Uncle Cy. I'm sure he loved me and prayed for me. Indeed, they tell me that he has been in the habit of praying for me, by name, in public meetings for years. My family have joined me every year in making up a box for Uncle Cy and Aunt Bess, filled with half-worn clothes and various things, now old, such as they liked or needed. Christmas is coming, but no box goes that way any more. Indeed, our children and the generations following can never know the sentiment that sprung up between the two races under the system of domestic slavery. It had its evil and it had its good. Both are gone forever.

H. N. M'TYEIRE.

A District Conference in Mexico.

Bishop Hargrove, in the Nashville Christian Advocate, of January 22, gives the following interesting account of a District Conference which he held in Central Mexico:

Matamoros is a tropical city, with its barrios (suburban wards) beautified by groves of bananas, oranges, coffee, lemons, mangoes, etc., in the wildest profusion. In these barrios, skirting the city, we have several small congregations, visited by a native pastor, and accustomed to worship in private houses.

The District Conference was an epoch, and for the first time the little congregations were brought together into a hired house in the heart of the city. Our coming had been announced, and the audacity of the act, so far exceeding any venture of the past, stirred Romanism thereabouts from center to circumference. As our people express it, they are very fanatical in this region. All violent opposition is fanaticism. By the way, the word for fanatics among the common people is macho which means primarily a mule with one ear cut off. I naturally inquired why they call a fanatic a one-eared mule. Finally a local Mexican preacher suggested that it must be in allusion to that hard-headed fellow whose ear Peter cut off while engaged in this business.

This gathering of so many Protestants, and that in the very midst of their sanctuaries, filled the air with threats. Not a single preacher was to survive the first day. Special significance was given to their demonstrations by the fact that only a few miles out, several years ago, twenty-one Protestants were massacred in their house of worship. But, as often happens, the devil overdid the business in this case. The storm stirred had reached the ear of the Jefe-politico (the chief ruler in the civil district), and put him on his guard.

At the close of our first morning session a gentleman entered and was introduced to me, who proved to be the colonel commanding the local soldiery, and who came, he said, to assure me that ample steps had been taken for our protection. The very silence and order on the street where we met, was suggestive of unusual precaution. Every night a guard of three soldiers occupied the room in which Bro. Carter and I slept, and others were without. Though we had no chains on our limbs, and were not exactly in prison, the circumstances reminded us of Peter, when he slept between two soldiers. The Conference passed quietly, and before daylight on Monday morning we took the diligence under escort of soldiers to the limit of the civil district.

After the close of the Conference, Saturday evening, I paid my respects to the Jefe-politico who had shown us so great kindness, by a formal call. He received me courteously, and we conversed pleasantly about republican institutions, and the neighborhood and necessary relations of our sister republics. In the course of the interview I thanked him for his precautions, and directed attention to our article of religion which enjoins loyalty to the local government wherever we operate. He told me that, before our coming, he had sent for the priests, and charged them strictly not to allow their people in the slightest particular to interfere with us, since they and we have the same right under Mexican law to worship God as our consciences dictate. He took occasion to inform me that his participation in the matter was wholly in his character as a civil officer.

At the opening session of the Conference I counted forty-five persons in the room, all Mexicans except the presiding elder and myself, and mainly members of the body. After that session, Friday morning, the house was crowded with quiet, eager listeners to the close, some of whom had walked twenty-five miles to be present.

From the beginning there was an unusual sense of the Divine presence, and the interest and solemnity of the meeting grew till the close.

The usual order of proceedings was observed, though greatly modified in detail by the different conditions under which the work is conducted.

Preaching was had at eleven o'clock A. M. and seven P. M. each day. By every token the gospel was a welcome message. Unmistakable interest from time to time was depicted on the faces of those who heard. More than once I saw a shudder pass over a man's frame, and the tears steal down his bronzed face. It came over me almost with primitive force that the gospel is "good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people," as I tried to open the treasures of the Bible to those to whom it had so long been not only a sealed, but a forbidden book. O, how my heart yearned to bring the message still nearer to them by clothing it in their own mother-tongue. The spiritual forces seemed to burn and burden me as I would pause for the interpreter. Several united with the church, and a number of children were baptized. Here for the first time I attempted to use the Spanish language in the baptismal formula.

The services which most impressed me were the love-feast on Sunday afternoon and the Lord's Supper which closed the service on Sunday night. How I listened and tried to understand the experiences, as one after another they rose to testify in genuine Methodist style. Many things I lost, but some I caught. I noted that several dated their conversion from Romanism in Puebla, the center of the State, where we have no permanent abiding place, and where I trust the church will soon provide us a house. We have had fruit already, with imperfect equipment, and may reasonably hope for more with a better outfit.

Two, at least, attribute their conversion to the songs by which from the streets they were attracted to the place of worship. One said expressly that the hymn itself convinced him of sin and led him to Christ; the other that the song brought him to hear the gospel which proved the power of God unto salvation. I meditated on the fact that Romanism has almost no song, and that the Mexicans are pre-eminently a musical people. The Board of Missions and some thoughtful friends of our cause here have acted wisely in the provision of a few small organs for the use of some of our congregations. All the native preachers seem to be able to play the organ. Churches or individuals that have supplied themselves with larger instruments, may get a large interest on the small ones they have abandoned by sending them to this field.

I wondered in my meditation who will render into Spanish our new hymn book when completed, and lifted a prayer to God to provide the needed man. It would have thrilled you to hear the Mexicans sing at the District Conference. The gospel of song has in Mexico a field of extraordinary promise.

The Lord's Supper was a solemn service. Nearly two hundred people partook of the sacred emblems. This service ended the District Conference. No, I beg pardon; the last thing we did was to say good-by, and that took a full hour. These people are hand-shaking Methodists. If they meet three times a day at church this must be repeated every time. Every man, woman, and child had to bid farewell to the preachers, and the large majority gave us an affectionate embrace, and patted us on the back in true Mexican style. And the good, old fat Mexican woman who fed us while we staid, actually wept as she embraced us in parting. This last scene was novel to me, but intensely interesting. I was reminded of Paul as he parted with the elders of the church at Ephesus, when, in view of the past and of coming trials to him and them, they kneeled and prayed, and then held each other in loving embrace.

Mississippi Conference Minutes.

The Mississippi Conference minutes were mailed to all the subscribers on January 20, except in a few instances where postoffices are not known. Any subscriber who has not received his minutes, as well as other persons who may want to procure copies, please communicate with me. There are a number of copies left over.

C. G. ANDREWS.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 24, 1887.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1887.

THE LACE MAKER.

BY MYRA GOODWIN EVANS.

The sunshine on the convent floor
First fell upon the patient face
Of Sister Mercy bending o'er
Her cushion with its matchless lace.
Long had she toiled, from matin bell
Till vesper songs rang through the night,
Unmindful of her lonely cell,
Unheeding pain and failing sight.

A pattern, delicate and rare,
Too difficult for hands unskilled,
She wove into the texture fair,
And thus her daily task fulfilled.
One joy she had beside her prayer:
This fleecy, gossamer-like thing
They said the noble bride would wear
Within the palace of the king.

"I can but leave a little trail;
Who work with me I can not see;
I may not know with all my art
How beautiful the whole will be;
But it is for the king," she said,
"And love for him makes toiling sweet."
One day they found the toiler dead,
Her work of beauty all complete.

We, too, are given day by day,
A pattern for our King to trace.
Some in dark colors, meek and gray,
Weave pain with all its pallest grace;
While others work with richest hue,
And flowers beneath their fingers spring.
What matter, so our work be true,
And "Well done" greets us from our King?

Mississippi Conference.

REPORT OF SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOARD.

Every agency of the church is owned and blessed by the Founder, and every sown field yields a fruitage. In no department of church work is the result more patent than in the Sunday-school. The ground not having been planted in vain, the grains of wheat are quicker to ripen in the sunlight of God's truth. We call your attention to the great need of the Sunday schools.

1. Pious and consecrated superintendents and teachers are the great need of the day. It is true, we need teachers who are highly educated; but it is very essential to the permanent prosperity of the schools that the superintendents and teachers have the mind of Christ. Teachers who enjoy the blessed consciousness of redeeming love can easily impart to their classes the exalted truth that the words of Christ are the words of life. Not simply to teach the code of Christian ethics is the duty of the Sabbath-school teacher; but by precept and experience to unfold the spiritual life. Icebergs give out no warmth; cold, dead teachers never impart life to their classes. If our children are to be ingrafted into the doctrines of Methodism we must insist that our Sunday-schools should be managed by spiritual men and women. It is a burning shame that in some places men and women are prominent in Sunday-school work who are decidedly worldly people.

2. The co-operation of parents is greatly needed. The Sunday-school was not designed to supplant parental instruction, but to crystallize it. It is to be feared the idea of having a Sabbath-school in a community causes some parents to throw off their duty to their children. No Sabbath-school can flourish without the atmosphere of parental responsibility and solicitude.

3. Permanent schools are necessary—not schools for spring and summer, but schools all the year. We rejoice in the fact that our Publishing House sends out such inviting literature, and recommend all Sunday-schools to procure our literature. We hope to see the day when our Sunday-schools will have graded classes and a prescribed course similar to the Oxford League. The great question of the day is, How can the young men be kept in the schools after fifteen or sixteen years. It is a lamentable fact that few young men and young women over sixteen attend our Sabbath-schools. We respectfully suggest that each pastor make a special effort to interest young men in our Sunday-schools. We call your attention to the following passed by the late General Conference:

That the funds collected during the centennial year for Sunday-school purposes, and reported to the General Conference by the Centennial Committee, be placed in the hands of the General Conference Sunday-school Committee, to be known and designated as the Centennial Sunday-school Aid Fund, to be safely invested, and the interest on the same to be disposed of annually by said General Conference Sunday-school Committee in aiding destitute Sunday-schools of the church under such plans and restrictions as may be provided by said committee.

Again the General Conference ordered:

That the third Sunday in May be set apart as "Children's Day," to be observed throughout our church with appropriate services, and on that day a collection be taken up for the aid of needy Sunday-schools, ten per cent. of the money collected to be forwarded to the General Conference Sunday-school Committee, Nashville, Tenn., and be distributed by said Committee in the same manner and under the same regulations as the interest accruing from the Centennial Sunday-school Aid Fund.

Respectfully submitted,
INMAN W. COOPER,
Chairman.

REPORT ON CHURCH PUBLICATIONS.

The Committee on Publishing Interests call the attention of the Conference and the church to the following facts presented by the report of the Book Committee and suggested by the business manager of the Publishing House, Bro. L. D. Palmer, whom we were glad to welcome to our session:

1. "The old debt," at one time amounting to $356,039, has been reduced to less than $50,000.

2. The Publishing House is now comparatively out of debt, as the assets are largely in excess of the liabilities, and the increasing business must soon produce the means for extinguishing the last vestige of indebtedness of every sort.

3. The books published are worthy of hearty commendation.

4. The growing subscription list of the Advocate and the wonderful increase in the circulation of the Sunday-school periodicals are tributes to the worth of the publications and the ability of the editors.

5. But neither the books bought nor the periodicals and Advocates subscribed for number anywhere near what ought to be among one million Methodists, or among the thirty thousand members in our own Conference. Our people do not relish pure religious literature as they ought. Possibly our preachers do not preach often enough on the subject of Christian education or the evils resulting from reading vicious books and papers.

As to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE:

1. We regret that a more favorable showing could not be made by the subscription list. The present number of subscribers ought to be doubled during the ensuing year.

2. We indorse the plan of charging traveling and local preachers for the paper, and are grateful for the promise to supply the paper without charge to the widows of preachers and to the superannuated members of our Conference.

3. We cordially indorse the action of the Publication Committee in electing the Rev. Dr. C. W. Carter editor of our Conference organ, and give him a fraternal greeting.

4. Acting in accord with the motion of reference, we nominate the Rev. T. L. Mellen to fill the place on the Committee of Publication made vacant by the resignation of Bishop Galloway.

In conclusion, we would again note the fact that in too many of our Sunday-schools and churches hymn books are used which not only do not inculcate our doctrines, but often sentiments and dogmas contrary to sound doctrine. Our Publishing House at Nashville is not free from blame in this matter, as "Grace and Glory," one of the Sunday-school publications, contains versions of a number of our standard hymns widely different from those in our hymn book.

We renew our pledge of loyalty to both of the Advocates, and to the Quarterly Review, which, under the editorship of Dr. Hinton, took high rank, and, under Dr. Harrison, is advancing to a higher grade.

REPORT ON SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Your Committee on the Observance of the Sabbath beg leave to make the following report:

The commandment to "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," is as imperative as any other in the Decalogue; but the tendency on the part of people now is to disregard it entirely, or to treat the Sabbath as a holiday. Ministers and laymen do not scruple to do many things on the Sabbath that they ought not to do, such as riding on cars and boats, making social visits, having prepared or preparing victuals, etc. We are considerably agitated upon the subject of temperance, which is all right; but why not equally, if not more so, upon the subject of the observance of the Sabbath? The captivity of the Jews and other evils that befell them were attributed to their profaning the Sabbath. The commandment to remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy, being a moral one, we are, therefore, required to be as strict in its observance as such, as the Jews were. This being the case, we need not, therefore, expect anything better than excessive rains, drouths, earthquakes, cyclones and hard times generally if we do not keep the Sabbath holy.

It may do very well to memorialize the Legislature for a law prohibiting the running of cars on the Sabbath; but we think that it would be much better for the ministers and members of the church generally to quit riding on them on that day. We append the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the ministers and laity of this Conference are hereby requested to be as zealous upon the subject of the observance of the Sabbath as they have been upon that of temperance.

Resolved, That our ministers and laity be urged not to make use of public conveyances on the Sabbath.

ISAAC L. PEEBLES,
Secretary.

REPORT ON BIBLE CAUSE.

God, who created all things by Jesus Christ, made man in his own image, and in process of time gave him his written law, which is called, by way of pre-eminence, the Bible. We, who believe that the Methodist Church was raised up to spread scriptural holiness over those lands, must not forget the injunction of St. Paul to take with us the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. Scriptural holiness is based on a knowledge of God's word. Therefore it becomes our duty to see that the Bible is in every home as far as practicable.

The various churches in this land are invited to co-operate with the great American Bible Society in the circulation of the Scriptures. This institution, located in the city of New York, sends forth from its press seventeen thousand copies of Bibles, Testaments and portions of Scripture per day. Thousands of Bibles and Testaments have been sold in the bounds of our Conference this year. But if you ask, have we, as a Conference, discharged our duty in this benevolent cause? the answer is, We have not come up to the measure of duty as a church of Christ. We, with other religious denominations in this country, have allowed the Southwestern Bible Society literally to die for the want of patronage and support.

We are convinced that the Bible Houses are centers of great moral power. We believe that the patronage given to the version of the Scriptures, known as the King James' Translation, has been the means, under God, of the wonderful advancement of Protestantism in the world, and that the British and American Bible Societies have been prominent and important factors in producing the civilization of the nineteenth century. Therefore, if we expect to realize the fond hopes of our fathers, we must take up and carry forward the work they began.

Your committee would, therefore, offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we recommend that each preacher in charge endeavor to raise, as a minimum amount, one cent per capita, from the membership of the respective charges to aid the American Bible Society.

Resolved, That in the death of Rev. R. S. Holcombe the American Bible Society has lost an efficient district superintendent, and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, a polished and valued minister of the gospel.

Respectfully submitted,
N. E. YOUNG, Sec'y.

Louisiana Conference.

SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT.

Your Sunday-school Board are profoundly thankful that they are able to report a decided advance in all lines of Sunday-school work. On comparing the statistics reported to this session of the Conference with those of last year we note the following increase: In the number of schools, 30; officers and teachers, 181; scholars, 2,063; volumes in library, 2,410; periodicals taken, 1,601; amount collected for Sunday-school purposes, $638 92; scholars received into the church, 48. We think this increase is indeed encouraging. One other item gathered from the statistics is, that very few of our charges have failed to report at least one Sunday-school, and some of those failing to report have not had pastors during the past year. In regard to our Sunday-school periodicals, we have so often spoken in words of commendation that former expression need not be repeated. We wish, however, to call the attention of the church to the fact that Rev. J. A. Lyons is devoting himself to the work of getting up a catalogue of books suitable for Sunday-school libraries. We can not too strongly emphasize the importance of securing for our children and youth reading matter that is in every way sound and healthful; and while the consideration of this subject falls more directly in the field of the Committee on Church Publications, yet we would urge upon our Sunday-school workers the necessity of well-selected libraries, and the cultivation of a habit of reading among the scholars. In the month of March last a State Sunday-school Convention was held in the city of New Orleans for the purpose of organization, and a more thorough canvass of the State in the interests of Sunday-school work. The design is to follow up the work already begun by an annual convention, such as is held in most other States, and we recommend that our people have themselves represented as well as may be practicable in these conventions.

We do not deem it necessary to offer a series of resolutions on a subject which is reviewed at every session of our Quarterly Conference. We have only to use all the means which God has placed in our hands to bring the greater portion of the youth of our country under religious instruction and Divine influence. The relative number of accessions from our Sunday-schools to the church, as compared with that from the world, would clearly show that the Sunday-school is our plant-bed, and that on the attention bestowed upon it by our pastors depends the future growth and fruitfulness of the garden of the Lord.

J. M. BROWN, Chairman.

Senrab the King.

And it came to pass in the course of human events that Senrab the King had a burning desire to go around the world. Now, Senrab the King had two daughters and one son who were singers, and Senrab the King verily thought no other three could sing as well as his three. And it came to pass that Senrab the King had revelations from God that election and reprobation were lies from the devil. So he and his wife, and his son and daughters departed for the Great East to preach this new and strange revelation to all Aidni.

And it came to pass while Senrab the King and all his were in Aidni that God appeared unto him in a dream, saying, "Senrab, Senrab;" and Senrab the King answered, "Lord, here am I." Then the Lord said: "Senrab, go to; tell all this people whom you see in darkness that, behold, the light is there covered up in corruption and filth, and that it leadeth into the Church of England. It showeth man his long home. It bringeth order out of confusion;" and much more did the Lord say unto Senrab the King, until he arose from his bed, shook off the slumber from his eyes and sleep from his eyelids, and said: "Now, since the Lord hath been pleased to reveal himself to me, I will tarry not, but will go to the Church of England, and I will return to my own land and to my own kindred, and tell my people I have found the land that flows with milk and honey."

And it came to pass that early next morning Senrab the King rose up, saddled his ass, and packed up his goods and chattels, and moveth towards the west, and pitched his tent in Ippisalssim. Then Senrab the King began to speak as one having authority, and not as the scribes: "Behold, I bring you glad tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. Ye are in great darkness. Ye have never received the light. The damnable lie of predestination has darkened your understandings. Behold, God made everything perfect at the first. Then the devil came along and made it tohu abohu. Then God set himself to work to repair the damage which Satan had wrought. And God commanded light, which Satan had covered up with his own devilish darkness, to shine out of the darkness. And little by little God restored what Satan had undone, and the work was so great it caused God to become weary, and he rested on the seventh day. He stopped and took a long breath." Then Senrab the King continued his story thus: "God is mighty good; the devil is very bad. God is the author of all good; the devil, of all evil. The devil kills all the babies, brings on all our sicknesses and diseases, does all the mischief that is done in the world. God neither does it nor permits it. This is the devil's world. 'It lieth in the wicked one.' The devil sends the floods, the storms, the earthquakes, the epidemics and everything that afflicts mankind. There is something good in man. It is God's image all covered up in sin and corruption; but it is God's image still. The devil is having his way now. God is not having his way now. When God does have his way there will be a dead death; he will kill the devil and annihilate hell. Some people pray (ignorantly, of course) for the baptism of the Holy Ghost and of fire. They don't know what they are praying for. I want the baptism of the Holy Ghost, but not of fire. Those who don't receive the former will receive the latter. It is a mighty hot road; but the sinner must get rid of his sins. The sloughing off process is a terrible one; but it is coming to the impenitent sinner. All will get to heaven. You ask why. Because, when God made man, he was pure. But he sold out to the devil, lock, stock and barrel. God said to the devil: 'I will buy man back. What will you take for him?' The devil said, 'I will take your love.' Then God bought man back by paying the devil's price for him. The sinners in hell, when they pay the penalty due their sins, will get out and go to heaven."

So Senrab the King stirred up a great sensation. The lawyers, doctors, preachers, publicans and sinners flocked to hear him. Some quit going because they thought he was "cranky." Others, especially the sinners, rejoiced with a great shout: "He hath hit the nail on the head!" Senrab the King then departed for other parts, having anointed the sick with oil, and filled his pocket with the "sinews of war." Lord, send Senrab the King another vision.

SIWEL.

Plaquemine, La.

MR. EDITOR: Sunday, November 21, 1886, was a grand day for the good people of Plaquemine, La. Our Methodist Episcopal Church, South, fair without and beautiful within, was presented by Hon. E. J. Gay, president of the Board of Trustees, and was solemnly dedicated to the service of Almighty God by Rev. Dr. Walker, of New Orleans. He gave us a good sermon, and we had a liberal collection. Rev. Mr. Hoffman (a German minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church) was with us and participated in the services. We had the largest Protestant congregation present that has been seen here for many years. The brick church (on the corner) in which we once worshiped was burnt many years ago. Since that time our people have been worshiping in the Presbyterian Church.

The coming of the present and now retiring pastor was a timely thing for Methodism in this country. The deed to the parsonage lot had never been recorded. The lot on which the church stands at Donaldsonville was about to go into litigation. A little while more, and most probably the mark of early Methodism would have been put out in this part of the beautiful valley of the Mississippi river. We now have all the church property in this circuit properly deeded, and deeds recorded. Four years ago we had services once a month; now we have six services a month, a Sunday-school and prayer meeting. Our congregations are good and our services very interesting. Our pastor holds us strictly to our own hymn book.

I would say something about our faithful pastor; but acts speak louder than words. His untiring energy and financial ability would remind one of Ezra in his great struggle to rebuild the temple and broken walls of Jerusalem. Amid seeming impossibilities, he has pressed forward, and we have built this beautiful church. It is an ornament to the town, a joy to the good people, and a blessing to coming generations; and you can hardly imagine how proud we are of it, and we thank God and take courage. We will part with our true pastor and friend with much regret. We can congratulate the flock that is so favored as to have him as their pastor. He leads by still waters and in green pastures; his preaching will be no uncertain sound; he gives you the bones oil, the bread without the chaff. Good-bye, Bro. H.; we will long cherish the many great truths that we have heard from you—the good and wise counsel you have given us. We part—you go to another field of labor; we wait and pray for our coming pastor whom we will receive with open arms and will do the best we can for him.

A MEMBER.

A Storm at Sardis.

Returning to this charge for "the third time," many cordial greetings and words of cheer assured the pastor of a favorable reception. Substantial evidence of good-will were given also in things pertaining to the cuisine. Favoring gales had been setting in towards the parsonage before and during the Christmas-tide. But the storm broke upon us fairly on the evening of January 6. The mistress of the parsonage had some foretokens of "coming events," and began to dust around and put things to rights. One good thing she said would happen of it: The whole establishment, from the pantry to the front gate, would get a much-needed and thorough overhauling. But something else happened as the short afternoon failed into the long, crisp winter night. The door bell began to ring, and ring, and ring, and then the door stood open, while many kind friends sent in their offerings, or came in person with them. Shelf groceries and heavier groceries, hams, sausages, table service, dry goods, etc., piled and lumbered up the hall in a way to delight the occupants of the preacher's home, and to suggest the idea of a retail establishment for miscellaneous merchandise. Young people, children, and older persons kept dropping in until a goodly assemblage was gathered at the parsonage, where, amid brightly burning lamps, and glowing grates driving out the "steel-clad air," kindly, beaming faces and friendly greetings, the evening passed pleasantly.

'Storm" seems a misnomer for such an event. It was rather a delightful "New Year's warming." "The angels watch over him who does a good deed." May God's blessing rest upon the Christian ladies and other friends of Sardis who take pleasure in looking after the comfort of their pastor and his family; and may their thankful regard meet a large return in a more faithful and consecrated service on the part of the pastor. T. C. WIER.

Sardis, Mississippi.

Crawford, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: The brethren on the west side of the Conference are telling about their good people and big "poundings." Let me join with them. Crawford people can't be beat. They know how to pray for and sympathize with their pastor. And they know how to take care of him and his family. The first day I preached to them I felt at home. I have been all around—to every church, and have not been to a people where they seemed so willing or manifested so much desire to talk about religion and the salvation of souls. Of course, this personage was thoroughly "pounded." Two days before Christmas the ladies, in full force, invaded the house, took full possession, and left the table full and the pantry full, and the chicken coop full, and the pastor and his family felt joyful and thankful.

As they were depositing the good things on the table, one of them said to my five-year-old boy: "Allen, this is Santa Claus." After they were gone he said, "Mamma, ain't Santa Claus a good woman?" I believe he is right. Hereafter at my house on Christmas Eve, Santa Claus will be "a good woman," rather than the traditional 200-pound, hairy old fellow, with a short pipe in his mouth, who would scare any child in creation into convulsions, if it were to meet him in the road in broad daylight. I think the saints' calendar ought to be revised, and Santa Claus put down as "a good woman."

Fraternally yours,
T. B. MALONE.

From Minden, La.

MR. EDITOR: I start home in a few days to the place where I was born, where my father was buried, and where you buried my mother; where I was received into the church, and where I was licensed to preach. I left my native place, some years ago, a mere boy. I return to it a man, at least in years and stature. May the prophet not be without honor this time in his own country. I hope you will remember me in your prayers, and may the peace and power of God be in my life and in my ministry.

I turn my last charge, Minden, over to my worthy successor, Rev. Christian Keener. He will find a noble people at Minden, a religious people, and such as have well-defined ecclesiastical convictions and will stand by the ship until the end. I preached to them for an hour last Sunday on how to sustain their minister. I trust there will be many such as Aaron and Hur to hold up the hands of a Moses. I met the young ladies in their meeting last Saturday. It was well attended. We had a good time. They promised on their knees before God to continue in the good work. I shall not soon forget their prayers, tears, and expressions of love for your correspondent. I also met on last night the Young Men's Christian Association, which I organized fifteen months since. There were twenty-four in all present (membership over forty). At the conclusion I gave them a parting talk, and especially urged the importance of building a hall. They have about $100 on hand. A committee was appointed to solicit money, and I have no doubt but that in a few months they will be permanently domiciled. Minden has a noble set of young men, and my heart is with them. Many of them have been among my best members and main support. May God bless and save them, one and all, is my most earnest prayer.

Yours truly,
JAS. J. HILLINGSLEY.

Methuselah Again.

MR. EDITOR: Will you grant me space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks suggested by reading Bro. William Hoover's article, some time ago, in regard to the death or drowning of Methuselah at the time of the flood, and the very pertinent question by yourself asking for the "record to sustain his assertion." This question deserves to be repeated, and I, for one, would be much pleased if Bro. Hoover would point out passages of Scripture to sustain his assertion, in his "Missing Link Supplied," that Methuselah was drowned. It is a source of consolation to one when he becomes satisfied that a thing is so, to know how it is so, and the authority. After reading his article, of course, I concluded he got his information from the Bible, and set out to find the language to justify his remark, but I have not as yet been able to do so, and can not agree with him as to how that aged man came to his death. I am satisfied, however, that he never saw one drop of the water which constituted the flood at that time. We read it destroyed the world, and why? Because we find of record in the sacred book that Methuselah was 187 years old when Lamech was born, and Lamech was 182 years old when Noah was born. We conclude the ages above referred to was at their birth from the fact that in Genesis v, 28, we read, "And Lamech lived 182 years and begat a son," and it must have been at the birth of the child to know it was a son. Now, "In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day the fountains of the great deep were broken up." Now, sir, take the age of Methuselah at the birth of Lamech (187 years) and the age of Lamech at the birth of Noah (182 years) and the age of Noah at the time of the flood (600 years), and we have 969 years, the exact age of Methuselah. Therefore this man must have died a short time before the flood, and could not have been drowned. We further conclude that instead of Bro. Hoover having supplied "a missing link," the material he has used to make the link of does not hold good, or has not been well wrought. If he will permit us to make a suggestion, would recommend that the next heat he take to add a little borax to make the thing stick, or the coal may give out ere he accomplish his task.

Very truly, W. B. RAIFORD.

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF.—Rev. Mr. Aitken, the Church of England missionary, or evangelist, who visited this country last spring, has put in print his observations in this country. And he has made an interesting statement; the Protestant Episcopal Church may profit greatly by his counsels and suggestions. He found a singular "indefiniteness in things spiritual" which greatly surprised him. Many of the ministers, he says with whom he came in contact, "not only discountenance the idea of sudden conversion, but also cast doubt upon the certainty of any experience of justification, and do not look upon the knowledge of salvation by the remission of sins as still necessary to the spiritual life." He found matters relating to spiritual experience much as they were in England in Mr. Wesley's early ministry, and he appears to have been a faithful witness for his Master as the following proves: "I shall be breaking no confidence if I say that my strong presentation of the doctrine of personal assurance of present salvation as springing from the moral consciousness of distinct and definite faith in Christ as Savior, was the thing that seemed most to strike those who thus conferred with me, and to awaken strong desire for a clearer apprehension of whatever can be apprehended in this respect more than one testified to new light found here, and new peace and joy experienced in claiming all that belongs to faith."—Central Advocate.

Many accidents very trifling in themselves, have led to the most valuable discoveries and inventions. Some of them, perhaps, are not so familiar to all of us as the fact that the swaying chandelier in a cathedral suggested to Galileo the application of the pendulum.

How few know that for the method of refining sugar with wet clay we are indebted to a hen! Having just returned from a promenade over a neighboring moist clay-bank, she stopped in a aisle of brown sugar lying on the floor, and wherever her tracks were found the sugar was thoroughly whitened.

But if old Biddy's sojourn that day had been among those who having eyes, see not, and having ears, hear not, her valuable lesson would not have been learned. It is the observant only who put to use these "trifles light as air."—Golden Days.

Every relation which we occupy hath its duties; every hour with which our lives are lengthened out hath its divine purpose. These relations were not ordained by God only to please us, and ought not to be indulged in with that idea; chiefly they are means for our growth in grace.—Mountford.

Our Sunday-School.

Bearing in mind that the grand objects of a Sunday-school are the conversion of the young and training them for the service of God our Sunday-school seeks to implant Divine truth in the minds and hearts of its attendants, so as to impress them with the beauties of holiness and the attractions of the gospel, and lead them to embrace Jesus as their Savior. It seeks no startling novelties; nor does it seek to divert attention from solemn gospel truths by meretricious attractions for the eye. Well-officered by those who comprehend and punctually perform their duties, it enjoys the benefit of a corps of faithful, studious and conscientious teachers, who seek earnestly the spiritual benefit of their pupils. The best facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the lesson are provided for all, and with good singing and a pleasing variety in the exercises, the sessions are made attractive and enjoyable, as well as beneficial. To the visitor it is a gratifying sight to behold the orderly and decorous conduct and the earnest attention of the scholars, the faithful and serious efforts of the teachers to impress the truths of the lesson, and the evident sense of responsibility that pervades all the official performances of those who conduct the school.

Appreciating the responsibility reating upon them as co-adjutors of the sacred pulpit and of home instruction, they seek to blend the loving and tender pathos of parental tuition with the solemn earnestness of pastoral teaching and appeal.

The Sunday-school is to be regarded as the parent's helper. It by no means supersedes the necessity of home instruction. It is also to be regarded as a powerful agency in preparing the minds and hearts of the young to imbibe and assimilate, to comprehend and reap benefit from the teachings of the pulpit. It moulds the youthful mind. It impresses upon the soft and tender sensibilities of the young, the all-important truths of religion. It forestalls the seductive and injurious tendencies of the world. It leads away from the destructive course of vice to the pleasant, peaceful and blessed paths of piety and true happiness. Whatever of excellence, of happiness, of benefit and of eternal joy there is in religion may be, and often is, attained through the faithful instruction afforded by the Sunday-school. The rising generation of to-day is indebted to, and dependent upon the Sunday-school in an unspeakable degree. Nay, it might truly be said that the weal of our country is very largely dependent upon this wonderful instrumentality for good. In combination with the mother's tender teaching and the pulpit's powerful appeal, it possesses the power to make Satan tremble on his throne. Compare the six millions of youth who attend the Sunday-schools of our land with those myriads of vicious waifs and street Arabs that are growing up into a rabble of ruffians and rowdies, fit for all sorts of violence, crime and wickedness! The contrast is appalling. Does it not, then, become a solemn and responsible duty of each parent to place their children within the pale of good Sunday-school influences and instruction? Yet, how many parents neglect this duty! How many are indifferent in regard to the attendance of their children upon the religious instruction so well adapted to the young, and so conducive to their highest interests! If there is a parent who reads this that has failed in this duty, may the solemn and eternity reaching consequences of such neglect impress them with its dangers in reference to their offspring. Especially are the parents of our own church urged to view this matter in its true light and second the efforts of our Sunday-school to lead their children to Jesus and train them for his service! First Baptist Church Quarterly.

Action of the Heart.

In restful sleep the heart slows up and its beats number ten less every minute—six hundred less every hour, and in the same time allotted to sleep, eight hours, four thousand eight hundred less than the number given in the same period of wakefulness. This one rest to that wonderful organ, a rest that restores its powers and enables it to discharge its functions in a more healthful and vigorous manner. Those cases of heart disease which have been cured by the use of Compound Oxygen, as administered by Drs. Starkey & Palen, are a very interesting study. They all report insomnia relieved as a beginning, and then go on to tell how the palpitation gradually was relieved, and the action of the heart became regular and comfortable. If the action of the heart be kept up to full working capacity by wakefulness a short time can not be far off when it will wear itself out, and the palpitation and flutter which cause so much trouble may, therefore, with good reason be feared. A treatise on Compound Oxygen, giving the mode of action and results of this remarkable curative agent, will be sent free. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

One of their patients, Rev. L. H. Morey Seneca Falls, N. Y., says, in a letter dated October 15, 1885: "I think I must be a year or more since I purchased a Compound Oxygen Home Treatment, and used it up. I am confident it did me a great deal of good in throat and heart troubles; the fluttering and pain frequently experienced in the heart, have not touched me for months. I did not think of Compound Oxygen for that trouble, but used it for throat catarrh. The distressing heart trouble has certainly left me." In a letter dated October 30, he adds: "With the exception of a cold contracted, since I last wrote you, I am in excellent health. What gratifies me most is my complete deliverance from pain in the region of the heart, and from frequent and distressing flutterings or palpitation of the heart, from which I suffered for years; it used to trouble me so much that I could not sleep on my left side; and frequently I would start again bed, and have to sit up till the sensation had passed; the sensation was usually accompanied by faintness. Now I sleep on either side, and have not for months had a return of either the pain or the fluttering. I used the Compound Oxygen for possible help to lungs, throat, and catarrh, especially the latter. I believe the Compound Oxygen to be a nerve and brain restorer; at least, I work professionally with surprising and unwonted freedom from exhaustion."

The manners of a Christian ought not to be something which can be put off and on like a garment, but they ought to be a product of his religion, the outward expression of a heart that is under the influence of the Spirit of Christ.—Zion's Herald.

Reading the Scriptures.

No writings, if well read, are so impressive; none are so capable of high elocutionary effect as the Holy Scriptures. Yet of all books that are publicly read for the edification of the people, none ordinarily is read so badly as the Bible. It is not merely that public readers fail to give to the words the fullness of power and beauty that is in them. It is not merely that the reading lacks rhetorical elegance and finish, and that Holy Writ as uttered by such persons ceases to charm and captivate. The bare meaning even is not rendered. The Scriptures are often read as one would read a formula in an unknown tongue, whose alphabet and pronunciation he has mastered, but without having the slightest idea of what the words meant, or whether they had any meaning.

It is no part of my present purpose to lay down rules for reading. Yet I do wish to say to superintendents, and to all who are required to lead the devotions of others, to give earnest heed to this matter. You may never learn to give to the Scriptures the melting power which they had when coming from the lips of Dr. Mason or Elizabeth Fry. You may not have the natural gifts of voice and intellect, or the opportunities of culture, which those eminent persons had. But there is a certain degree of excellence which you may attain. There are certain faults of manner which you may avoid, and which you surely will avoid if you desire earnestly and truly to give effectiveness to this part of your public duties.

Study beforehand the passage which you intend to read at the opening. It is no easy matter to find out exactly what is meant, and all that is meant, by the written words of another. We are accustomed in every-day intercourse to leave a great deal of our meaning to be expressed and supplemented by the tone of the voice, and by significant gestures and looks. When only the voiceless, inanimate words are before us, it requires for their full comprehension not merely practiced skill in verbal and grammatical analysis, but often much historical knowledge, and always a vigorous imagination to bring the original circumstances fully and vividly before the mind. In the passage, John xx, 16, for instance, when Jesus turns and says "Mary!" it is evidently in that voice of familiar tenderness which says, by its very tone, "Do you not know me?" Mary's "Rabboni!" is in like manner an expression of surprise, joyful recognition. A mere study of the words does not bring out the meaning. Imagination must work. The scene must stand out clearly before the mind's eye. Then only will the voice do its office as a true interpreter of this most beautiful passage. Who that ever heard that almost despairing wail with which the venerable Dr. Archibald Alexander used to utter the cry "Eloi, eloi, lama sabachthani!" but felt that he had received a new revelation of the meaning of that mysterious utterance? It was not that Dr. Alexander understood Hebrew better than thousands of others have done. It was because he had meditated upon the subject until he had the whole dreadful scene fully before him.—The Sunday-school Idea.

A Ghost

is a myth, but solid reality will be known by those who would write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, thereby learning, free, about work that they can do, and live at home, wherever they reside, at a profit of from $5 to $25 and upwards daily. Some have earned over $50 in a day. Capital not needed. Hallett & Co will start you. All is new. Delay not. Pay absolutely sure from start. Wealth awaits every worker. Both sexes. All ages.

Temperance in the Sunday-School.

Is temperance taught in all the classes in our Sunday schools? A lady arranging for a temperance entertainment, asked some little girls if they could sing a temperance song. They had never heard one. Older girls were called on, but they did not know any. In the singing-book containing nearly four hundred psalms, hymns, and spiritual songs, two temperance selections were found. It is said many children are sung into heaven. Surely in this school few would be sung into the temperance ranks.

On Sunday "Daniel in Babylon" was the lesson topic. Now we know some teachers are enthusiastic on temperance. "Does your teacher tell you about the poor drunkard sometimes?" said an earnest worker to a little girl. "No; I guess my teacher don't know any drunkards." To a young man she remarked: "I suppose you took up the wine question-to-day?" "No; we never discuss temperance in our class." "Your boys are wide awake on the temperance question, I hope," she said to a gentleman. "Well, I meant to have spoken on the subject," replied the teacher, "but they were so interested in the hanging gardens, and the whereabouts of the golden candlesticks of Solomon's temple, I really had no time."

If we are ever going to teach temperance effectively, we must begin with the young. Do all the boys and girls in our Sunday school become temperate men and women? How many young men once in Sunday-school refuse when on all occasions? Let any teacher not interested in teaching temperance review the class record of ten or twenty years ago, and see if all the boys are now sober men. Our children know who burnt the homes of the great men in Jerusalem; do they know the facts concerning alcohol? They can tell the results of idolatry among the Jews; can they tell the effects of intemperance in their own town? "Can not civilization put a stop to this crime against humanity (clipping rum to heathen)?" is now the cry of Africa. "Whisky I sing here," is the report of our home missionaries in the Far West. Why, then, not have temperance as well as missionary concerts? A teacher say she does not know how to teach temperance. Tell them what the Bible says, and take your boys and girls to the drunkard's home. Let the children see for themselves.

Do not let us wait for women to "put down intemperance by law," or content ourselves that scientific instruction is given in our public schools. If the work is ever done it must be by the church and Sunday-school. There are at least eight million scholars and teachers in our Sunday-schools. What may not this great host do to crush the greatest curse on earth? The bitter, unceasing cry from suffering wives and children is heard round the world. Do we believe it? What will our Sunday-school teachers do about it?—The Golden Rule.

The Church at Sunday-School.

1. It is the duty of the church to go to Sunday-school, as it is the duty of the Sunday-school to go to church. A Sunday-school attended only by children and teachers is a deplorable sight. Men and women, church-members and non-church-members, ought to be studying the word of God in wisely chosen lessons, but they are not unless they are doing it in Sunday-school. No other provision has been made to popularly and thoroughly study the Bible.

2. "The church might study the Bible at home," it is said. It is practically impossible. None do it. In our homes, outside of those who attend Sunday-school, none study God's word. School is the place to study. It was at school we studied arithmetic, geometry and Latin, and it is at school we study the Bible. Men ion the men and women, young men and maidens of your acquaintance not in Sunday-school who are pursuing a course, not of Bible reading, but of study. Of one hundred you know I fear you can not name if no such students.

3 The oldest, wisest and richest church members should go to Sunday-school to encourage the children to go. The children wonder that the church is not a Sunday-school. They wonder that their parents are not there as students or teachers. No one can tell them why they are not.

4. Children, take your parents with you to Sunday-school, especially your fathers. Make this proposition: "I will go with you to church if you will go with me to Sunday-school." Repeat this offer until you prevail. Do not fail also to press the Sunday-school upon your grown up brothers, and sisters and neighbors. I insist upon it that the Sunday-school can not be outgrown. The largest and wisest of people look and feel small when they undertake to study God in his word.

5. The Sunday-school is the only opportunity there is for everybody to study the Bible, and my heart aches when I think of the masses of adults who are not embracing it. Not to study the Bible when you might, is to be irreligious.

6 The Sunday-school at church and the church at Sunday-school! Would not that be the millenium? Would not Satan be miserably, if not completely bound! Is it worth while to plead for such a consummation? Is such beauty purely ideal, and so impracticable? Surely not. It is coming. The church will not always be ignorant of God's word, it's life.

7 When the church attends Sunday-school, the Sunday-school will attend prayer-meeting, and when the Sunday-school attends prayer meeting, revival will be perpetual; there will be souls there to convert as well as to edify. Of the fathers and mothers who go to the weekly prayer meeting, how many are accompanied by their Sunday-school sons and daughters? As well as have a separate church service for the children as a separate prayer meeting. The family idea, which is divine, should prevail here at public worship. Next Sunday get some class, teacher and all, to volunteer to come to prayer meeting.—Northern Advocate.

A Clear Complexion.

How can you expect a clear complexion when the blood is full of impurities and the stomach clogged? The blood becomes impure because the liver does not act properly and work off the poison from the system, and the certain results are blotches, pimples and eruptions. Purify the blood with Simmons Liver Regulator, and regulate the liver, stomach and bowels, and then the skin will become clear.

Childhood Religion.—Have we not often been astonished at the spiritual capacity of children, at their deep thoughts, their clear experience of the things of God? As Paul wrote to Timothy, "From a child thou hast known the Scripture"—known them, known their saving power. And I heard a lady say, only a few days ago, she was as truly conscious of the love of God to her, and of his saving grace, when she was four years old, as she is now. Little children can not understand theology, but they can enjoy religion. They don't understand etymology, but they admire a butterfly; they know little of botany, but they love the flowers; they are ignorant of optics, but their hearts leaps up when they behold a rainbow in the sky. We enjoy nature most vividly when its science was entirely unknown to us; and children enjoy religion, although they know nothing of its definitions, evidences, and reasonings. Go to them at once with a spiritual appeal, and expect the spiritual effect. Don't talk about their experience. If a chrysalis be placed in an ice house, its development into the perfect insect may be retarded for years; but take it out of the ice-house into a hothouse, and it flutters, a thing of beauty, in a few days. So with children, surrounded by a certain frigid atmosphere, they are likely to have a pretty long experience before they awake to godliness, but surround them early with a warm atmosphere, rich with spiritual stimulations, and at once perchance, they shall soar heavenwards, all the bright characters of grace revealed in them richly.—Rev. W. D. Watkinson.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets illnesses that are hazardous to life. Persons of sedentary habit are subject to Headache, Defective Memory, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which unfits the sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect heart's ease that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not do its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It has been conceded by all Physicians that Consumption is a wasting disease, and if we can supply the proper nutrition to the patient, that the progress of this dreaded disease can be arrested.

LYON'S COD LIVER OIL AND LACTOPHATE OF LIME supply the long-felt want.

It is palatable and easily assimilated.

Its properties are soothing, healing and nutritious.

For sale by all Druggists.

INFORMATION

MANY PERSONS at this season suffer from either Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, Bad Blood, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Constipation & Kidney Troubles.

VOLINA CORDIAL

VOLINA CORDIAL CURES RHEUMATISM, Bad Blood and Kidney Troubles, by cleansing the blood of all its impurities, strengthening all parts of the body.

VOLINA CORDIAL CURES SICK-HEADACHE, Neuralgia, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, by toning the nerves and strengthening the muscles.

VOLINA CORDIAL CURES DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion and Constipation, by aiding the assimilation of the Food through the proper action of the stomach; it creates a healthy appetite.

VOLINA CORDIAL CURES NERVOUSNESS, Depression of spirits and Weakness, by enlivening and toning the system.

VOLINA CORDIAL CURES OVERWORKED and Delicate Women, Puny and Sickly Children. It is delightful and nutritious as a general Tonic.

Volina Almanac and Diary for 1887. A handsome, complete and useful book, telling how to CURE DISEASES at HOME in a pleasant, natural way. Mailed on receipt of a 2c. postage stamp. Address

VOLINA DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

Send the Advocate to your friend for the next year and you will not regret it.

Suffering Women

Read What the Great Methodist Divine and Eminent Physician says of Bradfield's Female Regulator!

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 20, 1881.

Dr. J. Bradfield: Dear Sir—Some fifteen years ago I examined the recipe of Female Regulator, and especially studying on doctrine in regard to its composition, and how it would act, pronounced it to be the most scientific and rational combination of the really reliable remedial vegetable agents known to science, to medicine (vegetable) and medicine organic, and the organs and parts sympathizing directly with these; and therefore, I recommend it as the remedy for all diseases of the womb and of the adjacent organs and parts.

Yours truly, JESSE E. BORING, M. D., D. D.

Bradfield's Female Regulator is only intended for diseases peculiar to WOMEN, and for these is a SPECIFIC. Sold by all druggists. Send for our treatise on the Health and Happiness of Women, mailed free, which gives all particulars.

The Bradfield Regulator Co., Box 28, Atlanta, Ga.

Ask your neighbors to subscribe for the Advocate.

Queen and Crescent Route.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTH-EASTERN R. R.

—Shortest and Quickest Line to—

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST, ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTH-EAST.

Time Table in effect December 31st, 1886.

Trains North Bnd. Read Down		Flag Stations (marked thus)	Trains South Bnd. Read Up.
No. 2.	No. 6.		No 1.	No 5
10 40am	8 00pm	lv N Orleans ar	3 40pm	7 30am
11 43am	9 10pm	....S Pearl....	2 40pm	6 25am
11 57am	† 9 25pm	† Pearl River. †	† 2 27pm	6 14am
12 12pm	† 9 39pm	...Nicholson...	† 2 12pm	5 57am
12 27pm	† 9 55pm	...Mitchell... †	† 1 57pm	5 46am
12 36pm	† 10 05pm	.... Highland	† 1 47pm	† 5 37am
1 07pm	10 35pm	.... Poplarville	12 31pm	5 09am
1 24pm	† 10 51pm	....Hillsdale.... †	12 17pm	† 4 45am
1 34pm	† 11 05pm	.....Pinona ..... †	12 03pm	† 4 30am
1 49pm	† 11 14pm	...Talowah... †	11 47am	† 4 21am
2 02pm	11 25pm	..... Purvis	11 35am	4 09am
2 13pm	11 35pm	... Okahola	11 22am	† 4 00am
2 20pm	† 11 43pm	..... Carter ..... †	11 16am	† 3 48am
3 00pm	11 59pm	...Hattiesburg...	11 03am	3 35am
3 16pm	† 12 14am	† Eatabuchee †	10 48am	† 3 20am
3 25pm	† 12 21am	† ...Tuscumbia...	† 10 38am	† 3 10am
3 46pm	† 12 42am	....Ellisville....	10 17am	† 2 52am
4 01pm	† 12 57am	.....Laurel.....	10 03am	† 2 37am
4 17pm	† 1 15am	† Sandersville †	† 9 45am	† 2 21am
4 33pm	† 1 30am	... Heidelberg ...	† 9 29am	† 2 06am
4 42pm	† 1 37am	.....Vossburg.....	† 9 22am	† 1 59am
4 53pm	† 1 48am	† ....Darnell .... †	† 9 11am	† 1 48am
5 10pm	† 1 50am	† .... Pachuta ... †	† 9 03am	† 1 39am
5 20pm	2 18am	... Enterprise...	8 43am	† 1 19am
5 38pm	.....	.... Corinne	8 2 8 am	.....
6 00pm	3 00am	.... Meridian.....	8 00am	12 40am
10 30pm	7 45pm	...Tuscaloosa....	3 47am	8 50am
1† 40am	10 00am	...Birmingham...	1 40am	5 55pm
8 35am	1 05pm	..... Attala.....	10 31pm	2 15pm
7 55pm	5 55pm	..Chattanooga..	6 30pm	9 15am
1 25pm	1 15am	..... Somerset	12 50pm	2 2?am
2 4?pm	2 40am	...Junction City.	11 35am	12 55pm
4 15pm	4 00am	....Lexington	10 22am	11 20am
6 42pm	6 40am	ar Cincinnati lv	7 55am	8 10pm

JOHN C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup., Meridian.
H. COLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Pass'r. Agt., Cincinnati, O
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Pass'r. Agt., Cincinnati
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent 34 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

—TAKE THE—

MISSISSIPPI & TENNESSEE RAILROAD.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE

Quicker In Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between

Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

Splendid Equipment!
Magnificent Coaches!
Pullman Buffet Sleepers!
Trains Always on Time!

See that your Tickets read over this

Mississippi & Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and Tkt Ag't. JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass. Ag't. MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific COMPANY.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM.)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN
New Orleans,
Houston,
Galveston,
San Antonio,
El Paso,
Old and New Mexico,
Arizona, and
California Points.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH
Pullman Palace Sleepers
—FROM—
NEW ORLEANS
—AND—
SAN FRANCISCO,

Piercing the most beautiful part of
SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address
W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, Gen'l Manager. J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traffic Manager.

General Offices:
Cor. Magazine and Natchez Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad.

The Great Through Line for Passengers and Freight to All Points
NORTH EAST AND WEST.

The ONLY LINE running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS THROUGH from NEW ORLEANS to CINCINNATI, ST. LOUIS, MEMPHIS and CHICAGO WITHOUT CHANGE of trucks.

ONLY ONE CHANGE to NEW YORK and EASTERN CITIES.

The ONLY DIRECT ROUTE to ST. LOUIS, CHICAGO and ALL POINTS NORTH and WEST. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, ELEGANT COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS, and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY
—AND—
RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—
DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Canal Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:05 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 3, 5:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Passenger Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Ast. Gen. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
J. G. MANN, Superintendent.

THE GREAT
Kennesaw and Shenandoah Valley Route.

(East Tenn., Va. and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs N. C., or Staunton, Va.

Baggage Checked to Destination.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:45 A. M. and 8:25 P. M

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans
B. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Knoxville, Tenn

The Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

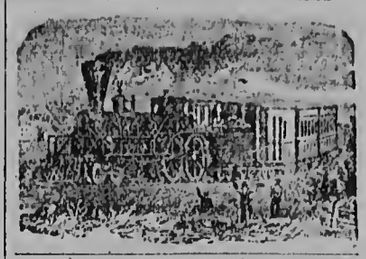
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to
NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN and CENTRAL TEXAS, and
All points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves 7.30 A. M. Arrives 7:15 P. M
This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.
Texas and California Express leaves 4.00 P. M. Arrives 10:30 A. M.
This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.
Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $140 00.
The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.

For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent,
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.



Queen and Crescent Line.

New Orleans and Northeastern RAILROAD.

THE SHORT LINE
FOR FREIGHT AND PASSENGERS
TO ALL POINTS
North and East and in the Northwest.

Low Rates and Quick Time on Freight Traffic.

THE MODEL, MODERN THOROUGHFARE.
Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Mann Boudoir Buffet and Sleeping Cars.
—FROM—
NEW ORLEANS
—TO—
MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA and CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10:10 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7 35 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press street and Levee.
Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St Charles street, N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.
R. COLBRAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agent. Queen and Crescent Line, Cincinnati, Ohio.
JOHN M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent
A. F. BARNETT, Contracting Fr't Agent

MISCELLANEOUS.

CARDS SUNDAY SCHOOL, REWARD AND VISITING, Lovely Samples, Brand-new Catalogue, & Agts. terms for 2c. stamps. W. C. Griswold & Co., Centerbrook, Ct.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for
PLATFORM ECHOES
or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART,
By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, brim full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and good, full of laughter and tears! It sells at sight—all do. The life and death of Mr. Gough, by Rev. LYMAN ABBOTT, 1,000 Agents Wanted. Men and Women. $100 to $200 a month made. Circulars no humbugs as we give Extra Terms and Low Freights. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

RUPTURE

Have you heard of the astounding reduction for DR. J. A. SHERMAN'S Famous Home Treatment; the only known guarantee comfort and cure without operation or hindrance from labor? No steel or iron bands. Perfect retention, night and day, no chafing, suited to all ages. Now $10 only. Send for circular of measurements, instructions and proofs. Get cured at home and be happy, office 294 Broadway, New York.

CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS, a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. Address, DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., New York.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells,
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Best Bells. Pure Copper and Tin, for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue and Price.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

Established 1857.

The GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

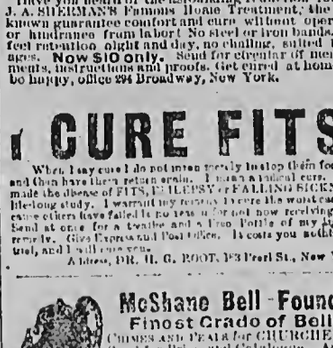
PRIME'S Patent Reflectors, for Gas or Oil, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Store Show Windows, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.
I. P. PRIME, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.

NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 14 Games, 12 Tricks in magic, 300 Album verses. All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 15, Ohio.

$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

A BIC OFFER. To introduce them, we will Give Away 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 23 Dey St., N. Y.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE
FERRY'S SEEDS



Their Seeds are popular because good.

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.
D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it. Address
D. M. FERRY & CO.
Detroit, Mich.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvellous success. Insane Persons Restored by DR. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
On all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure Cure for Nervous Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of sufferer to DR. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.
See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

GREAT LABOR SAVING
SOAPINA!

Has been discovered which will wash in the hardest kind of water as well as ordinary soap in soft water. It is a fine article for washing woolen goods, clothing of Machinists, Printers, etc.

J. H. KELLER,
NEW ORLEANS.

Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

Corresponding Editors:
T. A. S. Adams, D. D. Rev. J. T. Sawyer,
Rev. W. L. C. Hennicutt.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1887.

Briefs.

According to the New York Herald the public debt of the United States consists of these four items, viz:

Legal tender notes, $346 000 000; loan of 1882, three per cents, $64 000 000; loan of 1891, four and a half per cents, $250 000 000; loan of 1907, four per cents, $738 000 000.

According to a Japanese authority, the increase of Protestant Churches in Japan in three years is 113. The membership has increased in the same time from 3 769 to 11 604. The contributions of those churches have increased from $10 900 to $18 600 in the same time. Our own work in Japan is taking a good start, as our readers noted by Dr. Lambuth's letter in last week's Advocate.

The first number of Henry George's new paper, the Standard, has an eight-column editorial touching the case of Dr. McGlynn, which closes with these significant words: "In the meantime American workingmen might as well make up their minds that in their fight for the enfranchisement of labor they must meet the opposition of the Catholic hierarchy."

We have been accustomed to upbraid the Roman Catholics for their opposition to our public schools; but some things are being brought to light which may show that they are at least sincere in that opposition. Testimony comes from various quarters that School Boards are actually expurgating the word "God" and all mention of religion from the school books. Guyot's geographies were rejected by the Chicago School Board because they recognized the existence of God. A college president's treatise on Political Economy was returned by a State superintendent to its author with the information that its first sentence condemned it. That sentence was: "The source of all wealth is the beneficence of God." The Romanist may be sincere after all!

Building associations are becoming very popular in many of the large cities. New Orleans has quite a number of these, and many homes have been built through their aid during the past year. In Philadelphia there are 300 of these associations in active operation, and it is estimated, that in that city, "the owners of 50,000 houses have come into possession of them by means of these associations." Upon a moderate estimate, that means that 150,000 persons have been helped to secure good homes. Is not this work entering, as a large factor, into the social questions of the day as pertaining to the labor and government of our cities? Will it not allay much of the discontent in the laboring class and adjust much of the strife between capital and labor? A man who has a good home is not apt to be affected disastrously by the doctrine of socialists and anarchists. There is something in the name and fact of "home" which throws a protecting shield over its owner.

Paine Loan Fund Meetings.

By request of the Boards of Church Extension of the Mississippi and the North Mississippi Conferences, the undersigned will deliver addresses in the interest of this fund at our churches in the places and at the times named below:

Aberdeen—Sunday, February 6, 11 A. M.; Starkville—Monday, February 7, 7:30 P. M.; Columbus—Tuesday, February 8, 7:30 P. M.; Macon—Wednesday, February 9, 7:30 P. M.; Meridian—Thursday, February 10, 7:30 P. M.; Natchez—Friday, February 11, 7:30 P. M; Vicksburg (D. M.,)—Sunday, February 13, 11 A. M.; Greenville (C. B. G.,)—Sunday, February 13, 11 A. M; Senatobia—Monday, February, 14, 7:30 P. M.; Sardis—Tuesday, February 15, 7:30 P. M.; Grenada—Thursday, February 17, 7:30 P. M; Winona—Friday, February 18, 7:30 P. M.; Jackson—Sunday, February 20, 11 A. M.

It is hoped that the respective presiding elders and preachers in charge and such members of the Conference Boards as may be able to do so will attend these appointments and do all they can to make these occasions of interest and of profit to the cause we are seeking to serve.

C. H. Galloway.
David Morton.

January 22, 1887.

Famished Souls.

Heroes of the Christian warfare, and workers for Christ, may be ready to faint for want of those available supplies of grace upon which their strength depends. The warrior and the laborer in the highest of all callings need the refreshment represented by eating and drinking, as well as that indicated by resting, for they may be hungry and thirsty as well as weary in the prolonged conflict of the holy war and the exhausting labor to which they are called as the servants of the Supreme Master.—Watchman.

In the arrangements for church services particular attention to the above indicated want must have been the governing motive. There seems to be a special adaptation in the time and method of the services of the sanctuary to the needs of the Christian life. All life has its times of need as well as its times of fullness. Spiritual wants press as hard upon the soul as physical wants do upon the body. The Christian work makes as large a demand upon soul energy as manual labor does upon physical energy. The law of demand and supply obtains as fully in the spiritual realm as in any other realm. The soul not only needs refreshment, but needs food as well. Christian work necessarily results in the consumption of soul food. As a man can not long carry on manual labor without supplying the waste to his physical nature which that labor creates, so he can not do Christian work for any length of time without detriment to his Christian growth and strength unless he has access to the sources of Christian supply.

The church services constitute, under the present order of things, these sources. These are things by means of which the Holy Spirit refreshes and recuperates the worn energies of Christian souls. The Psalmist prayed: "The Lord send thee help from the sanctuary and strengthen thee out of Zion." In these services of the house of God are afforded opportunities and privileges which are found nowhere else. The weary worker's hungry soul is brought in direct contact with the living truth, which is the bread from heaven, and in it a loving Savior presents himself as ready to break that bread to the famishing spirit. Our Lord confirmed the truth, which Moses uttered to the children of Israel, when he said to Satan, "It is written, man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." The Word of God is, then, according to the Divine wisdom, the food for the spiritual nature. If, however, we suppose that we can obtain this food, in its richness and fullness, from a mere reading of the Scriptures, without attendance upon the church services, we may make a mistake that will send gaunt leanness into our souls. The preaching of the gospel, the prayers of the public congregation, the singing of Zion's songs in the church are for the Christians, as well as the sinners. It is in the fact of taking a part in these that the Christian finds his sweetest rest and speediest recuperation. And every pastor is cognizant of the truth, that, as a rule, his members, who are diligent and wise attendants upon the services of the church, have the healthiest Christian life and are the best workers for God.

The fact that the services of the church are the sources of supply for the daily Christian life and work lays a peculiar responsibility upon the preacher who conducts these services. His business is to distribute soul food. It was to this very fact our Savior referred when he spoke of the faithful and wise steward as one who would give each his "portion of meat in due season." The preacher is the under-shepherd, and he is to feed the flock of Christ." Theories and fancies and speculations about food are not food. The hungry man cares very little about knowing the chemical and manual process of bread-making. The clearest exposition of that process will not allay his hunger. He needs and desires the fact that is at the end of the process—that is, the bread itself. If the preacher preaches about the Word, if he discourses upon the beauty of the gospel scheme, he will not feed the people. The great facts of redemption and the great doctrines growing out of those facts are the things for him to distribute to the people. These and these alone nourish the soul-life and keep it furnished and fitted for daily Christian work. The bread of life is the Word of God; "and this is the word which by the gospel is preached." Paul has this significant sentence: "Nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine." Oh, preacher, "Be diligent to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."

Oh, weary worker for God and humanity, the sanctuary is your place for rest and refreshment and nourishment! There you may recuperate your wasted powers, revivify your weakened energies and become "strong in the Lord," to do your work. The sanctuary is your supply depot. Arms and ammunition for the Christian battles and food for the strengthening of your souls to wield the holy weapons are there dispensed, and only there can you be "thoroughly furnished unto all good works." "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together." Attend the services of church—the public services on Sunday and the social meetings during the week—for the same purpose that the laboring man goes to his meals—that is, to keep your spiritual life strong and healthy, and then you will have new powers to give to God's work, and that work will "prosper in your hands," and by that work you will be enabled to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ."

Sabbath Keeping.

The good work goes on encouragingly in Louisiana. A great number of people are willingly obedient to the new Sunday law. Throughout the country and country towns it is almost universally obeyed, and the almost universal opinion is that great good to great numbers will be the result. The city of Shreveport, the largest city in Louisiana except New Orleans, and a place of much business and quite a railroad center, has lately passed an ordinance closing the markets on Sunday until May 1. This is an important move in the right direction. There is no good reason to be found for keeping open markets on Sunday. There are scores of people, who live as well as any other people, who never think of doing their marketing on Sunday. They anticipate the wants of Sunday by the purchases of Saturday, and do not suffer the least inconvenience by that method. Saturday evening ought to be the time for Sunday marketing. This would be an immense relief to the market-keeping people. They have "an inalienable right" to one day of rest in the week, and no municipal corporation or anybody else can compel them to be at their market stalls seven days in the week without being guilty of the most grievous inhumanity. In regard to the benefits of the ordinance to the city of Shreveport, the Weekly Times says:

The ordinance passed recently by the city council closing the market-house on Sundays until May 1, instead of meeting anticipated opposition, is received with general favor, especially among the working classes. An interview with butchers, gardeners and others, disclosed the fact that the cash receipts for beef, vegetables, etc., sold Saturday night, were 25 to 35 per cent. in excess of the amounts realized on previous Sundays. The keepers of coffee stands are the only ones who complained of decreased receipts.

In speaking with workingmen on the subject of the Saturday night marketing and the Sunday law, they expressed themselves strongly in favor of the enactments and alleged that they had been benefited by the change. One man remarked: "Before the Sunday law and the Saturday night market were in operation I seldom had money left on Sunday mornings. Last Saturday night after receiving my week's wages I went to market with my wife, we purchased our Sunday supply, then went to the grocery where we bought our provisions for the week and went home. Sunday morning when I woke up I felt contented and had a few dollars left. Before that I often had to do my marketing on credit." The experience of hundreds of workingmen is doubtless similar to the one referred to.

Still It Moves.

The following resolution was lately introduced into the Legislature of Missouri. It was introduced into the House by Hon. J. D. Satterwhite, a Democrat, and into the Senate by Hon. W. P. Sholdon, a Republican.

Be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring therein:

First—At the general election to be holden on Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, in the year 1888, the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Missouri shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri, to-wit:

That article fourteen of the Constitution of the State of Missouri, be and the same is hereby amended, by adding one new section thereto which shall read as follows:

Sec. 13. No person shall manufacture for sale, sell or keep for sale as a beverage any intoxicating liquors, including ale, wine and beer. The general assembly shall, by law prescribe regulations for the enforcement of the provisions herein contained, and shall, thereby provide suitable penalties for violations of the provisions thereof.

Will the Legislature hearken to the thousands of voices that are behind this resolution? It looks like a question, involving the highest interests belonging to the moral and social life of a community, ought to have the support of all right-thinking legislators, but somehow it don't. In the meantime the temperance people in Missouri are working with the pertinacity and industry of beavers.

Miss Kidder's Conscience.

The discharge of Miss Kidder from a dramatic troupe for refusing to play on Sunday brings to light the existence of a conscience where we had thought it quite choked out by the weeds and thorns of the world. It is not generally true that actresses are over-conscientious; yet there is no reason to believe that everyone who goes on the stage abjures God and makes over his soul to the devil. Still the fact abides that on moral questions the dramatic folks are generally latitudinarian. Miss Kidder's conscience is evidently above that of many who regard her as a heathen because she is an actress. How many were in that Sunday audience who had their names on the church register? They could not think of becoming actresses; but they would go to a theatre on Sunday evening and think nothing of it. They could not think of disgracing Christianity by taking the stage; but they will travel all day Sunday to be at a place of business on Monday.

The value of conscience is to be estimated by two rules:

1. It must be in proportion to the ground it covers—i. e., the extent to which it controls all action and thought and sentiment. Some men have a conscience that is very limited in its range. I know some who are very conscientious to keep all their promises that are made in anger or some other evil spirit. Such people swear by the devil and conscientiously revere his majesty. I know many who conscientiously hold to an old habit or a sorry way of doing things, because they believe "consistency is a jewel."

2. Conscience may be very extensive, and yet so mild that it has no power to control human conduct. It lacks intensity. Expediency or the vote or wishes of others may control it while itself does nothing. It does nothing but repent. Every night its possessor may be in a "melting" mood and dream that he has a hopeful stock of religion, "because he is so sorry for having done wrong." But the trouble is he is never glad of having done right. He is living on day after day, and night after night he is bemoaning his life. The result will finally be eternal sorrow over a life that was barren of a single act done under the sanction of conscience that said, 'Do or die."

We rather incline to the opinion that Miss Kidder's conscience had one or, at least, but a few points where it laid special emphasis. But this one point was cardinal. It may be that one who respects the Sabbath has no other virtue. But such is barest possibility. Respect for the Sabbath is respect for holiness. We are no stickler for days; but if we are to be holy, there must be a time which we must keep holy. Personal sanctity is impossible in the absence of diurnal sanctity. Not only so, but holy associations are necessary to holy states of mind and heart. There is a room of a friend known as the green room; another as the red room. The only difference is in the color of the shades through which the light enters. So, after all, our minds take their color from the medium through which the light enters. Miss Kidder evidently believes that life is more than a drama—a show. Somewhere her heart lays hold on an ideal—immortal because supernal. It has said to her—

"Some time the coarser man shall die,
And then the finer shall redeem
Its promises—the shadows fly—
Man wakes to realize his dream."

The conscience of Miss Kidder is alive at the kernel. She may not be immaculate. But we would take her chances before those of many a one who has ceased to regard or even disregard the day "unto the Lord." Indeed, this passage of Paul means that the Divine authority is not in the sabbatical statute, but in the "Lord of the Sabbath." Here Miss Kidder's conscience is undoubtedly well educated.

We may here also look at the humanitarian side of this question, for this age is largely pious to the human pattern. The manager and his Sunday audience will urge that she, as an employee and public caterer, must serve them at their set time. This is the chattel idea of human service. But it is brutalizing to anyone to regard human service merely in that light. The giving by hand of a cup of water is infinitely above pumping a barrel full by a mule or steam engine. The character of human service is enhanced by that of the servant. He is the grandest man who receives the kind offices of the holiest hands, or the adoration of the freest minds. The time is when the multitudes are crying out against the oppressive demands of employers. Will they condemn Miss Kidder or the manager of the theatre? It will be to their credit if they do not howl because they were denied of their fun. Is it meaner in one man to play the tyrant or in a thousand? Would the manager have "summarily discharged" Miss Kidder if it had not been the howling mob behind him? Let times change so that this same man can "summarily discharge" the crowd that now applaud him—will he not do it? Will he not be as near right as now? There is an erasure of lines of demarkation. Standards are thrown away. When conscience is overslaughed there is no assurance where man will call a halt. We said man was brutalized by such an act since it dehumanized man. We amend by saying, diabolized. Beasts end as beasts. Their wildest freaks of fury take no shape of degradation or spiritual distortion. Beast nature is never outraged. Not so with man. Conscience gone, spiritual madness ensues. Man is actually possessed with a spirit not human. He is a demoniac—something impossible for a tiger to be.

There is one more feature connected with this case which ought to call the attention of Christians. Why is a conscientious person forced to a life that nearly invariably ruins its votaries morally? It is certainly not sheer choice in every case. Christianity has not broadened its list of employments sufficiently yet. Why has it left so many unprovided with work? Why is the answer still returned by the idlers, "No man hath hired us?" Has not Christianity enough to employ all? Why should vice be yet such a liberal employer of high talent both of mind and heart? Why should Christian men's sons and daughters yet have to go and hire themselves to the swine-feeders of the far-off land where the prodigal ate of the husks along with his swine? Is not Miss Kidder's conscience one that ought to excite our own to the study of ways, means and pursuits in which the young women and men of our land should be honorably and profitably employed?

T. A. S. A.

"Thy Kingdom Come."

To the Ladies of Felicity Street Church, New Orleans—

Dear Sisters: Not long ago we heard a sermon on this subject, and remember the course of conduct recommended, if our hearts are in unison with the prayer, and if we are really desirous of its fulfillment. One thought, out of many contained in the discourse, is the subject to which your attention is called: that of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Felicity Street Church. This society is not in as flourishing a condition as it ought to be, or as it would be, if the prayer for the coming of the kingdom was offered in sincerity. If we are sincere in this petition, another would be subjoined, that we might use our means for the advancement of this object, by assisting in the sending of missionaries to spread the light and truth through the dark places of the earth where the gospel has not yet penetrated.

No one's duty in this respect is complete until she has given all she can spare, and, indeed, go farther than that; for are we not told of the widow who was commended because she gave all her living, in contradistinction to those who only gave of their abundance? It is a fact, if we could only bring ourselves to believe it, that liberal giving is a great luxury. Have we not also heard the words of the Lord Jesus: that "it is more blessed to give than to receive." It may not be required of us to give all; still, to whom much is given, of him much is required. Women in this Christian country have so much given to them—"enough and to spare"—that they can well afford to send of their superfluity to those who have none of these blessings.

This is our condition, women of Felicity Church. We are blessed with means that ought to enable us to do more for the coming of the kingdom than we have yet accomplished. Only a few of our number are engaged in a work that commands itself to all, or that ought so to do if the petition is sincerely offered when we say, "Thy kingdom come." As the Master uses human means for the propagation of this glorious work—the coming of the kingdom to those benighted and sin-cursed lands that have never heard of the blessed gospel of peace—let it be our inestimable privilege to be counted as co-workers with the Spirit by giving gladly of our substance, expecting a sufficient reward in an approving conscience, which can appropriate the words of the Master, "She hath done what she could."

A Friend to Foreign Missions.

This is what a man in New England said about the expected revival: "What do you want with a revival? We are out of debt; our pews are all rented; our house is full, and a revival would only disturb the quiet and orderly development of the church." There are people not in New England who think a church should be managed on "the quiet and orderly development" plan.

The New Theology.

The new theology, as it is called, is attracting a good deal of attention, and it may not be out of place to give our readers some information in regard to it. It is hardly correct to call it "new," for it has really been in process of development for quite a time. Some students detected its coloring in the teaching of Dr. Dorner, of Berlin. Others traced it in the sermons of Maurice and Robertson, of England. To others it showed itself quite plainly in the criticisms of the Old Testament by W. R. Smith, of Scotland. In this country, to the minds of some it was very distinct in the writings of Horace Bushnell. The only reason for calling it "new," is in the fact that during the past few years it has assumed a more definite form, though it has not yet reached a "system." The following seems to be some of the points of the teaching of its votaries:

1. They teach that the Bible is not the only perfect rule of faith and practice.
2. That Christ was a finite being limited in all its attributes.
3. That no man has the power to repent without the knowledge of God in Christ.
4. That mankind, except as they receive knowledge of the history Christ, are not sinners, and will not be lost.
5. That no man can be lost without first having a knowledge of Christ.
6. That the atonement consists in Christ becoming identified with the race, through his incarnation.
7. That the Trinity is monarchian and not a Trinity of persons.
8. That the work of the Holy Spirit is confined to historic Christianity.
9. That the salvation of men is not wholly by grace.
10. That faith ought to be scientific rather than scriptural.
11. That there is a probation after death for all men and this doctrine should be made central in a system of theology.

Notes.

There are 700 religious newspapers published in the United States, and about one-third come from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago. New York leads the list, and Chicago is ahead of Boston.

A Boston savings bank has upwards of 93,000 depositors, which number is larger than the number of inhabitants in any other city in Massachusetts.

Twenty-eight skillful and efficient young nurses were graduated recently from the Bellvue Hospital Training-school for Nurses, New York.

Francis Murphy recently conducted a two weeks' temperance campaign in Cincinnati, and fully 5,000 people signed the pledge.

The difference in the results of the teaching in the English universities and the Scotch is said to be this: "The English universities teach their graduates to spend £1 000 a year with dignity and intelligence, while the Scotch universities teach men to make £1,000 a year with dignity and intelligence."

A great preacher has said, that "one carefully written sermon a week formed the needful preparation for the effective delivery of one good extemporaneous discourse." When you come to think of it, there is quite a difference between extemporaneous speech and extemporaneous thought.

Railroad Items.

—Jay Gould says he is willing to build a road from Hope, Ark., to Shreveport, La., if the people will give him the right of way and such donations as have been offered from time to time by other parties.

—Steele's Mississippi Valley railroad is a road projected from Bowie, Ark., to Vidalia, La. Its course is up the Mississippi river through Concordia, Tensas, Madison and East Carroll. Its originators are confident that it will be built at an early day.

—The Legislature of Texas has instructed its Committee on Internal Improvements to inquire into the propriety of the State purchasing the Texas and Pacific railroad, which is soon to be sold.

—The Louisville and Nashville road is to have a branch in this city. It will run from Canal street, along Claiborne, across the Old Basin Canal to Elysian Fields street, thence to Milneburg.

—It is said that Jay Gould stands behind the North and South road—the road that is to connect New Orleans with the coal fields of Dakota—and intends to make it the biggest project of his life.

—The proposed road from Brinkley, Ark., to Alexandria, La., connects with and crosses twelve important lines, and is said to be the shortest route from St. Louis to New Orleans.

Personals.

—It is said of Mrs. Mary Peavey, who died lately in Greenfield, N. H., that she sung in the church choir in that town more than sixty years. She was eighty-six years old.

—Holland N. McTyeire, Jr., son of Bishop McTyeire, was married in Nashville, January 12, to Mrs. Kate Marian Brown.

—W. M. Robey, D. D., has become joint editor and proprietor, with Dr. Bobbitt, of the Methodist Advance, published at Goldsboro, N. C.

—Senator Stanford, the California millionaire, has built a stable which cost the modest little sum of $20,000.

—The Southern Evangelist is the name of a weekly published by Rev. Sam Small at Nashville. The number sent us is "chock full" of the "two Sams."

—Bishop Wilson has organized the China mission into an Annual Conference. He writes hopefully of our work in that far-away part of the Lord's vineyard.

—In the event of a war in Italy, the Pope has made arrangements to take refuge in Monaco. So say the papers.

—Rev. D. J. Simmons, of the South Carolina Conference, died January 5, aged sixty-nine years. He was an able preacher and had filled many positions in the church with great acceptability.

—Dr. James H. Carlisle prepares the Sunday-school lessons for the Southern Christian Advocate. There are few writers and speakers who are as clear-headed as Dr. Carlisle.

—The Florida Chautauqua at DeFuniak Springs begins its third annual session February 17, and will continue until March 30. The programme is exceptionally good and includes, this year, "A Symposium on Missions." We note that Bishop Galloway, President Carlisle and Sam Jones are on the list of lecturers.

—Chief Justice Jackson, of Georgia, who died last week, was a man of eminence in his profession and one of the first laymen of our church in his State. He was a member of the General Conference at several sessions of that body.

—Edward L. Youmans, the well-known scientist and author, and one of the conductors of the Popular Science Monthly, died January 17.

—M. Pasteur, the French scientist, has broken down in health through over-work and is threatened with paralysis. He will cease active practice.

—The trial of the Haddeck murderers at Sioux City, Iowa, has been set for March 21.

—Pere Hyacinthe lately took the Lord's Supper with the ministers of the Anglican Communion on the occasion of the consecration of the American Episcopal Church in Paris.

—Joseph Cook begins his lectures again in Tremont Temple, Boston, the first Monday in February.

—Congress has voted a pension of $2,000 a year to the widow of Gen. Logan, and also the same pension to the widow of Gen. F. P. Blair.

—Our readers and contributors are reminded that our paper goes to press on Wednesday morning. Send your news items in time to reach the office by Tuesday of each week.

—The Minister of Finance to the Sultan of Turkey is a Christian, and his name is Agob Pacha.

—Dr. Abbey gave us a call last Friday. He is sojourning at Gulf View, on the Mississippi Sound. He says the climate and the salt breezes are doing him great good. "The breezes," he says, "are the best and cheapest he has ever snuffed."

THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE BILL.—The passage by both Houses of Congress, of what is known as the "Interstate Commerce Bill," by such large majorities, marks an epoch in the history of our national legislation. This bill was bitterly opposed and fought by the great railroad corporations of the country; but its friends, under the leadership of its author, Congressman Reagan, of Texas, carried it through both chambers of the National Legislature with handsome majorities. As it affects by its provisions the railroads of the land, it affects also everybody, for everybody is affected by the railroads. We hope soon to give our readers a condensed statement of its provisions.

Rev. W. H. Germany, M. D., an efficient local preacher on the Summit work, died at his residence, near Johnston station, this morning at 8:10 o'clock. In his younger life he was a member of the Mississippi Conference, but devoted his latter days as a practicing physician in the local ranks. He will be greatly missed by the church and community.

B. F. LEWIS.

SUMMIT, Miss., Jan. 21, 1887.

Items.

—In Chicago last year 11 342 marriage licenses were issued, and 1 228 of these in the month of October.

—"Oliver Optic" began writing books in 1853, and has finished the one-hundred and thirteenth. That is one book about every four months.

—Divorce suits in Vermont fell off from 202 in 1883 to 94 in 1885. This is the happy result of a law requiring a delay of six months after suit is instituted before going to trial.

—In these times there is quite a tendency to euphemism of speech. A vigilance committee is now known as "the necktie party" —In this country the population increased from 1840 to 1884, 217 per cent. In the same time the consumption of beer increased 1,675 per cent.; wine, 400 per cent., and ardent spirits, 200 per cent.

—It is said that there are 250 000 invalids left from the war between the States.

—Last year Paris consumed 146 825 tons of food. Of these 3 830 tons were horse-flesh.

—The 125 steamships plying between the United States and Europe cost $100,000,000, employ 18,750 men, spend $1,000,000 a month for coal, carry 500 000 passengers a year and earn $22 000,000 for passage money, exclusive of what is paid for freight.

—There are now published in the United States 14 160 newspapers and periodicals. There are 1 216 daily newspapers. Twenty-three monthlies started in 1886.

—A correspondent of the Central Christian Advocate, speaking of Dr. Vincent's recent visit to London, says: "Amongst other things he saw over 200 engraved representations of John Wesley's face, besides one, the only real likeness taken from the face of Mr. Wesley, in plaster, on the morning of his death. He then examined thirty-three lives of John Wesley."

—An exchange says that the average pastoral support in the Cincinnati Conference is $990. There is something extraordinary "somewhere thereabouts."

—In England there is a company formed for the purpose of correcting funeral abuses. If somebody in this country would so reform funerals as to make them more economical and rational, he would get a profound bow from all the clergy.

To Conference Secretaries.

It is now time to commence the work of preparing the annual report of the Board of Missions. We earnestly request the secretaries of the several Conference Boards to send in their reports at the earliest possible date. Some have already been sent, but many are lacking.

Will the secretary of each Conference Board please forward his address to this office? It will aid us in our work.

Remember this, brethren.

I. G. JOHN,
Sec. Bd. of Miss.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Jan. 20, 1887.

SOMETHING FROM EVERY MEMBER.—All the indications point to this year of grace as one which will witness the most surprising triumphs of the gospel at home and abroad. The forces at work are better organized and more thoroughly equipped and more earnestly engaged than ever before. In the victories that are sure to be won every church member can contribute aid toward the winning. It is the duty and highest privilege to assist in the grand work of extending our lines in every direction. Let our pastors put all their members to active and aggressive work. Pitch the tune of giving at one dollar per member for our connectional benevolences and Conference collections. See to it that every member of the church give something this year toward these important interests. When every member of the church begins to give, then we may lift up our heads and behold our "redemption drawing near."

THE INDICTMENT.—These four counts in the indictment of the saloon by the grand jury of public opinion can be sustained every time that case comes up for trial before the voters of the land. The saloon is, first, a corrupter of politics; second, it is the enemy of good legislation; third, it is a great waster of property; fourth, it begets crime. These four, not to mention others, are enough to condemn the saloon before any impartial tribunal and form a solid reason for every voter, when the opportunity offers, to cast his ballot for the overthrow and destruction of such an iniquitous traffic.

Our pastors will please remember that the General Conference ordered that the third Sunday in May be set apart as "Children's Day," to be observed throughout our church with appropriate services.

Notice.

At the last session of the North Mississippi Conference the undersigned were appointed a commission to receive proposals for the establishment of one or more high schools for the education of young men and boys. Buildings and everything necessary for the equipment of a first-class school must be furnished without imposing any pecuniary liability upon the Conference. Proposals may be sent to anyone of the undersigned within the next two or three months.

THOS. Y. RAMSEY, Chair'n,
T. C. WIER,
J. W. HONNOLL,
T. B. WINSTON,
J. R. STREATER,
J. R. BINGHAM,
T. B. SYKES.

DURANT, Mississippi.

"Life and Writings of Bishop Parker."

One copy of this superb work will be given for three new subscribers when accompanied by the cash in full.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

JANUARY 20, 1887

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.—Should you fail to receive the ADVOCATE after this issue, you have but yourself to blame. Every inducement has been held out to you to send or get your pastor to send in your renewal.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Hope Insurance Co., to be found in this issue of the ADVOCATE. This old and reliable company stands in the front ranks of home companies, and after twenty-nine years of the faithful fulfillment of its assurances it begins the new year in renewed strength and enterprise—the leading features of its success of past years.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle

FITS: All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottles free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa

Pond's Extract. A medicine confined to a certain number of diseases. It will cure Pain, Inflammation or Hemorrhage, external or internal.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. B. Thomson, 61 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

An Irish magistrate asked a prisoner if he was married. "No," replied the man. "Then," said his worship, amid peals of laughter, "it's a good thing for your wife."

A Copy of the "Storm Chart" for 1887, by the Rev. Irl B. Hicks, and Calendar for 1887, mailed free to any address, on receipt of a two cent postage stamp. Write plainly your Name, Post Office and State

THE DR. J. H. MCLEAN MEDICINE CO.,
St. Louis Mo.

"Yes," observed Mrs. Grap, "we k nder got tired of ass, and now we're goin' to have the house lit with clandestine el ctric lights."

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is agreeable to use. It is not a liquid or a snuff. 50c.

If there is any one who should be "rapped in slumber," it is the man who snores.

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

P WERLEIN.—The great Southern music emporium, 135 Canal street, is to the front with new attractions in the music line; the very latest compositions by well known authors received, and will be mailed to any address on receipt of price. The full stock of musical instruments is being received, and surpass anything ever offered to the people of the South. Pianos and organs of superb tone and beautiful finish, at prices lower than ever known and terms unsurpassed by any music house in the United States. Write to Werlein before purchasing elsewhere. 135 Canal street.

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances, to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

Press the ADVOCATE circulation now.

BIG PAY TO AGENTS

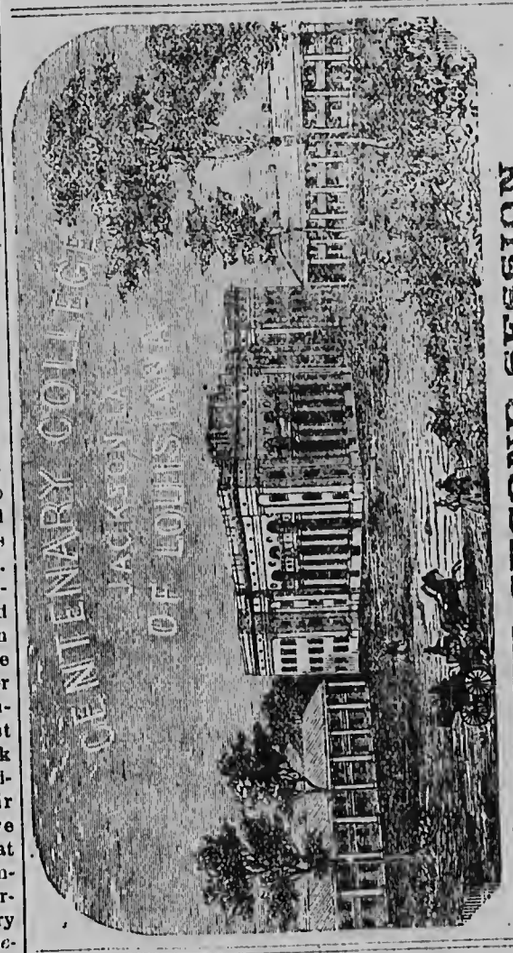
FOR INTRODUCING OUR GOODS EVERYWHERE.

For Sample and Terms send 25 cents in stamps.

Address all Orders to

La. Wire and Iron Manufacturing Co.,

58 AND 60 NORTH DERBIGNY STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.



SIXTY-SECOND SESSION
OPENED MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6 1886.

Faculty, 7. Property, $100 000. Alumni, 250. Location unsurpassed in point of healthfulness and morality. Accessible by rail from all points. Scholarships for four years, $125. Board, $10 per month. For Catalogue and full information address
Rev. T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D., PRESIDENT Jackson, La.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS

It is universally acknowledged that we not only have the Largest but also the Finest Collection extant. We have culled England and the Continent for their Choicest Varieties, but still our special

JAPANESE

Importations & Seedlings surpass them all. Prices from $1 per dozen to $1 each. Seed from our finest named varieties, 25 Cents per packet.

ASTERS

Our collection is the largest and finest offered. Of all Asters, the finest are the "NEW PEARLS" 'Queen Marguerites' Pearl White) 25c. Pearl Rose) per pack't

DAHLIA

GRACILIS
THE Greatest Beauty AND Finest Novelty Of all Single Dahlias. Received the highest possible award of merit from the National Horticultural Society of France. 25c. per packet.

We are GROWERS, IMPORTERS, and practical cultivators of Seeds, Bulbs, & Plants. As growers, we have the advantage of knowing what is really meritorious; as importers, the advantages of business relations with all the leading specialists, and knowledge of where to BUY THE BEST of each particular article. It is our aim to please you, by giving you the advantages we possess. We mention a few little things we think will please you, but refer to our general Catalogue, which we will Send FREE to all applying.

LILIUM TENUIFOLIUM
(Coral Lily of Siberia.)
This is the brightest gem of all, Vermilion Scarlet. Delicate Wax-like Flowers, Foliage resembling a Fern frond. Blooms last of May. A picture. A bouquet in itself. 30c. each. 4 for $1.00.

New VERBENA
Grandiflora
(Mammoth)
Single flowers as large as 25cent piece Trusses enormous. Colors bright and varied. A great advance in this favorite flower. Seed 25cts. per packet. Very Scarce.

GLADIOLI
Our collection is the Finest in existence
LEMOINES HYBRIDS
The new hardy hybrids. Finest mixed varieties. 10c. each, $1.00 per doz.

V. H. HALLOCK, SON & THORPE,
EAST HINSDALE, NEW YORK.

MISCELLANEOUS.

20,000!

AGENTS, TAKE NOTICE!

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET

RENEWALS AND NEW SUBSCRIBERS

—FOR THE—

ADVOCATE.

Talk and Work for Its Interests Now.

Large Results Expected of You for 1887.

WE PROMISE

ENTERPRISE AND IMPROVEMENT

From the Fruit of Your Labors.

You Can Help Make the

NEW ORLEANS

The Best Church Paper in the Connection by a

THOROUGH CANVASS For SUBSCRIBERS

On Your Work.

Some of Your People Have Never Been Asked to

SUBSCRIBE.

Ask Them this Year!

20,000

Is the Number of Subscribers that Should Be Reported to the Next Conferences.

WORK FOR THESE FIGURES!

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement

—1887—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash in full to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price.	Our price.
Southern Cultivator	$ 3 50	$ 2 75
American Agriculturist	3 00	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos.	14 00	13 00
" " 6 "	7 00	6 50
Weekly "	3 50	2 50
" Times-Democrat	3 50	2 75
Harper's Magazine	6 00	4 75
" Weekly	6 00	4 75
" Bazar	6 00	4 75
" Young People	4 00	3 00
Demorest's Magazine	4 00	3 25

Send cash in full with all orders.

No attention paid to orders without cash.

Hugh Jamieson, Jr.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT
VEGETABLE PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises. It is soothing, cleansing and Healing.

Catarrh, In its worst clicatrices for this disease, Cold in the Head, &c. "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, should be supplied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plaster is invaluable in these diseases, Lumbago, Pain in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching. It is the greatest known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples, Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints. In the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used as is well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

Sold everywhere. 1 Size, 50c., 75., $1, $1.75.

Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

31 CAMP STREET.

Cash Capital.....$300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1886.....405,941 80

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President.
H. GALLY, Vice-President.
SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

Finance Committee:
John T. Moore, Jr., M. Schwalbacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, F. G. Ernst.

NEW STORE! NEW GOODS!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our

New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youth's Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits, $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks. Lowest Prices and Best Goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S,
20 and 22 Camp Street.

Alabama Coal and Coke Company,

54 Carondelet Street.

Representing in New Orleans the largest mining company in Alabama, and offering the best grades of Coal, such as the famous MONTEVALLO, the best grate coal in the United States; the HELENA, thought by many to equal Montevallo; the ALABAMA SPLINT, Alabama's best combination coal, a hard lump coal good for grates or for steam; the celebrated Pratt and Warrior Coals, best steam Coals now used in the United States.

All of the above Coals burn to ashes, leave no cinders, and are more lasting than Pittsburg coal. No odor arises from burning them.

We have unusual facilities for furnishing coal in Car Load Lots to points reached by any of the railroads centering in New Orleans, and can promptly load vessels at low prices here or at the ports of Mobile and Pensacola.

A. C. DANNER, President. H. E. ANDERSON, Secretary and Treasurer.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, NEW ORLEANS.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 128 Pieces.....$10 | American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 136 pieces.....$12 00
Decorated Dinner Sets, from.....12 to $35 | Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape.....2 50
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape.....3 | Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape.....3 50

Handsomely Japanned Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slops Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set
Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set
Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 Cents to $2 per dozen.
Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 60 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

T. J. CARVER. B. O. L. RAYNE.

T. J. CARVER & CO.,

Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants,

44 Perdido Street.

The patronage of our friends and the public respectfully solicited.

FURNITURE.

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street.

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

BURPEE'S FARM ANNUAL for 1887

It is a handsome Book of 128 pages, with hundreds of illustrations, 3 Colored Plates, and tells all about THE BEST GARDEN, FARM & FLOWER SEEDS BULBS, PLANTS, Thoroughbred Stock and Fancy Poultry. It describes RARE NOVELTIES in Vegetables and Flowers of real value, which cannot be obtained elsewhere.

Will be sent FREE to all who write for it. Send address on a postal for the MOST COMPLETE Catalogue published, to

W. ATLEE BURPEE & CO., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the sovereign remedy. Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country; but their short lease of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and spasms are most frequently the result of these hidden suppers and miners. When they are irritable and feverish, sometimes craving food and eating ravenously, again refusing wholesome diet, tossing restlessly in sleep, moaning and grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from earliest infancy; therefore parents—especially mothers who are more constantly with their children, cannot be too observing of the first symptoms of worms, for so surely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the most delicate infant, by the timely use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and use it in their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its uniform success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a safe purgative, not suspecting the cause of the illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged and immediately relief afforded. Great caution must be used by every purchaser to be his own judge in one sense, and to examine every bottle he buys of it. The simple name of FAHNESTOCK is not enough. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. FAHNESTOCK, and be satisfied with nothing else.

NEW FRANKLIN, HOWARD CO., Mo.
Messrs. J. E. Schwartz & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.
Gentlemen—I have used some of that most excellent remedy, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, and I found it to have the desired effect. I think your vermifuge can not safely be dispensed with in any family.
Yours, &c., J. W. HUBBARD, M. D.

CAMBRIDGE, MD.
Having used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is safe, reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed. THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

SUCCESSORS TO J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

Our Young People.

"TOO MANY OF ME."
(A True Story)

"Mamma, is there too many of me?"
The little girl asked with a sigh.
"Perhaps you wouldn't be tired, you see,
If a few of your children could die."

She was only three years old—the one
Who spoke in that strange, sad way,
As she saw her mother's impatient frown
At the children's boisterous play.

There were half-a-dozen who round her stood,
And the mother was sick and poor;
Worn out with the care of the noisy brood,
And the fight with the wolf at the door.

For a smile or kiss, no time, no place;
For the little one, least of all;
And the shadow that darkened the mother's face
O'er the young life seemed to fall.

More thoughtful than any, she felt more care,
And pondered in childish way
How to lighten the burdens she could not share,
Growing heavier day by day.

Only a week, and the little Claire,
In her tiny white trundle bed,
Lay with the blue eyes closed, and the sunny hair
Cut close from the golden head.

"Don't cry," she said—and the words were low,
Feeling tears that she could not see—
"You won't have to work and be tired so
When there aint so many of we."

But the dear little daughter who went away
From the home that for once was stilled,
Showed the mother's heart, from that dreary day,
What a place she had always filled.

—Woman's Journal.

MR. EDITOR: It has been a long time since I wrote to the dear old ADVOCATE, and, as the last two I wrote were published, it encourages me to write again. I live in the quiet little town of Bogue Chitto, Miss., on the Illinois Central railroad. Our preacher for this year is Bro. B. F. Lewis. He was our pastor last year, and we were pleased with him. We have a good Sunday-school with Bros. B. E. Brister and T. F. White as superintendents. We have a prosperous literary school with Prof. A. J. Maxey as teacher. He is a kind Christian gentleman and takes much interest in his school, and rapidly advances his pupils. In the last issue of the ADVOCATE I saw a letter from my little cousin, Bettie Carruth, and she asked the question: What is the middle chapter and least in the Bible? Answer—Psalm cxvii. Now, I will ask a question: What three names, and only three of individuals in the Bible, begin with the letter "F"? Wishing all the readers of the ADVOCATE and you, Mr. Editor, a Happy New Year, I am,

Your little friend,
FELIX H. THOMPSON.

BOGUE CHITTO, Mississippi.

MR EDITOR: I am a little girl twelve years old, and, as I have never written to your estimable paper before, I thought I would write you a short letter. Your paper is a welcome visitor to our house every week, and we esteem it very much. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday unless it rains too hard for us to get there. Papa is our superintendent. Rev. J. W. Ellison is our pastor. We all love him so much. I attend day-school at Norvilla Collegiate Institute. It is so near our house, we never miss; we only have to go across the street. I study spelling, grammar, rhetoric, composition, elocution, practical mathematics, university and algebra. Your little friend, Lydia Yalbert, asks why Moses fled from his rod when it became a serpent on Mount Horeb. No answer is given. I think it must have been because of the great enmity which God had placed between man and his first cause of transgression. I am so thankful that I am not an orphan. In what part of the Old Testament is the vision of Jacob's ladder found?

Your little friend,
MAMIE REAMS.

GREENSBURG, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I wrote to the paper last summer; but it was not published. Somehow it found its way to the waste-basket; but I sincerely hope this one will not meet with the same luck. I will try again and hope this one will be published. I have just returned from school. I was going to Mrs. Dickson, who lived at Cayuga. She is a splendid teacher. We will go to school at Utica soon—my sister and myself. I have a sister older than I am who goes to school with me. I have six sisters and one brother. I will answer Ora L. Knight's question. Jesus was betrayed with a kiss by Judas Iscariot. (Matthew xxvi, 4, 9; Mark xiv, 4, 5.) I will ask the cousins a question: How old was Josiah when he began to reign, and how long did he reign? I will close for fear my letter will be too long. With best wishes for the dear ADVOCATE, I am,

Your friend,
JENNIE C. BEALL.

EDWARDS, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: As I have never seen any letter from the little people of this place in your paper, I have concluded to write you. I am a little girl six years old. My papa takes your paper, and we all enjoy reading it so much. I read all of the little people's letters. I have never been to school, but can read right well. I read "Aunt Jusies'" letters in the Constitution every week. We have not been living at this place but a few months. We moved from Cooksville, a little village about fifteen miles distant. We are very much pleased with our new home. We had a beautiful snow-storm last week and enjoyed it ever so much. I suggest to little Alice Porter that she name her little brother, Robert. I think it is a beautiful name because my papa is named Robert. Your little friend,

BABE HINDLER.

SARQUALAK, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl eleven years old, and, as I have never written to the ADVOCATE, I thought that I would write and tell the little cousins that I live on the New Orleans Pacific railway, near Marthaville, Natchitoches parish, La. My papa takes the dear old ADVOCATE. Our Sunday-school went into winter quarters. I hope that the Conference will send us back Bro. H. J. Bellz for our pastor. I will answer Olive A. Bloeker's question. The largest verse in the New Testament is the fourth verse of the twentieth chapter of Revelation. I will also answer Ora L. Knight's question. It was Judas Iscariot that betrayed Jesus by a kiss. I will close by asking a question: Where in the Bible is the word "cinnamon" found? With good wishes to the ADVOCATE, I am,

Your little friend,
YAVA SALLEY.

MARTHAVILLE, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: It has been a long time since I wrote to the ADVOCATE. I started to write before Christmas; but every time I started to write I would get my letter wrong. We had a pretty Christmas tree. I received five presents. They were not very costly; but I think we ought to be very grateful for the blessings we enjoy when we think of the number of little children that enjoy none of the pleasures of this life. It seems that all the little folks are not going to write any more; but I hope they will, for I want some of them to give a description of their Christmas tree; and if they did not have a tree, I hope Santa Claus visited them all at their homes. I will ask the little folks a question: Where is the word "yam" found in the Bible?

MARY E. WELSH.

HALLO, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl twelve years old. Please give me a space in your excellent paper for a few words. I have three little sisters younger than myself. I am going to school. My teacher's name is Miss Bettie Ratliff. I like her very much. I study history, spelling, grammar, geography, arithmetic and writing. I think I can answer Denald Watkins' question. Jesus died in a place called Golgotha—which is, being interpreted—"The place of a skull." I will ask a question: Who did Jesus first appear unto after rising from the sepulchre? Wishing the ADVOCATE and its editor abundant success, I am,

Your little friend,
IDA L. ELLINGTON.

FALLIS, Mississippi.

MR EDITOR: I am a little girl eight years old. My papa takes your valuable paper. I have two brothers older than myself. We went to school last summer. I study reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic and syphering. Mother taught the school. Alice Porter, I will send a name for your little baby brother—Alonzo Nathaniel. I have a sweet little nephew that wears that name, Amanda Hollingsworth, Mary was David's mother. I will close by asking some of the little cousins a question: Where in the Bible is the chapter found that has the words, "Oh Lord," in it twenty times? Wishing the ADVOCATE much success, I am,

Your little friend,
J. CARRIE FLOYD.

NORTH WILKINSON, Mississippi.

MR EDITOR: I am a little girl nine years old, and I thought I would write a letter to the ADVOCATE. My papa takes your good paper. I had a nice Christmas. I have one little sister and three little brothers. My school is out. I go to church once a month. I love to read the little letters. I live on the river. I do not go to Sunday school. I have been wanting to write to your good paper for some time. I see a great many little letters from the little folks. Please do not put this in the waste-basket. I will ask a question: Who was Isaac's brother? I will close for this time. From your friend,

HATTIE L. DEAN.

FAIRMOUNT, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: As it is no harm to write, I will endeavor to write again this week. People in this country a few years ago would get drunk and fight, go to balls and have a big cut up; but nowadays we scarcely ever hear of anyone getting drunk or fighting or going to balls. People are more religious in this part of the country than they were a few years back. There is a woman who writes to the Coast Beacon every week. She writes on the subject of religion. I think from the way she writes she is a Catholic. She is a genuine writer; she is as sharp as a briar; no one gets ahead of her.

SARDEN R. WALKER.

HE-NO, Mississippi.

ARE you restless at night, and hurassed by a bad cough? Use Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm. It will secure you sound sleep, and effect a prompt and radical cure.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl ten years old. I have no brothers and sisters. I am going to school. I study geography, arithmetic, writing, reading and spelling. I will answer Whittie Smith's question: Enoch and Methuselah. Now, I will ask a question about Noah's sons. Who was the oldest, and who the youngest? Yours truly,

MIRA COOK.

MAGNOLIA, Mississippi.

SICK headache, wind on the stomach, biliousness, nausea, are promptly and agreeably banished by Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pillets. 25c. a vial.

Farm and Home.

HOW TO DRINK WATER.—A French journal warns the drinkers of mineral water that the limestone held in deposit in the carbonated beverage finds its way to the kidneys and eventually produces Bright's disease. The writer also protests against ice water as a provocation of catarrh in the stomach. He says: "Water should be drunk cool, but not iced, with the juice of a quarter or a half of a lemon in it. Water should always be swallowed slowly. It is not the stomach which is dry, but the mouth and throat. If you toss off a drink of water, you throw it through your mouth into your stomach, without doing the former any good, while you injure the latter by loading it with what it does not require."

There are grains of truth and sense in this advice, but the proverbial grain of salt needs to be added several times. The use of very hard or artificially mineralized water is attended, in some persons and under some conditions, by a variety of injurious consequences of which perhaps one of the least logical would be Bright's disease. The lodgment of calcareous deposits in the urinary organs, or elsewhere, has an evident connection with imbibing them in solution, but it depends absolutely on some perversion or weakening of function after all. The true preventive of local as of general diseases is a state of vigorous health. As to ice water, one man's drink is another's poison. Observe what agrees and what disagrees with you. So of lemon juice; it is good for one and bad for another. It is good to drink, as well as to eat, slowly, but not for the reason given above. Thirst is a demand of the system for replacement of the moisture carried off in the excretions, especially through increased heat of the body from any cause. The stomach is the chief organ for absorbing the water supply, and the healing dryness of its drained absorbents makes itself felt and attended to by the more sensitive but not always dryer, upper portions of the alimentary canal, the throat and mouth. Cooling is agreeable to these, but watering in the stomach is what they essentially need, and would do the business independently of them, and so would an external bath. We should say: drink slowly, and drink with your stomach, as you should eat; and when it stops absorbing and begins to fill up, let the mouth stop.

A MATTER FOR THOUGHT—ROADS.—How to get good roads may well be discussed by farmers' clubs during the winter, and should be thought about by every farmer. How important this matter is, is shown by the following statement made by Mr. Rudolph Hering, president of the Equitable Club, of Philadelphia: A load which one horse can draw on level iron rails will require, on smooth, level asphalt road, one and two-third horses; on bad Belgian pavement, three and one-eighth horses; on good cobble-stone road, seven horses; on bad cobble-stone road, thirteen horses; on ordinary earth road, twenty horses; on sand road, forty horses.

Good roads not only save horse flesh, but vehicles. Take what are ordinarily called "good roads" and "bad roads," and a vehicle used on the first only will last twice as long, at least, as one used on the latter only. No one can doubt that country roads would be fifty per cent. better than they now are, if the labor and money put upon them were properly applied. How to have that work and money properly applied is the matter to be discussed now, that the best methods may be ready for adoption when the season for road-making comes. Whether or not the road-bed should be only surface-drained, or under-drained with tile, or by putting in a corduroy foundation; whether or not gravel or plank should be used; how best to use gravel, or plank or tile—these are points to be decided before spring. The farmers' clubs should also discuss specifically the repair of each highway in the neighborhood. This will lead, among other things, to an understanding whether or not it will be proper to shorten a highway by straightening it; whether a road that now goes around a hill should be carried over it by grading down the hill, or whether making a road longer by carrying it around a hill will be compensated for by the less grade; how to keep weeds from growing in the highways, to seed the adjacent land, and many other points which, thus being settled, would greatly add to the improvement of the roads.—American Agriculturist.

PREPARING SUMMER SUPPLY OF WOOD.—All work which can as well be done now as some months hence, should be done before the rush of spring work. Preparing the summer supply of stove-wood can better be done now, than in the spring or summer. The pieces can be slodded up now, which is easier and speedier than hauling them in a wagon. The temperature is more favorable to chopping, which is a job for cold weather and not for hot weather. And now green wood can be cut, and will be seasoned when wanted; whereas, if the supply is prepared only as needed, dry, hard wood must be cut, or else the housewife be subjected to the vexations of burning green wood. The smaller branches are best prepared for the stove by using the ax exclusively; but the butts and the larger branches are best worked up by sawing them into stove-wood lengths with a cross-cut saw, and then splitting them with the ax. Stove-wood can be made very rapidly in this way. Light, soft wood, thoroughly seasoned, is the best summer stove-wood. It makes a quick, hot fire, and dies down quickly without coals, allowing the room to cool rapidly after the meal is prepared. Save the dense, hard wood for winter. White elm and cotton-wood are the best of all for summer stove-wood, and are scarcely fit for anything else. The blocks of hickory (usually), oak, etc., are best split through the heart; but cotton wood and white elm must be "slabbed off," working toward the heart. Be careful to cut the wood of the proper length. To do so is as easy as to have half the sticks too long, and the other half too short, and will save the housewife much vexation. After the wood is prepared, put it under shelter. Only a rich man can afford to be without a wood house. Those with ready money can build something tasteful, but a structure that will answer every purpose can be built at a cost not exceeding fifteen dollars.—Agriculturist.

Spiritual preachers do not go after popular favor, but popular favor runs after them. Spirituality is a fish that loves from the skies; and with this power from the throne, the pulpit may hope to form electric lines of approach to many minds and hearts.—Rev. J. B. Hoadley.

MISCELLANEOUS.

COLGATE'S CASHMERE BOUQUET Toilet Soap

Established over 80 years. The largest and oldest manufacturers of Toilet Soaps in America. Our Toilet Soaps of all kinds are acknowledged to be the most reliable, being absolutely pure, of high uniform standard, and exquisite delicacy of perfume. THE BEST for chapped hands and delicate skins. Sold everywhere.
COLGATE & CO., NEW YORK.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of America, he accidently made a preparation of Indian Hemp which cured his only child of CONSUMPTION. His child is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. He has prayed to the world that CONSUMPTION can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives his receipt free, only asking two 2-cent stamps to pay expenses. This Herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1,032 RACE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, naming this paper.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING ROSES

For 18 Years our Great Specialty has been growing and distributing ROSES. We have all the Latest Novelties and first standard sorts in different sizes and prices to suit all. We send STRONG, FLOURISHING PLANTS safely by mail or express to all points.

3 TO 12 PLANTS $1. $8 to $25 per hundred.

Our New Guide, 88 pp., describes nearly 500 finest varieties of Roses, the best Hardy Shrubs, & Climbing Vines, and New and Rare Flower Seeds, and tells how to grow them—FREE. Address THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co. Pa.

FREE TO ALL. Our Illustrated Catalogue, containing a complete assortment of the choicest Plants, Seeds, Bulbs, Roots, Small Fruits, Grape Vines, Shrubs and Trees in cultivation, will be mailed FREE to all Applicants. NEW PLANTS, best quality of stock, lowest prices. Satisfaction guaranteed. Address NANZ & NEUNER, LOUISVILLE, KY.

GERANIUMS Free by Mail 15 for $1 00

ROSES A large stock of the best of the new and old varieties also, an assortment of GREENHOUSE & BEDDING PLANTS. Prices defy competition. Illustrated catalogue free to all applicants. Address THOS. A. McBETH, Springfield, Ohio.

Choice Books

THE REPERTOIRE
A New Collection of
HIGH GRADE SONGS
Selected, Composed and Arranged by Geo. F. ROOT
FOR USE IN
High Schools, Academies
And Advanced Singing Classes of all kinds. 224 pages. Price, $1.00 each by mail postpaid, $9.00 a dozen by Express, charges not prepaid.

GOSPEL HYMNS CONSOLIDATED
EXCELSIOR EDITION.

This book contains the same hymns and tunes as the large type edition of Gospel Hymns Consolidated, in the same order and numbered just the same, but by the use of STALLED TYPE the same material is gotten into a less number of pages. The prices of the new edition are as follows.

	By mail Postpaid	By Express Not prepaid
Paper Covers,	45c.	40c.	In ordering this edition specify that you want the Consolidated Excelsior Edition.
Board "	60c.	45c.
Limp Cloth,	65c.	50c.

Former editions still published at old prices.

PUBLISHED BY
THE JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.,
And 19 East 16th Street, New York City.

ESTERBROOK'S STEEL PENS.

Leading Nos.: 048, 14, 130, 135, 333, 161.
For Sale by all Stationers.
THE ESTERBROOK STEEL PEN CO.,
Works: Camden, N. J. 26 John St., New York.

THE IMPROVED ACME
WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only FIVE lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 REWARD FOR ITS SUPERIOR. Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges. Send for circulars. Agents wanted.

ACME, Pat. April 12, '81.
C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.
N.B. Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Also good for Cold in the Head, Headache, Hay Fever, &c. 50 cents.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expenses, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1,13 Main St., Richmond, Va.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
the popular favorite for dressing the hair, restoring color when gray, and preventing dandruff. It cleanses the scalp, stops the hair falling, and is sure to please. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

WE WANT YOU! A live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every county. Salary $75 per month and expenses, or a large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfit and particulars Free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

OPIUM and WHISKY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent Free. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

KENDALL—McCORMICK.—At the residence of the bride's mother, December 23, by Rev. J. H. Stone, Mr. M. B. Kendall to Miss Sallie F. McCormick; all of Lincoln parish, La.

JORDAN—TIDWELL.—In Downsville, La., December 22, by Rev. J. H. Stone Mr. R. S. Jordan to Miss Lucy Tidwell.

MURFF—BARNACASTLE.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Haughton, La., December 26, 1886, by Rev. R. M. Blocker, Mr. A. B. Murff to Miss Cara Barnacastle, daughter of H. Barnacastle, Esq.

HARRIS—HOLLOWELL.—At New Salem Church, Swallower county, Miss., December 26, 1886, by Rev. J. H. Shumaker, Rev. J. B. Harris, of the North Mississippi Conference, to Miss Blanche Hollowell, of Sunflower county, Miss.

Texas Advocate please copy.

WRIGHT—BIRDSONG.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Warren county, Miss., on January 1, 1887, by Rev. R. Bradley, Mr. W. H. Wright to Miss Mattie V. Birdsong.

STEVENS—McIVER.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Oak Ridge, Warren county, Miss., January 11, 1887, by Rev R. Bradley, Mr. W. R. Stevens to Miss Julia McIver.

LEE—BURKETT.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Ringgold, La., on January 13, 1887, by Rev. John P. McFarland, Mr. T. L. Lee to Miss Lydia Burkett, all of Ringgold.

ELLIS—ROUSE.—At the residence of the bride's father, J. W. Rouse, Esq., near Fort Bayou, Miss. by Rev. G. R. Ellis, Mr. J. C. Ellis to Miss Josephine Rouse.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

CLARK.—The tragic fate of Mrs. A. T. CLARK, an elect lady and patient invalid for years, has shocked the wide circle of friends. On January 4 the neighbors were alarmed by the cry of fire. It proved not to be a building, but the chair and clothing of the unfortunate invalid. The negro servant had gone out of the room, leaving her in the invalid chair so near the fire that, either by sparks or actual contact, the clothing caught, and had burned her most horribly before her own groans attracted attention. The particulars of the tragedy are too shocking to relate. She died at seven o'clock next morning. Mrs. Clark was born in Ireland, March 10, 1831, moving with her parents to America, at one year of age, settling at Fort Ann, N. Y; and, having received a liberal education, came to Mississippi as teacher in 1857. In this capacity she excelled, not only developing the intellect, but impressing lasting good upon the moral character of her pupils. On May 13, 1859, she was happily married to M. A. Clark, of Kosciusko, Miss. From this union seven children, five of whom live to deplore, with their father, their inestimable loss.

Mrs. Clark possessed the poetic talent of fine quality. Many of her poems are gems, not only of poetic thought, but of elegant diction and smooth rhythm. A few years ago she was elected by the Press Association of Mississippi to prepare and read a poem before that body. Unfortunately she was stricken with paralysis before the next reunion of that august and appreciative body. Yet, as she lived several years, she at last yielded to the urgency of the press, and published a beautiful poem, which was copied in nearly every paper of the State. Mrs. Clark's home had a "prophet's chamber." The writer of this feeble tribute often rested there. Under the shadow of its cedars, amid the odor of its flowers, this home of the sweet-spirited saint nestled quietly, smiling a welcome that endorsed a lingering stay. There were the birds, whose songs will hardly be so cheery now, and the many paintings and bric-a-brac, the work of her deft fingers. Alas! and these too are mortal! Her Christian experience was deep and rich. She often wondered why she was kept so long a burden upon others. Her independence resisted the suggestion of taking life at the hands of those who were glad to nurse and help. But still in this affliction, like Job, she "sinned not with her tongue nor charged God foolishly." It was a benediction to talk with her. Her room was the resort of all those who loved the pure, the resigned, the refined. Almost once a week met at her room the ladies of the church, and sometimes the entire town, and spent the afternoon in religious or literary conversation. Scarcely a heart but felt the sweetness of a life so chaste and simple. She has not the fame of many who are far inferior. But sometimes I think of her words about her favorite canary. She said: "Joe was not as noisy as some birds, but it seemed to me his voice sweetened at the right time. His songs were not for the crowd; then he would be silent. But when he and I were alone, it seemed as if an angel might be singing through his throat." "So, too," she continued, after a pause, "sometimes God lets his voice sweeten ours in solitude, and we sing notes the great noisy world cannot hear." Sad to know how some are called to suffer both living and dying. The crushed and blasted expectations of a fame that she deserved, but never had; the long struggles with sorrow upon sorrow, added to her hopeless paralysis; and at last the tortures of death by burning, make a record equal to that of a martyr. And who will say, when she is seen among the shining host of martyrs above, she does not grace that throng?

T. A. S. A.

STEWART.—On Tuesday morning, September 7, 1883, at half-past five o'clock, in Waterproof, La., JOHN STEWART departed this life, aged sixty-two years, four months and fourteen days. He was born in Strathspey, Banffshire, Scotland, April 23, 1824; came to America while still a young man, on his way to the just discovered land of gold. Passing through Natchez, Miss., to see friends, he was persuaded by them to remain there. In 1856, he was there married to Miss Indiana Stowers, and about three years later removed to Waterproof, where he has since resided. On September 24 he was violently attacked by swamp fever. After lingering for days on the very verge of the "valley of the shadow," and suffering untold agony, the balance swayed toward recovery. Then dropsy of the heart, for some months incipient, betrayed itself, and his dreadful sufferings were renewed. Now not all the devotion of physicians, friends and family availed to ward off the dread presence of death. The battle was too long, and he was so tired. The heart trouble had been too long at work, and he drifted away before our anguished eyes. Just on the dawn of a beautiful summer morning came the last fluttering breath, and our father awoke to a new life on the "other shore."

When better from the first attack, a friend told him that we had feared death for him. He said, "I knew I was very sick; but I did not fear death." All his children, but one, were so blessed as to be with him to the last. He gave us no parting words, for he was like a great tired child, utterly worn out; but what need when his whole life has been an example of a Christian life, sustained by forbearance, patience, unselfishness. With him the trial question in every act was, Is it right? is it just? is it honest? He enjoyed the confidence of many friends, and had few, if any, enemies. While in Natchez he taught in the Methodist Sunday-school, and we think was connected with that church. However, he was educated in the Scotch Presbyterian Church, and his life was directed by strong religious principle, and his children trained by his own undeviating example of rectitude. Through a long life, in spite of many trials, he always brought home to us a cheerful, hopeful countenance, contented in the love of wife and children.

We have laid him to rest, the kind, loving father and husband, in the strength of a vigorous manhood, and our hearts are left desolate beyond language to express. Sorrow and death are not so rare, and few are the hearts that have not bled for loved ones gone before; but who shall describe the dreadful void in the hearts of his children when the father to whom they never turned in vain for counsel, sympathy and love lies cold and still before them. How blessed indeed then to know that "He doeth all things well," else would our grieving hearts break. But though our hearts are wrung at parting from our darling father, we believe that the same brave spirit that upheld him through his long suffering supported him to the very feet of the Father.

HARDY.—The subject of this sketch WILLIAM HARDY—was born in Edgefield district, S. C., August 12, 1816. He came to this State—Louisiana—in 1837; joined the Methodist Church in Minden, 1839; died in Minden, August 24, 1886. From these figures it is seen that Bro. Hardy had lived out his three-score years and ten, and had been a member of the Methodist Church nearly half a century.

I knew Bro. Hardy about two years; but in this short time I knew him well. He was not hard to learn. He was transparent. He was as simple in his Christian faith and character as a little child. His was no obscure and hidden nature. You knew him at first sight, and you knew him to love him. True, he grew upon you; but it was the growth of first impressions, which were always those of esteem and confidence. He was truly an Israelite indeed in whom was no guile. For about thirty years he was the superintendent of the Methodist Sabbath-school in Minden, and his pupils are scattered all up and down in the land. He was always at his post. Inclement weather, cold or hot, was no barrier to his discharge of duty, and consequently he was always to be found in his place. He never failed. He was an important factor in the prayer meeting also. I found him always on hand until ill health confined him at home. You could always count upon him. He did not waver. He was steady in his living as well as in his purpose. He was ready to work anywhere, and at any time. The family altar was maintained to the last. He worshiped God at home about his own hearthstone as well as in the congregation of saints. Truly, he was a burning and a shining light, and the light shone brighter and brighter until it merged and blended in the light of that holy city which is illumined by the presence and glory of God. We laid our brother away in peace, for after a life of peace his end was peace. Amen!

JAS. J. BILLINGSLEY.

CLIFFORD.—Mrs. ELIZABETH M. CLIFFORD was born at Brentwood, N. H., July 14 1808, and died in Opelousas, La., December 19, 1886. Sister Clifford has been a member of the church, and has known Christ as a personal Savior for quite a number of years. The past four or five years of her life were spent in Opelousas with her son, Capt. J. W. Clifford, where her life has been one of purity and devotion until the Master called her away.

About two months before her death, a little granddaughter, who was the idol of her life, was taken from earth's shadows to heaven's sunshine. She seemed then to think that her stay behind would not be long. And so it was not. Sister Clifford was kind and affectionate to all, and in her religious profession was simple and sincere, and seemed to "live within the veil." Indeed, and in truth, her "conversation (citizenship) was in heaven." Her sufferings, which at times were very great, she bore "as seeing him who is invisible." She was conscious to the last moment, and without a shadow entered and crossed the river. Among her last utterences she gave full assurance of her entire acceptance, and that the gates of pearl stood wide open for her entrance, and cheered the weeping ones around by the blessed thought that they should be an unbroken family in heaven. May the grace which let her through earth's trials to heaven's triumphs sustain and guide the bereft ones until they all reach the home of the blessed, where "God shall wipe away all tears!" Her pastor,

J. D. JACKSON.

WILDBLOOD.—SAMUEL WILDBLOOD was a native of England, and came to this country when a young man, and soon married. He survived the death of his wife about six months. On December 11, 1886, he triumphantly passed to his reward, having reached the advanced age of eighty years.

When he was a young man, just starting in life with his beloved companion, he, with her, joined the Methodist Church, and with her lived a very pious and consistent life to its close. He was a man of strong faith, ever praying for the Divine guidance and blessing. Even to the last, during unusually great afflictions, he was much given to fervent prayer. For a time he was an exhorter in the church, striving to arrest the course of the sinner in his mad career. Few were his equals in his devotion to his family, bestowing upon them every kindness which his good heart and hands could provide for them, being very fond of his children; and, in advanced years, of his grandchildren. Undoubtedly, a good man is gone. He said he was ready and waiting his Master's summons. God, grant to his surviving children sustaining and comforting grace in their deep affliction, and, at last, bring all together to the rest that remains for the people of God.

J. W. ELLIBON, Pastor.

Dean Burgon and the Revised Version.

A report having reached the Dean of Chichester that a proposal is to be made at the approaching Canadian Provincial Synod to adopt the Revised Version of the Old and New Testaments, Dr. Burgon writes to the Halifax (N. S.) Church Guardian as follows:

"I take leave in the most respectful manner, but at the same time, without the slightest hesitation, to warn the members of that august body against the egregious error of which they would most certainly be guilty should they, in an unguarded hour, be induced to extend their sanction to a work, which, here in England, is deservedly regarded with universal disfavor; and, by the best informed sort is already recognized as the grossest literary blunder of the age. The fatal feature of the Old Testament portion is the undue partiality it evinces for the corrupt Septuagint Version. But it is in the New Testament that the incompetence of the 'Revisers' most especially comes to light. They have been convicted of falsifying the inspired Greek text in countless places; and the sacred original, thus falsified, they have rendered into English so utterly devoid of taste (as well as destitute of true scholarship) as to provoke the indignation or the derision of every competent reader, who has approached their work without prejudice. Condemned on every side, instead of either attempting some vindication, as well as of their New Greek text as of their New English Version—or else withdrawing silently from public notice—the 'Revisers' have adopted the sinister policy of secretly forcing their spurious wares on an inattentive public and an unlearned age. It would be easy to expose this feature of their policy; but it would lead me away from my present purpose, which is simply to put members of an important and honorable branch of our church on their guard against being defrauded of their birthright by the well meant (but certainly most misguided) efforts of a few of their brethren to palm off upon them one of the foulest Greek texts which has ever seen the light, as well as the most tasteless and unscholarlike of English translations. My humble prayer to the Synod is, after all, but this—that they would like wise men, suspend their judgment. Let another decade of years pass over our heads. Let opportunity be given for passion and prejudice and party spirit to subside. Let men remember that the church is always in time to take a step of this momentous description—if, indeed (which I venture to pronounce incredible), she should ever become thoroughly persuaded that it is her duty to do so. On the other hand, how terrible is the responsibility which they would incur, who, by their unconsidered votes at this time should inflict upon a branch of the Church of Christ a depraved revision of the sacred oracles—even after a faithful warning like the present has been sounded in their ears; and after they have been earnestly implored, in God's name, not to take a step, which, once taken, it will be evermore impossible for them to retract.

Habit is a cable. We weave the thread of it every day, and at length we can not break it. The claims of habit are generally too small to be felt, until they are too strong to be broken. To one who murmured because he rebuked him for a small matter, Plato replied: 'Custom is no small matter. A custom or habit of life does frequently alter the natural inclination for good or evil." After a series of years winding up a watch at a certain hour, it becomes so much of a routine as to be done in utter unconsciousness; meanwhile the mind and body are engaged in something different.

The early months of marriage often are times of critical tumult—whether that of a shrimp pool or of deeper water—which afterwards subsides into cheerful poise.—George Eliot.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There is no reason why persons living in the smallest villages should not have as good facilities for buying Shallenberger's Antidote for Malaria as those who live in larger places. If your country store-keeper don't have it, get him to write to Dr. Shallenberger Rochester, Pa., and get a dozen by mail at wholesale price. People who once know its value will have it at any cost or trouble.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—"Civil Service Gazette."

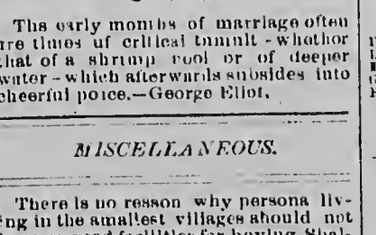
Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.



The Physician's Favorite!

A prefigested, non-irritating, easily assimilated food indicated in all weak and inflamed conditions of the digestive organs, either in infants or adults.

☞ It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

The Most Nourishing, Most Palatable, Most Economical, of all Prepared Foods.

150 MEALS for an Infant for $1.00.

EASILY PREPARED. At Druggists, 25c., 50c., $1

☞ A valuable pamphlet on "The Nutrition of Infants and Invalids," sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BILIOUSNESS

Is an affection of the Liver, and can be thoroughly cured by that Grand Regulator of the Liver and Biliary Organs,

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR,

MANUFACTURED BY

J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

I was afflicted for several years with disordered liver, which resulted in a severe attack of jaundice. I had as good medical attendance as our section affords, who failed utterly to restore me to the enjoyment of my former good health. I then tried the favorite prescription of one of the most renowned physicians of Louisville, Ky., but to no purpose; whereupon I was induced to try Simmons Liver Regulator. I found immediate benefit from its use, and it ultimately restored me to the full enjoyment of health.

A. H. SHIRLEY, Richmond, Ky.

HEADACHE

Proceeds from a Torpid Liver and Impurities of the Stomach. It can be invariably cured by taking

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR.

Let all who suffer remember that

SICK AND NERVOUS HEADACHES

Can be prevented by taking a dose as soon as their symptoms indicate the coming of an attack.

FROM

CAPTAIN THE HONORABLE

ALISTAIR HAY,

3rd Battalion Black Watch,

Royal Highlanders.

(SECOND SON OF THE EARL OF KINSOULL.)

DUPPLIN CASTLE, PERTH, SCOTLAND.

TO THE LIEBIG COMPANY:

"I was in a condition of great debility, consequent upon a broken-down stomach, dyspepsia and insomnia complicated with kidney irritation, when my medical attendant directed me to take your incomparable Coca Beef Tonic. Its effect was simply marvelous. The power of digestion was quickly restored, the kidney irritation vanished, and rapid restoration to health followed.

"Other preparations of Coca had been tried without the slightest effect."

Invaluable in Debility, Dyspepsia, Bilious and Liver Affections, Malaria, Nervous Affections, Nervousness and sick Headache, Sleeplessness, Weak Lungs, Asthma and Female Weaknesses and Infirmities. Beware of Imitations under other alive names.

PRICE

ONE DOLLAR.

N. Y. DEPOT,

38 Murray Street.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

THE WINCHESTER'S HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. For Consumption, Weak Lungs, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and General Debility it is an acknowledged Specific Remedy. TRY IT.

Price, $1 and $2 per bottle. Prepared only by WINCHESTER & Co., Chemists, 162 William street, New York.

Sold by druggists.

ROPE AND TWINES, AMMUNITION, PAPER, TINWARE, Wooden and Willow-Ware,

Axle Grease,
Base Ball Goods,
Blank Books, etc.,
Bungs and Plugs,
Coffee and Grain Mills,
Cotton and Wool Cards,
Cutlery and Files,
Demijohns and Bottles,
Furnaces,
Fishing Tackle,
Faucets—full line.
Handles and Axes,
Kegs—all kinds.
Lamps and Lanterns,
Oars and Oakum,
Oyster Tongs.
Sows and Hoichets.
Sugar-house Lamps,
Screws and Locks.
Sponges and Sponges,
Tumblers and Goblets,
Whips and Lashes,
Stone Jars, Jugs and Cooking Crocks.

Full Line of Fireworks.

J. C. MORRIS,

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas St.

Sole Agency South for the Celebrated HICKOK CALCIUM BURNERS.

WALL PAPER

In all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty

WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS,

UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.

FRAMING NEATLY DONE.

PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS,

RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS

EDWARD HEATH,

No. 75 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

A. Brousseau's Son

23 and 25 Chartres Street.

China Matting,

CARPETS,

INGRAINS,

LACE CURTAINS,

WINDOW SHADES,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Philip Werlein's,

135 Canal Street.

THE GREAT PIANO HOUSE

—OF THE—

SOUTH.

THE PLACE

TO BUY YOUR

PIANOS

—AND—

ORGANS.

Greatest Bargains

Now Offered.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

Ammoniated Raw Bone Superphosphate

PURE GROUND BONE.

200 Pounds to the Acre Will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar Cabbage and Grass Fertilizers.

Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Stern's Fertilizing and Chemical M'f'g Co., 14 Union St., New Orleans.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

All the PATTERNS you wish to use during the year for nothing (a saving of from $3.00 to $4.00) by subscribing for

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine

With Twelve Orders for Cut Paper Patterns of your own selection and of any size.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.25 (THREE TWENTY-FIVE).

DEMOREST'S THE BEST

Of all the Magazines.

CONTAINING STORIES, POEMS, AND OTHER LITERARY ATTRACTIONS, COMBINING ARTISTIC, SCIENTIFIC, AND HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Illustrated with Original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each Magazine contains a coupon order entitling the holder to the selection of any pattern illustrated in the fashion department in that number, and in any of the sizes manufactured, making patterns during the year of the value of over three dollars.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The Largest in Form, the Largest in Circulation, and the best. TWO Dollar Family Magazine issued. 1887 will be the Twenty-third year of its publication. It is continually improved and so extensively as to place it at the head of Family Periodicals. It contains 72 pages, large quarto, 8½x11½ inches, elegantly printed and fully illustrated. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York, AND BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT COMBINED WITH THE

Christian Advocate at $3.25 Per Year

142

GOODWYN'S

☞ NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Dealers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is POSITIVELY PURE, EXCELLENT and HEALTHFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. Its acid is the BEST GRAPE CREAM TARTAR. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE, by Doctors Wm. G. Austin C. J. Bickham, J. J. Lyons, Jos. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. OUR CHEMISTS SAY IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

MRS. P. M. GOODWYN,

234 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION.

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886 with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Rates of board and tuition without music, one hundred and seventy-five dollars; with music two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in similar proportion if the entire bills for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Four pupils engaging a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the regular rates, and tuition in both literary and music department free of charge.

Special vocal training is not included in the regular lessons for music, but will be charged as an additional course in music.

In making engagements for the year, a club of four young ladies who wish to pay all in advance will receive board, tuition and one course in music for $176 25—a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue price; or by paying one half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRACE, Pres.
S. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

MISCELLANEOUS.

H. D. McCOWN,

—DEALER IN—

Men's, Youths' and Boys' Clothing,

HATS, SHIRTS,

—AND—

FURNISHING GOODS,

COR. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

YALE & BOWLING,

WHOLESALE

DRY GOODS AND NOTIONS

17, 19 & 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets, NEW ORLEANS

CATARRH

CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, DEAFNESS, CURED AT HOME. NEW PAMPHLET, FREE. Address, DR. M. W. CASE, 809 NORTH BROAD STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

DR. CASE'S CARBOLATE OF TAR INHALANT.

SEND FOR NEW PAMPHLET. NAME THIS PAPER

SALUDA MIDDLESEX CO., Va., August 29, 1882.

DR. M. W. CASE: I began the use of your remedy for Catarrh and Bronchitis in September, 1879. I tried it faithfully, and it completely cured me. My throat was constantly inflamed. My nasal organs were terribly diseased. Sores covered the inside of my nose from the entrance to the palate. My ears were also affected. I used to bleed from the throat and nose whenever I preached. Now I can preach three times a day and not suffer at all. I am perfectly well. Your friend, (REV.) D. G. O. NUTTS.

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing GOODS,

Successor in Wholesale to

WHEELER & PIERSON,

86 Canal Street. NEW ORLEANS

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.

JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.

GAS FIXTURES,

PLUMBERS,

Steam and Gas Fitters,

—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—

HOME COMFORT RANGE,

TELEPHONE No. 865.

No. 110 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS

FIRE INSURANCE.

MECHANIC'S & TRADER'S Insurance Company.

14 CARONDELET STREET, New Orleans, La.

Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks,

AT LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary. LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Ofr. J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Ofr. (Late Sec., Union Ins. Co.)
R. C. SHORTRIDGE, Collector. F. AUZOUT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Byno. Boyd,	Simon E. Marx,
J. A. Braselman,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. D. Britton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carver,	Wm. A. Phelps,
F. J. Cockburn,	Ben O. L. Rayne,
H. T. Cottam,	G. W. Seniell,
O. Elmer,	A. N. Silbernagel,
J. M. Frankenbush,	W. B. Thompson,
Walter C. Flower,	P. A. Villeruie,
P. G. Gibert,	Jos. Vignes,
Chas. Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
I. L. Lyons,	T. S. Waterman,
Laurent Lacassagne,	Frederick Wing,
T. L. Macon,	W. Y. West,
Robt Maxwell	W. G. Wheeler.

Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders'

INSURANCE COMPANY,

29 CARONDELET STREET,

Paid Up Capital ..... $1,000,000.

ED. A. PALFREY, President,
JOHN PHELPS, Vice President,
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

Issues Policies Covering Fire, River and Marine Risks at the Lowest Tariff Rates.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Noble,	John Chaffe,
Richard Milliken,	Sam'l Friedlander,
R. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lyle Lyon,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	B. F. Eshleman,
Chas. Chaffe,	L. C. Jurey,
Wm. Hartwell,	C. J. Leeds,
A. T. Janin,	A. M. Bickham,
Henry Abraham,	Louis Bush,
A. Brittin,	G. W. Seniell,
Wm. Cunningham,	John I. Adams,
B. T. Buckner,	Wm. A. Gwyn,

Chas. R. Black.

CRESCENT INSURANCE COMPANY.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1846—Re-organized as a Stock Company in 1850.

CASH CAPITAL, ... $460,000.

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1846.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. R. LYMAN, ... President.
CHAS. H. DOLSER, ... Vice President.
CHAS. E. RICE, ... Secretary.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

OFFICE: COR. CARONDELET AND GRAVIER STS.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

J. F. SCHRODER, Chairman.
NEWTON BECKNER, A. DELVAILLE,
RUDOLPH WOESTE.

Assets in the United States $5,148,783 36
Surplus over all liabilities 2,706,199 78

HENRY V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Secretary.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending January 25, 1887.)

COTTON.

Low ordinary	6 15-16 @	— —
Ordinary	7 7-16	— —
Good ordinary	8¼	— —
Low middling	8 11-16	— —
Middling	9	— —
Good middling	9⅜	— —
Middling fair	9¾	— —
Fair	10 9-16	— —
Galveston middling	9	— —
Mobile middling	9	— —
St. Louis middling	8 15-16	— —

SUGAR.

Inferior	2½	3¼
Common	3¼	3½
Good common	— —	3⅝
Fair	3⅝	— —
Good fair	3¾	4
Fully fair	— —	4⅛
Prime	4¼	— —
Strictly Prime	— —	— —
Choice	4⅜	— —
Seconds	4	4⅜
Choice yellow	5⅛	5½
Gray White	— —	— —
Choice whites	5 9-16	5⅝
Stan. Gran	5½	5 15-16

MOLASSES.

Syrup—Open Kettle	— —	— —
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	42	43
Choice	— —	46
Fancy	— —	— —

RICE.

Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	4⅛	4¼
Prime	3⅞	4
Good	3½	3⅝
Fair	3¼	3⅜
Ordinary	2⅞	3
Common	2½	2⅞
No. 2	2	2⅜
Rough	2 40	3 00

FLOUR.

Minnesota bakers	4 62½	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12½
Extra fancy	— —	4 75
Winter wheat patents	— —	5 00
Choice	3 75	3 80
Fancy	4 15	4 25
Extra Fancy	4¼	4 40

CORN PRODUCTS.

Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 25	— —
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White	50	— —
Yellow	— —	52
Mixed	— —	49
OATS:
Western	38½	39
Texas rust-proof	42½	52
BRAN:
₰ cwt	5	8
HAY:
Choice	15 00	16 00
Prime	13 00	14 50

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess	13	— —
Prime mess	11 75	12 00
Rumps	10 25	11 50
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	10	10½
Shoulders	6½	— —
Sides, long clear	— —	7½
Sides, short rib	— —	7½
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	11	11½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5 10	5 15
Sides, long clear	6¼	6½
Sides, short rib	6¼	6½

FISH.

MACKERAL:
Extra No. 1, in bbls	— —	— —
Half bbls	— —	— —
No. 2, in bbls., large	— —	— —
Half bbls	— —	— —

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	10
Fair	— —	15½
Common	— —	13½
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	32	33
Western Dairy	22	23
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6½	6¾
TEAS:
Choice	30	60
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12½	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	36	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, per bead	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 90	— —
KROUT:
Western, ⅓ bbl	— —	5 50
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	3 00	3 25

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
1¾ lb, per yd	7¾	— —
2 lb	8½	— —
BALING TWINE:
⅓ lb	10	— —
TIES:
⅓ bundle	1 00	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 00	3 50
Young Chickens	1 50	2 50
Chickens, South'n	2 50	3 00
Young	1 75	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	6 00	9 00
EGGS:
Western	22	23
Southern	23	— —
WOOL:
Lake, per lb	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Barry	9	12
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ⅓ lb	— —	7
Dry salted	— —	10½
STAVES:
Oak, kegs	— —	— —
Oak, barrels, 33 in	75 00	— —
Oak, claret, 40 in	100 00	110 00
Oak, hogsh'd, 48 in	130 00	135 00
HOOP POLES:
Hogshead, per 1000	38 00	— —
Barrels	18 00	— —
Half barrels	14 00	75
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, per ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	32 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ⅓ lb	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1½	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. RIGGS & BRO., 247 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

JANUARY 18.

O'Grady, a tenant on the Gobbett estate, was evicted after a fight of three hours. During the skirmish crowds of people gathered around the house and cheered the defenders, for which they were vigorously clubbed by the police. ——The London press commenting on "The Conspiracy Bill," has this to say. Pall Mall Gazette declares that the pretense of applying the new law to the United Kingdom is the thinnest veneer, to make believe, deceiving no one. The bill is intended for Ireland alone. As a Coercion Bill for England and Scotland, it will receive the most resolute opposition. We are not going to allow English liberties or privileges to be sacrificed merely because a Tory government finds it impossible to keep Ireland quiet without another turn of screw. St. James Gazette thinks it can do no mischief. ——Admiral Aubr, Minister of Marine, will ask the Chambers on account of the department for a credit to spread over a number of years, but not to exceed 4,000,000 francs. ——The village of Cornwall inundated, causing loss of life and considerable loss of property. ——The Backbone Land Grant Forfeiture Bill passed the Senate to-day. ——The Bill to reimburse the depositors of the Freedmen's Savings Bank and Trust Co. for losses incurred by failure of the company reported to the Senate. —— The Logan fund amounts to $60,069. ——Sunset Cox is improving. ——A wreck on the Queen and Crescent road caused the loss of three lives. ——Gen. S. L. Ross was inaugurated Governor of Texas with a grand military and civic display.

JANUARY 19.

Mr. Goschen is contesting the Exchange division of Liverpool for Parliament, ——The Upper House of the Prussian Diet has unanimously adopted an address to the Emperor, expressing the willingness of the Prussian people to raise the sum necessary for defending the German Empire ——Hiscock has been nominated for United States Senator, from New York. Eugene Hale elected to the United States Senate from Maine. —— Destruction of the Canal street car station, this city, causing loss of $70,000 worth of property. ——A false alarm of fire precipitates a mad rush for the door in a London theatre, and over seventeen persons trampled to death by the frenzied crowd.

JANUARY 20.

H. M. Stanley, the explorer, is organizing an expedition for the relief of Emin Bey. The British government has furnished the expedition with a major and lieutenant of engineers. —— Lord Randolph Churchill, speaking of finances of the government, says that between 1868 and 1874 the management of the finances was fairly good; from 1874 to 1880, not quite satisfactory, and from 1880 to 1885 it was simply infamous. ——Cardinal Jacobini has resigned the office of Pontifical Secretary of State ——Congressman Cox is improving. Dr. Bliss says he is out of danger. ——The extension of the Hawaiian treaty seven years passed by the Senate. ——The Lower House of the Illinois Assembly has passed a bill appropriating $50,000 for the erection of a monument to Gen. John A. Logan in Chicago.

JANUARY 21.

Evictions continue in Ireland. —— Henry M. Stanley started to-day for Egypt. ——The Budget Committee of the Chamber of Deputies has rejected the budget. A cabinet crisis is imminent. The present ministry was formed on the eleventh. ——Monsignor Rampolla del Tinduro, Papal Nuncio at Madrid, has been designated to succeed Cardinal Jacobini as Papal Secretary of State. ——The Interstate Commerce Bill finally passed and is ready for the President's signature. ——Mrs. Senator Voorhies died in Washington.

JANUARY 22.

The new German Liberals of the Second Berlin District met to-day and resolved to support Dr. Virchow against Gen. Von Moltke as candidate for the Reichstag. ——Evictions on the Winn estates were suspended owing to the absence of the sheriff. —— A fire in Memphis caused a loss of nearly $300,000. ——A $50,000 fire at Plaza, Tex. ——At 7:30 this evening the tower of the Gulf Shot and Lead Co. was burned. Loss about $40,000. ——Michael Davitt, the Irish agitator, is on his second visit to the United States. ——The Senate's amendment to the Backbone Land Grant was concurred in by the House.

JANUARY 23.

The campaign has opened in earnest in Germany. The nominations are being made in various districts. Herr Riebter's speech has been published in pamphlet form, and 1,000 copies sold. A rumor is current, but little credited that Emperor William's manifesto will take the form of a letter eulogizing Prince Bismarck. It is rumored that Germany will ask France to explain the meanings of French military movements on the frontier. ——The Spanish government is willing to grant an amnesty to the political exiles. ——A Texas Pacific train waylaid and plundered by masked men; from $10,000 to $20,000 taken. ——A wreck on the Louisville and Nashville near Carmi, Ill.; two lives lost.

JANUARY 24.

The Austrian Landsturm will supply a million men for the army. The military preparations of the Austro-Hungarian government continue unabated. ——The Berlin Boerse Zeitung urges the German government to allay the war scares that are alarming the commercial world. ——France declares that she is not making any military movements on the frontier. The Times states there was another panic on the Vienna Bourse owing to rumors of war preparations. ——The Czar and Czarina are arranging for a tour through Europe in the spring. —— Senor Antonio Fonts, Portuguese Prime Minister, is dead. ——Greece is busy with preparations for war. All arsenals are working night and day. —— The Abyssinians captured Hawsor. ——The Retaliatory Bill passed the Senate by a vote of 46 to 1. —— The Pennsylvania celebrates its fiftieth birthday to-day.

If Sufferers from Consumption,

Scrofula, Bronchitis, and General Debility will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and permanent benefit. The Medical Profession universally declare it a remedy of the greatest value and very palatable. Read: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in several cases of Scrofula and Debility in Children. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure."—W. A. HULBERT, M. D., Salisbury, Ill.

Books and Periodicals.

BOOKS.

HOW TO COOK WELL. By J. Rosalie Beaton. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co. Price, $1 50.

This thoroughly practical book will be warmly welcomed by all housekeepers, who, we are confident, will find it a valuable aid and guide in the kitchen. The author explains that her aim has been not merely to give a collection of receipts, but to teach cooking. The style of cooking given is for the most part suited to people of moderate means, and especial attention is paid to showing how to use in a tempting manner remnants from a former meal. The order of mixing and the time for cooking is given with nearly every receipt, and after many of them the size of the family for which they are intended is stated. If the directions given in the book are carefully followed, the author declares she has no fears for those who learn to cook by its aid, provided they have brains.

—From Cranston & Stowe, we have The Teaching of the Sacred Scriptures Concerning Wine and other Liquors, by Rev. R. N. Davis.

—A Book for Boys, D. Lothrop & Co. The boy can carry this book in his vest-pocket, and it is a good thing for him.

—We have received from J. W. Evans & Co., 130, 132 Camp street, this city, the "Memoirs of Robert E. Lee," his military and personal history, embracing a large amount of information hitherto unpublished, by A. L. Long, military secretary to Gen. Lee, and Brig. Gen. and Chief of Artillery Second Corps, Army of Northern Virginia. Published by J. M. Stoddart & Co., New York, Philadelphia and Washington. It is said that this is the last book read by Gen. Logan. No reader of biography will pass by these memoirs. Gen. Long held intimate relations with Gen. Lee for four years, and in writing these memoirs he has carried out the purpose of Gen. Lee himself. To say that this book is interesting is to say very little. Gen. Lee belongs to the race, and his skill and heroism and endurance reflect credit upon the race, and such a book will but add to the race pride which is kindled by the simple memory that Robert E. Lee lived on the earth, and performed his noble deeds.

PERIODICALS.

—Journal of Education, January. This Journal is growing in interest with each succeeding number. It has articles this month from Dr. Mayo, Pres. Johnston, Prof. Rogers and others, and is well worth the attention of Louisiana educators. New Orleans, La. Price, $1 50.

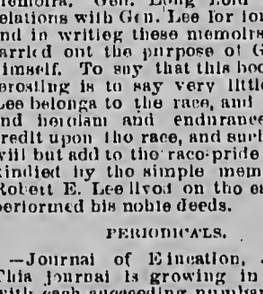
—The Quiver, for February, is on hand already with its good things for its many readers.

—The Magazine of Art, for February, as the young misses would say, "is just too lovely for anything." Both these are from Cassell & Co., 739 Broadway, New York.

—Bumboldt Library No. 86 contains The Unseen Universe, and The Philosophy of the Pure Sciences, by W. K. Clifford. J. Fitzgerald, 108 Chambers street, New York.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL



BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

H. P. BUCKLEY,

Camp Street

Watchmaker,

—DEALER IN—

WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY,

—AND—

SILVERWARE.

A Full Line of Spectacles.
Repairing of Every Description.

CUSHING'S MANUAL

OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE,

Revised by HON. EDMUND L. CUSHING.

The standard authority in all the United States. An indispensable Handbook for every member of a deliberative body. Price, 75c. For sale by booksellers. Sent by mail on receipt of price. Address the Publishers,

THOMPSON, BROWN & CO., Boston, Mass.

Premiums Awarded

—TO THE—

SINGER

MANUFACTURING COMPANY

—BY THE—

N., O., and S. A. EXPOSITION.

FIRST MEDAL

For the Best Sewing Machines for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles, 15c per dozen; two dozen, 25c. All other styles from 15c to 25c. Oil, 5c a bottle. Singer Shuttles, 25c each. Postage Extra. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co,

185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

S. E. BUNDLE, Agent.

Woman's Department of Church Extension.

In the organization of the Woman's Department of Church Extension at the last session of the North Mississippi Conference the following appointments were made: For the Conference at large, Mrs. R. P. Mitchell, Kosciusko; Sardis district, Mrs. M E Featherston, Senatobia; Grenada district, Miss Cora Chamberlain, Grenada; Winona district, Miss Cecil Ramsey, Durant; Greenville district, Miss Sallie Finley, Greenville; Columbus district, Mrs. T. G. Billups, Columbus; Aberdeen district, Mrs. Fannie Clark, Shannon; Corinth district, Mrs. W. M. Inge, Corinth; Holly Springs district, Miss Sallie T. Horton, Mt. Pleasant; Mrs. J. R. Bingham, treasurer, Carrollton.

THOS. Y. RAMSEY,
Pres. Bd. Ch. Ex.

Mississippi Conference Appportionments.

FOR CONFERENCE CLAIMANTS.

Jackson district	$ 600
Brandon "	375
Brookhaven "	550
Woodville "	410
Seashore "	415
Meridian "	550
Vicksburg "	600
Total	$3,500

BISHOPS' FUND.

Jackson district	$ 195
Brandon "	195
Brookhaven "	168
Woodville "	121
Seashore "	113
Meridian "	158
Vicksburg "	195
Total	$1,055

CHURCH EXTENSION.

Jackson district	$ 390
Vicksburg "	420
Meridian "	390
Brookhaven "	330
Seashore "	300
Woodville "	300
Brandon "	270
Total	$2,400

NOTICE.—All communications on business must be addressed to the N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp street. Contributions for the columns of the ADVOCATE should be addressed to the editor, Rev. C. W. Carter, 112 Camp street.

Quarterly Conferences.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brushwood at Lanes	Jan. 29, 30
Arcadia circuit, at Arcadia	Feb. 5, 6
Douglas circuit, at Vienna	12, 13
Vernon circuit, at Oak Ridge	19, 20
Ruston, at Ruston	26, 27
Minden circuit, at Minden	Mar. 5, 6
Tulip circuit, at Tulip	12, 13
Haynesville circuit, at Haynesville	19, 20
Homer circuit, at Homer	26, 27
Farmerville circuit, at Farmerville	Apr. 2, 3
Summerfield circuit, at Alabama	9, 10
Downsville circuit, at Downsville	16, 17
Indian Village circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Ringgold circuit, at Ringgold	30, May 1
Sparta and Saline, at Sparta	7, 8

The district stewards will please meet at the Methodist Church in Ruston, February 26, at three o'clock P. M.

ROBERT BANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	Jan. 29, 30
Winnsboro	Feb. 5, 6
Monroe and Delhi, at Delhi	12, 13
West Monroe, at West Monroe	19, 20
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	26, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof	Mar. 5, 6
Richland	12, 13
Lind Grove, at Bartholamew	19, 20
Oak Ridge, at Good Hope	26, 27
Floyd, at Oak Grove	Apr. 2, 3
Bastrop	9, 10

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the Methodist Church in Delhi, Wednesday, February 16, at 10 A. M.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Mansfield	Jan. 20
Woodside and Ebenezer, at Ebenezer	22, 23
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane	29, 30
Pleasant Hill, at Sodus	Feb. 5, 6
Natchitoches, at Robeline	12, 13
Anacoco and Bellwood, at Holly Grove	16, —
Many and Sabine, at New Hope	19, 20
Coushatta, at Coushatta	23, —
East Point, at Coushatta Academy	26, 27
Red River, at Campo Bella	Mar. 5, 6
Shreveport, at Shreveport	9
Caddo at Friendship	12, 13
South Bossier, at Bellevue	16
North Bossier, at Concord	19, 20
Mooringsport, at Pine Hill	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Shreveport, on Thursday, March 10, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Methodist Church.

J. B. CASSITT, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Abbeville	Jan. 22, 23
Franklin	29, 30
Opelousas	Feb. 5
Washington	6, 7
Patterson ville	12, 13
LaFayette	19, 20
New Iberia	26, 27
Rayne	Mar. 5, 6
Lake Charles	12
German Mission	13, 14
Sulphur Mine	20, 21

District stewards will meet in the Opelousas Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon, February 6, 1887. Let there be a full attendance.

S. S. KEENER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Felicity	Jan. 23
St. Charles Avenue	30
Carondelet	Feb. 6
Grand Tete and False River, at Rosedale	12, 13
German Church, at Frances Street	20
Pinquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaq.	26, 27
Algiers and Gretna, at Algiers	Mar. 6
Louisiana Avenue	13
Morgan	20
Carrollton and Parker Chapel at Carrollton	27
Baton Rouge	Apr. 2, 3

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Whistler	Jan. 1, 2
Franklin Street Church	9
Washington and Vernon, at Sims' Chapel	15, 16
Pleasant Valley and Creola at Pleas. Valley	22, 23
Bladon and S. Stephens at New Hope	29, 30
Taney, at Jones' Chapel	Feb. 5, 6
St. Francis Street Church	13
Citronelle, at Citronelle	19, 20
Baldwin mission, at Sibley's Chapel	26, 27
Ellington and Grand Bay, at Allen's	Mar. 5, 6
St. Paul's	13
Grove Hill, at Grove Hill	19, 20
Suggsville, at Suggsville	26, 27

A. J. LAMAR, P. E.

PENSACOLA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brewton and Pollard, at Brewton	Jan. 1, 2
Evergreen, at Evergreen	8, 9
Georgiana, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Mourneville, at Mourneville	22, 23
Mouleey, at Liberty	29, 30
Gravella, at Mt. Pisgah	Feb. 5
Milton	5, 6
Pensacola circuit, at Warrington	19
Pensacola station	12, 13
Sembler, at Asbury	19, 20
Powelton, at Powelton	26, 27
Douglasville, at Mt. Carmel	Mar. 5, 6
Stockton, at Stockton	12, 13
Repton at Hickory Grove	19, 20
Bay Minette at New Hope	26, 27

W. M. MOTLEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

North Wilkinson, at Hopewell	Jan. 1, 2
Amite, at Salem	8, 9
Clinton, La	15, 16
Jackson, La	15, 19
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	22, 23
Wilson and Centreville, at Wilson	29, 30
Pipkin	Feb. 5, 6
St. Helena, at Pipkin Chapel	12, 13
Amite City, at Amite City	18, 19
Springfield, at Ponchatoula	20, 21
Livingston, at Palmetto (Wednesday)	23
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel (Thursday)	24
Percy's Creek	26, 27
Woodville	27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	5, 6

District stewards meet in Wilson, January 29, 1887.

J. A. B. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Gibson	Jan. 1, 2
Rocky Springs	8, 9
Natchez, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Natchez, at Jefferson Street	16, 17
Washington	22, 23
Beechland	29, 30
Utica	Feb. 5, 6
Burtonton	7, 8
Vicksburg	12, 13
South Vicksburg	14, 15
Fayette	19, 20
Cane Ridge	26, 27
Anguilla	Mar. 5, 6
Mayersville	12, 13
Nelle	19, 20
Roxie	21, 22

W. L. O. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Waynesboro and State Line	Jan. 2, 3
Winchester, at Winchester	8, 9
Shubuta, at Shubuta	15, 16
Jackson, at Andrew Chapel	22, 23
Sandersville, at Sandersville	29, 30
Vossburg, at Vossburg	Feb. 5, 6
Paulding, at Paulding	12, 13
West End, at West End	19, 20
Meridian station	21
Stonewall, at Chunkey	26, 27
Marion, at Marion	Mar. 5, 6
Lauderdale, at Lauderdale	12, 13
DeKalb, at DeKalb	19, 20
Hickory, at Scooba	26, 27
Enterprise	Apr. 2, 3
Adamsville	9, 10

The district stewards will meet in Meridian, Tuesday, February 22, 1887, at eleven A. M.

R. D. SHOWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brandon station, at Brandon	31, Jan. 1
Forest and Morton, at Morton	8, 9
Lake, at Lake	15, 16
Newton, at Hickory	22, 23
Fannin, at Pelahatchie	29, 30
Marvin, at Marvin	Feb. 5, 6
Shiloh, at Clear Creek	12, 13
Westville, at Westville	19, 20
Trenton, at Trenton	26, 27
Raleigh	Mar. 5, 6
Neshoba, at Hester's	12, 13
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	19, 20
Carthage, at Carthage	26, 27
Hillsboro, at New Providence	Apr. 2, 3

B. A. LITTLE, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Jan. 1, 2
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson	8, 9
Hazlehurst	15, 16
Brookhaven	22, 23
Summit, at Johnston	29, 30
Scotland, at Bethesda	Feb. 5, 6
McComb City, at Magnolia	12, 13
Bowerton at Rehobeth	19, 20
Terry, at Bethesda	26, 27
Monticello, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 5, 6
Providence, at Bahala Chapel	12, 13
Franklinton at Tylertown	19, 20
Adams, at Adams	26, 27
Holmesville, at Holmesville	Apr. 2, 3

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	Jan. 1, 2
Poplarville, at Poplarville	8, 9
Flint Creek, at Gartlway's	15, 16
Whitlington, at Coleville	22, 23
Vancleave, at Vancleave	29, 30
Americus, at Cross Bend's	Feb. 5, 6
Bethel, at Bethel	12, 13
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Moriah	19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 27
Seashore, at Long Beach	Mar. 5, 6
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	12, 13
Scranton, at Scranton	19, 20
Moss Point, at Moss Point	26, 27
Covington, at Covington	Apr. 2, 3
Pearlington, at Pearlington	9, 10

The district stewards of Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, will please meet me at (Scott's station) Long Beach, March 5, 1887, at 11 A. M.

T. S. WEST, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Edwards, at Edwards	Jan. 1, 2
Raymond, at Bolton	8, 9
Bolton, at Midway	15, 16
Silver Creek at James'	22, 23
Mt. Olivet at Shiloh	29, 30
Flora, at Flora	Feb. 5, 6
Spring Ridge, at Spring Ridge	12, 13
Camden, at South Chapel	19, 20
Madison, at Madison	26, 27
Yazoo City	Mar. 5, 6
Sharon, at Sharon	12, 13
Jackson	19, 20
Canton	26, 27

District stewards' meeting at Jackson, Tuesday, February 8, eleven A. M., in the lecture-room of our church.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Oxford station	Dec. 25, 26
Water Valley	Jan. 1, 2
Coffeeville circuit	8, 9
Grenada circuit	15, 16
Grenada station	17
Minter City	12, 13
Sunny Side and McNutt	24
Carrollton circuit	29, 30
Pittsboro circuit	Feb. 5, 6
Arlania circuit	8
Banner circuit	12, 13
Lodi circuit	19, 20
Sarepta circuit	26, 27
Tocopola circuit	Mar. 1
Charleston circuit	5, 6
Abbeville	12, 13

O. M. TERRY, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec. 26, 26
Tibbee, at Mayhew	Jan. 1, 2
West Point station	8, 9
Crawford, at Artesia	8, 9
Brooksville, at Brooksville	15, 16
Columbus circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	22, 24
Columbus station	23, 24
Macon station	29, 30
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak	30, 31
Starkville circuit, at Providence	Feb. 5, 6
Louisville, at Louisville	17, 18
Tampico, at Cedar Bluff	19, 20
Chester, at Ackerman	26, 27
Platsburg, at Kilough Chapel	Mar. 5, 6
Sturges, at Sturges	12, 13
Hebron, at Cooksville	19, 20
Walthall, at North Union	26, 27
Salem, at Ridgeway	Apr. 2, 3
LaGrange, at Ebenezer	9, 10

S. S. PORTER, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Okolona station	Jan. 1, 2
Verona and Tupelo, at Verona	5
Shannon circuit, at Palmetto	8, 9
Richmond circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	15, 16
Smithville circuit, at Shiloh	22, 23
Pontotoc circuit, at Pontotoc	29, 30
Buena Vista circuit, at Concord	Feb. 2
Houston and Wesley, at Wesley	5, 6
Sparta circuit, at Palos Inn	12, 13
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer	16
Okalona circuit, at Blackwell's Chapel	19, 20
Prairie circuit, at Lebanon	23
Aberdeen station	26, 27
Caledonia, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 2
Athens circuit, at Friendship	5, 6
Tremont circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	9
Fulton and Smithville, at Smithville	12, 13

AMOS KENDALL, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Baldwyn at Baldwyn	Jan. 1,
Booneville and Rienzi, at Booneville	8, 9
Corinth station	15, 16
Corinth circuit, at Rox's Chapel	18
Iuka circuit, at New Salem	19
Harmony circuit, at Harmony	21
Iuka station	22, 23
Kossuth circuit, at Kossuth	29, 30
Marietta, at Hodge's Chapel	Feb. 5, 6
Blackland, at Pisgah	12, 13
Pleasant Ridge, at Friendship	19, 20
Ripley and New Albany, at Ripley	26, 27
Ripley circuit, at New Hope	Mar. 2
Jonesboro', at Jonesboro'	5, 6
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon	12, 13

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Richland, at Pickens	Dec. 18, 19
Kosciusko station	25, 26
West, at West	31
Walden, at Walden	Jan. 1, 2
Ebenezer, at Centre Grove	7
Durant, at Lexington, at Durant	8, 9
Carrollton and Greenwood, at Carrollton	13
Winona	15, 16
Black Hawk, at Black Hawk	21
Eldon, at Jordan's Chapel	22, 23
Winona circuit, at Salem	29, 30
Newport, at Bethel	17, 18
Sallis, at Springdale	Feb. 6, 6
Mc Cool at Bethel	12, 13
Ethel, at Liberty Chapel	19, 20
Newtonville, at White Hall	23
Zilpha, at Wesley Chapel	26, 27
Belzona, at Belzona	Mar. 5, 6
	12, 13

R. P. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Batesville and Wesley	Dec. 18, 19
Sardis	25, 26
Como and Fredonia	Jan. 1, 2
Cockrum circuit	8, 9
Hernando and Cold Water	15, 16
Horn Lake circuit	22, 23
Lewisburg circuit	29, 30
Senatobia circuit	Feb. 5, 6
Senatobia station	7, 8
Chulahoma circuit	12, 13
Mount Vernon circuit	19, 20
Pleasant Grove circuit	26, 27
Memphis circuit	Mar. 5
Eureka circuit	5, 6
Panola circuit	8

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale	Dec. 19
Jo etown	20
Anguilla	Jan. 2
Cleveland	9
Fasonia	16
Lulon	23
Arcola	30
Concordia	Feb. 6
Mound Bayou	13
Bolivar	20
Friar's Point	27
Greenville	Mar. 6

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, March 5, 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. W. LONNOLL, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Holly Springs station	Dec. 25, 26
Eyhalla and Victoria, at Eyhalla	Jan. 1, 2
Holly Springs circuit, at Waterford	8, 9
Marshall, at Institute Church	15, 16
Early Grove, at Hudsonville	22, 23
Olive Branch, at Center Hill	29, 30
Snow Creek at Avery's	Feb. 5, 6
Pine Mountain, at Searcy Chapel	12, 13
Ashland, at Ashland	16, 20
Hickory Flat at Ebenezer	26, 27
Emory, at Emory	Mar. 5, 6
Commerville, at Bethlehem	12, 13
Shelby Creek, at Bethel	19, 20

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 5. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1592.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

O. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Subscription, - - - $2 per annum.
Ministers and wives of deceased Preachers half price.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HENNICUTT.
REV. T. I. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

GROWING OLD.

Softly, oh softly, the years have swept by thee,
Touching thee lightly, with tenderest care;
Sorrow and death they have often brought nigh thee,
Yet they have left thee but beauty to wear:
Growing old gracefully,
Gracefully fair.

Far from the storms that are lashing the ocean,
Nearer each day to the pleasant home light;
Far from the waves that are biz with commotion,
Under full sail, and the harbor in sight;
Growing old cheerfully,
Cheerful and bright.

Past all the winds that were adverse and chilling,
Past all the tides that lured thee to rest,
Past all the currents that lured thee unwilling
Far from thy course to the land of the blest;
Growing old peacefully,
Peaceful and blest.

Never a feeling of envy nor sorrow
When the bright faces of children are seen;
Never a year from the young wouldst thou borrow—
Thou dost remember what lieth between;
Growing old willingly,
Thankful, serene.

Rich in experience that angels might covet,
Rich in a faith that hath grown with thy years,
Rich in a love that grew from and above it,
Soothing thy sorrows, and hushing thy fears;
Growing old wealthily,
Loving and dear.

Hearts at the sound of thy coming are lightened,
Ready and willing thy hand to relieve;
Many a face at thy kind word has brightened—
"It is more blessed to give than receive;"
Growing old happily,
Ceasing to grieve.

Eyes that grow dim to the earth and its glory,
Have a sweet recompense youth can not know;
Ears that grow dull to the world and its story,
Drink in the songs that from Paradise flow;
Growing old graciously,
Purer than snow.

—Evangelist.

A Fifty Years' Survey.

BY REV. J. B. WALKER, D. D.

MR. EDITOR: Fifty years ago, October last, I went to my first circuit in the Tennessee Conference. In this half century of itinerant life I have noted some things that may have sufficient interest to justify their publication.

1. Our circuits were larger then, and had more appointments than now. There were good reasons for this; population was sparser, support was more difficult to obtain. We had much of the field to ourselves; we had little competition; many communities had to hear us or not hear at all. My first circuit—a four weeks' circuit—had twenty-four appointments in the twenty-eight days. All the days, save Mondays, were preaching days. My second appointment was made by my senior, the preacher in charge, for his convenience—a five weeks' circuit (an awkward affair), thirty appointments in thirty-five days. Under this system there could be but little visiting "from house to house," and only limited opportunities for study. But increase of population, of resources, and competition from other denominations, has necessitated smaller circuits, more Sabbath preaching, increased pastoral oversight, and more study and better and more various pulpit preparation. This change has been an improvement, and productive of good results.

2. I think I note a marked improvement in the prayer meetings; they are better attended, are more judiciously and profitably conducted, are more interesting and useful than formerly.

3. Fifty years ago, when our people were fewer, more scattered and less affluent, our churches were far less commodious, comfortable and attractive than now. On the circuits the church buildings were often small log structures without stoves, or chimneys, badly lighted and uncomfortably seated. In the towns and cities the churches were most generally badly located, on some out-of-the-way street or suburban quarter—economy being consulted at the expense of comfort. Both in the country and the towns there was almost a total disregard of architectural taste and comfort—mere boxes, simply made to hold so many hearers. Now in these aspects all has changed for the better. Churches are not only built to seat a certain number of people, but are built in the most eligible and accessible localities, and, like Aaron's divinely ordered vestments, made "for glory and beauty." The immense growth of the Sunday-school has caused the introduction of facilities and comforts for the children, unknown in our churches fifty years ago.

4. Our ministry, as a whole, are far more comfortably supported—the salaries much larger, parsonages more numerous and more comfortable than formerly. The largeness of the circuits, the constant absence from home, and the meagre support necessitated most married preachers in a few years to ask a location, and go into some secularity to secure the means of living. There was a large annual loss to the traveling connection and to the church, of matured wisdom, of practical experience, of the prestige of honorably won character. The ranks of the itinerancy were largely filled with inexperienced young men, necessarily narrowly read, with little knowledge of men or ecclesiastical affairs. True, they were godly, heroic, zealous, self-denying men, but necessarily lacked the large reading, the wide observation and the matured judgment so essential to the best and most permanent success. All this has been changed, as we see it, greatly for the better.

5. Our preachers, as a class, are far better educated. It was at the close of my first itinerant year that the "four years' course of study," suggested and prepared by Bishops Emory, and Paine (then president of Lagrange College, Alabama), was introduced and adopted by the Tennessee Conference, and soon by the General Conference. This course was an immense improvement on the course that previously obtained. It was a two years' course, with one examination at the close of the second year, before admission into full connection. It was composed of rather a miscellaneous mass of books. The candidates read of them what they pleased; some one and some another book. The examinations were most superficial and slipshod affairs—little system or thoroughness. The four years' course, with its specified books for each year, and its regularly appointed committees and annual examinations, was a long and imminous forward step. Fifty years ago I do not think we had more than a half dozen colleges, all told, in the United States, and these were young, weak, struggling institutions. At that date a half dozen church papers, with limited circulations, exhausted our educative resources in that direction. Books were less numerous, cheap, and accessible than now. But our literary apparatus in all its phases has largely widened and brightened in fifty years, and ignorance and dullness have become as inexcusable as they are intolerable.

6. As we have already indicated, there has been a great forward step in all the phases and facilities of education. The Methodists, North and South, have some fine and well-equipped universities. We have many excellent and steadily improving colleges with wide curriculums, and hosts of collegiate institutes, high schools and academies. We are writing books, publishing books and collecting libraries. We are publishing magazines and first-class reviews, and our weeklies were never so numerous, nor our standard of journalism so high and broad as now. Then the prejudices and indifference once felt in regard to culture are passing away. I remember in 1837, when it was proposed to introduce the four years' course of study, that it was stubbornly opposed. It was charged with being a dangerous step towards theological schools—then denounced as "gospel shops for turning out man-manufactured preachers"; but it is now admitted that men may be called of God who are holy, consecrated, useful and learned, like Wesley, Luther, Chrysostom and Paul. Knowledge is power, and sanctified knowledge is a power for good.

7. In no direction has our church changed and advanced so much as in the direction of benevolence. In years past a member of the Baltimore Conference, stimulated by the unusual report of a few hundreds raised for missions, ventured in this hopeful zeal to predict the time would come when Baltimore Conference would annually raise a thousand dollars for missions! No doubt some of his conservative brethren thought him an over-sanguine and hopeful man. Now, I suppose, the various Methodisms cultivating that same field reap for the Master for missions full fifty thousand dollars as an annual harvest. The Christian men among us are more and more realizing the Divine teaching that, "It is He that giveth thee power to get wealth;" that the gold and silver are the Lord's, the world and the fullness thereof; that we men are but the honored stewards and almoners of the various wealth which God has put into our hands to be used for his glory. We are in this direction very far below the scriptural standard; but it is matter of congratulation that we are steadily moving up towards it. We shall (that live to see it) witness grand things and liberal when the millions of our Sunday-school children, taught the duty and the habit of giving, come to the front and administer the wealth of the church.

8. It is occasion of devout thanksgiving that, in the direction of doctrine, "we walk by the same rule, and mind the same thing" that our heroic, sainted and orthodox fathers did. In fifty years of public life in the ministry I note no change in the doctrines of our communion—man's depravity and imperative need of conviction, repentance, faith in Christ, pardon, regeneration, the witness of the Spirit, and constant need of fidelity and spiritual growth, with every provision in the atonement to secure to us sinners these blessed and essential consummations. With changing times, one doctrine or another has been and will be more stressed than another; but our ministry and our people are still "earnestly contending for the faith which was once delivered to the saints."

As good men, enduring hardness as good soldiers, fall in the fight and ascend in triumph to be forever with their risen Lord, brave, but younger hands catch their falling mantles and, with buckled harness, press to the front, and shout to the battle. The Lord of hosts, the God of battles, is honoring our fidelity, and crowning our consecrated valor with greater and greater victories. The Lord of the harvest is pouring down ten thousand Pentecostal showers on the wide spreads of our Zion. Our increase was never so great as now, and I doubt not the boy is now in Sabbath-school who shall live to see "the gospel preached to all nations," and the triumphant shout come up from a thousand lands—"Aleluia!" "the Lord God omnipotent reigneth." Amen! So I "bless God and take courage."

NEW ORLEANS, Louisiana.

The Size of a Congregation.

The size of a congregation, whether large or small, is determined by comparison. The standard may be the capacity of the house or the ease of speaker and hearer in the proclamation and hearing of the word. What would be a large congregation in a village or country church would be a mere cypher if placed in St. Paul's, at London, or in St. Peter's, at Rome. Usually we speak of a large or a small congregation, as referring to the number of persons present in comparison with the room afforded for the hearers.

There is an unexplained influence exerted by a large crowd of hearers upon the speaker. If they are in sympathy with him and his theme; if his sentiments meet with approval, and there is a thrill of emotion in response to some grand thought or lofty emotion, the speaker becomes moved, his genius inspired, the theme grows more interesting and the mind more active in argument or illustration, in clearness of statement, or force of appeal. If the audience is small and not in accord with the topic of the speaker or interested in the manner of its conduct, the listless look, the wandering eye, the vacant or restless expression produces a chilling effect on the speaker. Still more of the effectiveness of the speaker, outside of himself, depends upon the fixed attention given even by the few, the response expressed by the eye and the face of the hearers. A good listener who can enter fully into the spirit and design of the speaker is a necessary element of success. There is large inspiration in "a sea of upturned faces," when the truth, the argument, the promises of the gospel are evidently finding ready, willing acceptance, and the enkindled light of the soul shines through the glowing eyes, the speaking face, the interested, eager attitude of the listener.

It is but human nature for both preacher and people to judge of the success of the gospel by the crowds that attend it. Frail self will intrude itself at the sacred altar or in the pulpit. Self-gratulation will be grateful at the crowd of hearers, or pride may be mortified because of the few that attend. To a certain extent this is a good rule of success in gospel preaching, but it is very variable. "John was a burning and a shining light, and ye did rejoice in him for a season." Jesus, the grandest preacher man ever heard, was not only left, at times, almost alone, when he preached searching, self-humbling truth, but "they besought him to depart out of their coasts."

If the preacher is a mere sensationalist and only delights the imagination, or charms eye and ear with gesture and oratory, or utters principles which release men from self-denial and cross bearing, and their personal dependence upon the blood of Jesus and the creating, renewing power of the Holy Spirit, crowds will attend, immense popularity will the preacher enjoy. Such preaching and such crowds are ephemeral; they are dying in the midst of their greatest apparent success. If, on the other hand, the gospel is presented in a simple, plain, loving, unpretentious, fearless manner, with the patient real purpose to do men good, to save souls rather than gain human applause, and the congregations are large, spiritual, and without any criticism on anything but individual interest in Christ, and the expressed desire for a deeper work of grace, then the preacher feels he has God's impress of approbation, a public recognition and blessing of the great Head of the church.

To find our congregations growing less on our hands, and those present uninterested and listless, should effect more than a sense of mortified self-love. There should be careful inquiry as to the cause of the decline, and the use of good common sense, as well as appeal to Divine aid, to remedy the difficulty and to remove the cause. The fault may be with the ministry; it may be in the people. Largest exercise of wisdom is necessary in preparation of the spiritual food, and in the manner of administering it. The fault and the remedy may often be found either in the character of themes presented or in the pastoral care of the flock.

It is a matter of largest encouragement to those who are really, or in imagination, afflicted at the comparatively small size of their congregations, to recall the valuable fact that two of the grandest sermons on record were delivered by the great Preacher to a congregation of one. We refer to the sermon to Nicodemus and the one to the Samaritan woman at Jacobs' well. Nowhere is the doctrine of the new birth more plainly and fully presented and beautifully illustrated than that sermon by night. What a loss to earth and to heaven if John had not recorded that interview and that sermon! The other sermon to the Samaritan woman gives the fullest, completest idea of the spirituality of God and the worship which he requires and accepts. How lofty the thoughts that lift man up out of his blindness and himself, and holds out, "God is a spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." The world should ever hold in grateful memory Nicodemus and the nameless woman at the well, as the occasions of hearing Christ's dear words: "Ye must be born again;" "Ye must worship neither at Jerusalem nor in this mountain; but ye must worship God in spirit and in truth."

Human pride and denominational zeal often build too large and too costly churches. Sectarianism would erect its own grand monument in a temple dedicated to God. Yet from the size of the church, it is difficult for the preacher to present the gospel or for the hearer to receive the message. The design of the gospel is thwarted. The tax is too great on lung power. The effort to be heard chills fervor; the mind loses its ready, elastic force; the difficulty of hearing destroys interest in the congregation, and the otherwise red-hot shot have so far to travel that they lose their force and their heat before they reach judgment, conscience or heart of the people present. Whatever may be the relative size of the church, the building should be rigidly constructed on the laws of correct acoustics. A gospel imperfectly heard, or heard only by great effort, loses much of its force; and on the altar of architectural pride the word of the Lord is sacrificed.

Everything else considered, that is a large congregation, regardless of numbers, which comes up to the house of the Lord to worship God; and, hungry and thirsty for the bread of life and water of salvation, brings a heart free from care; and, sitting under the droppings of the sanctuary with earnest ear, and eager, grateful, trusting heart, waiting for the word from the lip of the minister. Such a congregation breathes a vital atmosphere of prayer and trust, and calls down from heaven, on pulpit and pew, the living fire. An earnest, consecrated preacher, with "the unction from on high," will attract people to hear him. The clerical crank or jester may attract for a while by oddity and eccentricity of thought and expression, of voice and manner; but his influence must soon die. If there is plenty of genuine honey, fresh from the rock, present it in the pulpit; the bees will swarm to it. Still, whether we deem the congregation large or small, there are souls present who must be saved; and, in honesty and fervor, we should deliver our message, and leave the Lord of the harvest to take care of the seed, and by faith we should expect and claim sheaves as our reward now and at the great harvest.

W. H. ANDERSON.

CARLISLE, Kentucky.

Synopsis of the Interstate Commerce Bill.

As this is one of the most important and far-reaching acts of legislation that has ever emanated from the halls of Congress, we give our readers a full synopsis of the bill:

The Interstate Commerce Bill, as agreed upon by both houses of Congress, in its first section applies the provisions of the act to any common carrier engaged in the transportation of passengers wholly by railroad, or partly by railroad, and partly by water, when both are used, under a common control, management or arrangement, through more than one State or Territory, or from any place in the United States to any adjacent foreign country.

It defines the term "railroad" to include all bridges and ferries used or operated by any railroad. All charges made for any service rendered in the transportation of passengers or property shall be reasonable and just and every unjust and unreasonable charge for such service is prohibited and declared to be unlawful.

Section 2 makes it unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to charge, demand, collect or receive, directly or indirectly, from any person or persons, a greater or less compensation for any service rendered in the transportation of passengers or property than it charges, demands, collects or receives from any person or persons for doing for him or them, a like and contemporaneous service in the transportation of a like kind of traffic under substantially similar circumstances and conditions.

Section 3 makes it unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of the act to make or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality, or any particular description of traffic. Every common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall, according to their respective powers, afford all reasonable, proper, and equal facilities for the interchange of traffic between their respective lines, and for the receiving, forwarding and delivering of passengers and property to and from their several lines and those connecting therewith, and shall not discriminate in their lines and charges between such connecting lines.

Sections 4 and 5, the long and short haul and pooling sections, are as follows:

SEC. 4. That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier, subject to the provisions of this act to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or of like kind of property under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line, in the same direction, the shorter being included within the larger distance, but this shall not be construed as authorizing any common carrier within the terms of this act to charge and receive as great compensation for a shorter as for a longer distance; provided, however, that upon application to the commission appointed under the provisions of this act such common carrier may, in special cases, after investigation by the commission, be authorized to charge less for a longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers or property, and the commissioners may from time to time prescribe the extent to which such designated common carriers may be relieved from the operation of this section of this act.

SEC. 5. That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to enter into any contract, agreement or combination with any other common carrier or carriers, for the pooling of freight of different and competing railroads, or to divide between them the aggregate or net proceeds of earnings of such railroads, or any portion thereof; and in any case of an agreement for the pooling of freights as aforesaid, each day of its continuance shall be deemed a separate offense.

Section 6 requires that, after ninety days from the passage of the act, every common carrier subject to its provisions shall have printed, and keep for public inspection, schedules showing rates, fares and charges, and in addition to requiring the railroads to give publicity at all the depots on their several lines, it gives authority to the commission, where it is proper and necessary, to require them to give publicity to their rates to other places beyond the lines of their several railroads.

It also provides that the rates, fares and charges shall not be raised except after ten days of public notice, but that they may be reduced without previous public notice, the notice, however, shall be simultaneous with the reduction itself.

Section 7 makes it unlawful for any common carrier to enter into any combination or agreement to prevent the carriage of freight from being continuous from the place of shipment to the place of destination.

Section 8 declares that any common carrier violating the provisions of the act, shall be liable to the person or persons injured thereby for the full amount of damages, sustained in consequence of such violation, together with a reasonable counsel or attorneys' fee.

The ninth section provides that persons claiming to have been damaged by the action of common carriers may proceed for the recovery of their damages, either in the courts of the United States or before the commission herein provided for, but not before both tribunals.

The tenth section makes it a penal offense to violate any of the provisions of this act, and puts the maximum of the fine which may be imposed at the sum of $5,000.

The eleven following sections contain the commission features of the bill. They provide for a commission to consist of five persons, whose term of office shall be for six years, except for the first appointments, which are to be for two, three, four, five and six years. The members of this commission are to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Their principal office shall be in Washington, but they may hold sessions at other places than Washington, and a single member of the commission may take testimony anywhere, as may be directed by the commission. These commissioners have salaries of $7,500 each.

The commission has the power to appoint a secretary, with an annual salary of $3,500, and has authority to employ and fix the compensation of such other employees as it may find necessary to the proper performance of its duties, subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior.

Section 22 provides that nothing contained in this act shall abridge the remedies now existing at common law or by statute. Section 23 appropriates $100,000 for the purpose of this act for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1888.

Section 24 provides that the provisions of Sections 11 and 18 of this act, relating to the appointment and organization of the commission herein provided for, shall take effect immediately, and the remaining provisions of this act shall take effect sixty days after its passage.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1887.

THE GLOAMING.

When the shadows softly enfold
Round the corners of the room,
And the crimson firelight flickers,
Brightening up the twilight gloom,
What a mystic spell steals o'er us,
Seated in the gloaming there!
What a crowd of vanished faces
Draw around our lonely chair!

Those we knew in early childhood
Those who soon were called home,
Smile upon us from the ingle,
Where the red is fast a-glow.
All the loved ones gone before us,
All the loved no longer near,
Passing out from midst the shadows,
To our yearning sight appear.

And our eyes grow dim with longing,
And our hearts throb high with pain,
For we long to greet the lost ones,
And to clasp each hand again.
But the gloaming softly doth,
And our vision fades away,
Till we know we can not greet them
Till the glad eternal day.

When the shadows never gather,
And the twilight never falls,
But the glorious sunlight ever
Soureth on they spirit wails.

—Exchange.

How Shall We Get Our Church Literature into the Hands of Our People?

Mr. Editor: The question I ask at the head of this article is, to me at least, one of great importance. We have one of the best managed publishing houses on the continent, where cheap books, printed and put up in the best style, can be manufactured in any quantity needed, and yet in the region of country where I have mostly lived for the past thirty or forty years there is a great scarcity of Methodist literature, especially of the class of books, expounding, defending, and enforcing our views of scriptural doctrines, experience and the duties of practical Christianity. I do not remember to have seen in the hands of our people a new set of Wesley's Sermons or Fletcher's Checks, nor many of our catalogue books of any sort, for the last twenty years, except Disciplines and hymn books, and nothing like a full supply of them. I ask the question, What is the matter? I believe we illiterate preachers are greatly at fault. Our disciplinary law is still very emphatic, which requires every pastor "to see that all the people within the bounds of his charge be duly supplied with our books and periodicals." But few among our pastors ever see this any more. They seem to have neither taste nor talent for selling our church literature, though they are allowed a premium on their sales that may be considered an ample compensation for their labor in selling. But our pastors are so well provided with parsonages and living salaries that they do not care to add a handsome sum to their salaries as well as untold benefit to the souls of their people by "seeing that all in their bounds are duly supplied with our books and periodicals."

Why is this so? It did not use to be so. When our single preachers in the long ago got only a hundred-dollar salary per annum, and the married ones as much more for their wives, they often doubled the amount of their meager salaries by the premiums they received on the sale of our denominational literature. Could I evoke from the dead the testimony of such men as Ebenezer Hearn, Thomas Clinton, Arsamus L. Nash, and many others of my early colleagues, I could show what wonders were performed by them in selling broadcast our Methodist literature over their large circuits. They had their saddlebags made to order for the purpose of carrying books along to supply the wants of their parishioners. These books made scores and hundreds of our best members. Once in the olden days an earnest discussion was going on in the session of an old Calvinistic Church of long standing on the question, "How is it that the Methodists are spreading so rapidly everywhere and so many of our congregations are leaving us and uniting with them?" The laymen in the session had many conflicting opinions as to the cause of the increase of the Methodists and decrease of their church, when the venerable old pastor arose, and said: "Brethren, I believe I can tell you where the trouble comes from. It comes from those pernicious books which the Methodist circuit riders are getting into every family in the land as far as they can. In many places you can scarcely find a log cabin that has not the cracks between the logs lined with neat little volumes of Wesley's Sermons, doctrinal tracts, Fletcher's Checks, Oliver's Reputation, hymn books, Disciplines, and many others too numerous to mention. Here is the cause of much of our trouble."

Yes! that old brother was about correct in his views of the matter. Those pernicious books, as he called them, sold broadcast by the Methodist itinerants in the last century and a half, have turned the world upside down on many important points of doctrine and experience. It seems to me sometimes that half of our success may be attributed to the orthodoxy and spiritual power of our church literature. Then, brethren, let us remember and carry out our solemn vow, "to see that all the people within the bounds of our charge are duly supplied with our books and periodicals." Eternity alone can reveal the amount of good we can be instrumental in doing in this way. If you will let me have an informal experience meeting, I will tell my experience about books in my next article.

J. G. JONES.

Hazlehurst, Mississippi.

Drifting in the Snow.

Mr. Editor: Our fourth year on the Trenton circuit, Brandon district, Mississippi Conference, closed with the last session of the Mississippi Conference, and I must say four of as pleasant years as I ever spent anywhere; but, as the law is unchangeable, and we were obliged to move, the Bishop read me out for Shiloh circuit, same district. So, after the Christmas holidays were over, I came down to my circuit to make arrangements to move, and, as they have no parsonage, we rented a house and made arrangements to move at once. So the day was set to move on the fifth of January, and on the fourth of January that liberal-hearted layman, John Chapman, of Cato, sent me a team and all was in readiness to start down the fifth morning. But to our sad surprise, just after dark, the snow commenced falling and continued till after midnight; so the next morning the earth was covered about eight inches deep—the largest snow I ever saw. And now, what must be done? The team there, and all ready. Well, we just had to hang our harps on the willows, and sit down and wait for the sun to shine to thaw it. The day passed slowly away, and no sun to thaw us a pathway through the snow. So on the sixth our wagoner was restless and wanted to go, and we were a little anxious too; so we loaded, and off we drove through the snow, it being yet about six inches deep. Not a foot of land to be seen anywhere; but the whole face of the earth covered with snow. And, as is common, we overloaded so that I saw that some of us would have to walk, and, as I was the largest, it fell to my lot to walk most of the time. You may imagine it was pretty hard work in the snow to keep up with mule teams; but I determined not to be left. When I had down grade it was tolerably easy going, but when I had to pull 177 pounds up hill it made me blow. I was faithful to the end of my journey, and about sunset we landed at our new home, having only about nineteen miles to move. And we were thankful.

The next day that noble-hearted preacher's friend, Dr. C. R. Norman, came over to see us, and to see what we needed, and was soon followed by his lady, Mrs. Norman, and Miss Alice Stapleton, with a box and baskets well filled with the necessaries for the body; and also on the same day by Dr. Sam Stapleton, with kind words and some of the substantials of life for himself and Bro. Yates, one of my stewards. Next day Bro. Holifield, from Clear Creek, representing his church, brought us a good load; also Bros. Sam Douglas, Mury and Bros. Thompson Clark, Banister Clark and Sister Yates (saying nothing of money received) sent us good things, and last, but not least, Mr. John Tucker, a member of the Baptist Church, and his father and mother, have sent us many expressions of kindness.

So, Mr. Editor, you see while we have had no storm, we have had a continual gale all the while, and still they come. There may be a storm yet; but I am not afraid of it. So you see I am encouraged to go forward and do the best I can for this kind people, praying God to send his choicest blessings upon them this year. We hope to have a parsonage ready by the first of May. Dr. Norman gave us the land, and proposed to pay for the building if the circuit will furnish the material. And I know they will do that; so we will have it.

We hope and pray for a general revival in the bounds of Shiloh circuit and throughout the land.

We hope to be able to do good work for the Advocate.

A. D. MILLER.

Cato, Mississippi.

Reminiscences of the Port Gibson and Grand Gulf Charge in the Early Years of My Ministry.

In the interim of my two pastorates of this charge there had been at Port Gibson an accession of several members of the church, who added greatly to the spiritual power and social influence of our church, which neutralized to some extent the odium sought to be attached to it by the allegation of ignorance and membership of the common people, while another communion claimed the intellectual and the elite of society.

Joshua Kelly, James S. Mason and Benjamin Humphries were among the number of male members who identified themselves with the fortunes of Methodism. Joshua Kelly, an energetic and successful mechanic, brought to the services of the church a true and devoted heart, and as liberal a soul as ever throbbed in the human breast, giving beyond his means to the struggling church of his choice. James S. Mason, then a merchant and now the facile and popular editor of the Iteveille, gave great comfort and aid to his minister by his counsel and prayers, gifted in the congregation. Benjamin Humphries, representative and senator of his county, and afterwards a general of the Confederate forces in the great struggle for constitutional liberty, and governor of the State of Mississippi, transferred his membership from the country to the town, and gave his undemonstrative and powerful influence to the church. I can not refrain from a digression in giving the salient points of the character of this eminent native Mississippian—my life-long friend, social, religious and political. He was one of nature's noblemen, a rare combination of the elements which constitute true greatness. He was simple and unaffected in his characteristics, a graduate of West Point, a wealthy planter, one of the most popular men in the county. It was generally understood that "Old Ben" was of the people and with the people—their idol. With rare common sense, a discriminating judgment and ready adaptation to any exigency in battle or in the councils of State, he stood firm as a rock at the head of his command in the fiercest of the fight when the legions of the foe sought in vain to overwhelm him; or, unmoved at the head of the government of his State, he said, No! when legislation contrary to his convictions solicited his sanction. This genuine man gave his great influence to the Methodist Church in her struggle for position in Port Gibson, and well could she lean on his strong arm.

Gradually and surely, as everywhere, Methodism progressed and developed under the ministrations of the learned and unlearned clad in Heaven's panoply of power. In after years there were other families of wealth and intelligence—the Humphries, Jeffries, Davenports, and others—who came into the church, and she ranked with the leading communions where she had so long and hard a struggle for existence and respectability.

We will take a cursory view of the secret of the power of our beloved Methodism in her grand history and world-wide influence. Although Methodism was born in a college, Wesley learned early in the development of his wonderful life a secret, through his keenly observant mother, that has proved the inspiration of the church and given it its vitality: that "James Maxwell and John Nelson were as evidently called of God to preach as was Wesley himself." Acting upon this conviction of the Spirit of God, Wesley put in motion the grand system that has stirred humanity to its profoundest depths. With this call of God the learned and unlearned, as was Paul and Peter, have gone forth in the fulfillment of their mission and have proven the most wonderful evangels of the most wonderful ecclesiasticism that has blessed the world since apostolic times. There can be no question that Methodism, in her ecclesiastical economy of doctrine and itinerant training, has produced the most effective ministry since the days of the apostles, after which it is modeled under the guidance of divine Providence, which Mr. Wesley so earnestly sought. Among these mighty lay preachers the great Winans and the genial and suave Drake contributed their power in the establishment of Methodism in Port Gibson.

H. M. HOOTH.

Carrollton, Miss.

Mr. Editor: Our town was recently visited by Geo. O. Barnes, who preached nearly two weeks. He is now a member of the Church of England, but has not been ordained to preach. He preaches that hell is limited, and all will finally be saved; that as soon as he gets to heaven he will ask permission to go to hell and preach to those who are there expiating their sins, and comfort them. He says he will get permission to go, for Christ himself went there and preached to these then in hell. He preaches that Job, in his affliction, was a poor fool to think, and say, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord," and, "Tho' he slay me, yet will I trust in him." But his wife was a level-headed woman when she told Job to "curse God and die," if God had afflicted him. If God would afflict him (Barnes) as Job was afflicted, he would curse him and run away from him. He says the doctrine of the atonement is the most devilish heresy ever preached; that when God made man, man sold himself to the devil, who then had a right to him. And God respected the devil's right and bought man back just as a man would buy a horse. The devil fixed the price (God's own life), and God gave it. He denounces theology constantly. (I suppose he means all theology that does not suit his theology.)

There was no conversion here that I know of. While he invited persons to accept Christ, his main object appeared to be to reform the faith of the churches. He is now in Greenwood, and proposes to visit other places in the State. These lines are written that our people among whom he may go may know beforehand what kind of doctrines he preaches.

J. R. BINGHAM.

A Correction.

Mr. Editor: The minutes of the Mississippi Conference are just out in excellent style. Please allow me to make the following corrections in the report from Wesson and Beauregard, which charge I served last year, viz.: The minutes show 97 net gain in membership. It should be 130 net gain. Two churches are valued at $500. It should be $1,500. One parsonage is valued at $100. It should be $1,100. How such a keen-eyed man as our statistical secretary could make such a mistake from as plain figures as were on my report, is a little surprising. This error may lay at the door of the printer, or it may be a lapsus penna of the secretary. However it is no less an error, and you will please give this correction a place in the Advocate.

Your fraternally,

B. F. JONES.

Woodville, Miss., Jan. 22, 1887.

Good News from Brookhaven, Miss.

Mr. Editor: There is much to encourage us as we begin our year's work. The preacher has a pleasant home. Congregations are good. The Sabbath-school is well organized and duly attended. Three weekly prayer meetings, supported by the presence and prayers of our people, contribute largely to the spiritual strength of the church. The Woman's Missionary Society is in fine working order, and the Wesleyan Aid Society—that invaluable performer of manifold works—is enthusiastically at work under the management of intelligent and consecrated officers. A committee of gentlemen, assisted by the ladies of the Wesleyan Society, have taken in hand the work of repairing the church building, and we are expecting important improvements to result from their labors. We are favored in having resident among us Bishop Galloway, Rev. J. M. Weems, our presiding elder, and Rev. W. B. Murrah, one of the professors in Whitworth College.

The Bishop preached for us on last Sunday morning, and at the close of the sermon took up a collection to meet the assessments for foreign and domestic missions, church extension, Conference fund, Bishops and education. The full amount necessary was raised and "the decks cleared." The church seems to be in good condition for active and effective work. May God help us to do our full duty!

A. F. WATKINS.

January 20, 1887.

(This is certainly a very fine start for the year. Bro. Watkins and his church have nothing to do now but to work for the salvation of sinners. Let every individual member save, at least, one sinner.—Ed.)

To the Preachers in the Brookhaven District.

Dear Brethren: By the time you read this you will have received the assessments made on your respective charges by the district stewards for 1887. Please do yourselves the credit and your charges the justice to secure the full amounts assessed in subscriptions and in cash at once, and be sure to collect the assessments for foreign missions and church extension during the first quarter and forward the same. By delaying these collections until the close of the year you not only incur the risk of bad weather, but you are in the way of your stewards, who unfortunately too often make the same hurtful delay. Let everyone remember that faithfulness to the Lord, and not merely faith, secures the blessing. I know there is a universal cry of hard times. But have those who cry, sought in earnest prayer and study of God's Word the cause of all this trouble? Are they willing to charge that the Lord has ceased to be merciful, or do they realize that it is a just chastisement for the unfaithfulness of those who have so sacredly vowed to support the institutions of the church?

The disasters of the past year afford food for serious thought for those who would be thoughtful. If we believe what we profess and teach, that there is not only a Providence over all things, but there is a Providence in all things, then may we look into our past conduct in our relation to this church vow for the real cause of our distress. Then let us, as preachers and people, begin the new year by bringing a liberal offering to the Lord. And for this we shall receive a blessing upon the labors of our hands, as well as in our souls.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

Who Wants Books?

Mr. Editor: I have a library of school books of, perhaps, sixty volumes, embracing almost every variety of text books usually taught in our schools, from Webster's Spelling Book to Davies' Legendre. On account of our itinerant life these books have accumulated from time to time, as we would change schools, which would frequently necessitate a change of text books also. I take this method of saying that, with the exception of a few volumes, I wish to donate these books to some one of our needy church schools out West or elsewhere. Any of these schools can have them by paying cost of transportation. Address Mrs. J. S. Parker, Benton, Yazoo county, Miss.

January 20, 1887.

Reporting at Conference.

Mr. Editor: More than once it has been suggested to me by laymen that our statistics at Conference on ministerial support should itemize, so as to show, on circuit, what each church was assessed and what it paid. We have some churches that never fall behind, and they would like to get credit for same, since other churches of the circuit do not pay up, and thereby cause the whole church of the circuit to suffer censure for not supporting their pastor.

Doctor, let us know what you think about it.

H. M. BLOEKER.

Bellevue, Louisiana.

Wanted.

The following numbers of Bledsoe's Southern Review: January, April, July, October, 1867; October, 1868; October, 1869. Can any reader of the Advocate furnish any or all of them? I will gladly pay for them or exchange duplicates of other numbers for them, and feel greatly obliged.

A. F. WATKINS.

Brookhaven, Mississippi.

A Gale at Cockrum.

Mr. Editor: I seldom write for the paper, but I want to tell you of a highland gale we had way up here in the hills of North Mississippi. It began on the tenth day after I moved into my new home. It blew ashore hams, lard, meal, potatoes, turnips, chickens, etc. It continued until the night of the fourteenth, when it culminated in a tremendous pounding. Well, sir, I was never pounded before—well, yes, but not in that way. About seven P. M. the pounding began. I was then pounded around till I had sugar, coffee, rice, pickles, soda, dried fruit, canned fruit, butter, etc. I tell you, Mr. Editor, it was a joyous and profitable pounding for the writer and his. The young people gathered in one room and amused themselves in several laughable games, while we old folks enjoyed ourselves in pleasant conversation. Thus were two hours spent. After which we sang several sweet songs of Zion, closing by thanking God in humble prayer for his mercies, and invoking his blessings upon the dear children, young men and ladies and the brethren for their thoughtfulness and appreciation of their pastor, which found its expression in the pounding. Thus closed a pleasant eve, long to be remembered by the writer. God bless the good people of Cockrum!

H. L. VAUGHN.

Stanley and Emin Bey.

Our readers have learned from the secular press that Stanley, the African explorer, who was in this country lecturing upon Africa, was recalled by the King of Belgium to take command of an expedition for the relief of Emin Bey, who was surrounded by hostiles on the upper Nile. A few days ago Stanley left England for Zanzibar, to carry out this design. No doubt our readers have asked: Who is Emin Bey? And how did he come to his present position of peril? The following from "The Swiss Cross" will help to understand the situation:

When General Gordon fell at Khartoum, it was reported that an Egyptian army far up the Nile, commanded by Emin Bey, continued faithful to the Khedive. Since then only vague rumors have reached us; and it was generally believed that Emin Bey and his army had long since been overcome by the Mahdi, his followers dispersed, and he himself killed. Within the last month, news has been received that Emin Bey is alive, and, though neglected and forgotten by the Khedive and his English rulers, is still fighting under the Egyptian flag against the followers of the Mahdi.

About ten years ago Emin Bey, then Dr. Schwitzler of Silesia in Austria, went to Egypt and entered the service of the Khedive. He soon acquired the confidence of General Gordon, his commanding officer, and was rapidly promoted, and sent on several important missions into the southern part of Egypt. As a reward for his ability and success, he was made Emin Bey. When General Gordon was sent to the Soudan, Emin Bey was given command of the upper Nile, with headquarters at Lado, near Gondokoro. Here he was stationed when General Gordon was sent the second time to the Soudan. General Gordon was soon after besieged in Khartoum by the Mahdi, and his communication both with upper and lower Egypt cut off. Emin Bey gradually retreated with his soldiers and their families up the Nile, fighting as he retired, and defeating the Mahdi in several battles, until he made a permanent settlement at Wadelai, on the Nile (not far from Lake Albert), at the extreme southern limit of Egypt. His people are negroes from Nubia and the Soudan. For the last two or three years they have supported themselves by the cultivation of the land. 'All the stations are busily employed in agricultural work, and at each one considerable cotton plantations are doing well; this is all the more important for us, as it enables us, to a certain extent, to cover our nakedness. I have also introduced the shoemaker's art, and we now make our own soap," writes Emin Bey.

It is for the relief of these "prisoners of the Soudan" that Stanley has gone on his present expedition. And he will open the way for the gospel to the very heart of the Dark Continent.

The Mormons in the Meshes.

The following synopsis of the Anti-Polygamy Bill, passed by the National House of Representatives, is taken from an exchange for the benefit of our readers:

Based upon the Edmunds' Bill passed by the Senate in January last, this bill has materially strengthened it by the incorporation of new and radical sections, and by providing more detailed machinery for the enforcement of the law. It substitutes for the transfer of the administration of the Mormon Church estate to a Board of Trustees appointed by the President, a clause dissolving the corporation, with that of the Emigration Fund Society, and directing the Attorney General to wind them up by process of law. It provides penalties for unlawful intercourse, declares polygamy, defined as a marriage between one person of one sex and more than one person of another sex, a felony, and makes the lawful husband or wife of any person prosecuted therefor a competent witness against the accused. It provides for the registration of all marriages, deprives polygamists of the right to vote, and requires a test oath of all persons desiring to vote that they will obey the laws of the United States, and especially with respect to crimes defined in this and the original Edmunds' Act. It further annuls all territorial laws for the identification of the votes of electors at any elections, as also laws conferring on territorial courts the power to determine divorce cases, and prohibits female suffrage, hitherto a potent weapon for the protection of the political power of the church. Proceeding upon the principle that only the most stringent measures can succeed with a community which insists upon living under the constitution while acting outside of it, it goes to the fullest limit of legislative authority in coping with the case. It strips the territorial legislature of the functions which have enabled it to embarrass the federal government, breaks down the power of the church over the schools and business of the territory, and reduces it to a par with other denominations. It annuls the laws for the organization of the territorial militia and the creation of the Nauvoo legion, places in the hands of the governor the appointment of sheriffs, constables and justices of the peace, and provides for the immediate appointment by the President of judges and selectmen for the county and probate courts. Every loophole of evasion, apparently, has been stopped, and the provisions of the measure made so sweeping and comprehensive that, if it fails to solve the problem, no other legislative remedy need be tried.

A Literary Curiosity.

The most remarkable paper that we have ever known read before a public body is an "Essay on Inspiration" by Mr. L. H. Sullivan, of which he relieved himself at the Third Annual Convention of the Western Association of Architects. It is in three parts: first, Growth, a Spring Song; second, Decadence, an Autumn Reverie; and third, The Infinite, a Song of the Depths. Two "interludes" separate the parts from each other. His astonished hearers were informed that, "orbital and responsive, colored to its rise high-noon and twilight, revolves the planetary spread of nature round the attracting and illuminating soul"; that "when in its predestined course the world of hope moves past another vernal equinox, in spring-time ecstasy, amid the soft persuasive rays of fixed serenity of purpose he will emerge from this abode of gloom, and, greeting the warm air, will rise again into a nobler, greater life, to bear as rich fruition a more complex sympathy, a metamorphosed insight, a profoundly changed belief"; and that "in tranquillity of meditation the soul unites with nature as raindrops unite with the sea, whence are exhaled vapors, under the hot and splendid sun of inspired imagination—vapors rising through the atmosphere of high endeavor, to drift away in beauteous clouds borne upon the imponderable wings of purpose, to condense and descend at last as tangible realities, sometimes in gentleness, sometimes in sombre fury, as the rotating seasons call." Again, he says: "Action ever attends on flushed and procreant purpose, continually mounting with it toward the shifting summit of desire." And once more: "The species of departed and once spontaneous art-growth, which arise from their natural graves and walk abroad, clad in tenuous garbs, like other phantoms and mock realities must vanish with the dawn of artistic vitality." After these specimens of the writer's exuberant rhetoric, it is not surprising to hear him exclaim: "Elohim! Elohim! In utter darkness I!" or speak of "the alluring rainbow of my thoughts," or "jetsam from the wreckage of my hopes." What he means by his apostrophe to spring we can not guess: "Abysmal Spring! the ruyrisd nebulæ were surf upon your cosmic shores!" No, not even in sleep, though "fitful sleep" is said by him to be "a coverlet ingeniously contrived of self spun gossamer, subtly shuttled through and through by dextrous guesses."

We have not the pleasure of Mr. Sullivan's acquaintance, but we are strongly impressed with the belief that his supersensitive soul should be carefully wrapped in cotton, laid upon a bed of crumpled rose leaves, and preserved, in a glass case, in the National Museum.—International Record.

Some of our readers are recalled to the memory of the fact that we once had, in a certain place in the bounds of the Advocate circulation, a writer and speaker who could walk all around Mr. Sullivan in a literary production and not get up a perspiration. The "planetary spread of nature," "metamorphosed insight," "atmosphere of high endeavor," "imponderable wings of purpose," "cosmic shores of abysmal spring"—those are mere nothings compared to what we have read and heard from our quondam friend.

Something Else Coming.

According to the Interior, another moral question is coming into politics, which will undoubtedly raise a pretty stiff breeze of moral indignation. Says the Interior:

A father might to-day tramp all over Chicago with a son who wanted to learn an honest trade, so as to become a useful citizen, and fail, unless he took him to the manual training-school and paid tuition for him. Hundreds of boys are now thus taught handicraft at the expense of fathers who can afford to pay for it. But let a poor man's son try it, and he will be met at the door of the factory or shop by a walking delegate of the Knights of Labor and turned away. If that does not do, his young face will be bruised by brutal fists, and so will the faces of those who stand by him. If anyone supposes that there is any limit to this kind of opposition—any point at which the would-be monopolists of labor will draw the line of limitation upon themselves—he does not understand depraved human nature. If individual liberty to acquire skill and earn bread and control earnings, is not protected by law, and by resolute public sentiment behind that law, then a reign of absolute lawlessness is visible not very far distant in the future. The disbarred classes on one hand and like employing classes on the other will join hands and fight for their rights. The violence will not very long be all upon one side, and the violence which has human liberty and rights back of it will win. We are always glad to see a tyrannical and heartless employer forced to do right by "organized labor;" but when organized labor determines to rob the American boy of his birthright, then it is evoking moral and material forces against itself which will not fail to beat it to pieces.

Many are always hunting for their faith—looking to see if they have any fail it—wanting to see their faith. But we do not want to see our faith, any more than we want to see the ugly water mains which are purposely hidden from view. We do not want to see our faith, any more than we want to see the glass in the telescope. A glass in a telescope that could be seen would be defective. We want a glass there so clear that we can not see it, but the object beyond it. We want to see the Star of Bethlehem, the Sun of Righteousness, the heaven sparkling with twinkling gems; but we don't want to see the glass that makes them visible.

Books.

Books are sent to us, like grace, according to our day—just as God sends our other friends and masters in the order. "As you grow ready for it," says George Macdonald, somewhere or other you will find what is needful for you in a book." Many of the greatest prophets in the literature of the world wear a veil before their faces till the hour comes for discovering themselves to us. "All books grow homilies by time," says Bulwer. So that it is by no means lost capital to have volumes in our libraries which we have not yet cared to read, but which others have certified. Some day we shall find that the veil is lifted to us also. They have not come down to us, but we have gone up to them. They have bided their time with godlike patience, like the sun, till our side of life has swung round into the range of their illumination. It is a great event when the book and the man come together. Emerson puts it in a characteristically cold and unwontedly feeble way when he says, "In every man's memory, with the hours when life culminated are usually associated certain books which met his views." Rather, they gave us views, and cleared the views we had. They revealed us to ourselves. They spoke the word which had been growing secretly in our hearts and knew not how to express itself on our feeble lips. They came to our life, flapping sail, and we are bounding over the waters with a new inspiration and on new voyages of discovery. This was the mission of Carlyle and Ruskin and Wordsworth to the last generation. Whose is the mission to this realistic and nil admirari generation?

A suggestive criterion to apply even to the best literature is whether they have the elements of authority. There is leadership in books, as in men. There are world-books which have played the same part in human thought, and hence in history, as the Cyruses and Alexanders and Lincolns in affairs, or as Raphael or Wagner in art. But I allude more particularly to a certain grasp upon our intellect and will, of which we are conscious in some writers and not in others. They may belong to any department of literature. Others may have given us more enjoyment or more immediate help. But these have held us and perhaps dominated us. We felt that we had not so much taken them in hand as they had taken us. It may be to the more ministry of a pulsant intellectual force. It may be the power of an earnest purpose. It may be the serene sway of what we call wisdom. It may be the subtile but potent touch of a broad and tender sympathy. It may be the same indefinable impression of greatness or goodness which we feel in the presence of some man and woman.

If possible, and as far as possible, have your own books. Only, as I have already suggested, let your library be a growth, and not a construction on any one's plan. When you feel sure about a book for the permanent value of its "wisdom," or need it for "use," or crave it for "delight," or are drawn to it from "piety," buy it, and bring it home with the feeling of a mediæval master-mason when he set a new stone in his cathedral walls. Buy one at a time. Let its acquisition be a separate transaction and expedition; and, if you can, bring it home under your arm. To drop into a store and order a great bundle of volumes sent home is to lose the true flavor of book-buying—as if one should cram down his strawberries by the bushel. Neither do as I did when, quite a boy, smitten with an ambition to begin a library, and taking Chancellor Kent or some other friend of education as my guide, I went to a store with a long list—the first on the list being, I think, Polybius! Fortunately, the prospect of becoming insolvent long before I reached any of the books that I really wanted deterred me from becoming a foolish builder of wood, hay and stubble, instead of gold, silver and precious stones.—F. N. Zabriskie, in Lippincott.

Col. Joseph H. Thornton, of Cincinnati, O., an honored war veteran, was for 18 years a victim of that old soldiers' complaint, chronic diarrhœa. Two dozen bottles of Warner's safe cure restored his liver to health and cured his ailment. His daughter was very ill of an obstinate disorder, which the best physicians failed to relieve. She had also palpitation of the heart, intense pain in the head, nervous dyspepsia, and all her vital organs were involved. By three months' faithful home treatment with Warner's safe cure, alone, she was fully restored to health. That was two years ago. The cure was permanent. Col. Thornton will tell you it is true if you write him and enclose a stamped envelope.

Annexation.—The first annexation to the United States was the Province of Louisiana. France received $15,000,000 from our government for it. The articles of convevance were signed at Paris, April 30, 1803, by Livingston and Monroe on the part of the United States, and by Barbe Marbois on the part of France. By this purchase 1,171,931 square miles were added to the area of the Union, including nearly all of the Mississippi Valley. The next addition was Florida, ceded by Spain to the United States in return for the payment by the latter country of claims of American citizens against Spain, amounting to $5 000 000. The limits of Florida at the time of purchase were the same as now. Texas was annexed without the formality of a treaty, in 1845. It added 876 133 square miles to the Union. New Mexico and Upper California were acquired as a part of the results of the Mexican war, although Mexico was appeased for the loss by the sum of $15,000 000, and Texas was afterwards paid $ 0,000 000 for that part of New Mexico east of the Rio Grande. The area of the republic was thus increased by 545 783 square miles. By the Gadsden treaty of 1853, the United States acquired from Mexico, for the sum of $10,000,000, the possession of the Mesquita Valley, comprising the southern part of Arizona, an area of 45 535 square miles. By the treaty of March 30, 1867, Russia ceded the whole of Alaska, 577,390 square miles, to the United States, receiving therefor the sum of $7,000,000. The total number of square miles of territory acquired by these annexations, was 2,772,040, more than three-quarters of the total area of the Union.—The Round Table.

Captain George B. Wiltbank, 119 Spruce street, Philadelphia, Pa., if now on land, will, if you write and enclose a stamp for reply, tell you that "three years ago when in Central America, he was prostrated with kidney and liver trouble of a very serious nature. He was delirious, akin very dark, liver enlarged one-third, stomach too sensitive for the simplest food." Seven bottles of Warner's safe cure completely cured him and saved his life.

Good Advice.—The churches must move on—and faster than everything else. They must not forget the "old paths," but they must open new roads and make them broader. They can not convert the world soon enough by present methods. They must branch out. Saving a few hundred people in a town is not enough. Everybody needs to be saved, and has a right to opportunities for salvation. The gospel is free, and everybody should have his share of it, which is all of it. There should be employed in no department of effort such enterprise and such activity as should be employed in the work of the churches. We don't say what churches—but all churches. The world's greatest, most imminent need is not food and raiment. It is spiritual help and regeneration. Men need a Divine uplift an inspiration—to enable them to be worth feeding and clothing—to make a proper return for the investment made in them. They need to lead new lives—to enter upon a career of unselfishness, purity, honesty, steadfastness to truth and right principle. Without these qualities they are moving on—crablike—backwards, and getting farther and farther away from reformatory influences, and toward death and destruction. So the church must move on at once—and spread out and reach out and grapple with all elements of society—all races and grades of men.

The church has, indeed, commenced to move. The idea which not long ago prevailed, that a pastor has about so many men, women and children to care for, and that when those were saved he could take a vacation, is already obsolete. It is also unworthy. The pastor is a Christian citizen, and the members of his flock share his responsibility and his grand privilege and opportunity. They must move on—and move on altogether—with those of other churches and all true reformatory and uplifting institutions.—Globe-Republic.

Proprietor H. B Kinney, Weldon House, Earlville, N.Y., was run down by overwork and threatened with Bright's disease, followed by stone in the kidney and bladder, which produced intense pain and spasms. A council of physicians did him no good. He passed fresh blood from the urinary organs. Everything else failing, he was finally fully restored to health by Warner's safe cure, as hundreds of thousands of other acute sufferers have been. Don't take Warner's word for it. Write Mr. Kinney (enclosing stamp), and ask your friends and neighbors about Warner's safe cure.

Comparative Longevity of the Sexes. The Hebrew women are the longest-lived, and the colored men the shortest. It appears from the gathered statistics of the world, that women have a greater tenacity of life than men. Nature worships the female in all its varieties. Among insects the male perishes at a relatively earlier period. In plants the seminate blossoms die earliest, and are produced in the weaker limbs. Female quadrupeds have more endurance than males. In the human race, despite the intellectual and physical strength of the man, the woman endures longest, and will bear pain to which the strong man succumbs. Zymotic diseases are more fatal to males, and more male children die than female. Deverge asserts that the proportion dying suddenly is about 100 women to 700 men. 1,080 men in the United States, in 1870, committed suicide, to 285 women. Intemperance, apoplexy, gout, hydrocephalus, affections of the heart or liver, scrotula, paralysis, are far more fatal to males than females. Pulmonary consumption, on the other hand, is more deadly to the latter. Females in cities are more prone to consumption than in the country. All old countries not disturbed by emigration have a majority of females in the population. In royal families the statistics show more daughters than sons. The Hebrew woman is exceptionally long-lived; the colored man exceptionally short-lived. The married state is favorable to prolongation of life among women. Dr. Hough remarks that there are from two to six per cent. more males born than females, yet there is an excess of more than six per cent. of females in the living populations.—Popular Science News.

Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria are spread by contagion, by the transfer of living matter. These particles come from the skin, the membranous lining of the mouth, nose and throat, and from the intestines and urinary organs. Disinfect promptly and thoroughly with Darbys Prophylactic Fluid, the great germ destroyer.

Prof. H. T. Lupton, of the Vanderbilt University, Tenn., says: "As a disinfectant and detergent Darbys Prophylactic Fluid is superior to any preparation with which I am acquainted."

Curiosities of Science and Nature.—Gold beaters, by hammering, can reduce gold leaves so thin that 282,000 must be laid upon each other to produce the thickness of an inch, yet each leaf is so perfect and free from holes that one of them, laid on any surface, as in gilding, gives the appearance of solid gold. They are so thin that if formed into a book, twelve hundred would only occupy the space of a single leaf of common paper; and an octavo volume of an inch thick would have as many pages as the books of a well stocked library of fifteen hundred volumes, with four hundred pages in each. Still thinner than this is the coating of gold on the silver wire of what is called gold lace. Platinum and silver can be drawn to wire much finer than human hair. A grain of blue vitriol or carmine will tinge a gallon of water so that in every drop the color may be perceived. A grain of musk will scent a room for twenty years, and will at that period have lost little of its weight. A burning taper uncovered for a single instant, during which it does not lose one-thousandth part of a grain, would fill with light a sphere four miles in diameter, so as to be visible in every part of it. The thread of the silkworm is so small that many of them are twisted together to form our finest sewing-thread. But that of the spider is finer still, for two drachms of it by weight would reach four hundred miles. In water in which vegetables have been infused the microscope discovers animalcula of which many thousands together do not equal a grain of sand; and yet nature, with a singular prodigality, has supplied many of these with organs as complete as the eye of the whale or of the elephant, and their bodies consist of the same substance, ultimate atoms, as that of man himself. In a single pound of such matter there are more living creatures than of human beings on the face of the globe.—Central Christian Advocate.

A Curious Study.

Sir Isaac Newton constructed a house for his cats. For the convenience of the cat he cut a large hole in the entrance; for the equal convenience of the kitten he cut a smaller one, and it was not until his attention was called to it that he realized the fact which one would suppose must be self-evident to the feeblest understanding, that the large hole would have served them both. The author of the "Principia," one of the grandest works of the human intellect, failed to perceive that a kitten could go through a hole made for a cat. Richard Brinsley Sheridan hired a suburban villa, and two days later received a visit from a friend, who was told to climb the fence in order to enter the house. "But why not open the gate?" the friend inquired. "Because I can't untie the string." "Why don't you cut it, then?" Sheridan looked at him in amazement, drew his knife, cut the rope, walked through the gate, and turning around, kicked it off the hinges. "If you love me, please kick me in the same fashion," he remarked to his friend. The most brilliant wit of his time, the dramatist who could unravel the most intricate complications in stage situations, had climbed a fence for two days for the lack of a stroke of a penknife. A few years ago one of our famous men was found dead under circumstances which gave rise to suspicion of suicide. One of his acquaintances remarked: "He was certainly crazy. One avenue I called upon him and found him trying to write a letter. I could hardly see my way across the room. He complained that his eyesight must be failing, as it was hard for him to follow the lines upon the paper. In surprise I turned up the gas. His look of astonishment as he looked at the light, at me, at the letter and at the light again was something impossible to describe. Of course, he was crazy. If he hadn't been, he would have turned up the light himself." So easily do we reach our conclusions, so easily do we take things for granted. Yet Sir Isaac Newton was never supposed to be "out of his mind," and Sheridan was never suspected of being a lunatic. The gesture simply served to throw more light on the stupidity of a sensible man. Instead of proving by it feeble glimmer the corresponding feebleness of his intellect. Nothing is more constantly and completely surprising than these apparent lapses of intelligence in persons whose intellect is acknowledged to be superior to the average. From a fool we expect foolishness, and seldom have we reason to complain of disappointment. From the wise we expect wisdom, though we sometimes fail to find it. It is said that it is only the fool who learns no wisdom from experience, but the foolishness of sensible people is generally of a kind which experience can in no way modify. It is occasional, variable, unexpected, of a peculiar quality, admits no argument from precedent, gives no basis for calculation. Probably by contrast and incongruity its effect is heightened and it seems more senseless than ordinary dullness because it is inevitably compared with the usual mental brilliancy. We learn from the entertaining "Letters of Gustave Flaubert" that he had prepared a dictionary of "the stupid sayings of great men," and the volume has unique and amusing use. It was the illustrious Napoleon III, who made the profound observation: "The wealth of a country depends on its general prosperity." The famous Havin wrote, as if giving utterance to a most valuable philosophical statement: "As soon as a Frenchman ceases to be the frontier he finds himself on to edge soil." Emerson says: "Men who have commanded great armies and taken great cities, who have made laws for an empire or proclaimed the greatest discoveries in science, have sometimes shown the utmost idiocy in connection with the commonest affairs of life."—Phrenological Journal.

Mr. J. J. Bayne, 52 Lake Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., will tell you if you write, enclosing stamp, that this wonderful story is true: "In 1882 I was taken to the Clifton Springs Sanitarium, in a most deplorable condition, with congestion of liver, constant cold hands and feet, rushing of blood to the head, purple spots on my face and my skin was as yellow as a lemon. The slightest food could not be taken, without such distress and spasms that my screams could be heard a long distance. I had prolapsus very severely, profuse leucorrhœa, and uterine ulceration so that I could not wear a supporter. The doctors said that I had the worst case they ever saw. In two months I lost 40 pounds of flesh, and suffering all the time from intense headaches, and unable to obtain sleep, while cold, clammy sweats would break out over my body frequently. Under the operation of Warner's safe cure my skin cleared up and I began to gain flesh, and was able to walk one full mile. My case created such an interest at the Sanitarium that Warner's safe cure has since been prescribed for its patients with good results. I never was so healthy in my life."

"Keep your conduct abreast your conscience, and very soon your conscience will be illuminated by the radiance of God.—J. S. B.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of a costive habit are subject to Headache, Defective Memory, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which unfits the sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect health's case that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not do its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Stop coughing, or it may kill you!!! Nothing is so wearing upon the system as these hard, dry hacking coughs.

Locock's Cough Elixir will ease and cure all kinds of coughs and colds.

It is a wonderful expectorant, perfectly safe and pleasant to take. Its effect in Whooping Cough or Croup is almost magical.

INFORMATION

MANY PERSONS at this season suffer from either Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Sides, Bad Blood, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Malaria, Constipation or Kidney Troubles.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES RHEUMATISM, Bad Blood and Kidney Troubles, by eliminating the blood of all its impurities, strengthening all parts of the body.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES SICK-HEADACHE, Neuralgia, Pains in the Head, Back and Sides, by toning the nerves and strengthening the muscles.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES DYSPEPSIA, Indigestion and Constipation, by aiding the assimilating of the food through the proper action of the stomach; it creates a healthy appetite.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES NERVOUSNESS, Depression of Spirits and Weakness, by enlivening and toning the system.

—VOLINA CORDIAL CURES OVERWORKED and Delicate Women, Puny and Sickly Children. It is delightful and nutritious as a general Tonic.

Volina Almanac and Diary for 1887. A handsome, complete and useful Book, telling how to CURE DISEASES at HOME in a pleasant, natural way. Mailed on receipt of a 2c. postage stamp. Address

VOLINA DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. BALTIMORE, MD., U. S. A.

Send the Advocate to your friend for the next year and you will not regret it.

Bradfield's

A specific for all diseases peculiar to women, such as Painful, Suppressed, or Irregular Menstruation, Leucorrhœa and Whites, etc

Female

Is taken during the CHANGE OF LIFE, great suffering and danger will be avoided.

Regulator!

Send for our book, "Message to Women," mailed free. Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Ask your neighbors to subscribe for the Advocate.

Queen and Crescent Route.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTH-EASTERN R. R.

—Shortest and Quickest Line to—

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST, ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTH-EAST.

Time Table in effect December 31st, 1886

Trains North B'd. Read Down		Way Stations marked thus †	Trains South B'd. Read Up.
No. 2.	No. 6.		No. 1.	No. 5
10 40am	8 00pm	lv New Orleans ar	3 40pm	7 35am
11 45am	9 10pm	..... Slell.....	2 00pm	6 25am
11 57am	† 9 23pm	...Pearl River..†	1 47pm	6 14am
12 12pm	† 9 39pm	...Nicholson ...	1 32pm	5 57am
12 27pm	† 9 51pm	†....Mitchell....†	1 21pm	† 5 46am
12 50pm	†10 03pm	.... Highland	1 12pm	† 5 37am
1 07pm	10 26pm	....Poplarville....	12 51pm	5 00am
1 24pm	†10 51pm	.....Hillsdale.....	12 15pm	† 4 45am
1 33pm	11 05pm	.....Pliolona.....	12 02pm	† 4 30am
1 48pm	†11 14pm	.....Talowah.....	11 52am	† 4 21am
2 02pm	11 25pm	.....Purvis.....	11 38am	4 09am
2 18pm	11 35pm	†.... Okahola	11 27am	† 4 00am
2 26pm	†11 45pm	†.....Carter.....†	11 18am	† 3 48am
3 00pm	11 59pm	.. Hattiesburg....	11 00am	3 35am
3 16pm	†12 14am	†..Estabuchee..†	10 48am	† 3 20am
3 36pm	12 24am	†....Tuscanola....	10 36am	† 3 10am
3 46pm	12 42am	.....Ellisville.....	10 17am	2 52am
4 01pm	12 57am	.....Laurel.....	10 03am	2 37am
4 17pm	† 1 15am	†.Sanderaville.†	9 45am	† 2 21am
4 33pm	† 1 30am	....Heidelberg....	9 29am	† 2 04am
4 42pm	† 1 37am	.....Vossburg.....	9 22am	† 1 59am
4 53pm	† 1 48am	†....Barnett....†	9 11am	† 1 48am
5 00pm	† 1 55am	†.... Pachula....†	9 05am	† 1 39 m
5 10pm	2 18am	... Enterprise..	8 43am	† 1 19am
5 38pm	.....	..... Cortorc.....†	8 27am	.....
6 45pm	3 00am	.... Meridian	8 00am	11 40am
10 30pm	7 40am	....Tuscaloosa....	5 47am	8 05am
11 40am	10 00am	...Birmingham...	1 40am	5 35pm
3 32am	1 05pm	..... Altala.....	10 31pm	2 16pm
7 50am	5 55pm	..Chattanooga....	6 20pm	9 15am
1 28pm	1 15am	.....Somerset.....	12 50pm	2 27am
2 42pm	2 40am	...Junction City..	11 35am	12 25pm
4 15pm	4 00am	....Lexington	10 22am	11 20am
6 42pm	6 40am	ar Cincinnati lv	7 55am	8 10pm

JOHN C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup., Meridian.
H. COLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Pass. Agt., Cincinnati, O.
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Pass. Agt., Cincinnati.
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent 34 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

—TAKE THE—

MISSISSIPPI & TENNESSEE RAILROAD.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE

Quicker in Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between

Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

Splendid Equipment!
Magnificent Coaches!
Pullman Buffet Sleepers!
Trains Always on Time!

See that your Tickets read over the Mississippi & Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and T'kt Ag't. JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass. Ag't. MEMPHIS, TENN.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Southern Pacific COMPANY.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM.)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN

New Orleans, Houston, Galveston, San Antonio, El Paso, Old and New Mexico, Arizona, and California Points.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH

Pullman Palace Sleepers

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—AND—

SAN FRANCISCO.

Piercing the most beautiful part of

SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, Gen'l Manager. J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traffic Manager.

General Offices: Cor. Magazine and Natchez Streets, NEW ORLEANS.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad.

The Great Through Line for Passengers and Freight to All Points

NORTH EAST AND WEST.

The ONLY LINE running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS THROUGH from NEW ORLEANS to CINCINNATI, ST. LOUIS, MEMPHIS and CHICAGO WITHOUT CHANGE of trucks.

ONLY ONE CHANGE to NEW YORK and EASTERN CITIES.

The ONLY DIRECT ROUTE to ST. LOUIS, CHICAGO and ALL POINTS NORTH and WEST. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, ELEGANT COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS, and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY

—AND—

RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—

DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Old Hope Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 1, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 3, 1:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Passenger Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Passenger Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Ast. Gen. Pass. Agt., New Orleans.
J. G. MANN, Superintendent.

THE GREAT

Kennesaw and Shenandoah Valley Route.

(East Tenn., Va. and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs N. C., or Staunton, Va.

Baggage Checked to Destination.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:35 A. M. and 8:05 P. M

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Sou'n Agent, Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans

B. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Knoxville, Tenn

The Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to

NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN and CENTRAL TEXAS, and

All points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves 7:30 A. M. Arrives 7:10 P. M

This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.

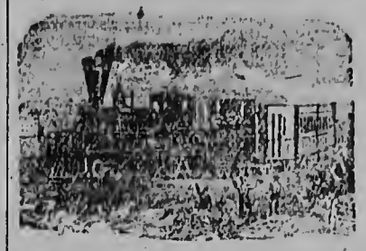
Texas and California Express leaves 4:00 P. M. Arrives 10:30 A. M.

This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.

Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $160 00. The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.

For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.
E. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.



Queen and Crescent Line.

New Orleans and Northeastern RAILROAD.

THE SHORT LINE

FOR FREIGHT AND PASSENGERS

TO ALL POINTS

North and East and in the Northwest.

Low Rates and Quick Time on Freight Traffic.

THE MODEL, MODERN THOROUGHFARE.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Mann Boudoir Buffet and Sleeping Cars.

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—TO—

MERIDIAN, ETOWAH, CHATTANOOGA and CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10 40 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7 35 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press street and Levee. Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St Charles Street, N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.

H. COLBRAN, General Freight and Passenger Agent, Queen and Crescent Line, Cincinnati, Ohio.

JOHN M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent. A. F. BARNETT, Commercial Pass Agent.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for

PLATFORM ECHOES

or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART,

By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, fully full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and lively, full of "laughter and tears." Best of Gough's Books. The life added the Life and Death of Mr. Gough by Rev. LYMAN WHITNEY. Terms Agents Wanted, Men and Women, $100 to $200 a month made. Outfit free. Now is the time. Don't delay. Send for circulars, and full particulars. Write to-day to A. D. WORTHINGTON & Co., Hartford, Conn.

RUPTURE

Have you heard of the astounding reduction for DR. J. A. SHERMAN'S Famous Home Treatment, the only known guaranteed comfort and cure without operation or hindrance from labor? No steel or iron bands. Perfect retention night and day, no chafing, suited to all ages. Now $10 only. Send for circular of measurements, instructions and proofs. Get cured at home and be happy, office 231 Broadway, New York.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells,
Chimes and Peals for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, &c. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN PART TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 2000 TESTIMONIALS
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 14 Games, 12 tricks in magic, 150 Album verses. All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 15, Ohio.

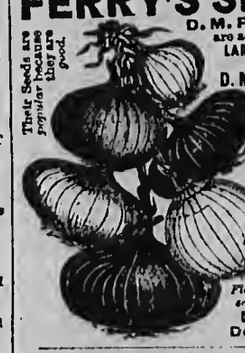
$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. Samples free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

A BIG OFFER. To introduce them, we will Give Away 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 23 Dey St., N. Y.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE

FERRY'S SEEDS

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.



Their Seeds are popular because they are good.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it. Address D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

FITS STOPPED FREE
Marvelous success. Insane Persons Restored
Dr. KLINE'S GREAT NERVE RESTORER
for all BRAIN & NERVE DISEASES. Only sure cure for Nervous Affections, Fits, Epilepsy, etc. INFALLIBLE if taken as directed. No fits after first day's use. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit patients, they paying express charges on box when received. Send names, P. O. and express address of afflicted to Dr. KLINE, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. See Druggists. BEWARE OF IMITATING FRAUDS.

Choice Books

THE REPERTOIRE

A New Collection of

HIGH GRADE SONGS

Selected, Composed and Arranged by Geo. F. ROOT

FOR USE IN

High Schools, Academies

And Advanced Singing Classes of all kinds. 224 pages. Price, $1.00 each by mail postpaid, $10.00 a dozen by Express, charges not prepaid.

GOSPEL HYMNS CONSOLIDATED

EXCELSIOR EDITION.

This book contains the same hymns and tunes as the large type edition of Gospel Hymns Consolidated, in the same order and numbered just the same but by the use of SMALLER TYPE the same material is got into a less number of pages. The prices of the new edition are as follows.

	By mail Prepaid.	By Express Not prepaid.
Paper Covers,	40c.	40c.
Board "	50c.	45c.
Limp Cloth,	55c.	50c.

In ordering this edition specify that you want the Consolidated Excelsior Edition.

Former editions still published at old prices.

PUBLISHED BY

THE JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O., And 19 East 16th Street, New York City.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

Corresponding Editors:

T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. T. SAWYER.

REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1887.

Briefs.

The following is a classified list of the books published in England during 1886:

Theology, including sermons, 752; educational, 572; juvenile works and tales, 445; novels, 969; law and kindred subjects, 33; political and social economy, trade and commerce, 246; art, science, and illustrated works, 178; voyages and travels, 221; history and biography, 359; poetry and the drama, 93; year books and serials, 294; medicine and surgery, 171; belles-lettres, essays, and monographs, 479; and miscellaneous, 407.

The third inscription on the sarcophagus of John B. Gough is a sentence from his own lips: "I can desire nothing better for this great country than that a barrier, high as heaven, be raised between the unpolluted lips of the children and the intoxicating cup; that everywhere men and women should raise strong and determined hands against whatever will defile the body, pollute the mind, or harden the heart against God and his truth."

A very important matter is being agitated in some of the Western States, viz: the adoption of some plan to convert the State prisons into reformatories, with especial reference to young men. Why may not a young convict be lead to a high and noble life? The convict contract labor system seems to be an unmitigated abomination. It crushes out all aspiration to reform and clinches crime upon the character. This is a subject worthy of the attention and earnest thought of all the legislators in the land.

The Richmond Christian Advocate says that, in the last ten years, our church in Virginia has gained in membership 33½ per cent.; that there has been an increase of 28 per cent. in the amount for ministerial support; that there has been an increase of 31 pastoral charges; that there has been a gain of 131 church buildings and forty-four parsonages; that the increase in the value of church property is $367,000; that there has been an increase of $13,731 in the annual foreign missionary collection; that the collection for superannuates and widows has increased $12,350. This is a good showing for ten years' work.

We have often heard it said that truth is sometimes stranger than fiction. Here is an illustrative item from the New York Christian Advocate:

One of the most notable recent reunions was that of the nine Howe brothers at Lansing, Mich., on Christmas. There were present Simeon B., aged 71, of Le Roy, N. Y.; Alonzo B., 68, Howard City, Mich.; Daniel B., 66, Howard City; Chester D., 61, Battle Creek, Mich.; Volney C., 58, Howard City; Beal S., 55, Canandeigue, N. Y.; Ira D., 52, Canandaigua; Ransom W., 46, Battle Creek; Frank M., 44, Lansing, Mich. The combined ages of the brothers were 521 years; the average age, 57 8-9; their total weight, 1,444 pounds; the average weight, 160 1-4 pounds. The most remarkable thing about the reunion was that it was the first time that the nine brothers had ever all been together. Their parents, who were over 70 when they died, had never seen all the boys together.

The New York Postoffice seems to be a busy place, if the following figures, taken from the Evangelist, of that city, mean anything:

During the year there were delivered through lock-boxes and by carriers 293,233,853 pieces of ordinary mail matter, divided as follows: Letters through boxes, 60,562,985; by carriers, 120,237,600; postal cards, through boxes, 9,448,582; by carriers, 37,463,236; other mail matter, through boxes, 30,139,397; by carriers, 35,382,053. The aggregate business of the money order department for the year amounted $71,233,036 62, giving an increase in the business over the previous year of $698,673 61. The total receipts of the office were $4,598,392 28, and the total expenditures $1,675,497 08 (including $664,178 16 expended for free delivery service), giving a net revenue of $2,922,895 20. The number of employees is 2,046, including 763 regular, and 132 substitute carriers, and 15 substitute clerks. New York is divided into 15 postal districts, and 2 sub-postal districts, central to each of which is a district postoffice. In addition to these depositories of mail matter, there are 1,388 street letter boxes, placed with a view to the greatest public convenience, and from which mail is collected on each secular day at least 6 times in the suburban districts, and 26 times in the more populous portions of the city. The total weight of mails received and dispatched daily during 1886 was 1934 tons, showing as compared with the figures for 1881 (130 tons), an increase in 5 years of over 48 per cent.

Salvation by Syllogism.

In these days there seems to be too much disposition to accept the cheap religions which are being proclaimed in many places. It does not follow that because a thing is cheap, that it is, on that account, the best to be had of its kind. Still less is this true in regard to religion. That which has to do with eternal hopes and fears, and with the best interests here and the deepest and highest interests hereafter, to be of any value at all, must necessarily be the costliest thing known. Human nature shrinks from paying the price of the true religion. A clear observer and close thinker says, that "a cheap religion is the desideretum of the human heart, and an assurance of salvation at the smallest cost is the most tempting bait to hold out to a conscience-stricken world."

It appears that some preachers of the gospel are endeavoring to take advantage of this propensity for cheap things, and are presenting a salvation so cheap that it is altogether valueless. By some the great and awful fact of atonement is so belittled, that the precious salvation which flows from it is made to be the outcome of a most wretched syllogism, the acceptance of which "reduces the end of religion to selfishness." Its great promise is salvation; it is true; but it looks to us like a salvation outside the main lines and processes by which that great work is wrought in the soul and upon the character by the Holy Spirit. It looks very much like a salvation without spirituality. We have heard this whole tremendous matter put to the sinner in this syllogistic form: "You believe Christ died for sinners?" "Yes." "You are a sinner?" "Yes." "Therefore Christ died for you, and hence you are saved." That is a clear, short, unanswerable logical statement. The mind can not get around it nor climb over it, and so the sinner "yields to be saved" by logic.

Drummond, in his "Natural Law in the Spiritual World," some of whose pages read to us like a burlesque on the scientists, has this to say in regard to this explanation of the method of salvation:

> Could any trap for a benighted soul be more ingeniously planned? It is not superstition that is appealed to; it is reason. The agitated soul is invited to creep into the convolutions of a syllogism and entrench itself behind a logical formula. These apostles pick a blackguard from the streets, pass him through this plausible logic and turn him out a convert, in the space of as many minutes as it takes to tell it. While we do not question the zeal of these preachers, while their instincts are right and their work often not in vain, yet the question is all-important: What does the convert possess at the end of this process? Simply this—He is left to blot out the past and face the future with a mere formula of words.

The deluded man, at the end of this curious process, has nothing more to show for his religion than a syllogism. He has nothing to present to the world or the church or himself, as his religion, but this logical arrangement of words. And this he must be continually repeating to himself in order to assure himself of his part in redemption. In giving his experience to others it is simply repeating the formula instead of the clear, ringing tones inspired by the gracious work of the Holy Spirit in the soul, which causes him to say, with a glad consciousness: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God."

This salvation by logic—though in the strong form of a syllogism—is entirely too cheap. From its beginning to its end it is wrong and misleading. The great work of conviction—that mighty upturning which the Holy Spirit came to do, and which he only can do—is here done by a certain arrangement of phrases. There is here no room for that "godly sorrow that worketh repentance," and, as a consequence, no repentance in the New Testament sense. The heart—the very center and core of being—is not melted and moulded into the Divine image by the purifying fires of the Divine love shed abroad therein, for no logic ever gets into the heart. This syllogistic salvation destroys the motive for "working with fear and trembling," for the convert has only to repeat his logical formula and "his future is guaranteed, and he has an insurance policy by which he has infallibly secured eternal life." Alas! alas! in all this cheap religion there is a conspicuous absence of the fundamental idea of salvation, and that is, conformity to the likeness of Christ. Salvation without personal holiness is too cheap to save souls polluted by sin. The preaching that does not strenuously and persistently emphasize "repentance toward God and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ," may be beautiful and even strong; but the Holy Spirit can never make it effective in saving sinners. Brethren, "preach the Word."

"The Life of Dr. Watkins."

BY REV. C. K. MARSHALL, D. D.

MR. EDITOR: Few nobler lives have been presented for our study within our own or contiguous Conferences than that of the sainted and beloved William Hamilton Watkins. His memory blossoms in the dust and sheds an abiding fragrance over the homes of God's people to whom he so ably ministered, and whom he so tenderly loved. He was one of those rarely uchis and deeply good men whose presence was a benediction, and whose wise and gracious words were like ointment poured forth. Few are the men we have loved so much, and honored with so profound an esteem.

This volume—his life and sermons, by Rev. T. L. Mellen—we, therefore, regard as a rare treasure. We have read it with a growing admiration of the departed brother. Indeed, now that we can deliberately read and ponder his discourses, we are impressed with the feeling that, estimated as we had regarded him while living, we could not take his full measure until his hand was palsied and his lips sealed within a shroud. As a thinker of great logical force and clear perceptions, high metaphysical grasp and concentrating power, he far surpassed the standard ordinary hearers would be likely to fix for his gauge. But no one can read what he has left of sketches, sermons, essays, and not feel impressed with the truth that a rarely grand man has left our ranks and ascended to the higher sphere. He was not a voluminous writer; but what he wrote and has given us makes us feel sorry that he had not kept his pen awake and at work a hundred times more than he did. We commend the book to the members of our Itineracy. We trust it will be presented by our laymen as a token of solicitude for the well doing and success of young ministers, and read and studied by the thousands who had the rare happiness of having known the author and heard him in his palmy days of health and power in the pulpit.

Bro. Mellen has done a work of abounding friendship for the man he so well knew and profoundly honored, and we owe him a debt of thanks for this work he has performed in presenting the church this valued collection of the thoughts of one whom we shall surely meet on the shining shore, when we gather at the river. We do not endorse all the speculations and peculiar views of Bro. Mellen in relation to some features of the methods of life adopted by the sainted one; but we have a volume by his care and toil for which I give him many thanks.

Ecclesiastical Dancing—A Chapel for a Ball-Room.

When the Divine purpose of church organization is perverted to securing mere worldly influence and social popularity, she must lower her standard and make common cause with the carnal mind. However humiliating the surrender or dishonorable the compromise, the conditions are absolute. It is not true that such worldly conformity attains the desired end; but the end makes necessary the means. These compromises are not formally, authoritatively made. That is unnecessary. They are only tacitly admitted—amiably condoned. No clergyman would dare to openly defend gambling or advocate the "dance of death;" yet if he allows either without protest, or privately encourages them, for the pecuniary or supposed social advantage of the church, he can not escape the odium of responsibility, nor can the church evade the sacrifice of spiritual purity and principle. When the church becomes the patron of "raffles," cotillions, germans, et id omne genus, Christ is wounded in the house of his friends. These reflections have been suggested by the following, which appeared in the local columns of the Vicksburg (Miss.) Herald, of January 26, 1887:

POWDERED HAIR AND DANCING.

The Bal Poudre to be given by young ladies of Trinity Church is the absorbing topic of conversation among society people, and a success is sure to attend the efforts of those who are in charge of the entertainment. The novel affair will take place Friday afternoon and evening at the chapel of Trinity Church, and the proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the Sunday-school. Dancing is to be a feature of the occasion, and powdered hair will contribute largely to the enjoyment of those who powder.

"Trinity" is a popular parish of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the diocese of Mississippi. It is to be hoped that the rector will repudiate the outrage committed in the name of religion and absolve this church from obloquy and responsibility. The idea of a "chapel," where Divine service is or has been held, and around which sacred associations and hallowed memories linger, being used as a dance house! In the name of Heaven, is God's church to be converted into a hall of revelry? Is the trysting-place of the soul to be profaned by the silly trip of "the light, fantastic toe?" Is the altar from which the gospel has been preached, the sacraments celebrated and the dead borne to their solemn burial, to be turned into a platform for fiddlers to "discourse voluptuous music?" Surely it is high time for somebody to awake out of sleep.

This is written with no purpose or desire to caricature or offend any body of Christians, but for the honor and purity of Christ's cause. But if our friends of the Protestant Episcopal Church are really serious in wanting a union of the evangelical denominations, they must purge themselves of such affairs as the above and disclaim responsibility therefor. The mission of the church is to convert the soul from sin, cultivate the Christian graces in the hearts of believers, and teach men that Christ's kingdom, of which they are or should be citizens, "is not of this world." The true spirit and provision of the church is set forth in Paul's letters to the Corinthians. In antagonizing their worldliness and sinful follies, he eloquently and forcibly describes the ideal church built upon Christ, the chief corner-stone. With such a picture in mind, who can brook the thought of the "bride," the "Lamb's wife," robing herself in party costume, with "powdered hair," attending a "Bal Poudre," (whatever that might be) and in a "chapel" consecrated to Divine worship! Verily the famine of the prophet Amos must have returned—the famine "of hearing the words of the Lord."

Five of Them Were Wise, and Five Were Foolish.

Throughout the ages the foolish have sought to borrow from the wise. Somebody's lamp is always gone out, simply because it was not replenished when it should have been. One-half the world forever asks the other half for oil. Passing by the unspeakably excellent spiritual lesson of the parable, I draw some suggestions from its literal import; for only as we see the reality and force of natural facts, can we appreciate the supernatural truths which they teach.

Why is it that one-half of the human family are expected, by toil, economy, self-denial and prudent care, to provide a living not only for themselves, but for the others also? Why will men persist in living in such a way that they must virtually borrow their meals from their neighbors the next day? Is it right that industrious, thrifty and frugal people should support the idle and wasteful? Men bring families into the world, and through wanton indifference and vice allow them to lack for the necessaries of life. Yet, "if any provide not for his own, and especially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel." If the charity of such should not begin at home, where should it begin? God forbid that the afflicted, the unfortunate, or the inevitably poor, should be reproached for their poverty. They are the chosen of God and the highest means of grace to all who can help them. The force of the parable and the strength of the argument lie in the fact that many are in want because of willful folly. They do not try to provide for themselves.

All over this land are seen the evidences of presumptuous waste, as if God or our neighbors were expected to look after our supplies. For instance, we waste millions on whisky and tobacco, and then complain of hard times. We starve our lands by selling cotton seed and failing to fertilize them, and then lament short crops. It is a patent fact that if the planters in the hill lands of this country do not turn their attention to fertilizing their lands, the laborers will be obliged to go to the valleys or to some other region to make a living. Under the present system of management things are going to the worse with the planters every year. The negroes are hereditarily incapacitated for provident foresight, and should be taught by the whites. But it seems that very many of the white race have yet to learn the lessons they ought to be teaching. Perhaps we can not expect those who had wealth before our last war to learn much in these respects. But our young men ought to adjust themselves to the present condition of our country. Yet many of them who get fair monthly wages have nothing left at the end of the year. Young men say they are too poor to marry. If they would deny themselves useless and hurtful luxuries and save some of their wages, they might soon have enough to justify them in marrying. Millionaires might be cited who started with nothing; but, as extreme cases are both inapt and discouraging as examples, let our young people consider the fact that a majority of the happiest families in the land began with very little of this world's goods. Why can a young man not make a living now, as well as one ever could? God saw that it was not good for man to be alone, and gave him woman as a helpmeet; and she is as necessary now to the completeness of the man's life as she ever was.

One futile method of undertaking to remedy our pecuniary thriftlessness deserves special notice. I mean the injudicious and excessive use of credit. Instead of making a living at home and some cotton as a surplus crop, our planters borrow money or pay enormous rates for credit in order to make cotton to buy a living with. Credit costs the average planter from twenty-five to one hundred per cent., which, when he pays it, is a ruinous tax upon his labor, and when he does not pay it, bankrupts both the merchant and the planter. Why not make our money this year before we spend it, instead of the year after? Were we born a year behind, and shall we forever remain so? There is a way for every man to make a living and keep out of debt at the same time. It seems hard for some to start with what they have. They want some of somebody else's to begin with. Some even clamor for a general division of the property of the world. They are not willing to abide by the rule, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." There's plenty in the garners and in the soil for all; but anarchism, communism and strikes are not the proper methods of distributing it. The indolence, extravagance and improvidence of many have tended to destroy brotherly kindness and charity in the earth. Indiscreet kindness results in affliction and harm to both parties. An old rhyme says:

> I had some money and a friend,
> I loaned my money to my friend;
> I asked my money of my friend,
> I lost my money and my friend.

It would be for the general prosperity for our people to deal with one another as they deal with railroad companies, which require all to pay as they go. "Godliness is profitable unto all things," and if our Christianity does not make us prosperous in this world, we are not getting as much out of it as its beneficent Author intended.

W. L. C. H.

Forgetting the Exhortation.

Many are the splendid passages in St. Paul's writings displaying at once the fertility of his fancy, the strength of analytic faculty and the rich store of knowledge as varied as rich. He excels in graphic description and narration and in the pungency of his rebukes. His exordiums and prayers are models of power and scope. But of all his excellences I think his wonderful facility of exhortation pre-eminent. He never sharpens the point of his argument with anything else. Demonstration is never complete until it is applied by way of exhortation, and this, as the word signifies, is always encouraging. One not only has more knowledge of life and its outlook, but more heart to bear and meet its burdens and dangers.

Bishop Parker, while editor of the ADVOCATE, wrote an article upon exhortation, noticing the fact that it seemed these late years to be a rare act of the Spirit to call a man to exhort, and enquiring into the causes of this cessation. It might seem to be jesting with holy things if the question were simply asked, and no answer rendered. It would aspersee the entire doctrine of the call by the Spirit to any work. One reason, therefore, for this cessation of a call to exhort is in the cessation of God's people to pray for it. When has one either heard or offered a petition to the Holy Spirit to call some one to exhort? Where is the Christian who, when he began to expect God to tell him to do something, said, "What if it is only to exhort?" Another reason is the fact that the church generally has discarded exhortation as a feature of divine service. It requires a hard-faced man to get up after the "pastor" and salt the sheep after they have eaten their peck of meal. He is rather a brave exhorter who would go into the pulpit after being asked. One has a definite experience along this line. Repetition is neither desired nor desirable.

But it is not to render an exhaustive list of reasons that I am now writing. Paul, after a most eloquent and forceful passage, pauses to say, "Ye have forgotten the exhortation." He does not tell us the sermon or argument which it followed, but he does give the exhortation itself. He mentions the additional fact that it has been forgotten, and this forgetfulness has produced the trouble. There might be a fine synopsis of the sermon; but if the exhortation was lost, what would the people do with the sermon? And so we may ask yet. Though I may remember the formula for the medicine which my physician has left, suppose I forget how he directed me take it—am I not in danger of poisoning myself?

There is no doctrine of God that has not comfort in it. The object of the sermon upon any text is to get to the comforting part of it before we are done. A sermon that merely instructs is like the smell of viands from the kitchen to a hungry man who is not invited to eat. The sermon that depicts the fearfully deceitful nature of the human heart, without telling me how it can be renewed and purified, only makes me despair or grow misanthropic. But after an exhortation to go "to the blood that makes the wounded whole," or "to wash and be clean," I take courage. Having realized my danger, I appreciate the salvation.

There is too much lecturing upon duty, unless the exhortation came inspiring those whom we lecture with the faith in their ability to do it. The homilies of the world may all be burned. But the exhortations, which are truly such, can not be lost. Said a poor, halting Christian to me one day after I had exhorted, "I got brave while you talked." I asked him did he remember what I said. "No, but I feel better and I know I am going to do more." Alas! too often we forget that the great end of the gospel is to make man feel better and do more. Our sermons are too often guillotines to cut off some sinner or hypocrite's head. If it is brought up to us "in a charger," afterwards we say with great self-satisfaction, "I knew I was hewing to the line." The feeble knees, the hands that hang down, the broken hearted, the suffering cripple that is trying to conceal the wound made by the enemy are forgotten in our fine-rounded periods. No wonder our fine sermons empty our pews when people get everything but what they go for, viz.—encouragement. He who has to listen to such sermons is like the poor sufferers at Tiffin, Ohio, who roasted alive just out of reach of ice.

T. A. S. A.

Notes.

John Chrysostom, the golden-mouthed orator of the fourth century, began to preach when he was thirty-nine years of age. John Knox, of Scotland, began when he was forty-five.

The people of New York and other large cities, North and West, are displaying an unusual amount of enthusiasm on the subject of the Saturday half-holiday. The cause is represented by many of the strongest men.

This extract from a letter from a layman every preacher should ponder over and profit by: "I speak the thought and feeling of both the church and the world, when I tell you that the simple gospel is what is grateful to men and women, wearied, vexed, perplexed with the temptations, cares and labors of the world."

The number of missionaries from Christian lands is said to be: 3,000 ordained preachers, 700 laymen and 2,400 women. The increase for last year was 200.

During 1886 the Northern Presbyterian Church added 51,177 members to its roll by confession of faith, and the missionary contributions were increased nearly $250,000 over those of any former year. The Congregationalists added 27,159 to their communion.

It is now believed that the additions to our church during the last year will reach the enormous sum of 75,000 souls. God has use for us yet.

The Board of Directors of the Cincinnati, Portsmouth and Big Sandy Packet Company have abolished the "bars" on all the company's boats. The temperance sentiment is thus taking a stronger hold.

A writer in the Methodist Times (London) brings out these curious figures in regard to Ireland. The population of Ireland has decreased 640,000 in 20 years. Of this decrease six-sevenths were Romanists and one-seventh Protestants, showing that Romanism is decreasing even in Ireland!

Pastors must not forget that by a Conference resolution we bound ourselves to take our foreign missionary collections early in the year—that is, before May 1. February is a good month to attend to this important matter.

A good text, a plain presentation of missionary facts, an open disclosure of the needs of the cause, a firm application of responsibility to the conscience, an earnest prayer, a soul-rousing, old-fashioned Methodist hymn sung by the congregation, and then you are ready for the collection.

A Scrap of History.

In the old times of Methodism they had quite a different way of doing things. We have been looking over the minutes of the Methodist Conference, held in Dublin, Ireland, July 7, 1778. We find twenty-seven questions proposed and answered. Twenty-six preachers were stationed, and after the name of S. Bradburn comes this—"change monthly." In the list of appointments occurs the name of Richard Boardman, appointed to Athlone. There are two questions asked, which, if asked and answered in like manner in American Methodism, would cause many a steward to flinch.

Question 18. If anything is deficient in their accounts, are the stewards to make it good?

Answer. There is no doubt of it. This is an universal rule.

Question 19. The Cork steward is deficient in his accounts several pounds; is he to make that good?

Answer. He is obliged thereto both in law and conscience.

What a stir such questions would raise among us. It seems that these early Methodists had the strange notion that when the stewards promised the preacher so much, they were "in law and conscience obliged" to pay him so much. We have outgrown both that "law and conscience," and our stewards in some circuits and stations will allow the preacher to depart several hundred dollars behind in his salary, never once thinking of conscience or the obligation to keep their promise.

Question 21. Are there any little advices which you would give the preachers?

Answer. In repeating the Lord's Prayer, remember to say, hallowed, not hollowed; in, that trespass against us, say, that trespass against us. Always kneel during public prayer and stand at the text.

Question 24. Is the singing done to edification.

Answer. It does not fully answer the end proposed, teaching the congregation.

It seems from that answer that the singing trouble is as old as Methodism.

Question 25. What reasons can be assigned why so many of our preachers contract nervous disorders?

Answer. The chief reason is either indolence or intemperance. Several of them use too little exercise. Several of them take more food and more sleep than when they labored more, and this is enough to destroy the firmness of the nerves.

Question 26. Are we sufficiently serious, holy, devoted to God?

Answer. By no means; we have need to take shame to ourselves. We are dwarfs in grace.

Question 27. Have we a right view of our work?

Answer. Perhaps not. It is not to take care of this or that society, or to preach so many times, but to save as many souls as we can; to bring as many sinners as we can to repentance, and with all our power to build them up in that holiness without which they can not see God.

It is interesting to look over these old matters and note the changes that have been wrought in our economy. We believe that most of the changes noted have been changes for good, and to-day Methodism stands on higher ground than ever before and is marching up higher.

Jackson District, Mississippi Conference.

The Jackson District Conference will be held at Edwards, Miss., April 7-10, Bishop Galloway presiding. Rev. Ira B. Robertson will preach the opening sermon, Thursday, 11 A. M. The district stewards' meeting will be held at Edwards, Friday of the District Conference, at the close of the evening session.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

If Sufferers from Consumption.

Scrofula, Bronchitis, and General Debility will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and permanent benefit. The Medical Profession universally declare it a remedy of the greatest value and very palatable. Read: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in several cases of Scrofula and Debility in Children. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure."—W. A. HULBERT, M. D., Salisbury, Ill.

To the Members of the Mississippi Conference Brotherhood.

Bro. Wm. Spillman is dead. Assessment No. 7 is now due, and must be paid within sixty days. Remit to the treasurer, Rev. I. W. Cooper, Edwards, Miss.

B. F. JONES, Ass't Sec'y.

WOODVILLE, Mississippi.

CONSUMPTION is only an indirect result of deranged kidneys. "Over two years ago I became a confirmed invalid. My friends all thought I was far gone in Consumption. I was sure the time had well nigh come when I must leave my helpless little children motherless. With this dreadful fact staring me in the face, I resolved to try Warner's safe cure. My husband tried to dissuade me, thinking I was too far gone for anything to help me. But I took it, and in two weeks' time I was like a new creature; and in four weeks I was able to resume my household duties—at this writing I am perfectly well." Miss E. J. WOLF, wife of Rev. Prof. T. Wolf, D. D., editor Lutheran Quarterly, Gettysburg, Pa. If you write her, enclose a stamp, and she will tell you the story is true.

Personals.

—We understand that the manuscript of the first volume of Rev. John G. Jones' history of "Methodism in Mississippi" is in the hands of the printer.

—Governor Ross, of Texas, in his message to the Legislature, suggested the propriety of submitting to the people an amendment to the Constitution of that State, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

—The Ruston Caligragh says that our brethren in Ruston, La., have purchased a parsonage and are having it fitted up for Bro. Parker, who is already preaching to that good people. Good for Ruston!

—President Johnston, of Tulane College, has purchased the property at the corner of Camp and Delord streets, in this city, for the location of the Woman's College of Tulane University.

—The Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at its recent session in this city, created a "mission district," in which all their white preachers found appointments. The "color line" seems to be adjusting itself, whether or no.

—Herbert Spencer is at Brighton, able to move only by the help of a wheel-chair, and unequal to any literary work.

—Mr. J. A. Bostwick, of New York, gives $100,000 a year to the religious and educational work of the Baptist Church.

—Dr. William Perry, a graduate of Harvard in 1811, and the sole survivor of the passengers on Fulton's first steamboat on its first trip down the Hudson, seventy-nine years ago, died January 11, aged ninety-eight.

—Abby Kelly Foster, the noted anti-slavery advocate, and the woman who tried to force woman's suffrage by refusing to pay taxes, is dead.

—The National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is preparing to circulate a petition among all civilized nations, remonstrating against the liquor and opium traffics, and when 2,000,000 signatures are obtained, it will be presented to the several governments of the world for legislative action. It is called, "The World's Petition."

—Sam Jones is preaching to immense audiences in Boston. Zion's Herald, of January 20, says: "He impressed us as a sincere, devout, able man, with a definite purpose and plan in the work of winning men to Christ."

—Rev. W. S. Tritt, of the St. Louis Conference, died in St. Louis, January 15. His remains were carried to Kentucky for burial.

—Emory and Henry College will celebrate its semi-centennial commencement next June. Our corresponding editor, Rev. T. A. S. Adams, D. D., president of Centenary College, is to read a poem suited to the occasion.

—The Richmond Advocate says that Dr. John E. Edwards never lets the world get ahead of him. He has a cornet in his church in Danville, Va.

—The membership of our church in the Texas empire is 113,970. There was a gain last year of 8,460.

—Marion Harland's literary success is her "Common Sense in the Household," of which 170,000 copies have been sold, and the demand is not yet satisfied. One preacher's wife can have her needs supplied.

—A man in Baltimore, by the name of William Carpenter, has published a pamphlet, with the title, "One Hundred Proofs That the Earth Is Not a Globe." That number of "proofs" ought to be sufficient for any but an "unreasonable man."

—In New York City during 1886 the number of widowers who married again was 1,590; the number of widows unmarried, 1,245. That shows, don't it?

—Lord Tennyson has been commanded by the Queen to write the "Jubilee Ode," and Sir Arthur Sullivan has been commanded to set it to music.

—The notes we are receiving from week to week from the brethren and sisters, in regard to our work on the paper, are to us as living springs to the thirsty soul. Some of them have actually broken their alabaster boxes, and the perfume is more refreshing to us than "all the spices of Araby, the blest." All we ask is the wisdom to make a paper that the Holy Spirit can use as his instrument.

—Governor McEnery has pardoned fifteen criminals since the new year came in.

—We had a delightful visit last Thursday from Dr. Haygood, who is on his return trip from Texas. He has been visiting the empire of the Southwest, looking after the institutions he is assisting by the distribution of the Slater Fund.

—J. S. Morrill, of Vermont, is the oldest man in the United States Senate. He will be seventy-seven next April. He entered public life in the Thirty-fourth Congress.

—Governor Perry, of Florida, has designated February 9 as Arbor Day. This "tree-planting day" has become a regular institution in many States and with some colleges, and the good effects will be "gathered after many days."

—In the great evangelistic work lately inaugurated in Philadelphia, the following denominations are working together: Baptist, Disciples, Congregationalists, Lutheran, Mennonite, Methodist, Moravian, Presbyterian, Episcopal, Reformed Episcopal, Reformed Presbyterian, German Reformed, Reformed Church and United Presbyterian. After a week's work, the result is said to be very gratifying. Why not have united effort everywhere to save souls?

—The residence of Rev. Charles F. Evans, D. D., is Constantinople street, corner of Pitt; and all mail matter should be so addressed.

Items.

—A piece of rock, 100 feet long by 60 feet wide and 170 feet deep, fell out of the river bank near the Horse Shoe Falls, Canada side of Niagara. Such cracks may unhinge some theories about the age of that "venerable pile" of rocks. The scientists had better be looking after that matter.

—The sugar crop of Louisiana for 1886 was 29,512 hogsheads less than in 1885. The cotton crop for the same year was 83,951 bales less than in 1885. The food crops, corn and rice, show an increase.

—The corn crop for 1886 in this country aggregated 1,665,000,000 bushels, grown on 75,000,000 acres, and has a farm value of $610,000,000. The wheat crop was 457,000,000 bushels, grown on 37,000,000 acres, and worth $314,000,000. The oat crop was 624,000,000 bushels, grown on 23,000,000 acres, and worth $186,000,000. These crops are all less than in 1885.

—On December 19 a message was sent from New Westminster, on the Pacific, via the wires of the Canadian Pacific and the Mackay-Bennett cable telegraph lines, to Old Westminster, London, England, and when the last letter of the reply was received, the watch showed that only four minutes of time had been consumed in the whole transaction. The circuit—7,000 miles—was the longest ever worked in the world.

—In 1790, one-thirtieth of the population of the United States lived in cities of 8,000 inhabitants and over. In 1880, nearly one-fourth of the population lived in the cities. It seems to us that this increase of the city populations is one of the most serious problems presented to the statesman and political economist.

—The population of Washington City has increased forty-five per cent. in fifteen years. On the first of last July the population was 205,000.

—A resolution has been passed by the Legislature of Pennsylvania, appointing a committee to prepare and urge to passage a joint resolution for the submission to the people an amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. So the work goes forward, broadening as it goes.

—A case of Southern progress is this: In 1870 there was a cotton field in Alabama which could have been bought for ten dollars per acre. Now that field is a city of 35,000 inhabitants, in which lots are selling readily at $1,000 per front foot. The name of the city is Birmingham, the wonder of the whole country.

—A gentleman of Toronto, Canada, offers a prize of $250 for the best essay on "Systematic Giving: what it implies when considered in relation to our obligations to God and the light of the nineteenth century." The essay to cover about 300 pages of 250 words each. Competition open to the world. Manuscript to be in the hands of W. H. Withrow, D. D., editor of the Canadian Methodist Magazine, Toronto, Canada, by October 1, 1887. Here is a chance for some of our contributors. Their practice in the columns of this paper has qualified them to win that same $250. Try it and see.

—We have received several communications which we can not publish because we do not know who sent them. We are not sufficiently versed in chirography to tell a writer's name by looking at the manuscript.

J. C. Morris.—We call attention to the advertisement of J. C. Morris in this issue of the ADVOCATE, announcing the arrival of his large and selected stock of spring and summer goods. For courteous treatment and fair dealing go to the "Morris" wood and willow-ware emporium. Catalogues on application.

The above cut is a true photograph of a plant of CHILDS' NEW DOUBLE PERPETUAL FLOWERING WEEPING FUCHSIA, "STORM KING," introduced by us and is the finest novelty and grandest flowering plant of the age. It is always in bloom, often as many as 200 buds and blossoms on a plant at once. The branches droop most gracefully, and the blossoms are frequently as large as teacups. The buds for two weeks before they expand are balls of glowing scarlet crimson. When expanded, the enormous double flowers are almost pure white, capped by a calyx of glowing scarlet; and when a plant is loaded with buds and blossoms it presents a sight which for true grandeur and beauty no flower can surpass. They are of the easiest culture and will grow and bloom freely with ordinary care in any window or garden. Price of strong plants which will soon bloom, by mail, post-paid 50 cts. each, 3 for $1.00, 7 for $2.00, 12 for $3.00. We pack secure from frost and warrant them to arrive in good order. Form Clubs for this grand Fuchsia and get them at dozen rates. Remember, we are the introducers and the only ones in the world who can supply the true Storm King in quantity. Beware of others who are selling inferior varieties as Storm King.

CHILDS' NEW GIANT EXCELSIOR PANSIES are the largest and finest in the world. (See large chrome in Catalogue.) They produce their gigantic flowers from May to December, in great profusion. Mixed seed of all colors, which are of marvelous beauty, 25 cts. per paper. We will also mail 6 large flowering bulbs of CHILDS' EXCELSIOR DWARF PEARL TUBEROSES for 50 cts. (They are grand for pots.) 7 choice hardy LILIES, including Auratum, $1.00. 12 choice mixed GLADIOLUS, 50 cts. 4 TEA ROSES, red, white, pink and yellow, 50 cts. 5 grand CHRYSANTHEMUMS 50 cts. Any of the above articles will be sent by mail, post-paid, and guaranteed to arrive in good condition. They are exactly as represented, and will more than please those who plant them. Many years of liberal and honest dealings have secured to us our enormous mail business in Seeds, Bulbs and Plants, which is the largest in the world. Orders can be sent at once. Preserve this as it may not appear again in this paper.

SEEDS, BULBS AND PLANTS. We have a large and choice stock and grand variety of Flower and Vegetable Seeds, Bulbs and Plants. We have the best and are headquarters for Pansies, Balsams, Verbenas, Gladiolus, Tuberoses, Amaryllis, Lilies, Roses, Geraniums, Fuchsias, Carnations, Chrysanthemums, Moonflowers, Passionflowers, Shrubs, Vines and small fruits. Canadian and English lovers supplied free of duty and postage, as we have a branch office in both countries.

Our CATALOGUE for 1887, is probably the most elegant ever issued. It contains two large chromos and 8 colored plates of new flowers, and hundreds of beautiful engravings. It will be mailed free to any who order Storm King, Pansy, or anything here offered. We are also willing to mail it free to all who will send us an order after receiving it. Otherwise those who apply for it should send at least 10 or 12 cents in stamps, which is only a part of its cost to us.

Remittance can be made by money order or postal note (on Queens), bills, drafts or stamps. For every dollar's worth ordered from this advertisement, the buyer will receive an elegant seed or bulb novelty free.

Address, JOHN LEWIS CHILDS, (FLORAL PARK,) Queens, N. Y.

NOW READY! A New Revised and Greatly Enlarged Edition of

"Gardening for Profit."

BY

Peter Henderson

A GUIDE TO THE SUCCESSFUL CULTURE OF THE MARKET AND FAMILY GARDEN.

Profusely Illustrated. 375 pages. Price, post-paid, $2.00.

The immense and unprecedented sale of the previous editions of "Gardening for Profit" [illegible] the estimate of its value as a thoroughly practical work. The NEW EDITION, [illegible] contains a great deal of the former work, with large additions from the pen [illegible] added years of experience. With new engravings of the choicest flowers and vegetables, and [illegible] beautiful colored plates. Mailed on receipt of [illegible] in stamps, which may be deducted on [illegible] present FREE to all purchasers of the New "A Half-Dollar Seed Trial Packet," [illegible]

OUR NEW CATALOGUE OF SEEDS AND PLANTS [illegible]

PETER HENDERSON & CO., 35 & 37 Cortlandt St., NEW YORK.

1887. GREGORY'S SEED CATALOGUE 1887.

What Mr. Beyer says: "I [illegible] best thanks for the splendid seeds received from your firm. It would be a rather lengthy list if I should name all, but will say that among 58 first, and 8 second premiums awarded me at our fairs in Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan, 28 first premiums were for vegetables raised from your seeds. What firm can beat this?" Ans. Geo. Beyer, So. Bend, Ind.

A card of this quality I am now ready to sell to every one who tills a farm or plants a garden, sending them FREE my Vegetable and Flower Seed Catalogue for 1887. Old customers need not write for it. I catalogue this season the native wild potato. JAS. J. H. GREGORY, Seed Grower, Marblehead, Mass.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. B. Thomson, 64 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

"There is something I have just dashed off," said the poet, as he knocked his would-be son-in-law off the doorstep.

A Copy of the "Storm Chart" for 1887, by the Rev. Irl R. Hicks, and Calendar for 1887, mailed free to any address, on receipt of a two cent postage stamp. Write plainly your Name Post Office and State.

THE DR. J. H. MCLEAN MEDICINE CO.,
St. Louis, Mo.

Safe Burglars—those in the Penitentiary.

No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail. 25c.

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

P. WERLEIN.—The great Southern music emporium, 135 Canal street, is to the front with new attractions in the music line; the very latest compositions by well-known authors received, and will be mailed to any address on receipt of price. The fall stock of musical instruments is being received, and surpass anything ever offered to the people of the South. Pianos and organs of superb tone and beautiful finish, at prices lower than ever known and terms unsurpassed by any music house in the United States. Write to Werlein before purchasing elsewhere. 135 Canal street.

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances, to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

Stuck up—The bent pin you sat on.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle

FITS: All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottles free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Pond's Extract. The action of one medicine is, of necessity confined to analogous diseases, hence the Extract, acting on the circulatory system, relieves every sort of bleeding.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A GOOD MUSIC TEACHER WILL USE THE BEST INSTRUCTION BOOKS.

There is no mistake about the great

Richardson's New Method for the Pianoforte.

Sales nearly 400,000 copies! The favorite of thousands of teachers! Many times revised! The most correct of instruction books! Price $4.

Since the advent of "Richardson," many excellent Instructors have been published, and have attained great favor. Preeminent among them are

New England Conservatory Method,

(Price $3, or in parts, each $1.50.) and

Peters' Eclectic Piano School, Price $3.

The first book has had the important indorsement of the great Conservatory, and the second has sold immensely, solely on its own merits.

For Reed Organ, Clarke's New Method	$2 50
For Mando lin, Winner's Complete Method	75
For Zither, Winner's Complete Method	75
For Violin, Lidemann's Method	3 00
For Flute, Kuhmer's Flute School	3 00
For Guitar, Curtiss Method	3 00
For Banjo, Curtiss Acme Method	1 25

For Cornet, Flute, Clarionet, Flageolet, Banjo, Accordeon, Violin, Guitar, Reed Organ, and Piano, Sep. Winner has prepared very good, easy Methods, costing 50 cents each. All are called IDEAL Methods.

Mailed for Retail Price.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, NEW YORK

ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement

—1887—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash in full to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price.	Our price.
Southern Cultivator	$ 3 00	$ 2 75
American Agriculturist	3 00	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos.	14 00	13 00
" " 6 "	7 00	6 50
Weekly "	3 50	2 50
" Times-Democrat	3 50	2 75
Harper's Magazine	6 00	4 75
" Weekly	6 00	4 75
" Bazar	6 00	4 75
" Young People	4 00	3 00
Demorest's Magazine	4 00	3 25

Send cash in full with all orders.

No attention paid to orders without cash.

Hugh Jamieson, Jr.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Hope Insurance Company,

388 Gravier St., New Orleans, La.

(Opposite Post-office.)

ESTABLISHED IN 1867.

Capital paid up $250,000 00
Assets, Jan. 1, 1887 ..... $491,082 17

Insures Fire, River and Marine Risks.

Surplus Lines taken on Acceptable Fire Risks.

J. A. CHALARON, President
MAURICE STERN, Vice-Pres.
LOUIS BARNETT, Secretary.

DIRECTORS:

John I. Adams,	Henry Hess,
Geo. A. Lanaux,	Maurice Stern,
G. Lehmann,	Wm. Rinke,
Victor Meyer,	P. M. Zeigler
Hon. Demezie,	A. B. Broussard,
Jas. A. Renshaw,	John Holland,
J. A. Chalaron,	Pierre Foco

Pearl Wight.

MECHANIC'S & TRADER'S Insurance Company.

14 CARONDELET STREET,
New Orleans, La.

Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks,

AT LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary.
LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Off't.
J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Off't. (Late Sec., Union Ins. Co.)
R. C. SHORTRIDGE, Collector.
F. AUZOUT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Sam. Boyd,	Simon F. Mars,
J. A. Brasselman,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. D. Britton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carver,	Wm. A. Phelps,
P. J. Cockburn,	Ben O. L. Payne,
H. T. Cottam,	C. W. Bentell,
O. Elmer,	A. N. Bilbernagel,
J. M. Frankenbush,	W. H. Thompson,
Walter C. Flower,	P. A. Villeminln,
P. G. Gilbert,	Jos. Vignes,
Chas. Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
I. L. Lyons,	T. S. Waterman,
Lamont Lacassagne,	Frederick Wing.
F. L. Mason,	W. Y. West.
Rob't Maxwell	W. G. Wheeler

Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders' INSURANCE COMPANY.

49 CARONDELET STREET,

Paid Up Capital ..... $1,000,000.

ED. A. FALFREY, President.
JOHN PHELPS, Vice President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

Issues Policies Covering Fire, River and Marine Risks at the Lowest Tariff Rates.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Noble,	John Chaffe,
Richard Milliken,	Sam'l Friedlander,
R. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lyle Lyon,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	B. F. Eshleman,
Chas. Chaffe,	L. C. Jurey,
Wm. Hartwell,	C. J. Leeds,
A. T. Jaulu,	A. M. Bickham,
Henry Abraham,	Louis Bush,
A. Britlin,	G. W. Bentell,
Wm. Cunningham,	John I. Adams,
R. T. Buckner,	Wm. A. Guyn.

Chas. E. Black.

CRESCENT INSURANCE COMPANY

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1869—Re-organized as a Stock Company in 1886.

CASH CAPITAL, - - - - - - $400,000

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1869.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. R. LYMAN, ... President.
CHAS. H. LOLLEY, ... Vice President.
CHAS. E. LEE, ... Secretary.

Ask our Agents throughout Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas.

LIVERPOOL and LONDON and GLOBE INSURANCE COMPANY,

OFFICE: COR. CARONDELET AND GRAVIER STS.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS.

J. F. SCHROEDER, Chairman.
NEWTON BUCKNER, A. DERVAILLE.
RUDOLPH WOESTE.

Assets in the United States $6,145,741 76
Surplus over all Liabilities 2,270,129 25

HENRY YOUNG, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Asst. Resident Secretary.

THE GIANT OF MEDICINES.

The Most Effective and Popular Remedy Ever Discovered.

WHY IS IT SO EFFECTIVE IN SO MANY DIFFERENT DISEASES?

Why one remedy can affect so many cases is this: The diseases have a common cause, and a remedy that can effect the cause, permanently cures all the diseases. Unlike any other organ in the body, the Kidney when diseased, may itself be free from pain, and the very last that it is not painful leads many people to deny that it is diseased. But Medical Authorities agree that it can be far gone with disease and yet give forth no pain, because it has few if any nerves of sensation, and these are the only means of conveying the sense of pain; thus unconsciously diseased it affects the entire system. We do not open a watch to see if it is going or is in good order; We look at the hands, or note the accuracy of its time. So we need not open the kidneys to see if it is diseased. We study the condition of the system. Now then, KIDNEY DISEASE produces Any of the following Common and Unsuspected

SYMPTOMS: Back ache; Unusual desire to urinate at night; Fluttering and pain in the heart; Tired Feelings; Unusual amount of Greasy Froth on water. Irritated, hot and dry skin; Fickle Appetite; Scalding sensations; Acid, bitter taste, with furred tongue in the Morning; Headache, and Neuralgia; Abundance of pale, or scanty flow of dark-colored water; Sour Stomach; Heartburn with Dyspepsia; Intense pain, upon sudden excitement, in the Small of the Back; Deposit of mucus some time after urination; Loss of Memory; Rheumatism, Colds and fever and Pneumonia; Dropsical Swellings; Red or White brick dust, albumen and tube casts in the water; Constipation, alternating with Looseness; Short breath, Pleurisy and Bronchial affections; Yellowish pale skin, etc.

These are only the chief cardses or symptoms caused by a diseased condition of the kidneys. Now then, isn't it clear to you that the kidneys, being the cause of all these deranged parts, if they are restored to health by the great specific "Warner's SAFE Cure" the majority of the above ailments will disappear? There is NO MYSTERY ABOUT IT. It does one many bad suites of the system precisely as we have intimated. Now when the kidneys were diseased, the albumen, the life essence of the blood, escapes through their walls and passes away in the water, while the urea, the kidney poison, remains, and it is this kidney poison in the blood, that, circulating throughout the entire body, affects every organ, and produces all the above symptoms.

Therefore we say, and thought that "Warner's SAFE Cure" is THE MOST EFFECTIVE MEDICINE EVER DISCOVERED for the human race. It is the common remedy which, overcoming the common cause, removes the greatest possible number of evil effects from the system. Let us note a few of these diseases and how they are affected by kidney poison, and cured by

"WARNER'S SAFE CURE."

CONSUMPTION: In a great many cases Consumption is only the effect of a diseased condition of the system and not an original disease; if the Kidneys are inactive and there is any natural weakness in the lungs, the kidney poison attacks their substance and eventually they waste away and are destroyed. Put your finger in acid and it is burned. Wash the liquor every day in acid and it soon becomes a festering sore and is eventually destroyed. The kidney poison acts in the blood has the same destructive effect upon the lungs. For this reason a person whose kidneys are ailing will have grave chances of Pneumonia in the Spring of the year, Lung fevers, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, etc., at all seasons of the year. Rectify the action of the kidneys by "Warner's SAFE Cure" as many hundreds of thousands have done, and you will be surprised at the improvement in the condition of the lungs.

IMPAIRED EYE-SIGHT: Kidney acid with some persons has an especial affinity for the optic nerve, and though we have never urged it as a cure for disordered eye-sight, many persons have written us expressing surprise that after a thorough course of treatment with "Warner's SAFE Cure," their eye-sight has been vastly improved. In fact, one of the best oculists in the country says that half the patients that come to him with bad eyes, upon examination he discovers are victims of kidney disorder. We have no doubt that the reason why so many people complain of failing eye-sight early in life, is that all unconscious to themselves, their kidneys have been out of order for years, and the kidney poison is gradually ruining the system.

OPIUM HABITS: It is a well-known fact, recently shown anew, that enslaving habits conquer the nerves by their paralyzing effects upon the kidneys and liver. In these organs the appetite is developed and sustained, and the best authorities state that the habits can not be gotten rid of until the kidneys and liver are restored to perfect health. For this purpose, leading medical authorities, after a thorough examination of all claimants for the honor of being the only specific for these organs, have awarded the prize to "Warner's SAFE Cure."

RHEUMATISM: Every reputable physician will tell you that Rheumatism is caused by an acid condition of the system. With some it is uric acid, or kidney poison; in others, it is lithic acid, or liver poison. This acid condition is caused by inactivity of the kidneys and liver, false action of the stomach and food assimilating organs. It affects old people more than young people because the acid has been collecting in the system for years and finally the system becomes entirely acidified. These acids produce all the various forms of rheumatism. "Warner's SAFE Cure," acting upon the kidneys and liver, neutralizing the acid and correcting their false action, cures many cases of rheumatism. "Warner's SAFE Rheumatic Cure," alternating with the use of "Warner's SAFE Cure" completes the work.

BLADDER DISORDERS: Gross and other high medical authorities say that most of the bladder diseases originate with false action of the kidneys, and urinary tract. Uric acid constantly coursing through these organs inflames and eventually destroys the inner membrane, producing the intense suffering. Sometimes this kidney acid solidifies in the kidneys in the form of gravel, which in its descent to the bladder produces kidney colic. Sometimes the acid solidifies in the Bladder, producing calculus or Stone. "Warner's SAFE Cure" has restored thousands of cases of inflammation and catarrh of the bladder and has effectively corrected the tendency to the formation of gravel and stone. It challenges comparison with all other remedies in this work. Buy to-day.

"WARNER'S SAFE CURE."

CONGESTION: Congestion is a collecting together of blood in any one place. If there is loss of nervous action in any organ the blood vessels do not allow the blood to circulate and it stagnates. If this condition exists very long the collecting blood clots and eventually destroys the organ. Many persons are unconscious victims of this very common condition. The heart, determined as it is to force blood into every part of the system, has to work harder to get it through the clogged organ, and eventually the Heart breaks down and palpitation, excessive action, rush of blood to the head, distressing headaches, indicate that the Congestion has become chronic and is doing damage to the entire system. Congestion of the kidneys is one of the commonest of complaints and is the beginning of much chronic misery. "Warner's SAFE Cure" will remove it.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS: What we have said about Congestion applies with particular force to the above complaints. They are as common as can be, and as every doctor can tell you, most of them begin in this congestive condition of the system, which, not being regularly corrected, grows into disease and produces these countless sufferings which can be alluded to but not described in a public print. Thousands have been permanently cured.

BLOOD DISORDERS: It is not strange that so many, many people write us that since they have given themselves thorough treatment with "Warner's SAFE Cure" their thick and turgid blood, their heavy, blotched, irritable skin have disappeared under its potent influence. The kidney poison in the blood thickens it. It is not readily purified in the lungs, and the result is the impurities come out of the surface of the body, and if there is any local disease all the badness in the blood seems to collect there. Our experience justifies us in the statement that "Warner's SAFE Cure" is "the greatest blood purifier known." The treatment must be very thorough.

STOMACH DISORDERS: Many people complain more or less throughout the year with stomach disorders: Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Waterbrash, heat and distress in the stomach, sharp pains, frequent aches, want of appetite, lack of energy. Now, these are exactly the conditions that will be produced in the stomach when the blood is filled with kidney poison: People dose themselves with all sorts of stomach reliefs, but get no better: They never will get better until they give their attention to a thorough reviving of kidney and liver action by the means of the only specific—"Warner's SAFE Cure."

CONSTIPATION, PILES: These distressing ailments, more common among one class than the other, are not original disorders, but are secondary to imperfect action of the kidneys and liver. The natural cathartic is bile, which is taken from the blood by the liver. If the liver fails the bile is not furthcoming and the person goes into a constipated habit. This, eventually followed by piles, is almost always an indication of congested liver, and a breaking down of the system. Remove the congestion, revive the liver and restore the kidneys by the use of "Warner's SAFE Cure," and these constitutional secondary diseases disappear.

HEADACHES: Many people suffer untold agonies all their lives with headache. They try every remedy in vain, for they have not struck the cause. With some temperaments, kidney acid in the blood, in spite of all that can be done, will irritate and inflame the brain and produce intense suffering. These obstinate headaches which do not yield readily to local treatment, may be regarded quite certainly as of kidney origin.

THESE ARE SCIENTIFIC FACTS, and, from the way we have set them forth, it will plainly be seen, that the statement we make, that "Warner's SAFE Cure" is the "most effective remedy ever discovered for the greatest number of human diseases," is justified. It is not a remedy without a reputation. Its sales for the past year have been greater than ever, and the advertising thereof less than ever, showing incontestibly that the merit of the medicine has given it a permanent place and value.

People have a dreadful fear of Bright's disease, but we can tell them from our experience that it is the ordinary kidney disease that produces no pain that is to-day the greatest enemy of the human race; great and all powerful, because in nine cases out of ten, its presence is not suspected by either the physician or the victim! The prudent man who finds himself year after year troubled with little odd aches and ailments that perplex him, ought not to hesitate a moment as to the real cause of his disease. If he will give himself thorough constitutional treatment with "Warner's SAFE Cure" and "Warner's SAFE Pills," he will get a new lease of life and justly in his own experience, as hundreds of thousands have done, that 93 per cent. of human diseases are really attributable to a deranged condition of the kidneys, and that they will disappear when those organs are restored to health.

ASK YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS WHAT THEY THINK OF

"WARNER'S SAFE CURE."

Our Young People.

A HYMN FOR THE NEW YEAR.

There's a Friend for little children
Above the bright blue sky—
A Friend who never changes,
Whose love will never die;
Unlike our friends by nature,
Who change with changing years,
This Friend is always worthy
The precious name he bears.

There's a rest for little children
Above the bright blue sky,
Who love the blessed Savior,
And, "Abba, Father," cry;
And rest from every trouble,
From sin and danger free:
There every little pilgrim
Shall rest eternally.

There's a home for little children
Above the bright blue sky,
Where Jesus reigns in glory—
A home of peace and joy;
No home on earth is like it,
Nor can with it compare:
For every one is happy,
None can be happier there.

There's a crown for little children
Above the bright blue sky,
And all who look to Jesus
Shall wear it by and by—
A crown of brightest glory
Which he will sure bestow
On all who love the Savior,
And walk with him below.

There's a song for little children
Above the bright blue sky,
And harp of sweetest music
For their hymn of victory;
And all above is pleasure—
'Tis found in Christ alone.
O come, dear little children:
That all may be your own.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl nine years old. I am going to school. My teacher is Mrs. Jennie Newton. I like her very much. I study reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic and geography. We have a nice church. I am a little church member. Bro. Ira B. Robertson was our pastor for the past two years. We will miss him very much, for we all loved him dearly; also his sweet little wife. Our home is lonely now, for my two little nephews, Herndon and Hugh Barlow, have returned to Texas after staying with us two years. Ora L. Knight, I will answer your question: Judas betrayed Christ with a kiss. Alice Porter, I think Robert Hugh would be a pretty name for your little brother.

FLORENCE S. BARLOW.

Ramsorth, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I have never written many letters to the ADVOCATE. I am going to school every day. We have Sunday-school once a month at home, and the other Sundays I go eight miles to our church. We hope to have church nearer home soon. I see Alice Porter is asking for a name for her brother. I do not know why they have waited so long for a name unless it is for the prettiest or the longest or the most singular. If the last, I will send her mine. I have never seen anyone of my name, and feel lonely without one namesake. Mine is Andronicus; for short, Andron. If it is not long enough, I would suggest Euphratus.

Your little friend,

ANDRON D. WALKER.

Ile-No, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: As I see so many letters in the ADVOCATE, and not one from here, I thought I would write one. I am a little boy eleven years old. We do not have any Methodist preaching since Rev. Van Valkenburgh left us last summer. I went to Sunday-school all the summer. I am studying at home now. I have one little brother younger than I am. My papa takes your valuable paper. I like the little people's column so much. I will answer Ora L. Knight's question: Jesus was betrayed by Judas with a kiss. I will ask the little cousins one: How many books in the Bible is Moses the author of, and what are their names?

SAMUEL J. POTTER.

Scobartown, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I have written two letters to your valuable paper, one of which found its way to the waste-basket. I am a little boy ten years old. Our pastor is Bro. Burroughs. I joined the church two years ago. Our day-school will begin the first Monday in June. Capt. P. J. Boothe will be our teacher. I will answer Ormond D. Walker's question: "Black horse" is found in Revelation vi, 5. Papa is a subscriber to your valuable paper. With many good wishes to the ADVOCATE, I remain,

Your little friend,

OTTO J. MARSHALL.

Vaiden, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl eight years old. My Aunt Annie (Mrs. Heard) sends us your paper, and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters very much. I have a little sister four years old, named Eunice Amelia. We have delightful times with our dolls, wagon and shepherd dog on the high hills. I will ask the little folks a question, and close: Where was Peter when the light went out?

Your little friend,

ANNIE L. BRANTLEY.

Decatur, Texas.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not seen any letters from this place, I thought I would write you a few lines. I am a little girl ten years old. My papa takes your good paper. I have three sisters and two brothers. I will answer Ora L. Knight's question: Jesus was betrayed with a kiss by Judas. I will ask a question: How old was Methuselah? Christmas is over, and the new year has begun. Well, I must close. Good-by. Your little friend,

CLARA BROWN.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not written to your paper in a long time, I thought I would try and write you a few words. Papa takes your dear old ADVOCATE, and you just don't know how glad and I enjoy reading the little folks' letters. Mamma has six children, and I am the oldest. I will be thirteen my next birthday. We have only been living here two months. I joined the church as soon as we came here. Sister and I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Bro. Masey is our pastor. We love him so much. Mr. J. B. Howard is my Sunday-school teacher. Well, I must close. Yours truly,

EVA BROWN.

When nature falters and requires help, recruit her enfeebled energies with Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier. $1.00 per bottle.

MR. EDITOR: I am a boy thirteen years old. My pa takes the ADVOCATE, and we all like it very much, especially the little cousins' letters. I never have written a letter to a paper, and if I make mistakes, you must correct them. I hope you will give a space in your valuable paper for my short letter. I will answer Benlay D. Sullivan's question: Carmi was Achan's father. It is found in Joshua, vii, 18. Now, I will ask a question: How, and where, was Jezebel punished?

I remain,

Your true friend,

J. M. CONERLY.

Leesville, Louisiana.

War Ahead.

There is great danger of war with Mexico in the near future, but at present we can pursue the arts of happiness, prosperity and wealth. Wherever you live, you should write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free full information about work that you can do, and live at home, earning thereby from $5 to $25 and upwards daily. Some have earned over $50 in a day. Capital not required; you are started free. All is new; both sexes. All ages. Pay as above guaranteed, from first start.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl twelve years old. I have one brother older than I am. I am going to school. I learn my lessons well. I love to go to school. I study geography, arithmetic, reading, writing and spelling. I will answer Bettie Carruth's question: Psalm cxvii. I will ask a question: In what verse in the Bible is the word "wickedness" found five times?

Yours truly,

ARDELLA COOK.

Magnolia, Mississippi.

"MY DOCTOR'S BILL for the past four years has not been $10," writes F. G. Bailey, of 31 South 9th street, Dixion, Ill. He had Vertigo, Indigestion, Great Nervousness, Inflammation of the Bladder, Kidney Disease and Bleeding Piles. Eighteen bottles of Warner's safe cure permanently cured him, as he will tell you if you write and enclose a stamped envelope. As your friends and neighbors about Warner's safe cure.

Had an Eye on Him.

"That young Brown has become a Christian, has he?" So said one business man to another.

"Yes, I heard so."

"Well, I'll have my eye on him to see if he holds out. I want a trusty young man in my store. They are hard to find. If this is the real thing with him, he will be just the man I want. I've kept my eye on him ever since I heard of it. I'm watching him closely."

So young Brown went in and out of the store, and up and down the street. He mixed with his old associates, and all the time Mr. Todd had an eye on him. He watched how the young man bore the sneer of being "one of the saints;" if he stood up manfully for his new Master, and was not afraid to show his colors. Although Mr. Todd took rides, went to church, or did what he pleased on Sunday, he was very glad to see that Brown rested on the Sabbath day and hallowed it. Though the Wednesday evening bell never drew the merchant to prayer meeting, he watched to see if Brown passed by. Sometimes he said: "Where are you going, Brown?" and always received the prompt answer: "To prayer meeting." Brown's father and his teacher were both questioned as to how the lad was getting on.

For a year or more Todd's eyes were on Brown. Then he said to himself: "He'll do. He is a real Christian. I can trust him. I can afford to pay him. He shall have a good place in my store.

Thus, young Christians, others watch to see if you are true; if you will do for places of trust. The world has its cold calculating eye on you, to see if your religion is real, or if you are just ready to turn back. The work is pleasant and the pay good. These places may be for you when, through his strength, you have proved yourself true.

Fix an eye on him, and he will keep you in the way.—Congregationalist.

Exposure to rough weather, getting wet, living in damp localities, are favorable to the contraction of diseases of the kidneys and bladder. As a preventive, and for the cure of all kidney and liver trouble, use that valuable remedy, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. $1.00 per bottle.

TWO WAYS. Fred and Joe are boys of the same age. Both have their way to make in the world. This is the way Joe does: When work is before him he waits as long as he can—he hates to touch it! Then he does not half do it. He is almost sure to stop before it is done. He does not care if fault is found. He says, "I can't help it;" or "I don't care."

Fred's way is not the same. He goes straight to his work, and does it as soon as he can and as well as he can. He never slights work for play, though he loves play as well as Joe does. If he does not know how to do a piece of work well, he asks some one who does know, and then he takes care to remember. He says, "I never want to be ashamed of my work."

Which boy do you think will make a man to be trusted?

Is pain an evil? But how can it be an evil if with it is given thee the power to bear it cheerfully.

Farm and Home.

What to Teach Our Daughters.

At a social gathering some one proposed this question: "What shall I teach my daughter?" The following replies were handed in:

Teach her that 100 cents make a dollar.

Teach her to arrange the parlor and the library.

Teach her to say "No," and mean it, or "Yes," and stick to it.

Teach her how to wear a calico dress; and to wear it like a queen.

Teach her how to sew on buttons, darn stockings and mend gloves.

Teach her to dress for health and comfort as well as for appearance.

Teach her to cultivate flowers and to keep the kitchen garden.

Teach her to make the neatest room in the house.

Teach her to have nothing to do with intemperate or dissolute young men.

Teach her that tight-lacing is uncomely as well as injurious to health.

Teach her to regard the morals and habits, and not money, in selecting her associates.

Teach her to observe the old rule: "A place for everything and everything in its place."

Teach her that music, drawing and painting are real accomplishments in the home and not be neglected, if there be time and money for their use.

Teach her the important truism: "That the more she lives within her income, the more she will save, and the further she will get away from the poor-house."

Teach her that a good, steady, church-going mechanic, or farmer, or clerk, or teacher, without a cent, is worth more than forty loafers or non-producers in broadcloth.

SERVANTS' SLEEPING-ROOM.—The first thing we must do is to get rid of the popular fallacy that any closet or room will do for the servants to sleep in, so that we have not to give them such accommodation that every spark of ambition (if it has ever been kindled) dies at once with the first glance into the only place they can call their own. In arranging the division of rooms in your house, do, if possible, select some airy, attractive place which may be converted into a pleasant living-room. I know the builders of houses are now giving far more attention to servants' rooms than formerly, so do not let old-fashioned ideas clash against progress, do not look into the neatly papered, painted and well-ventilated room, and say, "Too good," and set up the old, broken, defaced furniture in a loft or closet, or tiny out-of-the-way corner, which "can't well be spared." Give the girls a room in which they can take pride, and then try to reason in them a sense of delight in pleasant and orderly surroundings. It may be dormant and slow in coming to life, but with coaxing, as well as discipline, with a continued repetition of your demand for neatness, it will come.—Good Housekeeping.

REST AFTER MEALS.—Hurried eating of meals, followed immediately by some such employment as occupies the whole attention and takes up all, or nearly all, of the physical energies, is sure to result in dyspepsia in one form or another. Sometimes it shows itself in excessive irritability, a sure indication that nerve force has been exhausted; the double draught in order to digest the food and carry on the business has been more than nature could stand without being thrown out of balance. In another case, the person is exceedingly dull as soon as he has a few minutes' leisure. The mind seems a dead blank, and can only move in its accustomed channels, and then only when compelled. This, also, is an indication of nervous exhaustion. Others will have deadened pains in the stomach, or a sense of weight, as if a heavy burden were inside. A physician once said: "It does not so much matter what we eat as how we eat it." While this is only partly true, it certainly is true that the most healthful food hurriedly eaten, and immediately followed by work which engages the entire available physical and mental force, is much worse than a meal of poor food eaten leisurely and followed by an interval of rest.—Journal of Health.

CHILDREN'S SHOES.—Too much can not be said against the cruelty of forcing children's feet into short and narrow-toed shoes. Many children before they are ten years old have incipient corns and bunions caused by the foolish pride or carelessness on the part of mothers. Many do not know that, if a child's foot is allowed to develop naturally, when fully developed it can wear with ease a much smaller shoe than when crushed back and forced out of shape while growing so fast. The foot is a part of the body that completes its growth early. The size of the feet of a growing boy is sometimes noticeably large; when the rest of his body has finished its growth, the feet are proportionate. If a growing foot is pressed into short shoes, the toes are pushed back and become thick at the ends. They are pressed up against the top of the shoe, and corns are made. They are enlarged at the great and little toe joints, causing bunions, which are more painful than corns.

Hot bread, when it must be cut, it is said, will not look sodden if the knife is warmed before cutting. Some prefer breaking to cutting: though it will not look so well, it will be more palatable. Better, however, if the loaf is left for a day or so before cutting or using.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

How to Cure Skin & Scalp Diseases with the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

TORTURING, DISFIGURING, ITCHING, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp, and blood with loss of hair, from infancy to old age, are cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, cleanses the blood and perspiration of disease-producing elements, and thus removes the cause.

CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, instantly allays itching and inflammation, clears the skin and scalp, heals scales and sores, and restores the hair.

CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin beautifier, is indispensable in treating skin diseases, baby humors, skin blemishes, chapped and oily skin.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are the great skin beautifiers. Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

TINTED with the loveliest delicacy is the skin bathed with CUTICURA MEDICATED SOAP.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT
VEGETABLE
PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises, It is cooling, cleansing and healing.

Catarrh, It is most effective for this disease. Used in the Head, &c. "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared for chronic cases, should be applied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plasters are invaluable in the sciatica, Lumbago, Pains in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching. It is the greatest known remedy. Injection using when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service when the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples, Mothers who once use The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints, In the comparatively few cases of these diseases in which the Extract can be used without relief, with the greatest benefit, Pond's Extract Ointment may each be used.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract has been imitated, but the genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our name and address on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. We will not be responsible for any preparation sold under our name unless it bears our signature. It is never sold by the gallon or in bulk. Sold everywhere. Price, 50c., $1, $1.75. Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all prescriptions having failed, and all hopes was exhausted, and he was given up by friends and physicians, he accidentally heard from his bedside of a case similar to his own that was cured by a simple remedy. He procured it, and it saved his life. This was over a year ago. He has since regained his health, and is now a well man. For all diseases of CONSUMPTION, Scrofula, Chronic Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and permanent cure for Nervous Debility, this remedy has proved its wonderful curative powers. Actuated by motives of philanthropy, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to any sufferer this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

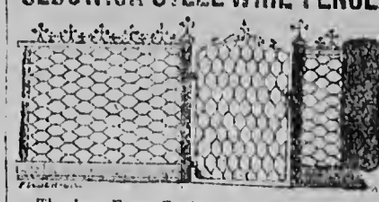
GERANIUMS ROSES

Free by Mail 15 for $1.00

A large stock of the best of the new and old varieties; also, an assortment of SHRUBS, Greenhouse & bedding plants. Prices defy competition. Illustrated catalogue free to all applicants. Address,

THOS. A. McBETH, Springfield, Ohio.

SEDGWICK STEEL WIRE FENCE.



The best Farm, Garden, Poultry Yard, Lawn, School Lot, Park and Cemetery Fences and Gates. Perfect Automatic Gate. Cheapest and Neatest Iron Fences. Iron and wire Summer Houses, Lawn Furniture, and other wire work. Best Wire Stretcher and Plier. Ask dealers in hardware, or address, SEDGWICK BROS., Richmond, Ind.

TRAVEL VIA

Burlington Route C.B.&Q.R.R.

Through Trains with Dining Cars, Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars, Modern Coaches. Sure connections in Union Depots at all terminal points, with trains from and to the East, West, North and South. Cheapest, Best and Quickest Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis to

DENVER, SAN FRANCISCO, OMAHA, KANSAS CITY, CITY OF MEXICO, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS, PORTLAND, ORE., ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON.

For Tickets, Rates, Maps, &c., apply to Ticket Agents of connecting lines, or address

T. J. POTTER, 1st V. P. H. B. STONE, G. M. PAUL MORTON, G. P. & T. A.

For handsome Illustrated Burlington Route Guide Book send 2c. postage to the G. P. & T. A., Chicago, Ill.

THE IMPROVED ACME WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only Five lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 Reward for its superior. Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges. Send for circulars. Agents wanted.

ACME, Pat. April 12, '81.

C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont. Sole Manufacturer. Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expense, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

Are You CONSUMPTIVE.

Have you Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Indigestion? Use PARKER'S TONIC without delay. It has cured many of the worst cases and is the best remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs, and diseases arising from impure blood and exhaustion. Often saves life. Gives new life and strength to the aged and infirm. $1 at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS.

The safest, surest and best cure for Corns, Bunions, &c. Stops all pain. Ensures comfort to the feet. Never fails. 15 cents. Taverns at Druggists. Hiscox & Co., N. Y.

WE WANT YOU! a live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every County. Salary $75 per month and expenses, or a large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfit and particulars Free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

OPIUM and WHISKY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent Free. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

McLELAND—TERRELL.—At the residence of the bride's father, January 19, by Rev. B. F. Lewis, Mr. J. B. McLeland, of Wesson, Miss., to Miss Addie Terrell, of Lincoln county, Miss.

MAY—EVANS.—At the residence of the bride's father, January 20, by Rev. B. F. Lewis, Mr. Thomas H. G. May to Miss P. G. Evans, both of Lincoln county, Miss.

HICKMAN—LEE.—At the residence of Mr. John Walls, near Beauregard, Miss., January 20, 1887, by Rev. Robert B. Downer, Andrew J. Hickman to Miss Maud O. Lee.

ELLIS—HEFFNER.—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. R. P. Heffner, January 11, 1887, by Rev. G. W. Brown, Mr. T. Q. Ellis to Miss Kate Heffner, both of Holmes county, Miss.

DAWKIN—THOMPSON.—At the residence of the bride's mother, in Farmersville, La., December 23, 1886, by Rev. R. S. Coller, Mr. O. C. Dawkin to Miss Josie Thompson, both of Farmersville, La.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

RAWLS—MRS. KEZIAH RAWLS (nee Felder) was born in South Carolina in 1795; was married to Jabez Rawls, of Pike county, Miss., May 20, 1818, and died near Hattiesburg, Miss., September 29, 1886.

The deceased was a very remarkable character in many respects, and especially so as a Christian. She professed religion and joined the Methodist Church when quite a little girl, and from the day of her profession up to the day of her death she was a model of faithfulness. Less than a year before she died she told the writer that she had never knowingly violated any rule of her church. What a wonderful record! Nearly a century of consistent Christian living! Truly she was not only consistent, but pre-eminently useful. She was highly gifted in prayer, and her presence at a religious meeting of any kind was hailed as a gracious benediction by all who knew her. She was a power for good wherever she went. To be in her presence and hear her talk made one think of patriarchs and prophets. Truly did she act well her part in life, and now she is reaping the reward of her labors. If her numerous kindred and friends will only follow her as she followed Christ, ere long they will meet her in the beautiful home above where parting is unknown. J. W. M'LAURIN.

CRAWFORD—MRS. NETA CAROLINE CRAWFORD was born in Franklin county, Miss., October 13, 1818, and died at Tryon, Miss., December 25, 1886. At the age of twelve she was converted and joined the Methodist Church. In the year 1833 she was married to James Crawford, and was left a widow in 1851 with five sons and two daughters.

She lived to see all of her children followers of the Savior, and left the legacy of a name "as ointment poured forth." She was always ready to give any that asked a reason for the hope that was within her. Prompt to attend the public means of grace and respond to all claims of the church, ready to visit the sick and distressed. While her children have lost a devoted mother and the church a faithful member, all feel that our loss is her gain. Suddenly stricken down speechless, on the morning of the twenty-fourth, she remained so until death unloosed her tongue to shout the praises of King Immanuel in glory. Surrounded by her children and grandchildren, with her eyes and hands she told us of the joy within and the hope beyond, and reassured us all was well. All felt that Heaven was very near as the sands of life ran out and she gradually fell asleep in Jesus.

R. H. DOWNER.

BENNETT—WALTER COLUMBUS BENNETT was born May 25, 1867; joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, October 22, 1884; died November 5, 1886.

As a son, a student, a companion, a Christian, Walter was all that could be desired. Once known, he was admired and respected. God endowed him with great talent. This he improved at every opportunity. Called upon by his family's necessities, his yearnings for knowledge were made to hold a secondary place, and he stood shoulder to shoulder with his father in working out the family's support. From the time he joined the church, he was an earnest seeker after a full knowledge of God. At Centenary College his noble spirit found that companionship which ripened and developed his Christian character. After a week of suffering he was taken up to be with the Lord forever. May we who loved him soon share his happy lot!

HIS PASTOR.

SARTAIN—MARTHA JANE SARTAIN was the daughter of Isaac Newton, and was born in Lawrence county, Miss., June 11, 1846. She was married to S. P. Sartain in 1861. She joined the Methodist Church in the year 1867, and remained a consistent member until her death, December 10, 1886.

Her illness was sudden and of short duration. She had lived a faithful life as a Christian wife and mother. To know her was to love her, and, while not demonstrative in disposition, there could be no doubting the quiet devotion to duty as displayed in her daily Christian walk. She desired to live to care for her loved husband and precious children; but when satisfied that the Lord was calling her home, she resigned all into his hands, and now stands upon "the other shore," watching and waiting until her loved ones are all gathered safe within the heavenly fold. ROBT. H. DOWNER.

WILROY—It has pleased the Almighty Creator, in his wise providence, to remove from our midst the dear, sweet spirit of our beloved young sister, ANNIE WILROY, after a painful sickness of forty-two days, in which she bore her suffering with Christian courage and resignation. She was born July 30, 1873; died January 18, 1887; professed religion during the summer of 1886, at Lewisburg, Miss., and attached herself to the Methodist Church at Cockrum, Miss.

She was a regular attendant at church and Sabbath-school; a Bible reader, a devoted Christian. Her body was tenderly laid away in its last resting-place by loving and sorrowing schoolmates, there to remain until the resurrection morn, when she shall come forth at the bidding of the Master in her glorified body and spirit.

H. L. VAUGHN.

The Region of Geysirs.

A region of geysirs and boiling springs is one of the strangest and wierdest on the face of the globe. From a distance, the curiosity of the traveler is aroused by the clouds of steam which rise here and there from among the trees, or from the bare sinter-covered slopes. His previous experience of steam-courts has probably been in association with factories and locomotives, and hence the white puffs that float away and disappear seem in strange contrast with the utter loneliness of the scenery. As he approaches the centre of activity, he passes an occasional white mound of crumbling sinter, where a geysir once has been, and quiet pools of steaming water, of exquisitely green and blue tints, enclosed in alabaster-like basins of white and pink sinter. The ground sounds hollow as he walks upon it. Treacherous holes open on all sides, some of them filled with boiling water, others opening down in hot vaporous caverns. It seems as if he were treading on a thin crust covering a honeycombed mass of hot rock within, beneath which lie vast reservoirs of boiling water, and as if this crust might at any spot give way and precipitate him into the hideous gulfs beneath. But his attention is perhaps arrested by a loud, hissing roar like that of a large engine blowing off its steam. Turning to the quarter whence the sound comes, he sees a geysir in eruption, hurling its column of water and steam high into the air. Farther on he comes to a spluttering cauldron of grey, green, or red mud, on the surface of which large, blister-like ones rise up and burst, scattering the mud around, and building up miniature volcanic cones round the vents from which the steam escapes. And so on all through this strange region he is surrounded with evidences of the nether fires such as his fancy had never pictured. The heat of the earth's interior is now no longer with him a mere matter of scientific belief. It is such an appalling reality that he is perhaps inclined to regard with astonishment the general belief of geologists that geysirs and boiling springs mark a waning condition of volcanic excitement.

Of the three great geysir districts of the globe, Iceland, Montana, and New Zealand, the last-named far surpassed its rivals in the supreme beauty of its inner terraces. Those of the Yellowstone are exquisite indeed in their variety of form and coloring. But for magnitude, regularity, and brilliance, the Pink and White Terraces of Rotomahana stood unrivalled. To the east of the geysirs and hot mud springs of that locality, rises the great ridge of Tarawera, upwards of thirty-six hundred feet in height, with its three truncated cones, marking the sites of three extinct craters. Its barren summit had for ages been sacred ground to the Maoris, who carry up their dead to it at lonely spots for burial. The volcanic fires, elsewhere still active, seemed there to have burnt out, and the hot springs remained a opportunity the last relic of their former activity.—Dr. Archibald Geikie, in Contemporary Review.

This morning's waking was the touch of his hand. Last week death in all of life or study was looked down upon with his sympathetic smiles. When you left home this morning, your heart devised your ways, but the Lord did really direct your steps. When you prayed that God would keep those you left there, your prayer was verily heard; and, whether by granting or denying, it will be God himself that answers you—the personal, listening, loving God.—Dr. F. B. Huntington.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Persons who have suffered from Malaria during the summer and fall, and have taken quinine and tonics to keep its power in check, are liable all through the winter and spring to feel more or less influenced, by the toxic the poison is still in the system. If you wish to be cured safely and promptly, get Shallenberger's Antidote for Malaria, the only Antidote known.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—"Civil Service Gazette."

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England.

The Physician's Favorite!

A predigested, non-irritating, easily assimilated food indicated in all weak and inflamed conditions of the digestive organs, either in infants or adults.

☞ It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

The Most Nourishing, Most Palatable, Most Economical, of all Prepared Foods.

150 MEALS for an Infant for $1.00.

EASILY PREPARED. At Druggists, 25c., 50c., $1

☞ A valuable pamphlet on "The Nutrition of Infants and Invalids," sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

WINCHESTER'S

HYPOPHOSPHITE of LIME and SODA is a much better Remedy for Consumption in every stage of the disease. For Coughs, Weak Lungs, Throat Diseases, Loss of Flesh and Appetite, and every form of General Debility it is an unequalled Specific Remedy. ☞ BE SURE AND GET WINCHESTER'S PREPARATION. $1 and $2 per bottle. Sold by Druggists.

WINCHESTER & CO., Chemists, 162 William St., New York.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Faultless Family Medicine.

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED

By always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best family medicine I have ever used for anything that may happen; have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhœa, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if, on going to bed, I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

"OVID G. SPARKS,
"Ex-Mayor, Macon, Ga."

☞ ONLY GENUINE ☜

has our Z stamp in red on front of Wrapper.

J. H. Zeilin & Co., Sole Proprietors,
Price, $1. PHILADELPHIA, PA.

FROM

CAPTAIN THE HONORABLE

ALISTAIR HAY,

3rd Battalion Black Watch,

Royal Highlanders.

(SECOND SON OF THE EARL OF KINNOULL.)

DUPPLIN CASTLE, PERTH, SCOTLAND.

TO THE LIEBIG COMPANY:

"I was in a condition of great debility, consequent upon a broken-down stomach, dyspepsia and malaria complicated with kidney irritation, when my medical attendant directed me to take your incomparable Coca Beef Tonic. Its effect was simply marvelous. The power of digestion was quickly restored, the kidney irritation vanished, and rapid restoration to health followed.

"Other preparations of Coca had been tried without the slightest effect."

Invaluable in Debility, Dyspepsia, Bilious and Liver Affections, Malaria, Nervous Affections, Nervous and sick Headache, Sleeplessness, Weak Lungs, Asthma and Female Sufferings and Infirmities. Beware of Imitations under imitative names.

PRICE

ONE DOLLAR.

N. Y. DEPOT,
38 Murray Street.

An Agreeable Aperient.

ROGERS'

DRY CITRATE OF MAGNESIA.

This Well-Known Preparation is

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

—FOR—

Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, and all Complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fever.

It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists,
281 Bleecker St., New York.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS

A. Brousseau's Son

23 and 25 Charires Street.

China Matting,

CARPETS,

INGRAINS,

LACE CURTAINS,

WINDOW SHADES,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

Fishing Tackle and Ammunition,

WOODEN AND WILLOW-WARE.

PAPER, ROPE, GLASSWARE.

HARDWARE.

Axle Grease,	Guns and Ammun.
Baseball Goods,	Oil Cans and Stoves,
Buckling and Blue,	Oyster Tongs,
Clocks and Combs,	Perfumery and Soaps,
Curbs and Bottles,	Rope Reels,
Croquet and Marbles,	Sad dlery,
Knives—pocket and table,	Tinware
Lamps and Burners,	Twines and Wick,
Lye and Sal Soda,	Whips and Ladies,
Mirrors,	Wire Goods.

J. C. MORRIS,

40, 42 and 44 Tchoupitoulas St.,

Sole Agency South for the Celebrated Hickok Gasoline Burners and Empire Co. Scales.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Philip Werlein's,

135 Canal Street,

THE GREAT PIANO HOUSE

—OF THE—

SOUTH.

THE PLACE

TO BUY YOUR

PIANOS

—AND—

ORGANS.

Greatest Bargains

Now Offered.

GOODWYN'S

☞ NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Bakers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is POSITIVELY PURE, EXCELLENT and HEALTHFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. It yield is the BEST GRAPE CREAM TARTAR. It has no superior in Merchandise. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE, by Doctors Wm. G. Anderson, C. L. Bickham, J. J. Lyons, Jos. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. OUR CHEMISTS SAY IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

MRS. P. M. GOODWYN,

224 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.

JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.

GAS FIXTURES,

PLUMBERS,

Steam and Gas Fitters,

—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—

HOME COMFORT RANGE,

TELEPHONE No. 985.

No. 110 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing

GOODS,

Successor in Wholesale to

WHEELER & PIERSON,

56 Canal Street, NEW ORLEANS

YALE & BOWLING,

WHOLESALE

DRY GOODS

AND NOTIONS

17, 19 & 21 Magazine and 58 Common Streets, NEW ORLEANS

WALL PAPER

in all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty

WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,

WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS,

UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.

FRAMING NEATLY DONE.

PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS,

RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS

EDWARD HEATH,

No. 75 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

Ammoniated Raw Bone Superphosphate

PURE GROUND BONE

200 Pounds to the Acre Will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded first at World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar, Cabbage and Orange Fertilizers. Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Stern's Fertilizing and Chemical Mfg Co.,
14 Union St., New Orleans.

BIG PAY TO AGENTS

FOR INTRODUCING OUR GOODS EVERYWHERE.

For Sample and Terms Address, 27 cents in stamps.

Address all orders to

La. Wire and Iron Manufacturing Co.,

65 and 69 North Derbigny St., New Orleans, La.

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION.

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886, with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Rates of board and tuition without music one hundred and seventy-five dollars; with music, two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in another proportion. If the entire bills for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Four pupils occupying a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board, tuition and one course in music for $176 25, a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue price; or by paying one-half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRAVE, Pres.
S. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Premiums Awarded

—TO THE—

SINGER

MANUFACTURING COMPANY

—BY THE—

N., C., and S. A. EXPOSITION.

FIRST MEDAL

For the Best Sewing Machines for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles 15c per dozen; Two dozen, 25c. All other styles from 15c to 25c. Oil, 5c a bottle. Singer Shuttles, 25c each. Postage Extra. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

N. E. RUSSELL, Agent. 162

MISCELLANEOUS.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

All the PATTERNS you wish to use during the Year for nothing to saving of from $2.00 to $4.00, by subscribing for

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine

With Twelve Orders, for Cut Paper Patterns of your own selection and of any size.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.25 (THREE TWENTY-FIVE).

DEMOREST'S THE BEST

Of all the Magazines.

CONTAINING STORIES, POEMS, AND OTHER LITERARY ATTRACTIONS, COMBINING ARTISTIC, SCIENTIFIC, AND HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Illustrated with Original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each Magazine contains a coupon order entitling the holder to the selection of any pattern illustrated in the fashion department in that number, and in any of the sizes manufactured, making patterns during the year of the value of over three dollars.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The Largest in Form, the Largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Family Magazine issued. 1887 will be the Twenty-third year of its publication. It is constantly improved and so extensively as to place it at the head of Family Periodicals. It contains 72 pages, large quarto, 8½ x 11½ inches, elegantly printed and fully illustrated. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York,

AND BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT COMBINED WITH THE

Christian Advocate at $3.25 Per Year

FOUR GRAND OFFERS GRAND

4 Grand Offers to every reader of the Christian Advocate. Every Agent of this Paper can do it. We know at least a Dozen Agents personally who can make one dozen and deposited cash over or time if you would like to have a long one. Let us hear from you. Please mention this paper. Address

OFFER No. 1. If you send us the names of three Agents and $3.00 for each we will make one dozen Imperial Crayon Portraits of the children from any photograph sent with order. We will return photograph safely with Portraits and guarantee satisfaction or money refunded. Size of Portraits 16 x 20 inches. Worth $12 per dozen. Sold by Agents for $24. Can be finished in water proof, Gold or Silver Frames, or Spotted Mounts as required. Special terms to Agents. Extra inducements to those getting up clubs. Send for Catalogue containing 1,000 Premiums, Chromos, Frames, Easels, Albums, Fancy Goods, Jewelry, Lamps, Silverware, etc., and we will show how to make the Work Count Profitably.

OFFER No. 2. If you possess a large parlor and wish to improve it you send us the three photographs and we will make one Crayon Portrait, size 24 x 30 inches, suitable for framing, and return the photographs safely with Portrait. Sent by mail, prepaid, on receipt of price, $2.50. To obtain the one dozen Imperials worth $10, for $5.00, or the 1,000 advertisements must be sent with the order. OFFERS

OFFER No. 3. Any existing negative of our PHOTO TUBE EQUIPMENTS for $50, by Date March 1st, 1887, will receive one New Model Tube Equipment, complete with Plates, Chemicals, Printing Frames, Camera, Tripod, Dark Slide, Printing Paper, Book of Instructions, "How to Make Photos," and 144 Pictures made by Equipment. Send negative by mail, prepaid, and we will return Equipment by Express, C. O. D., subject to examination.

OFFER No. 4. THE LEETHO RADIANT MAGIC LANTERN No. 2 is equal to any other Lantern sold for $10. It projects an exhibition picture 8 feet in diameter, and our price is only $2, and if you order one before March 1, 1887, we will put in the box one dozen slides, with 24 pictures free of charge. Send money by P. O. Order, Registered Letter, Draft on N. Y., or Express prepaid. Reference, Dun, Mercantile Agency. Catalogue of Lanterns, Chromatrope, Calcium Light and Views sent for stamp. If you are not prepared to pay for the Equipment, Lantern or Views at present, send for descriptive circulars and colored portraits sent for stamp. If you are not prepared to pay for receipt any of these Grand Offers, cut them out and keep them, as you may not see them again. Address EMPIRE CO-OPERATIVE CO., 581 Canal St., N.Y.

FOR YOU.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

31 CAMP STREET.

Cash Capital	$300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1887	420 608 39

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President.
H. GALLY, Vice-President.
SCOTT MCGEHEE, Secretary.

Finance Committee:

John T. Moore, Jr. M. Schwabacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, P. C. Ernst

NEW STORE! NEW GOODS!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our

New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youth's Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits, $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks. Lowest Prices and Best Goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S,

20 and 22 Camp Street.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, NEW ORLEANS.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 Pieces	$10	American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 136 pieces	$12 00
Decorated Dinner Sets, 97 pcs	$12 to $35	Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape	2 50
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape	3	Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape	3 50

Handsomely Japanned Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slop Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set. Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set.

Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 Cents to $2 per dozen.

Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 60 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

T. J. CARVER. B. O. L. RAYNE.

T. J. CARVER & CO.,

Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants,

44 Perdido Street.

The patronage of our friends and the public respectfully solicited.

FURNITURE.

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street.

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods. Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledge throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the sovereign remedy. Worm Confections, and more for the purpose of placing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country; but the fact about losses of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to prevail in favor daily. Children which look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and upon whom almost frequently the resort of these hidden suppers and miners. When they are irritable and feverish, sometimes grinding loud and pulling ravenously, again refusing wholesome food, tossing restlessly in sleep, scouring and grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond a doubt that some cases of the human system from earliest infancy, therefore prevalence of worms is more constantly with their influence must be the overcoming of the first symptoms of worms, and by its use can be safely and speedily removed from the system, by the timely use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and do not refer to their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its uniform success. In fact, I never fails. It has frequently been given in cases where all other remedies had failed, and in every instance the effect was prompt and decisive. Thousands of worms, large quantities of worms were discharged. Thousands of children have been restored to health and vigor by its use, and every parent ought to be his own physician and not allow a child to suffer from worms when a remedy can be obtained so easily. Beware of imitations. The genuine is done up in a yellow wrapper, and is sealed with a red seal. Signed B. A. Fahnestock, and bears the name of

VERMIFUGE

New Preparation, however, 25c

Cambridge, Md.

Dear Sir: I have used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is entirely reliable, and never disappointing. Yours truly, [illegible]

J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

The Great Church LIGHT.

PHINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. L. P. PHINK, 651 Pearl Street, N. Y.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending February 1, 1887.)

COTTON.

Low ordinary	6¾	@ — —
Ordinary	7¾	— —
Good ordinary	8¼	— —
Low middling	8 9-16	— —
Middling	8¾	— —
Good middling	9¼	— —
Middling fair	9¾	— —
Fair	10 7-16	— —
Galveston middling	8 15-16	— —
Mobile middling	8¾	— —
St. Louis middling	8 15-16	— —

SUGAR.

Inferior	2¾	3¼
Common	3¼	3¾
Good common	4	4 3-16
Fair	4	4 3-16
Good fair	4	4 3 16
Fully fair	— —	4¼
Prime	4 5 16	4¾
Strictly Prime	4⅜	4 7-16
Choice	4¼	4 9-16
Seconds	3¾	4⅞
Choice yellow	— —	5⅛
Gray White	— —	— —
Choice whites	5⅛	5 9-16
Stan. clar	5 13-16	5⅞

MOLASSES.

Syrup—Open Kettle	— —	— —
Fair	25	30
Strictly Prime	42	43
Choice	— —	46
Fancy	— —	— —

RICE.

Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	4¼	4¼
Prime	3¾	4
Good	3¾	3¾
Fair	3¼	3¾
Ordinary	2¾	3
Common	2¼	2¾
No. 2	2	2¼
Rough	2 55	2 85

FLOUR.

Minnesota bakers	4 62½	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12½
Extra fancy	— —	4 75
Winter wheat patents	— —	5 10
Choice	3 75	3 80
Fancy	4 15	4 25
Extra Fancy	4 30	4 40

CORN PRODUCTS.

Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 25	— —
Grits	2 50	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White	48	— —
Yellow	— —	48
Mixed	— —	48
OATS:
Western	37	38
Texas rust-proof	51	52
BRAN:
₰ cwt	7	8
HAY:
Choice	15 00	15 50
Prime	14 00	— —

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess	13¼	13½
Prime mess	11 75	12 00
Rumps	10 25	11 50
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	10	10½
Shoulders	6¼	— —
Sides, long clear	7¾	7⅞
Sides, short rib	7 40	7½
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	11	11½
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5¾	— —
Sides, long clear	6¾	— —
Sides, short rib	6¾	— —

FISH.

MACKERAL:
Extra No. 1, in bbls	11 50	— —
Half bbls	6 25	— —
No. 2, in bbls., large	11 00	— —
Half bbls	5 90	— —

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	16
Fair	— —	15½
Common	— —	13¼
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	21	22
Western Dairy	22	23
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6¼	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12½	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	36	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, per head	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 90	— —
KROUT:
Western, ½ bbl	— —	7
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	3 00	3 25

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
1¾ ℔, per yd	7¾	— —
2 ℔	8½	— —
BALING TWINE:
₰ ℔	10	— —
TIES:
₰ bundle	1 60	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 00	3 50
Young Chickens	1 50	2 50
Chickens, South'n	2 50	3 00
Young	1 75	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	9 00
EGGS:
Western	21	22
Southern	21	22
WOOL:
Lake, per ℔	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	12
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₰ ℔	— —	7
Dry salted	— —	10½
STAVES:
Oak, kegs	— —	— —
Oak, barrels, 33 in	75 00	— —
Oak, claret, 40 in	100 00	110 00
Oak, hogsh'd, 48 in	125 00	— —
HOOP POLES:
Hogshead, per 1000	30 00	— —
Barrels	15 00	— —
Half barrels	— —	75
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, per ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	35 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₰ ℔	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1½	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. RIGGS & BRO., 267 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

JANUARY 25.

It is semi-officially stated that the Austrian government concurs as to the necessity of a new Sobranje or a new Regency before the election of a Prince to the Bulgarian throne. All the powers except England are in unison on this subject.——The French press, irrespective of politics, accuses the English press of inventing and circulating bellicose canards, and assert that the English paper men are engaged in the work from pecuniary motives, being interested in influencing the stock markets.——Count Herbert Bismarck and William Bismarck have been nominated for the Reichstag.——A dreadful cholera epidemic is raging in the Argentine Republic and has reached Chili. In one place the deaths were forty in one day. The bodies of the dead remain unburied, sick children are left to die by their kin, who are fleeing southward for safety.——Mr. Charles B. Farwell, Senator-elect from Illinois, has taken the oath of office.——The proposed amendment to the Constitution, granting the privilege of suffrage to women was defeated in the Senate; yeas, 16; nays, 34.

JANUARY 26.

In speaking of the Queen's speech, to be read on the morrow at the opening of Parliament, the press speaks as follows: The speech is characterized by more than its usual vagueness. The hints of legislation for Ireland are especially obscure.——Mr. Chamberlain writes to the Times, at considerable length, to show the practicability of the adaptation of the Canadian Constitution to Ireland to meet the fundamental condition of Lord Hartington's plan for the government of Ireland.——The result of the ballot for M. P. in the exchange division of Liverpool to-day resulted as follows: Mr. Neville, Gladstonian, 3,222; Mr. Goschen, Conservative and Unionist, 3 211. Nine votes remain on dispute, and there will be a recount to-morrow.——Hungary desires peace. The German government has issued an order forbidding the exportation of horses.——The Zorillists defeated in Spain.——The Bulgarian Regents express a willingness to resign if all the powers desire them to do so.——A bill to apply $100,000 for the relief of sufferers by the drouth was passed in the Texas Senate yesterday with the necessary two-thirds majority to give it immediate effect.——The nomination of J. C. Matthews, of Albany, N. Y., the colored recorder of deeds for the District of Columbia, was rejected by the Senate by a vote of 17 for and 31 against.——The Farmers Convention met at Baton Rouge to-day.——The Interstate Commerce Bill has gone to the President, and by him referred to the Attorney General for examination.——The President may not act before the expiration of the ten days' period.——Argument in Lazarus case closed, and case taken under advisement by the court.

JANUARY 27.

Parliament opened to-day. Several eulogies were paid to the late Lord Iddesleigh. Mr. Gladstone was enthusiastically received. The Queen's speech was read. The government intends to practice coercion in Ireland. Mr. Goschen was defeated by seven votes.——Henry M. Stanley arrived in Cairo, Egypt, to-day.——A bomb was thrown in the town hall at Altona, but exploded too soon and did no harm.——The Provincial Legislature met to-day.——A fire in Dallas, Texas, yesterday resulted in the loss of $300,000 worth of property.——The freight handlers on the river front in Brooklyn are on a strike.——All the tailors in Boston have decided to leave the Knights of Labor.

JANUARY 28.

The inhabitants of Achille Island, off the coast of County Mayo, are preparing to resist eviction. They are very poor, and were nearly all supported last winter and spring through the contribution of the N. Y. Sun.——Gladstone wrote a letter to the Liverpool electors, congratulating them on the defeat of Mr. Goschen.——The last evictions at Coomodan took place to-day.——The German government will call out immediately 72,000 of the reserves and drill them in the use of the new repeating rifle.——Russia refuses to join a formal conference on the Bulgarian question.——The Michigan Senate has passed a joint resolution to submit a prohibitory amendment to the people by a vote of 22 to 10. The resolution has already passed the House.——The Tennessee Senate has passed on its final reading the prohibition amendment to the Constitution; the vote being: ayes, 31; nays, 2.——A despatch from Fremont, North Bend, and other points within a radius of 100 miles west of Omaha, Neb., report that the people were very much startled by an earthquake. No damage.

JANUARY 29.

Mr. Gladstone has been confined to his bed with a slight cold, but is better this evening.——Theobalds, bailiffs, and police have left Glenbeigh.——L'Intransigeant-Henri Rochefort's paper—states to-day that seven nihilists have just been hanged in the prison at Oddessa by Russian authorities; that ten others are being tried at Wilna and two hundred have been sent to Siberia.——The Chamber of Deputies to-day adopted the first clause of the public worship budget.——On motion of Mr. Landhon, of Texas, a bill was passed in the House appropriating $10,000 to enable the commissioners of agriculture to make a special distribution of seed in the drouth stricken counties of Texas.——The longshoremen's strike in New York is assuming alarming proportions; the railroads are involved, and 30,000 men forced into idleness.——A large party of colored men, armed with sticks and stones, raided the pier at Newport News at one o'clock this morning and drove off the men loading the Old Dominion steamer.

JANUARY 30.

There was terrible rioting in the Peter's Hill, Carrick Hill and Shank Hill districts of Belfast last night. The trouble originated through soldiers belonging to the West Surrey Regiment insulting a number of civilians.——Ex President Santos, of Uruguay, has been banished.——A grand imperial council held in Vienna yesterday, the Emperor presiding.——Mr. Mercier has formed the following Cabinet for Canada: Mr. Mercier, Premier and Attorney General; Mr. Duhamel, Solicitor General; Mr. Shahyn, Treasurer; Mr. McShane, Commissioner Public Works; Mr. Gagnon, Provisional Secretary; Mr. Gorneau, Commissioner of Lands; Messrs. Ross and Turcotte, ministers without portfolios.

JANUARY 31.

In the House of Commons Sir. James Ferguson denied the report that England had offered to support Austria in the event of a war with Russia. Lord Randolph Churchill, in a speech in the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech, explained his course and gave the reason for it. It is said to be the best he ever made, and its non-partisan character made it appear to be made to the country rather than to Parliament. In the House of Lords a motion for the second reading of the Woman's Suffrage Bill was lost. Parnell insists upon such reform of the law and system of government as will satisfy the needs and secure the confidence of the Irish people.——The National Liberal Party in Germany believes that the danger of war is imminent.——The Senate Judiciary Committee have reported favorably upon Judge Van Eaton's bill to establish a new District Court at Mississippi City.——Twenty-seven thousand acres of public land in Louisiana were entered last week by Chicago capitalists.——The great strike of longshoremen continues in New York, and green hands are handling freight on the docks.——The President has approved the act granting pensions to soldiers and sailors in the Mexican War.

MRS. J. T. RICHEY, 192 4th Avenue, Louisville, Ky., was a confirmed invalid for eleven years, daily expecting death. Doctors pronounced her trouble to be neuralgia, female complaints and every other known disease. For months her left side was paralyzed. Could neither eat, sleep nor walk. Finally the doctors gave her up. She then began to use Warner's safe cure, and November 18, 1885, she wrote "I am as well to-day as when a girl, and feel about twenty years younger. Warner's safe cure has worked a miracle in my case." Mrs. Richey will gladly answer stamped inquiries.

Periodicals.

—Cassell's Family Magazine, for February, is on hand and brings a good table. The spread has variety enough to spice it well, and its quality is remarkably good for the price of $1 50 per year. Cassell & Co., 739 Broadway, New York.

—American Art, for January, holds its place well. The illustrations and reading matter afford both entertainment and instruction. The price is $2 50 a year. Published by American Art Magazine Company, 110 Tremont street, Boston.

—Common School Education. This is a new monthly devoted to the art of instruction. Its purpose is to develop a definite plan and system in teaching the common school branches of study. This number (1) has a fine table of contents. We recommend this monthly to all our teachers. Edited by William A. Mowry. Published at 70 Bromfield street, Boston. Price, $1 a year in advance.

—The Swiss Cross, a magazine of the Agassiz Association. This is also a new monthly, started to meet the known wants of a large class of persons interested in the study of nature. The contents of the first number are rare and interesting. We notice among the contributors the names of some who are "experts" in their line of things. It is edited by H. H. Ballard, president of the Agassiz Association, and published by N. D. C. Hodges, 47 Lafayette Place, New York, and the price per annum is $1 50.

St. Nicholas, for February, will delight the young people and please the old folks by its clear, beautiful reading matter and its bright, charming pictures. Century Company, New York.

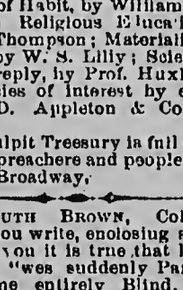
—Popular Science, February, has The Laws of Habit, by William James; Science in Religious Education, by Daniel G. Thompson; Materialism and Morality, by W. S. Lilly; Science and Morals, a reply, by Prof. Huxley, and other articles of interest by eminent writers. D. Appleton & Co., New York.

—The Pulpit Treasury is full of good things for preachers and people. E. B. Treat, 771 Broadway.

MRS. RUTH BROWN, Coldwater, Mich., if you write, enclosing a stamp, will tell you it is true that in July, 1885, she "was suddenly Paralyzed, and became entirely Blind, as her doctors claimed, from an Enlargement and Inflammation of the Kidneys and Liver. She was in an unconscious state for two weeks; face and body bloated with agonizing Pain; could not keep anything on her stomach; irregular action of the heart. Physicians pronounced her case incurable. Within a few weeks the Paralysis left her, Bloat went down, Enlargement of the Liver Subsided, action of the heart became regular, and she became well in three months and has felt in good condition ever since." Warner's safe cure did this amazing work for her, and she will tell you so.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.—Should you fail to receive the ADVOCATE after this issue, you have but yourself to blame. Every inducement has been held out to you to send or get your pastor to send in your renewal.

ROYAL



BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., New York

"Life and Writings of Bishop Parker."

One copy of this superb work will be given for three new subscribers when accompanied by the cash in full.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

JANUARY 20, 1887.

W. H. RHODES, 118 E. Gay St., Columbus, O., in 1879, was taken ill with palpitation and neuralgia of the heart, consequent on diseased kidneys. "Horrible Dyspepsia" also afflicted him. He spent hundreds of dollars for relief in vain. He took 50 bottles of Warner's safe cure and was fully restored to health, gaining 70 pounds while using that great remedy. Write him and enclose a stamp. He'll tell you the welcome story.

NOTICE.—All communications on business must be addressed to the N. O. CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, 112 Camp street. Contributions for the columns of the ADVOCATE should be addressed to the editor, Rev. C. W. Carter, 112 Camp street.

E. EVANS, president of the Lumber Exchange Bank, Tonawanda, N. Y., writes: January 15, 1886, I was entirely prostrated, and was reduced from 176 to 126 lbs. I thought I had inflammation of the large bowel. The pain was relieved only by morphine forced under the skin. My doctor treated me for inflammation and catarrh of the bowels, an affection sympathetic with disorder of the left kidney. I had distressing pain, with night sweats, and could keep nothing on my stomach, especially liquids, and was intensely thirsty. Feb. 19 I was in intense agony with pain in my left kidney. I then began Warner's safe cure. In 20 minutes I was relieved. I refused the doctor's medicines thereafter. I finally passed a large stone from the bladder, then my pains ceased." If you write Mr. Evans, enclose stamp for reply.

Very likely the reader has received a notice from the ADVOCATE office. This was sent to you to attend to immediately, and not for future consideration. If you are unable to attend to the business directly, your pastor will be glad to do so for you.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

Quarterly Conferences.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sugar Town, at Dry Creek	Feb. 12, 13
Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground (Wed.)	16
Alexandria	19, 20
Bayou Beouff, at Elm Bayou (Wed.)	23
Evergreen	26, 27
Melville, at Melville	Mar. 5, 6
Trinity, at Bennett's School-house	12, 13
Centreville, at Centreville	19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 27
Montgomery, at Montgomery	Apr. 2, 3
Ada, at Gray's Creek	9, 10

District stewards' meeting at Alexandria, February 19, 1887.

H. P. ALEXANDER, P. E.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brushwood, at Lunes	Jan. 29, 30
Arcadia circuit, at Arcadia	Feb. 5, 6
Douglas circuit, at Vienna	12, 13
Vernon circuit, at Oak Ridge	19, 20
Huston, at Ruston	26, 27
Minden circuit, at Minden	Mar. 5, 6
Tulip circuit, at Tulip	12, 13
Hayneseville circuit, at Hayneseville	19, 20
Homer circuit, at Homer	26, 27
Farmerville circuit, at Farmerville	Apr. 2, 3
Summerfield circuit, at Alabama	9, 10
Downsville circuit, at Downsville	16, 17
Indian Village circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Ringgold circuit, at Ringgold	30, May 1
Sparta and Saline, at Sparta	7, 8

The district stewards will please meet at the Methodist Church in Homer, February 20, at three o'clock P. M.

ROBERT RANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	Jan. 29, 30
Winnsboro	Feb. 5, 6
Monroe and Delhi, at Delhi	12, 13
West Monroe, at West Monroe	19, 20
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	26, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof	Mar. 5, 6
Richland	12, 13
Lind Grove, at Bartholomew	19, 20
Oak Ridge, at Good Hope	26, 27
Floyd, at Oak Grove	Apr. 2, 3
Bastrop	9, 10

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the Methodist Church in Delhi, Wednesday, February 16, at 10 A. M.

J. B. HARPER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Mansfield	Jan. 29
Woodside and Ebenezer, at Ebenezer	22, 23
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane	29, 30
Pleasant Hill, at Sodus	Feb. 5, 6
Natchitoches, at Robeline	12, 13
Anacoco and Bellwood, at Holly Grove	16, —
Many and Sabine, at New Hope	19, 20
Coushatta, at Coushatta	23, —
East Point, at Coushatta Academy	26, 27
Red River, at Campti Bella	Mar. 5, 6
Shreveport, at Shreveport	9
Caddo, at Friendship	12, 13
South Bossier, at Bellevue	16
North Bossier, at Concord	19, 20
Mooringsport, at Pine Hill	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Shreveport, on Thursday, March 10, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Methodist Church.

J. B. CASSITY, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Abbeville	Jan. 22, 23
Franklin	29, 30
Opelousas	Feb. 5
Washington	6, 7
Pattersonville	12, 13
LaFayette	19, 20
New Iberia	26, 27
Rayne	Mar. 5, 6
Lake Charles	12
German Mission	13, 14
Sulphur Mine	20, 21

District stewards will meet in the Opelousas Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon, February 5, 1887. Let there be a full attendance.

S. S. KEENER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Felicity	Jan. 23
St. Charles Avenue	30
Carondelet	Feb. 6
Gros Tete and False River, at Rosedale	12, 13
German Charges, at Dryades Street	20
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaq.	26, 27
Algiers and Gretna, at Algiers	Mar. 6
Louisiana Avenue	13
Moreau	20
Carrollton and Parker Chapel at Carrollton	27
Baton Rouge	Apr. 2, 3

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Whistler	Jan. 1, 2
Franklin Street Church	9
Washington and Vernon, at Sims' Chapel	15, 16
Pleasant Valley and Creola at Pleas. Val'y	22, 23
Bladon and S. Stephens, at New Hope	29, 30
Laney, at Jones' Chapel	Feb. 5, 6
St. Francis Street Church	13
Citronelle, at Citronelle	19, 20
Baldwin mission, at Sibley's Chapel	26, 27
Killington and Grand Bay, at Allen's	Mar. 5, 6
St. Paul's	13
Grove Hill, at Grove Hill	19, 20
Suggsville, at Suggsville	26, 27

A. J. LAMAR, P. E.

PENSACOLA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brewton and Pollard, at Brewton	Jan. 1, 2
Evergreen, at Evergreen	8, 9
Georgiana, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Monroeville, at Monroeville	22, 23
Moulery, at Liberty	29, 30
Shreveport, at Shreveport	Feb. 5
Caddo, at Friendship	6
Milton	12, 13
Pensacola circuit, at Worrington	19, 20
Pensacola station	12, 13
Bennica, at Asbury	19, 20
Powelton, at Powelton	26, 27
Douglasville, at Mt. Carmel	Mar. 5, 6
Stockton, at Stocatou	12, 13
Repton, at Hickory Grove	19, 20
Bay Minette at New Hope	26, 27

W. M. MOTLEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

North Wilkinson, at Hopewell	Jan. 1, 2
Amite, at Salem	8, 9
Clinton, La	15, 16
Jackson, La	18, 19
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	22, 23
Wilson and Centreville, at Wilson	29, 30
Pipkin	Feb. 5, 6
St. Helena, at Pipkin Chapel	12, 13
Amite City, at Amite City	18, 19
Springfield, at Ponchatoula	20, 21
Livingston, at Palmetto (Wednesday)	23
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel (Thursday)	24
Percy's Creek	26, 27
Woodville	27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	5, 6

J. A. B. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Gibson	Jan. 1, 2
Rocky Springs	8, 9
Natches, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Natches, at Jefferson Street	16, 17
Washington	22, 23
Beachland	29, 30
Ullico	Feb. 5, 6
Hurlstone	7, 8
Vicksburg	12, 13
South Vicksburg	14, 15
Fayette	19, 20
Cane Ridge	26, 27
Anguilla	Mar. 5, 6
Mayersville	12, 13
Nebo	19, 20
Roxie	21, 22

W. L. C. MUNNICUTT, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Waynesboro and State Line	Jan. 2, 3
Winchester, at Winchester	8, 9
Shubuta, at Shubuta	15, 16
Okatibbee, at Andrew Chapel	22, 23
Sandersville, at Sandersville	29, 30
Voesburg, at Voesburg	Feb. 5, 6
Paulding, at Paulding	12, 13
West End, at West End	19, 20
Meridian station	21
Stonewall, at Chunky	26, 27
Marion, at Marion	Mar. 5, 6
Lauderdale, at Lauderdale	12, 13
DeKalb, at DeKalb	19, 20
Blumenville, at Scooba	25, 27
Enterprise	Apr. 2, 3
Adamsville	9, 10

The district stewards will meet in Meridian, Thursday, February 22, 1887, at eleven A. M.

R. D. NORSWORTHY, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brandon station, at Brandon	31, Jan. 1
Forest and Morton, at Morton	8, 9
Lake, at Lake	15, 16
Newton, at Hickory	22, 23
Paunin, at Petahatchie	26, 30
Marvin, at Marvin	Feb. 5, 6
Shiloh, at Bear Creek	12, 13
Westville, at Westville	19, 20
Trenton, at Trenton	26, 27
Raleigh	Mar. 5, 6
Noshoba, at Hester's	12, 13
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	19, 20
Carthage, at Carthage	26, 27
Hillsboro, at New Providence	Apr. 2, 3

D. A. LITTLE, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Jan. 1, 2
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson	8, 9
Harlehurst	15, 16
Brookhaven	22, 23
Bayou Pierre, at Johnston	29, 30
Scotland, at Bellevilla	Feb. 5, 6
McComb City, at Magnolia	12, 13
Roxeton, at Rehobeth	19, 20
Terry, at Bellevilla	26, 27
Monticello, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 5, 6
Providence, at Rehobeth Chapel	12, 13
Franklinton, at Tylertown	19, 20
Adams, at Adams	26, 27
Hohmesville, at Holmesville	Apr. 2, 3

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	Jan. 1, 2
Poplarville, at Poplarville	8, 9
Flint Creek, at Garraway's	15, 16
Whitfington, at Colleville	22, 23
Vancleave, at Union	29, 30
Americus, at Cross Roads	Feb. 5, 6
Bethel, at Bethel	12, 13
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Moriah	19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 27
Seashore, at Long Beach	Mar. 5, 6
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	12, 13
Scranton, at Scranton	19, 20
Moss Point, at Moss Point	26, 27
Covington, at Covington	Apr. 2, 3
Pearlington, at Pearlington	9, 10

The district stewards of Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, will please meet me at (Scott's station) Long Beach, March 5, 1887, at 11 A. M.

T. S. WEST, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Edwards, at Edwards	Jan. 1, 2
Raymond, at Bolton	8, 9
Benton, at Midway	15, 16
Silver Creek, at James'	22, 23
Mt. Olivet, at Shiloh	29, 30
Flora, at Flora	Feb. 5, 6
Spring Ridge, at Spring Ridge	12, 13
Camden, at Poole Chapel	19, 20
Madison, at Madison	26, 27
Yazoo City	Mar. 5, 6
Sharon, at Sharon	12, 13
Jackson	19, 20
Canton	26, 27

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Oxford station	Dec. 25, 26
Water Valley	Jan. 1, 2
Coffeeville circuit	8, 9
Grenada circuit	15, 16
Grenada station	17
Minter City	12, 13
Sunny Side and McNutt	24
Carrollton circuit	29, 30
Pittsboro circuit	Feb. 5, 6
Atlanta circuit	8
Banner circuit	12, 13
Lodi circuit	19, 20
Sarepta circuit	26, 27
Tocopola circuit	Mar. 1
Charleston circuit	5, 6
Abbeville	12, 13

C. N. TERRY, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec. 25, 26
Tibbee, at Mayhew	Jan. 1, 2
West Point station	5, 6
Crawford, at Artesia	8, 9
Brooksville, at Brooksville	15, 16
Columbus circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	22, 23
Columbus station	25, 26
Macon station	29, 30
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak	30, 31
Starkville circuit, at Providence	Feb. 5, 6
Louisville, at Louisville	12, 13
Tampico, at Cedar Bluff	19, 20
Chester, at Ackerman	26, 27
Plantsburg, at Killough Chapel	Mar. 5, 6
Sturges, at Sturges	12, 13
Hebron, at Cookesville	19, 20
Walthall, at Ninth Union	25, 27
Salem, at Ridgeway	Apr. 2, 3
LaGrange, at Ebenezer	9, 10

R. G. FOSTER, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Okolona station	Jan. 1, 2
Verona and Tupelo, at Verona	5
Shannon circuit, at Palmetto	8, 9
Richmond circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	15, 16
Saltillo circuit, at Saltillo	22, 23
Pontotoc circuit, at Pontotoc	29, 30
Enons Vista circuit, at Concord	Feb. 5
Houston and Wesley, at Wesley	5, 6
Sparta circuit, at Pales Inc	12, 13
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer	16
Okalona circuit, at Blackwell's Chapel	19, 20
Prairie circuit, at Lebanon	23
Aberdeen station	26, 27
Caledonia, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 2
Athens circuit, at Friendship	5, 6
Tremont circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	9
Fulton and Smithville, at Smithville	12, 13

AMOS KENDALL, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Baldwyn at Baldwyn	Jan. 1, 2
Booneville and Rienzi, at Booneville	8, 9
Corinth station	15, 16
Corinth circuit, at Boaz Chapel	18
Iuka circuit, at New Salem	20
Harmony circuit, at Harmony	21
Iuka station	22, 23
Kossuth circuit, at Kossuth	29, 30
Marietta, at Hodge's Chapel	Feb. 5, 6
Blackland at Pisgah	12, 13
Pleasant Ridge, at Friendship	19, 20
Ripley and New Albany, at Ripley	26, 27
Ripley circuit, at New Hope	Mar. 2
Jonesboro', at Jonesboro'	5, 6
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon	12, 13

J. B. STONE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Richmond, at Pickens	Dec. 18, 19
Kosciusko station	25, 26
West, at West	31
Valden, at Valden	Jan. 1, 2
Ebenezer, at Centre Grove	7
Durant and Lexington, at Durant	8, 9
Carrollton and Greenwood, at Carrollton	14
Winona	15, 16
Black Hawk, at Black Hawk	21
Elston, at Jordan's Chapel	22, 23
Winona circuit, at Salem	29, 30
Newport, at Bethel	Feb. 5, 6
Stills, at Springdale	12, 13
McCool, at Bethel	19, 20
Ethel, at Liberty Chapel	23
Newtonville, at White Hall	26, 27
Ethuba, at Wesley Chapel	Mar. 5, 6
Belzona, at Belzona	12, 13

E. F. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Batesville and Wesley	Dec. 18, 19
Sardis	25, 26
Como and Fredonia	Jan. 1, 2
Cockrum circuit	8, 9
Hernando and Cold Water	15, 16
Horn Lake circuit	22, 23
Lewisburg circuit	29, 30
Senatobia circuit	Feb. 5
Senatobia station	6, 7
Chulahoma circuit	12, 13
Mount Vernon circuit	19, 20
Pleasant Grove circuit	26, 27
Mastodon circuit	Mar. 1
Eureka circuit	5, 6
Panola circuit	8

R. M. TNAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale	Dec. 19
Jonestown	26
Australia	Jan. 1
Cleveland	4
Pasonia	16
Lulon	23
Arcole	30
Concordia	Feb. 6
Mound Bayou	13
Bolivar	20
Friar's Point	27

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 6. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1593.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

THE ADVOCATE'S BIRTHDAY PRAYER.

(Adapted from Charlotte Murray.)

All—all for thee! Dear Savior, may this watch-word
Be thine own key-note for my life this year;
So sweetly harmonizing thought and action,
That none who listen shall a discord hear!

All—all for thee! Oh, take me now entirely,
Retune each note with thine own gentle hand;
I give myself afresh into thy keeping,
To do or suffer as thou shalt command.

All—all for thee! Myself in all my weakness,
Unfit, alone, the feeblest chord to raise,
An instrument discordant, worn, and worthless,
But ready to be used to sound thy praise.

Oh, Master, by thine own most Holy Spirit
Send heavenly music o'er the earth through me;
So true, so beautiful, so soul-refreshing,
That those who hear it may learn more of thee

Of thee, their Savior, who for them didst suffer.
Of thee, their Friend, who lovest them so well;
Of thee, their King, who soon will be returning;
Lord, may thine anthems through my whole life swell!

A Column of Extracts from the First Number of the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Publishing Committee of Louisiana Conference: R. H. Rivers, W. E. Doty, J. C. Keener.

Publishing Committee of Alabama Conference: J. Hamilton, D. D., T. W. Dorman, W. Murrah.

H. N. McTyeire, editor.

Date—February 8, 1851.

APOLOGY.

Our readers will not judge righteous judgment, if they judge us by this our debut. Urged on all sides to go at it, we have gone at it. But who can tell under what disadvantages! No communications on hand, no accumulation of matter of any kind suited to the character of our paper. We have gone to the press as a preacher goes into the pulpit who takes and arranges his sermon in it or on the way to it. This has been the necessity of the case. Upon better preparation we are willing to be judged; upon the present we ask to be received.

WRITE.

We invite communications—communications of thoughts or facts. Those who can not interest and instruct on the one, may on the other. Good thoughts should not die; good facts should not be concealed. This is an age when the public mind is quickened and informed through the newspapers. Every practical reflection, every wholesome sentiment, every truthful narration goes to mould public opinion. It gives people something to think about, to talk about; it moves right feelings. A revival notice quickens the zeal of the whole church. A description of the work of God in any particular place tends to keep alive a general interest in the work of God. One striking example of well-doing brought to light may provoke a thousand imitations. If there be any use for a religious newspaper, it is a duty of religion to contribute to it, to support it. Then, for conscience sake, write.

REVIVAL INTELLIGENCE.

The first number of the ADVOCATE contains a notice of a revival meeting in Felicity Street Church, conducted by "Bros. Cravens and Petway. The preaching and altar labors have been in spirit and power. The congregations have been serious, attentive and large, and between thirty and forty souls have already professed pardon and peace through faith in Christ."

MARRIED.

On Sunday, January 26, by Rev. J. C. Keener, Rev. N. A. Cravens, of Brownsville, Texas, to Miss Elizabeth C. Goodwyn, of this city.

Under "Literary Notices" the following books are reviewed: Blunt's Coincidences, Minstrel of Zion, Home Altar, Rutherford's Letters, Burkett's Notes. This from the review of Home Altar is good: "Since Prof. Deems has quit writing poetry and made an apology for what he has done in that way, we make it a point to read all that he publishes, whether in book, magazine or newspaper form."

ARRIVAL OF JENNY LIND.

The announcement in the evening papers of yesterday that the Falcon was in the river with Jenny Lind on board, created considerable stir, and by four o'clock in the afternoon a large crowd had collected on the levee opposite the Place d'Armes, where the steamer was expected to land. At half-past four o'clock the Falcon hove in sight, and by this time the concourse of people numbered three or four thousand. As the steamer neared the wharf all eyes were strained to catch a glimpse of the fair songstress. Soon after the landing Miss Lind, accompanied by Mr. Barnum, stepped ashore and proceeded in a carriage to the rooms prepared for her in Madame de Pontalba's buildings. She was received at all points in a most enthusiastic manner. She came out on the balcony and waved her acknowledgements to the crowd amidst cheers which made the welkin ring. Her success here will, without doubt, come up to the most sanguine anticipations.

MISSIONARY REPORT OF LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

This report shows that the missionaries to the colored people in Louisiana had preached on 136 plantations to about 9,000 hearers, and that a membership of over 2,000 had been gathered.

GOVERNOR QUITMAN.

Governor Quitman appeared in the United States Circuit Court yesterday, accompanied by F. Davis, United States Marshal, and gave recognizances to appear from day to day. Col. Harry Hill, bondsman. The governor requested a speedy trial.

In Port. All Aboard!

BY J. B. A. AHRENS, D. D.

Like Minerva, fully developed, thirty-six years ago, the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE appeared, radiant with intellectual and spiritual beauty. Nor have multiplied years detracted from its excellencies. In its experience the promise has been fulfilled: "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength." That was a propitious day, when thirty-six years ago the ADVOCATE, like a stanch vessel, was launched and made to ride upon the briny and billowy deep of public opinion. Majestically it pursued its course, always loaded down with precious freight. Poets sang its praise; essayists became eloquent in setting forth its great worth; thousands were made glad with the cargo, conveniently deposited for their use.

A vessel crossing the treacherous deep many times has a rich experience. Fortune and misfortune alternated. Often, charmed, I've listened to the captain's narratives of thrilling incidents, narrow escapes, fierce hurricanes. Here Scylla, there Charybdis. The sky dark, the thunder loud, the lightning terrific. Collisions with other vessels. Even from the pursuit of some dire corsair it had to suffer. But, again, port has been reached. Ready for mother voyage. All aboard!

I sat by the side of a jovial old tar, ready to unloosen the rope which fastened the vessel to the shore. He was one of that large class of men who think with their mouth. Said he: "I tell you, mister, more depends on the captain to make navigation successful than many imagine. 'Fog-clad' is what Mephistopheles said to Faust; fog-clad, friend, is all theory. A successful captain must be a practical man.

"Our first commander was H. N. McTyeire. He gave shape and character to the enterprise. He is a man whose mind and heart are as huge as his body—a happy symmetry. A truer, greater, better man never walked the bridge of any vessel. Sometimes, when people thought he was at his wit's end, he was only getting ready for action. When our antagonists had spent their little ammunition, our successive broadsides brought utter discomfiture to the foe.

"Our next commander was J. C. Keener, a man of wonderful circumspection and precise calculation. He wasn't, perhaps, as broad as his predecessor, but a trifle deeper. Many a time he confounded the captains of rival vessels with his great skill. Always at his post. Cargo always choice and full. Patrons satisfied. Sometimes a bit nervous, and strangely opposed to exhibiting excessive bunting. Would not even have the cannon discharged when making port. Opposed to all mere show. A man of sterling worth."

Here our talkative tar lit his pipe, and with his red calico handkerchief wiped—yes, wiped—a big tear from his eye. A great sadness seemed to be revived in his soul. At last he continued: "Linus Parker was our next commander. I tell you, we all liked him very much. He was so fatherly. We sailors are a rough set, but we can tell when a man loves us. He not only cared for the vessel, but also for the crew. Often, on Sundays, he would speak to us words of comfort from the Word of God. People liked to do business with him. The vessel did well during his management.

"Again the captaincy was conferred upon another. I tell you, a more brilliant man never walked the bridge of any vessel than Charles B. Galloway. He did away with the antiquated armament and introduced the breach-loader, the metrilouse and Krupp cannon. While he did not neglect the necessary freight, which, however, was properly compressed, he created consternation among the crafts which sailed not under the flag of the cross. A lively, a joyous, a successful time we had under him. The chapter which narrates his exploits, his enterprise, his valor, his success will be interesting reading. Withal, he was so urbane, so cordial, so true—every inch a man.

"He was succeeded by our present commander. Our company was slow in making a selection. I tell you, matters and things have mightily changed since this vessel was first launched. Nowadays far more is required of a captain than formerly. The astounding developments in science and art, increased culture of the reading masses, the marvel of rapid locomotion and communication when, practically, a neighboring country is farther away from us than Liverpool and Hamburg—all these declare with stentorian voice, that a captain of our day must indeed be a man of affairs, thoroughly versed in the science of navigation; must be, as old Wesley said of preachers, a man of one work, of great wisdom, dauntless courage and lofty aim. They were lucky when Charles W. Carter was secured as commander.

"But excuse me," said our loquacious tar; "I hear the captain cry, 'All aboard!' Have to be at my post." Departing, I handed him, as a keepsake, a copy of Bishop Marvin's "Doctrinal Integrity of Methodism," and bade him and his vessel bon voyage.

A Bow for the Advocate's New Dress.

BY MRS. L. CRARY SADLER.

And so the "dear old ADVOCATE" is going to don a new dress and shine on her birthday in "silk and satin." One old friend sends, with her congratulations, a knot of ribbons to adorn the stately dame on this auspicious occasion. Though the poet saith that "beauty unadorned is then adorned the most," yet we, who have known her "from her youth up," do not expect to see her "put on airs" because she has a bow. We wish her to place the bow on the left side of the front breadth, just where a loving bride pins on the bunch of orange blossoms to please the eye of her hero. This bow shall be an artistic one, with long graceful loops and drooping ends—not a stiff knot, with two stiff ends hanging straight down. Nature abhors a vacuum, straight lines and angles. So does this scribe. A Persian proverb says, "Find the bottom fact of all trouble, and there you will find a woman." It would be truer to say, Find the earthly controlling influence or propelling motor of all good works, and there you find a praying woman.

In casting a glance at memory's wall, in connection with the beginning of the "dear old ADVOCATE," we see pictured there the sweet faces of six women. There may have been more; but these six I remember well. When the question of another ADVOCATE was mooted, there was some considerable opposition. Not only among the preachers and laymen was the subject discussed, but also among "those women," and even the young folks were interested enough to listen to the pro and con of the question. Some said the Nashville Advocate was enough. They had the Greeley-ten-nere idea on the brain. Some said that "little boats must keep near shore." They were afraid they were not big enough to "venture more." Those white-capped breakers ahead made their pockets flap like a wet sail; so they hugged the shore, making "footprints in the sands of time;" but the waves came and washed those "footprints" all awny, while those who had a will were determined to find a way. Among those who had wills were "those women." They were all in favor of the new departure. They wanted a paper that would have "a local habitation and a name."

While our young pastor, Rev. H. N. McTyeire, also the first editor, was "spending and being spent" in this good cause, backed by all the other city pastors and some of the best laymen, "those women" thought they might help with their prayers if not by their counsel. There was a band of praying women—members of Felicity Street Church—and one rule of the band was that whenever three of them happened to meet they would pray for some special object. This was outside of their regular meetings. The names of these women were Mrs. Harriett Brown, Mrs. Decan, Mrs. Downer, Mrs. J. W. Crockett, Mrs. Roxana Crary and Miss Skinner. They were all in the spirit whenever they talked about "our ADVOCATE." At one of those happened meetings they made this project an object of special prayer. There was only three present. They were Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Downer and Mrs. Crary. In making social calls they met at Mrs. Brown's, and so they turned their visit into a prayer meeting. They each prayed in turn and plead the cause of the ADVOCATE in the ear that inclined to hear their petitions. In praying for the success of the ADVOCATE, they received such a blessing themselves and became so happy they sat on the carpet and shouted and sang, prayed, laughed and cried, and forgot that time was passing until warned by some children knocking at the door. My mother, Mrs. Roxana Crary, was my informant, and many, many times was she enthused when speaking of the blessing she received that day. The ADVOCATE was a joy and a comfort to her as long as she lived. She died in 1877. One of Bishop Parker's editorials on "Clouds Without Rain" was a source of much comfort to her that year when she lay on her dying bed. She said after reading it, "The editor wrote that just for me, just for me." I wrote to him about it, and he commented on it in a note in the ADVOCATE, saying it was "a token of good to him to know it had been the means of cheering one weary heart." These three and the others lived long enough to see the ADVOCATE in several new dresses. In its early years my mother predicted that its editor would one day be a Bishop. She lived to see that prophecy fulfilled and rejoiced much over the event. Of that praying band all have crossed over the river and "obtained the prize" except one. That is Mrs. Decan. I have been informed that she is still alive. Of the three that were so happy at that special prayer meeting at Sister Brown's house, I believe she was the first to go home, after being purified seven times in the furnace of affliction. She was one of whom the world was not worthy. She had a gift. That gift was prayer. All who knew her will remember the power, pathos and earnestness of her prayers. A lawyer of Jackson, Miss., said he "went to church, not to hear the sermon or singing, but just to hear Mrs. Harriet Brown pray." Mrs. Downer (mother of Rev. Robert Downer, of the Mississippi Conference) was the next to join the band on the other shore; and speaks yet through her son; and lastly, my mother. Who can tell what power there was in those prayers? Are not the influences set to work that day by those women still active? The ADVOCATE has been a blessing, a comfort, a joy, an educator and a companion in one family I know, and presume it has been in hundreds of others. In 1855 a letter was published in the ADVOCATE, with the heading, "From a Son to a Mother." It was a private letter; but of such general interest it was sent to the editor. Mrs. Decan, one of that band, read it and was so much affected she asked Mrs. Brown "if she saw that letter." Mrs. Brown said, "Yes, and that was one of Sister Crary's sons that wrote it." Mrs. Decan said: "Indeed, I got shouting happy while reading it. O, it had so much comfort in it to all mothers."

Many pages could I fill with happy incidents of the good things "our ADVOCATE" has done in those early years and later; but my bow would be too large if I kept on making loops, so I will have to tie it and send it with a pin to our present good editor, hoping that he will pin it on in the right place instead of throwing it into that "dreadful basket" under the table. In those "trying times" those good sisters did not once think there was—

"A chile among 'em takin' notes
An' faith she'd print it."

Nor did they dream that "after many days" those white-ribbon prayers should be looped up in a bow to adorn the ADVOCATE'S thirty-sixth birthday. But it is even so. "They rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

PEARL RIVER JUNCTION, Feb. 4, 1887.

Notice.

In the absence of Rev. J. A. Bowen, agent, caused by illness in his family, Rev. G. H. Hodge, of the North Mississippi Conference, will represent the interests of Grenada Collegiate Institute, the property of this Conference. Contributions through him to this church educational enterprise will be worthily bestowed and appreciated.

R. P. LAKE,
Sec'y Board of Trustees.

GRENADA, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: Our beloved brother, Rev. G. D. Wade, a superannuated member of the North Mississippi Conference, lies very ill at the residence of J. W. McPherson, in this town. This is the eighth week of his sickness, and there is very little hope of his recovery. But he is patient, resigned, ready for all the Master's perfect will.

THOS. CAMERON.

PICKENS, Miss., Feb. 6, 1887.

The Brookhaven District Conference, Mississippi Conference, will be held in Brookhaven, April 14-17, Bishop Galloway presiding. The Conference will open at 9 A. M. on the fourteenth, and the brethren are earnestly requested to be on time and to remain over the Sabbath.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

A note from Thomas B. Sykes, of Aberdeen, gives us the cheering intelligence that the campaign of Bishop Galloway and Dr. Morton, in the interest of the Paine Loan Fund, opened auspiciously in Aberdeen last Sunday, and a subscription of $1,200 was obtained.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1887.

FINISH THY WORK.

BY ROSAN.

Finish thy work, the time is short,
The night is coming down, till then
Think not of rest.

Yes, finish all thy work, then rest;
Till then, rest never:
The rest prepared for thee by God
Is rest forever.

Finish thy work, then wipe thy brow,
Unbind thee from the toil;
Take breath—and from each weary limb
Shake off the soil.

Finish thy work, then sit thee down
On some celestial hill:
And of its strength reviving air
Take thou thy fill.

Finish thy work, then go in peace,
Life's battle fought and won;
Hear from the throne the Master's voice,
"Well done, well done."

Finish thy work, then take thy harp,
Give praise to God above;
Sing a new song of thankful joy
And endless love.

Give thanks to him who held thee up
In all thy path below,
Who made thee faithful to the death,
And crowns thee now.

Reply to Bro. Malone.

MR. EDITOR: In your issue of December 30, last, I find a communication from Rev. T. B. Malone, in which he says that the hymn book, of which I spoke at last session of the North Mississippi Conference as having been lost or taken away, has been found. It was not lost; but he says it has been found. Rather contradictory, is it not? If you or any other minister had been called on to officiate in one pulpit, and the hymn book that had lain on the Bible of that pulpit for the last ten years was missing and no one could tell where it was, would it not have been as effectually lost to the occupant of that pulpit as if it had been hidden in the jungles of Africa or in the sands of Sahara? I may have been unfortunate in using the word "lost;" but Bishop Duncan had a very similar case last fall in one of his District Conferences, and he called it "lost," and no one questioned the correctness of the term.

In his second paragraph he says, in regard to my speech, he only heard the concluding remarks, or he would have replied to it there. I can not say how much of it he heard. I knew very well he was in the church while I was making my remarks, and, whether he heard them all or not, he certainly quoted and misquoted about all I said. That, above all others, was the place to make his reply, as it was and still is a matter that belongs exclusively to the North Mississippi Conference, and should never have been lugged into a newspaper. If he did not hear all I said at the time, he heard it all during recess which took place very soon after my remarks. Immediately after my return from dinner a brother told me that he (Bro. Malone) had fully digested all I had said and intended to demolish me as soon as Conference convened in the afternoon session. I was glad to hear it, for whatever might be the result, I wanted it to come then and there: but he never made the slightest effort in that direction. You know, Mr. Editor, and so does every other man in this land who knows anything about the manner of conducting Annual Conferences, that if he or any other member of that body felt aggrieved at any remarks that had been made about him, had demanded or even asked the privilege of explaining or replying, such request would have been cheerfully granted. He says he has no apologies to make for putting Prayer and Praise in the church; four stewards advised him to do so. I simply said, "I would rather have the old Standard." I doubt not he recollects distinctly that when he approached me in his own peculiar way and said, if we would help him, he would in a very short time have the whole congregation singing from pulpit to door; I asked him what kind of help he wanted. His reply was, "Books." My reply was, that we had any amount of books—three lots of the Standard put in the church at different times; of the more recent productions we had the Amaranth, Grace and Glory, and very recently a large lot of New Life. "Yes," said he, "but none of them are the right kind; Prayer and Praise is what we want." I told him I thought New Life was very much on the order of Prayer and Praise. "Yes, that is next, but Prayer and Praise is far better than any or all the rest." Seeing that he was strongly wedded to his idea of Prayer and Praise, and was even enthusiastic on the subject, I came out plainly and emphatically, and said to him, from the turn singing was taking and the way matters were drifting, I feared our old much-loved and long-used Standard book would in a few more years be completely ignored and banished from our churches. I could tolerate recent issues in Sunday-schools, prayer meeting and other social meetings of our church, but even in those meetings I liked to see the old Standard frequently introduced; and if either had to be ignored or banished from the church, by all means let it be the recent productions, for many of our best men regard them as very light and trashy. Of course, I do not use this language as applicable to the few good old hymns taken from the Standard and interspersed through these little ditty productions to give them tone and character. These, sir, are the views I gave Bro. Malone in opposition to what I and many others regard as innovations upon long-established usage. All this may have appeared very simple to Bro. Malone; but, simple as it may have been, I think he fully understood it, for he never introduced the subject to me afterwards.

He further says he put the Prayer and Praise in the church at Winona because it was needed. Why needed, when I have just shown that we had nearly or quite a hundred of the old Standard, more than a hundred of Amaranth, Grace and Glory, and New Life. With this large supply on hand, yet Prayer and Praise was needed. He admits in his communication that the old Standard is a grand collection—none better or even as good. Yet with this large supply he said to me he had not the right kind. Oh, consistency, thou art a jewel! He thanks God that good resulted. Well, if it did, it was on so diminutive a scale that none of us ever saw it. His persistency in the use of Prayer and Praise while the choir wanted the Standard for at least one service on each Sunday came very near breaking up the choir.

He further says that no one will deny that there was more congregational singing and more of Wesley's hymns were used in that church last year than for a number of years past. This, Mr. Editor, caps the climax. This is the ponderous feather of absurdity that breaks the camel's back. For a man who was never in Winona until some time in December, 1885, and closed his labors in November, 1886—one, too, who never cared to know anything about his predecessors—to make such assertions damages his own cause and reputation, and does great injustice to some of the noblest names that honor the roll of the North Mississippi Conference; such men as Wm. B. Murrah, J. W. Lowrance, J. F. Markham, A. P. Sage, E. H. Moon, Dr. A. T. Scruggs, T. C. Lowe, D. S. Herron and, perhaps others, all good, true and loyal men—men who love and honor the church, men who are openly opposed to all innovations upon the established usage of the church! When I read over and meditate upon this last quoted, unguarded assertion of Bro. Malone, sympathy and commiseration mix and mingle and dash through my whole system to such an extent that my nerves are too unstrung and ideas too scattered to write. All these former pastors used the Standard almost entirely, and thus manifested their loyalty to the church order.

O. J. MOORE.

WINONA, Mississippi.

(Both sides have had their "say," and now, "here endeth the lesson"—ED.)

"The Christ of the Universe."

Rev. H. Walter Featherstun contributes an article under the above caption for the January number of the Southern Methodist Review, containing, among many things that are good, some that are not well sustained. The trend of Bro. Featherstun's article is in a direction that involves insuperable difficulties. He assumes that all intelligent beings are directly and personally interested in Christ as the atoning sacrifice for sin; that angels, as well as men, have been redeemed, because—"There is not in the Bible, our only source of knowledge, the slightest intimation that there is anywhere in the universe a single angel or other finite intelligence, however holy and lofty he may now be, who was not once a fallen creature; nor any fallen creature, however sinful he may be, to whom God has not offered salvation." I may say, upon the other hand, that there is not the slightest intimation in the Bible that any holy angel has been raised from a fallen state to a state of holiness. Are we authorized to assume as true everything the Bible does not contradict? The presumption, in the absence of explicit information from the Bible, is against Bro. Featherstun's speculation. I would infer, without information to the contrary, that all holy angels have always been holy. We may account for the interest of angels in the redeeming work of Christ without assuming that they, too, have been redeemed.

I will call attention to some difficulties which, to my mind, are fatal to Bro. Featherstun's theory. The author of Hebrews declares that "Christ took not upon him the nature of angels, but he took upon him the seed of Abraham." He assumes in this place, as well as in several others, the necessity of the incarnation of Christ: "Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things he suffered." And, again, "We have not a High Priest which can not be touched with a feeling of our infirmities, but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." Without cumbering this paper with further quotations, I may assume the Divine plan required man's Redeemer to be man as well as God. There are two reasons, at least, upon which the necessity of the incarnation is based: First, whatever of suffering was involved in redeeming man from under the curse of the Divine law, could be justly exacted only of the nature that had sinned; secondly, to qualify Christ for his mediatorial office it was necessary for him to know from actual experience something of the weakness and infirmities of the flesh. He is thereby the better qualified to minister comfort to the distressed. Again, Christ was a public character. He represented the race whose nature he had assumed, and what he did inures to the benefit of the race. If, then, to redeem man it was necessary for his Redeemer to become man, to redeem angels—fallen angels—their Redeemer must become an angel. But our Christ, Paul says, did not take upon him the nature of angels; hence he has not redeemed angels. We have no reason to suppose that angels are endowed with the power of propagating their species as was Adam. Our Savior's reply to the Sadducees, in which he states that in the future state we shall not marry or be given in marriage, but shall be as the angels of God, seems to settle the question against the notion of angelic reproduction. Hence each one of these higher orders of beings is the product of a separate, distinct act of creation, and he represents himself only; and if he falls, he falls for himself; his fall involves no one else. They are totally unlike Adam who represented the race, and when he fell involved his unborn posterity.

Now, I can not see how the benefits of Christ's atoning sacrifice for Adam's race can be applied to fallen beings of different orders and species, having no common ties of consanguinity to each other or to Christ. To say that the same thing that prompted the redemption of Adam's race required provisions of salvation to be made for fallen angels, is talking at random. The condition of the parties, and the relations they sustain to God and his intelligent creation, is as different as can well be imagined. We can see why it may be just and right to exclude fallen angels from the benefits of the atonement. Each one of them when placed on trial had ability to stand, and when in the free, unconstrained exercise of his power he fell, to have redeemed him would have required a Redeemer for him specifically and alone, and thus there would have been necessary as many Redeemers as there were fallen angels. The word "reconcilo" in Colossians i, 16, is said by some critics to have the sense of "bind." I incline to that rendering because it agrees best with the general scope and tenor of the Scriptures. Bro. Featherstun's disagreement with Dr. Black and others as to the meaning of the Greek verb which has been rendered by our translators, "reconcile," is a controversy I do not care to enter. Dr. Black is abundantly able to take care of himself.

D. G. W. ELLIS.

CARTHAGE, Mississippi.

The Woman's Department of Church Extension.

I desire to call the attention of the pastors and ladies of the Louisiana Conference to the following explanations of this work, and to beg that they will do all that lies in their power to aid their Conference secretary, Mrs. Bishop Parker, in organizing parsonage societies. We wish to make a special effort during the month of February, and would be glad if all who desire to enter into this work would make a start during that time if possible. We hope all who love the church will join us in special prayer for our success in that month.

EXPLANATIONS AND SUGGESTIONS FOR PARSONAGE SOCIETIES.

The Good to Be Done.

The good to be done by a Parsonage Society organized under the constitution given to the Woman's Department of Church Extension by the General Conference is fourfold:

1. Through the "visiting committee" (see Constitution, page 7) information in regard to one of the most important branches of church work is distributed, the Sunday-school is increased, and the pastor is aided in finding strangers and cases of suffering that should be brought to the notice of the congregation.

2. The preachers in the old Conferences will be supplied with comfortable homes, our itinerant policy relieved of its greatest drawback, and a large sum of money, now paid out for rent, will be saved to the church.

3. By building homes for our preachers in the border Conferences we aid our church, in a most essential point, to carry the gospel to our own people now without it and to the heathen from China and other lands pouring into our country by thousands.

4. This work for the home field being done by the Board of Church Extension, the Board of Missions will be relieved of a continual drain upon its funds to help charges that would be independent of it if supplied with churches and parsonages, and, in consequence, will have a larger sum to expend in the foreign field, where it is sorely needed.

Why Parsonage Building Should Be a Connectional Work.

1. Because the present very great lack of parsonages that has aroused the authorities of the church is the result of charges being left through all the years past to build, each unaided, its own parsonage, and proves some other method ought to be tried.

2. Because, in God's church especially, the strong should help the weak; and there are many places that must have assistance.

3. Because a community of feeling will awaken a greater interest in and appreciation of the necessity for parsonages. This is already proven by the unusual stir throughout the church and the general revival on the subject of parsonages since this movement was inaugurated.

4. Because money raised by a charge in small sums for securing a parsonage is often diverted from its purpose before the necessary amount has been saved. Put in the hands of an association for this special work, the money can be used for no other purpose, and the small sums collected instead of lying idle, waiting for an increase, go out to help others who will give help in return; while stimulated by the prospect of aid charges will make unusual efforts to secure parsonages.

How to Organize.

Let the pastor, presiding elder, or some other speaker invited for the purpose, call attention to the subject from the pulpit, urge its importance, and have some one to take down names of ladies as members, of gentlemen as honorary members, and secure, when thought advisable, life memberships at once. Before the close of the service a time should be appointed for the members to come together and elect officers. If this can not be done, ask the pastor simply to announce a meeting for the ladies and to meet with them.

When the ladies meet the object and need of the work should be explained, the constitution and by-laws read, and the duties of officers noted. The vice-presidents should, if possible, be ladies known to take an interest in the children. After the election of officers the president should request the vice-presidents not to delay in making a list of the names of children who will take mite boxes, and informing the corresponding secretary of the number of boxes needed that she may write to the Conference secretary for them.

The dues should be collected and the treasurer instructed to send the money to the Conference treasurer. The visiting committee should be appointed and urged to make every effort to secure as many members as possible before the next regular meeting. Attention should also be called to the other duties required of this committee. The corresponding secretary should report immediately to the Conference secretary, giving date of organization, number of members, and names of officers.

A Word about the Mite Boxes.

To increase the interest of the children it would be well to keep a small silver medal to be awarded to the child who shall collect the largest sum, and to be worn until the next meeting. It would be well also to keep a light banner to be borne by the side most successful—the boys or the girls.

The programmes to be sent out for the meetings will be made in accordance with this plan. It is thought these things will serve to make our meetings, which come only once a quarter, more interesting to the children and others. Inform the children that in March, 1888, I will give to that child who among all the children of the church has been most zealous and brought in the largest contribution a beautiful gold medal, to be preserved as a testimonial of the great service rendered the church.

LUCINDA B. HELM,
Gen. Sec. Woman's Dep't.
ELIZABETHTOWN, Kentucky.

(The address of Mrs. Parker is Carondelet, near General Taylor street, New Orleans. The Conference treasurer is Mrs. W. F. Ashley, Ruston, La.)

Preamble and Resolutions.

ON THE DEATH OF DORA RANKIN.

Whereas, We have heard of the sudden death of Miss Dora Rankin in Shanghai, China, on the tenth of December last; and, whereas, She was for seven years a zealous and successful missionary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we give thanks to God for having given us such a representative for even a few years in a heathen land.

Resolved, That her zeal, consecration and success afford us an example worthy of our imitation.

Resolved, That in her peaceful and happy death we recognize a triumph of Divine grace.

Resolved, That we tender our Christian sympathies to the bereaved family of our departed sister.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent by our secretary to the family of our deceased sister and to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

MRS. A. G. BENNELL, Pres.
MADISON STATION, Mississippi.

Treasures of Sacred Song.

Among the treasures of song, the gift of this century, there are none more worthy of study than those of Karl Otto Heyer, eminent as musician, theorist and composer. His songs, sacred and secular, are a joy wherever they are known. One of the most exquisite of these is the beautiful arrangement of Mrs. Alexander's hymn, "Atonement:"

"There is a green hill far away
Beyond a city wall,
Where our dear Lord was crucified,
Who died to save us all."

This is a solo for soprano or tenor, and is a song repaying careful study. "The Old Village Church" tells in musical measure of "hearts that there sought strength for life's rough road," and of the "links of prayer and praise that bind the present hour with long-departed days." "Refuge," a solo for soprano or tenor, is set to the words of the hymn, "Jesus, lover of my soul," and is a majestic composition. "The dead shall wake" and "Nearer, my God, to thee," are quartettes for mixed voices, and have an all-pervading presence of melody and light.

As for Mr. Heyer's many secular songs, they surprise us into the feelings of our childhood. We seem to absorb them as we do the spring-tide and the fresh morning breath of violets. It would seem that some of these melodies might have exhaled and floated back into the source of harmony if they had not been humanized by such themes as "A sunbeam crept into my heart," "Child Play," "Mother's baby, rock and rest," "A Heart's Wish," and many another suggestion of memories, sad or joyful. Was it Oehlenschlager who said,

"To unfold the human into beauty,
That is the true art."

The John Church Publishing Company, of Cincinnati, have recently issued some new additions to Prof. Heyer's music, in which harmony of sound and action proclaim the work of a skilled master. Prof. Heyer has long been known for his charming arrangements of "Lorenn" and the "Sweet By-and-by."

L. F. H.

Hazlehurst, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: In compliance with your request, we send the best news at hand. Our first Quarterly Conference was held on the fifteenth instant. Rev. J. M. Weems, presiding elder, was present and in the chair. The general spirit which pervaded the discussions and characterized the transactions of the official Board indicated that it had the welfare of the church deeply at heart, and that its views were up, in the main, with the spirit of the times on subjects relating to the vital interest of the church. The stewards made a generous advance in their assessment for the support of the pastor above that of last year. On the next day, Sunday, at eleven o'clock, Bro. Weems preached an excellent sermon on the "Obligation of members to support the institutions of the church," which was listened to with marked attention by the large audience then assembled. After the sermon the writer took up a collection to meet the assessments ordered by the Annual Conference. The people responded cheerfully, and it took but a few minutes to raise in cash and subscriptions one hundred and ninety-five dollars ($195), or a sum equal to the aggregate assessments made by the district stewards for this charge last year for foreign and domestic missions, church extension, Conference claimants, education and Bishops.

There is a general spiritual development among our people as well as a growth in the special grace of giving. We have had some valuable names added to our roll since Conference. Our church at this place has a fine field for usefulness before it, and if its effort and liberality are equal to the opportunities at hand, we shall soon see a long stride forward. We believe that our people have zeal for the cause of Christ, and faith in the "exceeding great and precious promises" of God's Word. May we not look hopefully to the future?

J. T. NICHOLSON.

JANUARY 27, 1887.

(That early collection is one of the best evidences of growth. We like that sort of "good news." Who will report next?—ED.)

Carrollton, Miss.

A public meeting of the Carrollton Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society was held in the Methodist Church, at Carrollton, on Sunday night, January 30, 1887. The exercises consisted in singing and prayer, reading the Scriptures, addresses and the inevitable collection. Bro. J. R. Bingham and Rev. R. A. Burroughs delivered forcible and timely addresses, and the congregation sung several beautiful and appropriate songs. The society was organized November 7, 1886, and numbered twenty-three members. At the public meeting of the society nineteen new names were added, making a total of forty-two members. It is time for Southern Methodists to wake up on the subject of missions. Twenty cents per member to convert the world! That would not pay the one-hundredth part of our snuff and tobacco bill. Just think of it! Three cigars a day for one year—five cents for each cigar: $54 75. In ten years that cigar bill amounts to $547 50. If you smoke just one cigar a day, your bill will amount to $18 25 in one year—more than many people ever give to missions. Let us quit smoking.

T. W. LEWIS.

CARROLLTON, Miss., Jan. 31, 1887.

Summit, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: At our first Quarterly Conference for the Summit charges, held yesterday at Johnston station, we raised all the assessments on that church ordered by the Annual Conference, with a margin. There were also eleven accessions to the church at that point. The work is in a very fine condition.

Your brother,

H. F. LEWIS.

SUMMIT, Mississippi.

The Christian Press.

The weekly religious newspaper, as one distinct department of the many-sided, many-voiced Christian press of our times, has a sphere of its own. As an institution it is yet comparatively young. It is one of the developments of this wonder-working nineteenth century. It has risen to its present dimensions chiefly within the last fifty years. Who can tell what it may become in another half century?

It is customary to speak of the religious weekly newspaper as a family visitor. Perhaps there is no truer designation of it. It speaks rather to the household than to the individual. Its appropriate sphere is the home-circle. In its whole design and make-up, it is evidently intended for the family, seeking to reach and please the inmates of the family. Here it finds its proper domain, and all its material centres around that idea.

Keeping this primal design in view, it may be interesting to point out some of the many functions or offices discharged by the good family newspaper; and we would respectfully ask our readers, especially the heads of families, to see to it, that their own religious journal does not fail to fulfill those important responsibilities in their own homes. We could scarcely call their attention to a more fruitful topic at the opening of a new year.

First of all, it comes to the family in the character of preacher. It is a gospel messenger. It is a herald of salvation from the Lord. It comes as did the angels to the shepherds of Bethlehem, saying, Behold I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. In so far as the religious newspaper faithfully expounds the Word of God, elucidates its principles, proclaims its doctrines, enforces its practical duties, presses its Divine claims upon the hearts of men, it as truly preaches the gospel, as does the living ambassador of Christ who stands from Sabbath to Sabbath in the sacred desk, and delivers the same message. All its articles, long or short, contribute to the same great end; so that every issue of the paper is, or should be, directly or indirectly, a gospel sermon; as much so indeed as are those more formal sermons on specific texts, which are occasionally published in its columns.

The good religious paper comes to the family also in the capacity of pastor. It is to all intents and purposes a watchful shepherd of the flock. It is a true feeder both for the sheep and the lambs of Christ's fold. It seeks them in their homes, and aims to give true nutriment to mind and heart. The living pastors of our larger congregations are not often able to visit each family, in turn, more than once a year; and in the smaller churches they do well when they can enter each house twice or thrice, or four times a year. But in the wide pastorate of the religious newspaper the visitation is regular, systematic and unfailing once a week the year round. Fifty-two punctual visits a year, and the fifty-third thrown in every now and then. Other pastors, moreover, come and go, often a brief, hurried, unsatisfactory call, but this newspaperman comes to stay. He just takes his time, answers all inquiries, goes the round of the home circle, holding converse with each member in turn.

Another important capacity in which the newspaper appears is that of historian of the times. It is the true cosmopolitan. It is the chronicler of all great passing events. It is the collector and depository of all the latest and best news. From day to day, and from week to week it records the history of the church and of the world as fast as God makes it. As far back as Cowper's day the postman is described as "the herald of a noisy world, news from all nations lumb'ring at his back." The description still answers well to the office of the daily or weekly press of our times. But then the herald of the news came with "twanging horn, spattered boots, strapp'd waist and frozen locks." Now he comes by railroad and steamship, with news flashed every day along the telegraphic lines, across the seas and continents, with the actual history of the whole world. In such a day as this what family in Christendom can afford to shut out such a messenger bringing such a record of what God and men are doing?

Still another office which the good newspaper holds in the family is that of educator. It would be this even in virtue of the three functions just mentioned, as preacher, pastor, and historiographer. But in the highest sense of the term it is a great text-book of useful knowledge. It brings knowledge greatly diversified, and thus adapted to all capacities. It brings knowledge in its most attractive forms. It is knowledge made easy and delightful, because it is knowledge for the curious and inquiring. The good newspaper is a perpetual educator. It is the complement of all other teachers.

It pours instruction into the young mind; it awakens inquiry, it elicits thought; it stimulates exertion; it illustrates principles; it teaches by example and anecdote; it develops and trains the faculties: it elevates and refines the character.

And yet, further, the good religious newspaper is a co-worker in every good work. It is an auxiliary, a companion, a helper to all other workers. It comes as an assistant to the preacher, the pastor, the teacher, the Sabbath-school superintendent, the parent, the missionary, the faithful Christian worker, and the man of business in every department of labor. It is ever at hand to give good counsel, to throw out wise suggestions, to propose new methods of doing good. There is scarcely a good thing done under the sun to which it does not lend a helping hand. There is no legitimate business of life in which a man can engage in which he would not be profited by the reading of a good paper. It is his companion at home ever at hand to fill up the leisure moments after toil. It is his pleasant companion in travel to beguile the time with profitable thought; and make the journey shorter. But our theme grows: it is inexhaustible, and we stop ere it grows too long.—Interior.

Delicate persons, and all whose systems have become debilitated, should bear in mind that Simmons Liver Regulator is not a drastic, purging medicine, does not weaken or deplete the system as other purgatives do, but acts gently. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance: will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system.

Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Ga., says: "Simmons Liver Regulator is mild and suits me better than more active remedies."

The Responsibilities of Journalism.

The dissatisfaction over the secular press which is finding expression in our higher periodical literature is well grounded. The charge is not the same in each accusation or criticism, but depends in part on the point of view of the writer. The almost universal charge of prying into private affairs, is one of breeding and taste, and is the least weighty. That which concerns us most are the offenses of the press against good morals. It is asserted first of all, that it is not right and proper for a newspaper that has asked and obtained the patronage of respectable families to publish everything that is going on in society. It is bound by the rules which regulate good society. But a greater offense by far is that of some papers that make it a chief part of their business to report the news of the world's wickedness, and often in the most offensive form. The details of crime and licentiousness in which they permit their reporters and correspondents to indulge have no intelligent purpose except to excite the lowest passions and defile the imagination. The newspapers that pursue this course for the sake of gain, which is the only defense they put forward, are doing more to corrupt society than the low theatres and the disreputable sheets that are to some extent under police surveillance.

The common defense, as we have said, is that the people desire such news, or rather that the whole community can not be served unless this news offensive to decency and good breeding is provided. This discreditable apology has received a pertinent answer in an article published in the Forum, from which we quote:

"If the first of these be accepted in its full meaning, that journalism is a profession in which it is allowable to do anything that pays, then there is no room for discussion. The profession becomes the lowest of human callings—lower than brothel-keeping or liquor-selling, for these make no pretense of respectability, while the journalist pretends to be a public guide and teacher; and the spectacle which it presents, peddling out moral precepts with one hand and scandal, vulgar gossip, and family secrets with the other, is most revolting. The argument that it pays, because people want it, covers equally the printing and selling of obscene books and pictures. That sort of trade pays so well that it is necessary to prohibit it by strict penal laws. If a newspaper can do anything that pays, then journalism becomes among all professedly respectable professions the only one whose members, tacitly at least, admit that in their professional conduct they are not 'governed by the same principles which a gentleman follows in his personal conduct.'"

The only reason that such journalism pays for a time is that circumstances do not allow a field for competition. People are compelled, as it were, to take a newspaper whose moral character they detest or go without the news which seems a necessity. But journals of this character are unconsciously destroying themselves. The people lose all confidence in and respect for those who edit and publish them, and their downfall is certain. Journalism of this kind has no reward that can satisfy an honorable man. The experiment has been tried too often to leave my doubt. The only journalistic reputation worth possessing, as in all other professions, is built upon the good will of honorable people.—Central Christian Advocate.

A Fortune for You.

All is new: capital not needed: you are started free. Both sexes: all ages. Wherever you live you should at once write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine: they will send you free, full information about work that you can do and live at home, earning thereby from $5 to $25 and upwards daily, from the first start. Some have made over $50 in a day. The best chance ever known by working people. Now is the time—delay not.

Great Foreign Libraries.—The largest library in the world is the Bibliotheque Nationale of France, or National Library, formerly Royal, then Imperial, according to the changes of government. It was founded in 1737 by a royal printing tax requiring a copy of each book printed for the King's library, and contains 2,250,000 volumes. The library of the British Museum, founded in 1753 from a donation of books and private gallery of Sir Hans Sloan, contains 1,500,000 volumes. It became a great library through liberal donations from subjects of the Crown, including many great private libraries. The books, engravings, arts, antiquities and natural history have long since outgrown their present quarters. All collections except books, engravings and few antiquities have been successively removed to Kensington to make room. The St. Petersburg Imperial Library, founded by ukase of the Czar, has 1,000,000 volumes. The Royal Library of Berlin, founded by a copy tax in 1661, the oldest big library on the globe, has 700,000 volumes. The Library of Munich, Bavaria, founded in the sixteenth century, claims 800,000 volumes, but includes pamphlets, which we do not. If we counted pamphlets, we would have 770,000. The next in size is the Library of Congress, which is our national collection.

A great library is like a great army, a chaotic mass, without organization, but when divided into army corps, brigades, regiments and companies you can put your finger on every man. So with books, no matter how vast the collection, once adopt a clear and intelligible system of classification and any one of the million volumes may be found as readily as if there were but a few hundred.—Philadelphia Times.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of a costive habit are subject to Headache, Defective Memory, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which unfits the sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect heart's ease that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not act its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Winter is coming, and we should take especial care of our children.

These sudden changes are conducive of colds. Colds are but the forerunners of Consumption.

Lozenge's Cough Elixir is the most valuable remedy for Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis known to the medical profession.

For sale by all Druggists.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Not only shortens the time of labor and lessens the pain, but it greatly diminishes the danger to life of both mother and child, and leaves the mother in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery, and less liable to Bleeding, Convulsions, and other alarming symptoms. Its efficacy in this respect entitles it to be called THE MOTHER'S FRIEND, and to rank as one of the life-saving remedies of the nineteenth century.

We can not publish certificates concerning this remedy without wounding the delicacy of the writers. Yet we have hundreds on file.

Send for our book, "To Mothers," mailed free.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

The Physician's Favorite!

A prodigested, non-irritating, easily assimilated food indicated in all weak and inflamed conditions of the digestive organs, either in infants or adults.

☞ It has been the positive means of saving many lives, having been successful in hundreds of cases where other prepared foods failed.

The Most Nourishing, Most Palatable, Most Economical of All Prepared Foods.

150 MEALS for an Infant for $1.00.

EASILY PREPARED. At Druggists, 25c., 50c., $1.

☞ A valuable pamphlet on "The Nutrition of Infants and Invalids," sent free on application.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., BURLINGTON, Vt.

WINCHESTER'S

HYPOPHOSPHITE of LIME AND SODA is a matchless Remedy for Consumption in every stage of the disease. For Coughs, Weak Lungs, Throat Diseases, Loss of Flesh and Appetite, and every form of General Debility it is an unequaled Specific Remedy. ☞ BE SURE and GET WINCHESTER'S PREPARATION. $1 and $2 per bottle. Sold by Druggists.

WINCHESTER & CO., CHEMISTS,
162 William St., New York.

Queen and Crescent Route.

New Orleans and Northeastern R. R.

Shortest and Quickest Line to

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST,
ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTHEAST.

Time Table in Effect December 31st, 1885.

Trains North Bd. Read Down.		Flag Stations Intermediate.	Trains South Bd. Read Up.
No. 2. *	No. 6.		No. 1.	No. 5
10 -0am	8 00pm	Lv New Orleans	3 10pm	7 35am
11 4 am	9 10pm	" Shell "	2 00pm	6 25am
11 57 a m	† 9 25 pm	" Pearl River "	1 40pm	6 00am
12 13pm	† 9 40pm	" Nicholson "	1 32pm	5 52am
12 47pm	10 5 am	" Mozeliah "	1 2 pm	† 5 40am
12 30 am	† 10 0 pm	" Higginbotham "	1 12 pm	† 5 30am
1 0 pm	10 6 am	" Pearlinville "	12 30 pm	5 00am
1 15 pm	† 4 50 pm	" Hillsdale "	12 15pm	† 4 45am
1 35 pm	† 11 05pm	" Pontoon "	12 0 pm	† 4 30am
1 40 pm	† 11 10pm	" Talowah "	11 55am	† 4 24am
2 02pm	11 25 pm	" Purvis "	11 38am	4 09am
2 13pm	11 35pm	" Okahola "	11 27am	4 00am
2 26 pm	† 0 45pm	" Carter "	† 11 16 am	† 3 48am
3 0 pm	11 59pm	" Gabriella "	11 0 am	3 30am
3 16pm	† 12 14am	" Estabrooks "	† 10 45am	† 3 20am
3 25pm	12 24 am	" Tuscumbia "	10 36am	† 3 10am
3 46pm	12 43am	" Ellisville "	10 17am	2 52am
4 0 pm	12 57 am	" Laurel "	10 03am	2 37am
4 17pm	† 1 15am	" Sandersville "	† 9 45am	† 2 20am
4 33pm	1 30am	" Hebbelberg "	9 29am	2 06am
4 42pm	1 37am	" Vossburg "	9 22am	1 59am
5 5 pm	† 1 48am	" Barnell "	† 9 11am	† 1 48am
5 10pm	1 56 am	" Pachuta "	9 03am	† 1 39 am
5 23pm	2 15am	" Enterprise "	8 47am	1 24am
5 38pm	.....	" Cuba "	8 32am	.....
6 00pm	3 00am	" Meridian "	8 00am	12 40am
10 50pm	† 4 40pm	" Tuscaloosa "	† 4 50am	8 00am
12 40am	10 00am	" Birmingham "	† 4 40am	† 5 50pm
3 32pm	1 00am	" Attala "	10 31pm	2 45pm
7 00pm	5 55pm	" Chattanooga "	6 30pm	9 15am
1 20am	1 15am	" Stone Fort "	12 40pm	2 25am
2 37pm	2 40am	" Junction City "	11 35am	12 55pm
4 15pm	4 00am	" Lexington "	10 22am	11 20am
6 42pm	6 45am	at Cincinnati Lv	7 55am	8 10pm

JNO. C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. PARROLL, Gen. Supt., Meridian.
H. COLLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Passr. Agt., Cincinnati, O.
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Pass. Agt., Cincinnati.
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent, 31 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

—TAKE THE—

Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE. Quicker in Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

SPLENDID EQUIPMENT!
MAGNIFICENT COACHES!
PULLMAN BUFFET SLEEPERS!
TRAINS ALWAYS ON TIME!

See that your Tickets read over the

Mississippi and Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and T'k't Ag't.
JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass Ag't.
MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific Co.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN
NEW ORLEANS,
HOUSTON,
GALVESTON,
SAN ANTONIO,
EL PASO,
OLD AND NEW MEXICO,
ARIZONA AND
CALIFORNIA POINTS.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH
Pullman Palace Sleepers
—FROM—
NEW ORLEANS
—AND—
SAN FRANCISCO,
Piercing the most beautiful part of
SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address:

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, General Manager.
J. G. SCHMEVER, Traffic Manager.

GENERAL OFFICES:
Cor. Magazine and Natchez Sts.,
New Orleans.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad,

—THE—
GREAT THROUGH LINE
—FOR—
PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT
to all Points
NORTH, EAST AND WEST.

The only Line running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS through from New Orleans to Cincinnati, St. Louis, Memphis and Chicago without change of Trucks.

Only one change to New York and Eastern Cities.

The only direct Route to St. Louis, Chicago and all Points North and West. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other Line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, elegant COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY
—AND—
RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—

DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Calliope Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 3, 8:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Pass. Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
J. G. MANN, Superintendent.

THE GREAT
Kennesaw and Shenandoah
VALLEY ROUTE
(East Tenn., Va., and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs, N. C., or Staunton, Va.

BAGGAGE CHECKED TO DESTINATION.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:55 A. M. and 8:05 P. M.

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general Information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Southern Agent,
Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans.
D. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent,
Knoxville, Tenn.

—THE—
Texas and Pacific Railway,
THE SHORT
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN,
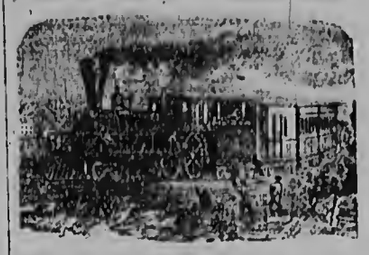
—AND—
CENTRAL TEXAS,
and all Points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves at 7:30 A. M.
Arrives at 7:15 P. M.
This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.
Texas and California Express leaves 4:00 P. M.
Arrives 10:30 A. M.
This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.
Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $140.00.
The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.
For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier, street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.



Queen and Crescent Line.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN RAILROAD.

—THE SHORT LINE FOR—
Freight and Passengers
—TO ALL POINTS—
North and East and in the Northwest.

LOW RATES AND QUICK TIME ON FREIGHT TRAFFIC.

The Model, Modern Thoroughfare.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Magnificent Buffet and Sleeping Cars.

—FROM—
NEW ORLEANS
—TO—
MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA AND CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10:10 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7:55 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press and Levee.
Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St. Charles St., N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.
H. COLLBRAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agent, Queen and Crescent Line, Cincinnati, O.
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent.
A. F. BARNETT, Contracting Frt Agt.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING
ROSES

For 18 Years our Great Specialty has been growing and distributing ROSES. We have all the Latest Novelties and finest standard sorts in different sizes and prices to suit all. We send STRONG, VIGOROUS PLANTS safely by mail or express to all points.

3 TO 12 PLANTS $1, $8 to $25 per Hundred.

Our New Guide, 88 pp., describes nearly 500 finest varieties of Roses, the best Hardy Shrubs, & Climbing Vines, and New and Rare Flower Seeds, and tells how to grow them—FREE. Address THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co. Pa.

Established 1857.

The GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

PRINK'S Patent Reflectors, for Gas or Oil, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. PRINK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for PLATFORM ECHOES
or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART,
By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, brim full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and good, full of laughter and tears "as the ebb and flow of sunlight to and fro." To it is added the Life and Death of Mr. Gough, by Rev. LYMAN ABBOTT. 1000 Agents Wanted,—Men and Women. $100 to $200 a month made. ☞ Distance no hindrance as we give Extra Terms and Low Freights. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

RUPTURE

Have you heard of the astounding reduction for DR. J. A. SHERMAN'S Famous Home Treatment, the only known guarantee comfort and cure without operation or hindrance from labor? No steel or iron bands. Perfect retention night and day, no chafing, soiled to all ages. Now $10 only. Send for circular of measurements, instructions and proofs. Get cured at home and be happy, office 291 Broadway, New York.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expense, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. P. F. JOHNSON & Co., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

CARDS SUNDAY SCHOOL, REWARD AND VISITING. Lovely Samples, Brand-new Catalogue, & Agts. terms for 2c. stamp. W. C. Griswold & Co., Centerbrook, Ct.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE
FERRY'S SEEDS

Their Seeds are popular because they are good.

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person sowing Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it. Address D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

ESTABLISHED 1846
MUNN & CO.
PATENTS
NEW YORK

After Forty years' experience in the preparation of more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and Foreign countries, the publishers of the Scientific American continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada, England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Their experience is unequaled and their facilities are unsurpassed.

Drawings and specifications prepared and filed in the Patent Office on short notice. Terms very reasonable. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.00 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. It contains the names of all patentees and title of every invention patented each week. Try it four months for one dollar. Sold by all newsdealers.

If you have an invention to patent write to Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 261 Broadway, New York.

Handbook about patents mailed free.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

CORRESPONDING EDITORS:
REV. T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. T. SAWYER.
REV. W. L. C. BENNICUTT.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1887.

Greeting.

Anticipating the resolutions of promise to increase the circulation of the ADVOCATE made by the patronizing Conferences at their last session, the ADVOCATE is presented to you this week in a new dress. The intention and promise made to you was, that this improvement would be made at the end of this year; and now far in advance of the time and upon this, the thirty-sixth anniversary of the paper, we greet you in holiday apparel, hoping that the beautified appearance of the ADVOCATE will be a weekly reminder that your vow made should be fulfilled. In conclusion, it would be well to state that, with this addition, your plant for issuing a first-class weekly is about complete. Will you keep it so?

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

New Garments.

The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE had traveled so long a journey over such rough roads and through so many thorny thickets that her garments had become "tattered and torn," and her shoes "clouted upon her feet," and she stood so "all forlorn" among the other handsomely appareled handmaids of the church, that the enterprising publisher took pity upon her and has put upon her these comely robes in which she to-day presents herself to the view of her friends. Just as a young girl, when she dons a new, close-fitting dress, frisks about and wheels around and poses gracefully to attract attention: so this stately maiden of thirty-six years, having smoothed out the wrinkles of care and suffused the pale cheeks with some mysterious article from her toilet-stand, steps out to-day before an audience of 5,000 people, arrayed in "garments of beauty," and each movement of limb, each glance of the eye is a coy and furtive endeavor to provoke an approving appreciation, and her "airs in dress and gait," translated into language, say: "Behold, how beautiful and becoming is my new suit."

The editor congratulates the readers, that their eyes will find a much-needed relief in the perusal of the new type. He congratulates the contributors that their articles will be more inviting than ever. He congratulates the publisher and his worthy foreman upon the display of their fine taste in the selection of these beautiful robes for the paper. And he will enter into a compact with all concerned, that, with their co-operation and aid, these beautiful garments shall never be rent by unchristian controversy nor soiled by contact with "anything that defileth."

Thirty-Six Years Old.

This week the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE has completed the thirty-sixth year of its life. And what a life it has had! Thirty-six years backward would bring us behind some of the greatest facts of human history and many of the grandest achievements of human genius. It has been the most stirring time the world has ever seen—those thirty-six years. Inventions, discoveries, civilization marching out through all the earth, the church of Christ "lengthening her cords and strengthening her stakes" in preparation for capturing all for her Lord, desolating wars and rehabilitating peace, have all set up monuments along the track of those thirty-six years. With the exception of a few years, the ADVOCATE has gone along through those thirty-six years' in its modest and unpretending work of helpfulness to its readers. It has sought always and only to do good rather than to gain a famous reputation or to make a "splendid record." To "strengthen the weak hands" and to "confirm the feeble knees," to encourage the timid faith and to restrain the rash courage, to comfort the afflicted and to warn the prosperous, to mould the individual character after the pattern of gospel symmetry and to develop the home into a type of heaven, to hold firmly to the good old Methodist doctrines and to proclaim a free and full salvation to every penitent sinner—these have ever been its aims. How far it has succeeded in accomplishing these aims, eternity alone can reveal. That it has done untold good there can be no question. That its aim and only ambition to-day is to continue in this way of doing good is its present announcement to the world.

In accordance with the beautiful custom observed in all well-regulated households, the ADVOCATE has been graciously remembered by all its former, living editors. While all these ex-editors speak, the present incumbent holds his peace and listens with reverent attention.

Letter from Bishop H. N. McTyeire.

MR. EDITOR: It is a good custom to observe the birthday of children. One of my household was born in New Orleans, February 10. Trust my wife to honor that anniversary, in a quiet way, by a little extra touch on the dinner or otherwise! On February 8 occurs the anniversary of the birthday of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Trust me for not forgetting that! I send you greetings, and all your readers, both lay and clerical.

Few are they of the small number of the first subscribers in 1851, whose names I made a list of, with mine own hand, so carefully and anxiously that I felt like I knew them personally. One of the very first, a venerable lady of Greenville, Miss., —Mrs. Theobald—I met last summer at Monteagle. She gracefully accepted my pleasantry, that there was something of a life-preserving quality in reading the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. The Revs. John G. Jones and John Lusk and William Murrah and A. H. Mitchell and others still live, who sent us encouraging lists of subscribers for the new venture. Mrs. Mary Winans Wall, among the women, enlivened its columns with witty and wise contributions. That incisive pen has stopped all too soon. But you have Mrs. L. Crary Sadler, whose articles I always read with pleasure, and to whose husband I gave the best article he ever had—a good wife.

The "survival of the fittest" applies to papers. The Picayune, The Crescent, The Creole, the two Deltas, and others flourished when your ADVOCATE unfurled its modest banner, thirty-six years ago. Only the first named bears you company in 1887. Inquiring into the causes, one fact of economy might be taken into the account. Well do I remember the day when, facing a popular alley, on Camp street, the P-i-c-a-y-u-n-e lettering appeared on a stone front. That was its own house, a home. The others rented, here and there. So likewise Bro. Harp went forth and collected money to buy 112 Camp street for the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. The moth of rent and the instability of renters were no more. It had a local habitation as well as a name. Revolutions in government and trade affected, but could not destroy. The bad times were weathered, and when the good times came we were in position to take advantage of them. So it is. Build churches, build parsonages. They tide you over adverse seasons and give you the full benefit of prosperous ones. They proclaim to all—"We have come to stay." The public want stability. I rather fancy that rollicking, godless, English lord who, being asked why he was so attached to the Established Church, answered—"Because it is established."

Speaking of the secular press, nothing is more observable and gratifying than its general moral trend. Thirty years ago, for instance, New Orleans had many and able papers; but religious bodies had small show in them. Theatres, Sunday parades and shooting matches, the fighting ring and horse races, et id genus omne, were treated of at length; while an Annual Conference or a Synod, holding its session in the city, was dispatched in a few obscure lines. A little District Conference held in Donaldsonville or Thibodeaux or Covington now gets fuller notice than an Annual Conference then did, sitting in Felicity Street or Carondelet Street Church. In less than forty hours after the Louisiana Conference adjourned, this month in Ruston—a small interior village of the upper parishes—I read its last day's proceedings and a complete list of appointments in those great dailies, the New Orleans Times-Democrat and the Picayune—transmitted to them by telegraph. Say that this is not progress, and in the right direction, too?

The first fighting that the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE did was against one of these dailies. To poke fun at evangelical religion, and especially at the Methodists, was one of its reserved privileges. When it went so far as to ridicule a camp meeting by putting an "s" before the word "camp meeting" the ADVOCATE opened fire, and showed itself ready against all comers on that line. It was either a consequence or a coincidence that its subscription list was greatly increased, and—we had respectful treatment from our neighbors.

This leads me to say, there's nothing like fighting—in a good cause and with a Christian spirit. St. Paul was a great fighter. He draws his favorite figures from the militant source: "So fight I, not as one that beateth the air;" again, "Fight the good fight;" and after numerous illustrations of this sort, he winds up his glorious career with—"I have fought a good fight." The world can not be placated; there are forms of its opposition that must be defied. Happily, in our day, Methodist papers reach the people, and when they are temperately, prudently and firmly advised on pending issues, secular papers and politicians will not disregard the verdict.

Look at the solid victory that the Methodists, Baptists and Presbyterians have just achieved, through their press, in South Carolina. Besides supporting their own colleges by voluntary contributions, they were being taxed to support the State University, which was weakening them and underbidding them by offering free tuition! The people took the matter in hand after vain complaint to the few who had got into power, and a representative Legislature has abolished the grievance.

Is this politics? No. I hold it to be common sense and a good conscience. But times are changed and changing for the better. Sermons, orthodox and spiritual, are often to be met with in our great dailies, and scurrilous allusions to Christianity are not tolerated. Last summer the Seashore Camp Meeting was attended by a reporter for each of the leading newspapers of New Orleans—not raw "prentice hands," (or "cubs," as the vulgar phrase is) but educated and cultured gentlemen, up in their art, who furnished columns every morning of the best reading to their hundred thousand readers, combining appreciative and scholarly notices of men and of sermons. Is not this an improvement on the past, and a hopeful augury for the future? Laus Deo!

Good news for Zion! The Book Editor has added up the figures of last year's work, and finds about 75,000 increase of members in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Te Deum laudamus!—let us say it; and sing it who can. May consecration, and holiness in heart and life, keep pace with, go ahead of, this increase of souls! And let all the people say, Amen! No other church in America has been so blessed. Never was this church so blessed before. And yet a few of the dear brethren are not happy. They are digging away, directly or indirectly, at the Asburyan foundations of our polity—a polity agreeable to the Scriptures and primitive church, tried by schisms more than once, recommended by phenomenal success, and blessed of God. Suffer a little more Latin—Esto perpetua!

To my beloved brother and successor, grace, mercy and peace; and to all his readers. And may the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE do good, and increase in well-doing, and stand in its lot at the end of the days.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY, Jan. 28, 1887.

P. S.—The calls from the missions in China and Japan, Brazil and Mexico are waking responses. Three choice young men in the University are getting ready to go; others are thinking on the duty. The death of Dora Rankin, and her grave in a missionary land, is producing fruit. That grain of corn in the earth there will not abide alone. Memorial services are being held for her by the godly women in various parts of the country, and I learn that several candidates have already came forward to take Dora's place.

The Advocate's Birthday.

BY BISHOP J. C. KEENER.

More fortunate than most enterprises, the ADVOCATE has had three birthdays, and came near having a fourth. The first was in July, 1850, when a committee of Southwestern preachers, on their way back from General Conference, determined to start a NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and appointed Dr. Hamilton, of Alabama, to get out a specimen number. This was a first-rate number, having in it articles from Dr. Drake, (Bishop) McTyeire and Dr. Hamilton. But after long waiting there were not subscribers enough secured to warrant the undertaking, and it died, as many an infant of days before and since, for want of nourishment. It is over this solitary number, as a dead child, that the author of the History of Methodism in Mississippi has reared a structure which reflects much credit on the Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and Alabama brethren, who traveled together on a steamboat and there conceived the enterprise.

In six months after, in February, 1851, the ADVOCATE was started again by the combined efforts of (Bishop) McTyeire and Mr. John W. Crockett, who was then a partner with the publishers of the Crescent, to which also I gave a helping hand. This paper consisted of one side of matter transferred from the Crescent, the other side original. By this arrangement the cost of publication was greatly cheapened and the value of the ADVOCATE improved as a family newspaper. But all newspapers have a feeble constitution for years after birth. They are subject to accidents, diseases, cross-purposes, beside weakness from sheer lack of food. One of the publishers of the Crescent was killed in a duel, and the paper by-and-by changed hands. Our true friend, Crockett, was taken sick and died. Then followed publishers of various shades of religious stamina, who required much encouragement and more patronage than the friends of our church in the Southwest were inclined to extend. It was a losing business. During those years my organ of hope grew out of all proportion from too much exercise. The membership of our church in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana was large, and the newspaper men were frequently directed to the fact. They, too, learned by much practice to live on hope.

It was during the hopeful period of its life that the ADVOCATE received from the General Conference of 1854 a grant of several thousand dollars. This enabled us to buy a press and start the wheels which turned regularly every week after, until the period of the war. Then its breath grew shorter, and in 1861 at last ceased. Fortunately the depository building, where the paper was domiciled, was in part rented to an undertaker. This man stood his coffins all around the room on end, so that passers-by felt but little inclination to disturb the solemn premises. It is more than probable that Dr. J. P. Newman, who at that time was very incisive in his loyalty, considered the mortal array of these silent monitors, a sufficient guarantee that nothing disloyal could transpire or exist so near the valley of death. At any rate, when we came back, after the war, there was not "a stick amiss." At the kiss of peace the ADVOCATE, like the sleeping princess, yawned, looked round, and sprang up to its accustomed work as if nothing had happened. Yet the start was a very distinct one to all who immediately presided over its existence. There was no money in the locker, though types were in the form and engine and press in the basement. Still we started on a strictly cash basis. Fifty subscribers were obtained at the Mississippi Conference by Bro. Harp, who kindly acted as agent.

During the next four years I had the pleasure of filling every post in a publishing office except the setting up of type, etc. I was editor, proof-reader, book-keeper and mailing clerk, largely assisted in editing by Drs. Parker and Walker. Totally unaccustomed to write, I was surprised at the easy flow of all articles on the war history of our church, and the policy toward it of Northern brethren. Here was an inspiration that supplied plenty of butter, with nothing but churn and dasher to make it. Truth is, the war had churned up a thousand editorials in me unconsciously. The General Conference came on in May of 1866, and the ADVOCATE was able, by a liberal grant, to publish its daily proceedings.

My connection with the paper ended with 1870. Then Dr. Parker began his long and brilliant career as an editor. He had contributed largely to its columns from its beginning. What a delightful spiritual article he could write, and with what exhaustless variety! The Methodism of New Orleans is largely indebted for its firmness and doctrinal integrity to the orthodox purity and the sanctified culture of his pen. Some thirty-six itinerant preachers have gone forth from its Methodist altars; the larger part of whom still hold places of usefulness and influence. After twelve years of editing he was called, as several of his predecessors had been, by the General Conference to duty on another circuit. Then followed the recent history from 1882 to 1886, of which I need not speak particularly, as being so fresh in all our memories. Suffice it to say, that the paper, like a big wart on an apple-tree, has served the purpose of more than one boy to climb up after the pippins. Dr. Galloway, as editor, has told his own story, which ended in the old way.

Of all these editors I think the paper was most fortunate in the first, for then it was at its most critical period—that of teething. It never was sharper, stronger, more courageous, classical and popular than in those first eight years of its existence. Its character was firmly established as a first-class paper when its editor was moved to the Advocate at Nashville. The Rev. C. C. Gillespie, who followed, was newsy, sprightly, ready; but the paper went steadily down until the war relieved the situation. He was a short paragraphist and often the victim of words. Any one word which seemed to him particularly heavy with concentrated meaning would dominate his thought and control his argument. All men pass through that word fascination sooner or later; that is, if they ever get through; many perish by the way.

Next to piety, modesty and a genius for editing, our church editors most of all need courage, as against the world, the flesh and the devil. Very few have it. They simply catch up the straw, and by gyrating call attention to the fact that something is in the wind. This editorial instinct is all very well; but why opine danger if there be no inclination to resist it. The editor, beyond most public servants, is tempted to look for the effect of his articles in the number of his subscribers! The church requires learned, sanctified, brave men in all its departments of literature, for defense and attack, in the conflict between faith and earth, which becomes hotter, fiercer with every increase of human experience, knowledge and discovery.

During all its history the paper has belonged to the patronizing Conferences. It has never at any time been individual property. And I am quite sure it has never been a money-making enterprise. May it be wielded by its present editor with skill and efficiency beyond his predecessors, as an arm of Southern Methodism, and its birthday have many returns!

Our Church Colleges—A Suggestion.

BY BISHOP C. B. GALLOWAY.

A correspondent of one of our Advocates seriously propounds this question, "Would it not be well to give up our church colleges?" The query was born of two considerations—the growing zeal for State education and the seeming indifference of the church to her own institutions. While suggestive of thought on all the lines of the great subject, the alternative intimated is not to be entertained for a single moment. The enterprise and zeal of others should not argue or augur our failure. Nor should past indifference be an apology for total surrender. There is great, if not excessive, interest in higher education by the State. And this, I have thought, is at the expense of the common schools. There are large appropriations to the college or university for the support of expensive faculties and to provide the largest facilities, while the elementary schools are, few in number, are opened for only four months in the year, and often taught by incompetent and poorly-paid teachers. There the "three R's" are being neglected for the "ologies"—the urchin sacrificed for the collegian. It might be profitable for local statesmen to inquire how long the college can live without the common school—where the university will find recruits when the academy closes its doors?

But with that matter the church has nothing to do. Her obligations are Heaven-imposed, and can not be neglected or relegated. One of her functions is to educate, and this she must do, however ardent the zeal or ample the facilities of State educators. That question has been too long settled, and is too well supported by an aspiring and fruitful history, to be now reopened. Methodism, especially, has done too many mighty works, through her educational enterprises, to think of reversing the policy of a century or of vacating the vantage-ground she has gained. She has to-day more students attending her own institutions of learning than any two evangelical denominations together, or all the State colleges combined. True there is, and has been, much and discouraging indifference. Methodists do occasionally patronize other schools to the neglect of their own. The caprices, prejudices and personal preferences that control in such matters are facts over which we may lament, but against which it is idle to animadvert.

But why our colleges have not enjoyed larger prosperity is worthy of serious inquiry. Indifference toward them there is, both in the way of patronage and moneyed offerings. Not a few suffer alike for students and adequate endowment. There must be some reason for these things. A discovery of the cause will suggest a remedy.

Without considering many minor points, I venture to suggest that the cause of connectional education suffers most from too many colleges. We have disintegrated church life and loyalty by the multiplication of institutions designed for the higher education. Instead of conserving denominational strength, by sharp rivalries they become an element of weakness and waste; contending for patronage in the same territory, it is reported that they sometimes resort to the suicidal policy of underbidding in rates. All of which is not only unseemly, but positively hurtful. The idea of two Methodist pastors contending and underbidding for the same congregation! The only argument in favor of locating colleges here and there is to meet the necessities of the several sections of our wide connection. But if it transpires that these institutions multiply until the same territory is canvassed and drummed by the representatives of several needy schools, the original purpose is defeated and well-meant effort is misdirected. The result is, instead of one strong denominational center of influence and blessing, ably officered, amply equipped, largely patronized and liberally endowed, we have several schools, jealous of each other, indifferently sustained—dependent upon the accidents and incidents of the times and keeping up a perpetual struggle for bare existence. Now, apart from the waste of rivalry and the loss of men from the pastorate to conduct these supernumerary institutions, such a policy lacks business sagacity and good ecclesiastical financiering. Why hide away the Lord's money in the brick and mortar of stately college buildings that are not needed by the church? There are moss-grown walls and deserted halls in the bounds of the connection that remain as the silent sentinels and mournful memories of our educational unwisdom.

Now, if the above be the cause or occasion of difficulty, the remedy is apparent. We must have more parochial training-schools, fewer colleges, and a well-defined educational policy.

1. Training-schools. Between the elementary neighborhood school and the real college or true university, there is important territory which the church ought to occupy to better advantage. High schools or academies, without the pretense or expense of colleges, where students can be trained for the higher curriculums, are needed in almost every presiding elder's district. A few such institutions in the church, adhering rigidly to this idea and definite sphere, have wrought a good work and made a history worthy of honor and emulation. The perilous temptation to these schools is the ambition and vision of chartered dignity and titular decoration. Educated laymen, who expect to make teaching a life-profession, and have knowledge to discern the signs of the times, will find this a field white unto harvest. History has vindicated the wisdom of Bishop Asbury who said: "I wished only for schools; Dr. Coke wanted a college."

2. Colleges. A very few will amply meet the necessities of the whole connection. And their location should be determined by geographical, commercial and connectional interests, and not by Conference boundaries. The ambition of each Annual Conference to have a college has been rebuked by a chapter of history that is little less than tragedy. It is the hapless Niobe of Methodism—a monumental grief and warning.

3. Educational policy. At present we have none. Most colleges are the product of individual enterprise or ambition, and not of the convictions and consensus of the church. Nearly all institutions get endorsement or adoption for the mere asking. Most any worthy brother, representing a piece of property called a college, with chartered rights, immunities and prophecies, can secure commendation and proceed under the auspices or authority of the church. Within close proximity to, and the legitimate patronizing territory of, another school, owned and sustained by the Conference, an institution, of similar grade and character, can be projected and find ready endorsement. This practice ought to cease. It is our college fetich. It is folly, even to calamity. We should have some system of college federation by which all our institutions (at least, within a given area) should be correlated, with specific limitations and graded curriculums. Such a policy would remove unseemly rivalries, conserve the connectional spirit, secure better literary results, and turn thousands of dollars into endowment funds now unwisely spent in unproductive and unnecessary masonry. A similar scheme now measurably obtains in Texas.

Some years ago, under the leadership of Dr. F. A. Mood, the several Annual Conferences in the State appointed a commission to consider their educational interests and outline a policy for future administration. The result of their wise deliberations was the consolidation of several colleges into the Southwestern University at Georgetown, and the adoption of the principle, if not a plan, of college correlation. This was ratified by the several Conferences, and controls their action. Institutions are adopted by the Conference only on compliance with the conditions and principle indicated above. These schools become auxiliary to the University, which alone has authority to confer degrees. Such a policy for the entire connection was dimly inaugurated thirty years ago. At the suggestion of the General Conference, of 1854, an educational convention was held in December of that year, in the city of Nashville, and continued its deliberations for three days. Distinguished educators, pastors and connectional officers were present. An association was organized, called "The Education Institute of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South," of which Bishop Paine was made president. Among other purposes of the Institute, these were emphasized: "To elevate the standard of education," and "To define and recommend the course of study proper to the various orders of literary institutions, securing thereby uniformity in the course pursued by all those of similar grade." Most worthy objects, surely. That the Institute has not been resurrected and reconstructed is matter of real regret. The times demand its revival and survival.

Such a policy, I feel assured, will encourage the endowment of the colleges needed. A sagacious and loyal layman said to me recently: "The present policy of multiplying colleges and adopting everything that asks for recognition discourages those able and inclined to give. No man wants to put money into an institution that has no promise of permanency—that may be overshadowed by a neighboring rival, under the fostering care of the same Conference." And that brother represents a class—if not large, very weighty, for they have the money. No man wants to put his beneficence into a bag with holes. As the Lord's purse-bearer he ought to exercise the largest discretion. And he has a right to a guarantee from the church that the institution receiving his offerings is not to be dismantled and destroyed by her rearing a brood of competing colleges. The logic of such a course is the very exhaustion of our fountains of benevolence.

I offer the suggestion for calm consideration. If thought is thereby stimulated and a practical solution of the difficulty evolved, Methodism will receive a benediction.

Note from Our New Presiding Elder.

MR. EDITOR: Your editorial—"Salvation by Syllogism"—is timely and thoroughly sound. The churches suffer much from patent methods of soul-saving, dexterous manipulations and plausible expedients, made to answer for deep convictions, heart contrition, all-sweeping repentance and actual faith. Instead of the new birth, witness of the Spirit, adoption and the blessed Bible doctrine of assurance, we have in some quarters a sweet, pleasing theology, the jagged edges of truth carefully smoothed off and duly flavored with the purely sentimental and æsthetic, that the poor diseased palate of the sinner may be able to swallow it without much difficulty. It is said to be right that "everybody should be a member of some church," and, in the greed for members, multitudes come to be on the church-rolls who never had a well-defined pang for sin, never fell out much with the world, the flesh and the devil, and are found living in the effort to be "hail-fellow, well met," not only with the people of God, but with the outlaying world of sin. Hence, in the bosom of the visible church are found people who attend worship, pay some quarterage and perform other creditable acts, and who yet get ungodly gain out of liquor selling, indulge in dram drinking, attend the dance, the circus and the theatre, and even suffer no discount by reason of their pitching about at the card-table, paste-board diamonds, hearts, spades and clubs, or their gambling in cotton or other futures.

You say to us, Mr. Editor, "Brethren, preach the Word." You are right. God's Word, preached in simplicity and Holy Ghost power, and experienced and practiced in the lives of preachers and people, will make us what God says we must be—"a peculiar people, zealous of good works," "unspotted from the world," "separate from sinners," "in the world, yet not of it," and withal living, not in the dead form, but in "the power of godliness."

J. T. S.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Feb. 3, 1887.

Books.

THE SUBSTANTIAL PHILOSOPHY. By J. I. Swander, A. M., D. D. Hudson & Co., publishers, 23 Park Row, New York.

This book claims to be a "formulation of the fundamental truths of the substantial philosophy founded by Dr. A. Wilford Hall and set forth in his "Problem of Human Life." The author say: "Substantialism maintains that the universe in its very constitution incorporates certain immaterial elements of force which are as real as the material objects in nature and no less possessed of actual being than the rocks of the earth or the stars of heaven." This new philosophy, as it is called, squares itself right across the beaten path of nearly all the scientific teaching of the day; declares that it is all false, and that it alone can teach the truth. Light, heat, sound, are substances. Cohesion, magnetism, gravity, are all force elements, independent of all matter. Creation is an evolution from God and not the making of things out of nothing. We confess that a great deal of this book is incomprehensible to us. The author's introduction, wherein he calls many ugly names and applies many ugly phrases to those who do not think as he does, is calculated to prejudice the reader against the book and its teachings. An author seeking to introduce a philosophy so different from that in vogue should by all means adopt a different style from that which prevails in this book.

ELIJAH VINDICATED; OR, THE ANSWER BY FIRE. By Rev. J. G. A. Clark, D. D., LL.D. Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn. Price, $1.50.

In passing judgment upon this book, we quote with intire approval a paragraph from Dr. Harrison's introduction: "Availing himself of the latest information concerning the Palestine of the theocratic and royal periods, the author has produced a book which unites all the interest of a thrilling narrative with the moral and spiritual instruction usually found in a purely didactic work. He gives a picture of the times, the men and the customs—an essential to the appreciation of biblical characters. With scholarly precision he combines a refined and poetical taste, which seizes upon the beautiful, the picturesque and impressive, and reads a lesson of value from every incident in the life of the noble prophet of Carmel." If you want to know more of Elijah than you ever knew before, read this book. You will lay it down with the firm conviction that of all the Old Testament writers Elijah is "head and shoulders" above the tallest.

THE LAST WEEK WITH JESUS. By Rev. T. M. McConnell, A. M. Southern Methodist Publishing House, Sunday-school Department. Price, fifty cents.

This is a consecutive history of the events that transpired during the last week of our Lord's earthly life. The author has done his work well. His language is plain, and his style is clear, and his arrangement is judicious; and the little book is calculated to interest and instruct all who read. We think it a capital book for Sunday-school libraries.

If Sufferers from Consumption,

Scrofula, Bronchitis, and General Debility will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. They will find immediate relief and permanent benefit. The Medical Profession universally declare it a remedy of the greatest value and very palatable. Read: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in several cases of Scrofula and Debility in Children. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure."—W. A. HILBERT, M. D., Salisbury, Ill.

The Supreme Court of Louisiana, in an able and exhaustive review of the whole subject, has unanimously affirmed the constitutionality of the Sunday law.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.

One of the most important of coming events is the grand Convention of Dairymen and Fruit Growers, which will be held at Jackson, Miss., on the 16th, 17th and 18th of the present month. For this meeting the most elaborate preparations have been made. His Excellency Governor Robert Lowry, will welcome visitors in the name of the State of Mississippi, and Hon. John McGill, Mayor of Jackson, will extend greetings in behalf of that progressive, enterprising, interesting and pleasant city.

Liberal butter premiums have been offered by the commission merchants of New Orleans and by the business men of Jackson, for which competition is opened to the world.

Profound interest in the industries of the South has been awakened throughout the Union, and especially as to early vegetables, fine berries, fruits and dairy products. In evidence of this, we cite the fact that at this convention addresses will be delivered by such learned and practical men as W. D. Hoard, Esq., editor of Hoard's Dairyman, Fort Atkinson, Wis.; Prof. S. A. Knapp, late president of the Iowa Agricultural College; Col. R. M. Littler, of Chicago, Col. R. P. McCluney, secretary Elgin Board of Trade, and many others, who by years of careful study and experience are qualified to give advice on all matters bearing upon the management of the dairy, as well as upon general farm topics.

Here will be a rare opportunity for our farmers to show what they can do, see what others are doing, and hear from the lips of men who are competent to teach, and whose eloquence and grace enable them to impart their knowledge in a pleasant manner, what can and should be done.

We are gratified to add that the old stand-by—the great Illinois Central Railroad, always the friend of the people, with its usual liberality and public spirit, will not only transport all products intended for exhibition free of charge, but will sell excursion tickets lower than ever before heard of—about one cent a mile, which is cheaper than walking! We call upon our people to make a grand rally at Jackson and by their active co-operation, show that they appreciate the interest taken in the improvement and development of our section.

We call the attention of our readers to Bishop Galloway's article in this number. The Bishop makes a suggestion which is well worth the best and most earnest thought of the church. There is no subject which is engaging more of the attention of the churches to-day than the subject which the Bishop discusses in his usual emphatic way. And there are few subjects which are beset with more difficulties and exposed to greater perils. The facts in the case plainly show that something must be done. The histories of the past as plainly show that it is easy to commit irretrievable mistakes. "In the multitude of counselors there is safety," and we invite our contributors to agitate and discuss this most important matter in the columns of the ADVOCATE.

The tenacity and success with which our paper has clung to life are finely emphasized by a sentence or two in Bishop McTyeire's letter. Excepting the Picayune, the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is the only paper published here to-day which was in existence thirty-six years ago. It procured a home for itself, as did also the Picayune, and both live and flourish. Nothing like a "local habitation."

We call especial attention to the article on the third page entitled, "The Christian Press." This article has been in the editor's scrap-book several years, and he takes pleasure in giving it to the readers of our "anniversary number." The pastors can take it and make a good talk for the ADVOCATE from it. It is most suggestive.

CHILDREN will freely take Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm; unlike cough syrups, it contains no opium, will soothe and heal any disease of the throat or lungs quicker than any other remedy.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears, it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUNDS.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. H. Thomson, 64 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

"Thieving in the outskirts" is the latest game for picking ladies' pockets.

A copy of the "Storm Chart" for 1887, by the Rev. Irl R. Hicks, and Calendar for 1887, mailed free to any address, on receipt of a two-cent postage stamp. Write plainly your Name, Post Office and State.

THE DR. J. H. MCLEAN MEDICINE CO.,
St. Louis, Mo.

WE desire to call special attention to the advertisement of the McMullen Woven Wire Fence Co., of Chicago, which appears first in this issue. This style of fencing is peculiary adapted to almost any place about the home or farm, and is well worth thorough investigation. Read their advertisement and write for full particulars, not forgetting to mention this paper.

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

P. WERLEIN.—The great Southern music emporium, 135 Canal street, is to the front with new attractions in the music line; the very latest compositions by well-known authors received, and will be mailed to any address on receipt of price. The fall stock of musical instruments is being received, and surpass anything ever offered to the people of the South. Pianos and organs of superb tone and beautiful finish, at prices lower than ever known and terms unsurpassed by any music house in the United States. Write to Werlein before purchasing elsewhere. 135 Canal street.

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances, to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is agreeable to use. It is not a liquid or a snuff. 50c.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle.

Pond's Extract. In the very common and obstinate forms of diseases known as Piles or Hemorrhoids, it has won its greatest reputation among the people.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

COLGATE'S CASHMERE BOUQUET Toilet Soap

Established over 80 years. The largest and oldest manufacturers of Toilet Soaps in America. Our Toilet Soaps of all kinds are acknowledged to be the most reliable, being absolutely pure, of high uniform standard, and exquisite delicacy of perfume. THE BEST for chapped hands and delicate skins. Sold everywhere.
COLGATE & CO., NEW YORK.

COMPLETED—THE GREAT CYCLOPÆDIA OF BIBLICAL, THEOLOGICAL, and ECCLESIASTICAL LITERATURE. (One-third of a century in preparation.) Edited by Doctors M'CLINTOCK and STRONG and contributed to by a large number of most eminent scholars. In 12 volumes. Exhaustive, trustworthy, undenominational. Embracing the results of latest Biblical research. Brought up to date. Last volume just issued. Competent authorities say it has no competitor in any language. Enriched by 2000 Illustrations and Maps. Covers 55,000 subjects. Indispensable to clergymen and scholars in all professions; to all teachers; Sunday-school superintendents and teachers; Bible-class scholars, and Christian families. Its price and mode of sale, in bound volumes, place it within the reach of even those of moderate income. Accorded a conspicuous place among the honorable literary achievements of America. Most appreciatively noticed by distinguished critics in all parts of the world. Sold only by subscription. Canvassers wanted.

HARPER & BROTHERS, Publishers,
Franklin Square, New York.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Hope Insurance Company,
188 GRAVIER STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
(Opposite Cotton Exchange.)

ESTABLISHED IN 1857.

CAPITAL PAID UP.....$250,000 00
ASSETS, JAN. 1, 1887.....$101,982 17

Insures Fire, River and Marine Risks.

SURPLUS LINES TAKEN ON ACCEPTABLE FIRE RISKS.

J. A. CHALARON, President.
MAURICE STERN, Vice-Pres.
LOUIS BARNETT, Secretary.

DIRECTORS:

John I. Adams,	Henry Beer,
Geo. A. Lamaux,	Maurice Stern,
G. Lehman,	Wm. Blake,
Victor Meyer,	F. M. Ziegler,
Geo. Denegre,	A. R. Rousseau,
Jas. A. Renshaw,	John Holmes,
J. A. Chalaron,	Pierre Pontz,

Pearl Wight.

MECHANICS and TRADERS'
INSURANCE COMPANY,
14 CARONDELET STREET,
New Orleans, La.,
Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks
at lowest tariff rates.

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary,
LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Clerk.
J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Clk.
(Late Sec. Union Ins. Co.)
H. C. SHOEMBRIDGE, Collector.
F. AYZOLT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Sam. Boyd,	Simon E. Marx,
J. A. Braselman,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. H. Britton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carver,	Wm. A. Phelps,
P. J. Cockburn,	Ben. O. L. Rayne,
H. T. Cottam,	G. W. Scntell,
O. Elmer,	A. N. Silbernagel,
J. M. Frankenbush,	W. B. Thompson,
Walter C. Flower,	P. A. Villeruin,
P. G. Gilbert,	Jos. Vignes,
Chas. Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
I. L. Lyons,	T. S. Waterman,
Laurent Larassagne,	Frederick Wing,
E. L. Macon,	W. Y. West,
Hob't Maxwell,	W. G. Wheeler,

Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders'
INSURANCE COMPANY,
49 CARONDELET STREET.

PAID UP CAPICAL.....$1,000,000

ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN PHELPS, Vice-President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

ISSUES POLICIES COVERING FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE RISKS AT THE LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Noble,	John Chaffe,
Richard Milliken,	Sam'l Friedlander,
H. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lyle Lyon,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	H. F. Eshleman,
Chas. Chaffe,	L. C. Jurey,
Wm. Hartwell,	C. A. Leeds,
A. T. Janin,	A. M. Blackham,
Henry Abraham,	Louis Bush,
A. Brittin,	G. W. Scntell,
Wm. Cunningham,	John I. Adams,
R. T. Burkner,	Wm. A. Gwyn,

Chas. E. Black.

Crescent Insurance Co.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849. Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1869.

CASH CAPITAL.....$400,000

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. R. LYMAN, President.
CHAS. M. IDDLSEN, Vice-Pres.
CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Liverpool and London and Globe
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OFFICE: Cor. Carondelet and Gravier Streets.
DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS:
J. F. SCHRODER, Chairman,
NEWTON RICKNELL,
A. DELVAILLE,
RUTHLDJE WOESTE.

Assets in the United States.....$6,148,389 36
Surplus over all liabilities..... 2,598,129 13

HENRY V. HOGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT
VEGETABLE PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises. It is soothing, cleansing and Healing.

Catarrh, It is most effectious for this disease. Cold in the Head, &c. "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, should be applied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plasters invaluable in these diseases, Lumbago, Pains in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching. It is the greatest known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples, Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints. In the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used as is well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None others are genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

Sold everywhere, 3 sizes, viz.: 50c., $1., $1.75.

Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

Choice Books

THE REPERTOIRE
A New Collection of
HIGH GRADE SONGS
Selected, Composed and Arranged by Geo. F. ROOT
FOR USE IN
High Schools, Academies
And Advanced Singing Classes of all kinds. 224 pages. Price, $1.00 each by mail postpaid, $10.00 a dozen by Express, charges not prepaid.

GOSPEL HYMNS CONSOLIDATED
EXCELSIOR EDITION.

This book contains the same hymns and tunes as the large type edition of Gospel Hymns Consolidated, in the same order and numbered just the same both by the use of SMALLER TYPE the same material is got ten into a less number of pages. The prices of the new edition are as follows:

	By mail Postpaid.	By Express Not prepaid.
Paper Covers,	45c.	40c.
Board "	50c.	45c.
Limp Cloth,	55c.	50c.

In ordering this edition specify that you want the Consolidated Excelsior Edition.

Former editions still published at old prices.

PUBLISHED BY
THE JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O., And 19 East 16th Street, New York City.

THE IMPROVED ACME
WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only Five lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 REWARD FOR ITS SUPERIOR. Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges. Send for Circulars. Agents wanted.

ACME, Pat. April 12, '81.

C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

N.B.—Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

ESTERBROOK'S STEEL PENS.

Leading Nos.: 048, 14, 130, 135, 333, 161.
For Sale by all Stationers.
THE ESTERBROOK STEEL PEN CO.,
Works: Camden, N. J. 26 John St., New York.

GERANIUMS ROSES Free by Mail 15 for $1.00

A large stock of the best of the new and old varieties; also, an assortment of SHRUBS, Greenhouse & bedding plants. Prices defy competition. Illustrated catalogue free to all applicants. Address,
THOS. A. McBETH, Springfield, Ohio.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Also good for Cold in the Head, Headache, Hay Fever, &c. 50 cents.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
the popular favorite for dressing the hair. Restoring color when gray, and preventing Baldness. It cleanses the scalp, stops the hair falling, and is sure to please. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

WE WANT YOU! a live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every county. Salary $75 per month and expenses, or a large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfit and particulars Free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

OPIUM and WHISKY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent Free. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D., Atlanta, Ga.

NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 11 Games, 12 tricks in magic, 50 Album verses. All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 18, Ohio.

$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

A BIG OFFER. To introduce them, we will Give Away 5,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 23 Dey St., N. Y.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells.
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

Our Young People.

THE SAND-MAN.

BY GEORGE COOPER.

He peeps in through the key-hole,
And he looks up at the pane,
When scarlet firelight dances
On wall and floor again.
Hush! here he comes—the Sand-man,
With his dream-cap he is crowned,
And grains of sleep he scatters,
Going round and round and round—
While the little ones are nodding, going round.

He whispers noiseless fancies
With a tiny silver thread
He sews up silken eyelids
That ought to be in bed.
Each wee head nods acquaintance,
He's known wherever found;
All stay-up-late he catches,
Going round and round and round—
With a pack of dreams forever, going round.

I see two eyes the brightest;
But I'll not tell whose they are!
They shut up like a lily—
That Sand-man can't be far!
Somebody grows so quiet—
Who comes, without a sound?
He lends one more to dream-land,
Going round and round and round!
And a good-night to the Sand-man, going round.

Dear Little Friends: It is said that a skeptic once asserted his unbelief, in the presence of Sir Isaac Newton. Soon afterwards he saw a magnificent globe in the philosopher's study, and asked, "Who made it?" "No one," replied the philosopher; and the skeptic was silenced. The Maker "of every good and perfect gift" is unfolding to each of you the symbol of a beautiful, new book, with pure white pages. The symbol of a book is not a real book. It is something we may think of as being like a book. You all know that books have pages which were once all alike, unwritten. As you turn them over and over, you find that those who wrote them did not all write the same. Some have filled their books with bright, happy thoughts and wise words. There are sunny spots on every page. When you read these books you say: "I am sure that good men and women wrote them. I will strive to heed their precepts, to follow their examples, to possess virtues like theirs, and be like them."

The symbol of a book that is being opened to so many merry hearts and busy hands, to be "written over with false or true," is the new, new year, with each day as a fair page. As you trace these pages with your own thoughts, words and deeds, others will be looking on. Let them be made to say that you are a noble-hearted boy, or a kind, loving girl, because you are placing before them, day by day, a bright record, which they may read even as a good book.

No doubt everyone desires to make just such a record; but, I must say, with Bishop Duncan, while "I like benevolence (it is a good thing), I like beneficence better. Benevolence is wishing well," but beneficence is doing well," so ere another page is turned, go to work in the cause of the North Mississippi Conference Sunday-school thanksgiving. "Save the pieces," so when you get a sample of the thanksgiving quilts you will have your mites ready to be stitched into the Lord's treasury, and let your thanksgiving be one bright picture to illuminate the pages, Anno Domini, 1887.

"Forget me not this!
God's loving hand,
Sows blessings over all the land;
The morn with heavenly food is white,
The dews drop fatness in the night.
Forget me not this."

COUSIN CATE.

POINTOTOC, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: As I have never seen one of my letters in print, I thought I would write. I am a girl fifteen years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. I live in Brewersville, Ala. I used to live in Painville, Ala. I have neither father or mother living now. I go to school to Rev. J. M. Patton. I like him very well. I have no pets of any kind. I have two sisters dead. I will ask a question: Where is "hat" found in the Bible? Please do not let my letter find its way to the waste-basket.

Your true friend,

OLA PRETFORD.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl twelve years old. I have five brothers and three sisters. My oldest sister is off at school; two of my brothers had to come home on account of ill health. Papa takes the dear ADVOCATE. I love to read it. I am not going to school, as the weather is bad. We have no Sunday-school. We had a very quiet, pleasant Christmas. I will close by answering Donald Watkin's question: Jesus died on the cross. I will ask the cousins a question: Who buried Jesus? Hoping to see this in print, I remain,

ANNIE BROCK.

MR. EDITOR: Have you room in your column for another little cousin? If so, I would like to join the little crowd who write to you. I will not tell you my age, for fear you would think I should write a better letter; but I am a little girl and have very little practice in letter writing. I hope this letter will not reach the waste-basket, for it will be very discouraging to me. I live in a nice little village with about five hundred inhabitants. We have a very nice Sunday-school; about a hundred and twenty-five names enrolled. I attend every Sabbath. Bro. Peebles is the pastor of our church and preaches for us one Sabbath in every month. I have four sisters and three brothers. Our pets consist of three canary birds, two cats and a little dog. I had a white rabbit; but it injured the young fruit trees, so that papa threatened to kill it; so I sold it. For fear of wearying you with my first attempt, I will close.

Your little friend,

MINNIE BROWN.

NEWTON, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a girl fifteen years old. I have been a silent admirer of your excellent and good paper for some time, and, as I never have seen any little girls' letters that are in this part of Mississippi, I thought I would write a short letter. I have four sisters and two brothers. Our mother is dead; but we have a step-mother, and she is almost as good to us as our own mother was. We all love her very much; she is so good to us. I live two miles and a half from Brookhaven. It is a very pretty little place. It snowed last Tuesday night, and it has not melted yet. I see so many of the little cousins have pets; but I have no pets except a sweet four-month-old sister. She is just as sweet as she can be; she has blue eyes, black hair, fair complexion. For fear my letter will be too long, I will close by asking the little cousins a question: Where in the Old Testament is the word "yesternight" found? Your friend,

SUSIE SMITH.

BROOKHAVEN, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: As you were so kind as to print my other two letters, I thought I would write again. I had a very pleasant Christmas, and received several presents. I am going to school to papa. I was playing yesterday when one of the girls ran against me and knocked me over the eye. It swelled instantly, and was so painful I had to come home and remain all the evening, and to-day it is closed. I wish I could see some of my little cousins who write to the ADVOCATE. I always enjoy reading their letters. Our new minister is named Mr. Gayle. We all love him so much. He is so good and pleasant. He has some nice little girls, and we enjoy being together. I will close by asking, How many times did Elijah pray for rain? I will answer S. W. Greening's question: Noah built the ark in the six hundredth year of his life.

EMMA N. PATTON.

BREWERSVILLE, Alabama.

MR. EDITOR: As we have not seen any letters from this part of the country in some time, we will write one. We are two little country girls; our ages are ten and thirteen. Our preacher is Bro. F. M. Featherstun. We like him very much. We have no pets, but some very sweet little brothers and sisters. We have no Sunday-school now. A large snow fell last Wednesday; we enjoyed playing in it very much. Alice Porter, we think that Clarence Clifftan is a pretty name for your little brother. Ora L. Knight, Judas betrayed Jesus. Will some of the little cousins tell us how old David was when he died? We will close with best wishes for the ADVOCATE.

MEDDIE ROBINSON,
MATTIE J. EASTERLY.

MR. EDITOR: Here comes a little girl, asking admittance in your columns of the dear old ADVOCATE. I went to a union Sunday-school last summer. Miss Jessie Caraway was my teacher. I like her very much. We have no preaching now, but I hope we will have a preacher sent here soon. I will answer Nelson R. Beazley's question: The longest verse in the Bible is the ninth verse of the eight chapter of Esther. Now, I will ask the little cousins a question: What prophet foretold the coming of John the Baptist? If this does not reach the waste-basket, I will write again some time. Wishing the ADVOCATE success, I remain, Your little friend,

A. A. H. GARLINGTON.

STUARTOWN, Louisiana.

Farm and Home.

THE BOYS' BED-ROOM.—In too many homes all the pretty, and many of the comfortable, appointments for the sleeping-rooms are monopolized by the girls of the family. Good Housekeeping appears as a champion for the rights of the boys as follows:

Now, instead of turning our boy off with the coldest, most inconvenient room in the house, and making a sort of lumber bed-room of it, for him to go into only when his bedtime comes, and out of as soon as possible when his rising-time comes; without one beloved cozy corner, or pretty picture to rest his eyes upon while he lingers about his morning Bible reading, or about the details of his toilet (which, indeed, he can not finish in his room because there are, very likely, no conveniences), let us institute a system of equality in planning the bed-rooms of our children, making it a point always to keep the boys' room as pretty and cozy as the girls', and as scrupulously clean, rather than barely furnished with only the strictest necessaries, and in, to say the least, a state of questionable order.

In these days of cheap, bright pictures and fabrics, which latter are also durable, certainly most mothers may, without stinting the needs of the household, adorn and furnish their boy's bed-room, if only it be already supplied with a bed and toilet set. If means to buy the other articles are lacking, some packing-boxes and a few yards of inexpensive material used to upholster them, will cost but little except the time used in getting them into shape; and the result of the few hours' labor, and the expense (of perhaps two dollars) will be the conversion of the Sahara of a room into a place in which a boy will love to linger, feeling a pleasant sense of possession; and to which he will bring with pride and delight his young friends when they visit him, as he has seen his sister do.

Here, at least, he is safe from the hustling orders of any elder sisters he may chance to possess, who may have a propensity to monopolize, as elder sisters often do, all the cozy nooks in the house; this, at least, is outside their dominions.

FEWER DOGS.—Did it ever occur to the average thinking mind that we might squeeze along for weeks without a dog? Whole families have existed for years after being deprived of dogs. Look at the wealthy of our land. They go on comfortably through life at last with the unanimous consent of their heirs, dogless. Then why can not the poor gradually taper off on dogs? They ought not to stop all of a sudden, but they could leave off a dog at a time, until at last they overcame the pernicious habit. We may love a good dog, but we ought to love our children more. Let us yield up our dogs and take the affection that we would otherwise bestow on them, and lavish it on some human being. I have tried it, and it works well. There are thousands of people in the world, of both sexes who are pining and starving for the love and money that we daily shower on the dog.—The Pilot.

THEY NEVER STRIKE.—There is a class of people in this country who get up at five o'clock in the morning and never get back into bed until ten or eleven o'clock at night; who work without ceasing the whole of that time, and receive no other emolument than food and clothing. Though harrassed by a hundred responsibilities, though driven and worried, though reproached and looked down upon, they never revolt; and they can not organize for their protection. Not even sickness releases them from their posts. No essays or books or poems are written in tribute to their steadfastness. They die in harness and are supplanted as quickly as may be. These are the housekeeping wives of the laboring men.

One thing do remember—to have your own home, every-day table just as attractive as the one to which you invite your honored guest. It pays to exert one's self for one's family. They never lose sight of it. Ten to one if the honored guest, tired with social courtesies, will not forget you in a day, or only remember your little affair as a debt to be paid back some time. We do not underestimate the duty of hospitality, but we do think we are more likely to err in the lack of the courtesy toward our own households.

26,587,335

BOTTLES OF

WARNER'S SAFE CURE

SOLD, TO DEC. 27, 1886.

No Other Remedy in the World Can Produce Such a Record.

This wonderful success of "Warner's SAFE Cure" is due wholly to the real merit of the Remedy. For a long time it has been REGARDED BY THE HIGHEST MEDICAL AUTHORITIES AS THE ONLY SPECIFIC FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND URINARY DISEASES AND FEMALE COMPLAINTS. Thousands of people owe their life and health to "Warner's SAFE Cure" and we can produce 100,000 TESTIMONIALS to that effect.

Read the following and note the large number of bottles distributed. We guarantee these figures to be correct, as our sales-books will prove.

BOSTON, - - - - 1,149,122.

CAPT. W. D. ROBINSON (U. S. Marine Insp., Buffalo, N. Y.), in 1885 was suffering with a skin humor like leprosy. Could not sleep; was in great agony. For two years tried everything, without benefit. Was pronounced incurable. "Twenty bottles of Warner's SAFE Cure completely cured me, and to-day I am strong and well." (Feb. 5, 1885.)

PROVIDENCE, - - 171,929.

EX-GOV. T. G. ALVORD (Syracuse, N. Y.), in 1881 began running down with General Debility, accompanied with a sense of weight in the lower part of the body; with a feverish sensation and a general giving out of the whole organism. Was in serious condition, confined to his bed much of the time. After a thorough treatment with Warner's SAFE Cure he says: "I am completely restored to health by its means."

PORTLAND, ME., - 441,105.

MAJOR S. B. ABBOTT (Springfield, Mo.), in 1871 was afflicted with lame back, Rheumatism and Kidney trouble. Consulted the very best physicians in San Francisco, and visited all the mineral springs there. Took a health trip to the New England States, but for seven years suffered constantly from his malady, which had resulted in Bright's disease. After using a couple dozen bottles of Warner's SAFE Cure and two of SAFE Pills, he wrote: "My back and Kidneys are without pain, and, thank God, I owe it all to Warner's SAFE Remedies."

Bal. of NEW ENG., - 441,755.

MRS. J. P. RITCHEY (562 4th Ave., Louisville, Ky.) was a confirmed invalid for eleven years, just living, and hourly expecting death. Was confined to bed ten months each year. Was attended by the best physicians. Her left side was paralyzed. Could neither eat, sleep, nor enjoy life. The doctors said she was troubled with female complaints; but she was satisfied her kidneys were affected. Under the operation of Warner's SAFE Cure she passed a large stone or calculus, and in Nov., 1885, reported, "All to-day as well as when a girl."

NEW YORK STATE - 3,870,773.

PENNSYLVANIA, 1,821,218.

F. MAYER (1020 N. 12th St., St. Louis, Mo.), afflicted with tired feelings, dizziness and pains across the back, and lost appetite. Was sallow and care-worn all the time. The doctors failing he began the use of Warner's SAFE Cure, and reports, "I feel like a fighting cock."

CHICAGO, - - 2,808,693.

MR. R. BROWN, (2221 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.) injured his back from a fall. Was confined to his bed six weeks. The fall injured his kidneys, producing intense suffering. Warner's SAFE Cure restored his kidneys to their natural condition, and he writes "I am now eighty years of age, smart and active."

DETROIT, - - - 846,946.

MRS. THOS. SCHMIDT (Wife of the Vice-Consul of Denmark, 69 Wall St., New York) reported that her little son, after an attack of Diphtheritic Sore Throat eight years ago, was afflicted with Bright's Disease in advanced form; by the advice of Gen'l Christiansen, of Drexel, Morgan & Co., Bankers, New York, she prescribed Warner's SAFE Cure, with the consent of the physicians, and reports, "the physicians say that he will be perfectly well."

MILWAUKEE, - - 458,894.

MISS Z. L. BOARDMAN (Quechee, Vt.), in May, 1882, began to bloat, thence came stomach trouble, terrible headaches, and finally the doctor's opinion that it was Bright's disease, and incurable. Eventually she became nearly blind, pronounced by the doctors to be the last stage of Bright's disease. After having been under treatment by Warner's SAFE Cure for one year, she reported, "I am as well as any one."

MINNESOTA, - - 648,017.

HON. N. A. PLYMPTON (Worcester, Mass.), in May, 1880, was prostrated by Grief. Under the operation of Warner's SAFE Cure alone he passed a large stone, and subsequently wrote, "I have had no recurrence of my trouble since Warner's SAFE Cure cured me."

BAL. N. W. STATES, 1,767,149.

ASK YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS ABOUT

WARNER'S SAFE CURE.

THE MOST POPULAR REMEDY EVER DISCOVERED.

CLEVELAND, - - 682,132.

EX-GOV. R. T. JACOB (Westport, Ky.) was prostrated with severe Kidney trouble and lost 40 pounds of flesh. After a thorough treatment with Warner's SAFE Cure he reports, "I have never enjoyed better health."

CINCINNATI, - - 873,667.

GEN. H. D. WALKER (141 Madison Ave., New York), scarcely able to walk two blocks without exhaustion, and, having lost flesh heavily, began the use of Warner's SAFE Cure and says: "I was much benefited by it."

BAL. OHIO, (STATE.) - 633,158.

COL. JOSEPH H. THORNTON (Cincinnati, O.) in 1885 reported that his daughter was very much prostrated; had palpitation of the heart, intense pain in the head, nervous disorder and catarrh of the bladder. She lost fifty-five pounds. Other remedies failing they began the use of Warner's SAFE Cure, SAFE Pills and SAFE Nervine, and within three months she had gained fifty pounds in weight and was restored to good health. That was three years ago, and she is still in as good health as ever in her life. Col. Thornton, himself, was cured of Chronic Diarrhœa of eighteen years standing, in 1881, by Warner's SAFE Cure.

SOUTHERN STATES, - 3,534,017

C. H. Allen (Leavenworth, Kan.), son Edwin, two years of age, afflicted with extreme case of Bright's disease, and the doctors gave him up. By the advice of the doctor's wife, began the use of Warner's SAFE Cure, and after taking seven bottles he is perfectly well and has had no relapse.

CANADA, - - - 1,467,824.

ST. LOUIS, - - 1,550,527.

CAPT. GEO. B. WILTBANK (912 Spruce St., Phila., Pa.), prostrated in Central America, with Malarial Fever, caused by congestion of Kidneys and Liver. Delirious part of the time. Liver enlarged one-third. Stomach badly affected. Could hold no food; even water was ejected. Using less than a dozen bottles of Warner's SAFE Cure he writes, "I was completely cured."

KANSAS CITY, - 717,860.

MRS. (PROF.) E. J. WOLF (Gettysburg, Pa., Wife of the Ed. of the Lutheran Quarterly) began to decline with Pulmonary Consumption. (Over 50 per cent. of all cases of Consumption are caused by diseased kidneys.) Despaired of living. After a thorough course of treatment with Warner's SAFE Cure, she writes, "I am perfectly well."

BAL. S. W. STATES, - 746,789.

EX-SENATOR B. K. BRUCE (South Carolina), after doctoring for years for what he supposed was Malaria, discovered he was afflicted with Sugar Diabetes, and having obtained no relief whatever from his physicians, he began the use of Warner's SAFE Diabetes Cure, and he says: "My friends are astonished at my improvement."

SAN FRANCISCO, 1,242,346.

J. Q. ELKINS (Elkinsville, N. Y.) suffered for ten years from Gravel, which attacked him every six months. He lost 45 pounds in three months, and his strength was nearly gone. After a thorough use of Warner's SAFE Diabetes Cure he reports, "I am as well as I ever was, after using fourteen bottles."

BAL. PACIFIC COAST, 732,316.

☞ Every Testimonial we publish is genuine. Write to the testators, enclosing stamp for reply, and learn for yourselves.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

BUTTS—WILLIAMS.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. J. Williams, near Mechanicsburg, Yazoo county, Miss., January 19, 1887, by Rev. H. L. Scarborough, Mr. T. M. Butts to Miss Maud Williams, both of Yazoo county, Miss.

HOWIE—FISHER.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Edwards, Miss., January 26, 1887, by Rev. Inman W. Cooper, Mr. John B. Howie to Miss Jessie Fisher, all of Hinds county, Miss.

WARNER—SESSION.—At the residence of the bride's father, St. Helena parish, La., January 20, 1887, by Rev. J. W. Ellison, Mr. Nicholas S. Warner to Miss Theodora M. Session.

COLLEY—WEEMS.—At the residence of the bride's father, January 27, 1887, by Rev. H. R. Caldwell, Mr. W. A. Colley, of Vicksburg, Miss., to Miss Lula Weems, of Scott county, Miss.

HOUSTON—HOLTON.—At the hotel in Marion, Miss., February 3, 1887, by Rev. Ira B. Robertson, Mr. W. S. Houston to Miss Mary Holton, both of Claiborne county, Miss.

JONES—MILLER.—At the Methodist Church in Winter City, Miss., January 20, 1887, by Rev. J. L. Futrell, Mr. Samuel B. Jones to Miss Emily B. Miller.

WARREN—PRYOR.—At the residence of the bride's mother, Jackson, La., January 25, 1887, by Rev. T. A. S. Adams, Mr. James D. Warren, of Alexandria, La., to Miss Lizzie Pryor, of Jackson, La.

FLINT—LEONARD.—At the residence of the bride's father, December 20, 1886, by Rev. H. C. Parrott, Mr. William Flint to Miss Fannie Leonard, all of Attala county, Miss.

CLAITOR—WINTERS.—At the residence of the bride's father, January 27, 1887, by Rev. H. C. Parrott, Mr. Miles J. Claitor to Miss Willis M. Winters, all of Attala county, Miss.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

WALLACE—COURTNEY MARCELLA WALLACE, youngest daughter of Peter and Martha Quinn, was born in Homeville, Pike county, Miss., August 19, 1833. She was married to Dr. Jesse Wallace, March 14, 1850. Soon after her marriage she joined the Methodist Church in her native town. Soon after the death of her husband, the date of which is unknown to the writer, she moved to McComb City, Miss., where she remained until a short time before her death, which occured at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Julia Castello (nee Wallace), in Olean, N. Y., Wednesday, July 21, 1886.

The life of Sister Wallace was a happy success. She had the advantage of a liberal education. She was prepossessing in her appearance, and had a grace of manner, charm of conversation, real kindness of heart, and disposition, which enabled her to step with ease to the highest place in every social circle which she entered. While she took great delight in social life, yet she never suffered herself to be borne by its fascinations beyond the limits of Christian propriety. She always tried to use her influence for the advancement of the church and for the moral elevation of the world, with which she was in daily contact. In her social calls her last words were generally about the church and its interest: "Of course, you will be at prayer meeting." "Do not forget our service next Sabbath." These, and like expressions were constantly showing the trend of her thoughts. In this way she led many under the influence of the gospel, who, but for her kindly interest, would perhaps have never felt its power. Her piety was of a practical character, save a few silent tears now and then, under the word attended by the Spirit. She manifested no emotion in her devotions. Feeling that it was her duty to attend the services of her church, nothing but sickness could keep her away. Immediately after taking her seat in church she bowed a short time in silent prayer. Her presence was an inspiration to her pastor, for whom she always had a word of kindness and encouragement. It was a part of her religion to pay her assessments monthly. She has fallen asleep in Jesus, and, no doubt, has entered into the rest that remaineth for God's people. She leaves three daughters to mourn over their irretrievable loss, and to imitate, we trust, her bright example until they, too, shall reach the happy home which she has already entered through Christ her Savior.

J. T. NICHOLSON.

THOMSON—The subject of this obituary, Mrs. JOHN THOMSON (nee Ronseau) was born in St. Tammany parish, La., July 7, 1817. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1872 under the preaching of Rev. H. P. Bowen, of the Mississippi Conference; was happily married to Mr. John Thomson, of New Orleans, September 21, 1873.

During the pastorate of Rev. A. C. Coney, at Louisiana Avenue charge, New Orleans, and under the preaching of Rev. J. L. Wright, she was most powerfully converted, giving praise to God in the great congregation. Her life from her conversion to her glorification (which took place on the early morn of January 8, 1887,) was as the even flow of the deep, broad stream, indicating a source full and infinite as the fountain of life from which she spiritually drank to quench the thirst of her immortal nature. How true it is: we live to die, and we die to live. The very process of living, both physically and spiritually, is the process of dying. Physically, when we begin to live, we begin the process of dying, which incessantly continues until dissolution is complete. So spiritually, as soon as the life of grace, through faith in Christ, begins in the human soul, that soul begins to die to the world, and when the life of faith is perfect, the death to sin is complete; and thus living is dying, and dying is living. Our dear sister has realized the full completion of living to Christ and dying to sin, and of dying to time and living for eternity. In life's early meridian, with bright prospects for a happy future, in companionship with a loving husband, sweet, bright children and warm-hearted kindred, she has been called to her reward on high, and must wait for the blessed reunion which knows no parting to realize the fulfillment of her bright and joyous hopes while here on earth. Dear departed sister, we knew you to love you in the flesh, may we so live that we may know you and love you in heaven. May he who took the wife and mother to his bosom lead the husband and children to the same desired embrace!

H. F. WHITE.

GOFF—MRS. REBECCA GOFF was born November 10, 1823, and departed this life at her home, near Amerlens, Jackson county, Miss., January 17, 1887. Sister Goff embraced religion and joined the Methodist Church, of which she was a consistent member for nearly half a century. She was married to John M. Goff, February 15, 1852.

She filled well her station in every relation of life. As a wife, she was affectionate; as a mother, tender and kind; as a neighbor, noble and generous; as a Christian, her life was marked by a quietness and humbleness of spirit; and after having lived such a beautiful Christian life, no wonder she bore her afflictions with a moral heroism that was really sublime and met death with a firm Christian fortitude. Death had been deprived of its sting. She talked frequently and consciously of her approaching death, and expressed a willingness and a readiness to depart. Sister Goff has gone to her home in the paradise of God, leaving a husband and three children to mourn their irreparable loss; but their loss is her eternal gain. Weep not, beloved ones, as those who have no hope. Be faithful, and you will meet wife and mother in the Christian's Eden-home above, there to dwell among its bright rose-bloomings forever.

A FRIEND.

GERMANY—Resolutions passed by the Summit Quarterly Conference in regard to REV. WILLIAM H. GERMANY, M. D., who died at his home, near Johnston Station, Miss., January 21, 1887:

Whereas, God, in his wisdom and providence, has taken from our midst our faithful friend and brother, Rev. William H. Germany, M. D.: And, whereas, we already feel very greatly our loss in the death of this brother; therefore, be it Resolved, That in the death of Dr. Germany we have not only lost a skillful physician, but a useful servant of the church and an efficient minister of the gospel of Christ.

Resolved, That though this is a heavy stroke on the community and church, yet we bow in humble submission to this dispensation of Divine providence.

Resolved, That we commend our bereaved sister and children to him who is "a father of the fatherless and a judge of the widows," and pledge ourselves to support her in her sore trouble by our prayers.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished Sister Germany and family and also the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and that a copy be spread upon a page of the Quarterly Conference record, set apart, sacred to his memory.

DAVIS—CLARA, eldest daughter of Andrew and C. A. Davis, was born in Attala county, Miss., January 11, 1879, and died at the residence of her grandpa, Mr. John Henderson, on January 2, 1887.

She was at the proper age to be interesting to the family circle, and to exhibit her kind and gentle disposition, and to give signs of future pleasure and usefulness, when the kind hand of Providence came and took her to his shining home on high. We exhort the weeping parents to seek comfort in the promise of a blessed immortality beyond the grave.

W. W. WILLIAMS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BEAUTY of Skin & Scalp RESTORED by the CUTICURA Remedies.

NOTHING IS KNOWN TO SCIENCE AT all comparable to the CUTICURA REMEDIES in their marvelous properties of cleansing, purifying and beautifying the skin and in curing torturing, disfiguring, itching, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair.

CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, prepared from it, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, are a positive cure for every form of skin and blood disease, from pimples to scrofula. CUTICURA REMEDIES are absolutely pure and the only infallible skin beautifiers and blood purifiers.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; RESOLVENT, $1; SOAP, 25c. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

HANDS Soft as down, and as white, by using CUTICURA MEDICATED SOAP.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." —Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & CO.,

HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS: London, England.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver, for if the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirits are depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief; but the Regulator not only relieved, but cured.

H. H. JONES, Macon, Ga.

Demand the trade mark Z. Best guarantee for the buyer. J. H. ZEILIN & CO.

Prof. James H. Ayhurst, M. D.,

Member Royal College of Surgeons, Member Royal College of Physicians, Surgeon to the Royal Naval Hospital, writes: "LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC is certainly a very superior preparation * * * I have prescribed it very extensively.

Equally emphatic indorsements from thousands of the most eminent medical authorities from all parts of the world, among them being

Prof. Christian Von Vogel,

Knight of the Order of the Red Eagle, Knight of the Order of the Bavarian Crown, Physician to the Duke of Mecklenburg, &c., &c.

Prof. JOHN M. CARNOCHAN, M. D., LL.D.,

Professor of Surgery, New York Medical College, Commissioner Board of Health, New York City; ex-Health Officer Port of New York, Surgeon in Chief New York State Hospitals, &c., &c.

CAUTION—The Liebig Co. (Chemists to the Royal Family) were the first to prepare Coca Tonics. A horde of imitations under various names have sprung up. Be sure to ask for LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC.

NEW YORK DEPOT,

38 MURRAY STREET.

Premiums Awarded

—TO THE—

SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY

—BY THE—

N., C., and S. A. EXPOSITION.

FIRST MEDAL

For the Best Sewing Machine for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles, 15c per dozen; two dozen, 25c. All other styles, from 15c to 25c. Oil, 5c a bottle. Singer Shuttles, 25c each. Postage extra.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

S. E. RUNDLE, Agent.

A. Brousseau's Son,

23 and 25 CHARTRES ST.,

CHINA MATTING,

CARPETS,

INGRAINS,

LACE CURTAINS,

WINDOW SHADES,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS.

Fishing Tackle and Ammunition,

WOODEN AND WILLOW-WARE,

PAPER, ROPE, GLASSWARE,

HARDWARE.

Axle Grease,	Guns and Ammn.
Baseball Goods,	Oil Cans and Stoves,
Blacking and Blue,	Oyster Tongs,
Checks and Combs,	Perfumery and Soaps,
Corks and Bottles,	Rope Reels,
Croquet and Marbles,	Stationery,
Knives—pocket and table	Tinware,
Lamps and Trimmings,	Tinners' and Wick,
Lye and Sal Soda,	Whips and Ladies,
Mirrors,	Wire Goods.

J. C. MORRIS,

Nos. 40, 42 and 44 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.

Sole Agency South for the Celebrated Hickok Caledna Burners and Empire Co. Scales.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Philip Werlein's

135 Canal Street,

THE GREAT PIANO HOUSE

—OF THE—

SOUTH.

THE PLACE

TO BUY YOUR

PIANOS AND ORGANS

Greatest Bargains

NOW OFFERED.

GOODWYN'S

EUREKA YEAST POWDER

IT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

TRADE MARK

H F

I HAVE FOUND IT.

NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Dealers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is POSITIVELY PURE, EXCELLENT and BEAUTIFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. Its acid is the Best Grade Cream Tartar. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE by Doctors Wm. G. Austin, C. J. Bickham, J. J. Lyons, &c., &c., and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

Mrs. P. M. GOODWYN,

224 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.

JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.,

GAS FIXTURES,

PLUMBERS,

Steam and Gas Fitters,

—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—

HOME COMFORT RANGE,

TELEPHONE No. 965.

NO. 110 CAMP STREET,

New Orleans.

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.

Successor in Wholesale

—TO—

WHEELER & PIERSON,

No. 86 CANAL STREET,

New Orleans.

YALE & BOWLING,

WHOLESALE

DRY GOODS

—AND—

NOTIONS,

17, 19 and 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

WALL PAPER

In all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty. WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES, WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS, UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.

Framing Neatly Done.

PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS.

RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS.

EDWARD HEATH,

No. 75 CAMP STREET. NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

AMMONIATED RAW BONE SUPERPHOSPHATE.

PURE GROUND BONE.

200 Pounds to the Acre will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar, Cabbage and Orange Fertilizers.

Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Sterns's Fertilizing and Chemical M'f'g Co.,

14 Exchange St., New Orleans.

BIG PAY TO AGENTS

FOR INTRODUCING OUR GOODS EVERYWHERE. For Samples and Terms send 25 cents in stamps. Address all orders to

La. Wire and Iron Manufacturing Co.,

58 and 60 NORTH DERBIGNY ST.,

New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

Cash Capital.....$400,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1887.....429,600 30

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLA, Vice-President. SCOTT MCGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

John T. Moore, Jr., M. Schwabacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, F. H. Ernst.

T. J. CARVER. B. D. L. RAYNE.

T. J. CARVER & CO.,

Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants,

44 PERDIDO STREET.

The patronage of our friends and the public respectfully solicited.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House-Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 pieces	$10	American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 130 pieces	$12 00
Decorated Dinner Sets	From $12 to $45	Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape	2 50
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape	$4	Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape	3 50

Handsomely Japanned Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slop Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set. Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set. Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 5 cents to $2 00 a dozen. Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 9 cents to $2 40 per dozen.

New Store! New Goods!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youths' Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits; $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks.

Lowest prices and best goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S, 29 and 31 CAMP STREET.

FURNITURE!

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street.

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the most reliable remedy. Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country, but their short lease of life is merely ephemeral, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and parents are most frequently the unconscious cause of those hidden suppers and dinners. When using restlessly in sleep, grinding and grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indicative of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from earliest infancy, then to prevent—especially mothers who are more constantly with their children, cannot be too observing of the first symptoms of worms, for so surely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the most delicate infant, by the timely use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge. Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and use it in their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its uniform success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a safe purgative, to supersede the necessity of this illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged and immediate relief afforded. Great caution must be used by every purchaser to be his own judge in the case, and to examine every bottle before buying one of it. The simple name of Fahnestock is not sufficient. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. FAHNESTOCK, and be satisfied with nothing else.

NEW FRANKLIN, HOWARD CO., MO.

Messrs. J. E. Schwartz & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.

Gentlemen—I have used some of your most excellent remedy, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, and found it to have the desired effect. I think your vermifuge cannot safely be dispensed with in any family.

Yours, &c., J. W. THUMBARD, M. D.

CAMBRIDGE, MD.

Having used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is safe, reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed. THOS. H. HANBY, M. D.

VERMIFUGE

SUCCESSORS TO J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

EVERYTHING THAT IS NEW IN SEEDS

RARE IN PLANTS

is offered and described to our CATALOGUE No. 248, which this year we send out in an illuminated cover. The Catalogue is replete with new engravings of the choicest flowers and vegetables, many of which can only be obtained from us; and contains, besides, 2 beautiful colored plates, and very full instructions on all garden work. Altogether it is the best ever offered by us, and, we believe, is the most complete publication of its kind ever issued. Mailed on receipt of 10 cents (in stamps), which may be deducted from first order. Please be sure to order Catalogue by the number.

PETER HENDERSON & CO. 35 & 37 Cortlandt St., NEW YORK.

BURPEE'S FARM ANNUAL for 1887

It is a Handsome Book of 128 pages, with hundreds of illustrations, 3 Colored Plates, and tells all about THE BEST GARDEN, FARM & FLOWER SEEDS, BULBS, PLANTS,

Will be sent FREE to all who write for it. Send address on a postal for the MOST COMPLETE Catalogue published, to Thoroughbred Stock and Fancy Poultry. It describes RARE NOVELTIES in Vegetables and Flowers of real value, which cannot be obtained elsewhere.

W. ATLEE BURPEE & CO., PHILADELPHIA, PA.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS

It is universally acknowledged that we not only have the Largest but also the Finest Collection extant. We have visited England and the Continent for their Choicest Varieties, but still our special

JAPANESE

Importations & Seedlings surpass them all. Prices from $1 per dozen to $1 each. Seed from our finest named varieties, 25 Cents per packet.

ASTERS

Our collection is the largest and finest offered. Of all Asters, the finest are the "NEW PEARL" & 'Queen Marguerites' Pearl White } 25c. Pearl Rose } per packet

DAHLIA

GRACILIS THE Greatest Beauty AND Finest Novelty Of all Single Dahlias. Received this highest possible award of merit from the National Horticultural Society of France. 25c. per packet.

We are GROWERS, IMPORTERS, and practical cultivators of Seeds, Bulbs, & Plants. As growers, we have the advantage of knowing what is really meritorious; as importers, the advantages of business relations with all the leading specialists, and knowledge of where to BUY THE BEST of each particular article. It is our aim to please you, by giving you the advantages we possess. We mention a few in a long list, we think all pleasing, but refer to our general Catalogue, which we will Send FREE to all applying.

LILIUM TENUIFOLIUM

(Coral Lily of Siberia.) This is the brightest gem of all. Vermilion Scarlet. Delicate Wax-like Flowers. Foliage resembling a Fern frond. Blooms last of May. A picture. A basket in itself. 30c. each, 4 for $1.00.

New VERBENA Grandiflora (Mammoth) Single flowers as large as 25 cent pieces. Trusses enormous. Colors bright and varied. A great advance in this favorite flower. Sent 25cts. per packet. Very Scarce.

The new hardy hybrids. Finest mixed varieties, 10c. each, $1.00 per doz.

GLADIOLI

Our collection is the Finest in existence. LEMOINES HYBRIDS

V. H. HALLOCK, SON & THORPE,

EAST HINSDALE, NEW YORK.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending February 8, 1887.)

COTTON.

Low ordinary	6 7/8	@— —
Ordinary	7 3/8	— —
Good ordinary	8 1/8	— —
Low middling	8 9-16	— —
Middling	8 7/8	— —
Good middling	9 1/4	— —
Middling fair	9 3/4	— —
Fair	10 7-16	— —
Galveston middling	8 13-16	— —
Mobile middling	8 15-16	— —
St. Louis middling	8 7/8	— —

SUGAR.

Inferior	2 1/2	3 1/4
Common	3 5/8	3 3/4
Good common	3 5/8	3 3/4
Fair	3 7/8	4
Good fair	4	4 1/8
Fully fair	— —	4 13-16
Prime	4 1/4	— —
Strictly Prime	4 3/8	— —
Choice	4 1/2	— —
Seconds	4	4 3/4
Choice yellow	5 7-16	5 1/2
Gray White	— —	— —
Choice whites	— —	5 9-16
Stan. Gran	5 1/4	— —

MOLASSES.

Syrup, Open Kettle	— —	— —
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	42	43
Choice	— —	46

RICE.

Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —
Prime	3 5/8	— —
Good	3 1/4	3 3/8
Fair	3	3 1/8
Ordinary	2 7/8	3
Common	2 5/8	2 3/4
No. 2	2 1-16	2 1/8
Rough	2	2 80

FLOUR.

Minnesota bakers	4 62 1/2	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12 1/2
Extra fancy	— —	4 75
Winter wheat patents	— —	5 50
Choice	3 75	3 85
Fancy	4 15	4 25
Extra Fancy	4 30	4 40

CORN PRODUCTS.

Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 25	— —
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White	47	— —
Yellow	— —	47
Mixed	— —	47
OATS:
Western	37	37 1/2
Texas rust-proof	50	— —
BRAN:
₱ cwt	5	8
HAY:
Choice	16 00	— —
Prime	14 00	14 1/2

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess	13 3/4	— —
Prime Mess	12 75	13 00
Rumps	11 75	12 00
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	10	10 1/2
Shoulders	6 1/2	6 3/4
Sides, long clear	7 3/4	— —
Sides, short rib	7 7/8	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	11 1/4	12 00
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5 3/4	— —
Sides, long clear	7 3/4	— —
Sides, short rib	7 20	— —

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	16
Fair	— —	15 1/2
Common	— —	13 1/4
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	28	30
Western Dairy	21	22
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6 1/2	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12 1/2	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	36	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₱ head	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 90	— —
KROUT:
Western, ₱ bbl	— —	7
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	3 00	3 25

BAILING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
1 3/4 lb. per yd	7 3/4	— —
2 lb	8 1/2	— —
BALING TWINE:
₱ lb	10	— —
TIES:
₱ bundle	1 00	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	3 75	4 25
Young Chickens	2 00	3 00
Chickens, South'n	2 50	3 00
Young	1 75	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	9 00
EGGS:
Western	17	18
Southern	17	— —
WOOL:
Lake, per lb	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	12
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₱ lb	— —	7
Dry salted	— —	10 1/2
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₱ ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	35 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₱ lb	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1 3/4	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. HIGGS & BRO., 247 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

FEBRUARY 1.

The St. James Gazette denounced Lord Randolph Churchill as an unprincipled politician, who is playing his own game without regard for the interests of his party. The Standard congratulates Lord Churchill upon his speech in the House of Commons last night in the debate on the address to the Queen's speech, and says his effort was a success.——The British ship "Kupunda" collided with the British bark "Ada Melmore," near the coast of Brazil, and both vessels were sunk. 304 persons drowned.——Hon. J. H. Reagan was elected to the United States Senate by the Texas Legislature.——Mr. Calhoun Fliker, of Clinton, has been appointed Surveyor General of Louisiana.

FEBRUARY 2.

In London and Paris the markets are very unsteady and sensitive.——Quite a revelation of corruption has been made in the government at Quebec.——A Consistory will be held in Rome, March 7. Belgian government will ask Parliament for a credit of 50,000,000 francs for war armaments.——It is stated that a complete entente has been reached by Prussia and the Vatican on the solution of Church and State.——The Egyptian government has raised the blockade of the Soudan.——H. M. Stanley will leave Cairo on the eighth for Zanzibar. His total force will be 1,200 men.——The House Committee reported favorably on a bill for the organization of the Territory of Alaska.——A bill appropriating $10,000 to distribute seeds to the drouth-stricken portion of Texas passed the Senate. A bill passed the House authorizing the construction of a passenger bridge over the Mississippi at Dubuque, Iowa.——The Texas Legislature has appointed a committee to visit and report upon the destitution of the drouth district.——The Southern Telegraph Company was sold out to-day under a decree of the United States Circuit Court. The property was bought by J. B. Pace and J. S. Wise, of Richmond.——Strikes still continue in New York.——S. S. Cox continues to improve.

FEBRUARY 3.

The foreign markets very panicky.——Mr. Parnell's malady, is reported to be Bright's disease.——King George opened Parliament in person. He stated that the foreign relations of Greece were normal.——Stanley expects to reach Zanzibar on the twenty-first Lord Randolph Churchill has gone to Algiers for his health.——The strike still continues in New York. Traffic on the dock almost entirely suspended.——In the Senate Mr. Evarts introduced a bill for the purchase of John Ericsons "Destroyer," and ten steel vessels of same type for harbor defense of United States, and appropriating $112,000 and $2,000,000 for these purposes respectively.——The House passed the Senate Bill appropriating $50,000 for the erection of a public building at Greensboro, Ky.——Drummond Tobacco Co.'s warehouse in St. Louis burned; loss, $250,000.

FEBRUARY 4.

Germany promises peace.——Gen. Boulanger has been asked to resign.——The markets are firmer to-day.——The Vatican has advised the Centre party to support Bismarck and the Septenate Bill.——It is now settled that both Secretary Manning and Treasurer Jordan are soon to retire from the Treasury Department.——The President has approved the Presidential Succession Act, the Act authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Mississippi at St. Louis, and 14 private pension bills.——The Direct Tax Bill passed by the Senate.——Railroad Attorney Bill amended and passed by Senate.

FEBRUARY 5.

Austria, England and Italy have formed an alliance against Russia. Germany will join the alliance if France supports Russia.——Indications point to the early introduction of a bill in the Senate in regard to our coast defenses.——The President has approved the Act to provide for the erection of a public building at Wilmington, N. C.——Indian Appropriation Bill passed by the Senate.——A Vermont Central train thrown from a bridge by a broken rail. The wreck fired and burned. Fifty or sixty passengers roasted alive.——President Cleveland has signed the Interstate Commerce Bill.

FEBRUARY 6.

The panic over, there was a strong buying reaction and general animation yesterday in the foreign markets.——The inhabitants of Tipperary declare that eviction will not be tolerated in the future.——A French victory is reported from Tonquin.——Iron has been discovered at Duck Hill, Miss.——Slight earthquake shocks felt in St. Louis, Terre Haute and Louisville.——The bill on coast defense is in a Conference Committee. Mr. Randall has submitted a proposition, appropriating $2,000,000 direct for fortifications, and some $48,000,000 more contingent upon the success of certain trials and experiments of guns.

FEBRUARY 7.

Sir James Ferguson said in the House of Commons that the correspondence between England and the United States concerning the fisheries dispute would soon be laid before the Parliament.——By the advice of his physician, Mr. Parnell will go abroad to recruit his health after the conclusion of the debate on the address.——Cardinal Gibbons arrived at Havre yesterday.——A volcano is reported in the oil regions of Russia.——A bill passed in the House appropriating $125,000 for the completion of the public building at Detroit.——The Supreme Court has removed Judge Lazarus, and ordered him to pay costs of court.——The Supreme Court, none dissenting, declared the Sunday Law constitutional, and the law of the land.——Gen. Sherman celebrates his sixty-seventh birthday to-day.

PHYSICIANS prescribe Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm; in it they find no trace of opium or morphia, while its efficacy in curing all throat or lung diseases is wonderful.

Quarterly Conferences.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Sugar Town, at Dry Creek	Feb. 12, 1
Spring Creek, at S. C. Camp Ground (Wed.)	1
Alexandria	19, 2
Bayou Beouf, at Elm Bayou (Wed.)	2
Evergreen	26, 2
Melville, at Melville	Mar. 5, —
Trinity, at Bennett's School-house	12, 1
Centreville, at Centreville	19, 2
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 2
Montgomery, at Monigomery	Apr. 2, —
Ada, at Gray's Creek	9, 1

District stewards' meeting at Alexandria, February 19, 1887.

B. F. ALEXANDER, P. E.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brushwood, at Lanes	Jan. 29, 30
Arcadia circuit, at Arcadia	Feb. 5, 6
Douglas circuit, at Vienna	12, 13
Vernon circuit, at Oak Ridge	19, 20
Ruston, at Ruston	26, 27
Minden circuit, at Minden	Mar. 5, 6
Tulip circuit, at Tulip	12, 13
Haynesville circuit, at Haynesville	19, 20
Homer circuit, at Homer	26, 27
Farmerville circuit, at Farmerville	Apr. 2, 3
Summerfield circuit, at Alabama	9, 10
Downsville circuit, at Downsville	16, 17
Indian Village circuit, at Rebel	23, 24
Ringgold circuit, at Ringgold	30, May 1
Sparta and Saline, at Sparta	7, 8

The district stewards will please meet at the Methodist Church in Ruston, February 26, at three o'clock P. M.

ROBERT HANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Harrisonburg, at Harrisonburg	Jan. 29, 30
Winnsboro	Feb. 5, 6
Monroe and Delhi, at Delhi	12, 13
West Monroe, at West Monroe	19, 20
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	26, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof	Mar. 5, 6
Richland	12, 13
Lind Grove, at Bartholomew	19, 20
Oak Ridge, at Good Hope	26, 27
Floyd, at Oak Grove	Apr. 2, 3
Bastrop	9, 10

The district stewards' meeting will be held in the Methodist Church in Delhi, Wednesday, February 16, at 10 A. M.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Mansfield	Jan. 29, 30
Woodside and Ebenezer, at Ebenezer	22, 23
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane	29, 30
Pleasant Hill, at Sodue	Feb. 5, 6
Natchitoches, at Robeline	12, 13
Anacoco and Bellwood, at Holly Grove	19, —
Many and Sabina, at New Hope	19, 20
Coushatta, at Coushatta	23, —
East Point, at Coushatta Academy	26, 27
Red River, at Campo Bella	Mar. 5, 6
Shreveport, at Shreveport	9
Caddo at Friendship	12, 13
South Rossier, at Bellevue	16
North Rossier, at Concord	19, 20
Mooringsport, at Pine Hill	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Shreveport, on Thursday, March 10, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Methodist Church.

J. E. CASSITY, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Abbeville	Jan. 22, 23
Franklin	29, 30
Opelousas	Feb. 5
Washington	5, 7
Patterson ville	12, 13
La Fayette	19, 20
New Iberia	26, 27
Rayne	Mar. 5, 6
Lake Charles	12
German Mission	12, 14
Sulphur Mine	20, 21

S. S. KENNER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Felicity	Jan. 22
St. Charles Avenue	30
Carondelet	Feb. 5
Gross Tete and False River, at Rosedale	12, 13
German Charges, at Dryades Street	20
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaq.	25, 27
Algiers and Gretna, at Algiers	Mar. 5
Louisiana Avenue	12
Moreau	20
Carrollton and Parker Chapel, at Carrollton	27
Baton Rouge	Apr. 2, 3

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

North Wilkinson, at Hopewell	Jan. 1, 2
Amite, at Salem	8, 9
Clinton, La	15, 16
Jackson, La	15, 19
East Feliciana, at Oak Grove	22, 23
Wilson and Centreville, at Wilson	29, 30
Pipkin	Feb. 5, 6
St. Helena, at Pipkin Chapel	12, 13
Amite City, at Amite City	18, 19
Springfield, at Ponchatoula	20, 21
Livingston, at Palmetto...(Wednesday)	21
East Baton Rouge, at Beliuel...(Thursday)	24
Percy's Creek	26, 27
Woodville	27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar. 5, 2
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	5, 6

J. A. E. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Port Gibson	Jan. 1, 2
Rocky Springs	6, 9
Natchez, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Natchez, at Jefferson Street	16, 17
Washington	22, 23
Beachland	29, 30
Utica	Feb. 5, 6
Bovina	7, 6
Vicksburg	12, 13
South Vicksburg	14, 15
Fayette	19, 20
Cane Ridge	26, 27
Magnilia	Mar. 5, 6
Mayersville	12, 13
Nebo	19, 20
Rozia	21, 22

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Waynesboro and Slate Line	Jan. 2, 6
Winchester, at Winchester	8, 9
Shubuta, at Shubuta	15, 16
Clark, at Andrew Chapel	22, 23
Sandersville, at Sandersville	29, 30
Vossburg, at Vossburg	Feb. 5, 6
Paulding, at Paulding	14, 13
West End, at West End	19, 20
Meridian station	21
Stonewall, at Chensky	26, 27
Marion, at Marion	Mar. 5, 2
Lauderdale, at Lauderdale	12, 13
DeKalb, at DeKalb	19, 20
Blansville, at Scooba	26, 27
Enterprise	Apr. 2, 3
Adamsville	9, 10

The district stewards will meet in Meridian, Tuesday, February 22, 1887, at eleven A. M.

E. H. NORWORTHY, P. E.

SEASHORE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hattiesburg, at Hattiesburg	Jan. 1, 2
Poplarville, at Pop arville	8, 9
Flint Creek, at Garr'way's	15, 16
Whitlington, at Coleville	22, 23
Vancleava, at Ualon	29, 30
Americus at Cross Roads	Feb. 5, 6
Seichel, at Belhe	12, 13
Mt. Carmel, at Mt. Moriah	19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 27
Seashore, at Long Beach	Mar. 5, 6
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs	12, 13
Scranton, at Scranton	19, 20
Moss Point, at Moss Point	26, 27
Covington, at Covington	Apr. 2, 3
Pearlington, at Pearlington	9, 10

The district stewards of Seashore district, Mississippi Conference, will please meet me at (Scot's station) Long Beach, March 6, 1887, at 11 A. M.

T. S. WEST, P. E.

BRANDON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brandon station, at Brandon	31, Jan. 1
Forest and Morton, at Morton	8, 9
Lake, at Lake	15, 16
Newton, at Hickory	22, 26
Fannin, at Pelahatchia	29, 30
Marvin, at Marvin	Feb. 5, 6
Shiloh, at Clear Creek	12, 13
Westville, at Westville	18, 20
Trenton, at Trenton	20, 27
Raleigh	Mar. 5, 6
Nesholm, at Hester's	12, 13
Walnut Grove, at Walnut Grove	19, 20
Carthage, at Carthage	26, 27
Hillsboro, at New Providence	Apr. 2, 3

B. A. LITTLE, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Crystal Springs	Jan. 1, 2
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson	8, 9
Hazlehurst	15, 16
Brookhaven	22, 23
Summit, at Johnston	29, 30
Scotland, at Bethesda	Feb. 5, 6
McComb City, at Magnolia	12, 13
Bowerton, at Rehobeth	19, 20
Terry, at Bethesda	26, 27
Monticello, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 5, 6
Providence, at Sahala Chapel	12, 13
Franklinton at Tylertown	19, 20
Adams, at Adams	26, 27
Holmesville, at Holmesville	Apr. 2, 3

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Edwards, at Edwards	Jan. 1, 2
Raymond, at Bolton	8, 9
Benton, at Midway	15, 16
Silver Creek at James'	22, 23
Mt. Olivet at Shiloh	29, 30
Flora, at Flora	Feb. 5, 6
Spring Ridge, at Spring Ridge	12, 13
Camden, at Soule Chapel	19, 20
Madison, at Madison	26, 27
Yazoo City	Mar. 5, 6
Sharon, at Sharon	12, 16
Jackson	19, 20
Canton	26, 27

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

GRENADA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Oxford station	Dec. 25, 26
Water Valley	Jan. 1, 2
Coffeeville circuit	8, 9
Grenada circuit	15, 16
Grenada station	17
Minter City	22, 23
Sunny Side and McNutt	24
Carrollton circuit	29, 30
Pittsboro circuit	Feb. 5, 2
Atlanta circuit	6
Banner circuit	12, 13
Lodi circuit	19, 20
Sarepta circuit	16, 27
Tocopola circuit	Mar. 1
Charleston circuit	5, 6
Abbeville	12, 13

C. H. TERRY, P. E.

COLUMBUS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Starkville station	Dec. 26, 22
Tibbee, at Mayhew	Jan. 1, 2
West Point station	6, 2
Crawford, at Artesia	8, 9
Brooksville, at Brooksville	15, 15
Columbus circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	22, 23
Columbus station	23, 24
Macon station	29, 26
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak	30, 21
Starkville circuit, at Providence	Feb. 5, 6
Louisville, at Louisville	12, 12
Tampico, at Cedar Bluff	19 20
Chester, at Ackerman	26, 27
Platsburg, at Kilough Chapal	Mar. 5, 5
Sturges, at Sturges	12, 13
Hebron, at Cookeville	19, 20
Walthall, at North Ualon	26, 27
Salem, at Ridgaway	Apr. 2, 3
LaGrange, at Ebenezer	9, 10

R. G. PORTER, P. E.

ABERDEEN DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Okolona station	Jan. 1, 2
Verona and Tupelo, at Verona	8
Shannon circuit, at Palmetto	2, 9
Richmond circuit, at Andrew's Chapel	15, 16
Saltillo circuit, at Shiloh	22, 23
Pontotoc circuit, at Pontotoc	29, 30
Buena Vista circuit, at Concord	Feb. 2
Houston and Wesley, at Wesley	5, 6
Sparta circuit, at Palestine	12, 13
Ebenezer circuit, at Ebenezer	18
Okalona circuit, at Blackwell's Chapel	19, 26
Prairie circuit, at Lebanon	23
Aberdeen station	26, 27
Caledonia, at Pleasant Grove	Mar. 2
Athens circuit, at Friendship	6, 6
Tremont circuit, at Mt. Pleasant	9
Fulton and Smithville, at Smithville	12, 13

AMOS KENDALL, P. E.

CORINTH DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Baldwyn, at Baldwyn	Jan. 1,
Booneville and Rienzi, at Booneville	8,
Corinth station	15, 16
Corinth circuit, at Box's Chapel	18
Iuka circuit, at New Salem	20
Harmony circuit, at Harmony	21
Iuka station	22, 23
Kossuth circuit, at Kossuth	29, 30
Marietta, at Hodge's Chapel	Feb. 5, 6
Blackland, at Plezah	12, 13
Pleasant Ridge, at Friendship	19, 20
Ripley and New Albany, at Ripley	26, 27
Ripley circuit, at New Hope	Mar. 2
Jonesboro', at Jonesboro'	5, 6
New Albany circuit, at Lebanon	12, 13

J. B. STOKE, P. E.

WINONA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Richland, at Pickens	Dec. 18, 19
Kosciusko station	25, 26
West, at West	21
Valden, at Valden	Jan. 1, 2
Ebenezer, at Centre Grove	7
Durant and Lexington, at Durant	8, 9
Carrollton and Greenwood, at Carrollton	14
Winona	15, 16
Black Hawk, at Black Hawk	21
Sidon, at Jordan's Chapel	22, 23
Winona circuit, at Salem	29, 30
Newport, at Bethel	Feb. 6, 6
Sallis, at Springdale	12, 16
McCool, at Bethel	19, 20
Ethel, at Liberty Chapel	23
Newtonville, at White Hall	26, 27
Zilpha, at Wesley Chapel	Mar. 5, 6
Belzona, at Belzona	12, 12

R. F. MITCHELL, P. E.

SARDIS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Batesville and Wesley	Dec. 16 19
Sardis	25, 26
Como and Fredonia	Jan. 1, 2
Cockrum circuit	8, 9
Hernando and Cold Water	15, 16
Horn Lake circuit	22, 23
Lewisburg circuit	29, 30
Senatobia circuit	Feb. 5
Senatobia station	6, 7
Ohulahoma circuit	12, 13
Mount Vernon circuit	19, 20
Pleasant Grove circuit	26, 27
Munsdon circuit	Mar. 2
Eureka circuit	5, 6
Panola circuit	6

S. M. THAMES, P. E.

GREENVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Clarksdale	Dec. 19
Jonestown	26
Australia	Jan. 2
Cleveland	9
Panola	16
Lulon	23
Arcola	30
Concordia	Feb. 6
Mound Bayou	13
Bolivar	20
Friar's Point	27
Greenville	Mar. 6

District stewards' meeting at Greenville, March 6 1887, at eleven A. M.

J. W. HONNOLL, P. E.

HOLLY SPRINGS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Holly Springs station	Dec. 25, 26
Byhalia and Victoria, at Byhalia	Jan. 1, 2
Holly Springs circuit, at Waterford	6, 9
Marshall, at Institute Church	15, 16
Early Grove, at Hudsonville	22, 23
Olive Branch, at Center Hill	29, 30
Snow Creek at Ayers	Feb. 6, 6
Pine Mountain, at Soule Chapel	12, 13
Ashland, at Ashland	19, 20
Hickory Flat, at Ebenezer	26, 27
Emory, at Emory	Mar. 5, 6
Coraersville, at Bethlehem	12, 13
Shelby Creek, at Bethel	19, 20

JNO. BARCROFT, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Whistler	Jan. 1, 2
Franklin Street Church	9
Washington and Vernon, at Sunk Chapel	15, 16
Pleasant Valley and Creola at Pleasant Valley	22, 23
Bladon and Stephens, at New Hope	29, 30
Janey, at Jones' Chapel	Feb. 6, 6
St. Francis Street Church	13
Citronelle, at Citronelle	19, 20
Baldwin mission, at Sibley's Chapel	26, 27
Ellington and Grand Bay, at Allen's	Mar. 5, 6
St. Paul's	13
Grove Hill, at Grove Hill	19, 20
Suggsville, at Suggsville	26, 27

A. J. LAMAR, P. E.

PENSACOLA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Brewton and Pollard, at Brewton	Jan. 1, 2
Evergreen, at Evergreen	8, 9
Georgiana, at Wesley Chapel	15, 16
Monroeville, at Monroeville	22, 23
Montery, at Liberty	29, 30
Gravella, at Mt Uolon	Feb 2
Milton	6, 6
Pensacola circuit, at Warrington	10
Pensacola station	12, 13
Sepulga, at Asbury	19, 20
Powelton, at Powelton	26, 27
Douglasville, at Mt. Carmel	Mar 5, 6
Stockton, at Stockton	12, 13
Repton, at Hickory Grove	19, 20
Bay Minette at New Hope	26, 27

W. M. MOTLEY, P. E.

The objection to so-called proprietary medicines by physicians, is, that they promise to cure everything, and, that the patient must first know his precise ailment before anything can be taken safely. This is true, but does not apply to Shallenberger's Antidote for Malaria. It claims simply to destroy Malaria in the system, and has proven the claim abundantly. The symptoms of Malaria can not be mistaken by any one, and you don't need a physician with this remedy within your reach.

Minnie Hauk Buys a Knabe Piano.

Messrs. William Knabe & Co. are in receipt of the following substantial tribute to the merits of their instruments from the celebrated prima donna:

NEW YORK, December 20, 1886.

"Messrs. Wm. Knabe & Co.:

"Gentlemen—The grand piano you furnished me for my concert tour, just ended, has still further convinced me of the superiority of your pianos. They are, indeed, unequaled, and I have determined, therefore, to purchase the above "Grand" for my London residence, and have directed my agent to make the necessary pecuniary arrangements with you. Please make shipment by early steamer to my address, London, England, care of Messrs. Metzler & Co., and believe me,

"Your sincere friend,

"MINNIE HAUK."

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

A Good Music Teacher Will Use The Best Instruction Books.

There is no mistake about the great

RICHARDSON'S NEW METHOD FOR THE PIANOFORTE.

Sales nearly 400,000 copies! The favorite of thousands of teachers! Many times revised! The most correct of instruction books! Price $3.

Since the advent of "Richardson," many excellent instructors have been published, and have attained great favor. Pre-eminent among them are

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY METHOD, (Price $3, or in parts, each $1.50) and

Peters' Eclectic Piano School. Price $3.

The first book has had the important indorsement of the great Conservatory, and the second has sold immensely, solely on its own merits.

For Reed Organ, Clarke's New Method....$2 50
For Mandolin, Winner's Complete Method 75
For Zither, Winner's Complete Method.... 75
For Violin, Lidelmann's Method..... 3 00
For Flute, Kummer's Flute School..... 3 00
For Guitar, Curtiss Method..... 3 00
For Banjo, Curtiss Acme Method..... 1 25
For Cornet, Flute, Clarionet, Flageolet, Banjo, Accordeon, Violin, Guitar, Reed Organs, and Piano, Sep. Winner has prepared very good and easy Methods, costing 50 cents each. All are called IDEAL METHODS.

Mailed for Retail Price.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & Co., 867 Broadway, New York.

ARTIFICIAL EYES

Are Now so Perfectly Made That No One Can Distinguish Them from the Natural Eye.

The Artificial Eye is not only a beautifier, but it serves other excellent purposes.

It enables the eyelids to move as freely as ever.

It restores the functions of the tear passages.

It prevents the eyelashes from turning within, causing inflammation.

It prevents distortion of features, as happens always in case of a young person who has the misfortune to lose an eye—and sometimes in the case of older persons.

Mr. W. BOHNE, our Optician, has made a specialty of selecting and inserting them.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,

JEWELERS AND OPTICIANS, New Orleans.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidently made a preparation of Indian Hemp which cured his only child of CONSUMPTION. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that CONSUMPTION can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this recipe free, only asking two 2-cent stamps to pay expenses. This herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1,032 RACE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, naming this paper.

AN AGREEABLE APERIENT.

ROGERS'

DRY CITRATE OF MAGNESIA.

This Well-Known Preparation is

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

FOR

Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach and all Complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fever.

It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children.

Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists,

281 Bleecker Street, New York.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seltlitz Powders, etc.

FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

H. D. McCOWN,

DEALER IN

Mens', Youths' and Boys' Clothing,

HATS, SHIRTS,

AND

FURNISHING GOODS,

COR. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS.

New Orleans, La.

WANTED—Agents for Memoirs of R. E. Lee. J. W. EVANS & Co., 189 Camp St., N. O.

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION.

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886, with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Rates of board and tuition without music, one hundred and seventy-five dollars; with music, two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments, one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in similar proportion. If the entire bills for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Four pupils engaging a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the regular rates, and tuition in both literary and music department free of charge.

Special vocal training is not included in the regular lessons for music, but will be charged as an additional course in music.

In making engagements for the year, a club of four young ladies who wish to pay all in advance will receive board, tuition and one course in music for $173 25—a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue price; or by paying one-half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRACE, Pres.
S. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement,

—1887.—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash in full to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price.	Our price.
Southern Cultivator,	$3 50	$2 75
American Agricultural,	3 50	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos,	14 00	13 00

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 7. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1594.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. WEHLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HINNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

SOUTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. H. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WEIR, M. D.

WORK FOR THE FUTURE.

Each single struggle hath its far vibration,
Working results that work results again;
Failure and death are no annihilation;
Our tears absorbed will make some future rain.

True it is we may not live be story,
But we may be waves within a tide;
Help the human flood to near the glory,
That shall shine when we have toiled and died.

Therefore, though few praise or help or heed us,
Let us work with head and heart and hand;
For we know the future ages need us,
We must help our time to take its stand.

Let us toil on, the work we cave behind us,
Though incomplete, God's hand will yet emblaim,
And use some way; and the news will find us
In heaven above to sweeten endless calm.

Letter from South Carolina.

MR. EDITOR: My trip to the West in December, 1886, was a revelation to me. I had often heard of "the great West," and I had a glimpse of part of it in a flying trip to New Orleans in April, 1885; but I had not dreamed of the land and the people as I found them. Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and the portion of Tennessee visited—new to me—are fields of fairest promise, and they have attracted a people worthy of such a delightful region. I was charmed. Especially did I give up my heart to "the people called Methodists." I trust I am not clannish. I am sure I fell honestly in love with friends of other faiths, whom I met and with some of whom I sojourned. But—well—it was "not that I loved other Christians less, but Methodists more." Am I excusable? Let me continue my confession a little further. Of the Methodists who took the Benjamin's mess, the preachers got the larger share. In the beginning I felt that they knew exactly how to sympathize with me, and I at one drew towards them. Then they were so kind and brotherlike that I held back nothing. "Gilderoy," for instance, who surprised me because I had been reading after him and expected the royal mind and spirit I had found in him to be carried about in a bigger body. Despite the fact that he did not serve me right in turning out so much less in stature and weight than he should have done, I pocketed my disappointment and handed him my heart. And the saintly, gray-haired veterans, the sturdy men of full strength and of tested experience, and the warm-hearted young brethren—what could I do but love them a little more than other good folks? Doctor, you are an editor and know all things. Tell me, Do other preachers love their brethren as Methodists?

I would say something about the way that my former high opinion of the editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE grew into one still higher and developed sincerest regard and reverence; but I fear his modesty will strike it out, and if aught of this letter is printed, it must have something of the editor who was so thoughtful and kind; so I will forbear.

The Bishops, too, were so kind that I got over my timidity somewhat, and leaned up a little to them. Mississippi's last gift to our college, Missouri's chosen son, and our and Virginia's beloved—I saw them all, and said in each case, "He is every inch a Bishop." And I said the truth! God spare them long to the church over which he has called them to preside.

But I can not tell of the pleasure I enjoyed and the impressions I received. I will, therefore, turn from the impossible to what I may hope to do, and endeavor to give you a few items from South Carolina, and particularly of the old South Carolina Conference. Last year was a hard time with our people. Seasons were bad and crops were short. Our chief city was shattered by a ruinous earthquake. Small gains and heavy losses were the rule. And yet in their deep distresses our people took care of their preachers and laid on the altar of the church their usual share of the connectional contributions. How they did it, I do not know. Only the good God can tell.

Our Conference was held at Orangeburg, a small city about eighty miles from Charleston, and fifty miles from Columbia. Our Bishop was the Virginian won to the West—John C. Granbery. He was fully equal to the demands of his high office in cabinet, chair and pulpit. Is not that saying enough? As a consequence, he won our hearts and holds them with our consent. There was a larger number of changes in appointments than we have ever known before. But the common opinion was this: that this work was as well done as usual, better than sometimes. There were only two changes in Charleston: Rev. J. M. Boyd succeeded Rev. E. J. Meynardie, D. D., as presiding elder of the district; and Rev. LeRoy F. Beaty succeeded Rev. J. W. Dickson at Spring Street station. Some folks say there is no particular anxiety among the brethren to supplant those of us who have labored where the earth is not terra firma. I guess the jest has little foundation.

The most interesting announcement in the way of appointments was the transfer of Rev. James W. Wolling from our Conference to the Brazil Mission Conference, and his appointment to Piracicaba station—the post made vacant by the death of the lamented Koger. Bro. Wolling is one of our choicest men. He is a native of Charleston, graduated at Wofford College, and has filled important stations from his admission into the traveling connection. In every field he has served, his success in building up the church has been remarkable. Both the material and spiritual interests were improved in every case. He is an amiable, pleasant companion, an upright and manly man, a devotedly pious Christian, an able and tireless preacher of the gospel, and a zealous and successful winner of souls. His last year with us will be remembered. Without neglecting his own charge, he has been substantially the evangelist of the district in which his station was located, and he went as a flame of holy fire, rekindling altars which had grown cold and setting up others upon which the light and warmth of heaven descended. Numbers were converted and more were revived in the meetings held by him with his brethren. All the while his own charge was kept in a kind of continual revival. Verily in yielding him to this mission field, we have given of our best to the Lord!

Our memorial service was, like Carrill's music, "mournful to the soul," and yet a thrill of holy joy at the glorious lives and triumphant deaths of the departed was felt in many a heart. John Watts, Hugh A. C. Walker, Abner Ervine, George H. Wells, Charles Carroll Fishburne and James W. Koger had gone to their reward. Watts, a self-sacrificing pioneer of our church, who entered the Conference in 1825; Walker, whose sweet spirit and strong, clear judgment have so long charmed and guided us; Ervine, faithful and modest; Wells, true as steel to God and man, yet tender as a woman; Fishburne, whose tuneful lips, though so thrilling, never could voice the melody which sounded in his soul as he felt "Christ in him, the hope of glory," and Koger, the heroic missionary and holy man, who fell asleep in the land where Wolling is to labor—all gone—gone from us, gone to God and heaven and eternal life! It was needful for us to comfort ourselves by remembering that "God buries his workmen, but carries on his work."

And now I must close. After these tender memories, aught beside would seem profanation. With the spell on me as I write, I record for myself and my brethren in the West the prayer, "May I die the death of the righteous, and may my last end be like theirs." Amen!

JOHN O. WILLSON.

Letter from Kentucky.

The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, of January 27, has afforded me refreshment this second morning of February, 1887. Thunder upon the western sky before the day-dawn, and heavy clouds boiling up from the horizon, portend a day of rain and darkness. If one wish his sleep to refresh him so that he may have the hours before breakfast in studiousness or executiveness of power, let him eschew coffee, tea, wine and all other stimulants—eat temperately, and forgive his enemies. The question was asked Christ, "Who is my neighbor?" Suppose it were asked, Who is my enemy? Those against whom we are apt to feel most bitterly are those who know the worst of us. These come next in the bitterness of our thought to those whom we have at any time injured. We find it difficult to forgive one for our having injured him by word or deed. For the mind to be on search for justification for what we have perpetrated, occasions exaggeration of trifling things and readiness to over-emphasize all that in the least detracts. There are some words in our English language fraught with power, were they but permitted to define themselves to the heart—power that would draw Godward. Magnanimity! Generosity! Patience! Fortitude! Heroism! The term "faith" generalizes all these and others, so that if we have faith all things that are legitimate to us are practicable.

I've to attend a funeral at eleven o'clock to-day; that of a little boy, two years old. I saw him die in the physician's arms yesterday. Oh, that mother and those little sisters that stood around, wailing out their anguish! The father came in from the store, and, seeing the situation, dropped into a chair in the corner and hung his head in a silence that spread itself to all. Human helplessness! There are times when we realize it. Divine sufficiency! There are times when we realize that. It requires better preparation to speak at the funeral of a child than at that of a President. The little one lies just across the way from the parsonage, and the waking up of the little girls—sisters—this morning will be different from that of yesterday and the mornings heretofore.

Mrs. Jane T. H. Cross once wrote the expression, "This dear, sad world!" A likeness of her, clipt from an old copy of the "Home Circle," happened to be with this paper upon which I write; and, as I caught a glance at it just now, there came the charm of the memory of her over my soul. She was the elect lady of our Southern Zion; the beauty of her thought and sentiment, as discovered in her contributions to our literature, arching the firmament of Southern Methodism like the rainbow. I've imagined various commemorations of her. Some one above my capacity of conception may compass it, and its materialization may occur yet in a manner to operate inspiring and refining results in the education of our young women.

You will have seen that I'm engaged as corresponding editor on the Southern Methodist Standard, of Memphis. The Centenary, at Florence, S. C., has suspended publication. It was a typographical beauty, and had several regular contributors who were drawing attention rapidly. But—sail too broad. Capsize.

Bro. Moore, of The Standard, takes a ground start rather than a cloud start, as did the other Moore. Meek, of The Central Methodist, did the same, and now he's up along the hill-tops. Rush has gone back to the Alabama Advocate with McCoy, and he at the office and McCoy in the field, what may they not do? The two St. Louis papers are in a courteous rivalry—both superb. The editorials of the Nashville Advocate have recently been with a fine edge. I question if there was ever in a church, numbering as many as are enrolled in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, greater unity and harmony than now obtain.

I dropped you a few lines of correspondence from Jackson, Tenn., during the session of the Memphis Conference, in December. After the adjournment I was in demand for a lecture on "Ingersollism." Then I ran down to visit an uncle whom I had not seen since 1844. Through wind and ice and mud I made my way from Bell's Depot, twelve miles below Humboldt, four miles to Squire Lewis Daniel's. On announcing myself at the gate as his nephew, the old gentleman greeted me with tears, and we walked into the house, and after I thawed myself by a generous log-fire, conversation began and went on unctiously until I happened to mention the name of my uncle—Zadoc Daniel. "Who was he?" asked Squire Daniel. "Why, your brother, Zadoc, who was crushed in his mill at Eufaula, Ala.," I replied. "I had no brother, Zadoc," said he. This brought me to my feet. I gazed in astonishment, and he returned quite as searching one. "Are you not a son of Capt. Zadoc Daniel, of Warren county, N. C.?" "No, sir; I never heard of him." So I had gone all that way to visit a man I had never known. My Uncle Lewis, who had lived in that region and whom I had visited when a boy, had moved to Arkansas years ago. After discovery of the mistake, I had a royal time with the old gentleman, his wife and two daughters and two sons until a late hour. The old lady had been the mother of fifteen children. They are Baptists. I read the Scriptures and gave my theory of their teaching. As the old lady withdrew, hobbling across the floor on a crutch, because of rheumatism, she remarked in a voice that rings in my ear yet, "You've given me light on the Scriptures I never before had, and I'm very glad you have visited us." The chiming in of the Squire and the manifest pleasure of the young folks were grateful. I got into one of the big feather beds, and lay and laughed and wept. The next morning one of the two big cur dogs reared up nearly to my shoulders and seemed to inquire with a gaze like that of the Squire the night before. I had to tell him I was of another breed of dogs—no kin to him that I knew of. The Squire and the young folks shouted with merriment. As we rode in the buggy back to the depot next morning, the Squire laid his hand on my knee, and asked, "If a man were to join your church and wished to be immersed, you'd immerse him, would you not?" I answered, "Why, yes; I'd put him in soak the overnight, ride him on a rail, or do anything else to get him with me, if he was worth having." The Squire waked up the echoes with a whoop. When we reached the depot, he told it round to the people at the stores. A merry time was had over my visit to my Uncle Lewis.

JOSEPH B. COTTRELL.

CADIZ, Kentucky.

Letter from Bishop Galloway.

MR. EDITOR: Dr. Morton and I have reached this point en route to other appointments in our canvass in behalf of the Paine Loan Fund. Everywhere we have been cordially received, a favorable hearing accorded us, and the people have responded with liberal offerings. Many incidents of the tour might be of interest to your readers; but want of time will not allow them to go to record. Up to date subscriptions and cash payments have been secured amounting to $5,653 60—the work of seven days. The entire $10,000, which will constitute the fund, we hope will be raised this week. The following places have been visited and amounts received: Aberdeen, $1,200; Starkville, $270; Columbus, $570; Macon, $350; Meridian, $755; Natchez, $572 30; Vicksburg, $579 20; Greenville, $1,257 10. To these may be added one or two individual subscriptions. We leave in a few hours for Senatobia.

Fraternally yours,

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Feb. 14, 1887.

Mississippi Conference Minutes.

The following errors have been noticed in the pamphlet minutes of the Mississippi Conference Session, held in Port Gibson, December 15-20, 1886, viz:

The names of Harrison Bradford and Marshal J. Marble ought to appear in the answer to second question, "Who remain on trial?" The names of A. B. Nicholson, J. A. Godfrey and Thomas Price ought to appear in the answer to eighteenth question, "Who are superannuated?" Warren circuit is represented as having only 39 members; in default of more accurate information, I have changed it to the number reported last year—280. The grand total of members, including the number added to Warren circuit, is 30,265, instead of 30,315 as printed in the minutes. The net increase of members is 2,387 instead of 2,494.

I made these corrections in reporting the minutes to the Book Editor at Nashville.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Central Mexican Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

MEXICO DISTRICT.—W. M. Patterson, P. E. Mexico, Antonio Lopez; Texcoco circuit, to be supplied (by Margarito Olivares); Nochiaca circuit, Domingo Romero; Amecameca circuit, Loreto Morales; Tejedixpa circuit, to be supplied (by Nicholas Espinosa); Tula circuit, Primitivo Martinez; Huichapa circuit, to be supplied (by R. Dominguez); Tolymbaleo circuit, Higinio Lozada; Toluca, F. F. Aguilar; Tenango circuit, H. M. Cuevas; Rincon circuit, J. B. Alarcon; editor of El Evangelista Mexicano and other Spanish publications, W. M. Patterson.

PUEBLA DISTRICT.—David W. Carter, P. E. Puebla, Donaciano Paz; Orizaba, Alberto V. Vega; Matamoras circuit, Sostenes Suarez; Tochimilolco circuit, F. G. Gonzales; Acatzingo circuit, to be supplied (by Agustin Ortiz); Cuernavaca, S. M. Reyes; Tlamila circuit, Feliciano Maya; Yautepec circuit, Alberto Roldilete; Jojutla circuit, Pablo Terrazas; Alpuyuca circuit, Apolonio Rios.

GUADALAJARA DISTRICT.—J. W. Grimes, P. E. Guadalajara, Angel Blanco; Tlajomulco, S. Ramos Tovar; Ahualulco, A. Portugal; Tecolotlan, D. Sandoral; Tequila, S. Vera; San Pedro circuit, to be supplied (by S. Figueroa); Tepic circuit, to be supplied; Ateigo circuit, Juan Uribe; Atoyac circuit, to be supplied (by F. Reyes); Cuyutlan circuit, Juan Flores.

OAXACA DISTRICT.—T. del Valle, P. E. Oaxaca circuit, T. del Valle; Etla circuit, José Oliva; Zaqhila circuit, D. O. Monsalvo.

SAN LUIS POTOSI DISTRICT.—Joseph Norwood, P. E. San Luis Potosi, Joseph Norwood, Aguascalientes, Luis G. Prieto; Leon and Lagos, B. G. Reyes; Mexquitic circuit, Cruz Martinez.

MICHOACAN DISTRICT.—Carlos C. Abeyro, P. E. Morello, C. C. Abeyro; Puruandero, R. E. del Valle; Uruapan, A. Gomez; Tacambaro, to be supplied; Patzcuaro, to be supplied; Acambaro, to be supplied.

Fear not, lest thy life come to an end; but, rather, lest it never begin.

Current Coins.

(Central Christian Advocate.)

We can have no true view of God until we study his earthly manifestation in the person of Christ. Not till then can one certainly affirm that he is the Heavenly Father, that God is love. There can be no doubt that religion has taken on a new and larger form in Christianity. They who accept Christ enter into a conscious personal relation to God and an assurance of salvation that few attained under the law. But it comes through the exercise of faith, not because of the dispensation in which we live.

(Christian Intelligencer.)

We believe in hand-picking for souls. It is, in the end, more saving, and consequently more profitable. The only hindrance to successful and wide-reaching hand-picking is lack of hands. Given the necessary number of willing hands, and the largest crop may be garnered. To save an orchard of ripe fruit a prudent farmer will put on extra hands. To save a ripened harvest of souls the Master of the harvest calls for more laborers. The law and its workings are identical in nature and in grace. Had it been otherwise, Christ would surely have told the church. In God's wisdom the gospel of salvation is to be carried forward in the world through individual effort. It is to be proclaimed to every creature, not to large masses.

(Interior.)

From any view of life which takes away the significance and value of living, whether it be by the way of a philosophic Brahminism or of a modern scientific nescience, the human spirit will insist on a recoil and reaction. If nothing better is open to choice, it will prefer nothingness. But something better is open. To Christian science and revelation the heavens are open. No wonder the signs are becoming abundant, that the thinking world is beginning to say to agnostic forms of science: If that is the best you can do, we will close the book of science and go back to an older book that does disclose a reason for our present life, alike in its own moral dignity and in the future for which it is the preparation.

(Standard, Chicago.)

It seems on some accounts a strange thing that the subject of personal religion should be so difficult of introduction in ordinary conversation. On other grounds it does not seem so unaccountable. "The invading of another's personality," to use the significant phrase once used by Dr. F. W. Goodspeed, which is necessitated in a pressure of the claims of religion, is no small matter. It is the courage of strong men to take a city; it is the boldness of one who would "leap over a wall." On the other side the wall, however, usually imaginary, and on the inside of the citadel, whose gate is often set ajar, there is a hospitable welcome, in most cases, to the interlocutor. How many who have shrinkingly at last broken the painful silence, have been surprised to learn that their friend or neighbor has been only waiting for such Christian overtures?

(Southern Churchman.)

We are tolerant of a man's acts, knowing so well how hard it is always to do what is right. But not knowing how hard it is to believe right (for most take their religion upon hearsay) they have no patience with those who, with great effort it may be, have learned not to say the prevailing shibboleths. No patience with such, and so in old times they called them "miscreants;" that is, people who could not say their creed; missed their creed and were miscreants. No two persons in all the world believe alike; it is not possible. So if we meet with those who differ from us in belief, let us be tolerant; it may be they are more worthy in the sight of God than we. Yet blessed is that man who can say his creed; who can say with full heart: "I believe in God; I believe in Jesus Christ and in the Holy Ghost." Yes, blessed is that man; so far as he is a believer. Flesh and blood revealed it not to him, but the Father who is in heaven.

(Congregationalist.)

We should like to see all who profess to be Christians exhibit a more sincere consecration, and put forth more genuinely vigorous and persistent efforts for the conversion of the world. Thus far we have been laboring for Christ as if with eyes half-shut and fettered hands. Once in a while some individual, or some church, has waked up and set at work in earnest, and everybody else has been amazed at the promptness and the magnitude of the results accomplished. If we all would try this to make good our professions, the cause of Christ would advance among men with rapid, conquering strides. We need to cultivate a keener moral sense. Gossip and frivolity, if not positive scandal, still hold our attention too often. Trickeries and sharp practices too often conquer our scruples. We need to develop a degree of personal independence which shall reduce the claims of fashion and social usage to something like their just proportions. We need to pray more, and to study our Bibles more devoutly. We need to realize that sinners of our own sort, as truly as any others, must cultivate a sincere penitence and an ardent faith.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1887.

SUMMER IN THE HEART.

(An old wife's love story.)

Dearest heart, the leaves are falling,
And the summer burneth low;
And I hear the crickets calling
While the twilight taketh slow
Once again the flowers are dying,
And the glad birds southward start,
But no cause have we for sighing,
For 'tis summer in the heart;
Yes, 'tis summer in the heart;
Bird and bloss'm may depart,
But our love will hold forever—
Glad, sweet summer in the heart.

Winter snows will soon be lying
Cold and white on vale and hill;
Winter winds will soon be sighing
Through the branches, bare and chill;
But the icy breezes never
Freeze the life that's all impart,
For our love doth keep forever
Glorious summer in the heart.
Yes, 'tis summer in the heart,
Snows may fall and tear-drops start,
But the soul that loves forever
Keepeth summer in the heart.

Hand in hand, through life together,
You and I have journeyed long;
Laughing at the stormy weather,
Meeting trouble with a song.
Sorrows, storms have beat around us—
Oft we've felt the tear-drops start,
But wherever trouble found us,
Love kept summer in the heart;
Yes, 'twas summer in the heart,
Grief might come and joys depart,
But the sunshine lingered with us—
Love made summer in the heart.

So at last when death shall find us
Watching, waiting, hand in hand,
With life's summer-time behind us,
And our feet upon the strand—
Though upon the shores we ever,
Drifting for awhile apart—
We shall meet and be forever,
Endless summer in the heart.
There 'll be summer in the heart;
Though awhile we drift apart,
Love will bring, beyond the shadows,
Endless summer in the heart.

Cheap Publications.

During the last five or six years there has been more call, in the newspapers and otherwise, in our church for wide distribution of cheap pamphlet, tract and leaflet literature than in double the same period in all time before. The last round of Annual Conferences is over, the General Conference for the last quadrennium is over, and we are now, in this respect, very nearly, if not quite, where we were in this branch of church enterprise four or eight years ago. Several memorials went up to the General Conference from various parts of the church, praying for the inauguration of a colportage plan, or system; but the General Conference did nothing on the subject—that is, nothing that was not already done.

There are two ways to conduct this enterprise. The one is to exhort preachers and others to become colporteurs, to buy and sell such cheap printed matter as they can best find it. This we have been doing from the first, and, to say the least, in this way, our tract distribution does not increase, if at all, in a degree to meet public expectation. The other is to inaugurate a system of operation which has been talked about considerably and is believed to contain elements of success. Its advocates believe that it can be so worked as to be of considerable benefit to the Publishing House specifically as well as to the church generally. An outline may be glanced at briefly as follows:

Let the Publishing House make it the business of some one man connected with the House to prepare literature for this especial purpose; some, perhaps one or two or more hundreds, can be culled out of some of the stock now on hand. Let it all be of uniform title-page—about three or four different size pages—each size to have a vignette page, so as to distinguish the whole as a unique and specific class of literature uniform in appearance. These will soon be increased to a thousand, more or less. In matter and form, to be neat and attracting. This entire class of colportage tracts to be furnished by the House to colporteurs, under suitable, but liberal regulations at minimum cost, so that all the direct profit will accrue to the colporteur. This will probably increase the distribution a hundred or a thousandfold. Millions of these will be circulated every year. In this way we will occupy the steamboats, railroads, hotels and other public thoroughfares. Hundreds of boys of ten and fourteen years can be engaged in it.

The advantage to the Publishing House will be in advertising it and its business. In a year or two it will become known to ten or a hundred or a thousand persons for every one now. This is an advertising age. To this point I attach almost unspeakable importance.

Our Publishing House, as a publisher, is not generally known. It is well known to a few thousand, less known to a few hundred thousand, and a million or two have heard of it in a vague, incidental kind of way. And yet it has almost a monopoly of more than one-third of both the population and business of the United States. What could be more profitable to the House than to diffuse this information thoroughly throughout the great thoroughfares of intelligence and general business? To fail to carry this knowledge and force its attention on the great outside masses is to fail to publish its business. To confine this knowledge, in a thorough and practical way, to a few thousand preachers and a few thousand lay families, is to hide its light under a bushel. How many somewhat regular, direct and indirect customers has the Publishing House? Perhaps the number is not much greater, or not over twice or thrice as great as the number of all the patrons of all the church newspapers; and I do not know that this is a hundred thousand! Then where are the millions?

A million of cheap publications would cost from half a cent to one or two cents apiece—say, $10,000 or $20,000, and, if furnished to colporteurs at cost, would probably be scattered in one, two or five thousand places in the course of a year, and more or less over the whole Southern country. This distribution could be had without cost to the Publishing House, or with very little cost; and it would publish the book business of the House in places where it is now unknown, or very little known, more than all the publishing agencies now existing.

Our Sunday-school publications do not circulate generally at all. They are confined to strictly Sunday-school circles, and are, therefore, not seen or read to any considerable extent by reading people.

The Advocates, except that at Nashville, furnish very little information about the Publishing House. They have plenty of other employment.

This (Hancock) county is by no means among the most populous, reading or literary portions of Mississippi, and yet I think likely, from what I have seen, that it now contains more advertising almanacs for 1887, gratuitously distributed by a single firm, than of catalogues of our Publishing House that have been printed in several years past. If the former makes money in this way, why can not the latter?

A celebrated vender of scented, rose-colored, ten-cent whisky—a boasted and notorious fraud—is said to be worth eleven millions. Forty years ago he was a peddler in the streets of Pittsburg. More than ten carloads of his almanacs for 1887 have passed through Mississippi, going southward for gratuitous distribution. He not only pays for his "cheap publications," but pays for the distribution of them. He knows how to make money.

One or two carloads of catalogues sent out from the Publishing House at one time would be quite a noteworthy occurrence, and yet it would be a mere bagatelle as a supply for a not very large region. A business operating over half the United States must count things by the million.

I do not believe it would be difficult to put 50,000 subscribers on the books of the Nashville Advocate. And yet I do not believe that mere importuning on the part of the preachers, or offering ten-cent premiums, is likely to do it very soon.

R. ANDEY.

GULF VIEW, Mississippi.

More about Selling Our Books.

MR. EDITOR: It does seem strange to me that our preachers are not more intent on disseminating our church literature. The children of this world are wiser in this matter than we are. I never enter a train on one of our longer railroads that some one does not come round directly with an armful of trashy novelets, picture books and obscene pamphlets to sell among the passengers. Their persistence at their trade is evidence of their success, though I am told they have to pay high for license to carry it on. But whoever sees anybody offering to sell religious books or tracts in a car or a steamboat? Those who sell frothy, and often demoralizing, literature have a monopoly of this trade. Why can not Christian people do something in this line with our catalogue books? But our main dependence is, and should be, on our regular pastors. They are all obligated to attend to this as one of their most important duties. There is nothing like bringing the books to the people, putting them in their hands and reminding them of their privilege and duty to buy.

I know of many of the children of some of our old Methodist families who are leaving our church and going into or patronizing other churches. As our church is as purely evangelical in doctrine and usage as any church on earth, I know not why this is so, unless it is because while their parents want them to be Christians, they take no pains to make them Methodist Christians by supplying them with our denominational literature. When we lose our children in this way they are generally lost to our church in all time to come.

At our late General Conference a law was passed authorizing "each Annual Conference to provide a system of colportage best suited to its necessities." I had long believed that something of this sort would have to be done to facilitate the sale of our church literature; as the old plan of doing it through the pastors had become a complete failure in most places, and, seeing that some Conferences were employing colporteurs very successfully, it occurred to my mind that we might do the same, and I drew up a plan as carefully guarded at every point as I knew how to make it, and presented it to the Conference with a request that it might be read and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals. But some one proposed that it be referred to a special committee of three, which was done. This committee, after keeping it on hand several days, brought in what purported to be a report on my paper about corportage; but it was no report on that paper, except to say there were some difficulties in the way of corportage, and then the committee went off into a rather long talk about what the Publishing House could and should do in the way of making a uniform family library of neat little volumes and publishing a large amount of very cheap tracts for distribution among our people. And then the General Conference was arraigned and a good deal said about what it might have done, but did not do, in regard to the interests of the Publishing House. Just here some one saw there was no relevancy between the report of the committee of three and my paper on corportage, and moved to lay the whole thing on the table, which was instantly done almost unanimously, and here my dream about having, at least, two active colporteurs engaged in selling our church literature in our Conference this year past off into thin air and we dropped back into the same old rut of doing but little with this very important branch of our itinerancy.

Oh! how I would like to know that all our preachers would do their best this year in selling our denominational books and extending the circulation of all our church periodicals. Come, dear brethren, wake up on this subject. Selling our catalogue books is a part of our itinerant system. Your pastoral charges consist mostly of from one to four or five congregations. You do nearly all of your preaching on the Sabbath, and it seems to me that between Sabbaths, in connection with your pastoral visitations, you might sell a good many books and get a good many subscribers for our church papers if you could only get in earnest with this part of your work. No more on this subject for the present.

J. G. JONES.

HAZLEHURST, Mississippi.

A Blunder.

Not long since I was receiving some applicants into the church. Among them was a lady to be baptized. She had a child in her arms. I asked if she desired to have her babe baptized also. She said she did, and that she had another. When it was brought, I saw they were twins. After baptizing the mother, I began the ceremony for "Ministration of Baptism to Infants." Arriving at the proper place, I said, "Name this child." The mother said, "Bro. W., we have not named the children!" I replied: "We will have to postpone the service unless you can now name them. Have you thought of no names?" She said, "No, sir." Her sister, standing in the congregation, said, "Bro. W., you name them." I hesitated at being called on to do instanter what the mother had halted at for eight or nine months; so I said: "I fear I might not give names that would please. I might even give a name that some of the family are prejudiced against." The mother said, "I will be satisfied with the names you give." The sister in the congregation said, "Bro. W., you know plenty of pretty names." The names, Mary and Florence, that are as sweet and pretty to me as any names on earth, floated into my mind. So, with some slight emphasis, I said, "I will call them Mary and Florence." And as I began again the ceremony the mother said, "Bro. W., they are boys." There was a sudden halt, some confusion, slight embarrassment, and then I began again on the other side of my own family: "Heard W., I baptize thee," etc. "Thomas W., I baptize thee," etc.

When I returned home I told my boys I had named some little children after them: that I had called one "Heard," and the other "Tom." One of them said, "Papa, why didn't you call one Willis?" I said, "Son, there was not enough of them." If there had been another, I suppose he would have borne the name of my other boy. To the young preachers I will say: Ask the name first (it's the best way); then begin the ceremony.

T. S. W.

Woman's Missionary Society.

RESOLUTIONS ON DORA RANKIN.

On December 10, 1886, Miss Dora Rankin, beloved worker of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died suddenly at her post in China. She died in great peace. Her last words were: "I am ready and willing to go;" "God has been good to me;" "He giveth his beloved sleep."

Death is always sad, and the death of one in the beauty of young womanhood is attended with peculiar sadness. But, when prepared for the enjoyments and employments of heaven, when the short life has been filled with consecrated service to our Lord, when such an one falls on sleep in the midst of heroic labors in the vanguard of the Master's beloved church, then there is much to mitigate the sorrow, to cheer the hearts of loved ones, and render a name honored and beloved of God and man.

Resolved, That while we can not know the way of our Father in his providence, yet we believe we will yet see that all things work together for good to those who love him.

Resolved, That we render sincere sympathy to the bereaved family; to the Christian mother who withheld not her own children at the first call of the church, to the bereft sister who is in deep sorrow in a distant foreign land.

Resolved, That we fervently pray the Master to raise up laborers, such as Miss Dora Rankin, for this field so white unto the harvest.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family of our departed sister, and that they be published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

MRS. WM. H. WATKINS,
Pres. W. M. S.

MRS. W. A. GUNNING,
Secretary.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Feb. 8, 1887.

Increased Violation of the Sabbath by Railroads.

I have heard it most emphatically denied that Sabbath breaking was on the increase. Looking no further than the State of Mississippi, and confining our observation to one industry, I think we can not evade the conclusion that the Sabbath-desecrating population is on the increase in the land. I suppose at present the mileage of railroads in operation in the State will aggregate something like two thousand miles. I have been told that there is an average of five hands to every mile of railroad. This includes section hands, shop hands, brakesmen, together with all the train officers, agents and attaches in and about depots. This aggregates a force of, say, ten thousand men and boys. They are not all compelled to work regularly every Sabbath; but I understand the last one of them is liable to be called out for regular hard work or business on any Lord's day—from the quiet of his family circle, the pious devotions of his closet, or the sacredness of public worship, and he must go to the call or forfeit his situation—that is, if we can conceive of a man ever employing himself religiously on that or any other day who is under contract to violate it when called upon, for such is the demand by the corporations of every employee who goes into their service.

The railroads now being extended and those in course of construction will increase the present aggregate of mileage in the State to, say, three thousand miles. This will swell the Sabbath-breaking population of our commonwealth to fifteen thousand; for every mile of railroad over which rolling stock passes for the purpose of trade and commerce means five Sabbath breakers added to this force of thousands under bargain to violate the sanctity of God's holy day. If the present plans of railroad building are carried out as now contemplated, this force of Sunday workers will equal by two or three thousand more than three-fifths of the present numerical force of the standing army of the American Union. (This in one State.) We are disposed to hail with patriotic enthusiasm the rapid advance of these great internal improvements and the development of the vast resources of our State and country; but while their advancement extends a barrier to the gospel in reaching the souls of thousands of our citizens, adding to the number who must know no Sabbath, we must know, if the word of God is true, a judgment in some guise follows in its wake and drags at its chariot wheels thousands of victims to a more deplorable end than was the king of conquered Troy.

DUCKWORTH.

Woman's Missionary Society, Rodney, Miss.

Whereas, In the latest number of the Woman's Missionary Advocate we have seen the short, but beautiful and touching notice of the death of one of our youngest and earliest missionaries, Miss Dora Rankin; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we sincerely regret her death, and while we know that her loss will be keenly and widely felt all over the mission fields, we can not but feel that the pure young life so nobly consecrated to the service of her God, though forever ended in this world, has found a full and beautiful completeness in the better world to come.

Resolved, That each member of this society wear a badge of white crape upon the left arm for the period of thirty days—white being typical of the young life which has just passed away.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent on immediately to the Woman's Missionary Advocate, another to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

MAGGIE HARPER.

MRS. ALICE WILLIAMS,
President.

RODNEY, Miss., Jan. 10, 1887.

From the Work.

FANNIN, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: I believe it has become fashionable among the Methodists to show their appreciation of their pastors by what they call pounding or storming him. We have become victims of one of these pleasant surprises. But we can not call ours either a pounding or a storming: for the good people of Fannin—Methodist, Baptist, and those that were not members of any church—from six months old up to sixty years, came in quietly upon us the night of January 25, each one bringing his or her bundle, weighing from one to fifteen pounds, consisting of ham, eggs, rice, sugar, flour, sausage, pickles, canned and dried fruit, potatoes, soap and towels, and numerous other things for the preacher and wife, and there was corn for Fannie and Jewess, the pony. We were reminded on Thanksgiving and Christmas Days of two good Presbyterian ladies in the way of two fat turkeys.

We certainly have some noble people at Fannin. They believe in taking care of the preacher. We have some of the greatest workers among the ladies for the cause of Christ I have ever known. The Ladies' Wesleyan Society at this place reseated their church last year, which cost them about one hundred and fifty dollars. They piece quilts, knit socks, and do any kind of work they can to make money for the church. If the male members were as much interested in the church as the ladies are, this would be one of the first circuits of the Mississippi Conference, though we have some noble workers among the brethren. We are to have a church at Pelahatchie soon. We have never had a house of worship of our own there. I believe the pastor, aided by some of the good brethren and the Ladies' Wesleyan Society at that place, have succeeded in raising a sufficiency to put the church in a condition to worship in. We expect to be able to worship in it at the next appointment.

MARY CLARK.

FEBRUARY 1, 1887.

("If the male members were as much interested in the church as the ladies are, this would be one of the first circuits of the Conference." Suppose we put it this way: "If the ladies were as little interested as the male members—what would become of the church in many places?"—ED.)

HARRISONBURG, LA.

MR. EDITOR: As I have a few friends left behind who are readers of the "dear old ADVOCATE," and who perhaps would like to hear from us, I thought I would ask a small space in one of your columns for a few lines. We took the train at Gibbs, January 22, expecting to make close connection with some Ouachita boat at Monroe, bound for Harrisonburg; but on account of low water the boat failed to reach Monroe, so we had to wait just one week for a boat. We were quite misput. Bro. William Hart came over to our boarding-house, and had wife and me go with him, and took our son, Bobbie, around to Bro. Meredith's. Bob had a good time, and so did we; so last Saturday we boarded the John H. Hanna and reached here at 3 o'clock P. M. on the Sabbath, where we found Bro. Harper, the elder, and Bro. Holloman and others on the bank awaiting our arrival. The good people here came promptly to our help, and we are to-night cosily and comfortably situated in our little home with household and kitchen furniture. We have been visited with one of those "cyclones," "storms" or "showers" about which the preachers of late have had so much to say in the papers. From the "signs of times" I opine that somebody will have to weary in well doing if this preacher finds any ground of complaint. God bless this people, and you, too, Doctor.

W. P. KIMBALL.

FEBRUARY 4, 1887.

WINONA, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: Reading from the pens of so many of the good brothers and sisters of their "poundings," I feel constrained to say something. We have not had what they call "storms" and "poundings"—for I suppose our people seeing that we, like Zachens of old, are small of stature, think we could not stand one—but the good things come in daily. We found provisions ample in the pantry to last us several days, and some things weeks, without making any purchases. Our meat bill since our sojourn of seven weeks among them has not exceeded fifty cents, and still there are chickens in the coop. We feel that our lines have fallen this year to us, as it has always been, in pleasant places. My only fear is that we will not, in our feebleness, prove ourselves worthy of their great kindness.

The Woman's Missionary Society held a memorial service in honor of our much-loved and deeply lamented Dora Rankin last night. There were original essays read, and brief addresses by Bros. R. P. Mitchell and C. N. Terry, with appropriate songs interspersed. After the beautiful song, "Cast thy burden on the Lord," the thrilling "Appeal for China," by Mrs. McGavock, was read. An opportunity was then given to those who desired to make donations to help in this great work, which resulted in a nice collection. We trust the service will prove a blessing to this community. Pray for us.

Yours truly,

MARY C. WYATT.

It has been well said that "the church of Christ is the heir of her own past." She rightfully inherits the heroic loyalty, the noble self-sacrifice, the grand martyr-spirit, the devout piety and the brotherly affection of the "cloud of witnesses," who have bravely borne her banners and battles for the kingdom of Christ from Pentecost until now. Their conquests are her joy, their deeds her examples and encouragements, their mistakes and deficiencies her warnings. In their histories the church has a lesson book luminous with instruction in that it shows her beauty, her strength and her growth to have always been in proportion to the strictness of her obedience to the precepts of her Head.—Northern Christian Advocate.

Shameful Abuse

HEAPED UPON A NOTED ENGLISHMAN FOR HIS OPEN HONESTY.

Wm. Ed. Ronson, M. D., L. R. C. S. I., M. K. Q. C. P. I., late of the Royal Navy, of England, has got into professional trouble for writing the following open letter to the editor of the London Family Doctor:

"I believe it to be the duty of every physician to make known any means or remedy whereby sickness can be prevented, and it is for this purpose I write to give my experience both here and abroad. I ask the publication of the statement that people may be warned before it is too late, to say to them that there is at hand a means by which they may be restored to perfect health. It is well known to the medical world, and indeed, to the laity, that a certain disease is making a terrible havoc; that next to consumption it is the most fatal, and that when fully developed there is nothing to be done for the sufferer."

"Physicians and scientists have long been trying to throw light upon the cause, and if possible, find in nature a medicine for this fatal malady. They have shown, absolutely, that the blood-purifying organs of vital importance, are the kidneys, and that when they once fail, the poison which they should take out of the blood is carried by the blood into every part of the body, developing disease."

"In my hospital practice in England, India and South America, and also while a surgeon in the Royal Navy of Great Britain, I gave a great deal of attention to the study of diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs, and found that not only was the cure of chronic Bright's Disease hopeless, but that kidney disease was remarkably prevalent; much more so than generally known, and was the cause of the majority of cases of sickness, and further, that the medical profession has no remedy which exerts any absolute control over these organs in disease."

"Some time ago when I had a case which resisted all regular treatment—which is very limited—complicated with the passing of stones from the kidneys, much against my will I permitted my patient to use Warner's safe cure, of which I had heard marvelous results. In his case the result was simply marvelous, as the attack was a severe one, and development very grave, for an analysis showed per cent. of albumen and granular tube casts."

"The action of the medicine was singular and incomprehensible to me. I had never seen anything like it. The patient recovered promptly, and is today a well and healthy man. This stimulated my inquiry into the merits of the remedy, and after analysis I found it to be of purely vegetable character, harmless to take under all circumstances."

"Casting aside all professional prejudice I gave it a thorough trial, as I was anxious that my patients should be restored to health, no matter by what medicine. I prescribed it in a great variety of cases, Acute, Chronic, Bright's Disease, Congestion of the Kidneys, Catarrh of the Bladder, and in every instance did it speedily effect a cure."

"For this reason I deem it my duty to give to the world this statement regarding the value of Warner's safe cure. I make this statement on facts I am prepared to produce and substantiate. I appeal to physicians of large practice who know how common and deceptive diseases of the kidneys are, to lay aside professional prejudice, give their patients Warner's safe cure, restore them to perfect health, earn their gratitude, and thus be true physicians."

"I am satisfied that more than one-half of the deaths which occur in England are caused primarily, by impaired action of the kidneys, and the consequent retention in the blood of the poisonous uric and kidney acid. Warner's safe cure causes the kidneys to expel this poison, checks the escape of albumen, relieves the inflammation and prevents illness from impaired and impoverished blood. Having had more than seventeen years' experience in my profession, I conscientiously and emphatically state that I have been able to give more relief and effect more cures by the use of Warner's safe cure than by all the other medicines ascertainable to the profession, the majority of which, I am sorry to say, are very uncertain in their action."

"Isn't that a straightforward, manly letter?"

"Indeed it is."

"Well, but do you know the author has been dreadfully persecuted for writing it?"

"How so? What has he done to merit it?"

"Done? He has spoken the truth 'out of school' and his fellow physicians, who want the public to think they have a monopoly in curing diseases, are terribly angry with him for admitting professional inability to reach certain disorders.

"That letter created a wonderful sensation among the titled classes and the public. This jarred the doctors terribly. The College of Surgeons and Queen's College, from which institution he was graduated, asked for an explanation of his unprofessional conduct, and notified him that unless he made a retraction they would discipline him.

"The doctor replied that he allowed his patients to make use of Warner's safe cure only after all the regular methods had failed, and when he was satisfied that there was no possible hope for them. Upon their recovery, after having used Warner's safe cure, he was so much surprised that he wrote the above letter to the Family Doctor. He regretted that the faculties found fault with his action in the matter, but he could not conscientiously retract the facts as written to the Family Doctor.

"The faculties of both colleges replied that unless he retracted they should cut him off, which would naturally debar him from again practicing his profession and also prevent his securing another appointment in the Royal Navy!"

The illustrious doctor's dilemma is certainly an unpleasant one, emphazing, as it does, both his own honesty, and the contemptible prejudice and bigotry of English medical men. The masses, however, having no sympathy with their nonsense, keep on using the remedy he so highly recommends and get well, while the rich and able depend upon the prejudiced doctors and die!

The Home Light of the Future.

The wonderful progress recently made in the applications of electricity to lighting apparatus of all kinds, but especially the invention of the incandescent electrical lamp, induces one to predict that in a few years all of our homes will be brightened by the presence of electrical light, with an increase of comfort and good health that is now hardly imaginable. The flickering and overbrightness of the arc-electrical lamp, such as may be seen in our public squares, is different from the steady, mild, glow of the incandescent burner, and the latter has the same advantage as regards the effect upon the complexion. The first shines with such a vivid blue glare as to cast an unnatural pallor over the countenance, while the second gives a positively becoming hue to the same.

The following are a few of the advantages over gas: The electrical lamp consumes no oxygen, and hence does not vitiate the atmosphere, as do gas, kerosene lamps and all candles. One gas jet consumes as much oxygen as do six human beings, hence we may easily calculate the speed with which a brilliantly lighted-up parlor becomes close, and the advantages offered by a rival light that abstracts from the atmosphere no property that fits it for human existence. In a large school, where incandescent electrical lamps have been in constant use for three years, it has been found that this light was admirable for the students' purposes, and many cases of eye-disease had actually been cured by the relief that its use afforded.

The popular prejudice against electricity as an agent to be introduced into the household, on account of supposed danger to life, is proved to be without foundation. The wires that introduce the electrical fluid into the house are so perfectly insulated as to prevent the least danger from such a source, and even if this were not so, the current required for this kind of light is not strong enough to injure even an infant if it should chance to touch the conducting wire.

The incandescent flame burns within an air-tight glass globe, and if this globe be broken, the light will instantly go out, in consequence of the admission of oxygen, before it can set fire to the most inflammable article. The sulphurous fumes emitted by gas, injure far more than we realize, furniture, gilding, pictures, etc., exposed to its baleful influence. Librarians and booksellers unite in affirming that the injury done to books in leather bindings is very serious, and the injury done to fine goods exposed to gaslight, costs our tradesmen a similarly heavy loss. Plant life and gas are diametrically opposed, as those of us know full well, who strive, winter after winter, to keep a few flowers blooming in one's sitting-room. Cut flowers are under the same ban, and fade so quickly as rarely to be used as personal ornaments, desirable as this would be under other conditions.

One great point of superiority that this mode of lighting possesses above all others, is the ease ease with which one may manipwithout danger of injury to himself or the house. And then the beauty of the light surpasses all others, and has wonderful adaptability to decorative purposes. The difficulty at present is, that only the wealthy can afford the expense of setting up a solitary electric plant for the use of a private residence. The majority must await the establishment, in their immediate neighborhood, of an electric light station. When once established, the electrical will be the cheapest of all lights for domestic use, as well as the most perfect.—American Agriculturist.

Reasons for Christian Rejoicing.—The Christian has power. He has taken hold of the arm of God. What can he not do or bear through Christ strengthening him? But does he enjoy his possession? Does he use this power for the increase of his own happiness or that of his friends? He may be like a man who owns a steam engine and yet saws his wood and threshes his grain by hand all grumbling and unhappy because of his self-imposed task. This is the secret of some blue Mondays and dull prayer meetings, and weary wrestling with Christian duties. There is needed a healthy realization of the Psalmist's confidence: "The Lord is on my side, I will not fear."

The Christian has riches. It is written, "All things are yours." All belong to his own Father. The possession is secured through faith. Let him enjoy it. Let him hear the command: "Rejoice, and again I say, Rejoice." "Rejoice because your names are written in heaven." Let him consider what manner of love has been bestowed upon him. There are no treasures to be compared with his in present value. When the shrewd merchantman had found and secured the priceless pearl, he was not gloomy over the bargain he had made. He knew he was to be congratulated. He had parted with his possessions, but he had gained manifold. Let him go home with joy. Let the Christian enjoy his wondrous fortune.

The Christian is heir to a great estate. He is of the blood royal. This may be true of an earthly prince who yet has no real enjoyment of his position. A king of Europe, deposed, recently committed suicide. Many a time a king has sought to disguise himself and to hide, as Manasseh did, among the thorns. Royalty was not enjoyed.

It should not be so with a Christian. Let him rejoice that his name is "Israel," a prince. Let him enjoy his exaltation. It will nerve him for the struggle of life. It will make any sacrifice of a Christian life unworthy of mention in his estimate. None of these things will move him who realizes what it is to be a child of God.—Advance.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of a costive habit are subject to Headache, Defective Memory, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which unfits the sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect heart's ease that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not act its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, sore throat, stiff neck pains in the chest and back are cured by Abrams' Arabian Liniment. This Liniment is a powerful stimulant, and thorough in its action. For sprains or cramps it has no equal. Its action is quick and effective. Be sure to get Abrams' Arabian Liniment. For sale by all Druggists.

BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR!

Most happily meets the demands of the age for woman's peculiar affections. It is a remedy for WOMAN ONLY, and for one SPECIAL CLASS of her diseases. It is a Specific for certain diseased conditions of the womb, and so controls the Menstrual organs as to regulate all derangements and irregularities of her Monthly Sickness. The proprietors claim for this Remedy no other medical property. It is strictly a Vegetable Compound, the finded prescription of a learned physician whose specialty was FEMALE DISEASES, and whose fame became enviable because of his success in the treatment and cure of female complaints. Suffering women, it will relieve you of nearly all complaints peculiar to your sex.

For sale by druggists. Write for book, "Message to Women," mailed free.

Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

A Permanent Cure

For KIDNEY DISEASES

PROVIDED BY NATURE

IN THAT GREAT REMEDY,

KIDNEY-WORT

When the kidneys become clogged or torpid, disease quickly gains foothold, because these organs are nature's sluiceway through which all poisonous humors are washed out of the system. MANY DISEASES affecting other organs are also caused by these humors being forced into the blood, causing terrible suffering. LIVER COMPLAINT, PILES, CONSTIPATION, RHEUMATISM, etc., may all be brought about in this way.

☞ If you are sick, or feel tired out or low-spirited, and need a tonic, cathartic, or blood purifier, nothing will do you so much good as KIDNEY-WORT.

LIQUID OR DRY. SOLD EVERYWHERE. $1.

Dry sent, postpaid, by sole Proprietors.

H. H. WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., BURLINGTON, VT.

WINCHESTER'S

HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME AND SODA is a matchless Remedy for Consumption in every stage of the disease. For Coughs, Weak Lungs, Throat Diseases, Loss of Flesh and Appetite, and every form of General Debility it is an unequaled Specific Remedy. ☞ BE SURE AND GET WINCHESTER'S PREPARATION. $1 and $2 per bottle. Sold by Druggists.

WINCHESTER & CO., Chemists,
162 William St., New York.

Queen and Crescent Route.

New Orleans and Northeastern R. R.

Shortest and Quickest Line to

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST, ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTHEAST.

Time Table in Effect December 31st, 1887.

Trains North B'd. Read Down		Flag Stations marked thus†	Trains South B'd. Read Up
No. 8.	No. 6.		No. 5.	No. 7.
10 40am	8 05pm	Lv N. Orleans ar	3 00pm	7 35am
11 14am	9 10pm	...S I Cut...	2 00pm	6 30am
11 57am	9 53pm	Pearl River †	1 17pm	5 14am
12 15pm	10 9am	...Nicholson... †	1 02pm	4 57am
12 49pm	10 45am	...Mitchell... †	12 pm	4 26am
12 30pm	10 0pm	...Ridgelake...	1 12pm	5 37am
1 07pm	10 36am	Poplarville	12 34pm	5 10am
1 24pm	10 51pm	...Gilfeather... †	12 17pm	4 46am
1 33pm	11 05pm	...Pitcher... †	12 0 pm	4 30am
1 49pm	11 19pm	...Talowah... †	11 52am	4 21am
2 04pm	11 36pm	...Purvis...	11 38am	4 09am
2 13pm	11 35pm	...Okahola...	11 27am	4 00am
2 26pm	11 47pm	...Carter... †	11 16pm	3 48am
3 0 pm	11 59pm	Hattiesburg	11 0am	3 35am
3 16pm	12 14am	Estabuchee †	10 46am	3 20am
3 35pm	12 21pm	...Tuscamola... †	10 36am	3 10am
3 46pm	12 32am	...Ellisville...	10 17am	2 53am
4 00pm	12 57am	...Laurel...	10 03am	2 37pm
4 17am	1 15am	Sangersville †	9 45am	2 20am
4 33pm	1 30am	...Heidelberg...	9 29am	2 04am
4 42pm	1 37am	...Vossburg...	9 22am	1 50am
4 54pm	1 48am	...Barnett... †	9 11am	1 40am
5 09pm	1 56am	...Pachuta... †	9 03am	1 29 pm
5 20pm	2 10am	...Enterprise...	8 47am	1 13pm
5 38pm	.....	Citronelle	8 27am	.....
6 06pm	3 00am	...Meridian...	8 00am	12 40pm
10 30pm	7 45am	Tuscaloosa	3 47am	8 50pm
1 40am	10 00am	Birmingham	1 40am	5 35pm
3 57am	1 05pm	Attala	10 31pm	2 14pm
7 53am	5 55pm	...Chattanooga...	6 40pm	9 58am
1 50am	1 15am	...Somerset...	12 50pm	2 27am
2 44pm	2 40am	...Junction City...	11 35am	12 57pm
4 15pm	4 00pm	...Lexington...	10 22am	11 20am
6 42pm	6 45am	ar Cincinnati lv	7 55am	8 10pm

JNO. C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup., Meridian.
H. COLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Passr. Agt., Cincinnati, O.
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Pass. Agt., Cincinnati.
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent.
31 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

Queen and Crescent Route.

—TAKE THE—

Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE. Quicker in Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

SPLENDID EQUIPMENT!
MAGNIFICENT COACHES!
PULLMAN BUFFET SLEEPERS!
TRAINS ALWAYS ON TIME!

See that your Tickets read over the

Mississippi and Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to,

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and T'k't Ag't. JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass Ag't.
MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific Co.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN
NEW ORLEANS,
HOUSTON,
GALVESTON,
SAN ANTONIO,
EL PASO,
OLD AND NEW MEXICO,
ARIZONA AND
CALIFORNIA POINTS.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH

Pullman Palace Sleepers

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—AND—

SAN FRANCISCO,

Piercing the most beautiful part of

SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address:

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, General Manager. J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traffic Manager.

GENERAL OFFICES:
Cor. Magazine and Natchez Sts., New Orleans.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad,

—THE—
GREAT THROUGH LINE
—FOR—
PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT
to all Points
NORTH, EAST AND WEST.

The only Line running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS through from New Orleans to Cincinnati, St. Louis, Memphis and Chicago without change of Trucks.

Only one change to New York and Eastern Cities.

The only direct Route to St. Louis, Chicago and all Points North and West. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other Line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, elegant COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY
—AND—
RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—

DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Calliope Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 6:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 2, 8:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Pass. Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
J. G. MANN, Superintendent.

THE GREAT

Kennesaw and Shenandoah

VALLEY ROUTE

(East Tenn., Va., and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs, N. C., or Staunton, Va.

BAGGAGE CHECKED TO DESTINATION.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:55 A. M. and 8:05 P. M.

For Schedules, Circulars, Sprigs' Guide and general information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Southern Agent, Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans.
B. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Knoxville, Tenn.

—THE—

Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to

NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN,
—AND—
CENTRAL TEXAS,

and all Points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves at 7:30 A. M.
Arrives at 7:15 P. M.
This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.
Texas and California Express leaves 6:00 P. M.
Arrives 10:30 A. M.
This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.
Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $140.00.
The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.
For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.
B. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.

Queen and Crescent Line.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN RAILROAD.

—THE SHORT LINE FOR—

Freight and Passengers

—TO ALL POINTS—

North and East and in the Northwest.

LOW RATES AND QUICK TIME ON FREIGHT TRAFFIC.

The Model, Modern Thoroughfare.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Main Boudoir Buffet and Sleeping Cars.

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—TO—

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA AND CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10:10 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7:35 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press and Levee.

Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St. Charles St., N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.
H. COLBRAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agent, Queen and Crescent Line, Cincinnati, O.
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent.
A. F. BARNETT, Contracting F't Agt.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ARTIFICIAL EYES

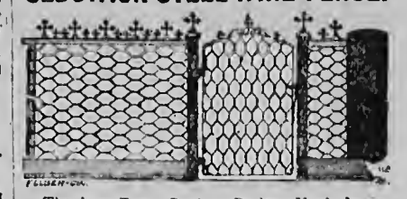
Are Now so Perfectly Made That No One Can Distinguish Them from the Natural Eye.

The Artificial Eye is not only a beautifier, but it serves other excellent purposes.
It enables the eyelids to move as freely as ever.
It restores the functions of the tear passages.
It prevents the eyelashes from turning within, causing inflammation.
It prevents distortion of features, as happens always in case of a young person who has the misfortune to lose an eye—and sometimes in the case of older persons.

Mr. W. Boline, our optician, has made a specialty of selecting and inserting them.

A. B. GRISWOLD & CO., JEWELERS AND OPTICIANS, New Orleans.

SEDGWICK STEEL WIRE FENCE.



The best Farm, Garden, Poultry Yard, Lawn, School Lot, Park and Cemetery Fences and Gates. Perfect Automatic Gate. Cheapest and Neatest Iron Fences. Iron and wire Summer Houses, Lawn Furniture, and other wire work. Best Wire Stretcher and Plier. Ask dealers in hardware, or address, SEDGWICK BROS., RICHMOND, IND.

TRAVEL VIA

Burlington Route C.B.&Q.R.R.

Through Trains with Dining Cars, Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars, Modern Coaches. Sure connections in Union Depots at its terminal points, with trains from and to the East, West, North and South. Cheapest, Best and Quickest Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis to

DENVER, SAN FRANCISCO, OMAHA, KANSAS CITY, CITY OF MEXICO, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS, PORTLAND, ORE. ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON.

For Tickets, Rates, Maps, &c., apply to Ticket-Agents of connecting lines, or address

T. J. POTTER, 1st V. P. H. B. STONE, G. M. PAUL MORTON, G. P. & T. A.

For handsome Illustrated Burlington Route Guide Book send 6c. postage to the G. P. & T. A., Chicago, Ill.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for

PLATFORM ECHOES

or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART,

By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, brim full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and good, full of "laughter and tears." It sells at sight to all. To it is added the Life and Death of Mr. Gough, by Rev. J. EXMAN AGNOTT. 1000 Agents Wanted.—Men and Women. $100 to $200 a month made. ☞ Distance no hindrance as we give Extra Terms and Pay Freights. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

RUPTURE

Have you heard of the astounding reduction for Dr. J. A. SHERMAN'S Famous Home Treatment, the only known guarantee comfort and cure without operation or hindrance from labor! No steel or iron bands. Perfect retention night and day, no chafing, suited to all ages. Now $10 only. Send for circular of measurements, instructions and proofs. Get cured at home and be happy, office 704 Broadway, New York.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expense, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE

FERRY'S SEEDS

Their Seeds are regular Leaders of good.

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it. Address D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

CORRESPONDING EDITORS:
REV. T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. L. SAWYER.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1887.

Briefs.

Dr. Harper, the editor of the Old Testament Student, conceived the idea of finding out how much Bible study was done by ministers of the gospel, and what kind of study it was. He addressed a printed form, containing certain questions to 1,200 ministers of five denominations, Congregationalist, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Episcopalian. The returns from the circulars exhibit some curious facts. The calculation being made upon the basis of one thousand, it was found that the number of ministers interested in dogmatic theology was 242; number interested in church history, 252; number interested in New Testament exegesis, 287; number interested in Old Testament exegesis, 55; number using the Revised Version, 366; number using the Old Version, 426; number using both versions, 208; number giving a certain allotted time, outside of doctrinal reading and sermon preparation, to both Old and New Testament study, 412; number giving no special time to Bible study, 288; number who have read the entire New Testament in English one or more times, 790; number who have read the Old Testament in English one or more times, 636; number who have done expository preaching, 624; number favoring the teaching of the English Bible in the theological seminaries, 888. There are here some very curious facts—curious because so unexpected. The fact brought out that only 412 out of 1,000 ministers are studying the Bible is very curious indeed. That is, not one-half of the ministers of the gospel are studying the gospel! This curious fact lets light in upon the curious preaching that we sometimes hear! It is said of Apollos, that he was "mighty in the Scriptures." His knowledge of the Word of God was the source of his power, because it was a knowledge of the Holy Ghost who abides in that Word. The minister who neglects the study of the Word, insults the Spirit who gave the Word, and his accompanying presence and power are withheld from the preaching. One thing we often forget, and that is, studying about the Bible is not Bible study.

Judge Roman, of this city, in passing sentence lately upon a man who had been convicted of embezzlement, and whom the jury had recommended to the mercy of the court, said as follows:

Recommendations for mercy on the part of juries are not binding on the court to which they are addressed. Especially is it so when the evidence has been overwhelmingly in favor of the State and against the accused, as was clearly the case throughout this trial. The court would lose sight of and fail to perform its duty, were it to heed at all the jury's appeal in your behalf. Justice, not mercy, is what the court should first look to, in order to be worthy, in its own estimation, of the trust reposed in it.

For these reasons, and by virtue also of section 905 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Louisiana, the court does, therefore, sentence you to imprisonment at hard labor in the State Penitentiary for the term of seven years, and to pay costs of prosecution.

That's a good phrase—"Justice, not mercy, is what the court should first look to." If more of the courts in the land would adhere strictly to the sentiment in that sentence, there would be fewer brazen-faced embezzlers.

A Young Man's Prayer.

He had been brought up in the way he should go. He had been instructed in the nature and obligations of the religion of his fathers. When he was about twenty years old his father died, leaving him to succeed to the rulership of a great and growing people. His youth and the greatness of the responsibility of his sudden elevation to the perils of government turned his mind and heart to the only source of help in such an emergency. Feeling the pressure of heavy obligations, and lack of experience in the grave duties which opened before him, and conscious of a want of knowledge of the ways of right rulership, he goes to the God of his father to seek wisdom to guide him in his capacity as king and ruler. His words before the Lord were: "Give thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad."

Here is directness. He felt his need. He knew who could supply that need. He applied to that One. He asked for what he needed. Nothing can be better for a ruler than the ability to discern between the "good and bad" in legislation and in the execution of law. He wanted an "understanding heart" for a specific purpose. It was not that he might be reputed wise, but that he might know the good and discern the bad. As a ruler, his prerogative was to "judge the people," and in order to do this for the people's welfare, he must have an understanding to discern their necessities and the best means to administer to them. Hence his simple, direct prayer: "Give me an understanding heart to judge the people, that I may discern between good and bad."

The most of us are engaged in our life-work. We have the example and the success of Solomon to encourage us to pray the same simple, direct prayer for the proper qualification to do that work successfully. What every worker needs, is an "understanding heart" for his work, whether that work be to rule or to serve. In one of the oldest books in the Old Testament there is a passage in point right on this line: "There is a spirit in man, and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding." In one of the latest books of the New Testament it is said: "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God, and it shall be given him." One of these was verified and the other anticipated by the success of Solomon. When we pray this prayer we honor the Holy Ghost, for he is called the "Spirit of wisdom" and the "Spirit of a sound mind," and it is his prerogative, and only his, to bring knowledge to an effective application in the work of life. Solomon prayed for wisdom to rule, and, whatever we may think of his private life, we can not deny that his rulership was a complete success. God's blessing of an understanding heart is the only thing that can insure success. It is remarkable that so few people seek this special blessing of God for their work, and right here we can see the reason for so many failures in life-work. A failure here means a failure forever. A success here means everlasting success. If we make God a partner in our work, by inviting and cherishing the continual presence of the Holy Spirit, we shall never fail. Whatever our work may be, if it be a legitimate one, we may ask God for the wisdom requisite to do it properly and successfully, and have the assurance that he will hear and answer.

Aim to be in all things acceptable to God, and you need trouble yourself but little about the opinions of men.

Penelope's Suitors.

Ulysses had left Ithaca for Troy. After the fall of the city he had sought his native home; but adverse winds and fates kept him "wandering round all seas." Penelope, his wife, through all these years had been faithful to her lord. Even after the return of the other Greeks, when assailed by hosts of suitors, she remained true to her "first and only love." Such is the story of Penelope. It is not to revive ante-Homeric myths that I refer to the legend, but to point a moral.

1. A common cause bore Ulysses away. His talents, his prowess, his naval equipments were needed. They were pleaded at the public service. In all this Penelope gave full consent and encouragement. The one went to brave the dangers of the field; the other remained at home, true to the expectation of his return. It has been true of us. Ulysses has been called "into a far country." He is not dead. We can not believe that he has been entrapped by the strategist. We know that Providence would not kill him. We know he conquered; we know he left the smoking Troy in search of home. He will come. So we and Penelope sit and weave and unweave webs that battle the solicitations of the evil, "till he come."

2. The Penelope of nations sits in her halls pressed with suitors. Ulysses is away from home in every European Court. In worse than widowhood the nations wait, like the "shipwrecked sailor, waiting for a sail" that shall bring Ulysses to his realm. Booted and spurred, ribboned and starred, the suitors crowd her court and feast at her table. The glower of jealousy and hate ill-mates with the wooings of love. The voice that would be soft and dovelike has the eagle's scream in it. The glancing of bright, uncontaminated love is lost in the leer of the wanton and the ogle of the Shylock. They are after Penelope to become lords of Penelope's house. They are there, not to consult for the happiness of her realm, but to win it as their prize. Legislation is necessary, but only, in their judgment, to provide means of support and entertainment of them and their retainers. Their affairs prosper while Penelope's treasury is daily exhausted. They enlarge the beneficiaries of the public bounty because that increases the number of their henchmen. So daily the army that throngs the capital increases, while daily the emptiness of the land echoes the groans inarticulate because ineffable. Revelry and the clatter of arms, flambeaux and fetes are kept up to keep the "cry of the lands" from reaching the royal ear. Golden robes are flaunted before her eyes to keep her from looking through rags and squalor upon the nakedness of the people. Hardly in America is it better. The madman Anarchy foams at the mouth in Chicago, New York, San Francisco. The suitors of Penelope are between her and the madman. Like all cowards, they call on Penelope to put him out. Why don't they do it. Best of reasons—they are afraid that everyone of the madman's votes will count two against them. "I don't want to make him my enemy." No, let the government be throttled trying to put him out; but I belong to a party that will suffer if I take part. Everyone talks of the unutterable outrage of dynamite; but who proposes to see that the dynamiter shall not vote if he is "going to vote his ticket?"

3. The Penelope of society is a grass-widow. Her Ulysses will never come back. So say her suitors: "Soyez heureuse à disque le pouvez." Like the maid of Inistore, she "weeps on the rock of roaring winds?" Yet her suitors are the most importunate. The sanctuary of the home is invaded. The demand is that the member of society shall have no private chambers. "Society" must dictate hours and rules. Home must disappear. Yet there is a Penelope. Her son Telemachus is over the sea hunting for Ulysses. He may to-day be dallying with Calypso. But he and his father will come back.

4. This is an age when creeds have become creedless. The leading pulpiteers enter so many provisos and amendments that one to read them would imagine that they are waiting for a new dispensation. They regard Christ as dead. The vigor of thought and soul-life to which he gave origin are, se judicibus, gone. Jesus is a historical myth—a prophetic shadow. He who has loved him must look backward over nineteen centuries of graves. But he will never come again. Waning as the "Light of Asia," he must go down in his wanderings. The church must look to one of her younger suitors. The Bridegroom tarries forever.

5. Organizations called benevolent multiply as the locust of Kansas. Where they fly, grass disappears. Everybody joins them to be benevolent. There is no end to benevolent people except the end of life. Then it is an insurance policy. Barnacles never gathered thicker around the hull of a ship than the benevolent association have gathered on the keel of the ship of State and Church. Taxation is three mills, and a per capita of one dollar. But this is infinitesimal compared to the sums paid by men who own little or no property to organizations that show little benevolence to any of the established rules of property. These claim the protection of government whose corner-stone is the taxable wealth of the land; yet again and again they are found throwing the power of their organizations directly across the path of the government.

6. Trust in Providence is substituted by an infinitely varied distrust in man. Pygmalion was said to have changed the room in which he slept every night, for fear some one would find him and take merited vengeance. But now multitudes have learned the tyrant's trick by shifting their money from one place to another. Faith has fallen so low that men regard the ignorance of their fellow-beings as their best safeguard. Even those who cry loudest in the cause of education wink slyly at one another, as if to say, "Don't let them catch our trick." Let others learn Latin and Greek if they can hold the string to the money bag. Education and Providence, like Telemachus and his mother, grow indignant till the boy cries, "Mother, let me go find Ulysses, my father, and bid him hasten home to drive these pimps and frauds from his house."

7. "How long, O Lord, how long?" How long must the church wait for "him whom her soul loveth." How long must the suitor utter hollow flatteries in Penelope's ear while she looks from her sea-girt isle for the "Lord strong and mighty in battle," "wonderful in counsel," to return?

T. A. S. A.

The Sunday law, since the Supreme Court has decided its constitutionality, is working beautifully and very satisfactorily to the friends of the measure. The real fact is, there were more people in favor of it than we had any reason to think were so. Last Sunday was a quiet day, and as soon as the people adjust themselves to the new order, Sunday will be a day to look forward to with desire by scores and hundreds to whom it has always been a day to be dreaded.

The Personal Influence of Teachers.

The chief power in the training of a child lies in the personal influence of his trainer. No element of so great importance is, perhaps, so generally overlooked by parents when selecting a school for their children, as that of the personal influence of teachers. Intellectual abilities in the instructors, and high reputation and cheapness in the school are considered sufficient recommendations. It is taken for granted that anybody who knows the books can teach the books, and no further inquiries are made. Yet good manners and good morals are of far more importance than mere mental training. Character is determined far more by the social surroundings of home and of the school than by the books that are studied.

The grounds of choice between schools lie not in their courses of study, but in the personal attributes of their teachers. Daily association with one whose very being is instinct with the nobler elements of humanity, whose presence is a rebuke to evil and an inspiration to good, gives to the young a far stronger impetus toward all life's noblest aims than all the books that may be taught. Almost anybody can hear a lesson; but not every presence inspires respect for self and others, exhibits and promotes dignity, and with silent power rebukes deception, selfishness and meanness of every sort. None but those whose school-days were blessed by the instructions of men and women, who seemed to bear the image of God and to live in communion with the angels, can appreciate the difference between them and the heavy clods of common clay that sometimes fill the chairs of teachers. The personal influence of those who teach is immense, whether for good or evil. The elements of the child's being and the tone of his entire life are affected powerfully by his teachers. Hence I have thought that boys should at some period be taught by female teachers, and girls by men. There are important traits of character which can be acquired in no other way. The higher education of girls is generally in large measure in the hands of men, while that of boys is almost never in the hands of women. Hence we have more manliness in women than womanliness in men. Many women can, in case of need, fill a man's place well, while very few men can fill a woman's place at all. Men, with us, are more apt to lack tenderness than women are to lack courage.

It is not improbable that the associations of the school-room have as much to do with the determination of character as he redity itself. Bodily shape, color of hair and eyes, and some peculiar bents of mind, and the like, may be inherited from parents; but the controlling purposes and cherished ideals of the soul, and those deep aspirations to do or to be something worthy or noble, which decide the destinies of men, of communities or of nations, are, perhaps, oftener than otherwise derived from the teacher who fills the throne of wonder and of admiration for the child during the impressible periods of early life. In the school-room teachers read pupils and pupils read teachers almost as much as either read books. "As iron sharpeneth iron, so doth the countenance of man that of his fellow." Thus in the school-room the students all with open face, beholding as in a glass the spirit of their master, are by insensible degrees changed into the same image, by that law which gives one mind power over another and gives the teacher power to teach.

Much more depends upon who teaches than upon what is taught or where it is taught. The lesson may be learned from the book; but the use to be made of it must be learned from the teacher. Men are made by what they think and feel far more than by what they know. Personal association with the worthy and the good is of more benefit than any amount of mere knowledge. Arnold, of Rugby School, did as much toward making the English what they are as, perhaps, any sovereign England ever had; and the teachers of America have done and are now doing as much to determine the destinies of our country as all our Presidents, governors and legislators combined.

Fathers and mothers, in choosing a school, think of the men and women who are to compress the soul of your son or your daughter for all time—perhaps, for all eternity. The best students are sure to get as much from their teachers as from their text-books. The latter store the mind; the former shape the character which determines destiny. Christ's personal presence with his disciples was more impressive and convincing than any mere words could have been. The spirit of the Master lives in his pupils forever.

W. L. C. H.

THE DEAD LINE.—In this country, for a long time, the "dead line" in the ministry has been drawn at fifty years. It has been presumed, that if a man has not arrived at eminence by doing some grand things in the way of preaching and administering the affairs of the churches, by that time he has frittered away his day of gracious opportunities and nothing more can be expected of him than what he has already done. In too many cases particular pains are taken to enlighten him as to the opinion of church officials and laity, and he is given to understand that the best thing for him to do is to quench all aspiration and submit patiently to the inevitable "shelving." Now we notice the same thing beginning to be seen in the political world. The ever-present "monotonous" reporter is already drawing the "dead line" of statesmanship at fifty years. A man past that line is incapacitated for public service, and is by the aforesaid reporter relegated "one to his farm and another to his merchandise." "Whereunto this thing will grow" we do not know; but we are of the firm opinion that it will be a dark day for the country when the men past fifty are dropped out of the councils of the Church and State. The saddest of all questions will be, "The fathers, where are they?"

IN AND OUT.—Some things seem very curious to simple-minded folks. They are like some words; so plain that you can't tell what they mean. Some railroad matters have that sort of dazing plainness. Some men meet together and organize a "syndicate;" then this syndicate organizes itself into "directors." Then the directors hold a meeting and enter into a contract with the syndicate to build a railroad. The syndicate builds the road for so many millions of dollars, and the directors pay over to the syndicate about three times as many millions of dollars in stocks and bonds of the company and issue a first mortgage on the road to secure the money advanced to do the building. All of which is so plain and simple, that its very plainness and simplicity causes a man to believe that somehow his brain is beginning to addle. No wonder it took Congress a whole week to come to the knowledge of the fact that it did not know and could not find out the meaning of "the long haul and short haul clause" in the Interstate Commerce Bill. "Oh ye simple ones, how long will ye love simplicity?"

Sabbath Keeping.

The strength of sentiment in favor of Sabbath keeping is growing in all sections of the country. We call the attention of the publishers of Sunday newspapers to the following announcement of the Springfield (O.) Daily Republic upon the discontinuance of its Sunday edition:

We make this announcement at a time when our Sunday issue is paying better than it has paid at any previous period. It is the most profitable issue of the week; but if it were paying a dozen times as well, it would be suspended. The owners of the paper have had both experience and observation as to the publication of a newspaper on Sunday, and they are thoroughly convinced that it is neither morally nor physically right for them to continue the issue of such a paper. Our experience, as well as the experience of all the gentlemen employed by us, proves that a day of mental and physical rest is required by them each week, and that such a day of rest is an absolute necessity; that six days a week of solid work is as much as any person connected with the Republic can endure. We, and those connected with us, have tested the matter thoroughly, and we speak advisedly and, we think we may say, authoritatively. It is our conviction, also, that Sunday should be observed as a day of worship as well as rest, and we propose to put neither obstacle nor annoyance in the way of those who wish so to observe it.

There are points and facts in the above worthy of the sincere attention and investigation of all Sunday workers of every kind. Sunday work is simply a weary waste of physical energy and mental vigor—to say nothing of spiritual decline and death.

Minutes of Louisiana Conference.

The manuscript minutes are now in the hands of the printer, and will be ready for distribution in two weeks. Those who did not contribute at Conference will please send me at once at rate of two and a half cents per copy to cover cost of postage and mailing.

CHAS. F. EVANS, Sec.

A note from Dr. Abbey, dated February 15, brings the cheering intelligence of a great revival of religion at Bay St. Louis. The meeting has been going on for four weeks under the management of Bros. Bowen and Jones and Abbey, and has resulted in many conversions and about fifty accessions to our church. Those who know the place can but exclaim, "What hath God wrought!" The Doctor's note will appear next week.

Literary Notes.

The following books are announced in England: Runke's History of the Latin and Teutonic Nations, translated by P. A. Ashworth.——Gothe's Correspondence with Zetler, translated by A. D. Coleridge.——Werner's Templars in Cypress, translated by E. A. M. Lewis.——History of India under Victoria, by Col. Lionel J. Trotter.——Folk-Songs of Italy, by Miss R. H. Busk.——Mr. Froude purposes to visit and study what was once the Spanish Empire in this hemisphere, to gather material for a book similar to "Oceana."——Justin McCarthy has nearly completed his "Sketches of Irish History from 1800 to 1886.——An edition of Pickwick Papers is to be issued on the Queen's anniversary, and will contain facsimiles of the original drawings.——A new book on some leading character of the eighteenth century will shortly appear. It is entitled, Some Verdicts of History Reviewing, by William Stebbing.——The memoirs of Count Beust, under the title of Three-Quarters of a Century, will appear soon.——Mr. Browning's new volume of poems, entitled, "Parleyings with Certain People of Importance in Their Day," will be published shortly by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.——Another series of the "Best Plays of the Old Dramatists" will be published shortly in England.——The Jubilee Date-Book, containing the reigning years of the kings and queens of England from William the Conqueror to Victoria, by W. D. Selby, will soon make its appearance.——A biography of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, by Ernest Coleridge, is expected early this year.——All the war papers published in the Century are soon to be brought out in book-form.

Personals.

—Rev. Orson Long, a venerable member of the Kentucky Conference, "a faithful, true and noble man, who served his generation well," has gone to his reward.

—Drs. Rush and McCoy are now the publishers and editors of the Alabama Advocate. May their prosperity enlarge and broaden in every direction!

—Rev. George Sim, of the Pacific Conference, died in peace at Colusa, Cal., January 26. It is said of him that "he was the Summerfield of our Methodism on the Pacific Coast."

—Rev. James H. Lumsden, a venerable minister of Virginia, entered upon his rest January 18. He was a native of Edinburgh, Scotland; was seventy-five years of age, and had been in the ministry fifty-six years.

—Seventeen young men in Randolph-Macon College are studying for the ministry, mostly from the Baltimore and Virginia Conferences.

—J. Willoughby Read, an elocutionist well known in many parts of Mississippi and Louisiana, died in Norfolk, Va., a few days ago. He was buried at his home in Wytheville, Va.

—Bishop Hendrix expects to remove to Kansas City in April next, and make that his future home.

—Simpson Harras died in Putnam county, Ind., aged 109. He cast his first vote for Jefferson, and has voted at every presidential election since.

—Rev. G. R. Ellis has been appointed preacher in charge of Covington circuit, Mississippi Conference, in place of Rev. J. W. Tinnin, transferred.

—Theodore Tilton has been living in Paris for three years in a grand old mansion, once the home of Duc de Nemours, just back of Notre Dame.

—Justin McCarthy, the defender of Home Rule for Ireland, was in Chicago last week, filling a lecture engagement under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

—Rev. William M. Gilbert, of the St. James Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, announced to his congregation that he withdraws from the ministry because he has lost faith in the truths of Christianity. That is much better than to stay in the ministry and preach against the doctrines of the Bible, and is an example to be commended to some other preachers we hear about.

—Bishop Wilson left China for home December 1. He will return by way of India and Europe.

—Rev. J. W. Wolling, who was appointed missionary to Brazil at the last session of the North Carolina Conference, expects to be at his post in May next.

—The friends of temperance in Alabama are "clearing the decks for action." It is very likely that the proposition to submit the question of prohibition to the people will be agreed to by the Legislature; and then the battle will begin. We suggest to our friends to scatter broadcast Bishop Galloway's Hand-Book of Prohibition, and Dr. Black's Temperance and Teetotalism.

—Next Sunday afternoon Bro. Parker will hold an anniversary meeting in his church, corner of Carrollton avenue and Third street. Bro. Carradine, of Carondelet, will make the address, and everybody is invited to be present.

A Record of Wonderful Success.

The NASHVILLE COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES was organized September 1, 1880. Its surprising growth is exhibited in the subjoined tabulated statement:

Date.	No. of Pupils.	No. Boarders.
1881	104	17
1882	147	31
1883	203	56
1884	293	78
1885	243	101
1886	250	102
1887 (to date)	205	115

This remarkable result has been attained upon the basis of solid merit. Admirable buildings, ample faculty, extensive course, with Vanderbilt University connections, place the Institution in the front rank.

GEO. W. F. PRICE, Pres.,
Nashville College for Young Ladies.
FEBRUARY 12, 1887.

A good suggestion is made by a Chicago paper for the dispersing of the next mob of anarchists. It is to call out the "fire department" and turn the hose on the crowd. The object of dispersing the mob would be attained without injury to limb or loss of life, and the whole thing break up in a good humor. One stream from an engine would do more execution than the clubs of a hundred policemen.

The Chicago, Burlington, Quincy R. R. Co. has published a pronouncing Dictionary containing 320 pages, 32,000 words and 670 engravings. It teaches everybody how to pronounce correctly. Send sixteen cents in stamps to PAUL MORTON, G. P. and T. A., C. B. & Q. R. R., Chicago, Ill., and get a copy of the Dictionary—the cheapest book issued.

City Notes.

The beauties of our jury system were finely illustrated in the Criminal Court the other day. A man was tried for assault and battery upon his wife. The fact was proven by credible witnesses, the man himself acknowledged that he knocked her down and kicked her while down, and the jury promptly pronounced the prisoner not guilty."

The Home for Homeless Women, recently inaugurated, is proving itself not only useful, but a very popular charitable institution. Donations of such things as are needful, coming continually, give proof of universal approval of the scheme. Some of the first ladies of New Orleans are at the head of it.

The report of the superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph shows that during January there were 36 alarms of fire, which destroyed $169,285 worth of property, which was insured for $195,625.

The value of buildings and improvements made during January, this year, is $80,000 less than those made in January, 1886.

The Young Mens' Christian Association celebrated its 34th anniversary recently. Gratifying progress has been made in all departments of their work, and the collections have been in excess of those of former years. Rev. Dr. McKim, rector of Trinity Church, made a fine address, which was appreciated by the large audience.

The new Episcopal Church (Grace) on Rampart street, between Canal and Tulane avenue, is nearing completion.

The City Council appropriated $171,000 for the public schools. The School Board calculated that $285,000 would be needed.

Mississippi Notes.

Meridian is making arrangements for a produce exchange and a cotton mill, and a donation of $100,000 in aid of a railroad to Decatur, Ala.

An iron railway bridge is in construction across the Southower river by the Georgia Pacific railroad.

The United States Senate bill, appropriating $10,000 to build a macadamized road from Corinth, Miss., to the National Cemetery, near that place, has been reported favorably to the House.

Bush & Land, Ocean Springs, have obtained a patent for a car-coupler.

It is said that in thirty days 400 hands will be at work on the Ship Island railroad in Harrison county.

The National House of Representatives has passed the bill appropriating $10,000 for the repair of the road to the National Cemetery at Vicksburg.

The Natchez Compress has, to date, compressed 17,576 bales of cotton. During January 4,735 bales were compressed.

Charles F. Stivers, of New Orleans, was ordained to deacon's orders in the Episcopal Church by Bishop Thompson at Jackson, January 25.

Prof. Johnson, of the United States Survey, has found a vast quantity of ferruginous sandstone and many spots of limonite near Duck Hill.

One of the batteries for the coast defense is to be located at Pass Christian.

The Water Works Company of Vicksburg will have their work completed by May 1.

Meridian is to have a new ice factory and a new union depot, conveniently located.

The Baptist Church at Scranton was burned on the night of the seventh. This is the third church burned in that place in the last three years.

Greenville is to have street cars, and Meridian free delivery of mails.

The Mississippi Mineral and Mining Company has been organized to develop the iron ore mines near Duck Hill.

Summit is to have a new depot building and warehouse.

Durant has gone dry—the last beer license having expired the thirty-first ultimo.

A land and manufacturing company has been organized at Meridian, with a capital of $50,000.

The Democrat-Star says that "in the last two years Gov. Lowry has pardoned eight hundred convicts out of the penitentiary."

Scranton shipped 100,000 pounds of fish in 1886.

It is said that 5,000 laborers have settled in the counties of Issaquena, Washington, Bolivar, Coahoma within the last month.

Real estate in Columbus has advanced, within the past week, thirty per cent.

FAR better than the harsh treatment of medicines which horribly gripe the patient and destroy the coating of the stomach. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure, by mild yet effective action will cure. Sold at 50 cents, a bottle.

Louisiana Notes.

Calhoun Fluker, of Clinton, has been appointed Surveyor General of Louisiana.

John S. Capers, of New Orleans, has obtained a patent for an automatic electric signal coupler.

The new town called Crowley, in the new parish of Acadia, is on a big boom. It is in one of the finest regions of the State.

The Episcopal Church in Franklin has been robbed of two silver collection plates. The name of the church and the date, "1858," are engraved upon the plates.

An Interstate Convention of Planters is to meet at Lake Charles, February 22.

Farmer's Unions are being organized in several parishes in the northern part of the State.

Rev. R. S. Crozier, of Sardis, Miss., has accepted the invitation to supply the Presbyterian Church in Monroe.

Mr. Abendroth, of New York, has made a proposition to the City Council of Baton Rouge to establish water works under certain franchises; and the council is considering the proposition.

The railroad route between Hope, Ark., and Shreveport is being surveyed by engineers of the Missouri Pacific road.

According to the Secretary of State of Louisiana there are 222,236 registered voters in this State. Of these, 111,791 are white people and 110,145 are colored people. Of the white voters, 20,196 can not write their names. Of the colored voters, 91,947 can not write their names. There are 112,111 persons holding the elective franchise of Louisiana who can not read the tickets they put in the ballot-box. That is more than one-half of the voters in the State. No wonder some things are as they are.

St. Mary parish is free from debt, and has $14,187 in her treasury.

Jay Gould has purchased 200,000 acres of land in Winn and Vernon parishes.

The Morehouse Clarion suffered the great loss of having its office and outfit burnt last week.

The Monroe Compress Company had received up to February 5, 13,000 bales of cotton, 8,500 of which had been compressed and shipped.

Books and Periodicals.

BOOKS.

NECROPOLIS. By H. M. Ford, D. D., of the Louisville Conference, Southern Methodist Publishing House. Price, ten cents.

This is a most refreshing exposition of Romans vii. 3-6. Anybody in doubt as to the real meaning of that passage should suspend judgment until this little tract is read. If any immersionist is harping on "we are buried with him by baptism," just hand him Dr. Ford's Necropolis. If that don't settle him, you may give him over to "reprobacy of mind."

—We have received from the Passenger Department of the Burlington Route, The Burlington Route Pronouncing Dictionary, containing over 32,000 words and phrases and 670 engravings.

THE SELF-REVELATION OF GOD. By Samuel Harris, D. D., LL.D., professor of systematic theology in Yale College. 1 vol., 8vo, uniform with "The Philosophical Basis of Theism." $3 50.

This work is a restatement of the evidence of the existence of God and of the reality of his revelation of himself, as modified by and in harmony with the legitimate results of recent thought, and meeting skepticism in its present position.

The subject is divided into four parts, the first of which treats of the Revelation of God, in the experience or consciousness of man. The three remaining parts are concerned with the verification of this fundamental fact by the other revelations which God makes of himself, viz: Part II. His Revelation of Himself as the Absolute Being. Part III. His Revelation of Himself as the Personal God in the Constitution and Course of Nature, and in the Constitution and History of Man. Part IV. His Revelation of Himself reconciling the World to Himself in Christ.

SOME PROBLEMS OF PHILOSOPHY. By Archibald Alexander, professor of philosophy in Columbia College. 1 vol., 12mo. $1.

Prof. Alexander states briefly, but comprehensively and clearly, those problems of philosophy which may be regarded as still unsolved, and to understand the nature of which is to understand the present condition and work of philosophy itself. The range of the book may be surmised from such titles as "The Problem of the Ultimate Nature of Matter," "The Relation of Belief to Knowledge," "The Problem of the Human Will," "The Immortality of the Soul," "The Doctrine of a First Cause," "The Doctrine of Cause and Effect," etc.

PERIODICALS.

—The Homiletic Magazine, for January. The various "sections" of this monthly come full of theology, homiletics, exposition and miscellanies, and is good evening reading for any preacher. E. B. Treat, 771 Broadway, New York. Price, thirty cents.

—Scribner's Magazine, February. The first number of this new monthly had "an unprecedented run." This second number lacks nothing of the interest and entertainment which the first contained, as a glance at the table of contents will show. Then the moderate price commends it also. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. Price, $3.

—The Eclectic Magazine, February. This monthly is freighted with the best goods that foreign literature can afford, and is commended to all lovers of good reading. E. R. Pelton, 25 Bond street, New York. $5 a year.

—The Forum, for February, is on hand, and is up to the level of its predecessors in the discussion of current themes. This monthly already ranks among the first in the land. Forum Publishing Company, 97 Fifth avenue, New York. Price, $5 per annum.

—The Century, for February, needs no commendation from us. It is its own commendation, with its table full and "groaning under" the greatest variety of the best things.

—Southern Methodist Review, for January, February, has the following fine table of contents: Southern Literature, by J. B. Wardlaw, Jr.; How I Learned to Read, by the editor; The Value of Conservatism, by E. A. Yates; The Christ of the Universe, by H. W. Featherstun; Instinct and Reason, by Bishop Hendrix; Peter J. Malone, by J. L. Stokes; The Positive Philosophy, by William Tucker; Editor's Table, Notices of Books, and Notes and Queries. This review makes a handsome appearance, being gotten up in the very best style as to mechanical execution. The articles commend themselves. The review is now fairly under way again, and is worthy of the patronage of the church. The price is a mere nothing compared to the value of such a periodical. Six numbers of 140 pages each for $2 is really too cheap to say anything about. W. P. Harrison, D. D., is editor, and the Southern Methodist Publishing House prints it. Send for it at once and read it carefully, and you will be both pleased and edified.

The chief care of some writers and speakers seems to be, to say nothing that anyone can object to. The honest policy is to speak the truth and risk the consequence, but to speak the truth in love. What good can be accomplished by mere truisms! What opinion can we form of the courage, honesty and usefulness of the man that fights no falsehoods, overcomes no friction, and surmounts no obstacles. God has a debate with the man that never debates with the devil.—Holston Methodist.

Wanted.

A copy of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE of August 28, 1884. Liberal exchange will be made for same. HUGH JAMIESON, JR.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears, it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. H. Thomson, 34 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

A bashful printer refused a situation in a printing office where females were employed, saying he never "set up" with a girl in his life.

A copy of the "Storm Chart" for 1887, by the Rev. Irl R. Hicks, and Calendar for 1887, mailed free to any address, on receipt of a two-cent postage stamp. Write plainly your Name, Post Office and State.

THE DR. J. H. McLEAN MEDICINE CO.,
St. Louis, Mo.

The greatest reformer of the age was the inventor of the bustle, which has reformed nearly every woman.

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

An advertiser in one of the papers says that he has a cottage to let, containing eight rooms and one acre of land.

P. WEHLEIN.—The great Southern music emporium, 135 Canal street, is to the front with new attractions in the music line; the very latest compositions by well-known authors received, and will be mailed to any address on receipt of price. The fall stock of musical instruments is being received, and surpass anything ever offered to the people of the South. Pianos and organs of superb tone and beautiful finish, at prices lower than ever known and terms unsurpassed by any music house in the United States. Write to Wehlein before purchasing elsewhere. 135 Canal street.

"This is a very painful affair," remarked the man as the sash fell on him.

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

Epitaph on an editor—Here lies one who never lied before.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances, to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail. 25c.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle.

Pond's Extract. No matter what form bleeding may assume, whether from the lungs, nose, gums, stomach, bowels, uterus, or piles, its action is equally potent.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND AND DOOR FACTORY,

299, 301, 303, 305, 307 Gravier Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

ROBERTS & CO., Proprietors.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Ceiling, Newels, Balusters, etc., always on hand, or made to order.

Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty.

BRANCH OFFICE: No. 52 CARONDELET ST.

GREAT LABOR SAVING

SOAPINA!

Has been discovered which will wash in the hardest kind of water as well as ordinary soap in soft water. It is a fine article for washing woolen goods, clothing of Machinists, Printers, etc.

J. H. KELLER,
NEW ORLEANS.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Hope Insurance Company,

188 GRAVIER STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
(Opposite Cotton Exchange.)

ESTABLISHED IN 1857.

CAPITAL PAID UP.....$250,000 00
ASSETS, JAN. 1, 1887.....$401,382 17

Insures Fire, River and Marine Risks.

SURPLUS LINES TAKEN ON ACCEPTABLE FIRE RISKS.

J. A. CHALADON, President.
MAURICE STERN, Vice-Pres.
LOUIS BARNETT, Secretary.

DIRECTORS:

John I. Adams,	Henry Beer,
Geo. A. Laugan,	Maurice Stern,
G. Lehman,	Wm. Blake,
Victor Meyer,	F. M. Ziegler,
Geo. Denegre,	A. R. Rousseau,
Jas. A. Renshaw,	John Holmes,
A. A. Chaharon,	Pierre Pontz,

Pearl Wight.

MECHANICS and TRADERS' INSURANCE COMPANY,

14 CARONDELET STREET,

New Orleans, La.,

Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks at lowest tariff rates.

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary,
LLOYD D. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Clerk.
J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and Diver Clk.
(Late Sec. Union Ins. Co.)
H. C. SHORTRIDGE, Collector,
F. AUZOUT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Sam. Boyd,	Simon E. Marx,
J. A. Braselman,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. D. Britton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carver,	Wm. A. Phelps,
P. J. Cockburn,	Hon. O. L. Rayne,
H. T. Cottam,	G. W. Sentell,
O. Elmer,	A. N. Sillernagel,
J. M. Frankenbush,	W. H. Thompson,
Walter C. Flower,	P. A. Villermin,
P. G. Gilbert,	Jos. Vignes,
Chas. Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
I. L. Lyons,	T. S. Waterman,
Laurent Lacassagne,	Frederick Wing,
T. L. Macon,	W. Y. West,
Robt. Maxwell,	W. G. Wheeler,

Lloyd H. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders' INSURANCE COMPANY,

49 CARONDELET STREET.

PAID UP CAPITAL.....$1,000,000

ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN PHELPS, Vice-President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

ISSUES POLICIES COVERING FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE RISKS AT THE LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Nolte,	John Claffe,
Richard Milliken,	Saml. Friedlander,
R. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lyle Lyon,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	B. F. Eshleman,
Chas. Claffe,	L. C. Jurey,
Wm. Hartwell,	C. J. Leeds,
A. T. Jaudin,	A. M. Rickham,
Henry Abrahams,	Louis Rosh,
A. Brittin,	G. W. Sentell,
Wm. Cunningham,	John I. Adams,
R. T. Buckner,	Wm. A. Gwyn,

Chas. E. Black.

Crescent Insurance Co.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849. Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1860.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849.

Annual and Term Policies issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. H. LYMAN, President.
J. H. OGLESBY, Vice-Pres.
CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Liverpool and London and Globe INSURANCE COMPANY,

OFFICE: Cor. Carondelet and Gravier Streets.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS:
J. F. SCHRODER, Chairman.
NEWTON BUCKNER.
A. DELVAILLE.
RUDOLPH WOESTE.

Assets in the United States.....$6,118,383 36
Surplus over all liabilities..... 2,598,129 13

HENRY V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT
VEGETABLE
PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises. It is cooling, cleansing and Healing.

Catarrh, In its most obstinate form, Cold in the Head &c., is conquered by "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared for most serious cases, should be applied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia. No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plaster is invaluable in these diseases. Lumbago, Pains in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, it is the greatest known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples, Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints, In the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used as is well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

Sold everywhere. Prices, 50c., $1, $1.75.

Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

EASTER MUSIC

A New Easter Service Arranged by EBEN E. REXFORD, ENTITLED

EASTER MORNING

Consisting of Interesting and Instructive Responsive Readings Interspersed with new and pretty carols by

GEO. F. ROOT, H. P. DANKS, PAOLO CAMPIGLIO and J. R. MURRAY.

Price, 5 cts. each, or 50 cts. a dozen by mail, postpaid; $4 a hundred by express, charges not prepaid.

We also call attention to the following

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES

with Carols, issued in former years:

The Risen Christ, Easter Chimes, He is Risen, The Easter Angels, The Story of the Resurrection.

Price of each, same as for "EASTER MORNING."

Send for our complete list of Easter Music of every description. Sent free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O., And 19 East 16th Street, New York City.

THE IMPROVED ACME WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only FIVE lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 REWARD FOR ITS SUPERIOR. Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges. Send for circulars. Agents wanted.

ACME, Pat. April 12, '81.

C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont. N.B.—Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

GERANIUMS ROSES Free by Mail 15 for $1.00

A large stock of the best of the new and old varieties; also, an assortment of SHRUBS, Greenhouse & bedding plants. Prices defy competition. Illustrated catalogue free to all applicants. Address,

THOS. A. McBETH, Springfield, Ohio.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

WE WANT YOU! a live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every county. Salary $75 per month and expenses, or a large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfit and particulars Free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

OPIUM and WHISKY HABITS cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent Free. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga.

NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 14 Games, 12 tricks in magic, 426 Album verses. All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 16, Ohio.

$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

A BIG OFFER. To introduce them, we will Give Away 1,000 Self-Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 23 Dey St., N.Y.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells,
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
SUCCESSORS IN BLYMYER BELLS TO THE
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO
CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS.
BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE ALARM

Are you CONSUMPTIVE.
Have you Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Indigestion? Use PARKER'S TONIC without delay. It has cured many of the worst cases and is the best remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs, and diseases arising from impure blood and exhaustion. Often saves life. Cures when everything else fails. Gives new life and strength to the aged and infirm. $1, at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS.
The safest, surest and best cure for Corns, Bunions, &c. Stops all pain. Ensures comfort to the feet. Never fails to cure. 15 cents at Druggists. Hiscox & Co., N. Y.

Our Young People.

HOW TO BE HAPPY.

Are you almost disgusted
With life, little man?
I will tell you a wonderful trick
That will bring you contentment,
If anything can—
Do something for somebody, quick!

Are you awfully tired
With play, little girl?
Weary, discouraged, sick?
I'll tell you the loveliest
Game in the world—
Do something for somebody, quick!

Though it rains like the rain
Of the flood, little man,
And the clouds are forbidding and thick,
You can make the sun shine
In your soul, little man—
Do something for somebody, quick!

Though the skies are like brass
Overhead, little girl,
And the walk like a well-heated brick,
And are earthly affairs
In a terrible whirl—
Do something for somebody, quick!

MR. EDITOR: You were so kind as to publish my last letter, so I thought I would write again. My grandma lives with us, and, I assure you, "Nunnna" is well thought of by us. My uncle is visiting us. He is a member of the Louisiana Conference on trial. He has been out in the western part of the State, in the pine hills, for one year, and the Bishop sent him back to the same circuit. He is a young man, and, Mr. Editor, if you were to see him, you would never think him to be a preacher, unless you know him. He is so very young. Bro. Reneau preached for us once a month all last year. Bro. Patterson also preached for us. He was the preacher in charge. I will answer Mary S. Hodges' question: Paul was cast on the Isle of Crete. She might have had reference to St. John, who was banished to the Isle of Patmos, and while there he wrote the book of Revelation. Now, Mr. Editor, I will give all the little folks a puzzle, and if anybody will work it, I will pay for the ADVOCATE for that one for one year. The puzzle is as follows:

A certain man had twenty-five hogs to kill, and wanted to kill them at four killings, and kill an odd number at every killing. How many would he kill at each killing?

Wishing the ADVOCATE much success, I am,

Your little friend,

ANNIE L. WILSON.

OAK GROVE, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl nine years old. As I have never written to your estimable paper before, I thought I would write a short letter. Your paper is a welcome visitor to our house every week. I love to read it very much, especially the little folks' letters. The answer to Mamie Ream's question—"vision of Jacob's ladder"—is found in Genesis xxviii. Ida L. Ellington's: Jesus first appeared to Mary; and is found in St. John xx. We have no Sunday-school. We had a revival at our church (Tranquil) last September. I and brother Willie, two years my senior, joined the church. Bro. T. W. Adams and Bro. Chambers were our preachers. We are sorry Bro. Adams was sent away from our circuit. With good wishes to the ADVOCATE, I remain,

Your little friend,

PEARL BOLT.

VAZOO COUNTY, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl ten years old. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. My papa takes the ADVOCATE. I love to read the children's letters. I have two brothers older than myself, and two younger. My oldest brother is at Centenary College. I joined the church last year under Bro. Johnston. I was baptized when I was a baby by Bro. Robertson. I will answer Currie Floyd's question: "O Lord" is found twenty times in Psalm cxix. I found it myself. I will also answer Ida E.'s question. It was unto Mary that Jesus first appeared. I will close by asking a question: Who was the mother of John the Evangelist? Hoping to see this in print, I remain,

Your little friend,

GUSSIE ROBERTS.

CLEAR CREEK, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl ten years old. I live with grandpa. He takes the ADVOCATE, and I like to read the nice little letters in it. I have one brother younger than I, and his name is Noel. Bro. Isbell is our preacher. I like to go to church. My uncle, John C. Caruline, is a preacher. He will stay with us this year. As this is my first letter, I hope to see it in print. I remain as ever,

JOSEPHINE SEWELL.

NATCHITOCHES PARISH, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little boy seven years of age. I am not well enough to go to school to-day, so mother told me I could write to the ADVOCATE. This is my first letter in my life. I have only been going to school four months. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Bro. J. M. Boland is our pastor. We all like him very much. I live in Alabama, but my papa went to Meridian, Miss., last year and got me a new mother. Her name was Miss Jennie Petty. I love her ever so much. We have a little missionary society that meets at our house every Saturday evening. We work three Saturdays, and have a programme meeting one Saturday. The girls are all at work on a quilt; but we boys do not do much. Mother says she wishes somebody would tell her some kind of work to put the boys at. This is so badly written I will have to ask mother to copy it. I will be glad to see my letter in print.

Your little friend,

D. L. KIRKLAND, JR.

LIVINGSTON, Alabama.

PERSONS who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment. It will banish pain and subdue inflammation.

MR. EDITOR: I have never written any letters to the ADVOCATE. My mother takes your valuable paper. I have two sisters and six brothers, and we have all joined the church but one. Bro. Roberts is our circuit rider, and we all like him. I went to Sunday-school last year. There were fifty scholars and four teachers. The answer to Annie L. Brantley's question: Peter was in the dark when the light went out. I will ask the little folks a question: Who was the oldest man that ever lived, who died before his father? With many good wishes to the ADVOCATE, I remain,

Your friend,

LAURA O. KING.

NORTH WILKINSON, Mississippi.

For Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Inflammation of the Bowels or Colic.

Take internally from five to ten drops of Darbys Prophylactic Fluid in a tablespoonful of water every hour or two till improvement takes place. There is no danger in taking more of it and more frequently if occasion requires. In chronic cases, or when the stomach refuses to retain anything else, use injections of the Fluid and water. We have never known a case that did not readily yield to such treatment, and it saved the lives of many.

MR. EDITOR: This is my first letter to the dear ADVOCATE, and I hope that it will find its way to the columns of that good paper. I like to read the nice little letters that the little folks write to you. I am going to school, and my teacher's name is Miss Corinne Lindsey. I love her dearly, for she is so good to us. My studies are reading, Eclectic Spelling-Book, arithmetic, writing, geography and composition. I am eleven years old, and have one sister older than myself. My papa takes the ADVOCATE, and we do love to read it. I remain,

Your little friend,

LAURA A. MILES.

PASS CHRISTIAN, Mississippi.

You Can't Read This

without wishing to investigate. If you are wise. Send your address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and you will receive, free, full information about work that you can do, and live at home, wherever you are located, at which you can earn from $5 to $25 and upwards daily. Some have earned over $50 in a day. Capital not required; you are started free. All is new. Both sexes; all ages. Snug little fortunes await all workers.

MR. EDITOR: As it has been some time since I have written to your valuable paper, I thought I would again address you. I know the little cousins will be sorry for me when I tell them that my papa is very ill, and has been for five weeks. I will answer Carrie Floyd's question: Psalm cxix; "O Lord" is found twenty times. Now, I will ask a question: Where was Moses buried? Wishing the ADVOCATE and its editor abundant success, I am, Yours truly,

AMANDA HOLLINGSWORTH.

VALLEY, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl ten years old. I have two brothers and five sisters. I am going to school. Mrs. Alice L. Daniel is our teacher, and we all like her very much. We have a Testament class in our school, and our teacher gives us questions to find in the Bible. I will close my letter by asking the little cousins one question: Where is "mouse" mentioned in the Bible?

Your little friend,

EMMA BEAM.

MCCALL'S CREEK, Mississippi.

Farm and Home.

DEBT.—"Borrowing," says old John Taylor, "is one of the most ordinary ways in which men sacrifice their future to the present." Debt constantly tempts to present ease and indulgence at the expense of future discomfort and deprivation. He who contracts a debt, mortgages his future self. Pay-day steals rapidly along, and generally brings no means of relief. The money earned before it is expended goes further and purchases far more enjoyment than money spent before it is earned. He who builds or enlarges his estates by the steady accretions of industry and economy travels the straight and narrow way of thrift; a future of independence, substantial in its rewards, is directly before him. He who improves or buys with promises to pay, pledging his future labors, and gains, follows the broad and beaten track whose end is dependence and want.

STUDY YOUR ANIMALS.—Some farmers have learned that animals are not alike in every respect, says the Farm Journal. They all have stomachs, but while they are all after the same plan they do not all work alike. This fact accounts for one calf getting the scours, while the rest may do well on the same feed. One calf will constipate, bloat, and have spasms—stiffness of the legs—and perhaps fall down, while others will be all right. The farmer is the only one to study and find out their peculiarities, and manage his animals according to their differences of appetite, digestion, and assimilation. Some animals do not bear confinement, and others can not endure the cold—a chill makes them sick.—Exchange.

THE NEW ORCHARD.—Colman's Rural World says to get any benefit from an orchard, it is not enough that the trees be simply planted. Unless one determines to care for them as they should, it is best not to plant at all, but depend on some one who will for the fruit needed. Thousands on thousands of dollars are wasted each year in putting out fruit stock and then neglecting it! An enthusiasm that lasts only through the planting of fruit is costly. Fruit growing requires constant care in order to produce a paying quantity of satisfactory quality. And if one is growing for the market he must remember that it is the poor and inferior fruit with which the market is glutted, while the choice always brings good prices.—Register.

THE REPAIR SHOP.—It has been well said that every farmer should have a comfortable room where he can mend harness or tools, or do such other "tinkering" as is necessary on days when he can not work out of doors. It will save many a penny, and the having things in good repair next spring will save much time then. Keep things snug and tidy about house and barns, and do not allow five dollars to be lost by neglect of work which should be done there for the sake of earning one dollar in the woods or in some factory. When making a business of farming it is not easy to make much money at other business without losing money on the farm.

SORE THROAT.—Salt and water is used by many as a gargle, but a little alum and honey dissolved in sage tea is better. An application of cloths wrung out of hot water and applied to the neck, changing as often as they begin to cool, has the most potency for removing the inflammation. It should be kept up for a number of hours; during the evening is the usually most convenient time for applying this remedy.

FRUIT AT MEALS.—For those whose stomachic idiosyncracies do not forbid this order of courses, let orange, grapes, bananas—all fruits of their season—precede the weightier matters of the meal. There is amelioration of harsh business, if not refinement of tone, in the manipulation of these. The juices are a grateful assuasive, and a stimulus to digestion.—The American Breakfast.

Cultivate food crops. Cotton and tobacco will do very well for side speculations, but if you would prosper you had better not kneel to them and make them your agricultural idols.—Ex.

Buy a small farm. It costs less, is more easily bought and sold, has less fencing, less taxes, and will be better cultivated.—Farmer's Friend.

Strikes.

We take the following from a work entitled Natural Law in the Business World, by Mr. Henry Wood, of this city, which is to be published soon as a book. The extract is from a chapter devoted to labor combinations and their effect on the laborer:

The question comes to every intelligent workman, Can I afford to surrender my personal liberty, freedom of choice, duties to myself (and perhaps family) and conscience, to any secret and irresponsible tribunal! Can I consent to be ordered "out" or "in," regardless of my personal wishes or interests, in a land where personal liberty of action is the distinguishing characteristic?

The most conservative and moderate estimate of the direct loss to the laboring men of the United States caused by the strikes of the year 1886 would mount high up in the millions; and their indirect results, if their influences could all be traced out, would be found to be even greater. The discharge of a single union man, or the retention of a single non-unionist, has been made the excuse for a strike involving thousands, with all the attendant suffering and expense. All this to vindicate a supposed principle, which really turns out to be only a sentimental "boomerang." Such was the nature of the very extensive and disastrous strike which took place in the spring of 1886, on what is known as the Gould system of railroads, extending from St. Louis to Texas. Thousands of men, many of whom had families dependent upon their daily earnings, were "ordered out" of good situations, which they never afterwards regained. Thousands of others, whose business was more or less directly connected with these men, were also thrown out of employment, and business of all kinds was largely interrupted for weeks, in three or four States, causing great losses to all classes. Much property also was destroyed, and many non-union workers were injured and maltreated. All these, and other ills too numerous to be mentioned in detail, resulted from the ill-advised and cruel orders given to confiding workingmen by labor officials. It seems to be a fact beyond doubt, that, what would have been a great and general resumption of prosperity in the business of the whole country, which had begun to set in strongly in the early spring of 1886, was not only postponed, but almost destroyed by the labor disturbances which came like an epidemic in April and May of that year. And, furthermore, these troubles did not seem to be spontaneous in their character, but they were "ordered," engineered and fomented by agitators who did not belong in the ranks of the workingmen. If things had remained in their normal and peaceful condition, so that the era of general prosperity had really got under way, the increased demand for labor would have caused a natural advance in wages, as has always been the case, and general prosperity, so long desired, would have come to remain.

One or two more instances of the effect of strikes will suffice, for they are all very uniform in their results. In July, 1886, a large number of tanners employed in the extensive establishments of Salem and Peabody, Mass., were "ordered out." In the end, most of the men lost their places, and had to remove elsewhere to find work. During several months, assault, intimidation and disorder continued more or less, and the towns were put to large extra expense to protect (as well as possible) those who wished to work. The indirect losses and suffering growing out of this strike can never be estimated. The Peabody Reporter made a very careful estimate of the direct results, on November 10, 1886. A personal canvass of all the shops of Salem and Peabody was made, and every detail carefully ascertained. It gives the result as follows:

"On July 12, 1,500 men left work in forty-three factories, and on November 10 there were employed in those same factories 1,205 men. In the other thirty-one factories, 613 men went out at the same time, and in these factories 509 men are now at work. This makes a total of 2,113 men who quit work July 12, and a total of 1,714 men employed in the same factories to-day. Had these men worked, they would have received $456,408. It is estimated that they have lost, aside from the amount received from the Knights of Labor, $304,272."

As a result of the eight-hour agitation, during the spring and summer of 1886, the pork and beef packers of Chicago gave that system a continued and thorough trial. As competing cities continued on the ten-hour basis, the inevitable result soon became apparent. The business could be done more cheaply at those points, and, as natural law is inexorable, the business rapidly left for the cheaper producing points. The Chicago packers, finding it useless to hold out against the inevitable, notified their help early in November, that they would be obliged to return to the ten-hour system. Rather than accede to this, nearly twenty thousand men were "ordered out." This, just at the beginning of winter, when the great majority had nothing ahead, and thousands of them had families dependent for subsistence on their daily labor. The hostile presence of such a mass made it utterly unsafe and impracticable for any minority to continue at work. The very few that attempted to do so found that their lives and homes were in imminent danger. Plenty of non-union men who wanted to work could only be protected by the use of two regiments of infantry, sent at the expense of the State, in addition to large numbers of private police. It is true that officials of the Knights of Labor discouraged violence, but the difficulty is with the system. It is a cruel thing to order twenty thousand dependent and unintelligent laborers out of their positions at the beginning of winter. It is folly to expect that they will stand idly by and see their places taken by others. It is easy to say to them, Keep quiet; but these unfortunate men have a terrible pressure on them, forcing them not to keep quiet. —Congregationalist.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Cuticura
A POSITIVE CURE for every form of Skin and Blood
Disease
from
PIMPLES to SCROFULA

SKIN TORTURES OF A LIFETIME INSTANTLY relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, a real Skin Beautifier, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure.

Eczema, tetter, ringworm, psoriasis, lichen, pruritus, scall head, dandruff, and every species of torturing, disfiguring, itching, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin and scalp, with loss of hair, when physicians and all known remedies fail.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

PIMPLES, blackheads, chapped and oily skin prevented by CUTICURA MEDICATED SOAP.

AN AGREEABLE APERIENT.

ROGERS'
DRY CITRATE OF MAGNESIA.
This Well-Known Preparation is HIGHLY RECOMMENDED
FOR
Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach and all Complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fever.

It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children.

Prepared by
A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists,
281 Bleecker Street, New York.
Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, etc.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.
ECONOMY IS WEALTH.
All the PATTERNS you wish to use during the year for nothing (a saving of from $3.00 to $1.00) by subscribing for

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE
—AND—
Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine
With Twelve Orders for Cut Paper Patterns of your own selection and of any size.
BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR
—FOR—
$3,25 (THREE TWENTY-FIVE).

DEMOREST'S THE BEST
Of all the Magazines.
CONTAINING STORIES, POEMS, AND OTHER LITERARY ATTRACTIONS, COMBINING ARTISTIC, SCIENTIFIC, AND HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

Illustrated with Original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each Magazine contains a coupon order entitling the holder to the selection of any pattern illustrated in the fashion department in that number, and in any of the sizes manufactured, making patterns during the year of the value of over three dollars.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The Largest in Form, the Largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Family Magazine Issued. 1887 will be the Twenty-third year of its publication. It is continually improved and so extensively as to place it at the head of Family Periodicals. It contains 72 pages, large quarto, 8¼ x 11½ inches, elegantly printed and fully illustrated. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York,

AND BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT COMBINED WITH THE

Christian Advocate at $3.25 Per Year.

12

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

ROYLSTON—LEE.—At the residence of Mr. B. C. Lee, January 27, 1887, by Rev. H. A. Davis, Dr. W. A. Boylston to Miss Minnie Lee, all of Red River parish, La.

RUTLAND—RUTLAND.—At the residence of the bride's father, J. W. Rutland, Esq., February 1, 1887, by Rev. A. P. Leech, Mr. C. W. Rutland to Miss S. B. Rutland, all of DeSoto county, Miss.

FORBEE—TACKETT.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dr. John Tackett, in Richland, Miss., January 20, 1887, Mr. S. P. Forsee, of Kansas City, Mo., to Miss Maggie C. Tackett.

RIDDLE—BRANNON.—At the residence of the bride's father, January 20, 1887, by Rev. C. E. McLean, Mr. N. B. Riddle, of West Feliciana, La., to Miss M. A. Brannon, of East Feliciana, La.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

NICHOLSON—"God's children are gathering home." One by one the saints are entering into their rest. Our friend and brother, REV. JOSEPH NICHOLSON, was born in Baltimore, Md., November, 1811. He came of a godly family, and was trained in a household of prayer. But, like many others, he suffered years and many opportunities to pass unimproved, but at last he heeded the voice Divine, which was saying, "Come unto me."

It was not until in his thirtieth year, while residing in the South, that he resolved no longer to resist the call of God. He sought the "one thing needful," and found the joy of the great salvation. He was a ship carpenter, and had before him the prospect of a comfortable home; but he felt that he was called of God, and moved by the Holy Ghost to take upon him the office and work of God in the gospel ministry. He was licensed and recommended as a suitable candidate to be received on trial in the traveling connection. He was received, and in due time admitted into full connection. He continued a member of the Mississippi Annual Conference from 1813 to 1856—forty four years; full forty of these effective work. He traveled various circuits. He was also a presiding elder on three large districts. Most of the work he did was what is called "hard work." Thin lands, sparse populations, the majority of the people living in narrow and uncomfortable circumstances. There were few books and cultured people, and but limited opportunities for mental cultivation. But he was regarded by the Bishops as capable of doing a presiding elder's preaching, as competent to administer the discipline of the church, and be a wholesome example to the ministry and membership of the church.

Bro. Nicholson had in him much of that heroism which has always been characteristic of consecrated itinerants—ready to go anywhere, and do any work assigned him. Rough roads, lonely rides, small salaries (some years, as a married man, receiving only one hundred dollars, and but too often only two hundred) and never a large salary. His life was one of toil, self-denial, and oft afflictions, but he trusted, worked, and waited. He was married before his conversion, and lived with his faithful and devoted wife nearly fifty years, and has left her to the blessing of God and the care of his church. The last few years of his life were years of affliction and suffering. But though his outward man was perishing, his inward man was renewed day by day, and he was continually ripening for heaven. His last sickness lasted nearly forty days. It was my privilege to see him often during his last confinement, to talk of God's goodness, to read precious lessons from his Word, to hymn 'God's praise in holy song, and gather about the throne of grace in prayer. There were no clouds on his evening sky; his sun went down in smiles. If he erred at all in this last sickness, it was in impatience to fly "away and be at rest." He died December 20, 1886, in his own house in Ocean Springs. At his request I buried him. At his request we used the 103d th hymn:

"When languor and disease invade
This trembling house of clay,
'Tis sweet to look beyond my pains
And long to fly away."

All the hymn is beautiful. Let the reader turn to it and read it. Bro. Nicholson is embalmed in grateful recollection in many a heart on earth, and he will meet many spiritual children in heaven.

J. R. WALKER.

EAST—In the city of Natchez, Miss., March 29, 1886, JOSEPH EAST died, aged about fifty-five. He was a native of Copiah county, Miss., where most of his life was spent, and all, save one, of his children were born.

For many years he was in fellowship with the Baptist Church, near which he lived; but while "once in grace always in grace" was a fond theory with him, in practice, he found it to be unsound and untrue. He backslid and fell grievously away. But in September, 1883, at the altar in Wesley Chapel, Natchez, he sought and found peace again with God, and thence forward lived an earnest, humble Christian life. The last ten years of his life abounded in suffering, but he bore it with resignation, and when prone upon his bed and nearing the end, he would fervently exhort all who came near him to turn to the Lord and forsake all else. His faith grew stronger and the way brighter as he entered the valley of the shadow of death, and he feared no evil. His widow and children mourn, not without hope; but firmly believe he is "safe in the arms of Jesus," and look forward to a glad reunion in our Father's house on high.

T. L. MELLEN.

GRINSTEAD—Died at Courtney, Grimes county, Texas, January 29, 1887, Miss L. H. GRINSTEAD, aged seventy-five years. She formerly lived with her father, near Old Bethel Camp Ground, in Wilkinson county, Miss., and with an uncle on Pearl river, in Lawrence county. From them she inherited a valuable estate, and then moved to Jackson, La., to educate her nieces and nephews. And it is there she will be remembered by her friends for her comfortable hospitality, and by the poor for her kindness and charity. Moving to Texas, the reverses of the war left her poor, but unchanged in character. Loss of property only lessened her sphere of usfulness, never weakened it. She had been a Methodist all her life, not a showy Christian, but lived her faith so beautifully that her life has left an impress upon the hearts of those who knew and loved her as lasting as an epic chiseled in marble.

It seems strange to record her as an old maid; so motherly, so fond of children—nothing old-maidish about her but her exquisite neatness and perfect order. If she had a fault, it was over indulgence to those she loved; and that one weakness lead to the one great trouble of her life, which terminated in her crowning blessing. By extravagant indulgence she came near being the ruin of her one favorite nephew, but by her untiring devotion, tears and prayers, she lived to see him walk in a new life, the pride and comfort of her old age. Oh, my darling auntie! we have walked holding to you so long; we totter without your support! Her greatest pleasure since the broken ties of earlier association has been reading the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, keeping up through its columns with her old home and friends, and rejoiced when she found one of the old Centenary boys at the helm. Many friends passed away before her, for, frail and delicate as she was, she lived to a good old age, and every moment of her life was useful—useful to others she knew no self. She trod the straight and narrow path, and went repeating, "Jesus, lover of my soul."

HER NIECE.

WILSON—Mrs. MATILDA WILSON, wife of Capt. Thomas A. Wilson, died after a short illness in Port Gibson, Miss., February 3, 1887, aged fifty years. Her maiden name was Carradine. She was born in Jefferson county, Miss., but resided for some years after her marriage in the city of Natchez.

In early life she became a Christian, and was through life remarkable for her kind and generous disposition. She was charitable with both hand and tongue, giving to all who asked or needed aid, and never speaking evil of any. She fed even tramps, lest some worthy person should be turned away empty; and when hardly treated by others, she was still ready to do them good, leaving vengeance to God, to whom vengeance belongeth. Her call from the life below to the life above was very sudden. While attending to the ordinary duties of her home, she said to her daughter, "I feel so bad," and lay down, and became at once insensible. The words were her last. Several physicians were called and did what they could for her relief, but all in vain. Apoplexy and paralysis had suspended the recuperative powers of nature. In about thirty-six hours she ceased to breathe. Hers was a signal illustration of the words, "In the midst of life we are in death." She was an affectionate mother and a devoted and dutiful wife. The poor have lost a constant and generous friend, and the church and community, a useful member. She was a faithful worker in every society where good was to be done. She will be missed by many whom her kindness blessed. "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." Let those who mourn her departure strive to imitate her virtues, and to reach the heaven she sought.

W. L. C. H.

KNIGHT—REV. JOSEPH KNIGHT, M. D., a local preacher of long standing, and a useful and highly respected citizen, died in this neighborhood last night, and his remains were taken by train to their final resting-place at Pattersonville, Feb. 2. He had attained his seventy-fourth year; was born and had always lived in this country; in his younger days had served as a missionary among the French and Indians of the Attakapas, and up to a recent period had done good service in the church as a local preacher. He survived a wife and fourteen children; one child only, Sister Goodrich, at whose house he died, surviving him. The memory of our departed brother deserves a more extended notice, and it is hoped that some one better acquainted with his life and character will write it.

J. W. MEDLOCK.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The proof that Shallenberger's Pills are an Antidote for Malaria is found in the fact that a cure is immediate. Quinine and other remedies bring temporary relief after some time—often many days. One dose of the Antidote brings immediate relief; chills are stopped, all unpleasant symptoms disappear, and after a few more doses perfect health and strength are secured.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & CO.,

HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS, London, England.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

Faultless Family Medicine.

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good, and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and if used in time is a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so.

"Rev. James M. Rollins,
"Pastor M. E. Church, So. Fairfield, Va."

TIME AND DOCTORS' BILLS SAVED by always keeping Simmons Liver Regulator in the house.

"I have found Simmons Liver Regulator the best Family Medicine I ever used for anything that may happen; have used it in Indigestion, Colic, Diarrhea, Biliousness, and found it to relieve immediately. After eating a hearty supper, if on going to bed I take about a teaspoonful, I never feel the effects of the supper eaten.

"DAVID G. SPARKS,
"Ex-Mayor, Macon, Ga."

Be ONLY GENUINE

Has our Z Stamp on front of Wrapper.

J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Sole Proprietors.

Price, $1. PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Prof. James H. Ayhurst, M. D.,

Member Royal College of Surgeons, Member Royal College of Physicians, Surgeon to the Royal Naval Hospital, writes: "LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC is certainly a very superior preparation * * * I have prescribed it very extensively."

Equally emphatic indorsements from Thousands of the most eminent medical authorities from all parts of the world, among them being

Prof. Christian Von Vogel,

Knight of the Order of the Red Eagle, Knight of the Order of the Bavarian Crown, Physician to the Duke of Mecklenburg, &c., &c.

Prof. JOHN M. FARNHAM, M. D., LL.D.,

Professor of Surgery, New York Medical College, Commissioner Board of Health, New York City; ex-Health Officer Port of New York, Surgeon in Chief New York State Hospitals, &c., &c.

CAUTION—The Liebig Co.'s Chemists to the Royal Family) were the first to prepare Coca Tonics. A horde of imitations under various name-leave spring up. Be sure to ask for LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC.

NEW YORK DEPOT,
38 MURRAY STREET.

Premiums Awarded

—TO THE—

SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY

—BY THE—

N. O. and S. A. EXPOSITION.

FIRST MEDAL

For the Best Sewing Machine for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles, 15c per dozen; two dozen, 25c. All other styles, from 15c to 25c. Oil, 5c a bottle. Singer Shuttles, 25c each. Postage extra.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,

185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

S. E. RUNDLE, Agent.

A. Brousseau's Son,

23 and 25 CHARTRES ST.,

CHINA MATTING,
CARPETS,
INGRAINS,
LACE CURTAINS,
WINDOW SHADES,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS,

TERRY & MACK
CORRECT STYLES
MENS FURNISHING GOODS
UNDERWEAR SHIRTS ETC
9 CARONDELET ST.

Fishing Tackle and Ammunition,

WOODEN AND WILLOW-WARE,
PAPER, ROPE, GLASSWARE,
HARDWARE.

Axle Grease,	Oars and Oakum,
Baseball Goods,	Oil Cans and Stoves,
Blacking and Blue,	Oyster Tongs,
Checks and Combs,	Perfumery and Soaps,
Corks and Bottles,	Rope Reels,
Croquet and Marbles,	Stationery,
Knives—pocket and table	Tinware,
Lamps and Trimmings,	Twines and Wick,
Lye and Sal Soda,	Whips and Lashes,
Mirrors,	Wire Goods.

J. C. MORRIS,

Nos. 40, 42 and 44 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.

Sole Agency South for the Celebrated Hickok Calcium Burners and Empire Co. Scales.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Philip Werlein's

135 Canal Street,

THE GREAT PIANO HOUSE

—OF THE—

SOUTH.

THE PLACE

TO BUY YOUR

PIANOS AND ORGANS

Greatest Bargains

NOW OFFERED.

GOODWYN'S

EUREKA YEAST POWDER
IT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF
TRADE MARK
H F
I HAVE FOUND IT

NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Dealers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is POSITIVELY PURE, EXCELLENT and HEALTHFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. Its sale is the BEST GRAPE CREAM TARTAR. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE by Doctors Wm. G. Austin, C. J. Bickham, J. J. Lyons, Jas. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. OUR CHEMISTS SAY IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

Mrs. P. M. GOODWYN,

221 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.

Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.

JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.,

GAS FIXTURES,

PLUMBERS,

Steam and Gas Fitters,

—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—

HOME COMFORT RANGE,

TELEPHONE No. 865.

NO. 110 CAMP STREET,

New Orleans.

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing Goods.

Successor in Wholesale

—TO—

WHEELER & PIERSON,

No. 86 CANAL STREET,

New Orleans.

YALE & BOWLING,

WHOLESALE

DRY GOODS

—AND—

NOTIONS,

17, 19 and 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

WALL PAPER

in all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty. WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES, WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS. UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.

Framing Neatly Done.

PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS. RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS.

EDWARD HEATH,

No. 75 CAMP STREET. NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

AMMONIATED RAW BONE SUPERPHOSPHATE.

PURE GROUND BONE.

200 Pounds to the Acre will Double the Yield.

"Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar, Cabbage and Orange Fertilizers.

Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Sterns's Fertilizing and Chemical W'k's Co.,

11 Pabst St., New Orleans

BIG PAY TO AGENTS

FOR INTRODUCING OUR GOODS EVERYWHERE. For Samples and Terms send 25 cents in stamps. Address all orders to

La. Wire and Iron Manufacturing Co.,

58 and 60 NORTH DERBIGNY ST.,

New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

Cash Capital	$300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1887	429,600 30

Fire, River and Marine Insurance on fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT MOUGHER, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

John T. Moore, Jr., H. Schwabacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, F. C. Ernst

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House-Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 pieces	$10
Decorated Dinner Sets	from $12 to $35
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape	$3
American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 130 pieces	$12 00
Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape	2 50
Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape	3 50

Handsomely Japanned Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slops Jar and Foot-Tub, at $1 25 a set. Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set. Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 cents to $2 per dozen. Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 50 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

New Store! New Goods!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youths' Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits; $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear; Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks.

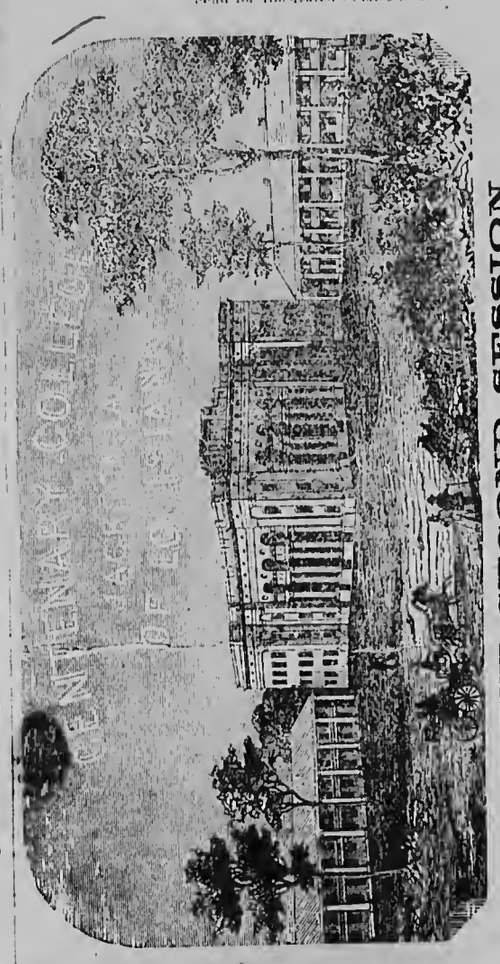
Lowest prices and best goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S, 50 and 52 CAMP STREET.

FURNITURE!

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street.

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices. Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.



SIXTY-SECOND SESSION
OPENED MONDAY, SEPT. 6, 1886.

Faculty, 7. Property, $100,000. Alumni, 250. Location unsurpassed in point of healthfulness and morality. Accessible by rail from all point. Scholarships for 4 years, $125. Board, $10 per month. For Catalogue and full information address

REV. T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D., PRESIDENT, Jackson, La.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the sovereign remedy. Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country; but their short lease of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and spasms are most frequently the result of these hidden sappers and miners. When they are irritable and feverish, sometimes craving food and eating ravenously, again refusing wholesome diet, tossing restlessly in sleep, moaning and grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from earliest infancy, therefore parents—especially mothers who are more constantly with their children, cannot be too observing of the first symptoms of worms, for as surely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the most delicate infant, by the timely use of B. A Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and use it in their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its uniform success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a safe purgative, not suspecting the cause of the illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged and immediate relief afforded. Great caution must be used by every purchaser to be his own judge in one sense, and to examine every bottle he buys of it. The simple name of FAHNESTOCK is not sufficient. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. FAHNESTOCK, and be satisfied with nothing less.

NEW FRANKLIN, HOWARD CO., MO.

Messrs. J. E. Schwartz & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.

Gentlemen—I have used some of that most excellent remedy, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, and found it to have the desired effect. I think your vermifuge can not safely be dispensed with in any family.

Yours, &c., J. W. THURMAN, M. D.

CAMBRIDGE, MD.

Having used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is safe, reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed.

THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

SUCCESSORS TO
J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

EVERYTHING THAT IS NEW IN SEEDS IS RARE IN PLANTS is offered and described to our

CATALOGUE No. 248, which this year we send out in an illuminated cover. The Catalogue is replete with new engravings of the choicest flowers and vegetables, many of which can only be obtained from us; and contains, besides, 2 beautiful colored plates, and very full instructions on all garden work. Altogether it is the best ever offered by us, and, we believe, is the most complete publication of its kind ever issued. Mailed on receipt of 10 cents (in stamps), which may be deducted from first order. Please be sure to order Catalogue by the number.

PETER HENDERSON & CO. 35 & 37 Cortlandt St., NEW YORK.

1887 GREGORY'S SEED CATALOGUE 1887

What Mr. Beyer says: "Please accept my best thanks for the splendid seeds received from your firm. It would be a rather lengthy list if I should name all, but will say that among the 38 first, and 3 second premiums awarded me at our fairs in Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan, 25 first premiums were for vegetables raised from your seeds. What firm can beat this?" ARNOLD BEYER, Sec. Bend, Ind.

Seed of this quality I am now ready to sell to every one who tills a farm or plants a garden, sending them FREE my Vegetable and Flower Seed Catalogue, for 1887. Old customers need not write for it. Catalogue this season the native wild potato. JAS. J. H. GREGORY, Seed Grower, Marblehead, Mass.

The Great Church LIGHT.

PRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. L. P. PRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending February 15, 1887.)

COTTON.

Low ordinary	7	@— —
Ordinary	7 1/2	— —
Good ordinary	8 1/4	— —
Low middling	8 11-16	— —
Middling	9	— —
Good middling	9 3/8	— —
Middling fair	9 7/8	— —
Fair	10 9-16	— —
Galveston middling	8 13-16	— —
Mobile middling	8 7/8	— —
St. Louis middling	8 7/8	— —

SUGAR.

Inferior	2 1/8	3
Common	3 1/4	3 5/8
Good common	3 1/4	3 5/8
Fair	3 3/4	4
Good fair	4 1-16	4 1/8
Fully fair	4 1-16	4 1/8
Prime	4 1/4	4 3/8
Strictly Prime	4 1/4	4 3/8
Choice	4 7-16	—
Seconds	4	4 3/4
Choice yellow	5 7-16	5 1/2
Gray White	— —	— —
Choice whites	— —	5 9-16
Stan. Gran	5 3/4	— —

MOLASSES.

Syrup, Open Kettle	— —	— —
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —

RICE.

Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —
Prime	— —	— —
Good	3 1/4	3 3/8
Fair	3	3 1/8
Ordinary	2 7/8	3
Common	2 5/8	2 3/4
No. 2	— —	2 1/8
Rough	2 50	2 90

FLOUR.

Minnesota bakers	4 62 1/2	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12 1/2
Extra fancy	4 50	4 62 1/2
Winter wheat patents	5 12 1/2	5 25
Choice	3 75	3 85
Fancy	4 15	4 25
Extra Fancy	4 30	4 40

CORN PRODUCTS.

Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 25	— —
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White	46	— —
Yellow	46	47
Mixed	— —	46
OATS:
Western	36 1/2	37
Texas rust-proof	48	— —
BRAN:
₱ cwt	5	8
HAY:
Choice	15 00	15 50
Prime	13 50	14

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess	14 1/4	— —
Prime Mess	13 50	13 75
Rumps	12 75	13 00
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	11	— —
Shoulders	6 3/4	7
Sides, long clear	7 7/8	8
Sides, short rib	7 3/8	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	— —	12 00
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	5 80	5 90
Sides, long clear	7 1/4	— —
Sides, short rib	7 3/8	— —

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	16
Fair	— —	15 1/2
Common	— —	13 1/4
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	27	28
Western Dairy	20	21
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6 1/2	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12 1/2	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	30	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₱ head	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 90	2 25
KHOUT:
Western, ₱ bbl	— —	7 00
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	3 25	3 50

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
1 3/4 lb, per yd	7 3/4	— —
2 lb	8 1/2	— —
BALING TWINE:
₱ lb	10	— —
TIES:
₱ bundle	1 00	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 50	5 00
Young Chickens	3 00	3 50
Chickens, South'n	2 50	3 00
Young	1 75	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	9 00
EGGS:
Western	10	11
Southern	10	11
WOOL:
Lake, per lb	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	12
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₱ lb	— —	7
Dry salted	— —	10 1/2
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₱ ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	35 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₱ lb	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1 3/4	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. RIGGS & BRO., 247 Belford street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

FEBRUARY 8.

The Italian Cabinet has resigned. ——The Belgian government has introduced a bill into the Chamber of Deputies for extra budget appropriations, amounting to 40,000,000 francs, of which 19,000,000 francs are asked for pressing military purposes.——The French Chamber of Deputies pass the war and naval credits to the amount of 86,000,000 francs for the army, and 30,000,000 francs for the navy.——The Chinese Indemnity Bill passed by the House.——A memorial from certain citizens of Ohio, asking the National Assembly, to negotiate for the acquisition of Canada, was presented to the Senate yesterday.

FEBRUARY 9.

The peace footing of the German army is 425,000; the war footing, 2,762,000 men.——Rumors of dissension in the British Cabinet are rife.——The Pennsylvania House of Representatives has passed a joint resolution providing for the submission of the question of a prohibition amendment to a vote of the people by a vote of 130 to 86.——It is reported that immense and inexhaustible beds of iron ore have been discovered near Greuada, Miss.

FEBRUARY 10.

The Italian Chamber of Deputies has approved the credit for the construction of a cable telegraph from the island of Perim, at the entrance of the Red Sea, to Massowah.——Gov. Beaver, of Pennsylvania, signed the joint resolution for the submission of a prohibitory constitutional amendment to the people.——Hon. Albert Voorhies has been appointed to succeed Lazarus as judge of the Civil District Court, parish of Orleans, by the governor.

FEBRUARY 11.

The Russian Mediterranean fleet has been ordered to Japan, where the Czar intends to assemble a squadron of considerable proportions.——"Boodle" Alderman O'Neill has been sentenced to four and a half years' imprisonment. ——The President has vetoed the Dependent Pension Bill.

FEBRUARY 12.

The German government is assured of a majority in the Reichstag.——Bernard O'Reilly telegraphs to the Sun from Glenganff as follows: Pope Leo's action in Germany secures the peace of Europe; the Emperor William will withhold the warlike manifesto he would otherwise have published.——Cholera has made its appearance at Essagg, Slavonia. The average is eight deaths daily.——Atlanta had a $200,000 fire this evening. ——An act appropriating $500,000 for the South American Mail Service passed by the Senate.

FEBRUARY 13.

Cardinal Gibbons and Taschereau arrived at Rome to-day.——Rioting resumed in Belfast and other points in Ireland.——The National Gazette says that the Emperor of Russia has sent a friendly letter to the Emperor William.——Advices from Vienna state that Emperor William is in a very weak condition.——The Ship Railway Bill comes up in Congress to-day. ——The papers report no further opposition to the Sunday Law.——Bishop Greene, of the Mississippi Diocese, died at Sewanee, Tenn., to-day.

FEBRUARY 14.

In the House of Lords, during the debate on the Irish question, Lord Fitzgerald said that before there could be peace and prosperity in Ireland, the land question must be settled and industries must be encouraged. He reminded members that since the sixteenth century the whole course of legislation had been to repress Irish industries,——Emperor William will issue his manifesto on the nineteenth. ——Diplomatic relations between Portugal and Zanzibar have been ruptured.——The Propaganda gave a banquet to Cardinals Gibbons and Taschereau.——Mr. Gladstone will resume his seat in Parliament on Monday.——Secretary Manning has resigned. His resignation is to take effect on the appointment and qualifications of his successor.

A Great Religious Paper.

The NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE celebrated on Thursday its thirty-sixth anniversary. The paper was started in the interest of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in February, 1851, by Rev. H. N. McTyeire, afterward a Bishop, and Mr. John W. Crockett, a partner in the New Orleans Crescent. In order to cheapen the cost of the work only one side of the paper was filled with matter expressly prepared for it. The other side was made up of reading matter transferred while in type from the forms of the Crescent. Dr. McTyeire was its first editor. During the civil war the paper suspended publication, but was revived on the re-establishment of peace between the States. Dr. McTyeire having been made a Bishop, Rev. Dr. J. C. Keener succeeded him as editor. Dr. Keener was made Bishop in 1870, when he was succeeded in the editorial management by Rev. Linus Parker, D. D. Dr. Parker having been made a Bishop, was succeeded by Rev. Dr. C. B. Galloway as editor. Dr. Galloway was made a Bishop in 1886, when he was succeeded by Rev. C. W. Carter, D. D., who is the present incumbent. Four Bishops from the editorial chair of the ADVOCATE is a remarkable record, and it redounds grandly to the honor of journalism, as well as to the credit of the eminent and pious prelates who have illustrated their ability and worth in the high places of the church as well as in the arduous and trying labors of the editorial profession. Bishops McTyeire, Keener and Galloway still survive to give their valuable services to their church, but Bishop Parker has gone to his rest, mourned by millions of his brethren. The last number of the ADVOCATE contains interesting historical reminiscences of the past of the paper by several of its former editors.

The ADVOCATE is ably and intelligently conducted, and can not fail to grow in power and influence as it grows in age.—The Picayune.

A WORD OF COMFORT.—He who shows mercy to another remembers himself. To be pitiful is to be thoughtful. Those who are in the full tide of health can not easily think what it really is to be worn with unrelieved pain and disease. Those in whose happy homes there seem to be the perpetual festival of comfort, and the sweetest friendships, can hardly imagine what it is to have the home broken up, and to be outcast and alone. The infinite comfort which there is in Christ's love and presence and friendship is due in part to the infinite thoughtfulness of his love.

"If it were not so," said Jesus to his disciples, "I would have told you." What is it that he would have so surely told them, "if it were not so!" This, that in God's home, in the home of the Father of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, there is abundant room; that there is his own prepared place for each one; and that this home, assured to every disciple, is no mere guest-house for a night or a day, but a home that has the element of permanence, an abiding-place.

The need of that "perpetual vision of a better world," whose light shines through the darkness of the present life, is not a need for a few here and there, but a necessity for every one and everywhere. "If it were not so, I would have told you." The reasons, then, are obvious enough why we, too, should tell of it, that all may know it. "The duty of us all," declared Victor Hugo, "whoever we may be, legislators and bishops, priests, authors, journalists, is to spread abroad, to dispose and lavish in every form the social energy necessary to comfort poverty and suffering, and at the same time bid every face be lifted up to heaven!"

Anarchism is simply applied atheism. Despair is at the bottom of it. What the people, rich and poor alike, need supremely to hear and to heed, is that voice of Jesus that comes to us ringing down the ages: "Let not your heart be troubled; believe in God, believe also in me." The "perpetual vision" of the Father's home is as truly for the disciples now as then.—Congregationalist.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.

One of the most important of coming events is the grand Convention of Dairymen and Fruit Growers, which will be held at Jackson, Miss., on the 16th, 17th and 18th of the present month. For this meeting the most elaborate preparations have been made. His Excellency Governor Robert Lowry, will welcome visitors in the name of the State of Mississippi, and Hon. John McGill, Mayor of Jackson, will extend greetings in behalf of that progressive, enterprising, interesting and pleasant city.

Liberal butter premiums have been offered by the commission merchants of New Orleans and by the business men of Jackson, for which competition is opened to the world.

Profound interest in the industries of the South has been awakened throughout the Union, and especially as to early vegetables, fine berries, fruits and dairy products. In evidence of this, we cite the fact that at this convention addresses will be delivered by such learned and practical men as W. D. Hoard, Esq., editor of Hoard's Dairyman, Fort Atkinson, Wis.; Prof. S. A. Knapp, late president of the Iowa Agricultural College; Col. R. M. Littler, of Chicago, Col. R. P. McCliney, secretary Elgin Board of Trade, and many others, who by years of careful study and experience are qualified to give advice on all matters bearing upon the management of the dairy, as well as upon general farm topics.

Here will be a rare opportunity for our farmers to show what they can do, see what others are doing, and hear from the lips of men who are competent to teach, and whose eloquence and grace enable them to impart their knowledge in a pleasant manner, what can and should be done.

We are gratified to add that the old stand-by—the great Illinois Central Railroad, always the friend of the people, with its usual liberality and public spirit, will not only transport all products intended for exhibition free of charge, but will sell excursion tickets lower than ever before heard of—about one cent a mile, which is cheaper than walking! We call upon our people to make a grand rally at Jackson and by their active co-operation, show that they appreciate the interest taken in the improvement and development of our section.

It is being said that we have in these days too much preaching to the same congregations, and we are not sure that the point is not well taken. If the minister could preach at one place in the morning and in another at night, a larger number of persons might hear the gospel. But that would require more preaching-houses, and in some cities now there is a tendency toward church consolidation, and we are not sure that Protestantism is not in a fair way to "consolidate" itself out of some cities altogether. There must be a restoration of the evangelistic conception of the ministry, and an appreciation of the supreme importance of saving "the people who live within a quarter of a mile." Too many churches are virtually abandoned. We are still to go out into the highways and byways and compel the people to come in.—Western Christian Advocate.

The Labor Conspiracy.

Just now we are in the midst of the greatest strike of organized labor ever known in this city, and one whose baleful effects are not only felt by our commerce, but also fall heavily upon those who are no parties to it, and especially upon the suffering poor. The original strike was a very proper one, emanating as it did from the coal handlers in the employ of a single New Jersey coal company who refused to accept a reduction of wages. The subsequent strikes based upon the one noted were not only irrelevant and unnecessary, but they took the form of conspiracy and intimidation. As we have said, the coal handlers who would not accept a reduction of wages were justified in their refusal to work on those terms.

But by what right did the coal handlers of other cities—Hoboken, Jersey City and all along the Jersey water front—combine and demand a heavy increase of wages, enforcing at the same time other arbitrary conditions?

The reply is—By no right: the new strikers were instigated to this by the Knights of Labor who ordered such strikes, and included the freight 'longshoremen, grain handlers and trimmers, coal-boat men, bag sewers, tugboat men, lightermen and others, with disastrous results—steamers idle at the pier, freights untouched, business stopped and commerce paralyzed.

The conspiracy assumes two forms—that of intimidation and the boycott. It requires no argument to show that both these methods are clearly and wholly wrong in law and common justice. Of course, with the offence comes the remedy. And the first remedy will be organized resistance, with the capital behind it, of which the great St. Louis strikes furnish an example and a warning. As a result labor will suffer, and it ought to suffer. The second remedy will be law. Abuse always provides its own correction, give it time. In the end people become impatient; they demand redress at the hands of the law; at the last the Legislature interferes, passes the requisite law; and as one abuse is thus checked so one form of liberty perishes. It was so with the anarchists; it was so with boycotters now in prison for their offence; it is becoming more and more so with liquor dealers; it is sure to become so with conspiring labor organizations that combine for the purpose of forcing a settlement on their own terms.

The truth is, the public are growing tired of this sort of conspiracy, and they will not long endure it. Business can not be carried on, nor can labor be employed on terms dictated by the Knights, neither will the public allow itself to be imposed upon as they are now being imposed upon by a conspiracy which creates suffering, especially among the poor who are otherwise unable to help themselves. The sooner the Knights find this out the better for their common sense, and the better for their liberties, which will be surely taken away from them if they prove themselves unworthy the sacred trust. It is by excess that liberty is lost; it is by oppression and wrong doing that the Knights may yet be placed outside the law, and their last state be made worse than the first.—Christian at Work.

PURE READING.—The taste for pure reading can not be too early cultivated. The careful selection of books for the young, and a watchful supervision of their reading matter, can not be too strenuously impressed upon parents and teachers. Books are to the young either a savor of life unto life, or death unto death; either contaminating or purifying, or weakening, or strengthening to the mind of the reader.

If the first aim of a public school system is to make men better workers, the second should be to make them thinkers, and to accomplish this, young minds must be brought into correspondence with the thoughts and works of the great men of the past and of to-day.

Nine-tenths of what they have learned, as arithmetic, algebra, geometry and geography, will pass away as the cares of life come upon them. But the taste for pure reading, when acquired, will never pass away; it will be of use every day and almost every hour; they will find it a refuge and a solace in the time of adversity, and be happy when others are sad; it will spread from the father to the third and fourth generations.

Quarterly Conferences.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Alexandria	Feb. 19, 20
Bayou Boeuff, at Elm Bayou	(Wed.) 23
Evergreen	26, 27
Melville, at Melville	Mar. 5, 6
Trinity, at Bennett's School-house	12, 13
Centreville, at Centreville	19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 27
Montgomery, at Montgomery	Apr. 2, 3
Ada, at Gray's Creek	9, 10

District stewards' meeting at Alexandria, February 19, 1887.

R. F. ALEXANDER, P. E.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Vernon circuit, at Oak Ridge	Feb. 19, 20
Ruston, at Ruston	26, 27
Minden circuit, at Minden	Mar. 5, 6
Tulip circuit, at Tulip	12, 13
Haynesville circuit, at Haynesville	19, 20
Homer circuit, at Homer	26, 27
Farmerville circuit, at Farmerville	Apr. 2, 3
Summerfield circuit, at Alabama	9, 10
Downsville circuit, at Downsville	16, 17
Indian Village circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Ringgold circuit, at Ringgold	30, May 1
Sparta and Saline, at Sparta	7, 8

The district stewards will please meet at the Methodist Church in Ruston, February 26, at three o'clock P. M.

ROBERT RANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

West Monroe, at West Monroe	Feb. 19, 20
Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	26, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof	Mar. 5, 6
Richland	12, 13
Lind Grove, at Bartholomew	19, 20
Oak Ridge, at Good Hope	26, 27
Floyd, at Oak Grove	Apr. 2, 3
Bastrop	9, 10

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Many and Sabine, at New Hope	Feb. 19, 20
Coushatta, at Coushatta	23, —
East Point, at Coushatta Academy	26, 27
Red River, at Campo Bella	Mar. 5, 6
Shreveport, at Shreveport	9
Caddo, at Friendship	12, 13
South Bossier, at Bellevue	16
North Bossier, at Concord	19, 20
Mooringsport, at Pine Hill	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Shreveport, on Thursday, March 10, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Methodist Church.

J. B. CASSITY, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

LaFayette	Feb. 19, 20
New Iberia	26, 27
Rayne	Mar. 5, 6
Lake Charles	12
German Mission	13, 14
Sulphur Mine	20, 21

S. S. KEENER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

German Charges, at Dryades Street	Feb. 20
Plaquemine and Donaldsville, at Plaq.	26, 27
Algiers and Gretna, at Algiers	Mar. 6
Louisiana Avenue	13
Moreau	20
Carrollton and Parker Ch., at Carrollton	27
Baton Rouge	Apr. 2, 3

JOHN. T. SAWYER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Amite City, at Amite City	Feb. 18, 19
Springfield, at Ponchatoula	20, 21
Livingston, at Palmetto	(Wed.) 23
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel	(Thu.) 24
Percy's Creek	26, 27
Woodville	27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	5, 6

J. A. B. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Fayette	Feb. 19, 20
Cane Ridge	26, 27
Angulla	Mar. 5, 6
Meyersville	12, 13
Nebo	19, 20
Roxie	21, 22

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

If Sufferers from Consumption,

Scrofula, Bronchitis, and General Debility will try Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, they will find immediate relief and permanent benefit. The Medical Profession universally declare it a remedy of the greatest value and very palatable. Read: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in several cases of Scrofula and Debility in Children. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure.—W. A. HULBURT, M. D., Salisbury, Ill.

God is light. So is the religion of the Bible. It has no fellowship with darkness. Not one of its graces springs from stupidity or ignorance, but all of them from a knowledge of God. False religions are founded in darkness. The religion of the Bible, like its author, dwells in light. God also is love; and so is the religion of the Bible.—Gardner Spring.

ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement,

—1887.—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash in full to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price.	Our price.
Southern Cultivator,	$3 50	$2 75
American Agriculturist,	3 50	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos,	14 00	13 00
" " 6 "	7 00	6 50
Weekly "	3 50	2 50
" Times-Democrat,	3 50	2 75
Harper's Magazine,	6 00	4 75
" Weekly,	6 00	4 75
" Bazar,	6 00	4 75
" Young People,	4 00	3 00
Demorest's Magazine,	4 00	3 25

Send cash in full with all orders.

No attention paid to orders without cash.

Hugh Jamieson, Jr.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

MUSIC BOOKS

FOR

MALE and MIXED QUARTETS, for QUARTET CHOIRS, and SOCIAL SINGS.

FOR MALE VOICES.

Amphion (5 books), $4; Arion (5 books), $4; Harmonia (5 books), $2.50; Apollo, $2; Boylston Club Collection, $1.50; Cross' Part Songs, 60 cts.; Emerson's Quartets and Choruses, 60 cts.; Male Voice Glee Book, $1; Mendelssohn's Four-Part Songs, 60 cts.; Sanger-Fest, $1.38; Dow's Sacred Quartets, $1.75; Male Voice Choir, 50 cts.; and American Male Choir, 80 cts.

These contain a great variety of the best of Male Voice music.

FOR MIXED VOICES.

Baumbach's Quartets, $1.75; and his new Collection, $1.75; Buck's Motet Collection, $2; and his Second Motet Collection, $2; Emerson's Concert Selections, $1; Dow's Responses, and Sentences, 80 cts.; Thomas' Sacred Quartets, $1.75; Emerson's Sacred Quartets, $1.75; Shepard Church Collection, $1; Strachauer's Church Music, $1; Church Offering, $1.38; Dressler's Sacred Selections, $1.50. Sterling good books, widely used.

Send for descriptions. Any book mailed for Price.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, New York.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidently made a preparation of Indian Hemp which cured his only child of CONSUMPTION. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that CONSUMPTION can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this recipe free, only asking two 2-cent stamps to pay expenses. This herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1032 RACE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, naming this paper.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 - - - - Camp Street - - - 8

Watchmaker,

—DEALER IN—

WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY,

—AND—

SILVERWARE.

A Full Line of Spectacles.

Repairing of Every Description.

H. D. McCOWN,

—DEALER IN—

Mens', Youths' and Boys' Clothing,

HATS, SHIRTS,

—AND—

FURNISHING GOODS,

COR. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS.

New Orleans, La.

WANTED—Agents for Memoirs of R. E. Lee. J. W. EVANS & Co., 189 Camp St., N. O.

KNABE

PIANOFORTES.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

WILLIAM KNABE & CO.

Nos. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street

Baltimore. No. 112 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

BALTIMORE CHURCH BELLS

Established 1844. Jal Prize at the New Orleans Exposition 1885-6. For circulars prices, etc., address J. Regester & Sons, Baltimore, Md.

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886, with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Rates of board and tuition without music, one hundred and seventy-five dollars; with music, two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments, one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in similar proportion. If the entire bills for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Four pupils engaging a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the regular rates, and tuition in both literary and music department free of charge.

Special vocal training is not included in the regular lessons for music, but will be charged as an additional course in music.

In making engagements for the year, a club of four young ladies who wish to pay all in advance will receive board, tuition and one course in music for $176 25—a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue price; or by paying one-half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRACE, Pres.
S. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 8. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1595.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

THE VOYAGE.

BY REV. F. DENISON.

Embarked on life's uncertain deep,
That, tempest-snitten, ceaseless rolls,
We needs must constant vigil keep
To brave the blasts and shun the shoals.

We trace the voyagers passed before
Successful o'er the surging flood,
Safe landed on the peaceful shore,
At home upon the hills of God.

Past rocks and reefs their course was laid,
The Word Divine their chosen chart,
Their eyes on heavenly signals staid,
And faith their compass of the heart.

Above the storms that rose to whelm,
They caught the beam of Bethlehem's star,
And onward, with unswerving helm,
Pressed joyful to the port afar.

Though sirens chanted from the isles
Of pleasure, tempting them to doom,
They heeded more the angel smiles
That beckoned from the heavenly home.

Now, safe from every lure and woe,
From every storm forever free,
They rest beyond the gales that blow
Our perilled barks across the sea.

Heaven grant that we that port may hail—
The haven of eternal calm—
To joyful furl the storm-worn sail
And sing the alleluia psalm.

Journeying to the Mound City.

BY REV. C. G. ANDREWS, D. D.

MR. EDITOR: Letters descriptive of persons and things seen on a journey sometimes interest readers when more elaborate contributions fail. With your permission, therefore, I will tell somewhat of a recent trip to St. Louis, in order to perform a marriage ceremony. As a rule, all marriages ought to be celebrated by the pastor of the lady to be married; ordinarily, it is a breach of ministerial etiquette for one from a distance to take the place of the pastor on these interesting occasions. So ought all judicious ministers to teach by precept and by example. But, as the young lady around whom I was to throw the silken tie was related to me by ties of blood and intimate association, I considered this case an exception to the general rule; especially, as Dr. Messick, upon whose pastorate I was trespassing, sent me a graceful letter, waiving all his rights in the premises, save that of stipulating that I should fill his pulpit on the Sabbath.

Studying the time table as I rode along, I was impressed with the close proximity in which the iron horse brought St. Louis and Jackson. The distance between is put down at 513 miles. That seems formidable; but when you note that the time table obligates the engineer to start his train at St. Louis at 7:35 P. M., and land you, barring accidents, at Jackson the next evening at 3:75, then minutes minnify miles. A little sum in division of compound numbers showed me that on my return I would be transported over the whole distance at the rate of a mile in a little over two minutes, including stoppages and including the ferriage of the entire train over the Ohio river at Cairo. This same time table gives the running time between two stations, which are twenty-three miles apart, as twenty-nine minutes, including three intermediate stops. Allowing two minutes for each stop, this makes the train to speed away at the rate of sixty miles an hour. Remembering recent smash-ups, I found some comfort in the fact that a friend had bought for me an "accident" ticket and forwarded it to my wife. But, thanks to a merciful Providence, the "accident" people got that premium as clear gain.

The weather on the day I left home was clear and as warm as the advanced spring time; but a change to rain, then sleet, then snow, rapidly ensued, so that before we were cleverly out of Mississippi, the tops of passing trains glistened with a covering of white. I began to shiver in anticipation of a thermometer below zero; but was consoled by the thought that I could test the truth of what I had frequently heard, that one did not feel the cold as sensibly in the North as in the South, because up there it is more settled and not so damp. But experience soon proved that St. Louis was subject to as sudden changes as Jackson, and that the air was just as chill and penetrating. The day after my arrival the streets and pavements were frozen slick, furnishing a gala time for the small boy on skates, but causing the walking to be exceedingly ticklish. The next day was one of continuous rain; the next, one of thaw and slush; the next, balmy as spring time—overcoat unnecessary; while still the next was bracing and bright, invigorating to the lungs, and gilding the spires of the great city with an attractive light.

I was prepared to expect much of St. Louis Methodists and St. Louis churches; but actual experience showed that the half had not been told. Venerable St. John's, with everything so elegant, so tasteful, so well-appointed, its auditorium so spacious, yet so easy to speak in, and its audience so appreciative, grand organ, Sunday-school-room, pastor's study, class-rooms, parlors, lunch-room, and even a kitchen with range and culinary vessels all complete, leave nothing unprovided that might be called for in the whole realm of ecclesiastical conveniences.

Cook's Avenue Church has not long been completed, and is a marvel of beauty and appropriateness. Here, too, are all wants provided for. The pastor, in showing me through the department provided for creature comforts, remarked, "We can seat a whole Annual Conference, and yet have room." What pleased me most was, that amid all these admirable arrangements, this outlay of wealth and architectural taste, there are preserved an unostentatious piety and an old-fashioned Methodist heartiness. Think of it, ye pastors and people dying of primness and propriety, the warm-hearted pastor invited his people to come up after service and be introduced to "the brother from the genial Southland, who preached for us;" and we had a hearty handshaking with many a "God bless you," and "Hope to meet you in the better land."

The preachers' meeting on Monday morning was interesting and helpful. The presiding elder in the chair, Bishop Granbery, eight or more of the preachers of the city, two reporters for the daily papers, and the visiting brother, constituted the personnel. The reports by each pastor of his labors since last meeting were encouraging. They seek to guard sacredly every interest of Methodism in the city, looking out for new fields and checking movements in the wrong direction, and the Bishop is just at hand to guide all things in a legal way.

I arrived at home just eight days to an hour from the time of my departure, with gratitude for a safe return, with pleasant memories of genial hospitality and Christian communion, and with, I trust, a renewed purpose of consecration to my "loved employ."

"Our Church Colleges."

MR. EDITOR: The article by Bishop Galloway under the above caption, in your number of February 10, is very well calculated to accomplish its avowed end—to provoke thought and discussion. I am glad you have proffered the columns of the ADVOCATE for this latter purpose, and trust that the wise men of our church will not be backward to enter the arena. In the meantime, please permit one who makes no profession of superior wisdom, but has given some thought to the subject of connectional education, to say a word. "Have we too many colleges?" I believe this is the question, and I shall endeavor to stick by it, taking the affirmative under certain conditions, and the negative under certain others.

If then it be true, as suggested, that "we have disintegrated church life and loyalty by the multiplication of institutions designed for higher education," then, I say, let us begin at once to tear down and wipe out all but the fittest (if there be one that has withstood this calamitous trend), and there concentrate our educational strength and pour in our patronage. All loyal Methodists will agree heartily in this. But has this case been correctly diagnosed? Has such a disease as that indicated fastened itself upon the body ecclesiastic, and is the multiplicity of colleges at the root of the ailment, or in any measure the cause thereof? I think no to these queries, separately and collectively. I am more familiar with the facts in the case within the bounds of the Mississippi Conference than elsewhere, and so let us take this by way of illustration. We have within our limits three distinctively church colleges for female education and one for the higher education of males. So you see we have more of the supposed cause (of miasma, if you please), productive of this cancerous malady, than some others; yet, if I mistake not, the Mississippi Conference, as a body, and the membership of our church within these limits, are just as loyal to Methodism and show as evident signs of life as those who are less afflicted in this peculiar way. True, some of our people do not patronize our schools; but does this grow out of the fact that these institutions are numerous? I trow not, but rather out of their own whims, in many cases unaccountable; for I have known some to send their children five hundred or a thousand miles away and get only about half as much as would have been furnished almost at their own doors at half the cost. If these good parents had had higher educational facilities nearer home in their younger days, it is probable they would not now be guilty of such inexcusable folly and apparent disloyalty.

It is the mission of Methodism to spread scriptural holiness over these lands—to carry the gospel in its fullness of blessing to the people. Would it not be well then, if higher education be a good thing for our people, to take that along at the same time? I have been thinking, sir, that we might justly be charged with delinquency along this line, that we have not yet organized a "Board of College Extension," whose functions shall be to establish and maintain a college wherever youth can be found to educate.

I admit that some colleges, so called, are not what they ought to be—not colleges, in fact; for I have known some whose canvassing agents were the most successful men in their faculties—invading the legitimate territory of others, and capturing and carrying off their unsuspecting victims, simply to be fleeced by smatterers. I admit that others, worthy and well qualified, suffer for money and patronage; but these things are only unfortunate incidentals to a general good, and not arguments against the thing itself; otherwise our pastoral charges had long since been abandoned and the people called by the sound of trumpets to worship at some Gerizim or Jerusalem.

I am not informed as to where that "hapless Niobe of Methodism" is located; but I venture to say she came to grief, not on account of the multiplicity of her offspring, but because some one or more of them were bad children.

As to the endowment of church colleges, I doubt if the present policy is the wisest that could be adopted. The man who makes a favorite and pet of one of his children is sure to neglect and offend the others, however widely they may be separated. If our wealthy laymen feel moved to invest money in this direction, let them endow the cause of education—let their offerings be emptied into the treasury of the "Board of College Extension," and if that body is wisely constituted, they may rest assured that their beneficence will be dispensed according to a godly discretion; nor need they trouble themselves about being "overshadowed by a rival under the fostering care of the same Conference." This I take to be the connectional spirit applied to a great connectional interest, and "a bag with" no "holes" in it.

What shall be done with the colleges? Why, let them continue to be multiplied till one is established and maintained in every pastoral charge. Some adipose child may suffer a reduction of flesh thereby; but it will only be the healthier for that, and the good work of carrying higher education to the people will go on. Let the curriculum be brought down as low and advanced to any height that the nature of the case may demand; but let us not advocate that in Church which we reprehend in State.

T. C. BRADFORD.

Letter from Rev. T. B. Holloman.

MR. EDITOR: The morning mail brought me your rich, well-filled birthday copy of the "dear old ADVOCATE." At first glance I did not recognize it in its brand-new dress. I thought some "sample copy" seeking patronage had found its way to my desk; but a few moments only served to disabuse my mind and to disclose the fact that a new dress can change the appearance of a paper as well as a woman. So often have I heard, with a sense of surprise, a neatly-dressed lady plead that her dress was old—not soiled, not worn, not faded, not so much behind the fashion—simply old, and, therefore, she must have a new dress before she could appear in public. The bright, attractive face of the ADVOCATE in its new dress, as it celebrates its thirty-sixth birthday, explains the reason for this anxious longing after a "new dress" by our lady friends. Thirty-six years old! Well, I've seen some faces thirty-six years old that needed a new dress to set them off and secure them a welcome in polite society much worse than the ADVOCATE. But it was not my intention to write a criticism on this issue of the paper. I could wish its birthday might come several times in the year. What a royal feast you gave us this time! In your "Column of Extracts from the First Number," under the division "Write," I find much which I suppose as applicable to-day as when written by Editor McTyeire in 1851. As then, so now, the editor needs the assistance of others in making a thorough, live paper. So I contribute my mite of thoughts and facts which you are at liberty to dispose of as you think best—either to the columns or to Botany Bay. Indeed, so far as the ADVOCATE is concerned, it is ours to propose and yours to dispose, and an hour or two a week spent in writing an article for publication is not wasted even if it never sees the light, save that of the fire. Nothing is truer than that writing makes an exact man, and, therefore, should be indulged in often by those who need to know and appreciate the full meaning of language.

In my last communication to you, "A Word for the Young Men," I was misinterpreted by some to assume the role of a lecturer, when really my object was to speak a word to the laymen in behalf of the preachers. Since then I have met an aged, honored member of our church, who said, "Give us another article on that same line." Whether it was the result of that article I can not tell; but I have lately met a young man who told me that at an early hour (at a certain appointment) he was given possession of a comfortable room with all the needed appliances for spending the time profitably. Another told me that he rarely got an opportunity to look in a book as he went his rounds on a large circuit. How can a man "preach the Word" unless he have time and opportunity to "give attendance to reading"? I don't wonder at the preacher who said "he was glad there were bar-rooms and drunkards, because when other material failed these always gave him abundance to work upon." Good practical sermons are not to be disparaged in the least; but they should always be as much as possible the legitimate outgrowth of the text.

Now, another word for the preachers in the beginning of the year. Now is the time for fixing allowances and planning for the finances of the year. Anyone who will examine a copy of the minutes of our Conferences will find that none (among us) are enriched by preaching the gospel. What can the preacher live upon? is the question which determines the assessments, and how few even of these assessments are paid. By pursuing the old law of tax-in-kind, much can be done for the comfort of the pastor and the good of the works. I know a charge of four appointments which makes a good assessment, and in addition thereto each church agrees to furnish in wood, provender for horse, etc., to the amount of $25, and each church furnishes a cow to the parsonage, keeping two in the lot all the time the year round. What a comfort to that preacher's family! On the other hand, I know an appointment of four or more churches which allows the pastor to pay $30 for a cow, and that out of not a very bountiful salary. Which of these is the more thoughtful people, and which the more contented preacher?

FEBRUARY 11, 1887.

Teachers for Indian Schools.

Our church heretofore has confined its missions among the Indians to the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw, and Seminole nations. We have now a Conference embracing five presiding elders' districts and a membership of over 7,000, of whom over 5,000 are Indians. The gospel preached by our missionaries has not only proven itself the power of God unto the salvation of the Indian, but has demonstrated itself to be the chief agency that must be employed in civilizing these wards of the nation. This is now clearly recognized by those to whom our government has entrusted its Indian affairs.

Encouraged by the results of our labors among the five nations, our church must extend her work among the tribes of other reservations, especially those within the bounds of the Indian Territory. The field is open, and we must enter and occupy.

In addition to our evangelistic work, the school is an efficient agency in training the children for the Christian life, the duties of home, and the obligations of citizenship. We need teachers for Indian schools. Men of piety and culture who are willing to consecrate themselves to this department of mission work are invited to correspond with either of the undersigned:

C. B. GALLOWAY,
Brookhaven, Miss.
I. G. JOHN,
Mission Rooms, Nashville, Tenn.

Current Coins.

(Christian Index.)

Bishop Beveridge says: "A man may be a thief in God's account, by abusing his own estate: (1) when through idleness he does not endeavor lawfully to preserve and increase it; (2) when through prodigality he squanders it away; (3) when through niggardliness he denies himself the enjoyment of it." A startling thought: a man a robber and thief to himself! And if in temporal things, how much more in spiritual! A man steals from himself most madly, ruinously, wickedly, when, by rejecting grace, he renounces the favor of God here and forfeits the kingdom of Heaven hereafter.

(Advocate of Missions.)

"England expects every man this day to do his duty." As the eyes of the English sailors read that signal as they were entering battle, everyone felt the soul of a hero burning within his heart. Christ makes a like demand of his church. Each one has his post to fill, and the measure of duty is the utmost limit of his ability. There are times when this call is imperative. Such a time is the present. A debt locks the wheels of our Zion in the mission field. It will require the efforts of each preacher to remove this debt and clear the way for advance. Will anyone fail?

(Central Christian Advocate.)

When the press sets a close watch upon men who receive desirable appointment under the government, to see whether they indulge too freely in intoxicating liquors, it pays an exceedingly high tribute to the temperance sentiment in the United States; for without such sentiment this vigilance would have no meaning. There was a time when the private lives of men in political office received comparatively little attention. But a higher civilization has wrought a wonderful change in this respect. He who is appointed by the President or elected at the polls to represent the American people today is emphatically a marked man, and so great are the facilities we now have to observe the movements of public men that those only are safe whose private and public life is above reproach.

(Southern Churchman.)

Men want to know now, as men wanted to know nineteen hundred years ago, "what we must do to work the works of God." They were thinking of works of the law, tithes, sacrifices, etc. So men now are thinking of what works, ritual or moral, they must do to please God. Christ told his men of one work, one moral act, from which all derive their value—belief in him whom God sent to be the Savior and Regenerator of the world. Belief in Christ with the affections and moral powers will bring all good works in its train, and there is no other way. We do not practice good works in order to get faith in Christ, but we get faith in Christ by the Holy Ghost and then practice good works. If we do not this latter, it shows our faith in Christ is no faith, but utter faithlessness. If we have not yet begun, suppose we try this plan: faith in the Lord Jesus, which will prove itself and show itself by righteous acts and deeds.

(Northern Christian Advocate.)

The scriptural standard of brotherly love is very high. "This is my commandment," says our divine Master, "that ye love one another as I have loved you!" To look steadfastly into the face of this exceedingly broad command and to study one's feelings and conduct toward one's Christian brethren in its dazzling light startles one's conscience and brings a blush of shame to one's cheeks. Yet there stands that authoritative law of the Christian life. And to enforce it the voice of Paul comes out of the past insisting on the same high standard, and saying: "Walk in love, as Christ also hath loved us!" There can, therefore, be no escape from the obligation to love our Christian brethren with a love that is tender, gentle, forbearing, persistent and self-sacrificing like that of our beloved Lord for us. The conscience that recognizes Christ's word as its rule of judgment must respond, "Yes, thy love for me, O my Lord, is the kind of love I ought to cherish for my fellow-disciples."

(Evangelist, N. Y.)

About ninety-five per cent. of children can learn to sing. Music has been implanted in the soul as a germ by the Creator, and that germ should be developed. Where? In the family, of course, where it would brighten household cares and sweeten household life; but especially in the public schools, where it should be developed as a necessary part of the course of study, from the beginning of the pupil's career to the close. Its kindly influence on the minds and hearts of children is beyond dispute, tending to prevent truancy, and giving a relish to all the school-work. It also prepares the pupils to be singing citizens, giving them a higher value for the church in its service of song, and for society in its various calls for vocal pleasures. No question of expense should retard the reform which would make all our public schools nurseries of this delightful art for the children's sake and the nation's sake. Congregational singing-schools ought also to be widely resumed, to give a higher tone to church music, and prepare material for choirs and precentors.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1887.

SURSUM CORDA.

BY ANNA C. H. [illegible]HOWARD.

O, Blessed Christ! lift up my heart!
Lift up my heart to love thee more!
Let me with angels bear a part—
Bow down and worship, and adore.

O! holy, glorious Majesty!
To that bright sphere where angels dwell
In spirit let me rise with thee
Above the powers of death and hell.

Lift up my heart to thine, O Lord!
O patient, tender, loving heart!
Nothing on earth can joy afford,
Except thou dost thy grace impart.

Lift up my heart, O heavenly King,
Above all earthly care or joy,
To that bright land where angels sing—
Where pain nor sin can e'er annoy.

"She Hath Done What She Could."

This motto of our organization (the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society) has become so familiar to our ears that it is hardly accepted in its full import. It is in many instances an old song which passes our lips with no deep conception of its grand force. Let us stop for a moment and travel backward through the centuries to the year 33 A. D. What do we behold? The Savior sitting at a feast in the home of our Simon in Bethany. He had been sojourning in Ephraim, a city of the wilderness, taking refuge from the persecuting Jews who sought his life. From this weary desolation he has come into the genial home where he finds sympathy and devotion. It is the last home gathering which he is to enjoy before his great agony. He is with his friends, and in his honor they have made a supper. They serve him joyfully, and welcoming smiles meet his glance; but these friends are overshadowed by the coming evil which threatens their beloved Master. Lazarus sits at meat with him, and doubtless Martha is at hand, ministering to him in her characteristic over-carefulness. I am certain that somewhere in the shadow of his holy presence Mary listens to his prophetic words and catches the reflection of his sweet, sorrowful eyes. Her heart is burdened with its intense longing to minister in some way so as to lift the gloom from his brow. Oh! if she could only fall at his feet and testify her sympathy in some tangible manner. She was fond of this lowly position as she listened to the words of wisdom which fell from those eloquent lips. She had often been ministered unto in heavenly things; but now, with her heart full to breaking, she desired to minister to the sorrowful guest. He knows that his hour has come, and, with loving eyes, he glances around the circle, yearning to bind these loyal hearts to his in order to keep them steadfast through the approaching trial of their faith. Mary's poor heart catches the heavenly fire, and all her nature responds to the sacred flame. If only she could prove her love! The purest impulse of a deep devotion is to give something. The giving is nothing except as proof. Mary can not serve; she is too sad. Alas! what has she to give? Yes, there is her casket of precious ointment—her richest treasure. Happy thought! While they feasted and Martha served, she glides softly behind the reclining Savior and pours the rare spikenard on his dear head. There is no stinted outpouring; she pours it all and throws away the empty casket; the rich oil, fit for the anointing of a hundred kings, bathed his head and garments, and it runs down to his very feet, and Mary kneels and wipes the blessed feet with her long hair. The fragrance fills the whole house, and the guests look on in amazement at the radiant countenance of "the King" and his humble hand-maiden kneeling at his feet. Well might she kneel, for she is about to receive a royal blessing which is to fill up the measure of her yearning heart. "She hath done what she could." The soft, sweet words fall from the Savior's lips, and Mary is blessed for all time and eternity.

We, as humble followers of this same suffering Lord, desire an interest in Mary's blessing, and hence we have appropriated the plaudit. But, my dear sisters of the Woman's Missionary Society, do we deserve it? Even in that sanctified, sweet home circle at Bethany there lurked a traitor. "Why all this waste?" said he; and we hear the same thought repeated often. "Why so much expenditure for the gospel?" "Why so much money for missions?" "Why so much thought and sacrifice for naught?" "Surely the great Omnipotent God can accomplish the conversion of the nations without so much outlay." "Why," say these Iscariots, "is not this precious ointment sold and given to the poor?" I answer: All we can do, the best we can give is a poor expression of the love we bear toward our suffering Lord. The more we love the more we desire to give for his sake. How few of us would be willing to have our love and our blessing measured by our giving! Are we living up to our duty and our privilege in this matter of giving? Do any of us give our all? Do any of us give our best? Alas! do many of us of our abundance give even our mite? Let us take this subject to our hearts and our closets. This is a vital question with us. The Omnipotent God could accomplish the salvation of the world without us; but our blessing—"She hath done what she could"—would be left out altogether, and none of us are willing to have it that way.

I have more to say on this subject of giving; but this paper is already too long. As our sister from Felicity Street Church so forcibly advises, "Thy kingdom come" will be hastened by our earnest prayers and honest giving.

E. J. FULLILOVE,
Pres. W. F. M. S., La. Conf.

To the Members of the Woman's Missionary Society, M. E. Church, South.

BELOVED SISTERS: In the late number (February) of the Woman's Missionary Advocate we find the following, quoted from a letter written by Bishop A. W. Wilson on the spot (in China): "Miss Haygood and Miss Muse are now doing the work that might occupy six ladies. Enlargement of their work, without increase of force, means death to some of them." In view of this plain statement of a fact, what is to be done? How will the Woman's Missionary Society meet this fearful responsibility? Will it not be answerable for the sacrifice of these valuable lives unless it send helpers to them in this hour of dire emergency? Did it send Miss Haygood and Miss Muse to China simply to win for themselves the martyr's crown? May the Holy Spirit reveal to each conscience its personal concern in this momentous question! We who have joined this society are already pledged to the rescue of heathen women and children. Let us then see to it that we pay our vows to the Most High.

1. By each auxiliary adhering closely to its first love, showing its constancy by meeting the requirements of the society which calls for one dollar per year of money, and one hour of time per month for prayer and conference respecting the vital interests committed to its charge.

2. By each individual member realizing as imperative the duty of prayerfully and continually aiming to enlarge the membership and increase the interest.

3. By each member using her influence, even at the cost of personal inconvenience and self-denial, to establish auxiliaries in all the churches where they do not already exist.

4. By giving ourselves to the study of mission literature of both our own and sister churches; also urging others to do the same.

5. By zealously seeking to increase the circulation of the Woman's Missionary Advocate, which for the small sum of fifty cents per year comes monthly to our homes, freighted with valuable information from home and foreign workers.

6. By each auxiliary systematically and uniformly transmitting reports to the Conference corresponding secretary, and funds to the Conference treasurer on or before the dates specified in By-Law 3, Auxiliary Constitution (found in annual report).

These suggestions may seem small and apparently inadequate to the present emergency; but, if followed closely, our work will be placed on a firm basis. Enlarging from within, continually growing from a healthful center, the Woman's Missionary Society will, under the leadership of our Emanuel, achieve glorious results, and in the great day of reckoning, when its sheaves are gathered around the throne, the Lord of the harvest will say to its faithful, toil-worn workers, "Well done, good and faithful servants; enter ye into the joy of your Lord." In reference to the emergency of the present hour, the Lord is undertaking for us. Since sweet Dora Rankin's translation from toil to reward, in answer to the call for helpers, seven or eight consecrated young women, moved by the Holy Spirit, have said to our Woman's Board, "Here am I, send me." How will the Board respond? Can it accept these offers? Large additions to our treasury are essential to send out these new recruits. Who among the lovers of our Lord Jesus will come forward and give liberally of their means to prevent a crisis so lamentable as the one foreshadowed in the quotation from Bishop Wilson which stands at the head of this article?

MRS. JULIANA HAYES,
Pres. W. M. S., M. E. C., S.
925 N. Stricker St., Baltimore.

(We urge upon the good women of our church a prayerful consideration of Mrs. Hayes' paper. There are said to be 300,000 women whose names are on the church roll, and only 30,000 of these belong to the Woman's Missionary Society. Just think of 270,000 women in our church not specially engaged in this work. Dear sisters, wake up to the duty and privilege of this present time. The Master is calling for every one of you, and you never had such an opportunity as the present affords. Take hold of this business and carry it forward to success, for you can do it, and you can do it easily.—ED.)

Church Extension Matters.

MR. EDITOR: The treasurer of the Board of Church Extension of the North Mississippi Conference informs me that there is but fifty-seven dollars in the treasury after making certain appropriations since our last Conference. And he says also that he has on hand applications enough to take all the money we may have for the next two years unless our collections be largely increased. Every appropriation is considered in the order in which it is filed, and all are treated alike. Yet he informs me that some brethren are demanding money of him.

One brother writes to me that they lack forty dollars to pay his church out: but they must have one hundred dollars, as they need a bell. Now, the Board does not feel any more authorized to buy bells for churches than they do to buy organs or any other furniture. Another writes that he wants two hundred and fifty dollars; that he has secured a title to the lot, but has no trustees. Now, how can the title to church property be secured without a Board of Trustees appointed, as provided in the Discipline. We have a form for making out applications which has been repeatedly published in our minutes; yet some brethren seem to think that we ought to take their word in the matter when our Constitution says we shall not.

Now, brethren, if you do not get my money this year, this will inform you that it is not the fault of the Board. We have done what we thought best with the small amount of money in our hands. Please try to increase the collections this year. A number of charges paid nothing last year. We are doing a good work for the cause, and the demand upon us is great and increasing.

THOS. Y. RAMSEY,
Pres. Bd. Ch. Ex.

All at It.

MR. EDITOR: It seems that there is something wanting to perfect the practical working of the Woman's Missionary organization, at least in this part of their territory. The Woman's Annual Convention of the Louisiana Conference, of last July, elected their district secretaries, one for each presiding elder's district. Up to the present time, so far as I know, not one of them has moved an inch on their new line of work which was assigned them, except the secretary of the Shreveport district, and she has done but little, not because of any indifference on her part, but because the way has not been opened for her entrance. I have been requested to aid in moving this wheel in the machinery of the Woman's Missionary work, and for this purpose I write.

It is made the duty of these secretaries to travel through the presiding elder's district, hold missionary meetings, organize new societies, stir up the old ones to greater activity, and to disseminate missionary knowledge. These women are willing to work and anxious to work; but the way must be opened to them by a hearty co-operation of the presiding elders and the pastors of the respective circuits. If the pastors will communicate with the secretaries, and inform them of times and places where they can visit and hold meetings, giving them the names of ladies on the circuit who will co-operate with them, and then make it a point to be with them and help them, they will gladly accept such invitations and enter upon the work. In this way we may enlist the women and the children to become active workers in the missionary cause, who hitherto have been silent spectators. This will be an efficient means of giving new life to the church and of promoting all of its benevolent enterprises. Active work is essential to life.

I believe it was Andrew Fuller, a Presbyterian minister, who said he had labored, preached and prayed in order to promote piety and spirituality among his people, but never succeeded till he put them all to work, and found that was the very thing which had been wanting. I have known ministers to occupy the time at the weekly prayer meeting by a long lecture, and not call on their members to pray, because they had rendered the pitiful excuse, "I can't pray in public," and they were let alone, never became noted for piety themselves and never added anything to the spirituality of the church. My experience has been, in the limited sphere in which I have labored, where the Woman's Missionary work was helped to success, it did not hinder, but promoted all the other benevolent enterprises of the church. This, I learn, is the experience of Bishop Duncan, who has traveled extensively through the churches, and whose business is to look after their various interests.

Miss Eliza Logan, of Mansfield is secretary for Shreveport district; Mrs. Hardy, of Minden, for Homer district: Mrs. R. Randle, for Delhi district: Mrs. Hays, Opelousas district, and for the New Orleans district a lady of Baton Rouge, whose name I have forgotten. Perhaps this is the most simple and yet the most successful way of gathering missionary money which has been adopted since Mr. Wesley's penny-a-week. Oh! then why should we hesitate? The work is for God, for eternity and for the salvation of sinners.

Respectfully, A. PIPES.
MANSFIELD, LA., Jan. 31, 1887.

Mississippi Conference Brotherhood.

The third session of the Mississippi Conference Brotherhood was held in Port Gibson during the session of the Mississippi Conference; Dr. T. S. West, vice-president, presiding. The order has the love and interest of its members. Three members had died during the year: Dr. H. F. Johnson, Bro. M. A. Bell and Dr. William Spillman. The fee from honorary membership was changed from $5 to $1 on each assessment. A church also has the right to hold a membership in the Brotherhood. Rev. W. B. Lewis, of Canton, Miss., was elected president instead of Rev. J. M. Weems, resigned, because of pressing duties during Conference. Rev. B. F. Jones, of Woodville, Miss., was appointed assistant secretary.

The fifty dollars given the society by the princely Methodist, Peter James, is kept on hand, and sent on the death of a member to his family for immediate use. The report was circulated at Conference that Dr. W. Spillman expressed himself as not wishing an assessment at his death. This was a mistake. Dr. Spillman left a will, leaving the money due his heirs from our order to his son, Dr. J. W. Spillman, of Columbus, Miss. Ours is an insurance order, and assessments must be paid. There is no option.

Bishop Galloway still keeps his membership, and we feel honored in having him as a member. We wish he would help us to create enthusiasm for our beloved order. I. W. COOPER,
Treasurer.

A Correction.

MR. EDITOR: I write to you a brief note to make a correction of a mistake I find in the minutes of the Mississippi Conference. In the statistical report from Waynesboro and State Line charge, in Meridian district, under the head of "Infants Baptized," I find a blank where I reported 9. Also at the bottom of the page Waynesboro and State Line is credited with one dollar, when it should have been one hundred dollars. Please make the correction, and oblige,

Fraternally,
W. E. BALLARD.

Notice.

The present address of Miss Mamie Vick, who was appointed Conference treasurer of Woman's Department of Church Extension, is Mrs. O. S. Robbins, Vicksburg, Miss. All reports and dues, that are ready, should be sent before the first of March. The Conference secretary and treasurer send reports quarterly by the first of March, June, September and December. Mite box dues should be sent to Conference secretary. All other money should be sent to Conference treasurer. Those wishing to organize societies, who are not already supplied, can obtain Constitution and other leaflets needful by notifying Conference secretary. Our watchword is, "A parsonage in every charge."

MRS. E. D. JONES,
Conf. Sec. Woman's Dep't.
CARLISLE, Mississippi.

P. S.—All who subscribed for Woman's Missionary Advocate during the session of Mississippi Annual Conference, who have not received the paper, will please write and send the proper address to Conference agent.

Our Charleston Churches.

I have received from Winona station, North Mississippi Conference, by hands of Rev. J. M. Wyatt, the sum of seven dollars to be applied to the repair of damages by the earthquake of 1886. I and the brethren here heartily thank our thoughtful friends. While I am acknowledging the contribution of Winona station, I wish to inform the brethren that collections raised by order of Conferences visited or in Conferences we were unable to reach may be sent to me at No. 94 Wentworth street, Charleston, S. C. It is unnecessary to urge brethren who have so kindly helped by their own generous contributions, to give their charges the opportunity of following their example. It will be sufficient to say that we need a great deal more than we have received, and are looking to the collections ordered, or collections taken without order, for what is still required. And may everyone who helps be abundantly rewarded!

JOHN O. WILLSON.

From the Work.

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: I have spent a considerable portion of the last two or three weeks at Bay St. Louis, eight miles from here (Toulme station).

Nearly four weeks ago the Rev. Bowen, of the North Mississippi Conference, who is sojourning temporarily there on account of his wife's health, together with our old friend, Rev. B. Jones, preacher in charge of the church on Seashore circuit, began to protract a meeting here. It has continued uninterruptedly till now, and it is likely to continue through the present week. Such a religious awakening was never before known on this Gulf Coast, save at the Seashore Camp Meeting, and never, without any exception, so far as concerns the inhabitants of the coast and adjacent neighborhoods. A month ago our church at Bay St. Louis numbered about twenty-five, probably less. It now numbers about seventy-five. Bro. Bowen does most of the preaching. This is one of the most thoroughly priest-ridden towns in all American Popedom. A number of Papists and several other of Rome's strong supporters are now converted Christians and in our church. The converts embrace whole families, and include very much of the first and best citizenship of the town.

Bro. Jones will, no doubt, give you a fuller account in due time. I have not seen such a revival for a number of years.

R. ABBEY.
FEBRUARY 15, 1887.

PLAQUEMINE, LA.

MR. EDITOR: In Bishop Duncan's closing remarks at our Annual Conference, he stated that my field of labor for 1887 was Plaquemine and Donaldsonville. After necessary arrangements in Grand Cane, we took the 7:30 train for our destiny. Just as the sun was painting this portion of the planet earth with its "golden hue," our train puffed into Plaquemine. Bro. Denham conducted us to the parsonage—the preacher's home—yes, home. What a grand place! Though they may not be splendid buildings, elegantly furnished, beautifully located, they are great places, simply because they are the preachers' homes. However, we found the parsonage at this place well furnished. In fact, there are very few as well furnished. Our church at Plaquemine is a handsome building. My worthy predecessor, Rev. F. G. Hoeutt, certainly deserves great credit for his pluck and tireless efforts in erecting such a house of worship. I have preached in Plaquemine three times since my arrival; an immense congregation every time. I have visited Donaldsonville once. Our church there was undergoing repair, which ought to have been done years ago. We have suffered great loss by our house being uncomfortable. We hope, however, to have it equally as nice as the one at Plaquemine when completed. Then we will be well equipped to fight the world, the flesh and the devil. And, I assure you, we have battles to fight. We are surrounded by the enemy. He has his war chargers, his fortifications, his hellish artillery; his black banner floats in the breeze. He is defying attack, and we are marshalling our little army for battle. We will attack them. May God help me preach the Word in its simplicity and power!

Mr. Editor, we are praying for a sweeping revival, Holy Ghost revival—one that will shake the "dry bones" and resurrect the dead. And by the help of God, who is a "present help in time of need," we expect to win many souls for Christ. May God help! Pray for us. W. WIMBERLY.

CARROLLTON CIRCUIT, NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

MR. EDITOR: The first Quarterly Conference of the Carrollton circuit was held last Saturday and Sunday. All the churches were represented, and we had a most delightful time. Bro. Terry was with us and delighted all with his preaching and old-fashioned handshaking and call for penitents. The communion service on Sunday was very good indeed. And let me say that the good people of Carrollton circuit know how to take care of a preacher and his family.

We have in this circuit a set of noble men and women who appreciate the service of their pastor. We have secured a splendid parsonage and have it well furnished since Conference, and let me say that they have not only furnished it with furniture and tableware, but they have been sending in eatables all the time; and, if they hold out at this rate all the year, this preacher and family will do as well on the $600 as others who are paid more and have to live on that exclusively. News from the signal service says that there will be another pork hog at the parsonage soon.

Now, Mr. Editor, I hope to give these good people, by the help of God, good measure for what they have done for me and mine. And may God bless you in your great work, is the prayer of your brother,

R. A. BURROUGHS.

HILLSBORO CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

MR. EDITOR: As reports from the work are in order, I send you a few items. We have been visited by a sanctification preacher—i. e., a man preaching that doctrine especially. He did not claim to belong to any denomination, but was only for his doctrine. I do not think we can get so good but what we ought to be in the church. We have also had two Mormon elders in our midst. I guess they met with a cold reception; but still they preached and scattered some of their literature. I don't take it as any compliment to have the Mormons here. They may, however, be scavengers of our society; but certainly not moral reformers. The financial pressure is great here, and nothing has been collected as yet. We expect to get some missionary money next round. The outlook, in a spiritual point of view, is good and very encouraging. We have good help, as we have five local preachers and one exhorter in this charge. Judging from the fertility of the soil and general thrift of the people, this ought to be as good a circuit as there is in this district.

Fraternally,
C. M'DONALD.

Applications for Aid.

Applications for aid to be considered at our annual meeting, April 14–17, must be on file in our office on the fourth of April, 1887. The rule of the Board is inexorable, and the necessity for it palpable; hence we hope all who need blanks will write to us for them and return them in due time properly filled.

DAVID MORTON,
Sec. Bd. Ch. Ex.

Meeting Angels on the Road.

There are some pleasant and cheering thoughts suggested by the vision that was vouchsafed to the patriarch Jacob at Mahanaim. We often recall his midnight revelation of the ladder ascending towards the sky with the celestial spirits ascending and descending upon it. But this other scene is not so stereotyped in sermons or in prayers. Jacob is on his way from the house of Laban to the land of Canaan. Full of apprehensions of a hostile encounter with his offended brother Esau, he reaches the vicinity of the brook Jabbok. Suddenly a group of angelic beings make their appearance to him. Whether visible to other eyes than his, we know not; we are simply told that "Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him." How the celestial creatures looked, or what they said, we need not conjecture. To the silences of Scripture, we find no key.

But one thought suggested to us by this pleasant episode in the journey of Jacob, is that we need not go out of the every-day track of life in order to find God's angels. If they come to us at all, they will come to us in the ordinary path of our daily work. We need expect no marvelous apparitions, for our little lives run along a very prosaic level. When we common folks pray, it is not on a Mount Carmel; when our consciences are aroused by the Holy Spirit, it is not amid an earthquake of Philippi; when our faith catches a glimpse of our Lord, no blazing cloud surrounds him as on the peaks of Hermon. Yet as we trudge along the dusty road of duty, the angels often meet us, though our eyes may recognize no celestial visitant with splendor beaming from his wings.

We move amid mysteries at every step. The unseen things encircle us. If celestial spirits attend us and watch us, how carefully ought we to live: if God gives them a charge concerning us, how cheerfully and trustfully we should trudge along life's pathway. When we need them most, they may be at hand. Nay, we should strive in our humble way to imitate the angelic bath in serving and glorifying God, and in deeds of loving kindness to our fellow-men. If Howard was patterning after the angelic in his explorations among the dungeons, and Florence Nightingale in the wards of the hospitals, and Judson in his mission to the heathen, and Mary Lyon in her consecrated career of training girls for Christ, we in our more modest lives may make the same endeavor.—Evangelist, N. Y.

If you suffer, pricking pains on moving the eyes, or can not bear bright light, and find your sight weak and failing, you should promptly use Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Eye Salve. 25 cents a box.

VERIFYING CHRIST'S LAW.—In his Applied Christianity, published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Rev. Washington Gladden, D. D., says, referring to the agreement between Christianity and all social science:

"Mr. Herbert Spencer gives us in his Data of Ethics the results of an elaborate investigation into the foundations of morality. This investigation is made, of course, with no regard whatever for the teachings of the New Testament; it is an examination of the facts and laws of human nature, nothing else. And although his reasonings are by no means always to be accepted, yet when he comes to his practical rule of morality he gives us an exact restatement of the Christian law.

"The most distinguished living sociologist, studying human beings in their social relations, and interrogating experience to find the right rule for their guidance, reaches, after much careful study, the very law laid down by Jesus Christ nineteen hundred years ago. It would seem that Mr. Spencer might have recognized this fact a little more distinctly. His grudging admission, at the end of his argument, that the result to which he has come is "a rationalized version of the ethical principles of the current creed," does him small credit. But, however reluctant he may be to concede to the great Teacher the honor that belongs to him, the fact remains that he, by his scientific studies, has simply verified Christ's law."

THERE are many accidents and diseases which affect Stock and cause serious inconvenience and loss to the farmer in his work, which may be quickly remedied by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment.

Dead Souls.

An old physician remarked lately: "There is no study in human nature so difficult to me as a certain class of young girls. I spent a part of this summer with two specimens of this class. They had the usual amount of capacity for observing, and understanding, and feeling. They had been well educated at much cost to their parents; both were constant attendants at church.

"I saw nothing in their faces, manners, or bearing to argue that they were imbecile. Their mother was an invalid nearing the grave. Nothing could be more touching than the patient, appealing gaze with which her eyes followed them, watching for some signal of affection. But they had eyes and thoughts for nothing but a gown they were making. They were used to her love, her illness, even to the thought of her death.

"I walked out with them through a great forest, under the solemn stars. They saw no beauty, no sublimity in them. They chattered incessantly of the new trimming of their bonnets. They were used to the meaning of the trees and stars. The only thing apparently to which they were not used were the changes in ribbons, puffs, and flounces.

"I went to church with them, and listened to the great 'Te Deum' which has come down to us through many ages, and filled the hearts of countless worshipers of God. They nudged each other while they sang it to look at a beaded cloak in the next pew.

"We physicians now test the temperature of a patient's body, and if we find it below a certain degree, know that death is already in the heart. When I find so low a degree of temperature in the words, actions, and thoughts of a human body, I begin to fear that the soul within is cold and dead beyond recall."

Old John Bunyan taught us the same lesson in his picture of the man with the muck-rake, who incessantly scraped together the foul, perishable stuff, and kept his eye bent on it, while the great world opened around him, and the wind blew, and the sun shone, and God waited for him behind them all.

Do we, too, use this rake, and what is it that we gather!—Baltimorean.

One's Best Is Enough.

Sometimes the lesson is hard to be learned that all which God asks of any one is to do one's very best. We look back upon a given experience whether it has been happy or sorrowful, and, although we are conscious of having made our utmost endeavors, we seem to see how what we felt obliged to leave undone might have been done more skillfully and usefully. There is no pain keener than that which conscientious persons often feel because of the revelations which the present thus occasionally makes concerning the past, and the bitterest element of it is the fact that these better things really might have been accomplished.

But there is no need of remorse, or even of regret. Whether it actually were possible, or not, to act and succeed as it now appears to have been, makes no difference. If we did all which the light which we then possessed revealed to us as involved in our duty, and if what we did was done honestly in the best way open to us, then we did all which we could have done, and may rest in peace. God's best and our best usually are two quite different things, and it is only the latter for doing which he holds us responsible. To allow ourselves to become morbid and miserable for not having attained an impossible ideal of conduct, is a sin.

Nevertheless, two facts must be accepted unquestioningly. We may not be happy, or even content, unless we truly have done our very best. Nothing other or less than this, as a sensitive and enlightened conscience decides, can be accepted as a substitute. Nobody must delude himself into playing the hypocrite. Furthermore, our best must grow better continually. We must welcome and use the new light, the fresh knowledge, which comes to us, raising our standard steadily, and using every success, whether complete or partial, as a stepping-stone to something better. Doing our best in this manner is doing enough, for it is doing all in our power, all that God requires.—Congregationalist.

"The Bright Side."

"My work is done," said the Countess of Huntingdon, when eighty-four years old. "I have nothing to do but to go to my Father."

When an aged Christian can echo these words there is no fear of death, only joyful anticipation. The reward is assured if the work has been done. After the cross borne patiently comes the crown to be worn victoriously.

"I am on the bright side of seventy," said an aged man of God; "the bright side because nearer to everlasting glory." J. Pulsford writes: "As ripe fruit is sweeter than green fruit, so is age sweeter than youth, provided the youth were grafted into Christ. As harvest time is a brighter time than seed time, that is, if youth were a seed-time for good; as the completion of a work is more glorious than the beginning, so is age more glorious than youth, that is, if the foundation of the work of God was laid in youth. As sailing into port is a happier thing than the voyage, so is age happier than youth, that is, when the voyage from youth is made with Christ at the helm."

One of the most delightful and comforting thoughts to the aged is that of the "waiting friends on the other shore." Soon after his daughter died an aged, faithful Christian said: "Sailors on a voyage will drink 'Friends astern!' till they are half way over; then, 'Friends ahead!' With me it has been 'Friends ahead!' this long time."

What a precious thought: "Friends ahead!" The dear beloved ones which we have "lost awhile." But old age is not always a time of mere "waiting" with folded hands for the call to come up higher. There are old people whose mental and physical strength keeps them working even unto the very borders of their graves. Socrates at an extreme old age learned to play on musical instruments: Petrarch between seventy and eighty began the study of Latin: Cato at eighty began Greek, and Ludovico at one hundred and fifteen wrote the memoirs of his own time.—Christian at Work.

In every human life there is more or less of struggle and burden-bearing and homesickness and pain and separation from those we love, but, under the operation of the grace of God, these things are all good for us. They are exercises of mind and heart that are calculated to drive us closer to Christ: and, if we but let them, they will make us like him through whose voluntary poverty we are made rich with the hope of heaven.

Deep Sea Wonders

exist in thousands of forms, but are surpassed by the marvels of invention. Those who are in need of profitable work that can be done while living at home should at once send their address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free, full information how either sex, of all ages, can earn from $5 to $25 per day and upwards wherever they live. You are started free. Capital not required. Some have made over $50 in a single day at this work. All succeed.

Believing is like breathing. As soon as you stop to see whether you are breathing, or whether you really have any breath, instantly the act of breathing becomes hard. Breathe right on! Drink in the fresh air! Don't bother about how you breathe! Only be sure you are breathing the right kind of an atmosphere.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of a costive habit are subject to Headache, Defective Memory, Gloomy Foreboadings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which undue fun sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and nothing succeeds so well in achieving this condition as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there ferments a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect heart's ease that bespeaks the full enjoyment of health.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the liver does not act its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

There Is One Medicine

Of which all who use it proclaim its virtues, and that medicine is

Brodie's Cordial.

The mother will commend it for her little ones, and the grown sufferer of any acute attack or Chronic Bowel Disease will laud its qualities.

It is the only Astringent Medicine which is Never Followed by Constipation.

But leaves the Bowels in a healthy and natural condition. It is a specific for

DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, CHOLERA, CHOLERA MORBUS, SUMMER COMPLAINT.

Keep It always in the House,

And take it along when you go away.

I. L. LYONS & CO., New Orleans.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

—MAKES—

Child-Birth Easy

The time has come when the terrible agony of this critical period in woman's life can be avoided. A distinguished physician, who spent 11 years in this branch of practice, left to child-bearing women this legacy, THE MOTHER'S FRIEND, and to-day there are thousands of women who, having used this remedy before confinement, rise up and call his name blessed. We can prove all we claim by living witnesses, and anyone interested can call, or have their husbands do so, and see the original letters, which we can not publish.

All druggists sell it. For particulars address

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

CLEANSE THE BLOOD! PURIFY THE SYSTEM! STRENGTHEN THE NERVES!

BY TAKING

KIDNEY-WORT

Nearly all diseases are caused by inaction of those organs, whose work is to carry off the effete matter after the nutritious portion of our food and drink has been transformed into new blood. To cure these diseases we must use

A REMEDY THAT

ACTS AT THE SAME TIME

ON THE KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS.

KIDNEY-WORT has this most important action, whereby it cleanses, strengthens and gives NEW LIFE to all the important organs of the body, and eradicates the worst diseases from the system.

Liquid or Dry. Sold everywhere. Price, $1

For circular and testimonials send to

H. WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

WINCHESTER'S

HYPOPHOSPHITE of LIME and SODA is a matchless Remedy for Consumption in every stage of the disease. For Coughs, Weak Lungs, Throat Diseases, Loss of Flesh and Appetite, and every form of General Debility it is an unequaled Specific Remedy. BE SURE AND GET WINCHESTER'S PREPARATION. $1 and $2 per bottle. Sold by Druggists.

WINCHESTER & CO., CHEMISTS,
162 William St., New York.

Queen and Crescent Route.

New Orleans and Northeastern R. R.

Shortest and Quickest Line to

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST,
ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTHEAST.

Time Table in Effect December 31st, 1887.

Trains South B'd. Read down	Stations marked thus †	Trains South B'd. Read Up.
No. 2.	No. 6.	No. 1.	No. 5
10 00am	5 00pm Lv N Orleans ar	3 05pm	7 35am
1 45 "	9 00pm ...Slidell...	2 30pm	6 25am
2 57 "	10 13 " Pearl River †	1 20pm	5 06am
3 40 "	11 00 " ...Nicholson...	1 32pm	5 57am
4 12pm	11 30 " ...Mitchell... †	12 50pm	5 40am
4 50 "	12 00pm ...Big Island...	12 12pm	5 32am
5 07pm	12 17pm ...Pearlington...	11 54am	5 15am
6 05pm	10 45am ...Hillsdale... †	12 17pm	4 46am
6 40pm	1 15pm ...Perkins... †	2 01pm	4 30am
7 15 "	1 45pm ...Talowah... †	11 30am	4 12pm
7 45 "	2 15pm ...Purvis...	11 00am	4 00pm
8 13pm	11 55am † ...Oakshula...	11 27am	4 00pm
8 25 "	12 37pm † ...apiter... †	11 16am	3 48pm
8 40 "	1 50pm Hattiesburg...	11 00am	3 35pm
9 55pm	3 05 " † Leaf River... †	10 16am	2 50pm
8 45pm	1 21 pm † ...Tuscumbia...	9 56am	2 30pm
10 10 "	1 45 " ...Ellisville...	10 17am	2 52am
10 — "	2 57 pm ...Laurel...	10 03am	2 37am
11 17 "	3 15 am † Soso Crossing †	9 45am	2 21am
11 33pm	3 30 " ...Gitchelberg...	9 29am	2 05am
11 42pm	3 37am ...Vossburg...	9 22am	1 59am
11 50pm	3 48am † ...Barnett... †	9 14am	1 49am
12 00pm	3 58am † ...Pargoud... †	9 03am	1 39am
12 20am	4 18am † ...Enterprise...	8 43am	1 19am
12 38am	...Carl...	8 27am	.....
12 46pm	4 34am ...Meridian...	8 10am	12 40pm
1 20pm	5 08am ...Tuscaloosa...	7 47am	8 50am
1 — "	6 00pm ...Birmingham...	7 00am	8 35pm
2 — "	7 15 am ...Attala...	10 30pm	2 15pm
2 50am	3 55 " ...Chattanooga...	6 00pm	9 15am
1 50am	1 45am ...Stone Fort...	12 10pm	2 25am
3 40am	2 40am ...Junction City...	11 35am	12 55pm
4 18pm	3 40pm ...Lexington...	10 22am	11 26am
6 42pm	6 40pm ar Cincinnati lv	7 55am	8 00pm

JNO. C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup., Meridian.
H. COLEMAN, Gen. Frt. and Pass. Agt., Cincinnati, O.
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Pass. Agt., Cincinnati
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent,
314 Charles St., New Orleans, La.

—TAKE THE—

Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE.
Quicker by Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between

Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

SPLENDID EQUIPMENT!
MAGNIFICENT COACHES!
PULLMAN BUFFET SLEEPERS!
TRAINS ALWAYS ON TIME!

See that your Tickets read over the

Mississippi and Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and Tkt Ag't.
JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass Ag't.
MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific Co.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN
NEW ORLEANS,
HOUSTON,
GALVESTON,
SAN ANTONIO,
EL PASO,
OLD AND NEW MEXICO,
ARIZONA AND
CALIFORNIA POINTS.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH

Pullman Palace Sleepers

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—AND—

SAN FRANCISCO,

Piercing the most beautiful part of

SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address:

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, General Manager.
J. G. SCHRIEVER, Traffic Manager.

GENERAL OFFICES:
Cor. Magazine and Natchez Sts.,
New Orleans.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad,

—THE—

GREAT THROUGH LINE

—FOR—

PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT

to all Points

NORTH, EAST AND WEST.

The only Line running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS through from New Orleans to Cincinnati, St. Louis, Memphis and Chicago without change of Trucks.

Only one change to New York and Eastern Cities.

The only direct Route to St. Louis, Chicago and all Points North and West. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other Line.

STANDARD GAUGE, all STEEL RAILS, elegant COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY

—AND—

RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—

DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Calliope Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 2, 8:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Pass. Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
J. G. MANN, Superintendent.

THE GREAT

Kennesaw and Shenandoah

VALLEY ROUTE

(East Tenn., Va., and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs, N. C., or Staunton, Va.

BAGGAGE CHECKED TO DESTINATION.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:55 A. M. and 8:05 P. M

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Southern Agent,
Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans.
R. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent,
Knoxville, Tenn.

—THE—

Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to

NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN,

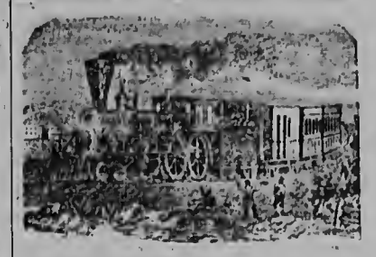
—AND—

CENTRAL TEXAS,

and all Points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Laredo leaves at 7:30 A. M.
Arrives at 7:15 P. M.
This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.
Texas and California Express leaves 4:00 P. M.
Arrives 10:30 A. M.
This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.
Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $140.00.
The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.
For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.
R. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.



Queen and Crescent Line.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN RAILROAD.

—THE SHORT LINE FOR—

Freight and Passengers

—TO ALL POINTS—

North and East and in the Northwest.

LOW RATES AND QUICK TIME ON FREIGHT TRAFFIC.

The Model, Modern Thoroughfare.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Mann Boudoir Buffet and Sleeping Cars.

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—TO—

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA AND CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10:40 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7:35 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press and Levee.

Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St. Charles St., N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.
H. COLLIGAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agent, Queen and Crescent Line, Cincinnati, O.
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent.
A. F. BARNETT, Contracting F't Ag't.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ARTIFICIAL EYES

Are Now so Perfectly Made That No One Can Distinguish Them from the Natural Eye.

The Artificial Eye is not only a beautifier, but it serves other excellent purposes.
It enables the eyelids to move as freely as ever.
It restores the functions of the tear passages.
It prevents the eyelashes from turning within, causing inflammation.
It prevents distortion of features, as happens always in case of a young person who has the misfortune to lose an eye—and sometimes in the case of older persons.
Mr. W. BOUNT, our Optician, has made a specialty of selecting and inserting them.

A. H. GRISWOLD & CO.,
JEWELERS AND OPTICIANS, New Orleans.

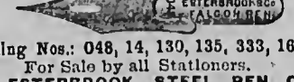
BOOK AGENTS WANTED for PLATFORM ECHOES

or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART,

By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, brim-full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and good. Sell of "laughter and tears." It sells at sight to all. To it is added the Life and Death of Mr. Gough, by Rev. LYMAN ABBOTT. 1000 Agents Wanted.—Men and Women. $100 to $200 a month made. Of Distance no hindrance as we give Extra Terms and Pay Freights. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

ESTERBROOK'S STEEL PENS.



Leading Nos.: 048, 14, 130, 135, 333, 161.
For Sale by all Stationers.
THE ESTERBROOK STEEL PEN CO.,
Works: Camden, N. J. 26 John St., New York.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

the popular favorite for dressing the hair. Restoring color when gray, and preventing Dandruff. It cleanses the scalp, stops the hair falling, and leaves to please. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expense, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. B. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1013 Main St., Richmond, Va.

$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 90 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

All widths and sizes. Sold by us or any dealer in this line of goods. FREIGHT PAID. Information free. Write The McMullen Woven Wire Fence Co., 158 & 160 W. Lake St., CHICAGO, ILL.

Established 1857.

The GREAT CHURCH LIGHT

FRINK'S Patent ReflectorS, for Gas or Oil, give the most powerful, softest, cheapest and best light known for Churches, Stores Show Windows, Banks, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations.

I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl St., N. Y.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE

FERRY'S SEEDS

Their Seeds are popular because they are good.

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.

D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it. Address

D. M. FERRY & CO. Detroit, Mich.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

CORRESPONDING EDITORS:

REV. T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. T. SAWYER.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1887.

Briefs.

The Methodist Episcopal Church has a "Training-school for City, Home and Foreign Missions," located at Chicago. It has been in operation since October, 1885, and has pupils from all sections of the Union. Twenty-five young ladies have been received in the school this year, some of whom are preparing for the foreign work. The system of training embraces all the parts of a practical education. This is the first institution of the kind in the Methodist Church, and its friends are much gratified with the success it has attained. The cost of the institution has been $25,000.

We commend to all our readers, especially the preachers, the following paragraph from the Holston Methodist in relation to the revised version of the Scriptures. Whatever may be the criticism as to its worthiness to take the place of King James' Version, our experience is that it is exceedingly valuable as a book of reference. Bro. Glenn says:

Preachers make a great mistake who fail to use the Revised Version in their personal Bible study. Some affect a sort of contempt for this version, whereas it is one of the best commentaries you can secure on the Word of God.

The collection that ought to lie near the heart of every preacher and every member of the church is the collection for the superannuates and widows and orphans of the Conference. These have been left to the care of the church, and our care of them is the measure of our appreciation of the trust committed. Let every member take an interest in raising of this fund, and take that interest now, and keep the interest up until every cent is the raised. In regard to this sacred trust, Rev. B. W. Bond, in the Episcopal Methodist, says:

The only safety is for each and every charge to resolve to pay its assessment in full. It will not do to depend on a few large stations or circuits, and suppose that our little deficiencies here, there, and almost everywhere, will make but little difference, and that the amount will somehow be made up. It will not, we may rest assured. Everyone must do their part, or there will be a very large deficiency. "Many mickles make a muckle."

SIGNIFICANT.—Michael Davitt, in a speech recently in New York City, was outspoken in his denunciation of Cardinal Simeoni for meddling in British affairs, and was wildly cheered by an assemblage of six or seven thousand Roman Catholics. Dr. McGlynn firmly maintains his opposition and rebellion against the authorities of his church. And now Dr. Windthorst, the leader of the Roman Catholic party in the German Reichstag, is withstanding the Pope's wish in the matter of the Septenate Bill. The little German Doctor, who seems to have been more than a match for the Great Chancellor, has the temerity to say that the Pope's advocacy of the Septenate "was independent of its merits and arose from reasons of expediency and from political considerations." He plainly says that he will not be bound by the bargain between Bismarck and the Pope. All of which coming upon the Holy Father at one and the same time, he may well exclaim, like one of old: "All these things are against me!"

The Brightening Sky.

It is just two months since we celebrated the Christmas festival, and yet in that short time have occurred things in Church and State which are prophecies that this year of grace 1887 will be indeed most remarkable for the advance of the kingdom of our Lord along the great lines of conquest. In this short time there have been great anxieties produced in this country and in Europe, growing out of the conflict between labor and capital. The results of the great strikes reacted disastrously upon the strikers, and this to such an extent that many are leaving the Knights of Labor, rather than be pushed over the precipice of financial ruin by the hard-headedness of a few self-important dictators. A goodly number of people are beginning to see the absurdity of that sort of liberty which denies a man the privilege of working, when he wants to work and when there is work in plenty waiting to be done. This straw shows that the dark cloud, which overhung us during the whole of 1886, is breaking up, and patches of blue sky are seen here and there, and the light is getting clearer and broader.

Again, some of the most important legislation that has ever been enacted in this country has been done since the year came in. A spell of wisdom seems to have, all of a sudden, come upon our National and State legislators. Laws, important and far-reaching in their consequences, have already been placed upon our statute books. In the most instances where unwise laws have been passed, they have been killed by the executive prerogative before harm has been done. In many sections the people have spoken so firmly and courageously upon the great subject of temperance, that the legislators have been compelled to submit to the popular will and leave the question of prohibition to be determined at the ballot-box. Many States will vote on the question early in the year, and the skies are brightening all around, and "these brightening skies are broadening" every day.

Again, in the church there was never so much diligence displayed in preparation for a year's work as has been seen during the past two months. The people of God, led by godly pastors, are devising most liberal things, and earnest workers, with increased earnestness, have entered the field with the determination to do the best year's work they have ever done. The officials generally have made liberal provisions for the support of the church, and the pastors, with new heart, have reconsecrated their powers to the preaching of the gospel in faithfulness and to the administration of church affairs in wisdom. Already the Spirit of God is beginning to respond to these evidences of consecration by "showers of blessing" falling in various and unexpected quarters. The giving to the benevolences of the church has started in a larger stream than ever before, and it started earlier than ever before, and this is a prophecy of grander and more numerous gifts for the Lord's cause this year than we ever dreamed would be offered.

Again, but not least, is the joyous fact—joyous because it insures greater victories than the church has ever achieved—that Christian people of different sects are closing ranks together to fight the common enemy. A united army, in whose souls throbs a pure love for their Lord, is invincible when attacked and irresistible when attacking a foe. And so we think the sky is brightening in every direction, and hope stands tiptoeing to catch the sunrise "o'er the gloomy hills of darkness." Looking at these hopeful signs that overhang our entrance upon the work of the year, we think, that above everything else, the church, the whole church, needs wise leaders, "men of Issachar, who have understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do," and we believe that with such leaders "all their brethren will be at their commandment."

Bishop Galloway's "Suggestion."

BY T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D.

MR. EDITOR: At the risk of appearing to some in an unfavorable light, I venture something by way of exhortation.

It may be tolerated in me to say that I have an experience in both Church and State education in the character of both student and teacher. I regret neither, and were I to live over the life of the last thirty years, I would, perhaps, follow the same road. It may have failed in concentration of power and influence in a given direction, but it has been wonderfully full of experience. State education is a necessity to the State. There is no debate upon that point. There is no debate upon the question of appropriating part of the public domain or public surplus to education under the State. The State ought to educate for its citizens. The only question upon any feature of State education is that of free tuition against tuition fees. Whether the State ought to give a university education free, thus throttling unendowed church colleges, has been decided adversely to the State in South Carolina, thanks to Bishops McTyeire and Duncan and their coadjutors. But of the merits of that question I do not now wish to speak.

The matter is, however, not one of money when reduced to last analysis. After carefully gathering up facts in the case, I find that costliness of education does not depend upon tuition fees. A rule approximately correct is that the cost of attending a college is inversely as the endowment. Our people who send to college love to tell how much they spend on their boys at college. They think every dollar spent at college is transmuted into brains. Therefore, if a boy spends five hundred dollars a year, he has five hundred dollars' worth of ideas. Why, then, not as willingly pay the tuition fee? Simply because the boy ought to have all the professors can teach him and the other besides. Professors have nothing to do but to teach anyhow. That is their calling. But, however much disposed to satire, let us seriously say: Given that unendowed schools are cheapest, why are they least patronized? The answer is largely the above and a species of snobbery accompanying it, viz: That certain social advantages grow out of attendance upon the endowed schools. Money may not dominate in the lecture-room, but the claqueurs of the society element never recognize intellect pure and simple. Many a parent or young man, knowing this, and preferring social caste to a real mental training, sends or goes to a college where twice the money is necessary to keep in society.

As a rule, people buy what they want and manage to pay for it. I never saw times so hard or a negro (or a white man either) so poor that he could not get a dollar cash about the morning of the circus. I have sometimes asked, did the circus bring every poor Methodist a dollar for himself and fifty cents round for the children. At any rate they generally had the money that morning.

I think the Bishop in error as to the number of our colleges being too great. Counting all that I now can call up, without the actual table before me, I make out seventeen male colleges under the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Now, there are one million Southern Methodists. It is safe to say that fifty thousand of the million are boys of the educable age. Three hundred students to each college would be a boom such that we all would open our mouths and sing the Doxology, and be dismissed with a shout. But what of the forty-five thousand boys for whom no college is provided? Must they be shut out? Equip one hundred academies and put one hundred boys in each. Ten thousand boys! Hurrah! But what for the thirty-five thousand unprovided for? Echo—What? Further, the Southern Methodists can endow a college whenever they want to. The patronage of three hundred to each college, at fifty dollars a year, would give a revenue of fifteen thousand a year. Economy in administration would give a surplus of three thousand annually. But if it all went for expenses of administration, who will say that a million Methodists could not endow one college annually if they would? Only ten cents a member would give one hundred thousand.

Again, are there not more than five thousand Methodist boys going to college? Yes. Then, where are they? Some answer by saying, "Your Methodist schools are not so good." We ask, "Why not?" If our schools are poor, why don't you make them better? We are your servants for Christ's sake. If we don't know our business, discharge us. If we are derelict, publish us by condemning us regularly. The truth is, we have formed the habit of talking down our own and working up others. Our good Bishop says not to utter our complaints. Hold still; it will do no good to wince or kick. In reply, we say we have tried the hold-still policy until we are ready to kick and die; but we will kick once at any rate.

"Let Zion's watchmen all awake
And take the alarm they give."

I second the Bishop's motion as to college federation. But federation implies delegation from colleges to a convention. This implies right to sit as delegates, and this involves a distinction in college standing. Some may be refused who will feel greatly grieved. It is plain, a self-styled and constituted convention could do only one thing, viz: Admit every representative claiming membership. This might involve the church and the Conferences in some awkward dilemmas. Would it not, therefore, be best for the Bishops to call this convention, naming the delegates and the colleges entitled to representation? I am prepared to allow that there are grave difficulties connected with even this plan; but fewer, perhaps, than any other. I will not now name any work for this convention to do; but, as the Bishop suggests, it would have the opportunity of indicating an educational policy for the whole church.

The Bishop quotes a "sagacious layman" as saying, "No man wants to put money in an institution that has no promise of permanency." Now, I question the sagacity of our brother on that point. I am not ready to admit that colleges that have died were money thrown away. Bishop Paine said one day to me, when I was despondent and wished to seek the pastorate on account of the lack of appreciation of the church for the services of the teacher: "I regard the years spent at Lagrange as the most useful of my life. Don't, my brother, despair. You will see from another point of observation before you are as old as I." Yet Lagrange died long before the Bishop uttered these words. Moreover, it is not a mere question of so many dollars in a permanency. Sometimes we are called upon to break alabaster boxes over the heads of the departing. We must anoint our beloved "to their funerals." Who would spare the medicine or the money spent to protract the life of our heart's idol for a day or an hour? Our "sagacious brother" is a tender father. He has a lovely daughter, the child and jewel of prayers and agonies. But wan death blanches her cheek. She says, "Papa, let me go to the sea or traverse the prairies." That "sagacious" father does not ask then, "Child, do you think it will permanently benefit you?" He does not reason that way about anything that he loves. After all, our "sagacious laymen" all would not spend their time badly asking their own hearts the question, "Do I love my church institutions?"

Lastly, the people can make colleges perfect if they want to. There will be no abandonment of a college until the people have abandoned it. If its management or its instruction is bad, they are competent to correct; but abandonment is not the crime of those who are put at the post to work. They may be guilty of other faults or crimes; but let the people who are omnipotent make out a good case as to why they leave their institutions, and then put them where they want them. But if they want an itinerating college, let them put Monteagle or DeFuniak upon a train of Mann Boudoirs, and call it The Mann Boudoir University.

Paying and Praying for Missions.

While the church lives, her foreign missions must live: if they decrease, she will begin to die. The outermost branches never begin to perish till decay has set in at the root of the tree. A revival of interest in the great subject of foreign missions will lead to a revival in all that constitutes the life of the church at home. Nothing but the indifference and selfishness of Christendom impedes the conversion of the heathen to Christ. The Master says to those who would proclaim his word, "Go;" but the church says, "No, we can not afford to send you." As no man goeth a warfare at his own charges, those whom God has called to be missionaries must wait till the church is ready to send them. Have we learned that a missionary is one sent, and that the church sends him? Is the heart of the church in the great work of missions? Is not a large part of our money for missions paid only because it is asked for, and without any heartfelt interest in the salvation of the heathen? Yet, while this is sadly true of a large part of her membership, our church has never faltered in her determination to bear her part in the evangelization of the world. She has sent to China, Jenkins and Wood and Taylor and Kelley and Cunnyngham and Lambuth and Allen, and a score of others. She has lifted up the standard of the cross in South America, in Mexico and among the Indians of our own country; and now she stretches out her hand to draw Japan into the family of Christian nations.

Among all these nations our church labors at a very great disadvantage, because she is to them a foreigner. She has to travel over long and expensive journeys to get to them, learn difficult and embarrassing languages before she can speak to them, and labor forever against those prejudices which natives always feel toward foreigners who would teach them. Besides this, the climate and the modes of living in those countries are apt to be unfavorable to the health of the missionaries. Many sicken and some die. Under these circumstances, what we need is, not less giving, but more, accompanied by the universal prayer of the church that God would raise up more native workers in all our foreign fields. Let our ever-increasing gifts be made effectual by more earnest prayers for immediate results. Let the heart of the church go with her offerings. Surely after thirty years of constant toil in China it can not be unreasonable to expect God to call and qualify some of the natives who shall mightily convince their countrymen that Jesus is the only Savior of men. How long, O Lord, how long shall thy glorious work be retarded? May the news speedily come of a mighty awakening among the natives in China, Japan and elsewhere! The number of places left to be supplied in the recently published appointments of our China Mission Conference shows the great lack of native preachers there. It seems neither practicable nor desirable to supply all those places with foreigners. May the kingdom of Heaven in China be as a grain of mustard seed, rapidly and powerfully developing until it shall fill the vast empire with the purifying energies of the doctrines of Christ.

Meantime let us, in compliance with the resolutions of our Conferences and the request of the Board of Missions, take up our foreign missionary collections at once, that interest may be stopped, the missionaries paid, and our other collections not be injured by crowding in the latter part of the year. Everything in its time: now is the time for our foreign missionary collections. Never be satisfied till the assessment is reached, and rejoice in all the excess which the people shall pour into the treasury of the Lord. Let this be the great missionary year of the church.

Since the above was written I find the following in the Nashville Advocate, from the pen of Bishop Hargrove, and, as it strengthens my argument, I quote it:

I believe in that plan of missionary operation that utilizes to the largest possible degree the native worker. It is this peculiar aspect of the Mexican missions that has most commended them, and is the best prophecy of their future progress. Native preachers have offered themselves in larger numbers than is usual in mission fields, which largely accounts for the rapid growth and development of the church.

The wisdom of this world never comprehended fully the philosophy on which Christ selected his apostles. For great reformers few would have looked to the classes from which mainly he made his selection.

Whatever our principles were involved this was not overlooked, that they were to be of the classes to be reached and influenced. To this divine idea Providence and the timely admonitions of his great mother finally opened the eyes of John Wesley. And he admitted into his ministry men in sympathy with the multitudes to whom he had access, and from that time Methodism was fully on the path of its marvelous progress. Race prejudices, national prejudices, educational prejudices, social affinities, industrial affinities, are forces to be considered in the selection of agencies for the control of men; and the Holy Ghost moves along the line of least resistance. Leverage and a fulcrum, indispensable as physical appliances, Almighty love knows how to employ when a great moral and spiritual upheaval is to be accomplished among a people. Whether a Mexican sombrero or a Broadway beaver, a cloak or a sarape, are to be worn, depends on the people you are to encounter, conciliate, and control. Peoples of all lands are sensitive of national customs and peculiarities. A mere question of personal comfort, satisfaction with a cot and a petate, or a relish for tortillas and frijoles, may turn the scales of ministerial usefulness. The popular heart is the grand avenue along which the Spirit marches to great conquests.

W. L. C. H.

The Preachers' Meeting on Monday was unusually interesting, and the subject of the public reading of the Scriptures was discussed by Rev. J. B. A. Ahrens, D. D., and others, with much animation and thoroughness. The meetings of the brethren are growing in interest and practical results each week. The subject of public prayer will engage the attention of the pastors on next Monday.

To the Methodists of New Orleans.

There is need for more organized and earnest effort to win for Christ the multitudes of people in New Orleans who never come to our churches and who doubtless worship nowhere. We are not to wait for them to come to us, but we are under obligation to God and them to go to them. We can not afford longer to delay in carrying to the perishing ones "the glorious gospel of the blessed God."

I wish to meet all the workers from all our churches; and to this end, that mission work may be organized and energetically pushed to the glory of God and the saving of souls. Let the Methodist workers meet me for this purpose in Felicity Street basement at 7 P. M., Tuesday, March 1, 1887.

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

Notes.

The chaplain of the United States Senate has been making the opening prayer when very few were present, and a resolution has been introduced to amend the rules, so as to require a quorum to be in attendance upon "prayers."

It is stated that more than two hundred petitions from different parts of the country have been presented to the Senate, protesting against the Sunday mail trains.

It is claimed that Georgia has the largest peach orchard in the world. It contains 81,000 trees on 790 acres of ground. The South is ahead yet!

It is a very significant fact, and a very encouraging one, that thirty-eight new temperance papers were started in 1886. Bring a thousand more guns to bear upon the monster in 1887.

The smallest check ever drawn was by a Western official on the Treasury of the United States. It was a check for one cent, and excited more remark than a check for a million dollars did.

The Pope seems to be taking a considerable interest in German politics, and that interest is manifested in his manipulation of a certain party in favor of Bismarck's Septenate, and yet Dr. McGlynn must not meddle with the politics of this country; and if he does, off with his head."

The General Assembly of Alabama have memorialized Congress to pass the Blair Educational Bill. The Mobile Register declares, "This is the voice of the people of this great State."

The New York Commission, appointed to consider the question of capital punishment, has brought in a report to the Legislature recommending that the "gallows" be abolished, and that an electrical apparatus be substituted by which to put criminals to death.

There is a growing dissatisfaction with the method of electing United States Senators. State Legislatures can be bribed, and no doubt have been bribed, in these elections. Now a proposition is made to have Senators elected directly by the people.

President Cleveland has again earned the respect of all the reasonable and decent people of the country by his veto of the sweeping pension bill recently passed by Congress. Though we have millions in the Treasury, it is a good thing to have a stalwart sentinel at the door.

We are accustomed to think that most of the crime committed in this country is committed by the foreign population in our midst. If so, they have taken a long jump in the last six years; for according to the tenth census there were, on the first day of June, 1880, in prison, 30,623 persons, convicted of crime or awaiting trial, of whom 24,731 were native-born and 5,892 were foreign-born.

The decrease in the public debt during January was $9,515,686. The cash on hand is $450,826,420. The amount of the debt to-day is $1,731,183,783.

The annual meeting of the New Orleans District Sunday-School Union, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be held at Carondelet Street Church, on Tuesday, March 1, 1887, at half-past seven o'clock. As there will be election of officers and other business of importance, a full attendance is requested.

By order of the president.

A. F. GODAT,
Secretary pro tem.

FEBRUARY 22, 1887.

Winchester's Hypophosphate of Lime and Soda, for the relief of Consumptives in every stage of the disease, is coming rapidly into favor, and is recognized as a specific remedy in throat and lung troubles. See that you get Winchester's.

Personals.

Mr. Moody was fifty years old February 5, and Mr. Spurgeon is fifty-three.

Major Cole began a meeting in Sedalia, Mo., January 2, and up to February 5 there had been 1,253 conversions, and the interest unabated.

Mr. Habberton has one book that appears to be extensively read. It is stated that the two-hundredth edition of "Helen's Babies" has just been brought out by the Petersons.

Henry George seems to have let the land business go, and has taken hold of the Catholic Church with the vim of a first-class tussler.

Among the Yale graduates of 1837 were these five eminent men: Samuel J. Tilden, Morrison R. Waite, Edwards Pierrepont, Benjamin Silliman and William M. Evarts.

Mr. Joseph Cook began his Monday Lectures-in Tremont Temple recently with undiminished evidence of public interest. The opening prayer was made by Sam Jones.

Secretary Manning will be president of the Western National Bank, New York, and United States Treasurer C. N. Jordan will be cashier. The bank will begin business May 1 with a capital of $3,000,000.

Rev. W. G. Miller, of Little Rock, Ark., will make a trip to Europe, accompanied by his son and daughter.

The Pacific Methodist comes to us in a new form this week. It is much handsomer for the change, and we wish the bright paper a bright future, growing brighter continually.

Bishop W. M. Green, of the diocese of Mississippi, died at Suwanee, Tenn., February 13. He was eighty-nine years old, and had been in the episcopal office over forty years.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company, in paying off employees recently, compelled each one to sign a total abstinence pledge before he received his pay. Is not that a kind of compulsory temperance legislation? Who can object to it if it is compulsory?

In Durant, Miss., the last license expired January 31, and now no kind of liquor can be sold within five miles of the town.

With reference to Bishop Galloway's "Hand-Book of Prohibition," the Central Methodist says: "This is by far the best work of the kind that has come under our notice. It is packed full of facts and figures, and carries with it a force that is simply irresistible. Temperance workers who want a telling work on prohibition will do well to scatter this book broadcast." We endorse all that is said in favor of the Bishop's little book. It can be ordered from the Bishop himself at Brookhaven, Miss., or from H. Jamieson, Jr., 112 Camp street, New Orleans. Price, twenty-five cents a copy.

The anniversary of the Carrollton Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was held last Sunday afternoon. After the rendition of some fine selections by the choir, and a few remarks by the wide-awake pastor, Rev. Fitzgerald S. Parker, a very appropriate and eloquent address was delivered by Rev. Beverly Carradine. Then, nothing daunted by the small audience (it had rained all along through the day), Bro. Parker had a collection taken, putting that pleasing task upon the new presiding elder. The audience did their duty nobly, and some $517 was subscribed. Bro. Parker feels confident that his beautiful church will be fully released from debt this year. We do trust that at his fourth Quarterly Conference, if not before, he may be able to report—"Not a nickle owing." The Methodists of New Orleans should see that the debt is promptly paid.

A Record of Wonderful Success.

The NASHVILLE COLLEGE FOR YOUNG LADIES was organized September 1, 1880. Its surprising growth is exhibited in the subjoined tabulated statement:

Date.	No. of Pupils.	No. Boarders.
1881	104	17
1882	147	31
1883	203	56
1884	209	76
1885	243	101
1886	250	102
1887 (to date)	265	115

This remarkable result has been attained upon the basis of solid merit. Admirable buildings, ample faculty, extensive course, with Vanderbilt University connections, place the Institution in the front rank.

GEO. W. F. PRICE, Pres.,
Nashville College for Young Ladies.
FEBRUARY 12, 1887.

Among the many substitutes lately introduced to supersede corsets none are more highly recommended than the "Bates' Waist." In the war inaugurated against the corsets the Bates will be an important factor. For description, etc., address The Sanitary Publishing Co., Chicago, Ill.

Items of Interest.

The Jews are moving in the matter of establishing a theological seminary in New York City.

Of a hundred messages and letters of condolence received by Mrs. Gen. Logan, only two contained any allusion to God or the consolations of religion. That has a bad look.

The Boston Index, a free religion and agnostic journal, has died. "The foolish shall not stand in thy sight."

Dr. Strong, in "Our Country," says: "From 1790 to 1880 our entire population increased thirteen times, while the city population increased eighty-six times. In 1800 we had only six cities with a population above 8,000. In 1880 we had 286."

The Berlin City Mission Society sells or distributes 115,500 short evangelical sermons each week. Five years ago they sold or distributed 500 weekly.

During the past year twenty-six churches and chapels were dedicated in Philadelphia.

Cornell University is soon to receive a gift of $250,000 from Hiram Sibley, of Rochester, N. Y.

A firm in Kansas City proposes to furnish sermons to ministers at the "low rate of seventy-five cents per week." "English, you know."

The Interior says "that for whipping up a discordant or balky choir there is no instrument comparable to a fiddle." Bothered pastors will make a note of this.

Our country keeps growing. It is now said that we have 3,000,000 square miles and China has only 2,000,000. When our miles are as thickly populated as China's, we will be a huge host.

Forty thousand doctors have been turned loose in this country in the last ten years. What a vision of pills, plasters and paregoric that statement suggests!

The anti-prohibitionists are very happy in lighting upon significant phrases to help their cause; but somehow the phrases are sharp at both ends. The latest argument is that it "stagnates industry." Just so; but what "industry"?

The lawyers' "briefs" in the Bell Telephone case fill 1,800 pages.

The St. Louis Evangelical Alliance has presented a petition to the Missouri Legislature asking it to submit to the people an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of liquors.

Four hundred churches in Philadelphia, open every night in the week, is the way they are working out the problem of reaching the masses.

One Boston man affirms that Sam Jones has stirred the consciences of people there as they have not been stirred in fifteen years.

Harvard College has an invested endowment of $5,490,772. The income from all sources is $388,218, and the expenses $326,899.

There are 142 theological seminaries in this country. Of these, 111 have been founded in the last fifty years.

Within the territory of the United States there are sixty-six tribes of Indians, numbering 58,000 persons, who are without a Christian missionary.

The Alabama House of Representatives has passed a bill making the keeping of a gambling-house a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary.

AN APPEAL.

The Methodist College of Belle Plaine, Texas, located in the center of the great drought-stricken district, calls upon the people of the United States, and particularly the Methodists and friends of higher education of our great country, for aid in a pressing extremity.

The college building has been erected at a cost of $12,000; a small indebtedness of a few thousand dollars remains, which can not be met, and unless liquidated, the building will have to be sacrificed to meet a lien upon it.

The grounds and buildings have been paid for, with the exception of the balance referred to, by liberal donors in this section of country, and but for the great drought, which has prostrated, financially, all this section, the entire amount due would have been paid by the liberality of local parties. This is the only college for higher education in all this section of country, and it belongs to the Methodist Church, and is under its supervision and control.

The management is utterly unable to meet this very pressing claim, and to save this valuable property and growing institution for our church frontier without extraneous aid; and as it is church property, they do not hesitate to appeal to the generous public for the means and assistance in these times when the drought renders it impossible for our own people to respond any further.

All donations, however small, will be duly acknowledged for the College by the First National Bank of Baird, Texas, and the funds promptly turned over to College Treasurer.

REV. J. T. L. ANNIS,
President Board of Trustees.

References: Rev. Bishop H. N. McTyeire, D. D., LL. D.; Rev. Bishop Jos. S. Key, D. D.; Rev. A. G. Haygood, D. D., LL. D.; Rev. Sam Jones; Gov. S. L. Ross, of Texas; Lieut.-Gov. T. R. Wheeler, of Texas; Hon. S. W. T. Lanham, House of Representatives; Ex-Gov. John Ireland, Seguin, Texas.

Louisiana Notes.

Commodore Gherardi, in command of the Navy Yard at Brooklyn, N. Y., is a native of East Feliciana parish.

No further opposition to the enforcement of the Sunday law.

The banks at Elton, East Carroll, are reported caving rapidly.

Fully 2,000 men will be placed at work on the Texas and Pacific within the next few weeks.

The entire road-bed of the V. & S. railroad between Delta and Vicksburg has been raised above the high-water mark of 1882.

The crop prospects around Jeanerette are very flattering. Corn is up in some localities and doing well.

The Pleasume's correspondent at Lake Providence says, "Your correspondent feels justified in saying that prompt, very prompt action is needed to save almost the entire parish of East Carroll from inundation."

The Northwest Louisiana Land Company has been organized with headquarters at Shreveport.

At a Baptist district meeting at Coushatta a committee of three was appointed to answer the question: "Can the heathen be saved without the gospel?" Two answered No. One answerd, Yes.

New Iberia has voted against the special tax of five mills to pay for two new steam fire engines.

The Lake Charles Echo says: "A large manufacturer in Tennessee writes to a gentleman here to know the prospects for starting a furniture manufactory in Lake Charles—one that will manufacture for the wholesale trade. There is no better point in the South for such a factory than here, as our lands are timbered with various kinds of wood just suitable for making furniture."

The railroad surveyors are now making a preliminary survey of the route from Gibsland to Homer, and will reach Homer this week.

A movement is on foot to organize an industrial school at New Iberia. The movers in this matter met this week and drew up a plan of action, and made an estimate of probable cost. It is hoped that they will continue their good work, and that they will shortly announce to the public that they are prepared for active operation.

The agitators of the railway question, to connect the growing towns of Jeanerette and Abbeville, are earnestly at work pushing the enterprise to success.

Writs of attachment were issued today, February 16, against the funds belonging to the Shreveport Charity Hospital. Should the claimants prevail, the hospital will close for lack of funds.

How to Gain Flesh and Strength.

Use after each meal Scott's Emulsion with Hypophosphites. It is as palatable as milk, and easily digested. The rapidity with which delicate people improve with its use is wonderful. Use it and try your weight. As a remedy for Consumption, Throat affections and Bronchitis, it is unequaled. Please read: "I used Scott's Emulsion in a child eight months old with good results. He gained four pounds in a very short time."—THO. PRIM, M. D., Alabama.

Mississippi Notes.

Rev. L. S. Foster withdraws from the editorial staff of the Baptist Record to take charge of the pastorate at Carrollton and Winona. Rev. J. B. Gambrell assumes entire control of the Record.

A joint stock company has been organized, and the stock all taken to build a creamery at Madison.

A proposition is on foot to build a new Methodist Church in the south end of Vicksburg. The city is growing rapidly southward, and the Methodists want to keep pace with its growth.

Property at Duck Hill has doubled in value, and the bustle and business astonishes the staid citizens.

Grenada is showing unusual activity. There were more changes in real estate in two days last week than in the twelve months preceding.

Iron and lead mines have been discovered in the vicinity of Vicksburg.

The steam gin of Mr. Beny Prince, on the Yazoo River, near Sardon, was fired on the ninth, and was totally destroyed. Thirty-five bales of cotton were also burned. This is the second gin burned for Mr. Prince this season.

A company known as "The Mississippi Immigration and Real Estate Company" has been organized at Meridian.

The whole debt of Natchez is $18,400, and only $11,000 bears interest.

S. H. Stackhouse, a prominent citizen of Crystal Springs, is dead.

Yazoo has shipped 22,000 bales of cotton and has 6,000 on hand. The contract for the 87,500 new Presbyterian Church for that place will be let on the first of March. The rise in the up rivers is causing some alarm of an overflow this spring.

About $15,000 worth of property changed hands in and around Grenada the fifteenth instant.

As an instance of the remarkable increase in the value of Duck Hill real estate the following is copied from the Picayune's special from that place: "A certain lot sold two days ago for $300, and to-day one-half was sold for $600, while the other can not be bought, so rapidly have prices advanced."

Mr. Charles H. Corke, who has been proctor of the Industrial College, has resigned, and Mr. J. A. Neilson has been appointed in his stead.

The compress at Greenville has received so far over 30,000 bales of cotton, and good shipments are received daily.

An open switch on the V. and M. railroad caused a collision and smash up, and the injury to the fireman and engineer of the train.

Greenville, Miss.

MR. EDITOR: We have had a good time in Greenville. Bishop Galloway was with us yesterday, and addressed the people of Greenville at eleven A. M. on the subject of church extension, and preached a very excellent sermon at night. His address at eleven A. M. was a grand success, and the collection in the interest of the Paine Loan Fund amounted to $1,257, notwithstanding the weather here was quite inclement and the congregation small. Greenville is on a boom, and the whole district is looking up.

Yours fraternally,

J. W. HONNOLL.
FEBRUARY 16, 1887.

Notice.

The time for holding the Brookhaven District Conference has been changed to April 7 to 10.

J. M. WEEMS, P. E.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears, it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. B. Thomson, 61 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

When a man sings "A Hundred Fathoms Deep" he has to go down to the C to do it.

A PLAIN STATEMENT.—Elsewhere may be seen the advertisement of the great piano dealer, Phillip Werlein, 135 Canal street. Certainly he has every reason to feel proud over the great popularity of the celebrated Mathushek Pianos. Some sixteen years ago he introduced here these celebrated instruments, and they have been tested and are pronounced superior in every respect. The prices and terms of this popular piano dealer are such as to attract all buyers. Mr. Werlein has also a number of cheap pianos and organs at such low prices that you would be surprised after seeing them. Write or apply to this great Piano House, and you will see what a bargain you can get.

Motto of a wood-sawyer—I came, I sawed, I corded.

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

Man wants but little here below—zero.

In this issue of the ADVOCATE will be found the advertisement of the Louisiana Wire and Iron Manufacturing Co. This is a home institution, and should receive the patronage of those desiring goods of this description. For circulars, etc., address the manager.

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances, to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is agreeable to use. It is not a liquid or a snuff. 50c.

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle.

Pond's Extract, which substitutes ease and comfort for pain and suffering, is one of the most potent curative agents known.

MISCELLANEOUS.

COLGATE'S CASHMERE BOUQUET Toilet Soap

Established over 80 years. The largest and oldest manufacturers of Toilet Soaps in America. Our Toilet Soaps of all kinds are acknowledged to be the most reliable, being absolutely pure, of high uniform standard, and exquisite delicacy of perfume. THE BEST for chapped hands and delicate skins. Sold everywhere.
COLGATE & CO., NEW YORK.

GREAT LABOR SAVING
SOAPINA!
Has been discovered which will wash in the hardest kind of water as well as ordinary soap in soft water. It is a fine article for washing woollen goods, clothing of Machinists, Printers, etc.
J. H. KELLER,
NEW ORLEANS.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Hope Insurance Company,
188 GRAVIER STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.
(Opposite Cotton Exchange.)

ESTABLISHED IN 1857.

CAPITAL PAID UP.....$250,000 00
ASSETS, JAN'Y, 1887.....$401,982 17

Insures Fire, River and Marine Risks.

SURPLUS LINES TAKEN ON ACCEPTABLE FIRE RISKS.

A. A. CHALARON, President.
MAURICE STERN, Vice-Pres.
LOUIS BARNETT, Secretary.

DIRECTORS:

John T. Adams,	Henry Beer,
Geo. A. Lamaix,	Maurice Stern,
G. Lehman,	Wm. Rhoke,
Victor Meyer,	F. M. Ziegler,
Geo. Denegre,	A. B. Rousseau,
Jas. A. Renshaw,	John Holmes,
J. A. Chabroon,	Pierre Pontz,

Pearl Wight.

MECHANICS and TRADERS' INSURANCE COMPANY,
11 CARONDELET STREET,
New Orleans, La.,
Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks at lowest tariff rates.

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary.
LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Clerk.
J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Clk.
(Late Sec. Union Ins. Co.)
R. C. SHORTRIDGE, Collector.
F. AUZOFT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Sam. Boyd,	Simon E. Marx,
J. A. Braselman,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. D. Britton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carver,	Wm. A. Phelps,
P. J. Cockburn,	Hon. O. L. Rayne,
H. T. Cottam,	G. W. Scurell,
O. Elmer,	A. N. Silbernagel,
J. M. Frankenbush,	W. B. Thompson,
Walter C. Flower,	P. A. Villeroin,
P. G. Gilbert,	Jos. Vignes,
Chas. Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
I. L. Lyons,	T. S. Waterman,
Laurent Lacassagne,	Frederick Wing,
T. L. Macon,	W. Y. West,
Bob't Maxwell,	W. G. Wheeler,

Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders'
INSURANCE COMPANY,
40 CARONDELET STREET.

PAID UP CAPITAL.....$1,000,000

ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN PHELPS, Vice-President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

ISSUES POLICIES COVERING FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE RISKS AT THE LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

TRUSTEES:

John L. Noble,	John Chaffe,
Richard Milliken,	Sam'l Friedlander,
R. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lyle Lyon,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	B. F. Eshleman,
Chas. Chaffe,	L. C. Jurey,
Wm. Hartwell,	C. J. Leeds,
A. T. Janin,	A. M. Beckham,
Henry Abraham,	Louis Bush,
A. Britth,	G. W. Scurell,
Wm. Cunningham,	John L. Adams,
R. T. Buckner,	Wm. A. Gwyn,

Chas. E. Black.

Crescent Insurance Co.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849. Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1869.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. R. LYMAN, President.
J. H. OGLESBY, Vice-Pres.
CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Liverpool and London and Globe
INSURANCE COMPANY,
OFFICE: Cor. Carondelet and Gravier Streets.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS:
J. F. SCHRODER, Chairman,
NEWTON BUCKNER,
A. DELVAILLE,
RUDOLPH WOESTE.

Assets in the United States.....$6,148,383 36
Surplus over all liabilities..... 2,798,129 18

HENRY V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y.

SCOTT'S FLOWERS
38 Years' Experience in growing our strong and reliable ROSES. Grand Specialties in PLANTS, BULBS & FLOWER SEEDS of extra choice quality. Rare Novelties of great beauty. Handsomely illustrated Catalogue for 1887 with a lovely Colored Plate of Scott's Mammoth Paneles sent FREE to any address. Send for it now: ROBERT SCOTT & SON, Philadelphia, Pa.

MISCELLANEOUS.

H. P. BUCKLEY,
8 - - - - Camp Street - - - 8
Watchmaker,
—DEALER IN—
WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY,
—AND—
SILVERWARE.
A Full Line of Spectacles.
Repairing of Every Description.

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. G. WHEELER,
Clothing and Furnishing Goods,
Successor to Wholesale
—TO—
WHEELER & PIERSON,
No. 86 CANAL STREET,
New Orleans.

The Southern Insurance Company
OF NEW ORLEANS.

Cash Capital.....$300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1887.....429,600 30

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to insured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company.

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.
John T. Moore, jr., M. Schwamacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, F. G. Ernst.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, New Orleans.
Crockery, China, Glassware and General House-Furnishing Goods.
PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 pieces.....$10 | American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 136 p'ces..$12 00
Decorated Dinner Sets.....(sold $12 less) | Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape... 2 50
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape.....3 | Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape..... 3 50

Handsomely Japanned Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slops Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set. Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set. Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 cents to $2 per dozen. Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 60 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

New Store! New Goods!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youths' Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits: $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks.

Lowest prices and best goods at
W. H. PIERSON'S, 20 and 22 CAMP STREET.

FURNITURE!
FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street.
The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices.
Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

SIXTY-SECOND SESSION
OPENED MONDAY, SEPT. 6, 1886.

Faculty, 7. Property, $100,000. Alumni, 250. Location unsurpassed in point of healthfulness and morality. Accessible by rail from all point. Scholarships for 4 years, $125. Board, $10 per month. For Catalogue and full information address

REV. T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D., PRESIDENT, Jackson, La.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the sovereign remedy. Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country; but their short lease of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and options are most frequently the result of these hidden vippers and unloves. When they are irritable and feverish, sometimes craving food and eating ravenously, again refusing wholesome diet, tossing restlessly in sleep, moaning and grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from earliest infancy, therefore parents—especially mothers who are more constantly with their children, cannot be too observing of the first symptoms of worms, for so surely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the most delicate infant, by the timely use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and use it in their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its uniform success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a safe purgative, not suspecting the cause of the illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged and immediate relief afforded. Great caution must be used by every purchaser to be his own judge in one sense, and to examine every bottle he buys of it. The simple name of FAHNESTOCK is not sufficient. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. FAHNESTOCK, and be satisfied with nothing else.

NEW FRANKLIN, HOWARD CO., MO.
Messrs. J. E. Schwartz & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.
Gentlemen—I have used some of that most excellent remedy, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, and found it to have the desired effect. I think your Vermifuge can not safely be dispensed with in any family.
Yours, &c., J. W. HUBBARD, M. D.

CAMBRIDGE, MD.
Having used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is safe, reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed. THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., SUCCESSORS TO B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

EVERYTHING THAT IS NEW IN SEEDS

RARE IN PLANTS

is offered and described in our

CATALOGUE No. 248, which this year we send out in an illuminated cover. The Catalogue is replete with new engravings of the choicest flowers and vegetables, many of which can only be obtained from us; and contains, besides, 2 beautiful colored plates, and very full instructions on all garden work. Altogether it is the best ever offered by us, and, we believe, is the most complete publication of its kind ever issued. Mailed on receipt of 10 cents (in stamps), which may be deducted from first order. Please be sure to order Catalogue by the number.

PETER HENDERSON & CO. 35 & 37 Cortlandt St., NEW YORK.

Our Young People.

HAPPY ORPHANS.

BY CORA A. D. WYCKOFF.

A hundred little chicks or more,
Downy, soft and yellow,
Were piping out their discontent
In voices far from mellow.
I looked around in wonderment;
No mothers were at hand
To gather 'neath their outstretched wings
The doleful little band.

And, as I gazed, a small wee voice
From one chick seemed to say:
"Perhaps you think we like it—
This fine new-fangled way;
But it's very disagreeable,
For, strange as it may seem,
We never had a mother—
They hatched us out by steam;

"And they call us 'happy orphans,'
When we're ready all to weep,
For no answering clurk comes back to us,
Though we peep, and peep, and peep.
They say it's scientific,
And I've no doubt it's true;
But I'd rather have a mother—
Now, really, wouldn't you?"
—Harper's Young People.

MR. EDITOR: As it has been some time since I have written to the dear ADVOCATE, I thought I would write again; and, as the very good editor was so kind as to publish my last, I know he will give space in his excellent paper for this one. I want my dear Uncle Blackshier, who is now going to school at Centenary College, to see and read my letter. Oh, how I long for next summer, for then he will be with us! We have heard from Conference, and our good preachers, Bros. Blocker and Johns, were sent back to us. How kind the Bishop was to send them back! I do think so much of Bro. Johns, but I am afraid some "big girl" will take him before I am old enough to claim him. I must tell the cousins about Santa Claus. I had a Christmas tree all to myself, and the dear old "saint" filled it with so many nice things. Last, but not least, I must speak of our Sabbath-school. My teacher (mamma) offered a prize to the best pupil; so one of my class and I tied. We had to draw straws to decide the matter. Anxiously we waited for the superintendent (my grandpa) to fix the straws; then we drew, and to my joy I won the prize. With much love, I am, Your little friend,

LESLIE MAGEE.
BOYLINE, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: As I have not seen any letters from this part of country, I thought I would write one. Papa takes your valuable paper. We all like it very much. I love to read the little children's letters. I am a country girl thirteen years of age. I am not going to school now. I study at home. I have six studies. Bro. Parker is our pastor this year. Bro. T. W. Adams was our pastor last year. We all liked him very much, and were sorry that he was not sent here for another year. We have no Sunday-school now, but will organize one just as soon as spring opens. I will answer Ida L. Ellington's question: Jesus first appeared unto Mary Magdalene. I will close by asking some questions: How many times in the Bible does the word "Lord" occur? Where in the Bible is the word "schoolmaster" found? Your little friend,

ANNIE H. MIDDLETON.
BENTON, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: As it has been some time since I have written a letter to the little folks, I thought I would do so. We are very pleasantly situated in the parsonage at Mechanicsburg. My papa has a very large work, consequently he is at home very little, and I have to be mamma's "protector" and help, too. I have two sisters and one brother. My oldest sister, Allie, and myself go to school. We have no Sunday-school now, but it will begin again in the spring. I will now answer my friend's, Felix Thompson's, question: The three names beginning with "F" are Felix, Festus and Fortunatus. I will also ask a question: Where is "singing" first mentioned in the Bible?

TOMMIE COTTON.
MECHANICSBURG, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: I am little girl nine years old. I never did write to my paper; but I see so many letters from the children that I will write a short letter to your good paper. My papa takes the ADVOCATE. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday if I can get there. I love my teacher very much. I got the prize for good lessons. I went to school to our pastor this year. The children like him. If this does not fall in the waste-basket, I will write again in the future.
Your little friend,

IRIS GRIFFING.
OAK GROVE, Mississippi.

MR. EDITOR: You are very kind to the little folks to publish their letters for them. I will take advantage of your good nature and get my name in print. I am a little boy living one-half mile from Oak Grove, La. My papa is a farmer; and, I tell you, Mr. Editor, it is so nice to enjoy what is raised on the farm. We have vegetables in the spring; fruits in the summer and autumn months. Winter is the hardest time for the farmer. But it need not be dreary to us, for we can gather pecans, walnuts, hickorynuts and hazelnuts right here in the country, to feast on in the winter, to say nothing of the popcorn, goobers, etc., that we raise at home. Bro. Patterson was our preacher last year, and we all loved him so much; but good Bishop Duncan thought a change was best, so he sent us Bro. Munholland. We have not seen him yet, but we love him, for he is a minister. We love all ministers of the gospel.
Yours truly,

CARROLL WILSON.

GERMAN BOYS.—Prof. John K. Lord, of Dartmouth College, says in an article in Education, for December: "German boys never play; they have no games, no sports. Life is to them a serious business. During a year's residence in a German town—where were a university, a gymnasium, a real-schule, people's schools, and various private schools, and where, having two boys of my own in school, I had good opportunity to learn of boys' life—I never saw or heard, with the exception of one game of hide-and-seek, a single game. Once, in crossing a large court, I saw a company of boys choosing sides for a game of ball. I watched with interest a spectacle so unusual, wishing to see how a German boy would look when actually engaged in a game; but I was disappointed, as the company soon broke up in a fight. I was not surprised; for fighting, not in anger or hot blood, but easily and naturally, is the amusement of the German boy. Not that he is more pugnacious than other boys, but the military discipline that curbs him in school, and the sight of soldiers whenever he steps into the street, keep constantly before him the idea, and almost the necessity, of fighting. This lack of healthful sport seriously affects the boy, depriving him of much enjoyment, and making him old before he is mature."

Chills and Fever. Malaria.

"Many cases of fever and ague, dumb ague and congestive chills were promptly arrested and entirely banished by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator. You don't say half enough in regard to the efficacy of this valuable medicine in cases of ague, intermittent fevers, etc. Every case has been arrested immediately. I was a sufferer for years with the liver disease, and only found relief by using the Regulator."—ROBERT J. WEEKS, Batavia, Kane Co., Ill.

CURIOUS CUSTOMS AMONG THE CHINESE.—When boys fall sick there are two very curious customs. Sometimes the little fellow is made a priest, and dressed in priest's clothes. His parents think the gods will not make him die when he is dedicated to their service. But they may not want him to be a priest, as he would have to change his name and leave his family. After a time they take him to a temple and get the priests to burn incense to the idols and chant prayers. When he has finished he takes a besom and chases the boy out of the temple, who comes home and puts on ordinary clothes. Others try to cheat the gods. They put a silver wire round the boy's neck, and leave off mentioning his name, calling him a pig or dog. They imagine the god, who is looking for a boy, will not search their house for one when he hears them speaking only to a dog. All the children have old coins and charms tied to their clothes to keep off the evil eye and drive away wicked spirits.—Church of Scotland Mission Record.

Young man, what are you trying to make of yourself? We do not ask what pursuit you are to follow, or what your hands are to do, but what kind of a man are you intending to be? Have you settled the question of your future character? Will it be lofty and pure, or low and bad? Will it be distinguished by allegiance to God or subjection to Satan? Now is the time to decide. If you want God to help you by his Spirit to lead an upright and pure life, give him your heart. If you want God on your side, get on his side.

Farm and Home.

Sunday Meals.

Probably many a housekeeper will be glad to avail herself of this experience related by a writer in Good Housekeeping:

I believe in a good dinner on Sunday, the only day in the week when the gudeman of my house has his dinner with his family. I also believe in making Sunday a day of rest and gladness for my faithful hard-worked Chloe. How to combine these two things has long been a problem, which at last we have solved, to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

We have dinner at half-past one, when we come from Sunday-school. The table is laid with snowy cloth and the best china always, and generally for one guest. We like to bring home with us some home-sick student or pale-faced teacher, who only boards, not lives, or a friend who loves a Sunday "sing," and can help with fingers or voice. Chloe, in a fresh calico and white apron, comes in to wait on us, when her dinner, nicely served and garnished, is ready. In summer we give up soup, and have a lettuce or tomato salad between the meat course and dessert, and there is always coffee or tea last. The dinner is the pleasantest and most leisurely of the week, as well as the nicest. As much as possible is prepared on Saturday. By four o'clock Chloe has everything cleared away, her breakfast table neatly set, and goes smiling out of the side door in her best array, not to return until ten o'clock. On a side table in the dining-room she has set out a waiter, with a plate of thin bread and butter nicely piled, a basket of cakes, a pitcher of ice-water, another of milk, a dish of baked apples or fruit, over all a napkin. There is also the little Japanese tray and tea things, with which the tea is always made, on the table, instead of being boiled and spoiled in the kitchen. If it is winter, she leaves the tea-kettle ready to boil at a minute's notice. In summer I boil the water in a saucepan over the kitchen gas. It takes five minutes, and that is all the work to be done for our Sunday night teas. The meal is made perfectly informal. If we are going to evening service, my husband and I sometimes take ours when we come home, and let the rest of the family have theirs when they choose.

Sometimes we have happy Sunday evenings at home, all together. These are the best, and will have a hold on the children, I am sure, while they live. There are long, quiet chats, with "papa" in the middle of the sofa, the little heads on each side nestled close; or our favorite game, each repeating a line of poetry, beginning with A, and so going through the alphabet; or singing out of our beautiful Sunday-School Hymnal, which is so much underrated by people in general. On these evenings our tea becomes a real pleasure. I bring the waiter into the library, and put it on a little round table before the open fire. While the Souchong is brewing in the little blue china teapot, the children pass the bread and butter, or everybody helps himself in picnic fashion, without ceremony. In summer the little table is wheeled out on the piazza, and we have our tea there, with the shadows of the vine leaves dancing over us while we watch the sinking sun. Ten minutes is more than enough to gather up the few dishes afterward. The children, happy in anything out of week-day routine, say, "How lovely Sunday is!" And we elders think, How good God is who gave us our home!

ADVERTISEMENTS.

BABY'S SKIN & SCALP CLEANSED PURIFIED AND BEAUTIFIED BY CUTICURA.

FOR CLEANSING, PURIFYING AND BEAUTIFYING the skin of children and infants and curing torturing, disfiguring, itching, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, from infancy to old age, the CUTICURA REMEDIES are infallible.

CUTICURA, the great SKIN CURE, and CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, prepared from it, externally, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, internally, invariably succeed when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are absolutely pure, and the only infallible skin beautifiers and blood purifiers, free from all poisonous ingredients.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

BABY'S Skin and Scalp preserved and beautified by CUTICURA MEDICATED SOAP.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT
VEGETABLE
PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises, It is cooling, cleansing and healing.

Catarrh, If is most efficacious for this disease, Cold in the Head, &c. "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, should be applied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract, Pond's Extract Plaster is invaluable in these diseases, Lumbago, Pains in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, It is the greatest known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples, Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints, In the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used as well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.
Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None others genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by the quantity.
Sold everywhere. Prices, 50c., $1, $1.75.
Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

EASTER MUSIC
A New Easter Service arranged by EBEN E. REXFORD,
ENTITLED
EASTER MORNING
Consisting of interesting and instructive Responsive Readings interspersed with new and pretty carols by
GEO. F. ROOT, H. P. DANKS, PAOLO CAMPIGLIO and J. R. MURRAY.
Price, 5 cts. each, or 50 cts. a dozen by mail, postpaid; $4 a hundred by express, charges not prepaid.

We also call attention to the following
BEAUTIFUL SERVICES
with Carols, issued in former years:
The Risen Christ, Easter Chimes, He is Risen, The Easter Angels, The Story of the Resurrection.
Price of each, same as for "EASTER MORNING."
Send for our complete list of Easter Music of every description. Sent free on application.
THE JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.,
And 19 East 16th Street, New York City.

THE IMPROVED ACME
WASHER and BLEACHER!
Weighs only Five lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 Reward for its Superior. Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money refunded, less Express charges.
Send for circulars. Agents wanted.
C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.
N.B.—Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U.S. duty. Please mention this paper.

GERANIUMS ROSES Free by Mail 15 for $1.00
A large stock of the best of the new and old varieties; also, an assortment of SHRUBS, Greenhouse & bedding plants
Prices defy competition. Illustrated catalogue free to all applicants. Address,
THOS. A. McBETH, Springfield, Ohio.

Piso's Remedy for Catarrh is the Best, Easiest to Use, and Cheapest.
CATARRH
Also good for Cold in the Head, Headache, Hay Fever, &c. 50 cents.

WE WANT YOU! a live energetic man or woman needing profitable employment to represent us in every county. Salary $25 per month and expenses, or a large commission on sales if preferred. Goods staple. Every one buys. Outfit and particulars Free.
STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

[illegible] CURED without pain. Book of particulars sent Free. [illegible] Atlanta, Ga.

NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 11 Games, 12 tricks in magic, 106 Album verses. All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 15, Ohio.

A BIG OFFER. To introduce them, we will Give Away 1000 Sell Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P.O. and express office and we will. The National Co., 23 Dey St., N.Y.

McShane Bell Foundry
Finest Grade of Bells,
CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES, &c.
Send for Price and Catalogue. Address
H. McSHANE & CO.,
Mention this paper. Baltimore, Md.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells of Pure Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. FULLY WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CARDS SUNDAY SCHOOL, REWARD AND VISITING. Lovely Samples, Brai new Catalogue, & Agts. terms for 3c. stamp. W. C. Griswold & Co., Centerbrook, Ct.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO'S BEAUTIFUL EVER-BLOOMING
ROSES
For 18 Years our Great Specialty has been growing and distributing ROSES. We have all the Latest Novelties and finest standard sorts in different sizes and prices to suit all. We send STRONG, VIGOROUS PLANTS safely by mail or express to all points.
3 TO 12 PLANTS $1. $8 to $25 per hundred.
Our New Guide, 88 pp. describes nearly 500 finest varieties of Roses, the best Hardy Shrubs, & Climbing Vines, and New and Rare Flower Seeds, and tells how to grow them—FREE. Address THE DINGEE & CONARD CO., Rose Growers, West Grove, Chester Co. Pa.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

McKINNEY—SADLER.—At the residence of the bride's father, February 10, 1887, by Rev. J. N. Tucker, Mr. J. C. H. McKinney, of Anguilla, Miss., to Miss Alice C. Sadler, of Pearl River Station, La.

PRUETT—THOMPSON.—At the residence of the bride's brother-in-law, near Sylvarena, Miss., December 22, 1887, by the Rev. J. H. Evans, Mr. W. A. Pruett, of Moss Hill, Jasper county, Miss., to Miss L. M. Thompson, of Sylvarena, Smith county, Miss.

McLARIN—EVANS.—At the residence of Dr. Polk Watkins, in Raleigh, Miss., February 9, 1887, by Rev. R. A. Selby, Dr. A. G. McLaurin to Miss Cordie Evans, all of Smith county, Miss.

McMASTER—POWELL.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Hinds county, Miss., February 8, by Rev. W. E. Ballard, Mr. J. A. McMaster and Miss Minnie L. Powell, all of Hinds county, Miss.

IRELAND—HOLLINGSWORTH.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hollingsworth, Valley, Miss., February 10, inst., by Rev. S. J. Colton, Mr. T. J. Ireland to Miss Lizzie Hollingsworth.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

FORD—On January 28, 1887, at Quitman's Landing, twelve miles above Natchez, Miss., Mrs. J. C. FORD, the beloved wife of Bro. William H. Ford, departed this life, and now "rests under the shade of the trees." Sister Ford was a native of Adams county, being born March 1, 1847, near Elis' Cliff, about eighteen miles below Natchez. Her father, Bro. L. F. Austin, moved to Pleasant Grove, Franklin county, Miss., while she was a young girl. At the age of sixteen she united herself with the Baptist Church at Union Church, Franklin county. Two years later (1865) she married Bro. William H. Ford, with whom she lived to her death, proving herself a devoted wife and loving mother. She was the mother of eight children: four had gone to rest during her life, and four she leaves with the bereaved husband and father. In 1873 they moved to Jefferson county, Miss., near Church Hill. She joined the Methodist Church at Linwood, in A. D. 1879, under the pastoral charge of Rev. J. P. Drake, and there remained until she removed her membership to our new church, Locust Grove. In 1886, She lived to see her husband and all her children received into the church, save the youngest, a boy of two years.

The present pastor talked with Sister Ford, prior to her sickness, on the subject of religion. She said she loved the church and Christian people everywhere, and expressed a desire that all of her family might become members of the church and lead a Christian life. She requested that there should be no funeral sermon over her remains, proving thereby that she wished to make no display, but that she was a woman of an humble spirit. We deposited her remains at Pine Ridge Church, seven miles northeast of Natchez, where she awaits the resurrection morn. She can not return to bereaved friends, but they, if faithful, may go to her.

A. C. FLOWERS.

KELLER—SISTER KELLER was born in Germany, February, 1827. Her parents came to America when she was an infant, and settled in Louisville, Ky. She came to New Orleans, La., in youth, where she resided to the day of her death. In January, 1851, she was happily married to Bro. J. H. Keller. They were successful in the pursuit of life, and reared a very interesting family which would do credit to any mother. She leaves a husband, two sons and four daughters to mourn their loss, while she has gone to join the other loved one.

Sister Keller was a loving, kind wife, wise in counsel, a devoted mother and a warm-hearted friend. She was frank, open and always the same. She joined the Methodist Church in her seventeenth year, where she lived and worked, and which she loved next to her Savior. She was happy when it prospered, and sad when it declined. Her home was ever open to the preachers, whom she was glad to receive and entertain. She was liberal in giving of her substance to support the church. In the last years of her life she had much trouble. These trials confirmed her in her Christian faith; and in those dark days she drew nearer to Christ. Her Bible and hymn book were her constant comfort. During her illness, she said, "It is better to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." When she came to close this life, she was calm as the closing day, and seemed absorbed in her communion, as though she was already with Christ and the loved ones, and passed out at eleven P. M., Friday night, January 28, 1887, seemingly without a sigh or fear or pain. Thank God for a religion that can enable our friends thus to die! Our loss is her gain. Let us work on and improve the godly example she has left us. The family has my sympathy and prayers. Her funeral was largely attended, and the services were conducted by Bishop Keener.

F. G. HOCUTT.

MAGEE—PHILIP MAGEE was born in St. Tammany parish, La., October 25, 1828, and died at Hattiesburg, Perry county, Miss., January 24, 1887. For eight or nine years he had been a sufferer from dyspepsia. Bro. Magee was a member of the Methodist Church and a consistent Christian for the last fifteen years of his life; was patient and hopeful through all his years of suffering, and in death was fully resigned. He leaves one son and one daughter and several grandchildren to mourn their loss. The son is in Mexico. The daughter is the wife of Mr. J. Toomer, of Hattiesburg, under whose roof the honored and lamented father breathed his last.

H. J. HARRIS.

FERGUSSON—Four summers and a few months had passed lightly over the head of little "LOTTIE LEE" FERGUSSON, leaving her yet in the budding beauty of childhood. She was a bright, beautiful and loving child. Her gentle spirit, sweet, bird-like voice, and winsome ways, made for her many friends. "Lottie Lee" was one of the little pets of our town, beloved by all who knew her. She died about six o'clock, Monday evening, January 17, 1887. As the stars were coming out to shine above us, her beautiful spirit was borne upward to shine and dwell in the home of the angels. It is hard to realize that our little friend is no longer of earth. Her child form, her sweet face, her friendly greeting, her welcome visits to our home, seem as a loving vision gone.

But, though the beautiful vision has passed away, it will be still treasured in memory as a joy forever. She was beautiful still in the calm repose of death as we stood with sorrowing ones, the stricken mother and father, and, with tear-dimmed eyes, looked for the last time upon the little form and face. The blessed Healer, I thought, is always present amid scenes of sorrow like this with balm for aching hearts. With melting heart and gentle words, he says: "Suffer the little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." There is consolation, bereaved and stricken ones, in the thought that your "little treasure," Lottie Lee, is "safe in the arms of Jesus."

T. WEIR.

MOSELEY—LINDSLEY E. MOSELEY was born August 30, 1855, in Newton county, Ga., and died at the residence of his step-father, J. L. Brown, near Haynesville, Claiborne parish, La., on August 1, 1886. He professed religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal church, South, in Haynesville, La., when about fifteen years of age. On the twenty-ninth of May, 1885, while engaged as conductor on the Georgia Pacific railroad, he was attacked with a severe hemorrhage as he was taking his train into Atlanta, Ga., and for the next eight days he had a hemorrhage, which prostrated him so much as to render him so helpless that it was necessary for him to send for his mother, Mrs. J. L. Brown, to go to his relief, which she did and remained with him the space of five months, at the expiration of which time they started for their home in Claiborne parish, La. While at home for the space of several months, his suffering was intense. The night before he died he had another hemorrhage, which terminated his life in this world. Lindsley was a good boy, kind and affectionate to his mother, had many friends in the neighborhood where he was raised, and many friends where he labored in the interest of the railroad. I visited him, read the Scriptures and prayed with him and for him, and found him resigned to the will of God.

C. R. GODFREY.

NORTON—Another aged and well-rounded Christian has finished her work and suffering on earth and gone to her eternal rest and reward. Mrs. LUCINDA NORTON was born April 30, 1811, in Pendleton, S. C. She was married to D. A. Norton, November 30, 1834. She professed religion and joined the Methodist Church in 1838, and died, near Arcadia, La., after a protracted illness, January 30, 1887.

Sister Norton's Christian life was not demonstrative, but quiet, positive and always consistent. She governed her house after the Bible standard; and her children are endeavoring to emulate her Christian virtues. The mother and wife is gone, and the household is bowed with grief; yet they "sweep not as those who have no hope." They are looking for a family reunion beyond the river.

JNO. A. MILLER.

STROUD—JAMES HARVEY, son of J. M. and Alice Stroud, was born in Franklin county, Miss., July 12, 1883, and given to the Lord in holy baptism in the same year, and died January 15, 1887, aged three years, six months and three days. He was sick a very short time. His loving father and mother stood by and anxiously desired his recovery, but had to bow in submission to the will of him that doeth all things well. We buried him on January 16. A father and mother and four brothers and sisters survive to mourn; but he is resting in the bosom of him who shed his blood to redeem the world. May God bless Bro. and Sister Stroud, and finally bring the family all to meet little Harvey in heaven!

WM. M. SULLIVAN.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WILLISTON, FLORIDA, Sept. 7th, 1886.

Messrs. A. T. SHALLENBERGER & CO.

Rochester, Pa. Gents.—I have tried the bottle of Pills, for Malaria, sent me, with the most wonderful results; one dose cured a case of two months' standing. Please send me one dozen by mail immediately, with some advertising matter. Very truly,

J. P. EPPERSON,
Dealer in General Merchandise.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & CO.,

HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS, London, England.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver, for if the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirits are depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief; but the Regulator not only relieved, but cured.

H. H. JONES, Macon, Ga.

Demand the trade mark Z. Best guarantee for the buyer. J. H. ZEILIN & CO.

AWARDED TO LIEBIG LAB. & CHEM. CO. NEW YORK, LONDON & LIVERPOOL

Prof. James H. Ayhurst, M. D.,

Member Royal College of Surgeons, Member Royal College of Physicians, Surgeon to the Royal Naval Hospital, writes: "LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC is certainly a very superior preparation * * * I have prescribed it very extensively.

Equally emphatic indorsements from thousands of the most eminent medical authorities from all parts of the world, among them being

Prof. Christian Von Vogel,

Knight of the Order of the Red Eagle, Knight of the Order of the Bavarian Crown, Physician to the Duke of Mecklenburg, &c., &c.

Prof. JOHN M. CARNOCHAN, M. D., LL.D.,

Professor of Surgery, New York Medical College, Commissioner Board of Health, New York City; ex-Health Officer Port of New York, Surgeon in Chief New York State Hospitals, &c., &c.

CAUTION—The Liebig Co. Chemists to the Royal Family, were the first to prepare Coca Tonics. A horde of imitations under various names have sprung up. Be sure to ask for LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC.

NEW YORK DEPOT,
38 MURRAY STREET.

Premiums Awarded
—TO THE—
SINGER
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
—BY THE—
N., C., and S. A. EXPOSITION.
FIRST MEDAL
For the Best Sewing Machine for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!

Singer New Family Needles, 15¢ per dozen; two dozen, 25¢. All other styles, from 15¢ to 25¢. Oil, 5¢ a bottle. Singer Shuttles, 25¢ each. Postage extra.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
S. E. RUNDLE, Agent.

A. Brousseau's Son,
23 and 25 CHARTRES ST.,
CHINA MATTING,
CARPETS,
INGRAINS,
LACE CURTAINS,
WINDOW SHADES,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS,

TERRY & MACK
9 CARONDELET
CORRECT STYLES
MENS FURNISHING GOODS
UNDERWEAR SHIRTS ETC

Fishing Tackle and Ammunition,
WOODEN AND WILLOW-WARE,
PAPER, ROPE, GLASSWARE,
HARDWARE.

Axle Grease,	Oars and Oakum,
Baseball Goods,	Oil Cans and Stoves,
Blacking and Blue,	Oyster Tongs,
Clocks and Combs,	Perfumery and Soaps,
Corks and Bottles,	Rope Reels,
Crochet and Marbles,	Stationery,
Knives—pocket and table	Tinware,
Lamps and Trimmings,	Twines and Wick,
Lye and Sal Soda,	Whips and Lashes,
Mirrors,	Wire Goods.

J. C. MORRIS,
Nos. 40, 42 and 44 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.
Sole Agency South for the Celebrated Hickok Calcium Burners and Empire Co. Scales.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MATHUSHEK PIANOS!

There is no Better Authority on Pianos than

PHILIP WERLEIN,
135 Canal Street.

He introduced the Mathushek Pianos here about Sixteen Years ago, and recommended them to his Friends and the Public as the Most Substantial Piano-forte MANUFACTURED.

They have stood the test, and Certificates from the leading Artists, Colleges, Convents and others pronounce them

Superior in Every Respect.

Sold on Terms and Prices Sure to Attract Buyers.

GOODWYN'S

NO ALUM IN IT.

The attention of Dealers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is ABSOLUTELY PURE, EXCELLENT and HEALTHFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. Its acid is the BEST GRAPE CREAM TARTAR. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE by Doctors Wm. G. Austin, C. A. Bickham, J. A. Lyons, Jos. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. OUR CHEMISTS SAY IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE.

Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by

Mrs. P. M. GOODWYN,
224 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.
Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.

JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.,
GAS FIXTURES,
PLUMBERS,
Steam and Gas Fitters,
—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—
HOME COMFORT RANGE,
TELEPHONE No. 885.
NO. 110 CAMP STREET,
New Orleans.

H. D. McCOWN,
—DEALER IN—
Mens', Youths' and Boys' Clothing,
HATS, SHIRTS,
—AND—
FURNISHING GOODS,
COR. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS.
New Orleans, La.

YALE & BOWLING,
WHOLESALE
DRY GOODS
—AND—
NOTIONS,
17, 19 and 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.

WALL PAPER
In all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty
WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,
WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS,
UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.
Framing Neatly Done.
PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS.
RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS.
EDWARD HEATH,
No. 75 CAMP STREET. NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.

Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.

AMMONIATED RAW BONE SUPERPHOSPHATE.
PURE GROUND BONE.

200 Pounds to the Acre will Double the Yield. "Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar, Cabbage and Orange Fertilizers.

Write for Agricultural Handbook.

Sterns's Fertilizing and Chemical M'f'g Co.,
11 Union St., New Orleans

BIG PAY TO AGENTS
FOR INTRODUCING OUR GOODS EVERYWHERE.
For Samples and Terms send 25 cents in stamps.
Address all orders to
La. Wire and Iron Manuf'g Co.,
Manufacturers of all kinds of Iron and Wire Goods,
58 and 60 NORTH DERBIGNY ST.,
New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

20,000!

AGENTS, TAKE NOTICE!

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET

RENEWALS AND NEW SUBSCRIBERS

—FOR THE—

ADVOCATE.

Talk and Work for Its Interests Now.

Large Results Expected of You for 1887.

WE PROMISE

Enterprise and Improvement

FROM THE FRUIT OF YOUR LABORS.

You Can Help Make the

NEW ORLEANS

The Best Church Paper in the Connection by a

Thorough Canvass for Subscribers

ON YOUR WORK.

Some of Your People Have Never Been Asked to Subscribe.

Ask Them This Year!

—20,000—

Is the Number of Subscribers That Should Be Reported to the Next Conferences.

WORK FOR THESE FIGURES!

HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending February 22, 1887.)

COTTON.

Low ordinary	7 1-16	(a — —
Ordinary	7 9-16	— —
Good ordinary	8 5-16	— —
Low middling	8¾	— —
Middling	9 1-16	— —
Good middling	9 7-16	— —
Middling fair	9 15-16	— —
Fair	10⅝	— —
Galveston middling	8⅞	— —
Mobile middling	8 15-16	— —
St. Louis middling	9	— —

SUGAR.

Inferior	2½	3⅛
Common	3¼	3⅝
Good common	3¾	4
Fair	3¾	4
Good fair	4 1-16	4⅛
Fully fair	4 1-16	4⅛
Prime	4 3-16	4¼
Strictly Prime	4 3-16	4¼
Choice	4 5-16	4⅜
Seconds	3¾	4¾
Choice yellow	5 7-16	— —
Gray White	— —	— —
Choice whites	— —	5½
Stan. Gran	5 11-16	— —

MOLASSES.

Syrup, Open Kettle	— —	— —
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —

RICE.

Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —
Prime	3¾	4
Good	3¼	3⅜
Fair	3	3⅛
Ordinary	2⅞	3
Common	2⅝	2¾
No. 2	— —	2⅛
Rough	2 30	2 90

FLOUR.

Minnesota bakers	4 62½	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12½
Extra fancy	4 50	4 62½
Winter wheat patents	5 12½	5 25
Choice	3 70	3 75
Fancy	4 00	4 10
Extra Fancy	4 30	4 35

CORN PRODUCTS.

Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	2 25	2 30
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —

GRAIN, ETC.

CORN:
White	45	45½
Yellow	45½	46
Mixed	45	45½
OATS:
Western	37½	38
Texas rust-proof	42½	— —
BRAN:
₱ cwt	5	8
HAY:
Choice	15 00	15 50
Prime	13 50	14

PROVISIONS.

PORK:
Mess	15	— —
Prime Mess	13 50	13 75
Rumps	12 75	13 00
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	11	— —
Shoulders	6½	— —
Sides, long clear	7¾	8
Sides, short rib	7¾	— —
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	11½	12 00
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	6⅛	— —
Sides, long clear	7¾	— —
Sides, short rib	7¾	— —

GROCERIES.

COFFEE:
Prime	— —	15¼
Fair	— —	14¾
Common	— —	12½
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	27	28
Western Dairy	19	20
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6¾	— —
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12½	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	36	— —
Lard	— —	60

VEGETABLES.

CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₱ head	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 50	1 75
KROUT:
Western, ₱ bbl	— —	7 00
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	3 00	3 25

BALING STUFFS.

BAGGING:
1¾ lb, per yd	7¾	— —
2 lb	8½	— —
BALING TWINE:
₱ lb	10	— —
TIES:
₱ bundle	1 00	— —

SUNDRIES.

POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 00	4 50
Young Chickens	3 00	3 50
Chickens, South'n	2 50	3 00
Young	1 75	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	9 00
EGGS:
Western	— —	11
Southern	— —	11
WOOL:
Lake, per lb	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	12
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₱ lb	— —	7
Dry salted	— —	10½
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₱ ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	35 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₱ lb	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1¾	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. RIGGS & BRO., 247 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

FEBRUARY 15.

The Hungarian Diet approved the bill appropriating 7,640,000 florins for national defense.——The Austrian government has introduced a bill in the Reichstag, appropriating 2,000,000 florins for the equipment of the landwehr and the landsturm.——Twenty-five hundred of the 72,000 prisoners confined in the jails throughout India will be released as an act of clemency commemorative of the jubilee of Queen Victoria.——The Bundesrath has approved the act, the government declaring Stettin in a minor state of siege.——Capt. A. W. Greely has been appointed Chief of Signal Service, vice Hazen, deceased.——The Senate increased the River and Harbor Bill, appropriating $4,000,000.

FEBRUARY 16.

A serious riot at Dingle, county Kerry, Ireland. A number of men and women injured.——Sixty British members of the House of Commons requested an inquiry into the Irish jury system.——Prince Hohenlohe said to-day, in his election manifesto, that the government asked for the passage of the Septenate Bill because it is persuaded that Germany will be threatened with danger of war as soon as that part of the French nation which long for war regards the military strength of France superior to that of Germany.——Emperor William is confined to his apartments with a cold and hoarseness.——An extraordinary and novel strike is threatened in Greenville, S. C. The U. S. Circuit Court is in session. It appears that there are no funds available at present to pay witnesses and jurors, and the former threaten to strike against the government if the money is not forthcoming.——The President has vetoed the bill for the distribution of seed in Texas.

FEBRUARY 17.

At Liverpool yesterday the steamship Great Eastern was sold for $130,000.——Parnell's amendment defeated in the House of Commons.——The Servian Chamber of Deputies has voted the extra military credit of £1,200,000 to defend the neutrality of the country.——Bismarck has informed the Vatican that he is sure of a majority in the new Reichstag.——Inter Ocean's special from St. Paul says: Cattle on the ranges are dying by the thousands.——The West Virginia Legislature has decided to submit the prohibitory question to a vote of the people.

FEBRUARY 18.

It is announced in Russian government circles that the conviction is gaining ground that war between France and Germany is inevitable.——The North German Gazette says that the Reichstag will be again dissolved unless the government secures a majority in the coming election.——The Anti-Polygamy Bill is ready for the President's signature.——The heavy storms that have prevailed in the Northwest for the last three weeks have destroyed almost the entire telegraph system of the Western Union in that vicinity. Only one wire remains between Chicago and San Francisco.——The Northwest Louisiana Land Company was organized in Shreveport last night.

FEBRUARY 19.

The lower House of the Hungarian Diet, by an unanimous vote, passed the extra credit of $3,110,000 for the equipment of the landwehr.——The Costa Rican government has forbidden the landing of Chinamen.——The negotiations between Spain and the United States for a new commercial treaty have been suspended by Spain until the American Congress shall have taken some action in regard to the tobacco and sugar duties.——The Senate Committee on Printing have concluded to report adversely on the nomination of Public Printer Benedict.——A fire on the American cotton docks, at Tompkinsville, S. I., caused by lightning, destroyed $2,500,000 worth of cotton and $50,000 worth of buildings.——The bill retiring the trade dollar passed, and ready for the President's signature.

FEBRUARY 20.

An extensive plot has been discovered for a Polish rising in the event of a Russo-German war.——Council of war met again at Vienna. The officers of the reserves are forbidden to leave the country.——The Grand Army posts are bringing all the pressure to bear on Congressmen by petitions in order to secure the passage of the big pension steal over the President's veto.

FEBRUARY 21.

The elections in the city of Berlin resulted unfavorably for all the government candidates.——The Queen has asked Lord Dufferin, Viceroy of India, to convey to the people her warmest thanks and deep appreciation of their loyalty to herself, as shown by their manifestation commemorative of her jubilee.——It is reported that the President has offered the treasury portfolio to Speaker Carlisle.——The Senate passed the bill incorporating the Maritime Canal Company, of Nicaragua, with principal office in New York City.

Central Mexican Conference shows the following statistics:

Number of local preachers, 11; number of members of church, 1,774; adults baptized, 90; Sunday-schools, 49; Sunday-school teachers, 66; Sunday-school scholars, 1,009; contributed for foreign missions, $216—$16 above their assessment; contributed to church extension, $357 30. Church edifices, 21; value of church edifices, $51,931 51. Parsonages, 6; value of parsonages, $10,839 35. Day-schools, 19; pupils in day-schools, 623. Next session of Conference at Puebla.

Books and Periodicals.

BOOKS.

THE TEACHING OF THE SACRED SCRIPTURES CONCERNING WINE AND OTHER LIQUORS: By H. N. Davis, of the Illinois Conference. Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati. Price, fifteen cents.

The writer shows the use of wine among the Jews by many quotations. Indeed, we have not seen so much Scripture put in such a clear and compact form as is put together on the wine question in this little pamphlet of forty-eight pages. We commend it heartily.

NO. 8. THE EUREKA COLLECTIONS OF RECITATIONS AND READINGS. J. S. Ogilvie, 31 Rose street, New York.

This is a little book of prose and rhyme designed for private and public entertainments.

THE RED DRAGON: OR, TEMPERANCE CATECHISM. By H. T. Hudson, D. D. Babbington, Roberts & Co., Shelby, N. C.

This catechism is designed for Sunday-schools, families and individuals. This is one of the best lines upon which to project and carry forward the temperance campaign. Indoctrinate the young people with the teachings of the Bible on this subject. Dr. Hudson has done a good work in writing and publishing this little work. The appeal at the end has the clear ring of a clarion.

PERIODICALS.

—Babyhood, February. There is nothing equal to this magazine. If the people who have young children do not read this monthly, they are doing a great injustice to those young children. Babyhood Publishing Company, 5, Beekman street, New York. Price, $1 50.

—Wide Awake is as bright and beautiful as ever, scattering an unusual amount of sunshine through the February days. D. Lothrop & Co., Boston.

—The Cosmopolitan is on hand with a full table. Schlicht and Field Company, Rochester, New York.

—Sidereal Messenger has all about the heavens and how to study them. Northfield, Minn.

—The Book-Buyer has a summary of American and foreign literature. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City.

—Christian Thought, for February, is filled with articles on the various phases of the labor question; and everything is first-class. It is published by W. B. Ketcham, 71 Bible House, New York.

—The Brooklyn Magazine is on hand in good time with its usual bill of fare.

—The Studio, for January, has some good etchings and good reading matter to match.

—Received, Common School Education, by William A. Mowry. 50 Bromfield street, Boston.

—Journal of Education. New Orleans, La.

—Littell's Living Age. No. 2225. Littell & Co., Boston.

—Freeman's Monthly Magazine. Passaic City, N. J.

—Musical Herald. Franklin Squre, Boston.

—The Gospel in All Lands. 805 Broadway, New York.

THE TRUE STRENGTH OF METHODISM.—The epithet Arminian as applied to Methodist theology is, after all, very like a misnomer. It is Arminian only in the sense that it is anti-Calvinistic. The name of the amiable and accomplished Dutch professor has become the symbol of the opposition to the predestinarianism of the Genevan reformer; but while the Arminianism of the Low Countries developed early into a flaccid and only half Protestant Broad Churchism, Methodism has preserved undiminished and even intensified the dogmatic orthodoxy of the Puritans, as well as their hatred of everything that savors of Roman Catholicism. Protestantism is often stigmatized as a mere negation—the watchword of an insurrection; and the same charge might be brought up against Arminianism; but it would be as unjust in the one case as in the other. Protestanism is the negation of Romanism, just as the teaching of St. Paul was the negation of the tenets of the Ebionites, or rather of their predecessors, the myriads of Palestinian believers who were all zealous of the law. The Reformation was the reassertion of fundamental Christian truths which the Church of Rome had for the most part not rejected, but made inoperative by the huge superstructure under which it had buried them. The Evangelical Arminianism of the eighteenth century was in like manner the reassertion of truths which were for the most part imbedded in the theology of the Reformed Churches, but which were made of none effect by the philosophical system so strangely engrafted upon that theology. It is not in its negation of Calvinistic dogmas, but in its vindication and proclamation of the antagonistic truths that the strength of Methodism lies. One thing may be regarded as established by its past history; that is, that its Arminianism involves no tendency towards laxity of dogmatic teaching. Compared with those churches which still retain more or less of their original Calvinism, Methodism has proved itself not less but better fitted to resist the disintegrating atmosphere of the nineteenth century. —Exchange.

THE RESISTANCE OF THE ATMOSPHERE.—From Professor Langley's illustrated paper on "Comets and Meteors," in the January Century, we quote as follows: "Everybody has noticed that if we move a fan gently, the air parts before it with little effort, while, when we try to fan violently, the same air is felt to react; yet if we go on to say that if the motion is still more violent, the atmosphere will resist like a solid, against which the fan, if made of iron, would break in pieces, this may seem to some an unexpected property of the "nimble" air through which we move daily. Yet this is the case, and if the motion is only so quick that the air can not get out of the way, a body hurled against it will rise in temperature like a shot striking an armor-plate. It is all a question of speed, and that of the meteorite is known to be immense. One has been seen to fly over this country from the Mississippi to the Atlantic in an unappreciably short time, probably in less than two minutes; and though at a presumable height of over fifty miles, the velocity with which it shot by gave everyone the impression that it went just above his head, and some witnesses of the unexpected apparition looked the next day to see if it had struck their chimneys. The heat developed by arrested motion in the case of a mass of iron moving twenty miles a second can be calculated, and is found to be much more than enough, not only to melt it, but to turn it into vapor; though what probably does happen is, according to Professor Newton, that the melted surface-portions are wiped away by the pressure of the air and volatilized to form the luminous train, the interior remaining cold, until the difference of temperature causes a fracture, when the stone breaks and pieces fall—some of them at red-hot heat, some of them, possibly, at the temperature of outer space, or far below that of freezing mercury.

"Where do these stones come from? What made them? The answer is not yet complete, but if a part of the riddle is already yielding to patience, it is worthy of note, as an instance of the connection of the sciences, that the first help to the solution of this astronomical enigma came from the chemists and the geologists."

The country boy or girl is face to face with practical realities. He sees how slowly money is made on the farm; he is taught from youth up the need of economy; he has the nature of saving first explained to him every day in the week; he is not exposed to the temptation of the saloon or ball-room, and he is not so much of a lady's man before he has occasion to use a razor on his downy cheek. He may be a trifle rude; he may not feel easy in company, but in the long, closely contested race of life, it is the chap that trudges to school barefooted in summer and in stogas in winter, whose mother cuts his hair with the sheep-shears, who leads the chap that goes to the city school with starched shirt-front and fancy slippers, and whose head is shaved with a lawn-mower at the barber shop.

The Christian life is full of trials, unpleasant duties, weighty responsibilities; duties are to be met, crosses are to be borne, trials endured, responsibilities shouldered. These demand courage and test its metal. The heroes of faith, patriarchs, prophets, apostles, martyrs illustrate the necessity and triumph of holy courage. Paul, Luther and Wesley were men of unflinching courage. They would not be honored as the chief apostle, the leader of the Reformation, the father of Methodism, were it not for their courage; without this their names would never have been on the roll of God's elect and honored ones. Cowardice would have damned them in this world and in the world to come.—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

If God is entering more and more into your thoughts, if you are loving to talk with him in prayer, if in your home, your business and your pleasures you are seeking to do his will that whatever you do you may glorify him, then you have daily witness that you are a citizen of heaven—that your white robe is being woven by your words and acts of every day.—Rev. E. A. Kittredge.

Quarterly Conferences.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Evergreen	Feb. 26, 27
Melville, at Melville	Mar. 5, 6
Trinity, at Bennett's School-house	12, 13
Centreville, at Centreville	19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 27
Montgomery, at Montgomery	Apr. 2, 3
Ada, at Gray's Creek	9, 10

District stewards' meeting at Alexandria, February 19, 1887.

B. F. ALEXANDER, P. E.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Ruston, at Ruston	Feb. 26, 27
Minden circuit, at Minden	Mar. 5, 6
Tulip circuit, at Tulip	12, 13
Haynesville circuit, at Haynesville	19, 20
Homer circuit, at Homer	26, 27
Farmerville circuit, at Farmerville	Apr. 2, 3
Summerfield circuit, at Alabama	9, 10
Downsville circuit, at Downsville	16, 17
Indian Village circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Ringgold circuit, at Ringgold	30, May 1
Sparta and Saline, at Sparta	7, 8

The district stewards will please meet at the Methodist Church in Ruston, February 26, at three o'clock P. M.

ROBERT HANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Lake Providence, at Lake Providence	Feb. 28, 27
Waterproof, at Waterproof	Mar. 5, 6
Richland	12, 13
Lind Grove, at Bartholomew	18, 20
Oak Ridge, at Good Hope	26, 27
Floyd, at Oak Grove	Apr. 2, 3
Bastrop	9, 10

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

East Point, at Coushatta Academy	Feb. 26, 27
Red River, at Campo Bella	Mar. 5, 6
Shreveport, at Shreveport	9
Caddo, at Friendship	12, 13
South Bossier, at Bellevue	16
North Bossier, at Concord	19, 20
Mooringsport, at Pine Hill	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Shreveport, on Thursday, March 10, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Methodist Church.

J. B. CASSITY, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

New Iberia	Feb. 26, 27
Rayne	Mar. 5, 6
Lake Charles	12
German Mission	13, 14
Sulphur Mine	20, 21

S. S. KEENER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Plaquemine and Donaldsville, at Plaq.	Feb. 26, 27
Algiers and Gretna, at Algiers	Mar. 6
Louisiana Avenue	13
Moreau	20
Carrollton and Parker Ch., at Carrollton	27
Baton Rouge	Apr. 2, 3

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

East Baton Rouge, at Bethel (Thu.)	Feb. 24
Perry's Creek	26, 27
Woodville	27, 28
Woodville circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	5, 6

A. A. H. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Cane Ridge	Feb. 26, 27
Anguilla	Mar. 5, 6
Meyersville	12, 13
Nolan	19, 20
Roxie	21, 22

W. L. C. BENNETT, P. E.

LAUGHTER.—Do we, as a rule, laugh enough? Is there not too much beefsteak and too little gravy for salutary digestion in the every-day consumption of brain food! Is there spice enough to season the standing dish of drudgery? There is a service to a chaste laugh, and its relation to physical comfort is noteworthy. Our emotions are the plaything of our surroundings, and the graces we would cultivate can never be perfected in an atmosphere that is not cordial. The nightmare of disaster is ever disturbing new endeavors and cherished ventures, and if it is to be dispelled the handiest helper is the sunshine of mirth. To one who is in the maelstrom of cares, or who is a galley slave in the struggle to exist, or on whose cast of dice is staked the gain or loss by living, there is no force that can sustain as broad humor. Music has a power to lighten loads, relax bows, but a side-shaker seems to be quite as salutary to the weary ones in the market place. A ditty travels to the springs of the feelings, but a neatly perpetrated pun makes the man of care take cheer as he toils. The mind that is lost to every appeal save the requisitions of his vocation needs to be switched off, and a handy way to do it is to tickle him. It is said of Lincoln that his indulgence in laughing and dry satirizing was a physical necessity—that the responsibilities of his policy during the war would have chafed him to despair had he not repeatedly laughed away his fears or stilled his forebodings with funny exuberances.

There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better or for worse, as his portion; that, though the wide universe is full of good, no kernel of nourishing corn can come to him but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given him to till.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

KNABE
PIANOFORTES.
UNEQUALLED IN
Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability
WILLIAM KNABE & CO.
Nos. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street
Baltimore. No. 112 Fifth Avenue, N. Y

MISCELLANEOUS.

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement,

—1887.—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash in full to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price.	Our price
Southern Cultivator	$1 50	$2 75
American Agriculturist	3 50	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos	11 00	13 00
" " 6 "	7 00	6 50
Weekly "	3 50	2 50
" Times-Democrat	3 50	2 75
Harper's Magazine	6 00	4 75
" Weekly	6 00	4 75
" Bazar	6 00	4 75
" Young People	4 00	3 00
Demorest's Magazine	4 00	3 25

Send cash in full with all orders.

No attention paid to orders without cash.

Hugh Jamieson, Jr.

MUSIC BOOKS
FOR
MALE and MIXED QUARTETS, for QUARTET CHOIRS, and SOCIAL SINGS

FOR MALE VOICES.

Amphion (5 books), $1; Arion (5 books), $1; Harmonia (5 books), $2.50; Apollo, $2; Boylston Club Collection, $1.50; Cross' Part Songs, 50 cts.; Emerson's Quartets and Choruses, 60 cts.; Male Voice Glee Book, $1; Mendelssohn's Four-Part Songs, 100 cts.; Sanger-Fest, $1.50; Dow's Sacred Quartets, $1.75; Male Voice Choir, 50 cts.; and American Male Choir, 80 cts.

These contain a great variety of the best Male Voice music.

FOR MIXED VOICES.

Gumbach's Quartets, $1.75; and his new Collection, $1.75; Buck's Motet Collection, $2; and his Second Motet Collection, $2; Emerson's Concert Selections, $1; Dow's Responses, and Sentences, 50 cts.; Thomas' Sacred Quartets, $1.75; Emerson's Sacred Quartets, $1.75; Shepard Church Collection, $1; Straehauer's Church Music, $1; Church Offering, $1.50; Dressler's Sacred Selections, $1.50. Sterling good books, widely used.

Send for descriptions. Any book mailed for Price.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, New York.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND.
A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp which cured his only child of CONSUMPTION. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that CONSUMPTION can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this recipe free, only asking two 2-cent stamps to pay expenses. This herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1632 RACE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, naming this paper.

$65 A MONTH and Board for three TEACHERS Students or live men in each county. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., Philadelphia.

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886; with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Rates of board and tuition without music, one hundred and seventy-five dollars; with music, two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments, one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in similar proportion. If the entire bills for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Four pupils engaging a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the regular rates, and tuition in both literary and music department free of charge.

Special vocal training is not included in the regular lessons for music, but will be charged as an additional course in music.

In making engagements for the year, a club of four young ladies who wish to pay all in advance will receive board, tuition and one course in music for $176 25—a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue price; or by paying one-half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRACE, Pres.
E. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 9. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1596.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. JAMES A. GOLIFREY.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. D. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, M. D.

WRECKED IN PORT.

BY JAMES BUCKHAM.

Through wild, tempestuous seas, through fog and night,
A noble ship had sailed; and now, at last,
The dangers of the awful deep were past,
And the green shores of home had come in sight.

By beach and cliff the ship sailed bravely on,
Past white-walled towns and fields of golden grain;
And eyes were wet with happy tears again,
To hear the church bells as the sun went down.

One more brief night upon the ocean's breast—
Then welcome to the land, to friends and home.
Oh, it was worth a thousand leagues to come,
To at the journey's end lay home and rest!

So came the night, the fog's low, misty bank;
At dawn no pilot, but they could not wait.
Alas! and who shall tell the good ship's fate?
Almost in port, she struck a rock, and sank!

O human soul! O nobler ship! If thou
Hast crossed the ocean of this life alone,
And seest at last the blessed shores of home,
Lay by! lay by! thou needst a pilot now!

Hints and Helps to the Study of God's Word.

The Bible is "the Book of Books," and is full of the most valuable information on the most important subjects, and from the highest and purest source.

It should be searched, therefore, "as for hid treasure." (Prov. ii, 6.) The ground of all correct knowledge in religion, and of all correct conduct, is laid in just views of God. Some remarks, therefore, are necessary upon those passages of Scriptures which speak of God.

It should never be forgotten that from the Scriptures alone we derive correct views of God—such views of him as are calculated to make us wise unto salvation—and that this object is pursued there in a manner suited to the capacities of mankind at large.

God condescends to the feebleness of our minds in the use of such representations of himself as are borrowed chiefly from our nature and manner of acting. Instance—Jer. vii, 13: "I spake unto you, rising up early and speaking."

This figurative language indicated that God placed great importance upon, and felt great interest in, the matter which then engaged him; because men usually rise up early, to prosecute earnestly matters of importance and interest. (Gen. viii, 21.) God is said to "smell a sweet savour." Paul uses the same figure—"We are unto God a sweet savour of Christ in them that are saved, and in them that perish." This is a Hebrew phrase drawn from the law of sacrifices, and employed to express God's acceptance of the service of his sincere worshipers.

The Scriptures in speaking of God sometimes ascribe hands, feet, eyes to him, not that he has any of these members—for "God is a spirit," "without body or parts." We are taught by such language that he has power to do those things indicated by these members. So we read of the "arm of the Lord," expression of power, because in man power is chiefly shown by the arm. Hebrews i, 13: "Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity." This means that God's nature is so pure and holy that it is at infinite distance from, and at infinite contrariety to sin; that it is the only thing to which he is irreconcilably antagonistic. So when men hate a thing, to the highest degree, they turn away their eyes and refuse to look upon it—can not endure the sight of it. (See Psalms v, 3; II Cor. vi, 14, 15.) Again the Scriptures ascribe human affections and feelings to God. Zech. iii, 17: "The Lord thy God will joy over thee with singing." These expressions are taken from the manner of men in their manifestations of affection for loved ones. "It repented the Lord that he had made man: * * * it grieved him," etc. (Gen. vi, 6.) Thus we are taught the evil of sin; it separates God from man, and man from God, and gives displeasure to God in the work of his own hands. But we must not forget the nature of God and think him disappointed in the sin and fall of man. "Known unto God are all his works from the beginning." (Acts xv, 18; Prov. xvi, 4.) Again, "God doeth according to his will," etc. "Hath not the potter power over the clay?" The instruction intended here is that his will is to be the law of ours, and that entire subjection to and complete acquiescence in what he wills and does to us or others is required.

But we are not to understand that God acts as arbitrary men act when in power. No; his actions are the results of the harmonized and infinite perfections of his nature. "His tender mercies are over all his works." (Psalms cxlv, 9.) "I will go down and see." (Gen. xviii, 21.) The justice and nobleness of God's nature illustrated him. He never condemns nor executes until thorough examination has been made. God is said, in Scripture, often, to do those things, which he foresees will be, in fact, the results of man's corrupt nature under temptation, notwithstanding the freedom of their wills. (II Samuel xii, 11, 12, 24; I Kings xxii, 24; Matt. xi, 25.)

So in the book of Exodus, God is said to have hardened Pharaoh's heart. But it was Pharaoh's corrupt heart yielding to temptation which hardened it. The diverse effects of heat upon clay and wax—hardening one and softening the other—are results from diverse qualities in the objects upon which the heat acts. So of temptations on human hearts. Abraham's temptation confirmed his faith. Pharaoh's temptation confirmed his impiety. (Gen. xxii; Ex. iv, 21, and ix, 12.) We should be very careful not to place one part of God's character in antagonism to another; but understand the different phases of character as calling us to distinct and different duties—submission, confidence, love, fear, etc., all of which are necessary to complete Christian character. Just as all the different phases of God's character presented in the Bible bring it out to human conception in full-orbed splendor. "Is the Savior infinite in mercy? He is also a just God, and a Savior perfectly holy." Compare I John iv, 8, and Heb. xii, 29.

H.

Letter from South Carolina.

MR. EDITOR: Kindly greetings to the ADVOCATE in her new attire. In this day of enterprise, especially in journalism, it is gratifying to see the religious press making bold efforts to keep pace with the popular demands. The time has past, if it ever existed, for appeals to be made to our people to rally to the support of their official organ, just simply because it is an organ. The organ must not be a mere mouthpiece, out-o'-tune, playing hackneyed songs with discordant notes: The pipe organ, with steam power, and a paid choir will set aside the old-time diminutive affair. The true principle, as well as policy, is to give the people a first-class journal, elegantly printed on good paper, ably edited, with reading matter suited to every member of the household, and then demand cash in advance. Some may not fancy the idea of the ADVOCATE ceasing to make its weekly visits simply because the money is not forthcoming; but these same fanciful persons know at the same time that the great dailies and literary weekly and monthly journals will not be read in their homes unless paid for in advance. Verily the children of this world are wiser in their day than the children of light. You have an illustrious line of predecessors, Mr. Editor; and in their day they measured up to the requirements of the church. But you are also, my dear Doctor, nobly meeting the issues of this hour, and you are not one whit behind in the succession: You grace your robes finely. To meet the requirements of this decade may not call for labored homilies on great theological discussions, and splitting hairs on tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee. This is an intensely practical hour, wherein every man must be supposed to know what Israel ought to do. We have passed the theorizing threshold, and are thrust out into the broad arena of hand-to-hand conflict with the powers of darkness.

The old South Carolina Conference, in all her operations, was never more prosperous than now. The past year showed a net increase of over seven thousand persons brought into our church. The ministry is better supported, and nearly every charge has a furnished parsonage; so when the great ecclesiastical catapult hurls a preacher from one extreme of Conference boundary to another, it is merely a matter of packing trunks and books; and a day's travel will transfer the family, bag and baggage to the new work. And so perfect is the new arrangement that in many instances the fires never go out, the new preacher moving in the day his predecessor goes out. Our Conference almost unanimously voted an assessment, for the coming year, for our worn-out preachers, widows and orphans of $11,000—an increase of $4,000 over former figures. The other collections have been increased, and we have a larger list of veterans and helpless women and children. Bishop Granbery delighted all hearts, and we wish for his return. He has promised to hold the Charleston and other District Conferences this spring.

Rev. J. W. Wolling, of our Conference, has been appointed missionary to Brazil, to take the place of our lamented Koger, and will sail early in March. He is a thoroughly consecrated man, and has made a fine record in his own Conference, and leaves us only because he believes the hand of God specially indicates a more needy field.

A devoted Christian woman of our Conference has recently offered herself to the Woman's Board, and it is likely that she, too, will soon sail for a foreign field. Thank God the consecrated men and women of our land are gladly responding to the call of those who sit in darkness and in the shadow of death!

We have had no recent shocks from the earthquake, and our people are settling down to hard work to restore the waste places of our stricken city. Business is increasing, new railroads are being enterprised; Uncle Sam is at work deepening our bar, and we confidently expect to see the quaint old "City-by-the-sea" take a conspicuous place on the commercial map of the world.

Our own Bishop Duncan has returned from his Western tour of Conferences, and is filling engagements in our bounds. He preached at Summerfield last Sunday, and came down and met with our Preachers' Meeting on Monday, giving us wise counsel as we canvassed the condition of our church property so seriously damaged by the great earthquake. He preached for me at Cumberland Church, Monday night, to the great profit of our people in the revival services now in progress.

Let me say to our friends in your Conferences that our Methodist people here appreciate in a profound sense their timely aid in sending money to assist in restoring our shattered church property. Our people are doing all in their power to help themselves. Spring Street Church, last Sunday night, raised over four hundred dollars to further the work of restoring their two-story brick edifice. That church and Cumberland are "up town," and are doing "frontier" work, and are not able to rise up and build without help. The treasurer of our general fund has not near enough for the four churches yet. Will not our friends yet send us any amounts their hearts may be free to? We certainly thank you, dear Doctor, for your kindly interest and co-operation all the while.

H. BASCOM BROWNE.

CHARLESTON, South Carolina.

Missionaries for China and Brazil.

WOMAN'S BOARD OF MISSIONS.

Christ said, "Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth laborers into his harvest." We have prayed; the answer has come; the missionaries are accepted and waiting to go—ay, must go. Are we ready to send them?

Bishop Wilson writes from the field in China: "All your ladies have too much to do, and it means death to some of them." Dr. Allen, in a letter of late date, referring to the death of Miss Dora Rankin, says: "Unless re-enforcements come speedily, disaster will follow disaster."

Brethren, the overburdened women, standing so bravely by their posts, looking hopefully, trustfully, to the home church from whence must come their help, are your sisters in the gospel; and you will surely open your hearts and purses, to "bring forward on their journey after a godly sort" the ladies who have recently been appointed to foreign fields to share with the tried-worn veterans the labors of their ever-widening work.

Sisters in the fellowship of Christ, and members of the Woman's Missionary Society, these girls who have answered the urgent call, and have laid all they had to give—their lives—on the altar of God, are your daughters, peculiarly yours; they stand before you to-day, pleading with eloquent tears for you to help them to go to work, and die, if need be, in the service of their King.

Shall we in this crisis turn aside unheeding? Shall we do less for our Redeemer's cause than the "willing-hearted" women of Israel who stripped themselves of their ornaments of gold and jewels to furnish the Tabernacle in the wilderness? Rather let it be said of us as of them, "The women whose hearts stirred them up in wisdom" bring free offerings "much more than enough for the service of the work which the Lord commanded."

O Father, stir the hearts of the wives, mothers, and daughters, who sit in their well-appointed homes, and the luxury of wealth, and the light of gospel truth, to give cheerfully of their fullness; and those whose "deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality" to bring their acceptable gifts, that the waiting missionaries may go on their way rejoicing, and that the strain on the noble women over the seas may be removed, and their hearts and hands strengthened.

Six ladies are under appointment, and two more before the Woman's Board awaiting acceptance.

With the same faith that inspired the appeal for more laborers, we now make this appeal for money to send them.

MRS. D. H. M'GAVOCK,
Cor. Sec. W. B. M.

Miss Dora Rankin.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Carrollton (Miss.) Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society, Methodist Episcopal Church, South:

Whereas, In the wisdom of our heavenly Father, Miss Dora Rankin, the second missionary sent to a foreign field by the Woman's Board of Missions, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who went to China in 1879, in the prime of young womanhood, has been called from her successful labors to a bright reward; and, whereas, This great affliction will be sorely felt upon our mission work at home, as well as in foreign fields; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the missionary work in China, and the church at large, have lost one of their most efficient workers.

Resolved, That while we deeply deplore the death of Dora Rankin, we feel assured that our loss is her eternal gain.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with her lonely sister and bereaved mother, and commend them to the God of comfort.

Resolved, That we recognize the urgent need of more labors for our foreign work, and will pray that our heavenly Father may call more laborers into the field.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and a copy of them be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

ANNIE BURROUGHS,
EVA R. BINGHAM,
Committee.

Revival in the Church.

We ask our pastors to read carefully the item which follows. It is from the Independent, and is well worth pondering prayerfully. In the greatest and most successful meeting we have ever read of, the whole church had been thoroughly filled with the Holy Ghost. Says the Independent:

"Too much stress is laid upon the conversion of sinners. We speak in view of the generally unready condition of the church. The burden of desire seems to be to 'see souls saved.' Far be it from us to say that such a desire is not a lawful one; but our impression is that special effort is too quickly directed to the work of 'soul saying' in the average so-called revival meetings. The church needs, for the most part, a thorough awakening to its own spiritual condition. In fact, there must be a revival of religion in the church, before there can be a reasonable hope of an ingathering of souls from the world. It is a mistake to suppose that God can or will work through a cold, unconsecrated and worldly church. It is very difficult for the minister or the evangelist to reach sinners over the heads and through the hearts of a cold and unsympathetic church: and in case sinners are convicted and converted, it is equally difficult to drag them into the kingdom over the heads and through the cold hearts of unsympathetic church members. It is an egregious blunder to suppose that any pastor or evangelist can accomplish a revival of religion without the spiritual sympathy and co-operation of the people of God with whom he works."

The May Meetings.

In accordance with the action of the Episcopal College the three sections of the Committee of Nine on the Hymn Book will meet in joint session in Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday, April 27.

The Bishops will meet in annual session, Monday, May 2.

I am also requested to say that the Book Committee will meet in annual session, Wednesday, May 4; and the Board of Missions, Friday, May 7.

R. K. HARGROVE,
Sec. Epis. Col.

Current Coins.

(Churchman.)

In old Jewish Mishna we read how Rabbi Jacob said: "This world is, as it were, the ante-room of the world to come. Prepare thyself in the ante-room, so that thou mayest be fit to enter the banquet room." It was lack of this preparation in the ante-room that the man got into the feast without the wedding garment; had he only robed himself first! Day by day, year after year, by this providence and by that grace, opportunities are given to get the robe and to put it on. If we care little for it, care more for the homespun and the metals, little by little opportunities pass away, and all of a sudden we are summoned into the presence of the King—to be forced to enter and no clothing fit! Not too late now, if we will but make the preparation. Why not? And why not now?

(Congregationalist.)

It is not creditable to so strong a government as ours that public business is allowed to go on accumulating in some of the departments, notwithstanding the best efforts of the overworked officials. This has been especially true of the Pension Bureau and of the Supreme Court. In the former department matters are now rapidly improving, and in a few months it is thought that the business will be well in hand. But the Supreme Court is heavily burdened. Its business is three years in arrears, and constantly accumulating. The question of its relief is an important one, and has already received large attention. The matters coming before this tribunal are often of the gravest import, and the long delays sometimes work great injury and suffering. Certainly there must be some way of relief, and it ought to be found without delay.

(Watchman.)

The truth of Christ must lock horns with error and superstition wherever it is met with. The old conflict of the woman's offspring with the serpent is to be renewed in every clime. The Huguenots, driven out of France, formed regiments under William of Orange, and freed the old persecutors at the battle of the Boyne, in a land remote from their home. Jean Cavalier, the young hero of the war in the Cevennes against persecution, afterward served in the British army, and fought in Spain, at Almanza, against some of the brutal dragoons who had fled before him in Southern France. These historic facts are but symbols of a spiritual combat, a war without cartel, to be renewed "at sight." To all hypocritical overtures of peace, the answer should be that of Jehu: "What, peace so long as the sins of thy mother Jezebel and her witchcrafts are so many?"

(Irish Christian Advocate.)

But now the outlook is somewhat different as compared with the times of the Wesleys; the churches are more active, the religious press is contributing largely towards the evangelization of the world by the dissemination of a healthy literature, the pulpit is more evangelical, the people are more enlightened, and spiritual religion is more widely experienced and more highly esteemed. But nevertheless there is a great work to be done yet; when we look at the formalism, the intemperance, the religious error, the unbelief, the secret and open ungodliness that prevails under the very shadow of the churches, we may well say that there is a great work to be done. If Methodism would be true to her ancient traditions, if she would emulate the glorious past in winning souls for Christ, if she would take her full share of the work to be done all around, and be successful in fulfilling her Divine mission in a measure at all commensurate to her position, opportunities, and facilities for carrying on her operations, the zeal that burned as a fire in the hearts of the true followers of the Wesleys in the past must with renewed energy actuate their successors of the present. The holiness which many of them experienced, and which they delighted to spread throughout the land, must be now and ever the grand distinguishing feature of Methodism.

(Intelligencer.)

Obedience is knowledge applied: it is belief in motion. To obedience Jesus looks to find the true test of friendship and love to him. "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you." "He that hath my commandments and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me." His disciples, therefore, need to do more than to look into their minds to see if they have knowledge of Christ, and into their hearts to see if they have the love of Christ; they need to look to their feet to see if they run in the way of Christ's commands, to ascertain whether their obedience is in accordance with their knowledge and professed belief. Jesus obeyed the law perfectly. "Though he was a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered, and having been made perfect, he became unto all them that obey him the author of eternal salvation." And to his disciples he said: "I have given you an example." Therefore no believer is justified in becoming so engrossed in his contemplation of Christ's cross of atonement as to allow it to obscure Christ's life of satisfying obedience, and in his rapture at the view of Calvary to think that he has nothing to do but to stand, clap his hands, and shout: "Hallelujah, 'tis done! I believe on the Son; I am saved by the blood of the crucified One."

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1887.

A NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS.

BY MRS. I. M. CONKLIN.

To what shall we liken this marvelous thing,
This waxen white wonder of beauty and bloom?
This vision more fair than the dream spirits bring?
This satiny whiteness, and breath of perfume?
This vase alabastrine—garners it here,
The lover and the graces that make a home sweet,
To open among us as vespers draw near,
And pour its libation at Jesus' feet?

Or, is it a model in gold and in pearl,
The holy of holies—the mystical shrine?
These luminous petals the white wings that furl:
This central white star for the Presence Divine?
Or, is it a figure, less fair than the fact
To show us how stainless the ransomed ones stand?
Bowed humbly because of the worthiness lacked
Yet clothed with Christ's righteousness at his right hand.

An undine perchance, like the fabulous sprite
Made mortal by love, an immortal to be?
A Lia without her wee lambkins so white!
A Venus new sprung from the foam of the sea?
All whiteness, all brightness, all beauties that are.
We call for comparison, always in vain!
Itself its own emblem, a flower, a star,
A queen for a night who unrivalled shall reign!

Minutes of the North Mississippi Conference.

The presiding elder of the Columbus district and the preacher in charge of Starkville station were appointed a committee to edit and publish the minutes of the last session of the North Mississippi Conference. The contract for printing the minutes had been made with a printing office in Starkville by the former presiding elder and preacher in charge. The manuscript, all but one short report, was in the hands of the printer before Christmas. There has not been one minnie's delay so far as the committee is concerned. This much I say in answer to numerous enquiries in regard to the delay of the minutes.

In a general way, I may say that it is a mistake to attempt to have the minutes of an Annual Conference printed at the average inland country printing offices. It is too big a job for an ordinary printing office. In the first place, these offices can not afford to keep extra hands enough to do this kind of work, and then they do not keep on hand type enough to set up the whole job at once. They set up about two pages at a time and run them off on a small job press; then distribute the type and set up two pages more, and so on to the end. Other work comes in, and the minutes have to wait on more important—rather, more imperative—work. They are on hand, started, and can't well be recalled: so they have to wait on everything and everybody. This is the reason why our minutes are so late coming out this year. Some good brethren seem to think the Publishing Committee are to blame for the delay; but they are not. We are not printers. We do not know how to set type and work off jobs; and if we did, we have no type or press at our command.

Methodist minutes should, as a general rule, be printed at a Methodist house, where our abbreviations and our terminology are understood. The printer, compositor, who sets up the type may be of some other faith or order, or of no faith and no order. In this case, "sup." for "supernumerary" in one place, and for "supply" in another, puzzles him beyond measure. These things, and many others of the same character, would be readily understood by Methodist printers. The copy furnished the printer, usually the original draft of the minutes in pencil, with abundant interlining, is often hard to unravel and would puzzle anyone but a Methodist preacher; and this committee will not be confident they have it right every time. Some of the reports, written often on scraps of poor paper with a soft pencil, are harder to unravel than a tangled skein of silk.

Brethren should be merciful to the printer and have some compassion on the proof reader. In this particular case, owing to changes made since Conference, one of the committee has had all the publishing work to do—all of which could have been done in two days if the matter, the proof, had been ready. Some of the reports had to be rewritten entire, as best they could be deciphered. Your correspondent is not an adept in Egyptian hieroglyphics. The contract for printing was limited to a certain number of pages—less, if possible, but certainly no more. This required the cutting down of some admirably written reports. The minutes will be ready pretty soon, and the printing, I am sure, will be well done; but the editing, I fear, will not be satisfactory. This job, like the forbidden fruit, makes one wise—at least, wiser than before.

The secretary of an Annual Conference ought to be paid a reasonable compensation for his onerous work, and the money should be furnished him to pay for the work, and the publication should be committed to his hands. Our minutes will not be as accurate nor as reliable as they should be until this is done. "It would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer"—as the old saying is—to make out the roll of a Conference and get all the addresses of the preachers as they should be. It is simply impossible for one man to guess correctly at the postoffice address of one hundred and forty preachers. I have thought, perhaps, a few desultory remarks along this line would throw some light on what seems to be a small matter to some good men and, at the same time, prevent too much electioneering for the position of publisher of the Conference minutes next fall.

In conclusion, I may say I do not think there has been any needless delay on the part of the printers here. I am confident they have done the best they could under the circumstances.

Yours, GILDEROY.

STARKVILLE, Miss., Feb. 21, 1887.

A Call to the Ministry.

MR. EDITOR: A writer in one of our Advocates calls attention to the fact that our presiding elders and preachers of long experience do not preach sermons on the subject of a call to the ministry of late years as was the custom in years gone by, and, as a consequence, fewer in proportion of the number of converts enter the ministry. Then at our camp meetings and other occasions, where people congregated in large numbers, this subject was made a specialty. The writer was forcibly reminded of his own experience. In October, 1831, I was happily converted to God as I then thought and have ever since believed. I was then nineteen years old. Not long after my conversion I was impressed (no doubt, by the Holy Spirit) that it was my duty to preach the gospel. As I was afterwards appointed and served for several years as class leader, I endeavored to ease my conscience on the subject of a call to the ministry with the notion of a want of qualification for this high and holy calling, and that I could be useful in the sphere in which I was acting. The impression that I ought to abandon secular pursuits and call sinners to repentance followed me night and day. Some of our preachers would tell me that they believed I ought to enter the ministry. Being of a timid disposition, and regarding the ministry the highest and most responsible vocation in which one could embark, I was tempted to decline the undertaking.

In the summer of 1836 I left Talbotton, Ga., and wended my way towards the setting sun. In the (then new and fertile) county of Madison, Miss., I stopped, making it my objective point. The Sabbath following there was a quarterly meeting held at Ofahoma. Bro. John G. Jones was the presiding elder, and Ehjah Steele the preacher in charge of the Seniasha mission. I attended this meeting on Sabbath, a stranger to all present. At eleven A. M. Bro. Jones preached on the subject of "A Call to the Ministry." Had he been familiar with my history from the time of my conversion, how I had been striving against my honest convictions, he could not have described my case better than he did. As I sat with subdued feelings and tearful eyes, listening to the man of God as he pressed his subject upon my heart and conscience, I secretly resolved that at no distant day, if life was spared, I would yield to Divine impressions. Bro. Steele, who was watching the effects of the sermon, noticed that a strange young man in the audience was deeply affected. He learned from inquiry where I was stopping. The next day he rode four miles to pay me a visit. On being introduced, he held me by the hand, and asked, "My brother, are you not a Jonah running from the Lord?" I may have given him an evasive answer. Not satisfied with this, he invited me to walk with him to the woods, where in a more private manner he interviewed me on the subject of a call to the ministry, after which he advised me to lay down the yard-stick and scissors, and take the Bible, hymn book and Discipline and enter as a laborer the vineyard of the Lord. Better, far better would it have been for me had I taken the advice of that devoted, talented and lovable young Steele, than whom no purer man ever entered the ministry.

In September, 1841, while at a camp meeting held at Pleasant Grove, in Madison county, Miss., the sad news of the death of Bro. Steele was announced from the pulpit by Dr. C. K. Marshall, with an accompanying eulogy, delivered with tearful eloquence, equal to the best efforts of that distinguished divine. Then and there I obtained my full consent (if the church would grant me the privilege) to resist no longer the impressions which had occupied my most serious thoughts for ten eventful years. Rev. Elijah Steele fell triumphantly at his post in New Orleans, September 15, 1841, as all know who have read that interesting sketch of his life by Rev. B. M. Drake, while his first presiding elder, Rev. J. G. Jones, lives—an octogenarian—to edify the readers of the ADVOCATE with occasional, well-timed and sensible articles. The writer was licensed to preach in 1842, was local three years, and has been in the itinerancy since 1845. If the foregoing sketch should be read by any young man who is resisting or delaying his call to the ministry, and cause him to obey at once the heavenly mandate, your correspondent would feel amply rewarded for relating this much of his personal experience.

DANIEL MORSE.

MARSHALL, Texas.

Objections to Church Suppers.

Financially, they are not really profitable. Should an exact calculation be made of the cost of all the materials necessary to the success of these suppers, the bill would be found greatly to exceed the money actually cleared by them. In addition to this, in town the churches are dependent on each other for contribution of materials and for purchasing the refreshments they furnish. The suppers must be attended and help given by each church, or the result is—if you won't help by attending my supper, I will withdraw my influence from yours. Where the family is large, the father or husband is heavily taxed; and whether he does or not, has more reason to groan at expenses than if the money came directly from his pocketbook. It may not be forgotten that in many instances a public room has to be rented at eight or ten dollars a night. Let those who are expert at figures cast up the account, and the deceptive mirage of financial profit will vanish. The appointed time must be met or great loss is suffered.

The health is risked at times by bad weather, the fatigue of those who prepare for and bring things to order after these suppers, and by late hours.

Religiously, a wrong principle is cultivated. Christians should give conscientiously and cheerfully as of the ability which God giveth, for he loveth a cheerful giver, and to those is the promise given, hoping for nothing. Again, so common has it become for ministers to encourage, wink at, or be silent on the subject that it is not surprising if some of our best members think they are doing God service in such work, while they so guard their arrangements that they run not to excess.

It is apparent that most who attend go for the entertainment—the social and sensual enjoyment, instead of the religious motive. Giving for an equivalent is trade, not duty to God. It was said by a Bishop to a preacher, whose assessment was supplemented in this way, "And so they fed themselves, that they might get the means of feeding you." When held in a church, it is in express disobedience to the command of the Savior, "Make not my Father's house a house of merchandise."

Are not these things like the new moons and appointed feast of the Jews which the Lord was weary to bear? All the rooms of a church should be dedicated to religious uses, or the scenes of the last entertainment supplant the sacredness which should attach to the house of God and the devotional feelings with which we should enter it. Right and wrong or anything is best determined by its results. I don't think it wrong, does not prove it right. Our inclinations may deceive us. The best-conducted church suppers are a preparation of the conscience for more objectionable entertainments; the germ from which spring raffling, banqueting, revelling, dancing, etc., and sometimes such midnight orgies as terminate in drunkenness and death.

In that day, when the judgment is set and the books opened, more than morality will be required. The spirit as well as the letter of God's Word will try of what sort every man's work is. "We can't get money otherwise," is because these means have taken the place of the teachings of God's Word which should be emphasized. It would not do to run that principle to its full length. May God preserve his people from being blinded by the god of this world! S.

Bishop Galloway on Church Colleges.

Bishop Galloway has written a noble article on church colleges, and I want "to exhort after him." The Bishop wisely calls attention to the "unwisdom" of the church in having no educational policy, most manifest in the absence of anything like correlation between our institutions of learning, and the consequent presence of conflict. I wish to add that another fruitful cause of partial failure in our church schools has been the failure on the part of our schools to adjust themselves to the changed condition of affairs. Times change; the demands of to-day will not be the demands of half a century hence. Ante-bellum rates and methods will not meet the demands of to-day. Many of our once prosperous colleges, with a stately dignity worthy a princely old Southern gentleman, have declined to modify methods and rates demanded by the times, until rival schools, less venerable, have compelled them to yield. When a boy, in 1870, I rode one day thirty-six miles to talk with a traveling agent of one of these stately old colleges. My means were limited. I wanted something different from the ante-bellum style. I could not get it from his college; so, being compelled to have it, I went two hundred and fifty miles in an opposite direction and got what I sought from a private school.

Bishop Galloway is an alumnus of a State school within two hundred miles of grand old Centenary. The Bishop and I ought to have gone to Centenary. But we did not; and why? The great law of sociology is the law of supply and demand—these two will correlate. If our church schools fail to meet the demands of the times, other institutions will spring up in obedience to these demands; and these other schools would not—aye, could not—successfully arise were there no demand for them. It may sound very well for high church officials and prominent laymen under the shadows of venerable colleges to talk about there being no real demand for some young and rather impertinent-looking State or privately owned college; but let him get out among the plow-boys and milking girls who are thirsting for knowledge, and for that knowledge they can get nowhere beyond the walls of such ex-cathedra colleges, and they will see a side of this question not seen before.

Some of our preachers have founded some of these ex-cathedra schools; and why? When the church fails to do some needed piece of work, it often happens that God lays his ordaining hand upon some individual and puts him at it. I know one of these men who honestly feels as much called of God to this peculiar work as he or any other preacher ever felt called of God to preach. Who will dare to say that he should not yield to such an impulse?

Bishop Galloway has written wisely, and has done a wise thing in writing about this question. Let us keep the matter agitated until good shall come out of it. S. M.

A Book Worth Reading.

MR. EDITOR: Bishop Duncan, in his sermon at the North Mississippi Conference, in a highly commendatory way referred to the "Paraclete," by Dr. J. Parker, of London, and wisely advised its perusal. Soon thereafter, from our Publishing House, it lay upon my table. It is certainly an excellent work, as is everything from its author. In its nineteen chapters and epilogue of four hundred pages some intrinsic, valuable, precious lessons are offered. It is cheap; binding, substantial and neat; print, clear. No preacher (nor reading layman) should fail to buy it and carefully study it.

W.

Church Registers.

MR. EDITOR: Permit me to commend to the brethren the church register published by our own Publishing House, as just the book needed to keep the register or roll of members in strict accordance with the disciplinary requirements. The price is only $1, and the book properly kept will last for years. There should be one for each society. A circuit with four societies will require four registers. Let the brethren study Bro. Palmer's "introduction" to this register, consult their Discipline, and they will avoid confusion and save much vexatious trouble. The writer has noted the failure of brethren to register the names of infants or of adults baptized; the failure to register the marriages of members, and other failures which rendered the registers very imperfect and very bothersome. It would have been different had the Discipline been consulted and the plain suggestions of Bro. Palmer complied with.

LAW AND ORDER.

FEBRUARY 19, 1887.

From the Work.

COUSHATTA, LA.

MR. EDITOR: Arriving here with my family on January 19, 1887, and meeting with such kind and generous hospitality, I feel that a word from this place would not be out of order. In a former paper I noticed an article about a preacher being pounded. We have felt as if we were pounded ever since our arrival (January 19), for the very next day there came packages of several pounds' weight from different parties for the pastor and family. Almost every day since there has been "here a little and there a little," including provisions of various kinds. "On they came," i. e.—the good things, the necessities of table enjoyments, until on last Tuesday evening, February 15, it became a regular cyclone or hurricane of eatables and supplies in the shape of a general pounding to this pastor and family, from a barrel of flour to a pound of candy for the little ones, including pickles, flour, starch, potatoes, soap, rice, grits, and many other nice things too numerous to mention. Besides, a steward paid in cash $20, and one young gentlemen from your city pounded us with a five-dollar bill, accompanied with the very appropriate words, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."

Now, Mr. Editor, do you "wonder" (as Bro. Parvin says) that the happy recipient of such nice and valuable things feels like laboring faithfully and earnestly among such clever, good people? The donations were not confined to the members of our own church; but every denomination participated in the good work. Yea, among those who joined the ranks and pounded the preacher were our Jewish friends. To all of whom we feel under many obligations, and pray that the blessings of the Great All-sufficient may rest upon them both now and evermore.

Last, but not least, I am rejoiced to say, our congregations are increasing, prayer meeting better attended, and, I trust, our prospects, religiously, are brightening. Pray for us that this year may be a great success; also that a gracious revival may continue with this dear people. A cordial invitation is extended to the editor to visit us during the year.

Yours in Christ,

R. A. DAVIS.

MADISON CIRCUIT, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: As I have fully entered upon my second year on the Madison circuit, I wish to state a few items concerning both, last year and this, which may interest and profit some of your readers. Both years we were received kindly, especially this year. We have had no storms nor poundings; but we have had what, in our estimation, is more pleasant and profitable—gentle and invigorating breezes, both summer and winter. Considering the paucity of our members—only 106—our stewards devised liberal things for us. Their financial plan last year, which succeeded well, was for two of our churches to furnish each a cow for six months, and the other two to furnish two for the next six months; besides each church was to give five cords of wood and twenty-five dollars' worth of provisions, and all the churches cash for preacher in charge, $425, and $75 for presiding elder. This plan seems so practicable for circuits, that several preachers and stewards who know of it have urged me to send it for publication in the ADVOCATE. Therefore, if you think it will be the means of prompting to action in the direction indicated, you will publish.

Our present religious condition is good, and prospects encouraging for a prosperous year. Our people are generally intelligent, pious and disposed to work for God. We are pleased with the new dress of the ADVOCATE, and believe that its efficiency in promoting the true, the good and the beautiful will, under the present management, increase more and more. A. L. FORSYTHE.

FEBRUARY 21, 1887.

PONTOTOC, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: While others are writing of house warmings and parsonage storms, etc., I wish to say that on the night of the eighth instant a storm struck the parsonage at Pontotoc, Miss., and, unlike most storms, left us in much better condition than we were before it came. We had just moved into our new home (not a parsonage belonging to the circuit, but a new house we have rented), and were not apprised of the fact until the storm was upon us. It was raining; but the good people came laden with good things for the preacher and his family. How these tokens of kindness and affection cheer our hearts! Besides the real value of the articles received, there is a principle underlying the motive that prompted the donation which makes the heart of the preacher and family almost wild with delight. We are all human beings, and we want to know that we are affectionately remembered. Well, the storm is over, and a happier party you have seldom seen. They signify it is time to return. We read a chapter and have prayers: then comes the handshaking and affectionate "good-night." We look about us to see what the storm has wrought. Here are the substantials and the delicacies greeting us from every direction. God bless the good people of Pontotoc!

J. R. ROBERSON.

FEBRUARY 15, 1887.

CHULEHOMA CIRCUIT, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: Probably some of your readers would like to hear from Chulehoma circuit. I will, therefore, give you a brief report.

In the first place, I would say that the preacher and his family were very kindly received when they came to the work. A beautiful and commodious house had been secured by that enterprising and generous layman, Dr. Sharp, in the village of Wall Hill. Our household goods were moved in to it from the railway depot without cost or trouble to us. Then things necessary to our physical well-being came in from every direction. The wood pile and barn and pantry all received generous supplies. Besides quite a large number of chickens were given us from which to raise for home consumption. These things came in without any great stir or storm, and have much endeared this people to their preacher and his family. May the blessings of God rest abundantly upon the Chulehoma circuit during this year! Our first quarterly meeting embraced last Saturday and Sunday, and was quite a success. Rev. J. H. Brooks has been quite sick, but is now said to be convalescent. May his pure and useful life be prolonged, is the prayer of his many friends.

Yours truly,

J. M. HUGGIN.

WESSON, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: Last Sunday we "cleared the decks," and Wesson falls into line ready for action. It was done so quickly and pleasantly that the good people sang the Doxology with unusual vim. That morning there was one accession by certificate, and that night three applicants for church membership. We have the best attendance at prayer meetings I have ever seen anywhere, and a number of members who will pray in public. There are some "timid" brethren; but they will outgrow their timidity soon. The outlook is very encouraging in all directions.

T. L. MELLEN.

FEBRUARY 12, 1887.

Dr. James Wakley, late editor of the Lancet, specially requested that in case any notice of his life be made it should contain this personal testimony: "Feeling my deep responsibility to God for the position in which, in his providence, he has placed me, I desire to testify to the comfort derived during my sickness from a lively faith in our Lord Jesus Christ, and that I die in the sure hope of a glorious resurrection."

Morbid Conscientiousness.

Undoubtedly there is a wide difference in the degrees of moral martyrdom endured by good men and women. No good man wholly escapes it; no man can rise from the life of self into the life of God without fierce struggles with himself, any more than the lark can soar in the face of a strong wind from its nest in the meadow into the upper regions of the air without a vigorous use of its wings. But the measure of each disciple's strife is largely determined by his temperament, by his knowledge of Divine truth, by his religious training, by the keenness of his moral sensibilities, and by the social forces which surround him. A man whose temperament is sanguine, for example, will never feel so deeply as one who is melancholic, nor become persistent in duty with the same ease as a phlegmatic man. One's perception of truth also greatly modifies one's struggles after God-likeness, since he who sees God to be yearning with infinite desire to win his affections will find it easier to trust and obey them implicitly than he to whom God appears an embodiment of an awful purity unmellowed by tender affection.

There is also wide and perplexing diversity in the consciences of men. In one the moral sense is acute and quick, in another dull and slow. Some men have intelligent, and others more or less unenlightened, consciences. The excessively acute conscience, if misled by false conceptions of duty, will become morbidly sensitive, especially in one whose temperament is melancholic. It will condemn him for doing things which God has not forbidden, and move him to do what God has not required, thereby becoming to him the occasion of positive torment—of much unnecessary suffering. There is probably in most cases of prolonged intense suffering from religious causes a measure of this morbidity. Such sufferers usually mistake the office of conscience. They put it in the place and give it the authority of God's Word, forgetting that it is intended to be, not the absolute teacher of duty, but only the approver of him who does what he understands to be God's will, and the accuser of him who refuses to act up to the height of his convictions. Would he who is tormented by a morbid conscience study his duty in the light of revealed truth, with a steadfast purpose to perform it without reservation, his conscience, recognizing its Divine authority, would adjust itself to the claims of the Word. His mind would find repose in Christ. —Christian Advocate, N. Y.

Diphtheria.

"I am living in a neighborhood surrounded with Diphtheria and was attacked with Ulcerated Sore Throat. I at once commenced to use Darbys Prophylactic Fluid, diluted about one half, as a gargle, when great clots of hard membrane and mucous came from my throat, and the attack passed off. I am satisfied of its efficacy as a preventive and cure for Diphtheria."—W. P. Woodward, Frankford, Pa.

Mental Loafing.—It is considered a disgrace to be lazy. He who is too indolent to work for his own living becomes a byword and a reproach. But there is a very common form of laziness which is not always noticed: it is that of the mind. We first become conscious of it in our young days when we "don't feel like study." We dawdle over the book with our thoughts half asleep, and as a result give a tine exhibition of stupidity in the recitation-room. This sort of indolence in youth is very dangerous, for it becomes a habit, and the mind grows rusty and dull in the very prime of life, when it should be at its best.

On the heels of this form of laziness comes another bad habit —that of intellectual loafing. What loating is in the common sense we all know; it is hanging about with no definite aim or purpose, idling away the time without method and without profit. Well, there is mental loafing as well, and it is known in the dictionary as "reverie." It is a dreamy state of the mind, when the thoughts go wool-gathering. This habit, so common to young people, is fatal to mental growth; many a promising youth is ruined by over-indulgence in it. It wastes time and enfeebles the mental powers. It is really a form of laziness, and it should be sternly corrected at the very outset. The action of the mind should be kept under control. When the thoughts begin to wander, it is time to whip them into order. A resolute will will do it.

A Tonic for the Tired.

Watch the faces as they go by you on a crowded street, and just notice what a tired look many of them wear. If we could read all the hearts around us, we would find multitudes who are weary in spirit, and sometimes sigh for a pillow in the grave. Some are tired out with life's hard struggles, with bearing the heat and burden of the day. Others persist in piling up anxieties as high as an old-fashioned peddler's pack. They carry a huge load of care as to how they shall make both ends meet, and how they shall "foot the bills" that accumulate, and how they shall provide for all the hungry mouths and scanty wardrobes. One is tired from trying to do much, and another of waiting for something to do. A grievous burden of spiritual despondency makes Bro. Smallfaith's heart ache, and puts an extra wrinkle in Sister Weakback's countenance. Here is a disciple who is tired of waiting for success, and there is another tired of waiting for answers to prayer.

Do you suppose that the dear Master does not see all these tired bodies and exhausted nerves and weary hearts? To those who are honestly run down with honest toil, he says: "Come ye apart into a quiet place, and rest awhile." God puts a night of sleep after every day of work for this very purpose of recruiting lost force. To Christians with small purses he kindly says: "Your life consisteth not in the abundance of things ye possess. I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich. My grace is sufficient for thee; at my right hand are treasures forever more." There is not really money enough in this land to give everybody a fortune; but there are promises enough in the Bible and grace enough in Christ Jesus to make everybody rich to all eternity. Just think what a millionaire a man is who has a clean conscience here and a clear hope of heaven hereafter.

To poor Bro. Smallfaith and sorrowful Mrs. Weakback he gives a wonderful lift in these words: "Lo! I am with you always. No man shall pluck you out of my hands. It is my Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."—Dr. T. L. Cuyler.

Gold Mines

are very uncertain property; for every paying mine a hundred exist that do not pay. But if you write to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, you will receive, free, full particulars about their new business, and learn how some have made over $50 in a single day at it. You can live at home, and earn from $5 to $25 and upwards per day wherever you are located. Both sexes; all ages. Capital not required; you are started free. Send your address, and all will be proved to you.

The Swiss Republic.

The feature of the Swiss Republic which most strikes an American is the absence of an Executive Chief. The executive power is lodged with seven men, called the Federal Council. These seven men, chosen by the Federal Assembly of the two houses united, divide the executive departments between them, one serving as Secretary of War, another as Secretary of State, and so on. Each year they select one of their number to serve as their president; but he has no more power than any other member of the council, except that he presides, receives ambassadors and signs the decrees of the Council. It is precisely as if our Cabinet at Washington should be charged with the duties and powers of the President, except the veto power. By this arrangement Switzerland is saved the costly elections and the fierce party strifes which the filling of the high and almost monarchic office of President excites among us. No national election ever occurs here. No national conventions ever assemble to divide the republic into hostile camps under the lead of great party chiefs. No Presidency with regal honors and powers solicits the ambition and corrupts the integrity of their great statesmen; and no necessities of a coming Presidential campaign chains the action of their national legislature to the behests of party policy. Each canton elects its own members of the federal congress, and there the elections end. Each member so elected finds it to his advantage to consult the wishes and interests of his own canton and constituents. Politics have little place in the national legislation; the executive work is done without party dictation, and without party aims. The civil service knows no party corruption, and needs no reform.—J. M. Gregory, LL.D.

Idolatry of Friends.

These loved and loving ones who are inseparable from a home should be fondly cherished as choice heart-treasures. They are legitimate objects on which to place the affections. But not supremely should they be loved. They are not to come before God, so as to deprive him of the first place in our hearts. To no creature must be given the love which is due only to the Creator. Here is our danger. Concerning those endeared to us by the tenderest heart-ties, we need the reminder of the inspired injunction, "Keep yourselves from idols." We are more prone to this idolatry than we often realize. Little does the mother when she fondly looks into the eyes of her innocent babe consider the danger there is of idolizing that form of loveliness, which daily and hourly steals away more and more of her heart, in a devoted love that is liable to grow into actual idolatry. Parental, filial, fraternal, and conjugal affection must be recognized as affording some of the fairest ornaments of human nature, and God forbid that they ever, with any of us, should become idolatrous. We may love, and ardently love, our household connections in these various relations; but to idolize them is another thing, and the evil of so doing should be carefully guarded against so that it may be avoided. Unsuspectingly there may be occasion to pray with Mrs. Hemans:

"Hear, Father! hear and aid!
If I have loved too well, if I have shed,
In my vain fondness, o'er a mortal head
Gifts, on thy shrine, my God, more fitly laid;
If I have sought to live
But in one light, and made a mortal eye
The lonely star of my idolatry,
Thou that art Love, oh! pity and forgive!"
—Watchman.

When you are constipated, with loss of appetite, headache, take one of Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pellets. They are pleasant to take and will cure you. 25 cents a vial.

The Silence of God.—There are times when men wonder at the silence of God. They cry out in agony of spirit for his aid, but he remains silent. They may blaspheme his worthy name and he speaks no word. He seems at times to be unconcerned, giving no sign of his presence, and speaks no word that our ears can hear. If he would only make himself known to us, we say; if he would only speak to us. But these desires are not only vain, they are unwise, if for no other reason, the proximity of overwhelming power would crush our freedom and reason. Men are not free or rational beings while earthquakes overturn their cities, or cyclones hurl them to the ground; men get paralyzed with fear and are like beasts that perish. If God were to manifest his presence to our eyes, or our ears were to hear the sound of his voice, as St. John did on Patmos, we would fall prone upon the ground and no life be left in us. If we are to have our reason and freedom, it can only be in the situation in which we find ourselves now—God revealing himself in nature, in conscience, in the Bible, but not forcing himself upon us, and not overpowering us by the majesty of his presence. In the situation in which we find ourselves now we may know God if we desire his knowledge, may know Christ if we want his aid; but he will not force himself upon us, nor overpower our moral nature by such exhibitions of his presence as would leave us only as trembling brutes before him.—Southern Churchman.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Tutt's Pills

REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Habitual Costiveness

Causes derangement of the entire system, and begets diseases that are hazardous to life. Persons of sedentary habits are subject to Headache, Defective Digestion, Loss of Memory, Gloomy Forebodings, Nervousness, Fevers, Drowsiness, Irritable Temper and other symptoms, which unfits one's sufferer for business or agreeable associations. Regular habit of body alone can correct these evils, and neither exercise as well in achieving this reform as Tutt's Pills. By their use not only is the system renovated, but in consequence of the harmonious changes thus created, there pervades a feeling of satisfaction; the mental faculties perform their functions with vivacity, and there is an exhilaration of mind, freedom of thought, and perfect health is the result.

SECRET OF BEAUTY

Is health. The secret of health is the power to digest a proper quantity of food. This can never be done when the Liver does not do its part. It is the driving wheel in the mechanism of man, and when it is out of order, the whole system becomes deranged, and Fever, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Constipation, Jaundice, Bilious Colic and General Debility ensue. To restore the functions of the Liver and impart that beauty which always attends a healthy constitution, Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills are recommended. They are not a cure-all, but are designed solely for the disordered Liver and the diseases which it produces.

Tutt's Liver Pills

STIR UP THE TORPID LIVER.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS, 25c.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It has been conceded by all Physicians that Consumption is a wasting disease, and if we can supply the proper nutrition to the patient, that the progress of this dreaded disease can be arrested.

Lyons' Cod Liver Oil and Lactophate of Lime supply the long-felt want.

It is palatable and easily assimilated.

Its properties are soothing, healing and nutritious.

For sale by all Druggists.

Suffering Women

Read what the Great Methodist Divine and Eminent Physician Says of Bradfield's Female Regulator!

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 20, 1886.

Dr. J. Bradfield: Dear Sir—Some fifteen years ago I examined the recipe of Female Regulator, and carefully studied authorities in regard to its components, and then, as well as now, pronounce it to be the most scientific and skillful combination of the really reliable remedial vegetable agents known to science, to act directly on the womb and uterine organs, and the organs and parts sympathizing directly with these; and, therefore, prevailing a specific remedy for all diseases of the womb and of the adjacent organs and parts. Yours truly,

JESSE BORING, M. D., D. D.

Bradfield's Female Regulator is only intended for diseases peculiar to WOMEN, and for these is a SPECIFIC. Sold by all druggists. Send for our treatise on the Health and Happiness of Woman, mailed free, which gives all particulars.

The Bradfield Reg'lator Co.,
Box 28, Atlanta, Ga.

As a Spring Medicine

TAKE

KIDNEY-WORT

A SURE REMEDY

TESTED AND PROVED

by years of use in all parts of the country.

Thousands whom it has radically cured of dangerous diseases gladly testify of its merit. It cures because

It Purifies the BLOOD,
It Cleanses the LIVER,
It Strengthens the KIDNEYS,
It Regulates the BOWELS.

By this four-fold action, it has wonderful power over disease, purifying the system of the poisonous humors that develop in Kidney and Urinary Diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, or in Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Disorders, and Female Complaints.

Sold Everywhere. Price, $1. Dry or Liquid.

For circular and testimonials send to

WELLS, RICHARDSON & Co., Burlington, Vt.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

USE WINCHESTER'S HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME AND SODA. For Consumption, Weak Lungs, Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and General Debility it is an acknowledged Specific Remedy. TRY IT.

Price $1 and $2 per bottle. Prepared only by WINCHESTER & CO., CHEMISTS, 162 William Street, New York.

Sold by Druggists.

Queen and Crescent Route.

New Orleans and Northeastern R. R.

Shortest and Quickest Line to

BIRMINGHAM, CINCINNATI, EAST, ATLANTA, LOUISVILLE, SOUTHEAST.

Time Table in Effect December 31st, 1887.

Trains North B'd. Read Down		Flag Stations marked thus †	Trains South B'd. Read Up
No. 2.	No. 6.		No 1.	No 5
10 00am	8 00pm	Lv N Orleans Ar	3 00pm	7 35am
11 42am	9 16pm	....Slidell....	2 00pm	6 28am
11 57am	† 9 25pm	Pearl River †	1 43pm	6 14am
12 14pm	† 9 40pm	...Nicholson...	1 32pm	† 5 57am
12 27pm	† 9 50pm	†....Michel....†	1 2 pm	† 5 46am
12 30pm	† 9 53pm	.... Bigtland	1 12pm	† 5 37am
1 07pm	10 6 pm	....Pearlsville....	12 31pm	5 00am
1 24pm	† 10 51pm	....Hillsdale.... †	12 17pm	† 4 45am
1 31pm	† 11 05pm	....Plotona.... †	12 0 pm	† 4 30am
1 49pm	† 11 40pm	...Talowah... †	11 52am	† 4 21am
2 02pm	11 25pm	..... Purvis	11 38am	4 09am
2 13pm	11 35pm	.. Okahola	11 27am	† 4 00am
2 23pm	† 11 45pm	.. arter... †	11 16am	† 3 48am
3 00pm	11 59pm	. Hattiesburg...	11 0am	3 35am
3 16pm	† 12 14am	†..Estabuchee..†	10 48am	† 3 20am
3 15pm	12 24 am	†...Tuscanola....	10 36am	† 3 09am
3 46pm	12 42am	....Ellisville....	10 17am	2 53am
4 01pm	12 57am	.....Laurel.....	10 03am	2 37am
4 17pm	† 1 15am	† Sandersville †	9 48am	† 2 21am
4 33pm	1 30am	....Heidelberg....	9 29am	2 06am
4 42pm	1 37am	.....Vossburg.....	9 22am	1 59am
4 54pm	† 1 48am	†....Barnett ....†	9 11am	† 1 48am
5 00pm	1 56am	†....Pachuta ...†	9 03am	† 1 39 m
5 20pm	2 18am	... Enterprise.	8 43am	1 19am
5 38pm	.....	... Cuba ...	8 27am	.....
6 00pm	3 03am	.... Meridian	8 00am	12 40am
10 30pm	7 45pm	... Tuscaloosa....	3 47am	8 56m
12 40am	10 00pm	...Birmingham...	1 40am	5 25pm
3 32am	1 05pm	..... Attala.....	10 31pm	2 16pm
7 50am	5 55pm	...Chattanooga...	6 0pm	8 15am
1 28pm	1 15am	.....Somerset.....	12 00pm	2 27am
2 47pm	2 40am	.....Junction City.	11 35am	12 55pm
4 15pm	4 00am	....Lexington	10 22am	11 26 m
6 42pm	6 40am	ar Cincinnati lv	7 55am	8 00pm

JNO. C. GAULT, Gen. Manager, Cincinnati.
R. CARROLL, Gen. Sup., Meridian.
H. COLBRAN, Gen. Frt. and Pass'r. Agt., Cincinnati, O.
R. A. RYAN, Asst. Gen. Frt. and Pass. Agt., Cincinnati
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent, 30 St. Charles St., New Orleans, La.

—TAKE THE—

Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad.

THE POPULAR AND PREFERRED ROUTE. Quicker in Time and 61 Miles Shorter than any other Through Car Line between Memphis, Tenn., and New Orleans, La.

SPLENDID EQUIPMENT!
MAGNIFICENT COACHES!
PULLMAN BUFFET SLEEPERS!
TRAINS ALWAYS ON TIME!

See that your Tickets read over the

Mississippi and Tennessee R. R.

Ask Agents for it.

For further information apply to

A. J. KNAPP, Gen. Pass. and T'kt Ag't.
JAMES A. SANGSTON, Gen. Trav. Pass Ag't.
MEMPHIS, TENN.

RAILROADS.

Southern Pacific Co.

(ATLANTIC SYSTEM)

THE DIRECT ROUTE BETWEEN
NEW ORLEANS,
HOUSTON,
GALVESTON,
SAN ANTONIO,
EL PASO;
OLD AND NEW MEXICO,
ARIZONA AND
CALIFORNIA POINTS.

THE ONLY LINE RUNNING THROUGH

Pullman Palace Sleepers

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—AND—

SAN FRANCISCO,

Piercing the most beautiful part of

SOUTHWEST TEXAS.

For rates of fare and all information address:

W. C. WATSON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.
A. C. HUTCHINSON, General Manager.
J. H. SCHRIEVER, Traffic Manager.

GENERAL OFFICES:
Cor. Magazine and Natchez Sts., New Orleans.

THE GREAT JACKSON ROUTE!

Illinois Central Railroad,

—THE—

GREAT THROUGH LINE

—FOR—

PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT

to all Points

NORTH, EAST AND WEST.

The only Line running PULLMAN PALACE SLEEPING CARS through from New Orleans to Cincinnati, St. Louis, Memphis and Chicago without change of Trucks.

Only one change to New York and Eastern Cities.

The only direct Route to St. Louis, Chicago and all Points North and West. Many miles shorter and many hours quicker than any other Line.

STANDARD RAILS, all STEEL RAILS, elegant COACHES, CLOSE CONNECTIONS and QUICK TIME.

SPEED, COMFORT, SAFETY

—AND—

RATES AS LOW AS THE LOWEST.

On and after November 22, 1885—

DOUBLE DAILY TRAINS leave and arrive at Calliope Street Depot as follows:

LEAVE.	ARRIVE.
Exp. No. 2, 9:15 A. M.	Exp. No. 1, 11:00 P. M.
Exp. No. 4, 6:00 P. M.	Exp. No. 3, 8:20 A. M.

Ticket office, corner Canal and Carondelet.

MATT. KENNEDY, Ticket Agent.
WM. MURRAY, Gen. Southern Pass. Agt.
A. H. HANSON, Gen. Pass. Agt., Chicago.
J. W. COLEMAN, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., N. O.
J. G. MANN, Superintendent.

THE GREAT

Kennesaw and Shenandoah

VALLEY ROUTE

(East Tenn., Va., and Ga. R. R.)

Double Daily Trains.

No Change of Cars to the Springs and Summer Resorts of Tennessee and Virginia.

NEW ORLEANS TO WASHINGTON WITHOUT CHANGE—EQUIVALENT TO NO CHANGE TO NEW YORK.

Fifteen Hours Quickest Route to Warm Springs, N. C., or Staunton, Va.

BAGGAGE CHECKED TO DESTINATION.

Trains leave New Orleans 7:55 A. M. and 8:05 P. M

For Schedules, Circulars, Springs' Guide and general information call on or address,

J. C. ANDREWS, Gen'l Southern Agent,
Cor. Carondelet and Common Sts., New Orleans.
B. W. WRENN, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Knoxville, Tenn.

—THE—

Texas and Pacific Railway,

THE SHORT

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA ROUTE,

The Direct Line from New Orleans to

NORTHERN, EASTERN, WESTERN,

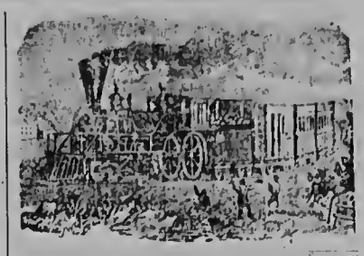
—AND—

CENTRAL TEXAS,

and all Points in Old and New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Texas and Local leaves at 7:30 A. M.
Arrives at 7:15 P. M.
This train stops at all flag stations and has through sleepers to Fort Worth.
Texas and California Express leaves 4:00 P. M.
Arrives 11:30 A. M.
This train has through sleepers to Marshall, Dallas, Fort Worth, Colorado City and all points west to San Francisco.
Round trip tickets to San Francisco at $140.00.
The shortest and quickest route to Hot Springs.
For tickets or information apply at 47 St. Charles, corner Gravier street, or depot, foot of Terpsichore street.

A. S. GRAHAM, Ticket Agent.
H. W. McCULLOUGH, Gen. Passenger Agent.
W. H. NEWMAN, Traffic Manager.



Queen and Crescent Line.

NEW ORLEANS AND NORTHEASTERN RAILROAD.

—THE SHORT LINE FOR—

Freight and Passengers

—TO ALL POINTS—

North and East and in the Northwest.

LOW RATES AND QUICK TIME ON FREIGHT TRAFFIC.

The Model, Modern Thoroughfare.

Double Daily Passenger Trains, with Magnificent Reclining Chair Cars.

—FROM—

NEW ORLEANS

—TO—

MERIDIAN, BIRMINGHAM, CHATTANOOGA AND CINCINNATI.

No. 2 leaves New Orleans at 10:10 A. M.
No. 6 leaves New Orleans at 8 P. M.
No. 1 arrives New Orleans at 3 P. M.
No. 5 arrives New Orleans at 7:35 A. M.

Freight and Passenger Depots, Press and Levee.
Freight and Ticket Office, 34 and 36 St. Charles St., N. O.

JNO. C. GAULT, General Manager.
H. COLLIRAN, General Freight and Pass'r Agent, Queen and Crescent Line, Cincinnati, O.
JNO. M. KNIGHT, Ticket Agent.
A. F. BARNETT, Contracting F't Agt.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TRAVEL VIA

Burlington Route C.B.&Q.R.R.

Through Trains with Dining Cars, Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars, Modern Coaches. Sure connections in Union Depots at its terminal points, with trains from and to the East, West, North and South. Cheapest, Best and Quickest Route from Chicago, Peoria or St. Louis to

DENVER, SAN FRANCISCO, OMAHA, KANSAS CITY, CITY OF MEXICO, ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS, PORTLAND, ORE. ST. JOSEPH, ATCHISON.

For Tickets, Rates, Maps, &c., apply to Ticket Agents of connecting lines, or address

T. J. POTTER, 1st V. P. H. B. STONE, G. M. PAUL MORTON, G. P. & T. A.

For a Pronouncing Dictionary containing 32,000 words, 320 pages send 10c. in stamps to Paul Morton, Chicago.

THE IMPROVED ACME

WASHER and BLEACHER!

Weighs only Five lbs., and can be carried in a small valise. $1,000 REWARD FOR ITS EQUAL. Washing made light and easy. The clothes have that pure whiteness which no other mode of washing can produce. No rubbing required; no friction to injure the fabric. To place it in every household the price has been placed at $3, and if not found satisfactory within one month from date of purchase, money is refunded, less Express charges. Send for circulars. Agents wanted.

C. W. DENNIS, 213 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont
N.B. Machines will be shipped from Rochester, N.Y., thus saving U. S. duty. Please mention this paper.

Are you CONSUMPTIVE.

Have you Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, Indigestion? Use PARKER'S TONIC without delay. It has cured many of the worst cases and is the best remedy for all affections of the throat and lungs, and diseases arising from Impure Blood and exhaustion. Often saves life. Cures when everything else fails. Gives new life and strength to the aged and infirm. $1, at Druggists.

HINDERCORNS.

The safest, surest and best cure for Corns, Bunions, &c. Stops all pain. Insures comfort to the feet. Never fails to cure. 15 cents at Druggists. Hiscox & Co., N. Y.

$700 to $2500 A YEAR, clear of all expense, can be made working for us. Agents preferred who can furnish their own horses and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably employed also. A few vacancies in towns and cities. J. F. JOHNSON & CO., 1003 Main St., Richmond, Va.

GERANIUMS ROSES Free by Mail 5 for $1.00

A large stock of the best of the new and old varieties; also, an assortment of SHRUBS, Greenhouse & bedding plants

Prices defy competition. Illustrated catalogue free to all applicants. Address,

THOS. A. McBETH, Springfield, Ohio.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED for PLATFORM ECHOES

or LIVING TRUTHS FOR HEAD AND HEART.

By John B. Gough.

His last and crowning life work, brim full of thrilling interest, humor and pathos. Bright, pure and good. Full of laughter and tears. Retails at sight at 50c. To it is added the Life and Death of Mr. Gough, by Rev. LYMAN ABBOTT. 1000 Agents Wanted,—Men and Women. $100 to $200 a month made. Distance no hindrance as we give Extra Terms and Pay Freight. Write for circulars to A. D. WORTHINGTON & CO., Hartford, Conn.

ORGANS Best in the world. Sold for cash or on installments. Send for illustrated catalogue, which will contain full particulars and prices. Sent Free. Address WOOLLEY & M'D., Atlanta Ga.

A BIG OFFER. To introduce them, we will Give Away 1,000 Self Operating Washing Machines. If you want one send us your name, P. O. and express office at once. The National Co., 23 Dey St., N. Y.

NEW Sample Book of beautiful cards, 11 Games, 12 tricks in magic, 12 Album verses. All for a 2c. stamp. STAR CARD CO., Station 16, Ohio.

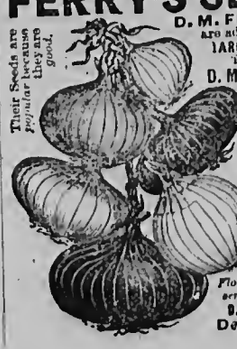
$250 A MONTH. Agents wanted. 20 best selling articles in the world. 1 sample free. Address JAY BRONSON, Detroit, Mich.

Over 6,000,000 PEOPLE USE

FERRY'S SEEDS

D. M. FERRY & CO. are admitted to be the LARGEST SEEDSMEN in the world.

Their Seeds are popular because they are good.



D. M. FERRY & CO'S Illustrated, Descriptive & Priced SEED ANNUAL For 1887 will be mailed FREE to all applicants, and to last season's customers without ordering it. Invaluable to all. Every person using Garden, Field or Flower SEEDS should send for it. Address D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

Christian Advocate.

ORGAN OF THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES OF THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.

CORRESPONDING EDITORS:
REV. T. A. S. ADAMS, D. D. REV. J. T. SAWYER.
REV. W. L. C. BENNETT.

THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1887.

Briefs.

From a letter of Bishop Hendrix, in the Nashville Christian Advocate, we gather these interesting items: The gain of membership in the six Conferences held by the Bishop was 14,000. There are 747 effective preachers in those Conferences. There were 5,977 infant baptisms and 15,393 adult baptisms. There were admitted on trial 61 preachers. The Bishop ordained 59 deacons and 26 elders. Of 800 preachers appointed to different works only 8 expressed any dissatisfaction with their appointments.

The second section of the Hymn Book Revision Committee met in Nashville, February 18. Three days were entirely consumed in earnest work, and very gratifying progress was made. The writer records the fact, that Dr. Fitzgerald and Prof. Tillett know exactly how to get at their work and to get out of another all that is in him. From 9 A. M. to 10 P. M., with only a brief intermission for dinner, would have hopelessly crippled us, but for the fact that that brief intermission supplied a most generous and nourishing bill of fare. The committee felt its responsibility and worked as in the sight of God for the good of the church.

A brother who is always on the watch to discover something good sends us the following which shows progress on a certain line:

In our description of the new steamer "Teche," we omitted to mention the important fact that Capt. Belt determined she should have no bar, but in the usual place for it he has a beautiful wash room, and next that a locker where they place small freight parcels. Every good citizen will commend this act of Capt. Belt, and in consequence thereof, the steamer "Teche" will become a popular passenger craft, especially with the ladies.

A contemporary gives the following interesting information: A gentleman who has investigated the subject, gives us some figures relative to the religious complexion of the present Congress, which he says are reliable. Of the 408 Senators, members, and Territorial delegates who compose Congress, 72 are Methodists, 63 Baptists, 41 Episcopalians, 37 Presbyterians, 36 Catholics, 15 Unitarians, 8 Lutherans, 10 Christian (Campbellite), and 2 Quakers, making a total of 283 who are actively connected with some church organization. This leaves 125 who either never belonged to any church or have drifted out of such associations.

Joseph Cook, in his lecture in Boston, the other day, gave an utterance which seems to us to open the widest door for the students of philosophy. He said: "The mistake of philosophy had been a neglect to study human nature in the perfect model of humanity—Christ. Separate entirely from everything in which he exceeds man, in him are the perfect qualities of perfect manhood. To know what human nature is, in the fullness of possible being, in the perfection of its faculties and powers, there is but one to whom we can look and find what we want—to Christ." This is the solution of the whole question. Christ not only satisfies the deep yearnings of the soul, the longings of the heart, but he satisfies all intellectual speculations which arise in the sphere of philosophy, and all mental activities find repose in him. In the very nature of things this must be so.

Ministers to One Another.

There are many plain truths of Scripture which we hold with convictions so weak, that, as far as our life and work are concerned, they really amount to nothing. Not only our speech, but our work, and our faithfulness in work and speech, depend upon the intensity of our convictions of duty. In regard to speech, David and Paul are agreed: "I believed, therefore have I spoken," is the sentiment of each. In regard to work, which is simply stewardship in its executive form, the Apostle Peter puts forth a thought which every Christian may study to advantage: "As everyone hath received the gift, even so minister the same, one to another as good stewards of the manifold grace of God." We make a common mistake in applying the idea of stewardship almost exclusively to financial matters. The poor have come to the conclusion that they are not stewards, because they have no money to dispense as stewards. The rich Christian people are looked upon as about the only stewards the Lord has in the church, and they are about the only ones upon whom the responsibilities of stewardship rest. The apostle's teaching contradicts all this, and is a clear-cut statement "that everyone" is a steward of God's gifts. "As everyone hath received the gift." No words can be plainer. Grace itself is a talent for use among our fellows, and it is the bestowment of it that brings responsibility. If we could find a graceless man, we would discover a man without responsibility.

It is in this matter of the ordinary grace, which God bestows upon us, that our convictions as to its use are weak. The proper use of these ordinary gifts brings us down to a level with the lowest, and this debasement from the "lofty pinnacle of our pride" may be the reason of the weakness of our convictions as to duty. But no Christian, no matter what his intelligence and attainments are—no matter what ordinary or extraordinary gifts from God have been bestowed—will ever build up a symmetrical Christian character or reach a position of efficiency for good in the world until the conviction is inwrought into every fiber of his moral and intellectual nature, that his true place is the place of a servant of men for Jesus' sake. The devil makes us believe that the service of Christ is a very different thing from the service of men. Our Lord says they are the same. His words are: "As the Father hath sent me into the world, so I send you into the world." We are his representatives to "minister his grace one to another." Paul said: "We preach ourselves your servants for Jesus' sake." The minister of the gospel is generally looked upon as the only servant in the church; but the Bible teaching is that the only people who are honored of God are those who are the faithful servants of all.

In illustrating our stewardship in the matter of ministering spiritual gifts, the apostle presents the human body as an apt illustration. Each member is a servant to all the other members, and not one can dispense with the service of the others. Applying this to the church, he says; "Now ye are the body of Christ and members in particular." Unfortunately our faith begins to weaken at the point where we appear to "level down" to the "less honorable" among the members. It is such a grand thing to be an apostle or a prophet, but too low a stoop to take the place of a simple helper! If we could be always among "the comely parts," all would be satisfactory; but to be known as belonging to "the uncomely parts" is grievous to our pride. Alas! the old man is hard to be dislodged from the citadel of our hearts. At this point Christ is our only example. "He humbled himself" to become the servant of men. That point of humiliation was the pinnacle of his highest glory. And Paul speaks of certain "servants of the churches" as "the glory of Christ." When any man or any woman stoops to communicate some spiritual gift to a perishing sinner, that act touches the spring that opens the gates of glory. Whatever grace we have we are to use it in "ministering one to another," and thus "edify the body of Christ."

Our Relations to Education.

SCHOOLS—COLLEGES—A COLLEGE CONFERENCE.

Bishop Galloway's able and timely article on "Our Church Colleges," published in a recent number of this paper, calls attention to a subject that demands both consideration and action on the part of the church. He thinks we need more training-schools and fewer colleges. The lack of good high schools adapted to preparing boys for business or for college is certainly a great deficiency in our educational system. Our public schools fall short in almost every desirable quality, and utterly fail to meet the wants of our people, except in the cities. They are largely delusive as to results, and are in many respects an unprofitable burden to the country. Our people would do well to study the admirable achievements of the voters of South Carolina throwing off the burden of oppressive taxation for public education. As Methodists, we need everywhere schools for the teaching of children and youth under our own control. Every church ought to have its school as a part of its appliances for the Christian nurture and edification of the people. Why should every pastor among us not be expected to establish day-schools as well as Sunday-schools? If Christian influences are good for the young on Sunday, they are good all the week, and the church ought to provide them. It is a grave oversight to insist, as we do, that the higher education of the few be sanctified, while we neglect to sanctify the primary education of the vast multitude of the young.

The Bishop says we have too many colleges. Perhaps so. Indeed, it seems lamentably true if we determine the number of colleges needed by the support we have given them. Pecuniarily, the divisor has been too large, and the quotient consequently too small, in the money drawer of most of our colleges. Several of them have languished for years for lack of support. Yet what shall we do about the number of them? Regretting the number of our colleges is a little like a parent's lamenting the number of his children. We can't kill any of them outright if we would; and, I reckon, we wouldn't if we could. Nor are we willing to give any of them away. The best thing to do is to reinforce our resolutions, summon our resources and rally to their support. We have not nearly done our best yet. We can support our colleges and endow them, too, if we will, and I think we will.

The fact is, the Methodist Church, like a sleeping giant, growing in his sleep, was long unaware of her own strength, till during the late centennial year, while reviewing her history, estimating her possessions and summing her resources, she began to be conscious of her real greatness. If I mistake not, an appeal now to our people to support their own colleges would be more effectual than heretofore. Ours has, I suppose, been the most non-conservative church in Christendom. With self-destructive latitudinarianism we have not only supplied other churches with many members, but have contributed to the support of literary institutions belonging to others amounts which would have made our own colleges almost rich. We have violated the primary law of self-preservation; and, if I should say, we have been lacking in self-respect, I should, in part, account for our strange disposition to squander our resources upon the institutions of others instead of sustaining our own. Let this be a thing of the past, and let the church cultivate her own fields, and replenish the fountains of her own strength. I verily believe that were all the patronage of Methodists given to their own colleges, everyone that receives the sanction of an Annual Conference, as a college, might support a faculty almost as good as that of Vanderbilt University.

After all, this is very much a question of names. If so many institutions had not been called colleges, then the few might have had a better share and a nobler name. Are we sure of this? Suppose we should abolish half our colleges, would the remainder get the patronage now given to all? Not with any certainty. True, several colleges might well enquire—

"And shall we then forever live.
At this poor dying rate?"

Yet, is it not better for them to have lived as they have than not to have lived at all? Have not thousands received a high education, though not the highest, who would have remained uneducated but for these colleges? Half the students who go to a college that's near would never go to one far away. So the number of colleges makes the educational fabric somewhat lower, but broader. But they ought not to be called colleges. Well, the world runs after big names, and so do the college-makers; and it is hard to take a pretty thing away from a child when once he has it.

Moreover, if I were the president of a college, I would propose a convention of the presidents of colleges and of college trustees to form a college federation, or union, or conference, to regulate by agreement all matters pertaining to the common interests and rights of higher institutions of learning, and to define the relations of colleges to each other and to other schools, specifying what shall constitute a college, and providing against the too great multiplication of colleges.

W. L. C.-H.

Too Heavy.

It happens sometimes that a man put in charge of a station or circuit, with a membership of three hundred, finds the assessment upon his charge to be one hundred and fifty dollars for foreign missions, or fifty cents per head. He, in dolorous concert with his officials, makes complaint that one hundred and fifty dollars is too much for his people to pay for that cause. Alas! what a shame that any pastor or people should consider even a dollar per head assessment too much for them to give annually for the conversion of the world! Spurred thereto by the Conference resolution to that effect, this pastor at an early day, feeling the awful burden and his people groaning under the same, and because he must, and most likely in an apologetic way, proceeds to raise the ruinous amount. He talks a little, sends round the cards and baskets and, getting through with it as speedily as he decently can, he sums up in all some fifty dollars. He considers that his overtaxed people have done well, and he hopes to meet his assessment by the amounts the Woman's Missionary Society of his charge and his Sunday-schools may raise during the year.

The fact is, however, that the Discipline does not contemplate that any pastor or people who have raised less for missions than the amount assessed upon the church should make up their deficiency from the amounts raised by the women and the children. The amount needed for our foreign work is apportioned to the various Annual Conferences, whose Mission Boards divide out the same among the districts, and then the district stewards apportion this last amount among the charges of the district. These assessments are to be raised by the churches. The Discipline, in addition to these regular assessments on the charges, has made special provision for the organization of Women's Missionary Societies and Juvenile Missionary Societies. What the sisters and the boys and girls raise for missions should never be counted in to help out a deficit in the church collection. We never yet saw, nor did we ever read, of a church actually over-assessed, and surely there can be no imminent danger with us of such a happening when our church of one million members is asked for so small a sum in lieu of the solid million she ought to raise this very year.

What a mighty struggling in prayer to be rid of our dreadful sordidness and what a thorough consecration of our all to God is needed, that we Southern Methodists may take position where God would have us—among the foremost in giving and working for the saving of the world! Let the churches all pay their assessments in full, for they are well able; and, in addition, let the women raise all they can through their organizations, and the little folks and Sabbath-schools throughout the connection swell the total by some thousands of dollars. Let there be more sermons preached on the subject, and, besides so preaching, let all our pastors (and they will succeed in it, if they half try) put the Church Advocates and the Missionary Advocates into every family in their charges. This done, light let in, more effort and more praying had, we shall all get on fire of the spirit of missions, and the "heavy assessments" will most easily be met and vast sums will come in as surplusage from the dimes and nickels of our women and children. Why should Dr. Kelley have to call in vain every year for the small sum of $500,000? Let each ask himself the question, and answer it in the fear of God.

J. T. S.

Georgia Correspondence.

Your birthday issue gave me as much pleasure as I ever received from one religious newspaper. Its new dress was a delight to the eye, while the exquisite touches of some of its articles, and the breadth and strength of others, stirred profoundly both the mind and heart. Your goodly craft began her voyage just a few weeks before I opened my eyes upon the light of this world and started out across the sea of life.

Thirty-six years! It is hard to realize that my little bark has been buffetting the waves so long. A newspaper, however, is the one thing that is always proud of its age, and continually rejoices that it is growing old. Yours has, indeed, been a wonderful life, and into the current of its success has flowed the wisdom, consecration and service of many of the ablest minds in the church during these eventful years. What a transformation has come to our Methodism since Dr. Ahrens' "old tar" shipped port under command of the young, vigorous and gifted McTyeire! Not a fine church or organ in all our connection, and the men and women sitting apart in all our congregations. Simplicity of service was in all our borders, and the early features of Wesley and Asbury largely maintained. But the world has moved on, and we have gone with it. Adaptation to a growing and prosperous people has gradually brought us to cathedral churches with their elegant and luxurious equipments, magnificent organs, and everything that can delight the esthetic nature. But who is wise enough to say that Methodism has not been as truly called to give the gospel to the rich, as were the intellectual and cultivated Wesleys to the poor and neglected classes of England! One proof is found in the fact that it is still the church of the poor. Hundreds of our humblest people occupy the elegant pews of our finest churches, while more modest houses and chapels reach to the suburbs of our cities. The gospel is world-wide in its adaptation, and we can have no higher evidence of the divinity of our mission than that we are striving to carry it to all men.

It is true that worldliness has come in upon us as we have grown to be the largest Protestant Church in America; but I am not sure that the odds are against our wealthiest and most cultivated people. Poverty can never be made to stand, even in Methodist nomenclature, as a synonym for piety. I am aware that such an idea prevails in many directions; but it may turn out to be one of the delusions that is born of prejudice and envy. I do not see that one class of our people is more worldly than another, though the manifestation is vastly different. We need a mighty revival of righteousness throughout all our borders, and then, indeed, we might rejoice that God had given to us a million souls. But even with the acknowledgement of vast numbers among us who neither know nor follow Christ, Methodism still holds fast to that spirituality by which it came into existence. Its preachers are devout and holy men, with the Divine unction resting upon them. They are standing up for God and righteousness with brave hearts and burning words. The message of life enters in the hearts and consciences of thousands. The pulpit was never so potential a factor in the formation of public sentiment as today. The church was never so united and determined upon the great moral questions of the times, nor so strong in its influence upon the world for good.

Through all these eventful years of change—a source of grief and complaint to many—our Zion has come bearing the banner of triumph. Who can tell what another thirty-six years will bring forth? Amid what scenes will the ADVOCATE celebrate its anniversary which marks the allotted years of man? With the downfall of the liquor power, and the removal of its corrupting influence upon the politics and legislation of the country, as well as upon the souls of men, who shall say that the dross of the church will not pass away under the "refiner's fire" of a faithful gospel, and every home in this broad land be redeemed and brought to Christ?

I did not intend when I began to thus fill all my space; but these things have of late been burning in my heart, and your coming to-day has started the tide of expression.

Many items of church interest I must pass for this time. The indications are good for a great revival both in the salvation of souls and in foreign missionary zeal. The preachers' meeting yesterday morning was largely attended, and the hearts of the brethren flowed together in a glorious religious service. It was one of our feast-days, full of inspiration and power. Three new churches are projected in the city, and doubtless will be begun in the early spring. A memorial service in honor of Miss Dora Rankin was held at First Church on Sunday night. The audience was very large, and the occasion one of great profit.

W. W. WADSWORTH.

ATLANTA, GA., Feb. 15, 1887.

Personals.

The Meharry Medical College at Nashville, Tenn., turned out thirteen colored graduates last week; ten in medicine and three in dentistry.

Dr. Windthorst, the man who beat Bismarck in the Reichstag, is described as a little man, very ugly to look at, with eyes like a frog's and mouth reaching from ear to ear.

Joseph Cook, in his first lecture in Tremont Temple, Boston, reaffirmed his convictions that the "new dogma of future probation must tend to undermine the Bible and to cut the nerve of missions."

There are in the United States Senate twenty-one members worth from three-quarters of a million to fifty millions each. Are senatorships bought?

Of the meeting of Jones and Small in Boston, a correspondent of The Christian at Work says, "We never knew such a widespread interest in religion in this city as is now sweeping over it."

Francis Murphy began a two-months' temperance campaign in Chicago, February 8. He was introduced by Mr. Moody.

Dr. Stall, of Lancaster, Penn., must be an "out-and-out" temperance man. While marrying a couple, he detected the smell of liquor on the groom and refused to proceed with the ceremony, saying that he "had resolved never to marry a man under the influence of ardent spirits."

Ninety-four thousand four hundred and fifty-three persons, each paying fifty cents, visited Munkacsay's picture, "Christ Before Pilate," in sixty-nine days.

The Watchman says that from fifteen to twenty thousand persons attended the last service of Jones and Small in Boston.

Capt. William McMickan, of the Cunard Line, has been in that service twenty years, and never lost a life or seriously damaged a vessel committed to his care.

Dr. Munhall's revival services in Talmage's Tabernacle resulted in 2,000 conversions and 500 additions to Dr. Talmage's Church.

Rev. John Telford, of the Wesleyans, England, has lately brought out a "Life of Charles Wesley." His "Life of John Wesley" is said to be the best yet published, and this one of Charles Wesley is of equal merit. It seems strange that John Wesley should have had thirty-three biographers and Charles Wesley only two!

Bishop Galloway passed through our city last week on his way to meet an engagement at the Southern Chautauqua at DeFuniak Springs, Fla. The Bishop is in fine health, and was never in better working trim.

"Gilderoy" has a sentence in this paper we commend to some of our correspondents: "Some of the reports, written on scraps of poor paper with a soft pencil, are harder to unravel than a tangled skein of silk." Exactly so.

Bishop Keener left the city early last week for Baltimore. The Baltimore Conference, which he holds this year, will convene in Leesburg, Va., March 9.

Rev. W. G. Millsaps, of the Mississippi Conference, died a few days ago.

Rev. J. J. Billingsley, of the Louisiana Conference, has offered himself to the Mission Board for our work in Japan. What a step forward it would be if we had a foreign missionary from each Annual Conference!

Centenary College.

NOTICE.

MR. EDITOR: Please give notice to the Mississippi brethren of the Ministerial Educational Association that help is wanted for the young men who are with us. We do not wish to have them up and let them go home. It is not true economy for any of the three parties to the movement. The Louisiana brethren need no reminder upon this point, thanks to their most prompt action at Ruston.

There are eight young men who are expecting to enter the ministry now at Centenary from the Mississippi Conference. Brethren, help them and they will help you.

T. A. S. ADAMS,
Treasurer.

Notice.

The annual meeting of the New Orleans District Sunday-School Union is postponed until Thursday, March 3, at half-past seven P. M., at the Carondelet Street Church. A full attendance is very urgently requested. By order of W. H. Foster, President.

A. F. GODAT,
Secretary pro tem.

Items of Interest.

The New York Postoffice brought a net revenue to the government of nearly $3,000,000 during 1886.

"Evelyn College" is to be the name of the woman's "annex" to Princeton University, and Dr. J. H. McIlvaine is to be its president. So says the Evangelist, of New York.

It has long been a custom in Massachusetts for the Governor to pardon out of the State Prison one convict on Thanksgiving Day.

The thimble was invented by a Dutch goldsmith in 1684, to protect his sweetheart's thumb-tops while she was engaged with needle and cotton. It was called "thumb-bell," which in time passed into "thimble."

There are 130,000 miles of railroad in this country. That means a giant in power and possibilities, and the Interstate Commerce Bill means that the government takes control of this giant in order that the rights of the people may be protected against his graspings.

Chemistry may yet solve the problem of universal peace. The French have discovered an explosive which is demonstrated to have ten times the force of nitro-glycerine and one hundred times the force of gunpowder. It is called melinite.

In Washington Territory, at the last election, 48,000 votes were cast, of which 15,000 were cast by women.

The works of art in one drinking-saloon in New York are estimated at $90,000. In another is a picture which cost $40,000. Another has been fitted up at a cost of $50,000. The devil decorates his temples with a lavish purse. Such would be considered a wicked waste if bestowed in decorations on churches or colleges!

The assessed valuation of real estate in New York City is fifty millions more this year than last, being twelve hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

There are twenty-four steamship companies doing business between New York and Europe. Last year they made 906 trips, and landed in New York 369,660 passengers.

Charles Wesley published during his life 4,100 hymns, and at his death left over 1,000 in manuscript.

The brethren in Texas have resolved to build a $10,000 episcopal parsonage at the place where the Bishop who elects to reside in Texas shall choose.

The Texas Christian Advocate is to be removed to Dallas at an early date.

Notes.

A bill has passed the Senate and is now before the House changing the date of the day for the inauguration of the President from March 4 to the last Tuesday in April.

The Senate has passed two appropriation bills, aggregating twenty-one million dollars, to provide for our coast defense.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania has passed a bill to allow the people to vote on the question of prohibition; and so has the Tennessee Legislature. Thus the wheel keeps turning.

Congress has appropriated $147,750 to indemnify the Chinese sufferers by the Rock Springs riot.

The Commercial Advertiser, of New York, a clean and able paper, has reached its ninetieth year.

The total immigration to this country in 1886 was 386,755, against 326,151 in the previous year.

Since the prohibitory law went into effect in Rhode Island, drunkenness and crime have decreased nearly one-half. Such is the testimony of the officers of the law.

Denver is the highest city in this country, being 5,175 feet above the level of the sea; and Annapolis, Md., is the lowest, being only four feet above the sea level.

The Illinois Legislature has under consideration a measure providing for temperance instruction in all the public schools of the State.

A new political party, with a full-fledged platform, has been started in Cincinnati, and its name is Union Labor.

Wonders will never cease. It is said that $204,000 worth of soot was taken from London chimneys last year. It is valuable as a fertilizer.

If you look at the moon with the naked eye, it is 240,000 miles away. If you look at it through the best telescope, it is brought within 120 miles of you.

New Orleans District Conference.

The New Orleans District Conference, Bishop W. W. Duncan presiding, will convene at Carondelet Street Church, in New Orleans, at nine A. M., April 7, 1887. Rev. William Winberly, of Plaquemine, is to preach the opening sermon at eleven A. M., of Thursday. Let every preacher and delegate be present.

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

Mississippi Notes.

Congress has passed a bill establishing a new United States judicial district embracing the counties of Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Marion, Perry and Greene, with headquarters at Mississippi City. It is an excellent arrangement, due greatly to the exertions of Congressman Van Eaton.

The caving of the river bank at Leota, February 23, caused the loss of the warehouse and all its contents.

At Crystal Springs a land agency company has been organized for the purpose of attracting public attention to the lands, climate and other advantages of that section.

A postoffice has been established at Red Tap, Marion county.

The City Council at Greenville has decided to advertise for bids for building waterworks as well as supplying the city with water.

A private letter from Duck Hill says, "We have a red-hot boom up here; two hundred and thirty-eight thousand dollars have changed hands in a week's time. Five thousand acres of iron ore land sold yesterday, nineteenth instant, besides a good many town lots."—Jackson Clarion.

Coal or iron has been discovered in the following localities in Mississippi: Winona, Duck Hill, Durant, Corinth, Grenada, Bolton, Beauregard, and in Madison county.

The Courier is the name of a new paper started at Hattiesburg by Rev. H. J. Harris.

The Yocona Mills earned seventeen per cent. on their capital stock last year. They are receiving orders for their yarn, which they can not fill, owing to their being sold ahead for six months.

The Brookhaven News is the name of a new seven-column weekly paper which made its appearance on the twenty-fourth, with V. R. Byrd as publisher.

Genuine stone coal is claimed to have been discovered near Duck Hill.

A $20,000 tannery, to be operated under the new system of tanning, known as the Rhyne Paragon Process, is about to go into operation at Water Valley.

There is said to be within thirty miles of Natchez a bed of marble of the finest quality and of sufficient quantity to supply the demand for years.

Vicksburg has erected a $5,000 school-house for colored children.

Meridian will have a $35,000 Union Depot.

Yazoo City can compress one hundred bales of cotton per hour.

The streets of Jackson are being numbered for the free delivery system.

A postoffice has been established at Bee Lake, Holmes county.

Clergymen and their wives are cordially invited to read the liberal offer in Dr. Scott's advertisement in this issue. It enables them to secure one of his beautiful Corsets or other appliances, and also the agency for the same in their community. Do not fail to take advantage of it.

TEMPERANCE ITEM.—Tuesday, February 22, the State Prohibition Executive Committee met in this city in response to the call of their chairman, Rev. John T. Sawyer. The representation was large and the report of prohibition prospects was encouraging from all over the State. A live paper, as organ of the committee, will soon be started in New Orleans. Three conventions are to be held: one in April in New Orleans, one in May in Arcadia, and the State Convention in July in Alexandria. Rev. S. H. Werlein is chairman of the committee to get up the New Orleans Convention, and we are assured that we shall witness a rousing meeting under his manipulating hand. All the South Louisiana parishes are to be represented. The State Committee hope soon to have a State Lecturer in the field. Louisiana is coming rapidly into line.

Those who are suffering with diseases of the Head, Throat or Lungs, are advised to get a pamphlet, free, from Dr. M. W. Case, of 809 North Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa.

A GOOD PICTURE.—We have received from the artist, R. I. Hawell, of Port Gibson, Miss., a beautiful picture of the Mississippi Conference. This is one of the best pictures we have seen. The likenesses are very good, and, with Bishop Duncan in the center of the group and the brethren surrounding him, we have a picture that ought to grace every Methodist parlor in the Mississippi Conference.

Louisiana Notes.

The total number of lots sold at Crowley during three days is 619, and the price realized, over $30,000.

The Jackson Times says, as a result of prohibition in Jackson parish, for the past thirteen months, that fewer crimes have been committed than at any time since the war, and that the cost in committal trials and maintaining prisoners in jail has for the last year been less than one hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Baton Rouge has contracted for water works to be finished in eight months.

On March 12 the people of Jeanerette will vote on a proposed five-mill tax for ten years to aid the proposed railroad to Abbeville.

The Chopin Lumber Company—capital, $40,000—has been organized at Chopin, with C. L. Hale as secretary.

16,556 bales of cotton had been shipped from the Minden depot up to February 15.

The Southwestern Land Company propose to deposit $5,000 with the president of the police jury of Acadia parish to be used for the construction of a court-house at Crowley, if the popular vote of the people should locate the parish-seat at that place.

The Senate has passed Mr. Blanchard's House Bill authorizing the Louisiana North and South Railway Company to erect a bridge over Red river at Alexandria, with an amendment requiring that the bridge shall be commenced in two and finished in four years.

Carpenter, Ely & Co., of Plaquemine, will ship in a few days, by barge, to Chicago, 1,500,000 shingles, the first installment of 15,000,000 contracted for by Joseph Rathborne & Co., of that city.

Lake Charles has thirteen saw-mills in operation at the present time.

A movement is on foot in Tensas parish to organize a land company for the purpose of advertising the lands in that section and securing their cultivation.

Hon. Max Feazel, a prominent lawyer and politician of Lincoln parish, died last week.

How to Gain Flesh and Strength.

Use after each meal Scott's Emulsion with Hypophosphites. It is as palatable as milk, and easily digested. The rapidity with which delicate people improve with its use is wonderful. Use it and try your weight. As a remedy for Consumption, Throat affections and Bronchitis, it is unequaled. Please read: "I used Scott's Emulsion in a child eight months old with good results. He gained four pounds in a very short time."—THOS. PRIM, M. D., Alabama.

UNDECIDED.—Our Lord said, "I come not to send peace, but a sword." The battle is raging everywhere. There is a fierce conflict going on in every State and in every city and in every community and in every family and in every soul. The conflict is between two of the grandest forces known, and it is raging with a fierceness that seems to grow fiercer with the lapse of time. The contest is between right and wrong. Every individual can choose his side, but he can not be neutral. The nature of the fight necessitates his enrollment with one side or the other. The desire for neutrality smacks of treachery. The position of neutrality exposes one to the raking cross-fire of both sides. This contest is "God's quarrel," and our Lord said, "He that is not with me is against me." Robert Hall said, "He is a godless soul that is not concerned with God's quarrel." God says, "Come out from among them and be separate." There is no alternative with God's servants—they must fight. There is nothing else to do. Indecision is disloyalty and disgrace. The fiercest malediction that burns upon the sacred page was uttered against those who were undecided when God was engaged in a great controversy: "Curse ye Meroz bitterly, because they came not to the help of the Lord against the mighty." To be undecided in this great battle is to invite the same curse.

MR. EDITOR: Bro. Weems urges me to report results. At Beauregard, the twentieth instant, we cleared the decks in handsome style. This was done at Wesson on the sixth instant. Every assessment met in full, pressed down, running over.

T. L. MELLEN, P. C.
WESSON, MISS., Feb. 22, 1887.

IN THE MATTER OF GIVING.—In some circumstances it requires a good deal of courage to give. When the pastor is taking his collections, and people around you are giving fifties and hundreds, and you know you are not able to give so much; a sort of cowardly feeling begins to creep into your heart about the five that you are able to give. That feeling makes you think that it will be a needless exposure of your inability and bring you into a company in which the comparison will set you off in an unfavorable way! That feeling is nothing less than downright cowardice. You are afraid of men, and have not enough manly courage to do what you can do for fear of exciting remark. That feeling that causes you to withhold the five dollars or the five cents which you can give, and ought to give, will surely keep you out of the kingdom unless you get rid of it. It requires the best kind of courage to give according to our means. And there is a line where this matter is divided into the very opposites. The rich have not the courage to give according to their riches, nor do the poor have the courage to give according to their poverty. This is the rule for both, and both are lacking in courage.

Change of Time.

At the instance of Bishop Galloway, who is to hold the Jackson (Miss.) District Conference, the time is changed from April 7-10 to March 31-April 3.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

Publisher's Department.

No fraudulent advertisements will knowingly be allowed in the ADVOCATE. If one ever appears, it will be by accident.

In ordering from those whose advertisements appear in our columns please state that you have seen the same in the ADVOCATE.

HUGH JAMIESON, JR.,
Publisher.

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND.—Cottage No. 75 for sale. W. B. Thomson, 64 to 70 South Rampart St., New Orleans.

An eminent artist—English, you know—lately painted a snow storm so naturally, that he caught a bad cold by sitting near it with his coat off.

The beautiful little parlor of Mr. J. Morgan Jenkins, in front of his ware-rooms at 166 Camp street, shows him to be an expert in manipulating wall paper both for service and ornamentation. The bright and lovely patterns used are selected from his large stock of goods of the very latest designs, and from first-class manufactories. Mr. Jenkins is ready to guarantee that his prices are the lowest in the South, and what was a short time since a luxury is now within the reach of all. Parties in the country can rest assured that in sending orders to Mr. Jenkins they will receive goods exactly as samples. Our enterprising townsman is a native of New Orleans, and should be well patronized.

"Yes," observed Mrs. Grap, "we kinder got tired of gas, and now we're goin' to have the house lit with clandestine electric lights."

A PLAIN STATEMENT.—Elsewhere may be seen the advertisement of the great piano dealer, Philip Werlein, 135 Canal street. Certainly he has every reason to feel proud over the great popularity of the celebrated Mathushek Pianos. Some sixteen years ago he introduced here these celebrated instruments, and they have been tested and are pronounced superior in every respect. The prices and terms of this popular piano dealer are such as to attract all buyers. Mr. Werlein has also a number of cheap pianos and organs at such low prices that you would be surprised after seeing them. Write or apply to this great Piano House, and you will see what a bargain you can get.

At the mint is where you see the silver heads among the gold.

A good memory should always be cultivated when ordering stationery to remember to include some of Esterbrook's Steel Pens.

For all points in Texas and California take the Southern Pacific and Star and Crescent via Houston.

CHANGES.—We have quite a number of orders to change the address of subscribers; some without signatures, and others who do not give the former address. Under these circumstances, change can not be made.

We would again call the attention of subscribers and agents that, in making remittances, to make them payable to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Please keep this in remembrance.

No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail. 25c

Business Notices.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. 25c. a bottle.

Pomil's Extract, for Inflammations, Congestions and Ulcerations. Its remedial and healing properties are wonderful. Try it!

MISCELLANEOUS.

LOUISIANA STEAM SASH, BLIND AND DOOR FACTORY,

299, 301, 303, 305, 307 Gravier Street,

NEW ORLEANS.

ROBERTS & CO., Proprietors.

Sash, Blinds, Doors, Mouldings, Flooring and Ceiling, Newels, Balusters, etc., always on hand, or made to order.

Orders promptly attended to.

Plantation Cabins a Specialty.

BRANCH OFFICE: No. 52 CARONDELET ST.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND,

A CONSUMPTIVE CURED.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. H. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcidia, he accidently made a preparation of Indian Hemp which cured his only child of CONSUMPTION. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that CONSUMPTION can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this recipe free, only asking two 2-cent stamps to pay expenses. This herb also cures Night Sweats, Nausea at the Stomach, and will break up a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address CRADDOCK & Co., 1,032 RACE STREET, PHILADELPHIA, naming this paper.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Hope Insurance Company,

188 GRAVIER STREET, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

(Opposite Cotton Exchange.)

ESTABLISHED IN 1857.

CAPITAL PAID UP.....$250,000 00
ASSETS, JAN. 1, 1887.....$104,982 17

Insures Fire, River and Marine Risks.

SURPLUS LINES TAKEN ON ACCEPTABLE FIRE RISKS.

J. A. CHALARON, President.
MAURICE STERN, Vice-Pres.
LOUIS BARNETT, Secretary.

DIRECTORS:

John I. Adams,	Henry Beer,
Geo. A. Lanaux,	Maurice Stern,
G. Lehman,	Wm. Blake,
Victor Meyer,	F. M. Ziegler,
Geo. Denegre,	A. H. Rousseau,
Jas. A. Renshaw,	John Holmes,
J. A. Chalaron,	Pierre Pontz,

Pearl Wight.

MECHANICS and TRADERS' INSURANCE COMPANY,

11 CARONDELET STREET,

New Orleans, La.,

Solicits Fire, River and Marine Risks at lowest tariff rates.

GEO. H. FROST, Secretary.
LLOYD R. COLEMAN, President.
F. C. GREGORY, Asst. Sec. and Fire Clerk.
J. M. CRAWFORD, Marine and River Cl'k.
(Late Sec. Union Ins. Co.)
H. C. SHORTRIDGE, Collector.
F. ARZOLT, Inspector.

TRUSTEES:

Sam. Boyd,	Simon E. Marx,
J. A. Braselman,	Emile J. O'Brien,
J. D. Britton,	F. J. Odendahl,
T. J. Carver,	Wm. A. Phelps,
P. J. Cockburn,	Hon. O. L. Rayne,
H. T. Cottam,	G. W. Scantell,
D. Elmer,	A. N. Silbernagel,
J. M. Frankenbush,	W. B. Thompson,
Walter C. Flower,	P. A. Villeroulu,
P. G. Gilbert,	Jos. Vignes,
Chas. Holloway,	J. M. Walsh,
L. L. Lyons,	T. S. Waterman,
Laurent Lacassagne,	Frederick Wing,
T. L. Macon,	W. Y. West,
Rob't Maxwell,	W. G. Wheeler,

Lloyd R. Coleman.

Factors' and Traders' INSURANCE COMPANY,

49 CARONDELET STREET.

PAID UP CAPITAL.....$1,000,000

ED. A. PALFREY, President.
JOHN PHELPS, Vice-President.
THOS. F. WALKER, Secretary.

ISSUES POLICIES COVERING FIRE, RIVER AND MARINE RISKS AT THE LOWEST TARIFF RATES.

TRUSTEES:

John I. Noble,	John Chaffe,
Richard Milliken,	Sam'l Friedlander,
R. M. Walmsley,	A. H. May,
T. Lyle Lyon,	Samuel H. Boyd,
Wm. J. Behan,	H. F. Eshleman,
Chas. Chaffe,	L. C. Jurey,
Wm. Hartwell,	C. J. Leeds,
A. T. Janin,	A. M. Beckham,
Henry Abraham,	Louis Bush,
A. Brittin,	G. W. Scantell,
Wm. Cunningham,	John I. Adams,
R. T. Buckner,	Wm. A. Gwyn,

Chas. E. Black.

Crescent Insurance Co.

Incorporated as a Mutual Company in 1849. Reorganized as a Stock Company in 1869.

CASH CAPITAL.....$400,000

Has paid over TEN AND ONE-HALF MILLIONS for losses since 1849.

Annual and Term Policies Issued on Desirable Fire Business.

W. R. LYMAN, President.
J. H. OGLESBY, Vice-Pres.
CHAS. E. RICE, Secretary.

See our Agents throughout Louisiana, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas.

Liverpool and London and Globe INSURANCE COMPANY,

OFFICE: Cor. Carondelet and Gravier Streets.

DIRECTORS IN NEW ORLEANS:
J. F. SCHRODER, Chairman,
NEWTON BUCKNER,
A. DELVAILLE,
ED. DOLHIE WOESTE.

Assets in the United States.....$6,148,383 36
Surplus over all liabilities.....2,798,129 13

HENRY V. OGDEN, Resident Secretary.
CLARENCE F. LOW, Ass't Resident Sec'y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

H. P. BUCKLEY,

8 - - - - Camp Street - - - 8

Watchmaker,

—DEALER IN—

WATCHES, DIAMONDS, JEWELRY,

—AND—

SILVERWARE.

A Full Line of Spectacles.
Repairing of Every Description.

MISCELLANEOUS.

W. G. WHEELER,

Clothing and Furnishing Goods,

Successor to Wholesale

—TO—

WHEELER & PIERSON,

No. 86 CANAL STREET,

New Orleans.

The Southern Insurance Company

OF NEW ORLEANS.

Cash Capital.....$300,000 00
Assets, 1st of January, 1887.....429,600 30

Fire, River and Marine Insurance at fair and equitable rates. Losses promptly adjusted and paid. Ample security offered to assured both by the resources and conservative policy of the company

ERNEST MILTENBERGER, President. H. GALLY, Vice-President. SCOTT McGEHEE, Secretary.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

John T. Moore, Jr. M. Schwabacher, J. H. Menge, T. J. Woodward, F. G. Ernst.

W. C. SHEPARD, 49 Camp Street, New Orleans.

Crockery, China, Glassware and General House-Furnishing Goods.

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER.

Stone China Dinner Sets, 125 pieces.....$10 | American Porcelain Dinner Sets, 136 p'ces..$12 00
Decorated Dinner Sets.....from $12 to $35 | Stone China Chamber Sets, square shape... 2 50
Colored Band Chamber Sets, new shape.....$3 | Decorated Chamber Sets, new shape..... 3 50

Handsomely dappened Toilet Sets, consisting of Water Carrier, Slops Jar and Foot Tub, at $1 25 a set. Glass Water Sets, all colors, consisting of Glass Tray, Pitcher, Two Goblets and Slop Bowl, at $1 a set. Goblets and Tumblers, all colors, from 75 cents to $2 per dozen. Engraved Goblets (Crystal) from 60 cents to $2 50 per dozen.

New Goods! New Store!

We have removed to our new location, corner Camp and Common Sts., and invite buyers to look at our New Business Suits, $10 to $20; New Dress Suits, $16 to $28; New Youths' Stylish Suits, $10 to $18; New Stylish Overcoats, $8 to $25; Boys and Children's Suits; $3 up; Dress Shirts, $1 to $1 50; Scarfs; Canton Flannel Drawers, 50c.; Merino and Shaker Underwear, Socks, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas and Trunks.

Lowest prices and best goods at

W. H. PIERSON'S, 20 and 22 CAMP STREET.

FURNITURE!

FINLEY & GRANT, 50 and 52 Baronne Street.

The Cheapest Furniture House in New Orleans. Reliable Goods, Fair Dealing and Bottom Prices.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.

B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S VERMIFUGE

ESTABLISHED 1827. It is now nearly sixty years since this medicine was offered as a remedy for Worms, and from that time its reputation has steadily increased until at the present day it is almost universally acknowledged throughout nearly all parts of the world to be the sovereign remedy. Worm Confections, made more for the purpose of pleasing the palate than of overcoming the disease, have been manufactured all over the country; but their short lease of life is nearly exhausted, and B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge continues to grow in favor daily. Children often look pale and sickly from no other cause than worms, and spasms are most frequently the result of these hidden sappers and miners. When they are irritable and feverish, sometimes craving food and eating ravenously, again refusing wholesome diet, tossing restlessly in sleep, moaning and grinding the teeth, then be assured these symptoms are indications of worms.

Many a helpless child has been laid in the grave, when the disease which caused its death has been entirely misunderstood, and when worms have really been the cause. It has been proved beyond cavil that worms exist in the human system from earliest infancy, therefore parents—especially mothers who are more constantly with their children, cannot be too observing of the first symptoms of worms, for so surely as they exist, they can be safely and speedily removed from the most delicate infant, by the timely use of B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge.

Physicians do not hesitate to recommend it and use it in their practice, and many of the most eminent of the profession, from all parts of the country, testify to its uniform success. In fact, it never fails. It has frequently been given to children as a safe purgative, not suspecting the cause of the illness, and large quantities of worms were discharged and immediate relief afforded. Great caution must be used by every purchaser to be his own judge in one sense, and to examine every bottle he buys of it. The simple name of FAHNESTOCK is not sufficient. He must look closely and carefully to see that the initials are B. A. FAHNESTOCK, and be satisfied with nothing else.

NEW FRANKLIN, HOWARD CO., MO.

Messrs. J. E. Schwartz & Co., Pittsburg, Pa.

Gentlemen—I have used some of that most excellent remedy, B. A. Fahnestock's Vermifuge, and found it to have the desired effect. I think your vermifuge can not safely be dispensed with in any family.

Yours, &c., J. W. HUBBARD, M. D.

CAMBRIDGE, MD.

Having used the original "B. A. Fahnestock" Vermifuge in my practice for many years, I have no hesitancy in recommending it as a remedy which is safe, reliable and efficient in all cases where a Vermifuge is needed.

THOS. H. HANDY, M. D.

SUCCESSORS TO
J. E. SCHWARTZ & CO., B. A. Fahnestock & Co., Pittsburg, Pa., Sole Proprietors.

SEDGWICK WOVEN STEEL WIRE FENCE AND GATES.

The best Farm, Garden, Poultry Yard, Lawn, School Lot, Park and Cemetery Fences and Gates. Perfect Automatic Gate. Cheapest and Neatest Iron Fences. Iron and Wire Summer Houses, Lawn Furniture, and other wire work. Best Wire Stretcher and Pliers. Ask dealers in hardware, or address

SEDGWICK BROS., Richmond, Ind.

EVERYTHING THAT IS NEW IN SEEDS

RARE IN PLANTS

is offered and described in our CATALOGUE No. 248, which this year we send out in an illuminated cover. The Catalogue is replete with new engravings of the choicest flowers and vegetables, many of which can only be obtained from us; and contains, besides, 2 beautiful colored plates, and very full instructions on all garden work. Altogether it is the best ever offered by us, and, we believe, is the most complete publication of its kind ever issued. Mailed on receipt of 10 cents (in stamps), which may be deducted from first order. Please be sure to order Catalogue by the number.

PETER HENDERSON & CO. 35 & 37 Cortlandt St., NEW YORK.

1887. GREGORY'S SEED CATALOGUE. 1887.

What Mr. Beyer says: "Please accept my best thanks for the splendid seeds received from your firm. It would be a rather lengthy list if I should name all, but will say that amongst 38 first, and 3 second premiums awarded me at our fairs in Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan, 28 first premiums were for vegetables raised from your seeds. What firm can beat this?"

August Beyer, So. Bend, Ind.

Send of this quality I am now ready to sell to every one who tills a farm or plants a garden, sending them FREE my Vegetable and Flower Seed Catalogue, for 1887. Old customers need not write for it. I catalogue this season the native wild potato. JAS. J. H. GREGORY, Seed Grower, Marblehead, Mass

SCOTT'S FLOWERS

38 Years' Experience in growing our strong and reliable ROSES, Grand Specialties in PLANTS, BULBS & FLOWER SEEDS of extra choice quality. Rare Novelties of great beauty. Handsomely illustrated Catalogue for 1887 with a lovely Colored Plate of Scott's Mammoth Panales sent FREE to any address. Send for it now. ROBERT SCOTT & SON, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Great Church LIGHT.

FRINK'S Patent Reflectors give the Most Powerful, the Softest, Cheapest and the Best Light known for Churches, Stores, Show Windows, Parlors, Banks, Offices, Picture Galleries, Theatres, Depots, etc. New and elegant designs. Send size of room. Get circular and estimate. A liberal discount to churches and the trade. I. P. FRINK, 551 Pearl Street, N. Y.

Our Young People.

THE SWEETEST BABY IN THE LAND.

BY J. I. N. JOHNSTON.

"Sweetest baby in the land;
Sweeter none could ever be—
Mamma thinks it, mamma knows it!"
Who's a better judge than she?

"Little footies soft as down,
Rose and snow in them I see,
Lumps of sweetness, mamma knows it."
Who's a better judge than she?

"Eyes of blue and bright as stars
Looking up with wond'ring glee—
None so bright, and mamma knows it."
Who's a better judge than she?

"Little lipples, dewy tender,
How they strive to talk to me!
Angels teach them, mamma knows it."
Who's a better judge than she?

"Old St. Peter says my baby
Ran away and came to me;
He is right, and mamma knows it."
Who's a better judge than she?

"All sweet babies in creation
Are not half so sweet to see;
Mamma thinks it, mamma knows it."
Who's a better judge than she?

—Detroit Free Press.

MR. EDITOR: I take the present opportunity of writing a short letter to the dear ADVOCATE, as I have never seen one from this part of the country in your paper. I live in South Mississippi, fifteen miles from Pass Christian, and thirteen miles from the Lonisville and Nashville railroad at the nearest point. I am a Methodist, and live nearly in sight of Whitington Church, and go to Sunday-school every Sunday. I study the Intermediate Quarterly. Mr. N. B. Eldrige is my teacher. I like him very much. I am going to school at Whitington. Miss Corinne Lindsey is my teacher, and I love to go to her. Rev. A. P. Cox is our preacher, and is liked very much by all. I remain, Your true friend,

SALLIE C. MILES.

PASS CHRISTIAN, Mississippi.

Mr. EDITOR: I am a little girl nine years old. I see so many letters in papa's paper written by little girls, I thought I would write you one. I go to Sunday-school every Sunday. Mr. Charlie Sherburne is our superintendent. We have a nice Sunday-school at Hardscrabble. Sister Nina and myself have received a nice Bible, as reward for having commited to memory the whole of the Westminster Assembly's Shorter Catechism. Hoping this may not find its way into the waste-basket, I will close by asking Carrie Floyd to tell us where we will find that Mary is David's mother.

HATTIE REAMES.

ZACHARY, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: I am a little girl thirteen years old. I thought I would write to the young folks' column. My father died four years ago this March. I have two brothers and two sisters; two younger and two older than myself. I like to read the letters from the little cousins. I will ask them a question: Who made iron swim, and where in the Bible is it to be found? I will close for fear my letter will find the way to the waste-basket. If I see this in print, I will write again. Many kind wishes to the dear ADVOCATE and the little cousins. Your little friend,

ELLA L. RAGSDALE.

CHAPMAN, Mississippi.

If your kidneys are inactive, you will feel and look wretched, even in the most cheerful society, and melancholy on the jolliest occasions. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm will set you right again. $1.00 per bottle.

How We Got a Piano.

It was not drawn in a lottery, nor by getting subscribers for a popular paper, though my sister and myself had seriously discussed the latter method of seenring one. Living as we do, however, in a sparsely populated Minnesota county, the idea seemed hardly practicable, and we had about concluded that our best way was to start a flower-farm and manufacture perfumes by a new process of which we had latterly read, when fate seemed to interpose in the strange manner which I shall briefly relate.

On the afternoon of April 14, at about four o'clock, mother, sister and I were busily engaged putting down our little parlor carpet, which had been up for spring house-cleaning. Mother and sister were stretching it, and I was driving the tacks.

Quite suddenly it grew dark, so dark that I could not see well in the corner of the room, and I repeatedly pounded my fingers with a tack hammer.

"Is there a shower coming, or what is the matter?" I exclaimed.

Sister got up off her knees and went to the door; but she had scarcely reached it, when father, who, with my brother Hanson, had been out in the field, ploughing, rushed in.

"Sarah! girls! all of you!" he panted. "Quick, for your lives! To the cyclone cellar!"

Alas! we all knew only too well what such a warning as that means.

Without waiting to take anything (though mother did get father's deed-box), we dropped everything and ran out of doors and across the yard to the covered pit. Hanson had just got there and lifted the trap-door. We sprang in, all five of us, and Hanson pulled down the door. I had but time to catch one glimpse of the sky.

Off across the prairie, to northward, a mass of black and lurid vapors, with yellow clouds of dust, was rolling down towards us—an awful sight! We were no more than fairly inside the cellar, crouching on the bottom, in the darkness, when a terrible roaring noise burst on our ears, like that of some mighty conflagration in a forest.

A strange, half-sighing, half-whistling sound, too, seemed to rise from the ground under us. The earth and the trap-door over our heads shook and clattered. Then, with a rumble like a thunder-peal, we felt the frightful blast pass over us.

Crash! timbers and boards breaking to pieces.

"There goes the barn!" father muttered. He and Hanse were holding the trap-door down. Mother was praying, sister screaming, and I—well, I don't recollect what I did. Once I tried to stop my ears.

It passed in a few minutes.

Hanse then tried to open the trap-door, but a timber from the barn and a large stone had fallen partly on it. They had to push for some time to get the door up.

Such a scene as met our eyes! the ground strewn with timbers and broken boards; the fences, fruit trees, the garden all blown away; the barn gone, and with it the sheds and other outbuildings. One would hardly have recognized it as the same farm.

But the house, which father had purposely built low and very strong, still stood in its place, though the cyclone had twisted it partly around, and the top of the chimney was carried off.

Nearly every pane of glass was broken, many of the weather-boards were ripped off, and in more than a dozen places great splinters of timber, or planks, had struck the walls, and piercing them, stuck out at all angles.

Through the roof there was a great hole as big as a grave. Mother gave one look at her house, and burst out crying.

But it was raining now considerably, and bad as our house looked, we were glad to run to it for shelter, and were glad that we had any kind of a house left us.

It was difficult getting the door open, the house had experienced such a twist. As we were trying to force an entrance, a strange object in our yard attracted our attention. It seemed to be a huge box on legs.

"It is a piano," said father.

I ran to it in the rain, and exclaimed—

"Yes, surely it is a piano. But the wind could have hardly blown away a piano."

Its legs were broken, and it was somewhat scarred; nevertheless it was a piano.

In an hour we tugged the piano into the house, and set it up, and I played a tune on it. It was, in very truth, a windfall. Where it had come from, we had not the slightest idea. None of our near neighbors owned a piano.

About the place where we found the piano was the partial wreck of a house. The instrument had evidently been blown away with the house. It now seems likely that it was the property of a young man and his wife who lived at a little place more than a mile away. This couple's house was demolished completely. They were recent comers, and they both left the place on the day after the cyclone. They were known to have a piano, and we conjecture that this was the one, since their place and our own were in the direct line of the tornado.

Thus far the unfortunate young couple have not appeared to claim the piano. So we are keeping it as a "treasure trove" and a souvenir of the cyclone. The family's name was Blair, and they came from the East, and it is known that they purchased tickets for Chicago, and they probably returned to friends in the East, never doubting the total destruction of all their household effects.—Youth's Companion.

Farm and Home.

FARMERS' WIVES.—No class of men are more in debt to their wives for the success that comes to them than are farmers. The wife and the mother who has the courage to go out with the husband of her choice and commence the struggle of life with him on the prairie, or on a new farm, with but little capital except of head and heart, is worthy to stand by the Spartan women on whom the poets have exhausted their words of praise. Upon her falls the brunt of the strife, no matter how hard the husband may toil; his work closes with the day, but hers continues long after, and, with her children and the small chores that many of the beginners look after, her lot is not one to be envied. And when, after years of struggle, success, with reluctant feet, comes to crown the husband with honor, the biggest wreath should adorn the noble wife who was the stay and anchor, the comfort and the source of all hope in the stormy days of trial. The wealth should crown her queen.

We hear much of the men. We hear that so-and-so is making money, and he gets the credit of being a forehanded man; but it is quite as often that the noble little woman, who has toiled and complained not, who has pinched and saved and murmured not, is the one to whom the State and nation is most indebted. These are the women who lead men up to higher manhood, to that shrine where, like knights of old, they bend the knee of homage, not to beauty, but to worth and royal womanhood.

STEAMING OATMEAL.—For the benefit of those who are "trying to learn to like" oatmeal when prepared in the ordinary way, by stirring it into a paste, and not succeeding as well, perhaps, as they would like, I desire to give my method of preparing it. I use the oatmeal which is in the kernels—not the rolled variety—and for our family of three grown people I take a teacupful and a half. I put that quantity in a basin in the evening, and add a pinch of salt and pour on just enough cold water to cover it. By morning the oatmeal has absorbed the water entirely. I then put the basin in a steamer, and cook for about half an hour. I try it by thrusting in a spoon, and when the grains of oatmeal fall apart dry and nice it is done. Do not stir it at all; the oatmeal should come to the table with the grains as whole and perfect as when they were put into the steamer. Eat with cream and sugar.

A QUICKLY MADE VEGETABLE SOUP.—Boil turnips, onions, carrots, cabbage and celery, chopped fine, in quantity desired, in two quarts of water, with a piece of butter the size of a large walnut, and a little salt. A few minutes before dinner, add a quarter of a forty-cent jar of extract of beef, stirring it until dissolved, and add salt and pepper to suit. Those who like rice in the soup with vegetables should add two or three tablespoonfuls, when the vegetables are half cooked. This quantity is enough for six or eight persons, but should, unexpectedly, more be needed, some more boiling water and a little beef extract added, will, in a moment, make all the soup required without changing its quality in the least.

To prevent smoke from a lamp, soak the wick in strong vinegar, and dry it thoroughly before using. It will then burn both sweet and pleasant, and will give a great deal of satisfaction for the trifling work in preparing.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

How to Cure Skin & Scalp Diseases with the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

TORTURING, DISFIGURING, ITCHING, scaly and pimply diseases of the skin, scalp, and blood with loss of hair, from infancy to old age, are cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, cleanses the blood and perspiration of disease-sustaining elements, and thus removes the cause.

CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure, instantly allays itching and inflammation, clears the skin and scalp of crusts, scales and sores, and restores the hair.

CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, is indispensable in treating skin diseases, baby humors, skin blemishes, chapped and oily skin. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the great skin beautifiers.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON, MASS.

☞ Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

TINTED with the loveliest delicacy is the skin bathed with CUTICURA MEDICATED SOAP.

MISCELLANEOUS.

POND'S EXTRACT

PAIN DESTROYER

Hemorrhages. Bleeding from the Lungs, Stomach, Nose, or from any cause is speedily controlled and stopped.

Sores, Ulcers, Wounds, Sprains & Bruises, It is cooling, cleansing and Healing.

Catarrh, It is most efficacious for this disease. Cold in the Head &c. "Pond's Extract Catarrh Cure," specially prepared to meet serious cases, should be applied with Pond's Extract Nasal Syringe.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, No other preparation has cured more cases of these distressing complaints than the Extract. Pond's Extract Plaster is invaluable in these diseases, Lumbago, Pains in Back or Side, &c.

Diphtheria, Sore Throat, Use the Extract promptly. Delay is dangerous.

Piles, Blind, Bleeding or Itching, is the greatest known remedy; rapidly curing when other medicines have failed. Pond's Extract Ointment is of great service where the removal of clothing is inconvenient.

For Broken Breast and Sore Nipples, Mothers who have once used The Extract will never be without it. Pond's Extract Ointment is the best emollient that can be applied.

Female Complaints, In the majority of female diseases the Extract can be used, as is well known, with the greatest benefit. Full directions accompany each bottle.

CAUTION.

Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine has the words "Pond's Extract" blown in the glass, and our picture trade-mark on surrounding buff wrapper. None other is genuine. Always insist on having Pond's Extract. Take no other preparation. It is never sold in bulk or by measure.

Sold everywhere, Prices, 50c., $1, $1.75.

Prepared only by POND'S EXTRACT CO., NEW YORK AND LONDON.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

All the PATTERNS you wish to use during the year for nothing (a saving of from $3.00 to $4.00) by subscribing for

THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

—AND—

Demorest's Illustrated Monthly Magazine

With Twelve Orders for Cut Paper Patterns of your own selection and of any size.

BOTH PUBLICATIONS, ONE YEAR

—FOR—

$3.25 (THREE TWENTY-FIVE)

DEMOREST'S THE BEST

Of all the Magazines.

CONTAINING STORIES, POEMS, AND OTHER LITERARY ATTRACTIONS, COMBINING ARTISTIC, SCIENTIFIC, AND HOUSEHOLD MATTER.

Illustrated with Original Steel Engravings, Photogravures, Oil Pictures and fine Woodcuts, making it the Model Magazine of America.

Each Magazine contains a coupon order entitling the holder to the selection of any pattern illustrated in the fashion department in number, and in any of the sizes manufactured, making patterns during the year of the value of over three dollars.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY is justly entitled the World's Model Magazine. The Largest in Form, the Largest in Circulation, and the best TWO Dollar Family Magazine issued. 1887 will be the Twenty-third year of its publication. It is continually improved and so extensively as to place it at the head of Family Periodicals. It contains 72 pages, large quarto, 8½ x11½ inches, elegantly printed and fully illustrated. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, New York.

AND BY SPECIAL AGREEMENT COMBINED WITH THE

Christian Advocate at $3.25 Per Year

EASTER MUSIC

A New Easter Service arranged by EBEN E. REXFORD ENTITLED

EASTER MORNING

Consisting of Interesting and Instructive Readings interspersed with new and pretty Carols, by GEO. F. ROOT, H. P. DANKS, PAOLO CAMPIGLIO and J. R. MURRAY.

Price, 5 cts. each, or 50 cts. a dozen by mail, $4 a hundred by express, charges not prepaid.

We also call attention to the following

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES

with Carols, issued in former years:

The Risen Christ, Easter Chimes, He is Risen, The Easter Angels, The Story of the Resurrection.

Price of each, same as for "EASTER MORNING."

Send for our complete list of Easter Music, description, Sent free on application.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, And 19 East 16th Street, New York City.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS.

WE WANT YOU! a live energetic man or woman for profitable employment to represent us in your county. Salary $75 per month and expenses, or large commission on sales if preferred. Goods Every one buys. Outfit and particulars Free. STANDARD SILVERWARE CO., BOSTON, MASS.

McShane Bell Foundry Finest Grade of Bells. CHIMES AND PEALS for CHURCHES. Send for Price and Catalogue. H. McSHANE & CO., Baltimore, Md. Mention this paper.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY Bells and Peals Copper and Tin for Churches, Schools, Fire Alarms, Farms, etc. WARRANTED. Catalogue sent Free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY SUCCESSORS TO BLYMYER BELL CO. BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO. CATALOGUE WITH 1800 TESTIMONIALS. BELLS, CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE, ETC.

BALTIMORE CHURCH BELLS Established 1844. 1st Prize at the New Orleans Exposition 1885-6. For circulars prices, etc., address J. Regester & Sons, Baltimore, Md.

Christian Advocate.

Marriages.

DANIEL—BURDICK.—At the residence of Mrs. Barrow, the bride's sister, in Shreveport, La., February 14, 1887, by Rev. John H. Scruggs, Mr. L. D. Daniel, of Arcadia, La., to Mrs. Mary F. Burdick.

COMFORT—GARRIGUS.—At the residence of the bride's father, Dr. Garrigus, of Winston county, Miss., January 20, 1887, by the Rev. J. A. Leech, Mr. J. D. Comfort, of Kosciusko, Miss., to Miss Nannie Garrigus, of Winston county, Miss.

LANGLY—HIGHT.—At the residence of the bride's father, February 13, 1887, by the Rev. J. A. Leech, Mr. Y. K. Langly and Miss Mollie Hight, all of Louisville, Winston county, Miss.

BARNES—LONG.—Near Miles Station, Miss., February 16, 1887, by Rev. T. B. Holloman, Mr. Willis Barnes, of Crystal Springs, and Miss Kate Long, of Miles Station, Miss., all of Copiah county.

EDWARDS—MOSELEY.—At the residence of W. W. Scott, Esq., at Hollandale, February 3, 1887, by Rev. H. H. Scruggs, Mr. F. C. Edwards to Miss Ella Moseley, all of Hollandale, Miss.

GOLDEN—CLEATON.—At the residence of Major Ferris, Washington county, Miss., February 9, 1887, by Rev. H. H. Scruggs, Mr. A. R. Golden to Miss Mollie Cleaton, all of Washington county, Miss.

Obituaries.

Obituaries of less than thirty-five lines, of six words each, will be published free of charge. For all over thirty-five lines, five cents for each additional line will be charged, and the money must invariably accompany the manuscript. When parties desire extra copies of the ADVOCATE containing their obituaries, they must send with the order the sum of five cents for each extra copy ordered.

ELLIOTT—GEORGE W. ELLIOTT was born in Marshall county, Tenn., December 16, 1826, and died in Claiborne county, Miss., December 17, 1886. He was educated principally at Lebanon, Tenn., and though he never graduated, his literary attainments were of such a character as to cause him to be elected to a professorship in Lebanon College. He was appointed to a cadetship in West Point, and spent two years in that institution; but excessive study caused his health to fail, and he was obliged to return to his home. Soon after leaving college he came to Hinds county, Miss., and, having qualified himself for the business, opened a drug store in Raymond. Just after locating here he enlisted in the United States Army for service in the Mexican War, and served with distinguished gallantry to its close. A year prior to the late war he had begun the practice of law in Raymond. When the war began he was among the first to volunteer for service, and was elected captain of the Hinds County Light Guards. Toward the close of the war he commanded a cavalry company, and upon some field of battle was made a colonel to take the place of an officer who had just been killed. After the war Col. Elliott taught school in Raymond until able to resume business as a druggist. On November 10, 1874, he was married to Mrs. Mary Griffing, a daughter of Mr. John Herlrick, of Claiborne county. On August 25, 1885, he joined the Methodist Church, and from this time, though he was never pretentious in his professions, his life was one of irreproachable Christian integrity.

Col. Elliott was a very attractive man. An extensive reader and ripe scholar, a fluent talker and a polished and courtly gentleman, he combined these attractions with the gentler charms of a heart as guileless as that of a child. He was modest, amiable and affectionate. As a husband and father, he was unselfish, indulgent and devoted; as a friend, steadfast and true; as a neighbor, kind and affectionate. It was a source of regret to him and those who loved him that he remained out of the church so long. By it was hindered the development of that robust and active type of purity so often seen in those who gave themselves to Christ in early life, and so rarely seen in those who come into the church in advanced life. But his dedication of himself to God was full and unreserved. He was careful in the discharge of his religious duties, and spoke with humble assurance of salvation through the blood of Christ. To know this good man was to love him; and now his memory is a blessing.

A. F. WATKINS.

NEWCOMB—Died May 1, 1886, FRANCIS ASBURY NEWCOMB, at the advanced age of eighty-five, after a lingering disease superinduced by protracted years. This octogenarian was born in Milford, Del., in 1801. He was of an old English family that had intermarried with the Russel family, of which Lord John Russel was so distinguished a member. He came to Natchez, Miss., in 1823, and was married in 1830 to Miss Eliza L. Morehouse, of one of the best families of the country. He continued living in Natchez and vicinity over forty years. Theirs was the home of hospitality, and no one ever entered its portals without realizing that they were welcome guests, who gave as much pleasure as they received in enjoying its hospitalities. Among the guests were numbered Drs. Drake and Whans and many other ministers, who ever felt that this was a delightful retreat of a Christian home.

Bro. Newcomb was one of the most cheerful, happy and hopeful Christians ever knew. In all the reverses of life he maintained an uninterrupted equality of spirits unmarred by depression, surpassing anyone I ever knew in exuberance of hope and joy in adversity. No calamity could jostle his trust in God in hopefulness for the future. He lived a happy, hopeful life, both in his first and second marriage. The last, as the first, being a most excellent lady, that sought the happiness of others. He died as he lived, a happy, hopeful Christian, in perfect peace, in the family of his son-in-law, Dr. S. M. Angell, surrounded by his loving and attentive children and grandchildren. Dr. Angell ministered with unwearying kindness and devotion at the bedside of the dying, triumphant saint. The writer had sincerely hoped in his last visit to New Orleans to see once more the face of his old friend and relative, radiant with the beams of a loving heart, and all aglow with the kindly emotions of friendship; but God has taken him to the rest of heaven, after life's fitful dream is over, to mingle his songs of triumph with those of his blessed, loved ones gone before. Requiescat in pace, beloved friend.

HORACE M. BOOTH.

Texas Advocate will please copy.

FLETCHER—AMANDA D. FLETCHER, eldest daughter of Roley Mardis, was born at Louisville, Ky., October 10, 1805, and departed this life after a long and serious illness, Monday, January 24, 1887, at half-past nine A. M., aged eighty-one years and four months, near Church Hill, Miss. Sister Fletcher moved to Washington, Miss., A. D. 1822, and in the fall of same year was married to Mr. Glasscock, of Claiborne county, Miss. The following year (1823) she was bereaved of husband, father and step-mother, which was occasioned by yellow fever. In the fall of 1824 she was married to Mr. Abraham Cubler, with whom she lived seven years. On June 10, 1833, she was again united in holy wedlock with Mr. F. F. Fletcher, with whom she lived fifty-three years, surviving him only eight months. Sister Fletcher joined the Methodist Church at Washington in 1837, at which place she held her membership for fifty years. She moved to Church Hill during the late Civil War, in A. D. 1864. She was the mother of seven children; four of whom she leaves to mourn the loss of a fond parent and loving mother. We condole with the bereaved connection and friends of Sister Fletcher. She can not return to them, but they may go to her after awhile if faithful. A. C. FLOWERS, P. C.

ROWELL—BRO. JOHN V. ROWELL died at his home in Jasper county, Miss., February 1, 1887, aged thirty-seven years, eleven months and eighteen days.

Whereas, It has pleased God to call from our midst our beloved teacher and associate, Bro. Rowell, who left with us the hope of a blissful reunion: therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we mourn his departure, we bow in humble submission to him who works for our eternal good.

Resolved, That we extend to the widow and orphans of the deceased our deepest sympathies in their sad bereavement, and that we commend them to him who has promised to be a husband to the widow and a father to the orphans.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and likewise a copy of same sent to the family and Sunday-school.

MRS. BETHA, for Com.

WOOTAN—MISS ANNIE, the daughter of W. W. and M. A. Wootan, was born in Carroll county, Miss., March 19, 1871, and departed this life to live with Christ and the angels January 30, 1887. She was converted under the ministry of Rev. J. S. Oakley, and from thence until her death she was an acceptable member of the Methodist Church.

Miss Annie was kind, gentle and obedient, and all who knew her loved her for the gentle and beautiful Christian spirit which was always prominent in her life. During her illness she never was heard to utter a word of complaint, but was patient and perfectly resigned. Thus she passed out of existence, one of the purest souls, and we are left to mourn her loss; but thank God we do not mourn as those who have no hope. She is silent in death, and her voice is hushed forever on earth; but in heaven her voice is heard among redeemed spirits and the saints of God. J. M. H.

HOFFPAUIR—SISTER FRANCES D. HOFFPAUIR (nee Smith), daughter of Edmund and Hulda Smith, was born in Smith county, Miss., July 5, 1855, and moved to Louisiana in 1860. She was married to Erass Hoffpauir in 1881, and died February 5, 1887, after a short, but very painful illness. She was converted when quite young, but afterward wandered from the way. In 1879, under the influence of Bro. Wynn as her pastor, she was reclaimed, and from that time until her death she was an earnest, devout Christian. She leaves one little boy and her husband, besides an aged mother, five brothers and two sisters that mourn for her, but not as others that have no hope. She was perfectly willing to die. Among the last words that she spoke was to her mother. She said that it was probable she would never get well, but that she was ready to submit to the will of God. Thus "God's children are gathering home."

HER PASTOR.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The price of Shallenberger's Antidote for Malaria, one dollar a bottle, is sometimes in the way of larger sales; but if it will remove every trace of malaria after a few doses, and leave you well, is it not far cheaper than a continuous use of quinine and tonics at any price, which only strengthen the system against the poison, allowing it to remain and renew its attacks indefinitely?

Fishing Tackle and Ammunition,
WOODEN AND WILLOW-WARE,
PAPER, ROPE, GLASSWARE,
HARDWARE.

Axle Grease,	Oars and Oakum,
Baseball Goods,	Oil Cans and Stoves,
Blacking and Blue,	Oyster Tongs,
Clocks and Combs,	Perfumery and Soaps,
Corks and Bottles,	Rope Reels,
Croquet and Marbles,	Stationery,
Knives—pocket and table	Tinware,
Lamps and Trimmings,	Twines and Wick,
Lye and Sal Soda,	Whips and Lashes,
Mirrors,	Wire Goods.

J. C. MORRIS,
Nos. 40, 42 and 44 TCHOUPITOULAS STREET.
Sole Agency South for the Celebrated Hickok Calcium Burners and Empire Co. Scales.

GREAT LABOR SAVING
SOAPINA!
Has been discovered which will wash in the hardest kind of water as well as ordinary soap in soft water. It is a fine article for washing woolen goods, clothing of Machinists, Printers, etc.

J. H. KELLER,
NEW ORLEANS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Unfailing Specific for Liver Disease.

SYMPTOMS: Bitter or bad taste in mouth; tongue coated white or covered with a brown fur; pain in the back, sides, or joints—often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; sometimes nausea and water-brash, or indigestion; flatulency and acid eructations; bowels alternately restive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick, yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough; fever; restlessness; the urine is scanty and high colored, and, if allowed to stand, deposits a sediment.

SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR
(Purely Vegetable)
Is generally used in the South to arouse the Torpid Liver to a healthy action.

It acts with extraordinary efficacy on the LIVER, KIDNEYS AND BOWELS.

An Effectual Specific for

Malaria,	Bowel Complaints,
Dyspepsia,	Sick Headache,
Constipation,	Biliousness,
Kidney Affections,	Jaundice,
Mental Depression,	Colic.

Endorsed by the use of 7 Millions of Bottles, as

THE BEST FAMILY MEDICINE for Children, for Adults, and for the Aged.

ONLY GENUINE
has our Z Stamp in red on front of Wrapper.

J. H. ZEILIN & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.,
SOLE PROPRIETORS. Price, $1.

Prof. James H. Ayhurst, M. D.,
Member Royal College of Surgeons, Member Royal College of Physicians, Surgeon to the Royal Naval Hospital, writes: "LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC is certainly a very superior preparation * * * I have prescribed it very extensively.

Equally emphatic indorsements from thousands of the most eminent medical authorities from all parts of the world, among them being

Prof. Christian Von Vogel,
Knight of the Order of the Red Eagle, Knight of the Order of the Bavarian Crown, Physician to the Duke of Mecklenburg, &c., &c.

Prof. JOHN M. CARNOCHAN, M. D., LL.D.,
Professor of Surgery, New York Medical College; Commissioner Board of Health, New York City; ex-Health Officer Port of New York, Surgeon in Chief New York State Hospitals, &c., &c.,

CAUTION—The Liebig Co. (Chemists to the Royal Family) were the first to prepare Coca Tonics. A horde of imitations under various names have sprung up. Be sure to ask for LIEBIG CO.'S COCA BEEF TONIC.

NEW YORK DEPOT,
38 MURRAY STREET.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING
EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." —Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pound tins, by Grocers, labelled thus

JAMES EPPS & CO.,
HOMŒOPATHIC CHEMISTS, London, England.

Premiums Awarded
—TO THE—
SINGER
MANUFACTURING COMPANY
—BY THE—
N., C., and S. A. EXPOSITION.
FIRST MEDAL
For the Best Sewing Machine for Family and Manufacturing Purposes.

SEE IT! TRY IT! BUY IT!
Singer New Family Needles, 15¢ per dozen; two dozen, 25¢. All other styles, from 15¢ to 25¢. Oil, 5¢ a bottle. Singer Shuttles, 25¢ each. Postage extra.
Send for Illustrated Catalogue and Price List.
The Singer Manufacturing Co.,
185 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
S. E. RUNDLE, Agent.

A. Brousseau's Son,
23 and 25 CHARTRES ST.,
CHINA MATTING,
CARPETS,
INGRAINS,
LACE CURTAINS,
WINDOW SHADES,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS,

CLERGYMEN AND THEIR WIVES
Can now avail themselves of the privilege of obtaining one of Dr. Scott's genuine excellent and beautiful articles free if they will become or secure us an agent. Since the Pall Mall Electric Association of London made a world wide reputation and most remarkable success with these goods, it has been flattered by a large number of irresponsible imitators who have used the Religious Press to impose upon readers in a most disgraceful manner. The subscribers to this publication may have implicit confidence in every word appearing in the following advertisement, as we refer to Messrs. Harper & Bro., "Frank Leslie's" the Century Co., Scribner's Magazine and the Youth's Companion, etc., also the Bank of the Metropolis, N. Y., and all the Commercial Agencies in England and America.

MANY CLERGYMEN and their wives with insufficient salaries and ample time, have easily added from $500 to $1,000 per year to their incomes by acting as our Agents. Church members are always glad to favor and assist the Pastor and his wife, and are generous in giving orders for goods of utility and value. None are more so than Dr. Scott's. Send for terms, and mention this paper.

DR. SCOTT'S ELECTRIC CORSETS AND BELTS.
Corsets, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $3.00. Belts $3.00. Nursing Corset Price, $1.50. Abdominal Corset, Price, $3.00.
Probably, never since the invention of Corsets, has so large a demand been created as now exists for Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets and Belts. Over three thousand families in the City of New York alone are now wearing them daily. Every Man and Woman, well or ill, should daily wear either the Corset or Belt.

OUR CORSETS ARE DOUBLE STITCHED AND WILL NOT RIP.

If you have any pain, ache, or ill-feeling from any cause, if you feel "pretty well," yet lack energy and do not "feel up to the mark," if you suffer from disease, we beg you to at once try these remarkable curatives. They cannot and do not injure like medicine. Always doing good, never harm. There is no shock or sensation felt in wearing them. There is no waiting a long time for results; electric magnetism acts quickly; generally the first week, more frequently the first day, and often even during the first hour they are worn, their wonderful curative powers are felt. Every mail brings us letters like the following.

The mind becomes active, the nerves and sluggish circulation are stimulated, and all the old-time health and good feeling come back. They are constructed on scientific principles, imparting an exhilarating, health-giving current to the whole system. Professional men assert that there is hardly a disease which Electricity or Magnetism may not benefit or cure, and they daily practice the same, as your own physician will inform you.

THE CELEBRATED DR. W. A. HAMMOND, of New York, formerly Surgeon General of the U. S. Army, lately lectured upon this subject, and advised all medical men to make trial of these agencies, describing at the same time many remarkable cures he had made, even in cases which would seem hopeless.

The Corsets do not differ in appearance from those usually worn; we substitute our flat steel magnetics in place of the ordinary cord steels. These Corsets are nearly all equally charged; differing chiefly in quality and design. They are elegant in shape and finish, made after the best French pattern, and warranted satisfactory in every respect. Gen'ine Scott's goods and ladies are the genuine Dr. Scott's, and are reliable.

The prices are as follows: $1, $1.50, $2 and $3 for the Corset and Search for the Spot. The accompanying engraving of our No 2 at $1.50 or cut of Belt at $3.00 is a full finished Corset, made of Satin Jean, Sateen or Abdominal Corset and is worth $2.50 to $3 for Corset of $2. The $3 and $3.50 goods are many of the finest we have ever had in shape, strong and durable. Nursing Corset, $1.50; Misses, 75c. All are double stitched throughout and Ladies' $1.50, $2 and $3 Coutille Ladies' Abdominal Supporter, an invaluable article, $2. We make all the Corsets to order and white only. They are sent out in a handsome box, securely tied by a silver-plated rosebud, by which the Electro-Magnetic influence can be tested. We will, on receipt of price, with 20 cents added for packing and registering, and we guarantee a safe delivery, send to your address. Post Office Money-order, Draft, Check, or in Registered Letter at our risk. In ordering, simply mention this paper and state exact size of corset you require. Make all remittances payable to GEO. A. SCOTT, 842 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Newark, N. Y.

Dr Scott's Electric Corsets have entirely cured me of muscular rheumatism and female troubles of many years standing, and also of a severe case of headache.
MRS. L. C. SPENCER.

Dr. Scott's Electric Hair Brushes, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00; Flesh Brushes, $3.00; Dr. Scott's Electric Tooth Brushes, 50 cents; Insoles, 50 cents; CHEST PROTECTOR, $6.00; ELECTRIC HAIR CURLER, 50 cents; LUNG AND NERVE INVIGORATORS, $5 and $10.

Trinity Springs, Inn., Jan. 31st, 1887.
Dr. Scott—My wife has suffered acutely from Dyspepsia for 20 years. She has worn one of your Electric Corsets for four weeks and is greatly benefited in her appetite and digestion, and has gained considerably in flesh. My wife desires an agency in our community. Please send terms. (Rev.) ISAAC FARQUHER,
Baptist Minister.

Hollis Centre, Me.
I suffered severely from back trouble for years, and found no relief until I wore Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets. They cured me, and I would not be without them. Mrs. H. H. BESSON.

Memphis, Tennessee.
Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets have given me much relief. I have suffered for years with breast trouble, without finding any benefit from other remedies. They are invaluable. Mrs. JAS. PARNELL.

Dr WILSON, N. Y.
I have an Invalid sister who had not been dressed for a year. Since I got Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets for her she is now able to be dressed and sit up most of the time. MELVA L. DOE.

South Abington, Mass.
Dr. Scott—My sister and I are very much pleased with your Electric Corsets. They have given us great satisfaction. In fact, it is more than pleasantness they are with us. They do all you claim and we can confidently recommend them.
FLORA L. FOSS.

Niles, Mich.
Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets have cured me of acute Catarrh, from which I had suffered for eight years. The Electric Hair Brush is amusing for dandruff every time. Mrs. W. H. FRAK.

Princeton, Minn.
Your Corsets have accomplished wonders in my case. I was persuaded to get one, and could not be induced to take it off. I was down for two weeks, and I am able to keep my household helping to do their own work, etc. My friends are indeed few. With many thanks, etc. JULIA J. MCFARLAND.

Streator, Ills.
Dr. Scott—Your Electric Corsets are beautiful in appearance, wonderful in effect, and a legend to fit and finish. M. J. BURNS.

219 Henry St., Philadelphia, Pa.
Dr. Scott—Your Belt has cured me of rheumatism of and around the Kidneys. W. H. UPJOHN.

MENTION THIS PAPER.

N. B.—Each article is stamped with the English coat-of-arms, and the names of the Proprietors, THE PALL MALL ELECTRIC ASSOCIATION.

The Dry Goods Trade supplied by H. B. CLAFLIN & CO., New York. Sole Wholesale Agents. Remittances for single articles and applications for Canvassing Agents' Terms must be made ONLY to GEO. A. SCOTT, 842 Broadway, New York.

A GREAT SUCCESS ☞A Good, Live Canvassing Agent WANTED in your town for these splendidly advertised and best selling goods in the market. LIBERAL PAY, QUICK SALES. Satisfaction guaranteed. Apply at once. GEO. A. SCOTT, 842 Broadway, N.Y.

MATHUSHEK PIANOS!

There is no Better Authority on Pianos than
PHILIP WERLEIN,
135 Canal Street.

He introduced the Mathushek Pianos here about Sixteen Years ago, and recommended them to his Friends and the Public as the Most Substantial Piano-forte MANUFACTURED.

They have stood the test, and Certificates from the leading Artists, Colleges, Convents and others pronounce them
Superior in Every Respect.

Sold on Terms and Prices Sure to Attract Buyers.

JAS. H. AITKEN. ROBERT AITKEN.
JAS. H. AITKEN & CO.,
GAS FIXTURES,
PLUMBERS,
Steam and Gas Fitters,
—SOLE AGENTS FOR THE—
HOME COMFORT RANGE,
TELEPHONE No. 865.
NO. 110 CAMP STREET,
New Orleans.

H. D. McCOWN,
—DEALER IN—
Mens', Youths' and Boys' Clothing, HATS, SHIRTS,
—AND—
FURNISHING GOODS,
COR. COMMON AND ST. CHARLES STS.
New Orleans, La.

YALE & BOWLING,
WHOLESALE
DRY GOODS
—AND—
NOTIONS,
17, 19 and 21 Magazine and 88 Common Streets,
NEW ORLEANS.

BIG PAY TO AGENTS
FOR INTRODUCING OUR GOODS EVERYWHERE.
For Samples and Terms send 25 cents in stamps. Address all orders to
La. Wire and Iron Manuf'g Co.,
Manufacturers of all kinds of Iron and Wire Goods,
58 and 60 NORTH DEMIGNY ST.,
New Orleans, La.

GOODWYN'S

☞NO ALUM IN IT.
The attention of Dealers, Housekeepers and others is respectfully invited to the above Baking Powder. It is POSITIVELY PURE, EXCELLENT and HEALTHFUL. There is not a PARTICLE OF ALUM in it. Its acid is the BEST GRAPE CREAM TARTAR. It has no superior in the market. Endorsed as a PURE AND HEALTHFUL ARTICLE by Doctors Wm. G. Austin, C. J. Bickham, J. J. Lyons, Jos. Jones and other eminent physicians of this city. Keeps for years in any climate. OUR CHEMISTS SAY IT IS ABSOLUTELY PURE.
Orders solicited and satisfaction guaranteed. Manufactured and for sale by
Mrs. P. M. GOODWYN,
224 Josephine Street, New Orleans, La.
Handled by all our Leading Grocers.

ARTIFICIAL EYES
Are Now so Perfectly Made That No One Can Distinguish Them from the Natural Eye.

The Artificial Eye is not only a beautifier, but it serves other excellent purposes.
It enables the eyelids to move as freely as ever.
It restores the functions of the tear passages.
It prevents the eyelashes from turning within, causing inflammation.
It prevents distortion of features, as happens always in case of a young person who has the misfortune to lose an eye—and sometimes in the case of older persons.
Mr. W. Bohne, our Optician, has made a specialty of selecting and inserting them.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
JEWELERS AND OPTICIANS, New Orleans

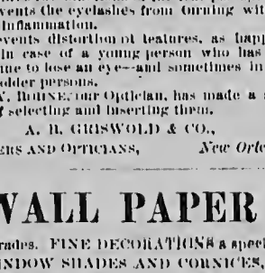
WALL PAPER
In all grades. FINE DECORATIONS a specialty
WINDOW SHADES AND CORNICES,
WIRE SCREENS AND WEATHER STRIPS,
UPHOLSTERER'S GOODS.
Framing Neatly Done.
PICTURE AND ROOM MOULDINGS,
RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS.
EDWARD HEATH,
No. 75 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO PLANTERS.
Guaranteed Highest Grade and Most Reliable Fertilizer to be had.
AMMONIATED RAW BONE SUPERPHOSPHATE.
PURE GROUND BONE.
200 Pounds to the Acre will Double the Yield.
"Gold Medal" was awarded us at World's Exposition and at American Exposition for best Cotton, Sugar, Cabbage and Orange Fertilizers.
Write for Agricultural Handbook.
Sterns's Fertilizing and Chemical M'f'g Co.,
14 Union St., New Orleans.



ROCK BOTTOM!

Our Clubbing Arrangement,

—1887.—

We offer the following club rates to take effect after November 1, 1886. Cash in full to accompany all orders.

The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the following publications will be sent one year, postpaid, at prices in outside column:

	Publisher's price.	Our price.
Southern Cultivator,	$3 50	$2 75
American Agriculturist,	3 50	2 75
Daily Picayune—12 mos,	14 00	12 00
" " 6 "	7 00	6 50
Weekly "	3 50	2 50
" Times-Democrat,	3 50	2 75
Harper's Magazine,	6 00	4 75
" Weekly,	6 00	4 75
" Bazar,	6 00	4 75
" Young People,	4 00	3 00
Demorest's Magazine,	4 00	3 25

Send cash in full with all orders.
No attention paid to orders without cash.
Hugh Jamieson, Jr.

AN AGREEABLE APERIENT.
ROGERS'
DRY CITRATE OF MAGNESIA.
This Well-Known Preparation is HIGHLY RECOMMENDED
—FOR—
Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach and all Complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fever.
It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children.
Prepared by
A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists,
281 Bleecker Street, New York.
Superior to Mineral Waters, Seltlitz Powders, etc.
FOR SALE BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

EDUCATIONAL.

MANSFIELD FEMALE COLLEGE—THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL SESSION

The fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 15, 1886, with a full corps of excellent teachers and increased facilities for instruction. Rates of board and tuition without music, one hundred and seventy-five dollars; with music, two hundred and thirty-five dollars. Payments, one-half in advance, balance at the end of session; or in similar proportion. If the entire bills for the year be paid in advance, ten per cent. will be deducted. Two or more pupils from one family will receive a discount of ten per cent.

Four pupils occupying a room together by the year will be allowed a discount of fifteen per cent.

Members of the Louisiana Conference shall receive board at the regular rates, and tuition in both literary and music department free of charge.

Special vocal training is not included in the regular lessons for music, but will be charged as an additional course in music.

In making engagements for the year, a club of four young ladies who wish to pay all in advance will receive board, tuition and one course in music for $176 25—a discount of twenty-five per cent. from the catalogue price; or by paying one-half in advance, they will be entitled to the same for $200.

F. M. GRACE, Pres.
S. J. DAVIES, Vice-Pres.

Weekly Market Review.

(For Week Ending March 1, 1887.)

COTTON.
Low ordinary	7 1/8	@ — —
Ordinary	7 5/8	— —
Good ordinary	8 3/8	— —
Low middling	8 13-16	— —
Middling	9 1/8	— —
Good middling	9 1/2	— —
Middling fair	10	— —
Fair	10 11-16	— —
Galveston middling	8 15-16	— —
Mobile middling	9	— —
St. Louis middling	9 1-16	— —
SUGAR.
Inferior	2 1/2	3 1/8
Common	3 1/4	3 5/8
Good common	3 3/4	4
Fair	3 3/4	4
Good fair	4 1-16	4 1/8
Fully fair	4 1-16	4 1/8
Prime	4 1/4	4 5-16
Strictly Prime	4 1/4	4 5-16
Choice	4 7-16	— —
Seconds	3 3/4	4 3/4
Choice yellow	5 3/8	5 7-16
Gray White	— —	— —
Choice whites	5 9-16	5 1/2
Stan. Gran	5 11-16	— —
MOLASSES.
Syrup, Open Kettle	— —	— —
Fair	28	30
Strictly Prime	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —
RICE.
Fancy	— —	— —
Choice	— —	— —
Prime	3 3/4	4
Good	3 1/4	3 3/8
Fair	3	3 1/8
Ordinary	2 7/8	3
Common	2 5/8	2 3/4
No. 2	— —	2 1/8
Rough	2 30	2 90
FLOUR.
Minnesota bakers	4 62 1/2	— —
Minnesota patents	— —	5 12 1/2
Extra fancy	4 50	4 62 1/2
Winter wheat patents	5 12 1/2	5 25
Choice	3 70	3 75
Fancy	4 00	4 10
Extra Fancy	4 30	4 40
CORN PRODUCTS.
Cream meal	— —	2 50
Corn meal	— —	2 30
Grits	2 60	— —
Hominy	2 75	— —
GRAIN, ETC.
CORN:
White	47	— —
Yellow	47	— —
Mixed	47	— —
OATS:
Western	37 1/2	38
Texas rust-proof	40	41
BRAN:
₱ cwt	5	8
HAY:
Choice	15 00	15 50
Prime	13 50	14
PROVISIONS.
PORK:
Mess	16 1/2	16 3/4
Prime Mess	14 50	— —
Rumps	13 50	— —
BACON:
Fancy breakfast	11	— —
Shoulders	7 1/4	— —
Sides, long clear	8 3/4	— —
Sides, short rib	8 3/4	8 7/8
HAMS:
Sugar-cured	— —	12 00
DRY SALT MEAT:
Shoulders	6 3/8	— —
Sides, long clear	8 1/8	8 1/4
Sides, short rib	8 1/4	8 3/8
GROCERIES.
COFFEE:
Prime	— —	15 1/4
Fair	— —	14 3/4
Common	— —	12 3/4
BUTTER:
Western Creamery	29	30
Western Dairy	20	21
Country	— —	— —
LARD:
Choice	6 7/8	7
TEAS:
Choice	40	80
Fair	24	35
OILS:
Coal, cases	12 1/2	— —
Coal, bbls	10	— —
Cotton seed	36	— —
Lard	— —	60
VEGETABLES.
CABBAGES:
Western, per crate	— —	— —
Chicago, per 100	— —	— —
Louisiana, ₱ head	8	10
POTATOES:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	1 50	1 75
KROUT:
Western, ₱ bbl	— —	7 00
ONIONS:
Louisiana	— —	— —
Western	3 00	3 25
BALING STUFFS.
BAGGING:
1 3/4 lb. per yd	7 3/4	— —
2 lb	8 1/2	— —
BALING TWINE:
₱ lb	10	— —
TIES:
₱ bundle	1 00	— —
SUNDRIES.
POULTRY:
Old Hens, Western	4 00	4 50
Young Chickens	3 00	3 50
Chickens, South'n	2 50	3 00
Young	1 75	2 00
Turkeys, Southern	8 00	9 00
EGGS:
Western	12	13
Southern	— —	14
WOOL:
Lake, per lb	— —	25
Louisiana	— —	23
Burry	9	12
COUNTRY HIDES:
Green salted, ₱ lb	— —	7
Dry salted	— —	10 1/2
FERTILIZERS:
Cotton seed, ₱ ton	9 00	— —
Meal	17 75	18 00
Pure ground bone	35 00	— —
Muriatic acid, ₱ lb	2	— —
Sulphuric acid	1 3/4	— —
Bone black	— —	— —

CISTERNS.—A. IGGGS & BRO., 247 Delord street, near Dryades. Send for price list.

News Summary.

FEBRUARY 22.

The government was successful in the elections of the Reichstag.——It is rumored that Lord Randolph Churchill will rejoin the government after the adoption of the budget.——Minister Manning laid the corner-stone of an American hospital in the City of Mexico.——Dr. E. Schmitt Von Taverna has been appointed Minister at Washington, vice Baron Von Schaffer.——The Senate confirmed the nomination of Judge Manning as Minister to Mexico.——Tampa, Fla., has been made a port of entry.——Mrs. Gen. Joseph E. Johnston died, of paralysis, in Washington this morning.

FEBRUARY 23.

The Portuguese have bombarded Tungi in the Friendly Islands.——French and German government agents are visiting all fairs in North England, buying horses suitable for military purposes.——Signor Depretis has failed to form a Cabinet, and has resigned his commission.——Terrific earthquake in France and Italy; about 300 lives lost.——The Senate passed a bill creating the Department of Agriculture and Labor, with a secretary and assistant secretary to be appointed by the President, and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The secretary to receive the same salary as the heads of the other Departments, and the assistant secretary to receive the same as the Assistant Secretary of the Interior.——The Bureau of Labor and the weather service of the Signal Service Bureau are to be transferred to the Department of Agriculture.

FEBRUARY 24.

The trial of Dillon, O'Brien and Redmond for their connection with the "plan campaign" resulted in a mistrial.——Deposed Prince Alexander is ill with the small-pox.——King Humbert wants a Cabinet that will maintain a close alliance with Austria and Germany.——The House sustained the President's veto of the dependent pension bill.——The ocean mail subsidy defeated in the House.——The Senate to-day passed Mr. Van Eaton's House bill establishing a United States Court at Mississippi City.

FEBRUARY 25.

Dillon and his associates in the conspiracy case will be tried again in April.——Mr. Phelps, American Minister, has gone to the south of France.——Gladstone has made a permanent reduction in the rents of larger farms at Hawarden.——France has sent a confidential note to the Vatican on the ecclesiastical question.——Cardinal Jacobini is reported dying.——The President has approved the act to indemnify certain subjects of the Chinese Empire for losses sustained by the violence of a mob at Rock Springs, W. T., in September, 1885.——M. Goblet, Prime Minister, has sent the Prefect at Nice 10,000 francs for the relief of the sufferers.——The Queen of Wertenburg has given £200 for the relief of the sufferers, and the King and government of Italy have subscribed £10,000.

FEBRUARY 26.

The Upper Houses of the Austrian Reichsrath and Hungarian Diet have passed the extra credit asked by the government for the equipment of the army and landwehr.——King Theobaw, of Burmah, has been deposed.——A well of fine petroleum has been discovered in Belgium.——Cardinal Jacobini died at one o'clock this afternoon.——It is rumored that a revolution is in progress at Sofia.——Earthquake shock felt at Columbia, S. C.——Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, chosen president pro tem. of the Senate.

FEBRUARY 27.

A bill will be introduced in the Italian Parliament for a credit of $1,000,000 for the relief of the sufferers of the earthquake.——A fire in Wellington, New Zealand, destroyed $750,000 of property.——Prince Alexander is recovering slowly from an attack of variolaid.——It is reported that the President will not call an extra session of Congress, as has been announced.——The New Orleans and Alabama Coal and Coke Co., with a capital of $1,000,000, has been organized at Birmingham.

AN APPEAL.

The Methodist College of Belle Plaine, Texas, located in the center of the great drought-stricken district, calls upon the people of the United States, and particularly the Methodists and friends of higher education of our great country, for aid in a pressing extremity.

The college building has been erected at a cost of $12,000; a small indebtedness of a few thousand dollars remains, which can not be met, and unless liquidated, the building will have to be sacrificed to meet a lien upon it.

The grounds and buildings have been paid for, with the exception of the balance referred to, by liberal donors in this section of country, and but for the great drought, which has prostrated, financially, all this section, the entire amount due would have been paid by the liberality of local parties. This is the only college for higher education in all this section of country, and it belongs to the Methodist Church, and is under its supervision and control.

The management is utterly unable to meet this very pressing claim, and to save this valuable property and growing institution for our church frontier without extraneous aid; and as it is church property, they do not hesitate to appeal to the generous public for the means and assistance in these times when the drought renders it impossible for our own people to respond any further.

All donations, however small, will be duly acknowledged for the College by the First National Bank of Baird, Texas, and the funds promptly turned over to College Treasurer.

REV. J. T. L. ANNIS,
President Board of Trustees.

References: Rev. Bishop H. N. McTyeire, D. D., LL. D.; Rev. Bishop Jos. S. Key, D. D.; Rev. A. G. Haygood, D. D., LL. D.; Rev. Sam Jones; Gov. S. L. Ross, of Texas; Lieut.-Gov. T. B. Wheeler, of Texas; Hon. S. W. T. Lanham, House of Representatives; Ex-Gov. John Ireland, Seguin, Texas.

Books and Periodicals.

BOOKS.

—The Bethlehemites, by Julia Sutter, is a delightful little story of Bethlehem at the time of the incarnation, and is published in good style by Potter & Coats, Philadelphia.

HOW TO BECOME A PUBLIC SPEAKER. By William Pittenger. Price, fifty cents.

This is a publication of The National School of Elocution and Oratory, Philadelphia, and discusses in nineteen brief chapters the various points in the subject. It is commended to young orators.

—From the same publishers we have Choice Dialogues for School and Social Entertainment, by Mrs. J. W. Shoemaker. Price, fifty cents.

SAN MARCOS SUNDAY-SCHOOL ASSEMBLY. Normal course. Text-book A. Teacher's manual.

This is a valuable little book prepared by Rev. H. M. DuBose, superintendent.

CIVITAS: THE ROMANCE OF OTTO NATION'S LIFE. By Walter L. Campbell. Publishers, G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York. Price, $1.

This is a pleasing story in rhyme, representing the State as passing through the perils of temptation from anarchy and plutocracy, not without falling, and eventually, being wedded to liberty, triumphing over all foes. There are passages of real power in this little book.

THE AMERICAN SETTLER'S GUIDE. By Henry N. Copp. Washington City.

This is a good book for all who are interested in public lands. It tells everything about the subject, and can be had for twenty-five cents.

PERIODICALS.

—The Swiss Cross, for February, is full of interesting matter, and this second number gives promise of good things yet to come in the study of nature. N. D. C. Hodges, 47 Lafayette Place, New York. Price, $1 50.

—No. 87 of Humboldt Library contains "The Morphine Habit," by Prof. B. Ball, of the Paris Faculty of Medicine. J. Fitzgerald, 108 Chambers street, New York.

—The New South, for February, has 50,000 copies out, of a specially fine order, and is growing in interest with each number. Birmingham, Ala. Price, $1.

—Cassell's Family Magazine and The Quiver, for March, have their usual good table of contents. Cassell & Co., 739-741 Broadway, N. Y. $1 50 each.

—American Art, for February, keeps up its reputation for beauty and interest. American Art Magazine Company, 110 Tremont street, Boston. Price, $2 50.

—Monthly Magazine of Young Men's Christian Association, Birmingham, Ala. Price, fifty cents.

—St. Nicholas, for March, is bright and beautiful, and as the spring opens on the outer world, this number will open the spring in many young minds. Century Company, Union Square, New York. Price, $3.

—The Magazine of Art, for March, is one of the best. It is simply superb. Cassell & Co., New York. Price, $3 50.

BEWARE!—Beware of evil thoughts! They have done a great deal of mischief in the world. They prepare the way for evil words and deeds, and for utter ruin.

Beware of evil books! They beget evil thoughts, and thus commence the process of ruin. A ruined man once said, "It was that ten minutes on the street corner, reading a bad book, that destroyed my whole life."

Beware of evil deeds! They may be small acts of evil, but they are none the less dangerous for that. "It was that penny I stole when I was a small boy," said an old man, "that sent me four times to prison, and confined me there twenty-eight years out of sixty of my life, and all for stealing less than thirty-eight dollars."

Beware of evil associates, for they have ruined thousands. You may depend upon it that he is a good man whose friends are all good, and whose enemies are all characters decidedly bad.

When our Lord promised the Comforter or the Advocate (we read of it in St. John's Gospel xiv, 16, 17), there are three prepositions used by which peculiarities of meaning are brought out. He is with us (meta) for fellowship; he abides by our side to defend us (para); he is in us (en) as a source of strength to each. We see how intimate this fellowship is; how he is never away from the people of Christ; how with him and his abiding presence there is no cause for fear. To be sure we may grieve him, but let us not, and he abides in us and with us and by our side forever. Wonderful the privilege of the man who trusts in Christ; God is in him and he is in God. This is the state in which every Christian exists.—Southern Advocate.

"You never get to the end of Christ's words," said Dean Stanley. "There is something in them always behind. They pass into proverbs, they pass into doctrines, they pass into consolations; but they never pass away, and after all the use that is made of them, they are still not exhausted."

A Shy Nymph.

That was what President Nott called happiness. In his wise old age he took a newly married pair aside, and said: "I want to give you this advice, my children—don't try to be happy. Happiness is a shy nymph, and if you chase her you will never catch her. But just go quietly on and do your duty and she will come to you."

We see and hear constantly of people acting contrary to this sage advice. They chase the "shy nymph" even to the borders of the grave, and topple into it finally without having found her. She is a will-o'-the-wisp, forever elusive when you seek her, a mirage when you forget duty to look with longing at her in the distance—her lovely turrets, her castles in the air you can never reach.

The French have an ideal happy land called Cocaegrie. It is full of men and women who are always happy. It is always day, there are no storms of rain or snow, no extremes of heat or cold; no dangers from lightning or whirlwind, no quarreling or war, no sickness or death. There is a fair abbey with white monks and gray nuns. The cloister is built of gems and spices. All about are birds merrily singing, ready roasted, flying into the hungry months, among them buttered larks. All down the streets go roasted geese. There is a river of wine. The ladies are all fair; every month one has new clothes. There bubbles up the fountain of perpetual youth, which will restore to bloom and vigor all who bathe in it, be they ever so ugly or old. But although this description may sound very delightful to some people, we know that this happy land (so called) lies only in the imagination. In the real world there is and always has been sin and sorrow, sickness and death, wars and rumors of wars. Perfect happiness is not obtainable in this world; no one's wealth or power, however great, can grasp it, and yet there is a near approach to the delectable state granted to those who implicitly trust the Lord. No one can climb up to it by a thread of their own weaving.

Happiness, though infinitely desirable, is non-essential to the upbuilding of Christian character. "If it come," Froude says, "life will be sweet; if it does not come, life will be bitter—bitter, not sweet, and yet to be borne."

I would add not only borne, but borne bravely, helpfully, progressively, even for Christ's sake.

There is a something called by some happiness, but which has not the true ring—gives only a perishable joy. It suggests to us the enchanted egg. Oromayes had an enchanted egg, in which he boasted that he had enclosed all the happiness of the world. When the egg was broken it was found to contain nothing but wind.—Christian at Work.

BALANCE AMONG THE PHYSICAL FUNCTIONS.—Dr. H. C. Wood, of Philadelphia, maintains that, to make it possible to live to a good old age, the several vital organs must be approximately equal in strength. The man of ordinary physique, who possesses this fortunate balance of power, will in all probability outlive an athlete whose development has been unequal. Excessive strength in one part is, in fact, a source of danger. An over-developed muscular system invites dissolution, because it is a constant strain upon the less powerful organs, and finally wears them out. Death, in the majority of cases, is the result of local weakness. It often happens that a vital organ has been endowed with an original longevity less than that of the rest of the organism, and its failure to act brings death to other portions of the system, which in themselves possessed the capabilities of long life. The fact of having succeeded in life, with the satisfaction and comfort it brings, contributes to the prolongation of existence, while failure, with its reluctant regrets, tends to shorten it. In old age, the organs possess less elasticity to meet and overcome such strains as can be invited with impunity in youth. Hence the old should be spared the strains. It is also desirable that, as their years advance, they should make their personal habits the subject of careful study, and, with the help of some wise counselor, regulate their daily life in accordance with the changed conditions of their animal economy. This is particularly the case with reference to diet.—Popular Science.

Quarterly Conferences.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

ALEXANDRIA DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Melville, at Melville	Mar. 5, 6
Trinity, at Bennett's School-house	12, 13
Centreville, at Centreville	19, 20
Columbia, at Columbia	26, 27
Montgomery, at Montgomery	Apr. 2, 3
Alta, at Gray's Creek	9, 10

R. F. ALEXANDER, P. E.

HOMER DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Minden circuit, at Minden	Mar. 5, 6
Tulip circuit, at Tulip	12, 13
Haynesville circuit, at Haynesville	19, 20
Homer circuit, at Homer	26, 27
Farmerville circuit, at Farmerville	Apr. 2, 3
Summerfield circuit, at Alabama	9, 10
Mawsville circuit, at Downesville	16, 17
Indian Village circuit, at Bethel	23, 24
Huggold circuit, at Huggold	30, May 1
Sparta and Saline, at Sparta	7, 8

ROBERT HANDLE, P. E.

DELHI DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Waterproof, at Waterproof	Mar. 5, 6
Richland	12, 13
Lind Grove, at Bartholomew	19, 20
Oak Ridge, at Good Hope	26, 27
Floyd, at Oak Grove	Apr. 2, 3
Bastrop	9, 10

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Red River, at Campo Bella	Mar. 5, 6
Shreveport, at Shreveport	9
Caddo, at Friendship	12, 13
South Bossier, at Bellevue	16
North Bossier, at Concord	19, 20
Mooringsport, at Pine Hill	26, 27

The district stewards' meeting will be held at Shreveport, on Thursday, March 10, at ten o'clock A. M., in the Methodist Church.

J. H. CASSITY, P. E.

OPELOUSAS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Hayne	Mar. 5, 6
Lake Charles	12
German Mission	13, 14
Sulphur Mine	20, 21

S. S. KEENER, P. E.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Algiers and Gretna, at Algiers	Mar. 6
Louisiana Avenue	13
Moreau	20
Carroll'n and Parker Ch., at Carrollton	27
Baton Rouge	Apr. 2, 3

JOHN T. SAWYER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Woodville circuit	Mar. 2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	5, 6

J. A. B. JONES, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FIRST ROUND.

Angulla	Mar. 5, 6
Meyersville	12, 13
Nebo	19, 20
Roxie	21, 22

W. L. C. MONSCOTT, P. E.

A marble-cutter, with his chisel and hammer, was changing a stone into a statue. The minister, looking on, said, "I wish I could deal such changing blows on stony hearts." What wiser answer could have been given than that with which the smiling workman made answer, "Maybe you could, if you worked more like me, upon my knees." Perhaps he answered better than he knew—although we have known too many workmen of most solid sense to ever call the bits of wisdom which flash from them in question—but certainly he made an answer which strikes a solemn response in the depths of every man's soul who longs to mold human lives, and lead souls upward to God.—Congregationalist.

Whatever tends to make us think much of our poor selves also destroys the spirituality of our mind. You can not serve God and self too. Choose you this day, therefore, in whose service you will employ your energies and devote your life. If to self, the devil will keep you; if to Christ, your reward shall be righteousness and peace.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and can not be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

KNABE PIANOFORTES.

UNEQUALLED IN

Tone, Touch, Workmanship and Durability

WILLIAM KNABE & CO.

Nos. 204 and 206 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore. No. 112 Fifth Avenue, N. Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A MEDICINE, NOT A DRINK.

High Authority.

Hop Bitters is not, in any sense, an alcoholic beverage or liquor, and could not be sold, for use, except to persons desirous of obtaining medicinal bitters.

GREEN B. RAUM,
U. S. Com'r Internal Rev.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24, 1884.

Dear Sir—Why don't you get a certificate from Col. W. H. W., of Baltimore, showing how he cured himself of drunkenness by the help of Hop Bitters? His is a wonderful case. He is well known in Rochester, N. Y., by all the drinking people there. He is known in this city, Cincinnati, New Orleans, New York; in fact all over the country, as he has spent thousands of dollars for rum. I honestly believe his card would be worth thousands of dollars to you in this city and Baltimore alone, and make thousands of sober men by inducing the use of your bitters. J. A. W.

Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by Hop Bitters, that we had pooched at two years before using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters." The Parents—Good Templars.

Milton, Del., Feb. 10, 1886.

Having used Hop Bitters, the noted remedy for debility, nervousness, indigestion, etc., I have no hesitation in saying that it is indeed an excellent medicine and recommend it to anyone as a truly tonic bitters.

Respectfully,
REV. MRS. J. H. ELLGOOD.

Scipio, N. Y., Dec. 1, 1884.

I am the pastor of the Baptist Church here and an educated physician. I am not in practice, but am my wife's family physician, and advise in chronic cases. Over a year ago I recommended your Hop Bitters to my invalid wife, who has been under medical treatment of Albany's best physicians, seven years. She has been greatly benefited and still uses the medicine. I believe she will become thoroughly cured of her various complicated diseases by their use. We both recommend them to our friends, many of whom have also been cured of their various ailments by them.

REV. E. R. WARREN.

Cured of Drinking.

"A young friend of mine was cured of an insatiable thirst for liquor that had so prostrated his system that he was unable to do any business. He was entirely cured by the use of Hop Bitters. It allayed all that burning thirst; took away the appetite for liquor; made his nerves steady; and has remained a steady and sober man for more than two years, and has no desire to return to his cups, and I know of a number of others that have been cured of drinking by it."—From a leading R. R. Official, Chicago, Ill.

YOUR SUNDAY-SCHOOL

Finds pleasure in its Music. Bright songs make the Children happy. If you are about of a new set of Singing Books, examine the following:

Songs of Promise. For Sunday-schools, Prayer and Conference Meetings. By A. H. Tenney and J. Hollman. Price 35 cents; per dozen, $3 60. SONGS OF PROMISE fill this beautiful book, as they have a great variety, having been contributed by many able writers. The book has 160 pages and 149 hymns, each with its own tune. Music and words mostly new.

Singing on the Way. By Mrs. Fanny Jewell and J. Hollbrook. Price 35 cents; per dozen, $3 60. A capital book, containing 160 pages of excellent songs, hymns, and "occasionals" pieces, as will be welcomed in the Sunday-school. Any piece may be played upon the organ.

Song Worship. For Sunday-schools. By O. Emerson and W. F. Sherwin. Price 35 cents; per dozen, $3 60. A book that is intended to lift the singing in the Sabbath-school above the common level, without putting it beyond the reach of the vast majority.

Fresh Flowers. For Infant Classes of Sunday-schools. By [illegible] Pitt. Price 25 cents; per dozen, $2 40. A dainty little book, as full as it can hold of sweet melodies with pretty verses set to them such as every child will understand and enjoy.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 867 Broadway, New York.

Combination Group Picture

—OF THE—

Mississippi Annual Conference

M. E. Church, South.

A most excellent portrait of Bishop W. Hoiman forms the centre, surrounded by one hundred and twenty-five other preachers. Every preacher and Methodist family in Mississippi Conference should have one of these pictures. Every preacher in the Conference represented, and each picture is a perfect likeness. The size of card is 14 x 17 inches, with picture attached. Price: Single copy, $1; two copies, $2 75; three copies, $3 75. Special rates to agents. For particulars address R. J. HOWELL, PHOTOGRAPHER, Port Gibson, Miss.

WALL PAPER

AND WINDOW SHADES.

Cheapest House in New Orleans.

J. MORGAN JENKINS, 105 CAMP STREET.

Write for prices. Samples sent to country trade.

I WANT AGENTS TO SELL THE MISSOURI STEAM WASHER

To men or women of energy and ability terms will be liberal. It works on new principle which saves 50 per cent in clothing and labor. Sample on trial on liberal terms.

$600 to $2,000 a year is being made by ship-agents. Intro[illegible] It's a phenomenal success everywhere. Illustrated circulars free.

J. WORTH, SOLE MFR., 1710 FRANKLIN AV., ST. LOUIS, MO.

ON 30 DAYS' TRIAL

THIS NEW ELASTIC TRUSS

Has a Pad different from all others, is cup shape, will fit itself to all positions of the body while the ball in the cup presses back the intestines just as a person does with the finger. With light pressure the rupture is held securely day and night, and a radical cure is certain. It is easy, durable and cheap. Sent by mail. Circulars free.

EGGLESTON TRUSS CO., Chicago, Ill.

Christian Advocate.

VOL. 34.—NO. 10. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1887. WHOLE NO. 1597.

PUBLISHED FOR THE LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

ENTERED AT THE POST-OFFICE AT NEW ORLEANS AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Christian Advocate.

C. W. CARTER, D. D., Editor.
HUGH JAMIESON, Jr., Publisher.

OFFICE: 112 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

SUBSCRIPTION, - - $2 PER ANNUM.
Ministers and wives of deceased preachers, $1.

All Preachers of the M. E. Church, South, are authorized Agents, to whom payments may be made.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. WERLEIN.
REV. CHAS. W. CARTER, D. D.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. JAMES A. GOLDEY.
REV. W. L. C. HUNNICUTT.
REV. T. L. MELLEN.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. T. J. SULLIVAN, D. D.
REV. J. H. CAMERON.
REV. T. C. WIER, D. D.

RECOMPENSE.

BY MARION MANVILLE.

There is no day but has its share of light,
And sometimes in the dark there shines a star at night.
There is no cloud, however black and grim,
That does not touch the sunlight with its outmost rim.

There is no sorrow born without its gain,
No perfect joy that was not ushered in with pain;
There is no woe that can outlast the years,
No smile so sweet in life as that which follows tears.

We learn to do without our own because
There is some recompense in all of nature's laws;
No sun can rise until the sun has set;
No life be lived that has not somewhere known regret.

This thought, my friend, take with thee for the days;
God were not God if man could fathom all his ways.
And as thy day goes down the western slope,
Know, next to faith, his greatest gift to thee is hope.

A Kentucky Letter.

BY W. H. ANDERSON, D. D.

The ADVOCATE, always welcome, was doubly so when the issue of February 10 reached us to-day. We greet its rejuvenated appearance, its new, attractive dress, its rich freight of food for mind and heart. It is very pleasant to see that most of the Advocates and all of the Methodists are out in new suits. It indicates prosperity in the pockets of publishers and editors, a larger circulation and a reception of wider appreciation of excellence by the thousands of readers. Yet it is a shame, a disgrace, that so small a per cent. of our membership—numbering now near a million—take a church paper. Without a church paper there is willful or unfortunate divorce from church intelligence, church purpose, effort and success—a deprivation of the sweet pleasure of knowing how Christ's kingdom is progressing in the world; a loss of the consciousness of holy honor of being associated with heroic labors and triumphant success. How diminutive and pigmy the ideas of the privilege of living in the nineteenth century, when heathendom is opening its doors and inviting Christianity to become a resident citizen, to the man who does not receive the weekly light and joy of a church paper. Pharaoh's lean kine are excellent representatives of the religious education and training of the household to understand and love the paternal religious doctrines, usages and polity—the very name and history of the church of their parents. How can Christian faith and love pulsate in harmony with grand designs, large sacrifices, munificent donations, and splendid conquests, when ignorance or vague, stupid prejudice, or hereditary opinion is unvisited, elevated, directed by regular, reliable church intelligence? What a sad neglect of the character and efficiency of the church of the future! What an inexcusable disregard of parental obligation and of Christian responsibility! Parents can blame no one, usually, but themselves, when the children stray from the religious home of their fathers, when the ready, easy, familiar, attractive church educator in the ADVOCATE has not been introduced into the family. It is sadly true that, yearly, thousands stray away from our religious altars and find homes in other denominations.

"Christian Advocate" stands out on your sheet in attractive letters. The eyes of many will bless you for the large, clear type and white paper. Reading made easy is a great blessing in these times of haste. We admire the fact that the poetry is still kept in small print—condensed sweetness—or a modest veil over the young muse not yet matured. It may be a mild rebuke to the verse-makers, young and old. The writer in a rhyme infliction on "Go Forward," in trying to read the printed piece, found great difficulty in carrying out the motto.

We were struck with the modesty and grace of the editor in giving so large a space of his own to episcopal pens. We were much gratified and profited to read the letters of three of our Bishops, side by side in the ADVOCATE. It was a fine idea of arrangement. In our far-off Kentucky home we send our cordial congratulations on the thirty-sixth birthday of your excellent paper. May it prosper and grow with each returning natal festivity. Well may you place three Bishops in their successive positions as editors of your paper, and then—the episcopacy.

Kentucky Methodism is stirring with some kindled revival fires. The missionary spirit is becoming more intelligent, interested and liberal. Our schools are doing well. Dr. Poynter, at Shelbyville, is sustaining the former educational prestige of Science Hill under that noble woman, Mrs. Tevis, who educated so many thousands of ladies in the South, and has gone to her reward. Dr. Poynter has no shams in himself, his religion, his education of females. Kentucky Wesleyan College is doing as well as possible, in its struggle with many scholarships, insufficient endowment, and rival, better endowed institutions. Dr. Pope has a large success in the female college. He has almost a certain guarantee, besides himself, in Mrs. Trueheart, so well and widely known as a model instructor of young women. Dr. Evans, at Lancaster, is meeting with success in his female school.

The spirit of "the builders" is abroad in the land. The idea is prevalent that the gospel and those who preach it should have homes worthy of the blessings our holy religion confers. Parsonages for the pastors and the presiding elders are becoming to be considered a necessary requirement and comfort of the toils and cares of the itinerancy. Still some few of our oldest charges, and our strongest, too, are without parsonages. The pastors are Pauline in one respect at least—they live in their "own hired house."

Our church is looking with some special interest to the revision of our hymn book. In almost all of our charges "The Gospel Songs" is the book used, and our own vastly superior hymnal is neglected. Force of custom is mightier than theory or even directions in the Discipline. When the new hymn book is issued the pastors, by universal movement, should recognize it and use it in their congregations.

It seems that our Southern preachers are catching the epidemic and going to visit the Holy Land. We enjoy their letters without paying any tribute to Neptune, or any exposure to the stormy deep, or the tireless demand for "backsheesh" from the Oriental beggars of every hue and size. Dr. Lafferty gets off a good one, as he usually does, on this pious desire to visit Jerusalem. He intimates rather slyly, that though one voyager round the world was made Bishop, there are other qualifications necessary to constitute qualifications for the episcopacy. He must use a gold pen—and with no blunt point to it.

We close our rambling letter with the sincere hope that neither editor, printer nor proof reader may utter any benediction (?) on the chirography of the writer.

Facts on Prohibition.

BY REV. T. B. HOLLOMAN.

MR. EDITOR: When we shall have come to the first day of May, 1887, we will have been just two years on the side of prohibition. What has been the effect of this movement upon our town will be seen by the facts given below.

Beginning with 1882, when the whisky business had narrowed down to two or three saloons, and a few who sold by the gallon, I gather from the town clerk's books the following figures: Of the $2,500 collected from all sources, $500 was received from liquor license. These are about the figures for the next two years, making for the three years $1,500 collected from the liquor business. During the same three years $314 were collected as fines for violation of the laws. During the same time the town employed a marshal at $480 per year, and the mayor received $35 per month. During the year 1885, the year in which prohibition began (May 1), the marshal and mayor received salaries as in the previous years; but the amount of collections from fines reduced to $29 50. At the beginning of 1886 the mayor's salary was reduced to $15, and the marshal's to $35 per month. During the entire year the enormous sum of $3 50 was collected (by the mayor) as fines for disturbing the peace. At the first meeting of the Board of Town Council for 1887, it was decided that two officers were unnecessary, and the duties of the marshal were placed in the hands of the mayor at a salary of $35 per month. Those who oppose the prohibition move will, no doubt, pronounce this reduction the force of necessity to meet expenses. Such are not the facts. Our town is out of debt, having to-day $236 surplus in the treasury. Our streets are in better condition than ever before. Our mayor spends his time on the streets supervising the general interests of the town. Our calaboose serves as an advertising board for "John Bull's Durham Tobacco"—picture and all; and, best of all, our peace is undisturbed. Property in our town and community will compare favorably with any town of like size in the State in value. Indeed, some think it high, and yet there is demand and sale.

A prominent citizen told me to-day that there had not been a single arrest for disorderly conduct on the streets since prohibition began. Boisterousness and profanity, quarreling and shooting on our streets are unheard. Our ladies do not hesitate to go out at any time—not even when the usual Saturday crowd is in town.

Again, Mr. Editor, we are told that prohibition is inoperative because of the jug system. We do not deny that this plan has been resorted to in our community. The significant jug is not uncommon. But I refer your readers to another set of facts. One who was engaged in the sale of whisky tells me that the aggregate of whisky sold annually before prohibition was 200 barrels, averaging forty-four gallons, making 8,800 gallons per year, or more than ten gallons per inhabitant, young and old, black and white. Now the express agent (who, by the way, handles nine-tenths of all brought to this place) tells me that the jugs scarcely average a gallon per day, and yet you can hear from abroad that Crystal Springs drinks as much whisky now as when the saloons did a business of twenty-five gallons per day.

On the two days preceding Christmas, of 1886, jugs to the amount of forty gallons were put off at our depot. On December 24, 1882 or 1883 (before prohibition began), one train put off twenty-two barrels for Christmas purposes, and which contained more than 900 gallons.

Now, Mr. Editor, I blush to acknowledge that we yet have those who will violate the laws, and thus bring trouble to the hearts of many. Still I wish to present the case in all fairness, and let those who read your papers see that though the law may be violated by a few, to the many, and the community at large it is a blessing beyond comprehension until tried. One more fact: While scarcely a town has escaped during this hard winter, financially, not a merchant has made an assignment, and all are cheerful and hopeful for another year's business.

Letter from Japan.

MR. EDITOR: In this letter I will give you an account of the conversion of an infidel leader, which was sent to me.

At the close of the first general assembly of the united churches in Japan, in November, 1883, there was a series of lectures of a popular character to give instruction in the doctrines of Christianity, and also to refute the errors most prevalent in the Japanese minds. One of the speakers took occasion to oppose and refute the teachings of Mill and Spencer, and the result of his remarks was such a storm of dissent and confusion that it was impossible to proceed. It came from a band of skeptical students who were imbued with such views, and had evidently come for the purpose of making a disturbance and, if possible, breaking up the meeting. The leader of this band rose to his feet and asked to have a chance to speak in opposition to what had been said. He was told by the speaker that he could make a reply at the close of the address. This produced quiet for awhile. When the time came the young man sprang upon the platform and was about to commence, but was informed by the chairman that, as other speakers were waiting, and the audience had not come together to hear the discussion of infidel views, he could not occupy the time. This led to such an uproar on the part of the students that the meeting was closed, and those who had caused the disturbance were asked to meet the foreign speaker at some other time, and the whole subject could be discussed.

The leader of the tumult and the young man who came to the front was named Sokuma Kichitare. He belonged to a good family in the province of Boshu, and was a superior Chinese scholar. At the school of Mr. Fukazawa he became imbued with the doctrine of Mill and Spencer, and was a warm advocate of their views. On leaving school he joined the liberal party, and was actively associated with many of the most prominent men of that part of the country. In his zeal for the propagation of liberal views, he spent a large part of his patrimony in the firm belief that it was his duty to sacrifice his property, family, and even life itself, in behalf of his country. One of the leading liberals in a neighboring province, being incensed by some act of oppression on the part of the local police, very foolishly agreed with some of his companions upon the destruction of the police office or headquarters. To accomplish their scheme dynamite was employed, and it resulted in the destruction of life. This leader fled to Boshu, and sought refuge among his party. Sokuma received him into his own house at first, and afterward secreted him in the woods and supplied him with food. He endeavored to have the man give himself up to the authorities; but the offender, knowing that his life would be forfeited, hesitated to do so. He afterwards fled, and when arrested disclosed all the places of refuge and those who had befriended and shielded him. Sokuma was then arrested and lodged in jail for a time, but released on parole until the nature of his offense and the punishment should be determined. During his confinement in jail a Christian policeman loaned him a copy of Dr. Martin's "Evidences of Christianity." He read the book eagerly, and was convinced that there was something better than a mere negative philosophy to comfort the soul in times of trouble. He began to realize the errors of his past life and to seek the salvation which is only found in the gospel of Jesus Christ.

It so happened that a brother of Sokuma, living in Tokio, had just been converted, and he persuaded his teacher to go and instruct Sokuma in regard to the way of life and peace. The result was that Sokuma gave himself at once wholly to Christ and began to labor for the salvation of others. He opened his house as a preaching-place, made it the house of the preacher, and in little over one year there were some twenty-five or thirty believers. Among them was his wife, who was an educated woman and a strong character, his aged grandmother and a doctor's wife. His father has been very deeply impressed at times, but is kept back by intemperate habits. A second brother and many of his relatives have also become Christians, and some of them are remarkable examples of the power of Divine grace in lending persons to abandon their drinking habits and the worship of idols. Their piety is deep and earnest, and their prayers simple and spiritual.

I will continue this account in my next letter.

Your brother in Christ,

J. W. LAMBUTH.

KOBE, JAPAN, Jan. 20, 1887.

Evolution.

It may be well to let Darwin, Ingersoll, and other's views, as to the origin of man, alone, since strictly human beings are not likely to be misled. As all men draw from their own natures and experiences on the subject of humanity, and as it is a fact that nature is very much affected by sight contact, as in the case of Jacob's ring-streaked cattle, or in the case of fright to the mother at a certain time, no one knows but that some misfortune of that kind has happened to those advocates of animal origin; and, therefore, their utterances may be the voice of a sadly mixed breed, and should be passed by as the howling of any other animal. But human beings should rest quietly and proudly in the statement of inspiration: "All flesh is not the same flesh; but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds." Man is in no sense an animal, nor should he ever be spoken of as an animal. To do so is alike an injustice to humanity and a reflection upon the animal creation. As far as is known, the animal kingdom has kept its first estate, except in such cases as an inoculation of some deadly virus, when they have become mad. Observation proves to us all that "the ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib;" but this good thing can not be said of these hybrids. Let human beings think more highly of themselves, and then they will not be likely to descend to such indignities to nature as are supposed to be the legitimate out-croppings of a nature partly animal and partly human. "The fool hath said in his heart there is no God." "When the ravens cry" of hunger, "the Lord feedeth them."

Let Ingersoll howl on. Mankind has been placed above and over all animals to "have dominion over them." We will not envy them their estate and position. The judgment day will reveal all truth. It will be too late for the evolutionists. Man was "made in the likeness and image of God," and, notwithstanding the misfortune of the fall, will be regenerated through Christ, by the omnipotent hand of the all-wise Creator.

J. W. ELLISON.

Current Coins.

(Raleigh Christian Advocate.)

This is suggestive to preachers: When you are making your sermons, do not leave out the harpoon or pinch. It is well to drive the nail of a strong argument, but do not forget to clinch it on the conscience. The effectiveness of a sermon will depend very much on its application. Many preachers study the argument and leave the application as something to be snatched up as they close. Above all seek the unction of the Holy One in preaching. Without this the most simple or eloquent sermon avails nothing in the best sense.

(Alabama Christian Advocate.)

Many a man who has won distinction and honor among his fellows has said, in the days of his maturity, it was good that he was born in poverty and brought up to hard labor. There is no blessing in poverty, per se, nor in hunger and cold. But the solid virtues of character are fostered by such conditions. Prudence, patience, frugality, industry, self-denial, politeness, punctuality, in fact, every virtue that combines to make the strength of a great character and give it sufficient momentum to move men and manage things—these the poor boy finds he must have, to secure a position, and to keep it when obtained.

(Episcopal Methodist.)

We are to aim at the best results, and through grace secure increasing likeness to our Lord; but while always advancing, we shall not here attain our ultimate possibility of life. The perfect ideal is only beyond. The conditions to secure it are abundant in that bright world, which revelation puts before our gaze. We shall there attain to perfect freedom from trouble and care, sorrow and pain. We shall there have a soul sufficient and satisfying portion, so that rest and contentment will forever be ours. And there alone can we measure up to the full capacities and possibilities of glorified humanity. Let us place our affections there, since our real treasures are all there.

(Christian Guardian.)

This is emphatically the age of Christian work. We have all kinds of associations for all kinds of work. This is all right. They are all needed. But is there not ground to believe that, amid the intense activity in secular and religious work, there are less prayer and communion with God than there ought to be? Only by communion with God in prayer can the heart be kept right in its sympathies and affections. Through prayer the powers of the world to come, come down upon our souls, and the influence of eternal things invests the work of life with a grander and profounder interest than it would otherwise have. True prayer strengthens faith, purifies and enlightens the soul's visions, and quickens love into greater power. More earnest, frequent, fervent prayer will strengthen every Christian grace.

(Words and Weapons.)

It is a mistake to suppose that even little children are too young to understand. The quality of a child's mind is just the quality of mind that our Savior has taught us that adults must acquire before they will receive the truth. But we do not give children credit for the acuteness of mind which they possess. Nothing could be a greater mistake than to suppose that the only way children can be interested is by telling them stories. And yet this is one of the blunders that many good men fall into when they speak to children; and the stories are usually of a kind calculated rather to amuse than instruct. We believe that no simpler teaching can be found than that which our Lord himself has given us. If we err at all in preaching to adults, it is in the direction of obscuring the simple teaching of our Lord with our profound verbosities and subtle philosophies.

(St. Louis Christian Advocate.)

The first and almost sole factor in reaching the masses is a Christly ministry. Christ reached them, and a ministry breathing his lofty, unselfish spirit; a ministry imitating his example and zeal, of self-denial, of singleness of aim, of humility; a ministry in sympathy with humanity, with no stain of the world, no touch of self, sweet, tender, aggressive, fearless and strong; a ministry not allured, softened, subsidized nor debauched by money, society, reputation; a preacher who obeys no law but that of love; who has no inspiration but the cross, its victim, his love and his ransomed; who is inflexibly loyal to God, compassionately tender to man, bound to humanity in every shape and form, specially in its afflicted forms, instructing its ignorance, relieving its distresses, consumed by zeal for God's house; whose heart is broken in pity over man's ruin and woe; such a God-commissioned, God-anointed preacher can not fail to reach the masses.

Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1887.

AT LAST

BY JOHN GREENLEAF WHITTIER.

When on my day of life the night is falling,
And, in the winds from unseen spaces blown,
I hear far voices out of darkness calling
My feet to paths unknown,

Thou who hast made my home of life so pleasant,
Leave not its tenant when its walls decay;
O love divine, O Helper ever present,
Be thou my strength and stay!

Be near me when all else is drifting,
Earth, sky, home's picture, days of shade and shine,
And kindly faces to my own uplifting
The love which answers mine.

I have but thee, O Father! Let thy Spirit
Be with me then to comfort and uphold!
No gate of pearl, no branch of palm, I merit,
Nor street of shining gold.

Suffice it if, my good and ill unreckoned,
And both forgiven through thy abounding grace,
I find myself by hands familiar beckoned
Unto my fitting place.

Some humble door among thy many mansions,
Some sheltering shade where sin and striving cease,
And flows forever through heaven's great expansions
The river of thy peace.

There from the music round about me stealing,
I fain would learn the new and holy song,
And find at last beneath the trees of healing
The life for which I long.

Our Valley of Dry Bones.

BY MARY HELM.

"And he said unto me, Son of man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest." * * * "And the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army." (Ezekiel XXXVII, 3, 10.

The following note was read with pain:

"I learn from the pastor and ladies at A—— that the Woman's Missionary Society there is dead, beyond hope of revival."

The pain was increased with the thought that many auxiliaries had a similar history. That I might know how many I turned to the record books of the Woman's Missionary Society and found that since its first organization 3,915 auxiliaries, adult and juvenile, had been reported. Last quarter's report stated the present number as 1,884, giving us 2,031 dead auxiliaries! I can not say how many dead members are thus indicated, but, taking ten to be their average membership, (a small number), we have a death-roll of 20,310 members! Truly no tragic poem ever told a sadder, more thrilling story than these figures. I look at them appalled, knowing the full meaning of that story of women, maidens and children, who once alive to duty, have been slain by discouragement or selfishness or indifference—disobedient children who said, "I go, sir, and went not;" deserters from the army of the Lord who cared not to follow the suffering Captain of their salvation. Heaviness and sorrow fall upon my spirit. Like the prophet of old, I am "set down in a valley of bones," and "they are very dry." In the midst of the desolation I cry unto the Lord: O God of power and love, stir up these dry bones; give unto them "hearts and flesh," and cause them to beat with thy Divine love; open the dull ears to hear thy word of command; give to the dumb tongues words of praise; put energy into "the hands that hang down;" let the breath of thy Spirit quicken "these slain that they may live" and "stand upon their feet an exceeding great army."

Oh! daughters of Israel, arise! put on your beautiful garments of consecrated love and faithful service. It is the Master that calleth for thee. Did your faith fail and discouragement slay you? Have faith in him "whose promise hath ne'er been broken," and take up your work once more, knowing "it shall not be in vain." Did you "grow weary in well doing?" Remember the tired feet that trod the plains of Judea and were afterward nailed to the cross for you—nay, for the whole world—and, with shame for your fainting spirit, go on with your ministry of love.

Pastors who have dead auxiliaries in your charges, "prophesy upon these dry bones, and say unto them, O ye dry bones, hear the word of the Lord." * * * "Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall live." Call the women and children of your churches together and reorganize them. Enlist them again, and this time make them understand "there is no discharge in that war."

My sisters who are alive and at work, unite your prayer for those who are dead, "that the slain may live," and at the same time put forth your hands to help them upon their feet.

Officers of the Conference Societies, we have all dead or dying auxiliaries within our bounds. Let not the reproach go out against us that we are "watchmen who are blind and dumb:" but "cry aloud and spare not, lift up the voice like a trumpet," that such "a noise" may be heard as will arouse the deaf and quicken the living to new zeal. Let them know that this is not the time to go back from following the Lord, or to loiter by the way. We are in the heat of the battle, and "Forward" is the word of command. The need of the work has been voiced in an appeal for more laborers. The Lord of the harvest has heard our prayer, and the missionaries are ready to go. Another appeal has gone forth for money to send them. The money must come, and every auxiliary, every woman and child, must do their duty and see that it does come. Let no one of them take time to be discouraged or to think about being tired, much less to lie down to slumber—and to die.

"Speak to us, Lord, that we may speak
In living echoes of thy tone."

Railroad Men and the Sabbath.

The trains run and other work carried on upon the railroads of the land violates the sanctity of the Sabbath upon a scale which ought to be appalling to the Christian sentiment of the country. It seems to be a foregone conclusion by railroad companies, and largely by the public—even many hundreds of professing Christians have given in to it—that they are at perfect liberty to use the day for secular purposes which was so sacredly set apart for holy uses. Railroad men claim for themselves, and it is too far conceded, that the demands of trade and the commerce of the world demand the running of trains and the moving of freights on the Lord's day. The doctrine is clearly assumed, but remains to be proven, and until it is demonstrated that this species of secular labor, in all the various features of industry, is excepted in the law of God, the very daringness of the presumption makes it a sin against God and the people of the land. The mechanic, the manufacturer, the artisan and the farmer can plead with equal, if not greater, force that the production of their wares and the produce of their farms is essential to business and trade. Trade has been and may be carried on without the railroad—indeed, if the manufacturer was to close his shops and the farmer cease to till his fields, trucks would turn to lumps of rust on their tracks for the want of freights to haul. I think the argument is stronger for the producer than for the carrier; but under the positive command of God, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," all such reasoning is "ground to powder."

The teaching that "the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath," gives us to know that we are not wholly bound and cramped, and must endure the day. This, taken in connection with all other sacred teaching and practice, permits us to relieve suffering, the thirsty ass in the stall, the suffering ox in the ditch, the hunger of the unfed or the pain of the sick man. It is a day of "rest" given to rest weary man and beast from the toils and labors of the other six. "Servile work," or profitable work and labor, is what is forbidden; to relieve necessity and suffering can not be maintained. If it was ascertained beyond a question that real loss was sustained on every Sabbath upon which trains are run, nothing is more certain than that not another engine would be fired up nor another train moved on Sunday. It is the profit to the railroad companies, the "servile," or serviceable, labors which moves the rolling stock and drives their laborers, and not the suffering of commerce nor the necessities of trade.

The institution of the Sabbath seems to have been a part of creation. "And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made. And God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it, because he rested in it from all his work." This rest and sanctification is clearly a part of what had gone before. When he thus connected this institution with his work of creation and sanctified it he knew as well that some six thousand years afterwards there would be steamboats and railroads as he does now. Twenty-five hundred years afterwards he gave it to Moses, in written character, emphasizing in that a man must restrain his servant, must not work his cattle or his ass, nor must he allow the stranger stopping with him for the time to do any manner of work. God knew as well then as he does to-day what man would develop in "seeking out many inventions." The first successful trip of the locomotive on its tramway, while it electrified the world, was no surprise to God, and yet he makes no provision for the demands of commerce nor the necessities of trade and travel, as is now contended for.

Another reason for railroading on Sunday, but which applies only to a very small proportion of the trains moved on that day, is the carrying the United States mail. Let it be remembered that this is a contract voluntarily entered into for the money that is in it. "Servile" labor is rendered while gain, and not necessity, is the motive power. The government does not force its mail carriers over their post routes at the point of the bayonet. Such a measure would outrage the moral sense of the land and evoke such a feeling of indignation from our liberty-loving public that such compulsion could not be repeated. The government proposes contracts for carrying, and is a party to the violation of the Sabbath; but the carrier volunteers his part.

DUCKWORTH.

Sunday Traveling.

Resolved, That the ministers and laity of this Conference are hereby requested to be as zealous upon the subject of the observance of the Sabbath as they have been upon that of temperance.

Resolved, That our ministers and laity be urged not to make use of public conveyances on the Sabbath.

I could have reached Nashville a day sooner by getting on the train Sunday night. But I concluded that even the busiest editor had better be delayed twelve hours than tread so near the perilous edge of Sabbath breaking. In these times of general Sabbath desecration * * * Christian teachers should avoid this evil and even the appearance of it.—Nashville Advocate.

The preacher who travels on Sunday to reach the city where he thunders against Sabbath breaking will do well to preach on something else or travel on some other day.—Nashville Advocate.

MR. EDITOR: I send the above resolutions, which were adopted by the Mississippi Annual Conference, and also two paragraphs from the Nashville Advocate, with the request that you publish them in the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

I am glad the above resolutions were adopted, and that Dr. Fitzgeral saw proper to pen the above lines bearing upon the same subject, and would be pleased to hear from others. It is a fact to be regretted that some of our laity and prominent ministers are habitually violating the Fourth Commandment, and thereby destroying their influence and usefulness as teachers, and causing the kingdom of Christ to suffer. No one can knowingly violate one of God's laws without losing his usefulness, and now, that the alarm has been given, let us continue until the trains shall cease to run on the Sabbath, and instead of the whistle shall be heard the church bell calling railroad men to the house of God. This time would soon come if professors of religion would cease to travel on public conveyances on the Sabbath. We want and need preaching; but let us do without it rather than have our preachers travel on public conveyances on the Sabbath.

S. S. COPE.

PAULDING, MISS., Feb. 24, 1887.

An Important Matter.

At our late Conference, at Port Gibson, the following committee was appointed to consider the matter of increasing the collection for the support of the superannuates, widows and orphans, and of securing an endowment for the Conference fund, and to report their plan to the next session of Conference:

Clerical—F. M. Featherstun, R. S. Woodward, P. A. Johnston, C. G. Andrews, T. B. Holloman, L. Carley, J. P. Drake; lay—A. G. Mayers, E. S. Drake, George T. McGehee, W. L. Nugent, L. T. Fitzhugh, J. C. Calvitt, C. H. Wood.

Please, brethren, study up some good plan, and write to me at Brandon. We want the best thoughts on this subject from everyone of the committee. This is an important work that we are appointed to do.

F. M. FEATHERSTUN.

Miss Addie F. Gordon.

ONE OF OUR NEW MISSIONARIES.

MR. EDITOR: I trust you will allow me space for a brief sketch of this beautiful character. The following, from the Nashville Advocate, I promise, is well merited by the entire class whose services were recently accepted; but I speak from personal knowledge when I say I know it to be eminently true of Miss Addie:

"They are women who represent all that is best in our Christian womanhood—consecrated, cultured, mature, prudent, burning with unquenchable zeal for the work of saving souls."

Miss Addie is a native of Connecticut, but was adopted some years ago by her uncle, Mr. J. H. Gordon, of Port Gibson, Miss., and became at once a member of his household, loving and loved as an own child. She was graduated to the degree of M. E. L. from Port Gibson Female College, in June, 1884, with marked distinction, and, after the inauguration of the Industrial Institute and College at Columbus, was sent there for a course in the normal department of that school. She was always among the first where there was a lesson to be prepared, a good word to be spoken or a noble deed to be done; so we were not surprised to learn that she at once took high rank in her classes, and was soon instrumental in organizing a "Young Woman's Christian Association," of which she was made president. All this was perfectly congenial to that taste and spirit which she had diligently cultivated from childhood. Soundly converted and thoroughly religious, she has become accustomed to regard the duty at hand as the Master's work, and to perform it according to his command and in his spirit.

Since she has offered herself for a foreign field, we who know her are assured in this fact, without further evidence, that she feels a Divine call to the work, and must "go or die." In leaving her beautiful home in the town of Port Gibson, and her many friends and loved ones here, she will be leaving what is very much to be desired in this life; but her service, I know, will be a "living sacrifice," for her hands and thought and heart will be in it. May God's blessing go with her when and where she goes is the prayer of many others beside

T. C. BRADFORD.

PORT GIBSON, Mississippi.

Grenada Collegiate Institute.

MR. EDITOR: Will you allow me a word for the Grenada Collegiate Institute. If so, I will say we have here the best single piece of school property in the Southwest. Built years ago, at a cost of forty-seven thousand dollars, by a Baptist State Convention, and, after it by some misfortune had failed to sustain the property, it fell into the hands of stockholders in Grenada, and thus it changed from one to another until the very valuable property was tendered the North Mississippi Conference, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for the nominal consideration of four thousand dollars, which proposition the Conference, as a sensible body, accepted.

Now, sir, permit me further to say that we had some repairs to make and the building to furnish, which by the persistent labors of our president, Rev. Thomas J. Newell, A. M., and the generous donations of the citizens of Grenada has been accomplished. Further still, by the generous and liberal contributions of our people from different points of the Conference, we have kept the interest paid and established a flourishing institution now more than self-sustaining; and it is doing solid, thorough work in Christian education. So we are now ready to place every dollar of funds raised to the liquidation of the debt. Sensible men will see at once that we do well to be alive, saying nothing of our flourishing condition. In behalf of the people of Grenada, they have paid thousands and are still paying. Just let me say, once for all, that this is a church institution, and not Grenada's, and equal obligations rests upon every Methodist of this Conference to support it.

Brethren, may the Spirit of God impress this on your consciences. Listen! I propose to be one of forty men of the North Mississippi Conference (or any other) who will walk up, with that moral courage and Christian fidelity that we owe, and pay one hundred dollars, thereby wiping out the last cent clean and clear, and set the grand institution down in unfettered freedom and in fee simple to the church. Brethren, we ought to do it. Reproach will come upon our Methodism the very day we let that property worth forty thousand slip for a consideration of four thousand. Speak, brethren; speak now. Let's do this necessary work, and done with it. Who will speak for Christian education, the church and Christ. Forty men with one hundred dollars to the front. Walk out, brethren, and respond, and I will give to the organs of our church names and amounts of every such brave, noble character. Let me say: In the name of the church, in the name of Christian education, in the name of Christ, I ask it. All contributions to be sent to

G. H. HODGE, Agt.

GRENADA, Mississippi.

From the "Hill Country."

MR. EDITOR: For a month we have been quartered with our good friends, Bro. and Sister S. D. Pearce, the latter being the editor and proprietor of that sterling weekly, The Ruston Caligraph. Now, however, we are at the parsonage—a hastily, but cosily constructed little residence of four rooms, neatly furnished by the women of the church. I never have, in twenty-six years of itinerating, refused to go to a work to which I had been assigned by one of our Bishops; but if ever I am "sent" to a church which has no women in its membership, I will not go.

The parsonage has gone up like everything else in Ruston. Four weeks ago we had here only the skin of a shanty; but now, as before stated, we have a comfortable house (though somewhat crowded because not yet completed), well, garden, etc.—all on the corner opposite the church. This work, however, has hindered my pastoral work very greatly so far; but I trust the crisis is passed, and we can now move out on the proper line. At twelve sessions of the Louisiana Conference I have received five appointments, or, rather, different charges. On the first I had a church to build (at Homer); on the third, a parsonage (at Minden); on the fourth, a church to finish (at Bastrop), and on the fifth, a parsonage to build (at Ruston). But since somebody has these things to do, it might as well be myself as anyone else. Still I look forward to the time when I can enter at once on my proper pastoral work, not stopping to attend to these other matters. Really, as Conference begins to "draw near," I begin to cast my eye over the field to see where this kind of work is needed, and at once make up my mind to go and do the best I can, because I realize that, "after I have done all I can, I am an unprofitable servant." Herewith I send you a new subscriber to the ADVOCATE, and a marriage notice.

There is always something sad in a change of pastoral relationships. We are among good people, and people whom we love—people whom we are delighted to serve; yet to me, personally, there is always a lingering affection for those from whom I have been sent away, and especially for those whom I recognize as my spiritual children. Of this sort I left many in my former work; but I know my successor, Bro. Billingsley, and feel that in his hands they are safe if only they will follow his pastoral guidance. Still each one holds a prominent place in my thoughts and in my prayers. J. A. P.

From the Work.

EDWARDS, MISS.

MR. EDITOR: I take great pleasure in stating the work of the Christian church seems to be on the upward grade in our midst. Though we have lost, as resident pastor, Rev. J. L. Brownlee, of the Presbyterian Church, now gone to Birmingham, Ala.—a loss deeply regretted by all; yet he and the Methodist ministers had worked together so harmoniously here for years that even his departure does not intercept the healthful current of that Christian harmony, and in all good enterprises the members of the different churches work "side by side and shoulder to shoulder." Thus the perfume of the breaking of the "alabaster box of very precious ointment" of brotherly love still remains, though one of the chief actors in the scene is far away; and we doubt not the aroma of remembrance of it will ofttimes cheer his heart amid new scenes and labors in the Master's vineyard.

